THE PREFACE.

OUR Holy Bible is a Book of that Antiquity and Authority, that it has maintain'd its Credit through a long Succeſſion of Ages, and many and various Revolutions in the Jewiſh State, and was preſerv'd, by a ſpecial Act of Providence, when the Hebrew Polity was utterly deſtroy'd, for the Inſtruction, Information, and Salvation of the Gentile World. Great indeed, is the Goodneſs of God to us, who are fallen into theſe latter Times, that he has not ſuffer'd the Knowledge of Himſelf, and of his Revealed Will, to be confined to one particular Set or Tribe of Men, but all, who will, may know the only true God and Jeſus Chriſt whom he has ſent. The Jews, it's true, were once the Favourites of Heaven, and had the Divine Oracles committed to their Charge; they were faithful to their Truſt, and preſerv'd them ſafe and entire, till ſuch Time as the Almighty thought proper, for the Good of his Creatures in general, that they ſhould be univerſally known to all Mankind. They, indeed, had the Keeping of theſe ſacred Records; yet few, very few of that People knew the Value of the Truſt committed to them; even their Prophets, tho' divinely enlighten'd, had but imperfect Ideas, and confuſed Notions of God's wiſe and gracious Deſigns and Ends in theſe Revelations of Himſelf. For Inſtance; their Propheſies of the Meſſias are, for the moſt Part, couch'd in ſuch Terms, that thoſe who heard them might eaſily miſtake them, as they really did, and ſtill do, for Deſcriptions of ſome earthly Prince, who, in ſome future Time, was to be raiſed up to deliver them out of the Hands of all their Enemies. But, ſince the Coming of Chriſt, and the Promulgation of the Goſpel, how eaſily do we underſtand, how readily comprehend, an infinite Number of Paſſages in the Old Teſtament, which They, for whoſe Uſe only they ſeem'd to have been deſign'd, were utterly ignorant of? So that our Saviour's Saying is verified, that the leaſt in the Kingdom of Heaven is greater than they, even than the greateſt of their Prophets.

But tho' the Holy Scriptures carry the indelible Marks, the irrefragable Evidences of Divine Inſpiration; tho' the Intent and Purport of them is manifeſtly calculated for the Benefit of the Human Race in general; yet ſo weak, ſo blind is Man, ſo wilfully ignorant of his own Happineſs, and the Kindneſs intended him by his all-gracious Creator, that he ſhuts his Eyes againſt the cleareſt Light, rejects the ſtrongeſt Evidences of the Divine Goodneſs, cavils with the Meſſengers, and finds Fault with the Meſſage importing a Reconciliation betwixt an offended God and his offending Creatures. Some (too many indeed) read the Scriptures with no other View, but to furniſh themſelves with Arguments to run them down and bring them into Diſgrace and Diſparagement. One complains of Obſcurity in this Part; another fancies he has found out Contradictions in another Part which no Body living can reconcile; another pretends he meets with ſuch Obſcurities every where that he takes no Pleaſure in reading them. I do allow, indeed, that the Scriptures are an inexhauſtible Fund of Knowledge, and that there are Depths in them not fathomable by every Capacity. They have furniſhed Topicks for Men of the greateſt Learning and Abilities, in all Ages, to diſcuſs: Yet all, who have wrote with Candour, allow, that they excel all Writings of mere human Compoſure, as well in the Dignity of the Subjects they treat of, as the Sublimity of Style; that there are no Obſcurities in them but what may very well be cleared up, no Contradictions but may be eaſily reconcil'd.

'Tis the Property of Vice to draw as many into its Circle as come within its Reach.

The

The Wicked, the better to ſcreen or palliate their own Iniquities, are always endeavouring to bring over the Good and Virtuous to their own diſſolute Way of thinking and acting. To which Purpoſe they are continually railing againſt the Scriptures, and endeavour to baffle their Hearers with ſophiſtical Reaſons, which they call Arguments, taken from thoſe Common-Place Topicks already mentioned. But if they happen to meet with an Antagoniſt who knows how to detect their falſe Reaſoning, and expoſe their Sophiſtry, their next Recourſe is to Ridicule, Banter, and Burleſque. Theſe, indeed, are dangerous Weapons in a ſkilful Hand, and to be well guarded againſt them, requires Armour of the ſtrongeſt Proof. In order to which a Man ſhould be well furniſh'd with true Piety and religious Principles; if he has the Honour of God, and the Welfare of his own Soul ſincerely at Heart, he will be ſo far from being laugh'd out of his Faith, that he will feel a Shock in his Nature when he obſerves ſuch horrid Attacks made upon the ſacred Bulwark of his Salvation.

But tho' Piety and the Fear of God may enable a Chriſtian to bear up againſt Sneer and Buffoonery, yet, ſo various are the Weapons, ſo many the Subtilties of his Adverſaries, that it very often requires a good deal of Skill and Judgment to cope with them. Every Man ſhould therefore be well read in the Scriptures, and always ready to give a Reaſon for his Faith. But as all People have not Leiſure, nor perhaps Capacity, nor Learning enough for ſuch a Taſk, to aſſiſt them in their honeſt Endeavours, they may be furniſh'd with the Labours of Men of the greateſt Ability and Learning, who have made it the Buſineſs of their whole Lives to render the Scriptures eaſy and intelligible to every Underſtanding.

But here an Objection will immediately be ſtarted, that the Volumes that have been wrote on this Occaſion, are too numerous and too expenſive for any one Man to purchaſe, and would take up the greateſt Part of a Man's Life to read with any Care or Attention. To obviate this, and in order that the Scriptures may be read and underſtood by every Body, ſome Men of Learning, even in our Age, have not thought the Labour unworthy of their Pen, to reduce the voluminous Commentaries on the Bible into a leſſer Compaſs, and give, in a ſizeable Volume, the Pith and Marrow of perhaps a Thouſand. In this Way Mr. Howel and Mr. Stackhouſe have diſtinguiſh'd themſelves greatly to their Honour; yet neither of their Works are ſo perfect and complete, but Room is left for a good deal of Improvement. They concern themſelves with nothing but the Hiſtory of the Bible, and conſequently leave near one Half of the Scriptures untouch'd. They have nothing to ſay to Job, Pſalms, Eccleſiaſtes, Canticles, Proverbs, nor to any Part of the Prophets, but what is hiſtorical.

What therefore, Howel, Stackhouſe, Campbel, and other eminent Writers, who have kept ſtrictly to the Thread of the Hiſtory, but have entirely neglected the Hagiographa of the Bible, have omitted, ſhall, in this Work, be abundantly ſupplied from the beſt Authorities, antient and modern. Theſe Authors have done exceeding well in the Province they undertook, but as they confin'd themſelves to one particular Branch, it can be deem'd no Invaſion of their Plan, or Encroachment on their Labours, if, in this Expoſition, I take in, as I intend to do, the whole Compaſs of the Sacred Writ, Chapter by Chapter, from the Beginning of Geneſis to the End of the Prophets.

And, in order to render this Work as complete as poſſible, I ſhall attempt (what was never, that I know of, done before) a ſhort Expoſition on the Apocrypha, or uncanonical Part of the Bible. This perhaps ſome may think a uſeleſs Undertaking, ſince there are many Things there related that ſeem altogether fabulous, and deſerve no Credit from Men of Underſtanding. Be it ſo; yet it muſt be allow'd that there are other Parts of it, ſuch as the Wiſdom of Solomon, Eccleſiaſticus, &c. which contain Abundance of moral Precepts, and Rules for the Government of Life, which deſerve the Regard of every Man, who deſires to lead his Life in Innocence and Virtue. And then, as to the hiſtorical Part, particularly the Maccabees, the Books of which were wrote after the inſpired Penmen had done writing, the Hiſtory is generally eſteem'd genuine, and a very good Account of the State of the Jews during that Period.

Upon the Whole; I have done my beſt for the Inſtruction of my Readers, and the Furtherance of their Knowledge in the Holy Scriptures: The Succeſs of my Endeavours I muſt leave to the Bleſſing of Almighty God, whoſe Honour, and the Intereſts of Religion have been my principal Views in this Undertaking.

AN EXPOSITION OF The First Book of Moses called GENESIS.

The ARGUMENT.

In the Book of Geneſis, which ſignifies Generation, Moſes gives us an Account of the Origin of the World, and the Production of Mankind: And if we ſhould compare it with what we meet with in other Nations recorded of theſe great Events, we ſhall ſoon perceive, that it is the only rational and philoſophical Account extant; which, conſidering the low Ebb that Learning was at in the Jewiſh Nation, is no ſmall Argument of its Divine Revelation.

The firſt Period of the World is from its Creation to the Flood, and contains 1656 Years.

Moſes gives us the Hiſtory of the Flood, and the Cauſes of it; and from the Family of Noah deduces the Lineage of the Hebrews; and in the Account of Abraham and his Deſcendants, relates a Variety of Fortunes that attended them, ſhewing the peculiar Care and Regard that the Almighty had for that People.

From the Flood to the Call of Abraham was 426 Years; and from the Call of Abraham to the Iſraelites Departure out of Egypt 430 Years.

CHAP. I.

The Hiſtory of the Creation of the World.

Ver. 1. IN the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. 2 And the earth was without form, and void, and darkneſs was upon the face of the deep: and the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters. 3 And God ſaid, Let there be light: and there was light. 4 And God ſaw the light, that it was good: and God divided the light from the darkneſs. 5 And God called the light Day, and the darkneſs he called Night: and the evening and the morning were the firſt day. 6 And God ſaid, Let there be a firmament in the midſt of the waters, and let it divide the waters from the waters. 7 And God made the firmament, and divided the waters which were under the firmament, from the waters which were above the firmament: and it was ſo. 8 And God called the firmament Heaven: and the evening and the morning were the ſecond day. 9 And God ſaid, Let the waters under the heaven be gathered together unto one place, and let the dry-land appear: and it was ſo. 10 And God called the dry-land Earth, and the gathering together of the waters called he Seas: and God ſaw that it was good. 11 And God ſaid, Let the earth bring forth graſs, the herb yielding ſeed, and the fruit-tree yielding fruit after his kind, whoſe ſeed is in itſelf, upon the earth: and it was ſo. 12 And the earth brought forth graſs, and herb yielding ſeed after his kind, and the tree yielding fruit, whoſe ſeed was in itſelf, after his kind: and God ſaw that it was good. 13 And the evening and the morning were the third day. 14 And God ſaid, Let there be lights in the firmament of the heaven, to divide the day from the night: and let them be for ſigns, and for ſeaſons, and for days, and years. 15 And let them be for lights in the firmament of the heaven, to give light upon the earth: and it was ſo. 16 And God made two great lights; the greater light to rule the day, and the leſſer light to rule the night: he made the ſtars alſo. 17 And God ſet them in the firmament of the heaven, to give light upon the earth, 18 And to rule over the day and over the night, and to divide the light from the darkneſs: and God ſaw that it was good. 19 And the evening and the morning were the fourth day. 20 And God ſaid, Let the waters bring forth abundantly the moving creature that hath life, and fowl that may fly above the earth in the open firmament of heaven. 21 And God created great whales, and every living creature that moveth, which the waters brought fotrh abundantly after their kind, and every winged fowl after his kind: and God ſaw that it was good. 22 And God bleſſed them, ſaying, Be fruitful, and multiply, and fill the waters in the ſeas, and let fowl multiply in the earth. 23 And the evening and the morning were the fifth day. 24 And God ſaid, Let the earth bring forth the living creature after his kind, cattel and creeping thing and beaſt of the earth after his kind: and it was ſo. 25 And God made the beaſt of the earth after his kind, and cattel after their kind, and every thing that creepeth upon the earth after his kind: and God ſaw that it was good. 26 And God ſaid, Let us make man in our image, after our likeneſs: and let them have dominion over the fiſh of the ſea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth. 27 So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him: male and female created he them. 28 And God bleſſed them, and God ſaid unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and repleniſh the earth, and ſubdue it: and have dominion over the fiſh of the ſea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth. 29 And God ſaid, Behold, I have given you every herb bearing ſeed, which is upon the face of all the earth, and every tree, in the which is the fruit of a tree yielding ſeed: to you it ſhall be for meat. 30 And to every beaſt of the earth, and to every fowl of the air, and to every thing that creepeth upon the earth, wherein there is life, I have given every green herb for meat: and it was ſo. 31 And God ſaw every thing that he had made, and behold, it was very good. And the evening and the morning were the ſixth day.

In the Beginning] The Chaldee Paraphraſe hath in Wiſdom; indeed this Verſion is very agreeable to Prov. iii. 19. and to ſeveral other Texts. Several Authors apply the Words thus tranſlated, to Chriſt, the living Word and Wiſdom of the Father, which agrees with 1 Cor. i. 24. Heb. i. 2.

God] The Hebrew hath Elohim, Almighties. The moſt learned Commentators ſay, the Plural Number is here made uſe of, to give the greater Dignity to the Stile, the better to expreſs the infinite Power of God. Some Chriſtian Doctors have labour'd hard to prove Elohim here reſpects the Trinity; in Confirmation of which, they cite theſe Words from a Hebrew Author, Come and ſee the Myſtery of the Word Elohim. There are three Degrees, and every Degree by itſelf alone, and yet notwithſtanding they are One, and cannot be divided one from another. R. Simeon ben Jochai, in Zoar, upon the 6th Section of Leviticus. Some Chriſtian Divines, however, are of another Opinion, and Calvin ſays expreſly, that to infer more Divine Perſons from this Word, is a ſtrained Gloſs, and tends to the introducing the Hereſy of Sabellius.

Created the Heaven] The Word Heaven, as Mr. Le Clerc obſerves, has been obſerved two different Ways. Some have conceived, that this Expreſſion ſignified, that the Materials of the Heaven and the Earth were created out of nothing; which others, ſays he, have rejected, as too bold an Interpretation, not fully warranted by the Text. 2. Others have held, that, in theſe Words, he expreſſed compendiouſly what afterwards he more at large explains; and this is, beyond Queſtion, the true Senſe of Moſes; for the Hebrew Language affording no Word equivalent to Koſmos, Mundus, or the World, by taking together the Heavens and the Earth, which is ſo natural and eaſy an Account of this Phraſe, that a Man muſt be in love with Wrangling, who would ſearch farther.

And the Earth was without Form, and void, and Darkneſs was upon the Face of the Deep] As Reaſon teaches us to believe, that God is the Author of the Univerſe, as we now ſee it, ſo there is nothing repugnant to Reaſon in believing that, before Things took the Form which they now wear, the Principles of them were contained in a fluid Maſs, which Moſes ſays, was without Form, and void, and to which the Greeks give the Name of Chaos; for there might be Reaſons, which we cannot pry into, for this Diſpoſition, and which might render it more agreeable to the Divine Wiſdom, thence to produce Heaven, Earth, Sea, Animals, &c. than if they had been created gradatim, out of Nothing, all at once.

And the Spirit of God moved upon the Face of the Waters] Our Bibles read moved, but many learned Perſons incline to think the Hebrew Word Ruach ought to have been rendred Wind inſtead of Spirit, ſuppoſing that it was a ſtrong Wind which blew upon the Waters; others think the Word Rachaph implies brooding, as a Hen does over her Chickens, and from this Paſſage derive the Egyptian Hieroglyphick of Egg, to ſignify the World.

The Compaſs of the Chaos, we ſuppoſe, ſays Mr. Campbel, took up the whole ſolar Syſtem; or that Space which Saturn circumſcribes in his Circulation round the Sun: And if ſo, what a prodigious Thing was it, to give Motion to this vaſt unwieldy Maſs, and to direct that Motion in ſome Sort of Regularity; in the general Struggle and Combuſtion, to unite Things that were no Ways a-kin, and to ſort the promiſcuous Elements into their proper Species; to give the Properties of Reſt and Gravitation to one Kind, and of Aſcenſion and Elaſticity to another; to make Parts ſubſide and ſettle themſelves, not in one continued Solid, but in ſeveral different Centers at proper Diſtances from each other, and ſo lay the Foundation for the Planets; to make others aſpire and mount on high, and, having obtain'd their Liberty by hard Conflict, join together, as it were, by Compact, and make up one Body, which, by the Tenuity of its Parts, and Rapidity of its Motion, might produce Light and Heat, and ſo lay the Foundation for the Sun; to place this luminous Body in a Situation, proper to influence the upper Parts of the Chaos, and to be the Inſtrument of Rarefaction, Separation, and all the reſt of the Operations to enſue; to cauſe it when thus placed, either to circulate round the whole planetary Syſtem, or to make the planetary Globes turn round to it, in order to produce the Viciſſitudes of Day and Night: To do all this, and more than this, I ſay, as it is included in the ſingle Article of creating Light, is enough to make the firſt Day, wherein Nature was utterly impotent, as having Motion then firſt impreſs'd upon her, a Day of more Labour and curious Contrivance than any ſubſequent one could be, when Nature was become more awake and active, and ſome Aſſiſtance might poſſibly be expected from the Inſtrumentality of ſecond Cauſes.

And God ſaid, Let there be Light] The Words, Let there be Light, Longinus takes Notice of as a truly lofty Expreſſion; and herein appears the Wiſdom of Moſes, that he repreſents God like himſelf, commanding Things into Being by his Word, i. e. his Will: For wherever we find the Words, he ſaid, in the Hiſtory of the Creation, the Meaning muſt be, that he willed ſo, and ſo. See Patrick's Comment.

And the Evening and the Morning were the firſt Day] If we rather approve the Copernican Hypotheſis, we muſt ſay, ſays Bedford in his Chronology, that the Earth, having now received its diurnal and annual Motion, and having turn'd round about its Axis, for about the Space of 12 Hours, made this luminous Body, now fixed in a proper Place, appear in the Eaſt, which in the Space of 12 Hours more, ſeemed to ſet in the Weſt, and that this Revolution made a Diſtinction between Day and Night.

And God made the Firmament, and divided the Waters which were under the Firmament, from the Waters which were above the Firmament] The Word here tranſlated Firmament, ſome render Expanſe, and Mr. Aynſworth ſtill more literally, the outſpread Firmament; the Intent of which Moſes tells us, was to ſeparate between the Waters which were below it, and thoſe which were above it. Several Fathers of the Chriſtian Church, expounding this, have aſſerted ſuper-celeſtial Waters, and have endeavour'd to ſupport their Aſſertions by various Arguments, which, no doubt, appear'd to them cogent; but the Moderns have not only rejected, but ridiculed this Notion; tho' they have not offer'd any Thing probable, that is not liable to Objection in its Room.

And God ſaid, Let the Earth bring forth Graſs, the Herb yielding Seed] Patrick, in his Commentary, obſerves, there are two Things, wherein the Production of Plants, in the Beginning, differ'd from their Production ever since. 1. That they have ſprung, ever ſince, out of their Seed, either ſown by us, or falling from the Plants themſelves; but, in the Beginning, were brought out of the Earth, with their Seed in them, to propagate them ever after. 2. That they need now, (as they have ever done ſince the firſt Creation) the Influence of the Sun to make them ſprout; but then they came forth by the Power of God, before there was any Sun, which was not form'd till the next Day.

And God ſaid, Let there be Lights in the Firmament of Heaven] Some of the Jewiſh Doctors are of Opinion, that in the firſt Day, when God created Light, at the ſame Time he formed and compacted it into a Sun; and that the Sun is mentioned again on the fourth Day, merely by Way of Repetition; while others maintain, that this Light was a certain luminous Body, not unlike that which conducted the Children of Iſrael in the Wilderneſs, that moved round the World, until the Day wherein the Sun was created. But there is no Occaſion for ſuch Conjectures as theſe. Every one knows, that Darkneſs has, in all Ages, been the chief Idea which Men have had of a Chaos. Both Poets and Philoſophers have made Nox, and Erebus, and Tartarus, the principal Parts, Ingredients of its Deſcription; and therefore it ſeems very agreeable to the Reaſon of Mankind, that the firſt Remove from the Chaos ſhould be a Tendency to Light. But then by Light, as it was produced the firſt Day, we muſt not underſtand the darting Rays from a luminous Body, ſuch as do now proceed from the Sun, but thoſe Particles of Matter only, which we call Fire, whoſe Properties we know are Light and Heat, which the Almighty produced as a proper Inſtrument for the Preparation and Digeſtion of all other Matter. For Fire being naturally a ſtrong and reſtleſs Element, when once it was diſentangled and ſet free, would not ceaſe to move, and agitate from Top to Bottom the whole heavy and confuſed Maſs, until the more pure and ſhining Parts of it being ſeparated from the groſſer, and ſo uniting together (as Things of the ſame Species naturally do) did conſtitute that Light, which, on the fourth Day, was more compreſs'd and conſolidated, and ſo became the Body of the Sun.

Let the Waters bring forth abundantly the moving Creature that hath Life, and Fowls that may fly] From theſe Words ſome have ſtarted an Opinion, that Fowl derive their Origin from the Water; and others, from the Words, Out of the Ground God formed every Beaſt of the Field, and every Fowl of the Air, raiſe another, viz. that Fowl took their Beginning from the Earth: But theſe two Texts are eaſily reconcil'd, becauſe neither denies what the other ſays, tho' they ſpeak differently; as when Moſes ſays, Let the Water bring forth Fowl, he does not by that ſay, that the Earth did not bring forth Fowl. It is moſt reaſonable therefore to think, that they had their Original partly from the Waters, and partly from the Earth; and this might render the Fleſh of Fowl leſs groſs than that of Beaſts, and more firm than that of Fiſhes. Hence Philo calls Fowl the Kindred of Fiſh; and that they are ſo, the great Congruity there is in their Natures (they being both oviparous, which makes them more fruitful than other Animals, and both ſteering or directing their Courſe by their Tails) is a ſufficient Indication.

The living Creatures which are upon the Earth, the Hebrew Text, diſtinguiſhes into Behemah, which we render Cattle, and ſignifies Flocks, Herds, and ſuch like, differing from the Chaja or Hhajath, tranſlated in our Bible, Beaſts of the Earth. The Hebrew Word Remeſch, inſerted between theſe, ſignifies all ſuch creeping Creatures, as by Reaſon of their Want of Feet, or through the Smalneſs or Shortneſs of their Feet, appear to the naked Eye to crawl upon their Bellies on the Ground.

In the 24th Verſe of this Chapter it is ſaid, that God commanded the Earth to produce ſuch and ſuch Animals; and yet in the very next Verſe it follows, that God made the Beaſt of the Earth, and every Thing that moveth, after his Kind: But this ſeeming Contradiction, ſays Patrick, is eaſily reconcil'd, by putting together the Meaning of both theſe Paſſages, which muſt certainly be this — that God himſelf effectually formed thoſe terreſtrial Animals, and made uſe of the Earth only as to the Matter, whereof he conſtituted their Parts. Some indeed have made it a Queſtion, whether theſe ſeveral Creatures were at firſt produced in their full State and Perfection, or God only created the Seeds of all Animals (i. e. the Animals themſelves in Miniature) and diſperſed them over the Face of the Earth, giving Power to that Element, aſſiſted by the genial Heat of the Sun, to hatch and bring them forth; but for this there is no Manner of Occaſion, ſince it is much more rational to ſuppoſe, that God did not commit the Formation of Things to any intermediate Cauſe, but himſelf created the firſt Set of Animals in the full Proportion, and Perfection of their ſpecific Natures, and gave to each Species a Power afterwards, by Generation, to propagate their Kind; for that even now, and in the preſent Situation of Things, any perfect Species can either, naturally or accidentally, be produced by any Preparation of Matter, or by any Influence of the Heavens, without the Interpoſition of an Almighty Power, phyſical Experiments do demonſtrate.

The Manner of the original Formation of Plants and Animals, ſays another Author, in which the Wiſdom of the Creator principally appears, has never been accounted for, by any Philoſopher, with any tolerable Succeſs; and the Laws of Motion, having nothing at all to do in theſe Things, whatever they have in the inanimate Part of the World. How ridiculous and groundleſs theſe Hypotheſes are, which make them to be produced from the Earth, ſuppoſed ever ſo fruitful, by the Influence and Heat of the Sun, appears from the late Diſcovery made in Philoſophy, that there is no ſuch Thing as equivocal Generation of any the meaneſt Animal or Plant; the Sun, Earth, and Water, and all the Powers of Nature in Conjunction, being able to do nothing at all towards the producing of any Thing endued with ſo much as a vegetable Life. It muſt be therefore neceſſarily allowed, that God himſelf, or ſome Agent empowered by him, actually formed both Plants and Animals, making Uſe of the Earth and Water, as the Matter only whereof he conſtituted their Parts. But whether theſe firſt vegetative and ſenſitive Creatures, were created in their Seed only, which contain the Plants and Animals themſelves in Little, and diſperſed over the ſuperficial Part of the Land and Water, which had Power given them to hatch and bring them forth, or whether they were created in their full State of Perfection, ſeems not eaſy to decide. It has been thought, by ſome modern Philoſophers, that God, at firſt, created two of each Species of Animals, from which all the reſt proceeded by Generation; to ſupport which Opinion, they obſerve, that there was but one Man and one Woman created; and at the Deluge, but two of each Kind, of unclean Beaſts, were preſerved in the Ark. But it ſeems more conſonant to Scripture, that a great Number of every Kind were formed at firſt. We are aſſured the aquatic Creatures and Fowls were brought forth abundantly; and Plants having no locomotive Power, muſt neceſſarily have been created diſperſedly all the World over. There has been alſo a farther Queſtion moved concerning the Creation of Animals, viz. Whether all Animals, that have already been, or hereafter ſhall be, were at firſt actually created by God? Or, whether he had given to each Kind of Animal, ſuch a Power of Creation, as to prepare Matter, and to produce new Individuals in their own Bodies? And it ſeems to be the moſt reaſonable Opinion, that God did himſelf, at firſt, actually create all the individual Animals that ever were, or ever ſhall be; and that there is no ſuch Thing as any Production of new ones. For what were that, but a Creation of ſuch Individuals? And what did God at the firſt Creation, more than what, if this be true, we ſee every Day done? That is, produce a new Animal out of Matter which itſelf prepares; all the Difference is, that God does that in an Inſtant, which the Creature muſt take ſome Time to do; beſides, the Parent Animal cannot be the Agent or Efficient, in the Generation or forming and nouriſh-ing of the Fœtus, becauſe that is a Work of Art and Reaſon, which brute Creatures are not endued withal; nor indeed does Man himſelf underſtand any Thing of the Proceſs of Generation in himſelf. Again, it is moſt probable, if not certain, that moſt Animals have in 'em, from the Beginning, the Seed, or Eggs, of all the Young they ſhall afterwards bring forth, which, when ſpent and exhauſted, the Creature becomes barren. The Females of all viviparous Quadrupeds, being brought forth with their Teſtes or Ovaria, and all Birds formed with their Ovary, or Egg Cluſter, containing the Seeds of all the Eggs they ſhall ever lay. Now, had the Creature Power of producing new ones, what need was there, that there ſhould be ſo many at firſt formed in them? Whereupon theſe Philoſophers argue thus: Let us ſuppoſe God did at firſt create two Animals a Male and a Female, the Female muſt be created with its Ovaries, which, as we have ſaid, contain ſo many Seeds, or Eggs, as the Creature ſhould bring forth Young; ſo it is clear, that not only the firſt Pair, but the firſt Generation of Animals, were actually created. Again, this Generation, from their firſt Appearance, had each of them, that is, the Females, its Ovaria, containing in like Manner, the Seeds of its future Offſpring; ſo that this ſecond Generation was alſo created in the firſt, the ſame may be demonſtrated of the third and fourth, and ſo on of all the Generations that ſhall be as long as the World ſhall laſt.

And God ſaid, Let us make Man] The Jewiſh Doctors are of Opinion, that the Conſultation was real, and held with ſuch angelical Beings as God might employ in the Work of Man's Creation; and they tell a Story, upon this Occaſion, which ſeems a little fictitious, viz. that, as Moſes was writing his Book by God's Appointment, and theſe Words came to be dictated, he refus'd to ſet them down, crying out, O Lord! would'ſt thou then plunge Men into Error, and make them doubt of the Doctrine of the Unity? Whereupon it was anſwer'd by God, I command thee to write, and if any will err, let them err. Several modern Expoſitors account it only a majeſtic Form of Speech, as nothing is more common, than for Kings and ſovereign Princes to ſpeak in the plural Number, eſpecially when they are giving out any important Order or Command. It has been obſerv'd however, that, as there were no Men, and conſequently no great Men, when this was ſpoken; ſo there was no ſuch Manner of Speech in uſe, among Men of that Rank, for many Ages after Moſes. Their common Cuſtom was in all their publick Inſtruments and Letters (the better to inhance the Notion of Sovereignty) to ſpeak in the firſt Perſon, as it was in our Nation not long ago, and is in the Kingdom of Spain to this very Day; and therefore, upon the Authority of almoſt all the Fathers of the Church, as Whitby obſerves, were directed by God the Father, to the Son, and Holy Spirit, or at leaſt to the Son. Others have thought, that this Language of Moſes repreſents God ſpeaking, as he is, i. e. in a Plurality of Perſons.

CHAP. II.

The Sabbath inſtituted. Eden planted. The Tree of Knowledge. Adam names the Creatures. The Woman created; and Marriage inſtituted.

Ver. 1. THUS the heavens and the earth were finiſhed, and all the hoſt of them. 2 And on the ſeventh day God ended his work which he had made: and he reſted on the ſeventh day from all his work which he had made. 3 And God bleſſed the ſeventh day, and ſanctified it: becauſe that in it he had reſted from all his work, which God created and made. 4 Theſe are the generations of the heavens and of the earth, when they were created; in the day that the Lord God made the earth and the heavens, 5 And every plant of the field, before it was in the earth, and every herb of the field, before it grew: for the Lord God had not cauſed it to rain upon the earth, and there was not a man to till the ground. 6 But there went up a miſt from the earth, and watered the whole face of the ground. 7 And the Lord God formed man of the duſt of the ground, and breathed into his noſtrils the breath of life; and man became a living ſoul.

And God bleſſed the ſeventh Day, and ſanctified it] Whether the Inſtitution of the Sabbath was from the Beginning of the World, and one Day in ſeven always obſerv'd by the Patriarchs, before the Promulgation of the Law, or whether the Sanctification of the ſeventh Day is related only by way of Anticipation, as an Ordinance not to take Place until the Introduction of the Jewiſh Oeconomy, is a Matter of ſome Debate among the Learned, but I think with little or no Reaſon; for, when we conſider that, as ſoon as the ſacred Penman had ſaid, God ended his Work, and reſted, he adds immediately, in the Words of the ſame Tenſe, he bleſſed the ſeventh Day and ſanctified it, when we compare this Paſſage in Geneſis with the twentieth Chapter of Exodus, wherein Moſes ſpeaks of God's bleſſing and ſanctifying the Sabbath, not as an Act then firſt done, but as what he had formerly done upon the Creation of the World; when we remember, that all the Patriarchs from Adam to Moſes had ſet Times for their ſolemn Aſſemblies, and that theſe Times were weekly, and of divine Inſtitution; that, upon the Return of theſe weekly Sabbaths, very probable it was, that Cain and Abel offer'd their reſpective Sacrifices to God; and that Noah, the only righteous Perſon among the Antediluvians, Abraham, the moſt faithful Servant of God after the Flood, and Job, that perfect and upright Man, who feared God, and eſchewed Evil, are all ſuppoſed to have obſerv'd it; we cannot but think, that the Day, whereon the Work of the Creation was concluded, from the very Beginning of Time, was, every Week (until Men had corrupted their Ways) kept holy, as being the Birth-day of the World, as Philo ſtiles it, and the univerſal Feſtival of Mankind. See Bedford's Script. Chron. and Patrick's Com.

In the Day that the Lord God made the Earth, and the Heavens] It is not very neceſſary to determine at what Seaſon of the Year the World was made; yet it ſeems moſt probable, that it was about the Autumnal Equinox, and that not only becauſe the Trees were then laden with Fruit, as the Hiſtory tells us our firſt Parents did eat of them; but becauſe the Jews did then begin their civil Year (viz. in the Month Tiſri, which anſwers Part of our September and October) from whence their ſabbatical and jubilee Year did likewiſe commence, Exod. xxiii. 16. Lev. xxv. 9. The Month Abib (which anſwers to Part of our March and April) had indeed the Honour afterwards to be reckoned among the Jews the Beginning of their Year in Eccleſiaſtical Matters, becauſe the Children of Iſrael, in that Month, came out of the Land of Egypt; but, from the very Creation, the Month Tiſri was always counted the firſt of their civil Year, becauſe it was the general Opinion of the Antients, that the World was created at the Time of the Autumnal Equinox; and for this Reaſon, the Jews do ſtill, in the Æra of the Creation, as well in that of Contracts, and other Inſtruments, compute the Beginning of their Year from the firſt Day of Tiſri: Herein, however, the Jews do differ from us; that, whereas they make the World only 3760, moſt of the Chriſtian Chronologers will have it to be much about 4000 Years older than Chriſt; ſo that by them 5732 Years, or thereabouts, are thought a moderate Computation of the World's Antiquity. See Uſher's Annals, Bedford's Chronology, and Shuckford's Connection.

And there was not a Man to till the Ground] The moſt plauſible Objection of the Pre-adamites is, that if Adam and Eve be allowed to be the Progenitors of all Mankind, there can be no tolerable Cauſe aſſigned, of the Difference in Colour between the Whites and the Blacks, it being very improbable that they were the Offſpring Offſpring of the ſame Parents. To this it may be anſwer'd, that the Variety of Complexions in the World, may be rationally accounted for another Way. We know how the Hair and Colour of Mens Bodies differ, according to the Climate they inhabit, and their greater and leſſer Diſtance from the Sun; we may therefore well conclude, that the firſt Colony which ſetled in a very hot Country, received a very great Change in their Complexion, proportionable to the Heat of the Climate, and became very tawny, gradually inclining to Blackneſs, as the Sun was more intenſe upon them. Hence, in a Generation or two, the light Degree of Tawnineſs might become natural, and at length, the Pride of the Natives. The Men might begin to value themſelves upon this Complexion, and the Women to affect them the better for it; ſo that their Love for their Huſbands, and daily Converſation with them, might have a conſiderable Influence on the Fruits of their Wombs, and make each Child grow blacker and blacker, according to the Fancy and Imagination of the Mother, the Force of which is evident from many Inſtances. Upon this Suppoſition, the Children thus produced, muſt, every Birth, approach nearer to an abſolute Blackneſs, and as their tender Bodies came to be expoſed naked, as the Manner of ſuch Countries is, to the violent Heat of the Sun, their Skins muſt needs be ſcorched in a very extraordinary Manner, and perhaps their very Texture alter'd, and by that Means, contract a Blackneſs far ſuperior to that of their Parents. By ſuch Degrees, it is not improbabie that People of the faireſt Complexion, when removed into a very hot Climate, may in a few Generations, become perfect Negroes. As to what ſome have imagined, that this Blackneſs was at firſt preternatural, and a Judgment inflicted upon Ham, the Son of Noah, for diſcovering his Father's Nakedneſs, and that all People of that Complexion, are the Progeny of that undutiful Son; this ſeems very unlikely, and without Foundation, the Curſe on that Occaſion being on Canaan, the Son of Ham, by Name, and yet his Poſterity are allowed not to have been black.

The Lord God] Hebrew, Jehovah Elohim. This Word Jehovah is God's proper Name, and in the higheſt Veneration among the Jews. They explain its Signification thus havah, he was. By its firſt Letter I, it ſignifies, he will be, and by the ſecond ho, that is, he is; ſo that together it meant, He who is, who was, and who will be, or is to come.

Formed Man of the Duſt of the Ground] The vulgar Latin has it Limus, Mud, which agrees well with the Original, of which Diodorus Siculus ſeems to have had ſome Notion, when he ſaid, Man was made out of the Slime or Mud of Nile.

And breathed into his Noſtrils the Breath of Life] It is enquired, ſays Campbel, whether the Soul breathed into Adam, was abſolutely independant of his Body or not? As alſo, whether the Souls of all ſucceeding Mortals, were created at the ſame Time with that of Adam's? As to the firſt, it is really a very difficult and perplexed Point, either Side of the Queſtion being expoſed to almoſt inſuperable Difficulties; for if, on the one Hand, we imagine the Soul is derived ex traduce from our Parents, which, as far as either our Senſes or our Reaſon will give us Leave to trace Things, it ſeems to be, the Materiality of the Soul will appear almoſt a neceſſary Conſequence, and it will go very near to deſtroy one great Diſtinction between us and the brute Creation; whereas on the other Hand, there is ſomething extremely indecent, not to ſay ſhocking, in this Aſſertion, God creates a Soul, whenever a Child is conceived. The Truth is, that when Men depart from the Conſideration of thoſe Things neceſſary to their Happineſs or Duty, inexpreſſible Difficulties immediately thwart their Cogitations, and drive them, if they have any Degree of Wiſdom, back to the dernier Reſort in ſuch Caſes, viz. The Wiſdom of God, who, as he has declared himſelf God of the Spirits of all Fleſh, ſo undoubtedly, he acts in this, as in all other Caſes, ſuitable to the Purity and Dignity of his own Nature, tho' in a Manner Superior to our Underſtandings. As to the Creation of all human Souls at once, it is, by no Means, a novel Opinion, for almoſt all the antient Philoſophers, who aſſerted the Immortality of the Soul, aſſerted this alſo. Such of the Chriſtians as were inclined to introduce Platonic Notions into their Religion, embraced it; and even of late Years, it has not wanted its Defenders. Mohammed, who gleaned up abundance of Traditions indifferently from Chriſtians, Jews and Pagans, amongſt others, pick'd up this, and in the 7th Chapter of his Koran ſaith, that God made a Covenant with the Sons of Adam, by drawing his Poſterity at once out of his Loins, and obliging them to acknowledge him for their Lord. This Tranſaction happen'd, as ſome of his Followers pretend, in a Valley not far from Meccha; others ſay, in the Plain of Dahia in Judea, where each of the Souls was clothed in a Body like that of a Piſmire; and that after they had all, in the Preſence of the holy Angels, ſworn Allegiance unto their Creator, they returned again into the Loins of Adam. Without troubling ourſelves with ſuch endleſs, uſeleſs Diſquiſitions, almoſt as irrational as the Fables invented to ſolve them, let us content ourſelves with that Knowledge which is equally certain and important, that every Man is endued with a free and independant Soul, capable of eternal Happineſs or Miſery, according as he applies himſelf to the Love of Virtue, or the Purſuit of ſenſual Pleaſures.

And Man became a living Soul] That Man conſiſts of Body and Soul, is a Thing known to every one, and particularly remarked by Moſes; and theſe two Parts are, as he affirms, of very different Originals; for his Body, he ſays, was framed out of the Duſt or Clay, but his Soul was inſpired by his Creator. Now, inaſmuch as it is the Nature of the Soul, which diſtinguiſhes Man from Beaſt; for that we have more elevated Ideas than the Brutes, and particularly in our Senſe of Religion, is admitted by all; and therefore it ſeems rational to conclude, that the Image of God is in our Souls, and the Similitude there is between us and our Creator, and conſiſts in our Capacity of living virtuouſly, and in a Manner ſuitable to that Dignity of Nature which he has beſtowed upon us.

8 And the Lord God planted a garden eaſtward in Eden; and there he put the man whom he had formed. 9 And out of the ground made the Lord God to grow every tree that is pleaſant to the ſight, and good for food: the tree of life alſo in the midſt of the garden, and the tree of knowledge of good and evil. 10 And a river went out of Eden to water the garden; and from thence it was parted, and became into four heads. 11 The name of the firſt is Piſon: that is it which compaſſeth the whole land of Havilah, where there is gold. 12 And the gold of that land is good: there is bdellium and the onyx-ſtone. 13 And the name of the ſecond river is Gihon: the ſame is it that compaſſeth the whole land of Ethiopia. 14 And the name of the third river is Hiddekel: that is it which goeth toward the eaſt of Aſſyria. And the fourth river is Euphrates. 15. And the Lord God took the man, and put him into the garden of Eden, to dreſs it, and to keep it. 16. And the Lord God commanded the man, ſaying, Of every tree of the garden thou mayeſt freely eat: 17 But of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, thou ſhalt not eat of it: for in the day that thou eateſt thereof, thou ſhalt ſurely die.

And the Lord God planted a Garden eaſtward in Eden] The Country of Eden, as Mr. Stackhouſe obſerves, lay on the Weſt Side, or rather on both Sides of the River Euphrates, after its Conjunction with the Tigris, a little tle below the Place, where, in Proceſs of Time, the famous City of Babylon came to be built.

Herodotus, who was an Eye-witneſs of it, tells us, that where Euphrates runs out into Tigris, not far from the Place where Ninus is ſeated, that Region is, of all, that he ever ſaw, the moſt excellent; ſo fruitful in bringing forth Corn, that it yieldeth two hundred-fold, and ſo plenteous in Graſs, that the People are forc'd to drive their Cattle from Paſture, leſt they ſhould ſurfeit themſelves by too much Plenty.

The Name of the firſt is Piſon] Or Phiſon (as the Son of Sirach calls it) that which compaſſeth the Land of Havilah. Now, for the better underſtanding of this, ſays Stackhouſe, we muſt obſerve, that when Moſes wrote his Hiſtory, he was, in all Probability, in Arabia Petrea, on the Eaſt of which lies Arabia Deſerta; but the Sterility of the Country will not admit of the Situation of the Garden of Eden in that Place, and therefore we muſt go on Eaſtward (as our Author directs us) until we come to ſome Place, through which Euphrates and Tigris are known to ſhape their Courſe. Now Euphrates and Tigris, they both riſe out of the Mountains of Armenia, take almoſt quite contrary Courſes. Euphrates runs to the Weſt, and paſſing through Meſopotamia, waters the Country where Babylon once ſtood; whereas Tigris takes towards the Eaſt, and paſſing along Aſſyria, waters the Country where the once fam'd Nineveh ſtood. After a long Progreſs, they meet a little below Babylon, and, running a conſiderable Way together in one large Stream, with Babylonia and Chaldea on the Weſt, and the Country of Suſiana on the Eaſt Side, they ſeparate again, not far from Baſſora, and ſo fall, in two Channels, into the Perſian Gulf, incloſing the Iſland Teredon, now call'd Balſora.

As to the Iſland of Havilah, there are two Places in Scripture where it is mentioned. In the one we are told, that the Iſraelites dwelt from Havilah to Shur, that is before Egypt, Gen. xxv. 18. And in the other, that Saul ſmote the Amalekites from Havilah, until thou goeſt to Shur, that is before Egypt, 1 Sam. xv. 7. where, by the Expreſſion, from Havilah to Shur, is probably meant the whole Extent of that Part of Arabia, which lies between Egypt to the Weſt, and a certain Stream, or River, which empties itſelf into the Perſian Gulf, on the Eaſt. That Havilah is the ſame with this Part of Arabia, is farther evinc'd from its abounding with very good Gold. For all Authors, both ſacred and prophane, highly commend the Gold of Arabia; tells us, that it is there dug in great Plenty; is of ſo lively a Colour, as to come near the Brightneſs of Fire; and of ſo fine a Kind, ſo pure and unmixed, as to need no Refinement. Bdellium (which by ſome Interpreters is taken for Pearl, and by others for an Aromatick Gum) is, in both theſe Senſes, applicable to this Country: For the Bdellium, or Gum of Arabia, was always held in great Eſteem; nor is there any Place in the World which produces finer Pearls, nor in greater Quantities, than the Sea about Baharem, an Iſland ſituate in the Perſian Gulf; and, as for the Onyx-Stone in particular (if we will believe what Pliny tells us) the Antients were of Opinion, that it was no where to be found, but in the Mountains of Arabia. It ſeems reaſonable therefore to conclude, (according to all the Characters which Moſes has given us of it) that that Tract of Arabia which lies upon the Perſian Gulf, was in his Days, call'd the Land of Havilah, and that the Channel which, after Euphrates and Tigris part, runs Weſtward into the ſaid Gulf, was originally called Piſon; and this the rather, becauſe ſome Remains of its antient Name continued a long while after this Account of it.

The ſecond River is Gihon; the ſame is it that compaſſeth the whole Land of Ethiopia] The Septuagint Tranſlation, ſays Patrick, renders the Hebrew Word Cuſh by the Name of Ethiopia, and in this Miſtake is all along follow'd by our Engliſh Verſions (whereas by the Land Cuſh is always meant ſome Part of Arabia) which has led Joſephus, and ſeveral others into a Notion, that the River Gihon was the Nile in Egypt; and, ſuppoſing withal, that the Country of Havilah was ſome Part of the Eaſt Indies, they have run into another Error, and taken Piſon for the Ganges, whereby they made the Garden of Eden contain the greateſt Part of Aſia, and ſome Part of Africa likewiſe, which is a Suppoſition quite incredible.

But tho' no Remains of this River Gihon are to be met with in the Country itſelf, yet, ſince it lies the ſecond in order, according to the Method that Moſes has taken in mentioning the four Rivers; and, ſince the Province it runs along and waſhes, was formerly call'd the Land of Cuſh, and has at this Time, a Name (Chareſtan) not a little analogous to it; there is no Doubt to be made, but that the Eaſterly Channel, coming from the united Stream of the Euphrates and Tigris, is the very Gihon deſcribed by Moſes.

The third River is Hiddekel; that is it which goeth towards the Eaſt of Aſſyria] Or, as it is better tranſlated, that which goeth along the Side of Aſſyria. It is allow'd by all Interpreters, as well as the LXX, that this River is the ſame with Tigris, which, as Pliny ſays, was called Diglito, in thoſe Parts where its Courſe was ſlow, but where it began to be rapid, it took the other Name. And, tho' it may be difficult to ſhew any juſt Analogy between the Names of Hiddekel and Tigris; yet, if either we obſerve Moſes's Method of reckoning up the four Rivers, or conſider the true Geography of the Country, we ſhall eaſily perceive, that the River Hiddekel cou'd properly be no other. For, as in reſpect of the Place where Moſes wrote, Piſon lay neareſt to him, and ſo, in a natural Order, was nam'd firſt, and the Gihon lying near to that, was accordingly reckon'd ſecond; ſo having paſſed over that Stream, and turning to the left, in order to come back again to Arabia Petrea (where Moſes was) we meet, in our Paſſage, with Tigris in the third Place; and ſo proceeding Weſtward through the leſſer Part of Meſopotamia, come to Pherath, or Euphrates, at laſt. For Tigris (we muſt remember) parts Aſſyria from Meſopotamia, and meeting with Euphrates, a little below Babylon, runs along with it in one common Channel, until they ſeparate again, and make the two Streams of Piſon and Gihon, which, as we ſaid before, empty themſelves into the Perſian Gulf.

The fourth River is Euphrates] This lay ſo near the Country of Judea, and was ſo well known to the Inhabitants thereof, that there was no Occaſion for Moſes particularly to deſcribe it.

Euphrates is of the ſame Signification with the Hebrew Pherath, and is probably ſo call'd, by Reaſon of the Pleaſantneſs, at leaſt the great Fruitfulneſs of the adjacent Country. It muſt not be diſſembled however, that it is one of thoſe corrupt Names, which our Tranſlations have borrow'd from the Septuagint Verſion, and which probably the Greeks, as Reland (de Situ Paradiſi) judiciouſly obſerv'd, took from the Perſians, who often ſet the Word ab or au, which ſignifies Water, before the Names of Rivers, of which Word, and Frat (as it is ſtill call'd by the neighbouring People) the Name Euphrates is apparently compounded. See Univerſ. Hiſt. B. i. C. 1.

From the Courſe of theſe four Rivers, ſays Stackhouſe, who follows the Opinion of the learned Huetius, which Moſes manifeſtly makes the Bounds and Limits of it, we may perceive, that the Land of Eden muſt neceſſarily lie upon the great Channel; which the Tigris and Euphrates make, while they run together, and where they part again, muſt there terminate: For ſo the ſacred Text informs us, viz. that a River went out of Eden to water the Garden, and from thence it was parted, and became into four Heads; which Words manifeſtly imply, that in Eden the River was but one, i. e. one ſingle Channel; but from thence, i. e. when it was gone out of Eden, it was parted, and became four Streams or Openings (for ſo the Hebrew Word may be tranſlated) two upwards, and two below. For, ſuppoſing the Channel to be our common Center, we may, if we look one Way, i. e. up towards Babylon, ſee the Tigris and Euphrates coming into it; and, if we look another Way, i. e. downwards to the Perſian Gulf, ſee the Piſon and the Gihon running out of it.

Genesis. Chap: II. Verses 23, & 24.

And Adam said, This is now bone of my bones, and flesh of my flesh: She shall be called Woman because she was taken out of Man. Therefore shall a Man leave his father and his Mother, & shall cleave to his Wife: and they shall be one flesh

Genesis. Chap: II. Verse, 20.

And Adam gave Names to all Cattle, and to the fowl of the Air; and to every beast of the field.

Genesis. Chap: III. Verse, 6.

And when the Woman saw that the Tree was good for food, and that it was pleasant to the eyes, and a tree to be desir'd to make one wise; she took of the fruit thereof, and did eat, and gave also unto her husband with her; & he did eat.

Genesis. Chap: III. Verse, 24.

So he drove out the Man; & he placed at the east of the garden of Eden, Cherubims, & a flaming Sword, which turned every way, to keep the way of the tree of Life.

It ſeems reaſonable then to ſuppoſe, that this Country of Eden lay on each Side of this great Channel, partly in Chaldea, and partly in Suſiana. And, what may confirm us in this Opinion, is, the extraordinary Goodneſs and Fertility of the Soil. For, as it is incongruous to ſuppoſe, that God would make Choice of a barren Land, wherein to plant the Garden of Paradiſe, ſo all antient Hiſtorians and Geographers inform us, that not only Meſopotamia, Chaldea, and a good Part of Syria, and other neighbouring Countries, were the moſt pleaſant and fruitful Places in the World; but modern Travellers likewiſe particularly aſſure us, that, in all the Dominions which the Grand Seignior has, there is not a finer Country (tho' for want of Hands, it lies in ſome Places uncultivated) than that which lies between Bagdat and Balſora, the very Tract of Ground, which, according to our Computation, was formerly call'd the Land of Eden.

In what preciſe Part of the Land of Eden the Garden of Paradiſe was planted, the ſacred Hiſtorian ſeems to intimate, by informing us, that it lay Eaſtward in Eden: For he does not mean, that it lay Eaſtward from the Place where he was then writing (That every Body might eaſily know) but his Deſign was to point out, as near as poſſible, the very Spot of Ground where it was antiently ſeated. If then the Garden of Paradiſe lay in the eaſterly Part of the Country of Eden, and the River, which water'd it, ran through that Province (as the Scripture tells us it did) before it enter'd into the Garden, then muſt it neceſſarily follow, that Paradiſe was ſituated on the Eaſt Side of one of the Turnings of that River, which the Conjunction of the Tigris and Euphrates makes (now called the River of the Arabs) and very probably at the loweſt great Turning, which Ptolomy takes notice of, and not far from the Place where Aracca (in Scripture called Erec) at preſent is known to ſtand.

The Tree of Life] So called, becauſe, ſay ſome, it had a Virtue in it, not only to repair the animal Spirits, as other Nouriſhment does, but likewiſe to preſerve and maintain them in the ſame equal Temper and State, wherein they were created, without Pain, Diſeaſes, or Decay.

Others think, that the Tree of Life was ſo called, in a ſymbolical Senſe, as it was a Sign and Token of that Life which Man had receiv'd from God, and of his continual Enjoyment of it, without Diminution, had he perſiſted in his Obedience; and, as this Garden, ſay they, was confeſſedly a Type of Heaven, ſo God might intend by this Tree to repreſent that immortal Life which he meant to beſtow upon Mankind with himſelf, Rev. xxii. 2. according to which is that famous Saying of St. Auſtin, Erat ei in cæteris Lignis Alimentum, in iſtis vero Sacramentum. In the reſt of the Trees there was Nouriſhment, but in this a Sacrament. See Patrick's Com.

The Tree of Knowledge of Good and Evil] So called, ſay ſome, not becauſe it had a Virtue to confer any ſuch Knowledge, but becauſe the Devil, in his Temptation of the Woman, pretended that it had; pretended, that as God knew all Things, and was himſelf ſubject to no one's Controul, ſo the Eating of this Tree would confer on them the ſame Degree of Knowledge, and put them in the ſame State of Independency: And from this unfortunate Deception (whereof God might ſpeak by way of Anticipation) it did not improperly derive its Name.

Others think The Tree of Knowledge was ſo called, either in Reſpect to God, who was minded by this Tree to prove our firſt Parents, whether they would be good or bad, which was to be known by their abſtaining from the Fruit, or eating it; or in Reſpect to them; who, in the Event, found, by ſad Experience, the Difference between Good and Evil, which they knew not before; but they found the Difference to be this, that Good is that which gives the Mind Pleaſure and Aſſurance; but Evil that which is always attended with Sorrow and Regret. Pool's Annot.

In the Day thou eateſt thereof thou ſhalt ſurely die] Which Words ſeem to imply, that on the Day that Adam ſhould eat of the Tree of Knowledge, he ſhould die, which eventually prov'd not ſo, becauſe he liv'd many Years after; and therefore (as ſome obſerve very well) it ſhould be render'd, Thou ſhalt deſerve to die, without Remiſſion, for the Scripture frequently expreſſes by the Future, not only what will come to paſs, but alſo what ought to come to paſs; to which Purpoſe there is a very appoſite Text in 1 Kings ii. 37. where Solomon ſays to Shimei, Go not forth thence (viz. from Jeruſalem) any whither; for in the Day thou goeſt out, and paſſeſt over the Brook Kidron, thou ſhalt ſurely die, i. e. thou ſhalt deſerve Death without Remiſſion. For Solomon reſerv'd to himſelf the Power of puniſhing him, when he ſhould think fit; and, in Effect, he did not put him to Death the ſame Day that he diſobeyed, any more than God did put Adam to Death the ſame Day that he tranſgreſſed in eating the forbidding Fruit. This ſeems to be a good Solution: Tho' ſome Interpreters underſtand the Prohibition, as if God intended thereby to intimate to Adam the deadly Quality of the forbidden Fruit, whoſe Poiſon was ſo very exquiſite, that in the very Day he eat thereof, it would certainly have deſtroy'd him, had not God's Goodneſs interpoſed, and reſtrain'd its Violence. See Eſſay for a new Tranſlation, and Le Clerc's Comment.

18 And the Lord God ſaid, It is not good that the man ſhould be alone: I will make him an help-meet for him. 19 And out of the ground the Lord God formed every beaſt of the field, and every fowl of the air, and brought them unto Adam to ſee what he would call them: and whatſoever Adam called every living creature, that was the name thereof. 20 And Adam gave names to all cattel, and to the fowl of the air, and to every beaſt of the field: but for Adam there was not found an help-meet for him. 21 And the Lord God cauſed a deep ſleep to fall upon Adam, and he ſlept: and he took one of his ribs, and cloſed up the fleſh in ſtead thereof. 22 And the rib, which the Lord God had taken from man, made he a woman, and brought her unto the man. 23 And Adam ſaid, This is now bone of my bones, and fleſh of my fleſh: ſhe ſhall be called Woman, becauſe ſhe was taken out of man. 24 Therefore ſhall a man leave his father and his mother, and ſhall cleave unto his wife: and they ſhall be one fleſh. 25 And they were both naked, the man and his wife, and were not aſhamed.

And the Lord God cauſed a deep Sleep to fall upon Adam] This Sleep was a Kind of Trance or Exſtaſy, (for ſo the LXX tranſlate it) wherein was repreſented to his Imagination, both what was done to him, and what was the myſtical Meaning of it, and whereby he was prepared for the Reception of that Divine Oracle concerning the ſacred Inſtitution of Marriage, which preſently, upon his waking, he utter'd. Milton has given us a beautiful Deſcription of the Trance, which God had cauſed to fall upon Adam.

He ended, or I heard no more; for now
My earthly by his heavenly over-power'd
Which it had long ſtood under, ſtrain'd to th'Height
In that celeſtial Colloquy ſublime,
(As with an Object that excels the Senſe, Dazl'd and ſpent) ſunk down, and ſought Relief
Of Sleep, which inſtantly fell on me, call'd
By Nature as in Aid, and clos'd mine Eyes.
Mine Eyes he clos'd, but open left the Cell
Of Fancy, my internal Sight; by which (Abſtract as in a Trance) methought I ſaw,
Tho' ſleeping, where I lay, and ſaw the Shape
Still glorious, before whom awake I ſtood—

Under his forming Hands a Creature grew
Manlike, but different Sex; ſo lovely fair,
That what ſeem'd fair in all the World, ſeem'd now
Mean, or in her ſumm'd up, in her contain'd,
And in her Looks, which from that Time infus'd
Sweetneſs into my Heart, unfelt before;
And into all Things from her Air inſpired
The Spirit of Love, and amorous Delight

B. 8.

And the Rib which the Lord God had taken from Adam, made he a Woman] Mr. Stackhouſe renders it thus; God took Part of the Subſtance of Man's Body, near his Side, and, cloſing up the Orifice again, out of that Subſtance he form'd the Body of Eve: And gives this Reaſon for it; As the original Word does not ſtrictly ſignify a Rib, and is all along render'd by the LXX Pleura, ſo I thought it not improper to give it that Conſtruction, thereby to cut off from Infidels an Occaſion for Raillery, and to ſpare them all their Wit about the redundant or defective Rib of Adam.

The original Word for made ſignifies building, or framing any Thing with a ſingular Care, Contrivance, and Proportion, and hence our Bodies are in Scripture frequently call'd Houſes, Job iv. 19. 2 Cor. v. 1. and ſometimes Temples, John ii. 15. 1 Cor. iii. 16.

Milton has given us a very curious Deſcription of Eve's Qualifications both in Body and Mind.

Tho' well I underſtand, in the prime End
Of Nature, her the inferior in the Mind,
And inward Faculties, which moſt excel.
In outward alſo her reſembling leſs
His Image, who made both, and leſs expreſſing
The Character of that Dominion given
O'er other Creatures; yet when I approach
Her Lovelineſs, ſo abſolute ſhe ſeems,
So in herſelf compleat, ſo well to know
Her own, that what ſhe wills to do, or ſay,
Seems wiſeſt, virtuoſeſt, diſcreeteſt, beſt.
All higher Knowledge in her Preſence falls
Degraded, Wiſdom, in Diſcourſe with her,
Loſes diſcountenanc'd, and like Folly ſhews.
Authority, and Reaſon on her wait,
As one intended firſt, but after made
Occaſionally; and, to conſummate all,
Greatneſs of Mind, and Nobleneſs their Seat
Build in her Lovelineſs, and create an Awe
About her as a Guard Angelic plac'd.

B. 8.

Some have been ſo mighty curious as to enquire into the Reaſon that might induce God to make the Man and the Woman at different Times, and of different Materials? But, what if God, willing to have a pleaſing Variety in his Works, condeſcended to have the Matter whereof the Woman was form'd, paſs twice through his Hands, in order to ſoften the Temper, and meliorate the Compoſition? Some peculiar Qualities, remarkable in the female Sex, might perhaps juſtify this Suppoſition: But the true Reaſon ſeems couch'd in theſe Words of Adam; This is now Bone of my Bone, and Fleſh of my Fleſh; ſhe ſhall be called Woman, becauſe ſhe was taken out of Man, therefore ſhall a Man leave his Father and his Mother, and cleave to his Wife, and they ſhall be one Fleſh.

Since God was determin'd then to form the Woman out of ſome Part of the Man's Body, and might probably have a myſtical Meaning in ſo doing; to have taken her (like the Poets Minerva) out of the Head, might have entitled her to Superiority, which he never intended for her; to have made her of any inferior, or more diſhonourable Part, wou'd not have agreed with that Equality, to which ſhe was appointed; and therefore he took her out of the Man's Side, to denote the Obligations to the ſtricteſt Friendſhip and Society; to beget the ſtrongeſt Love and Sympathy between him and her, as Parts of the ſame Whole; and to recommend Marriage to all Mankind, as founded in Nature, and as the Re-union of Man and Woman.

But why is not the Woman's Soul mention'd in the Works of the Creation? Anſw. 'Tis an eaſy Matter to be ſceptical, but ſmall Reaſon, I think, ſays Stackhouſe, why no Mention is made, in this Place, of the Inſpiration of the Woman's Soul. What the Hiſtorian means here, is only to repreſent a peculiar Circumſtance in the Woman's Compoſition, viz. her Aſſumption from the Man's Side: And therefore what relates to the Creation of her Soul, muſt be preſum'd to go before, and is indeed ſignified in the Preface God makes before he begins the Work: It is not good that Man ſhould be alone, I will make him an Help-meet for him; i. e. of the ſame eſſential Qualities with himſelf. For we cannot conceive of what great Comfort this Woman wou'd have been to Adam, had ſhe not been endow'd with a rational Part, capable of converſing with him; had ſhe not had the ſame Underſtanding Will, and Affections, tho' perhaps in a lower Degree, and with ſome Accommodation to the Weakneſs of her Sex, in order to recommend her Beauty, and to endear that Softneſs, wherein ſhe certainly had the preeminence.

CHAP III.

Eve, being deceived by the Serpent, eats the forbidden Fruit, and then gives it her Huſband; for which both they and the Serpent are curſed, yet under a Promiſe to the Woman's Seed. Their reſpective Puniſhments, and Baniſhment out of Paradiſe.

Ver. 1. NOW the ſerpent was more ſubtil than any beaſt of the field which the Lord God had made: and he ſaid unto the woman, Yea, hath God ſaid, Ye ſhall not eat of every tree of the garden? 2 And the woman ſaid unto the ſerpent, We may eat of the fruit of the trees of the garden: 3 But of the fruit of the tree which is in the midſt of the garden, God hath ſaid, Ye ſhall not eat of it, neither ſhall ye touch it, leſt ye die. 4 And the ſerpent ſaid unto the woman, Ye ſhall not ſurely die. 5 For God doth know, that in the day ye eat thereof, then your eyes ſhall be opened: and ye ſhall be as Gods, knowing good and evil. 6 And when the woman ſaw that the tree was good for food, and that it was pleaſant to the eyes, and a tree to be deſired to make one wiſe; ſhe took of the fruit thereof, and did eat, and gave alſo unto her huſband with her, and he did eat. 7 And the eyes of them both were opened, and they knew that they were naked: and they ſewed fig-leaves together, and made themſelves aprons. 8 And they heard the voice of the Lord God walking in the garden in the cool of the day: and Adam and his wife hid themſelves from the preſence of the Lord God amongſt the trees of the garden. 9 And the Lord God called unto Adam, and ſaid unto him, Where art thou? 10 And he ſaid, I heard thy voice in the garden: and I was afraid, becauſe I was naked; and I hid myſelf. 11 And he ſaid, Who told thee that thou waſt naked? Haſt thou eaten of the tree, whereof I commanded thee, that thou ſhouldeſt not eat? 12 And the man ſaid, The woman, whom thou gaveſt to be with me, ſhe gave me of the tree, and I did eat. 13 And the Lord God ſaid unto the woman, What is this that thou haſt done? And the woman ſaid, The ſerpent beguiled me, and I did eat. 14 And the Lord God ſaid unto the ſerpent, Becauſe thou haſt done this, thou art curſed above all cattle, cattle, and above every beaſt of the field: upon thy belly ſhalt thou go, and duſt ſhalt thou eat all the days of thy life. 15 And I will put enmity between thee and the woman, and between thy ſeed and her ſeed: it ſhall bruiſe thy head, and thou ſhalt bruiſe his heel. 16 Unto the woman he ſaid, I will greatly multiply thy ſorrow, and thy conception; in ſorrow thou ſhalt bring forth children: and thy deſire ſhall be to thy huſband, and he ſhall rule over thee. 17 And unto Adam he ſaid, Becauſe thou haſt harkened unto the voice of thy wife, and haſt eaten of the tree of which I commanded thee, ſaying, Thou ſhalt not eat of it: curſed is the ground for thy ſake; in ſorrow ſhalt thou eat of it all the days of thy life. 18 Thorns alſo and thiſtles ſhall it bring forth to thee: and thou ſhalt eat the herb of the field. 19 In the ſweat of thy face ſhalt thou eat bread, till thou return unto the ground; for out of it waſt thou taken: for duſt thou art, and unto duſt ſhalt thou return. 20 And Adam called his wives name Eve, becauſe ſhe was the mother of all living. 21 Unto Adam alſo and to his wife did the Lord God make coats of ſkins, and cloathed them. 22 And the Lord God ſaid, Behold the man is become as one of us, to know good and evil. And now leſt he put forth his hand, and take alſo of the tree of life, and eat and live for ever: 23 Therefore the Lord God ſent him forth from the garden of Eden, to till the ground, from whence he was taken. 24 So he drove out the man: and he placed at the eaſt of the garden of Eden, Cherubims, and a flaming ſword which turned every way, to keep the way of the tree of life.

That prophane, as well as ſacred Writers, had the ſame Notion of the Fall of wicked Angels, is manifeſt, ſays Huetius, from a Tradition they had (tho' mixt with Fable) of the Titans and Giants invading Heaven, fighting againſt Jupiter, and attempting to depoſe him from his Throne; for which Reaſon he threw them down headlong into Hell, where they are tormented with inceſſant Fire, and therefore Empedocles, in the Verſes recited by Plutarch, makes mention of the Fate of ſome Demons, who, for their Rebellion, were, from the Summit of Heaven, plung'd into the Bottom of the great Deep, there to be puniſh'd as they deſerv'd. To which the Story of Ate, who once inhabited the Air, but, being always hurtful to Man, and therefore hateful to God, was caſt down from thence, with a ſolemn Oath and Decree, that ſhe ſhould never return again, ſeems not a little to allude.

Now the Serpent was more ſubtil than any Beaſt of the Field] Milton, who is an excellent Commentator upon the whole Hiſtory of the Fall, brings in the Devil, fter a long Search to find out a Beaſt proper for his Purpoſe, concluding at laſt to make uſe of the Serpent.

Him after long Debate (irreſolute
Of Thought revolv'd) his final Sentence choſe Fit Veſſel, fitteſt Imp of Fraud, in whom
To enter, and his dark Suggeſtions hide
From ſharpeſt Sight: For in the wily Snake
Whatever Sleights, none wou'd Suſpicion mark,
As from his Wit, and native Subtilty
Proceeding; which in other Beaſt obſerv'd,
Doubt might beget of diabolic Pow'r
Active within, beyond the Senſe of Brutes.

Calmet obſerves, that the Wiſdom and Subtilty of the Serpent are frequently mention'd in Scripture, as Qualities which diſtinguiſh it from other Animals, and ſeveral are the Inſtances wherein it is ſaid to diſcover its Cunning, 1ſt, When it is old, by ſqueezing itſelf between two Rocks, it can ſtrip off its old Skin, and ſo grow young again. 2dly. As it grows blind, it has a Secret to recover its Sight by the Juice of Fennel. 3dly, When it is aſſaulted its chief Care is to ſecure its Head, becauſe its Heart lies under its Throat, and very near its Head. And, 4thly, When it goes to drink at a Fountain, it vomits up all its Poiſon, for fear of poiſoning itſelf as it is drinking.

But a modern Author of our own (of Revelation examin'd) has given us this further Reaſon for the Devil's making uſe of the Serpent in this Affair, viz. That as no infinite Being can actuate any Creature, beyond what the Fitneſs and Capacity of its Organs will admit; ſo, the natural Subtilty of the Serpent, and perhaps the Pliableneſs and Forkineſs of its Tongue (which we know enables other Creatures to pronounce articulate Sounds) added to the Advantages of its Form, made it the fitteſt Inſtrument of Deluſion, that can be imagin'd.

Burnet, in his Archæologiæ Philoſophicæ, has a Dialogue, which being in Latin, I have tranſlated for the Benefit of the Engliſh Reader.

Serp. Faireſt of all that here is fair, may Happineſs attend you. What art thou employed about under this Shade?

Eve. I am contemplating the Beauty of this Tree.

Serp. It is, indeed, very delightful to the Sight, but yet the Fruit of it is far more agreeable. Have you taſted of it, my fair Lady?

Eve. No, indeed! God has forbidden us to eat of this Tree.

Serp. How is that! Who is that God that envies his Creatures the innocent Delights of Nature? Nothing is more ſweet, nothing more ſalutary than this Fruit. This was certainly but a jocular Prohibition.

Eve. By no Means; for he forbad it under the Pain of Death.

Serp. You undoubtedly miſapprehend the Thing: For this Tree is ſo far from having any Thing mortal in it, that it has rather ſomething Divine, and Virtues of an uncommon Nature.

Eve. I know not how to anſwer you; but I will call my Huſband.

Serp. What need you trouble him about ſo trifling a Matter?

Eve. Shall I try? What can be more beautiful than this Apple? How pleaſant its Smell! But perhaps it has a bad Taſte.

Serp. 'Tis ſuch, believe me, as Angels themſelves might eat. However, try; and if it has a bad Savour, throw it away, and ſay I am the greateſt Liar upon Earth.

Eve. Well, I'll try——It is, indeed, of a moſt delicious Taſte: Thou haſt not deceived me. Reach me another, that I may carry it to my Huſband.

Serp. Well remember'd! Here it is: Give it your Huſband. Happy Creature! Farewel. In the mean Time I'll ſlink away — She will do the reſt.

The celebrated Dr. Teniſon, in his Treatiſe on Idolatry, ſpeaks of a certain Kind of Golden-coloured and moſt beautifully looking Serpents, which are ſometimes ſeen in the Eaſt, in the Form of one of which, he ſuppoſes the Devil might appear to Eve, and be miſtaken for an Angel. This Hypotheſis has been ſince received and commended by many judicious Writers, becauſe, as we ſhall ſee, it ſolves almoſt all the Objections which ſceptical Perſons have raiſed gaainſt the literal Senſe of this Hiſtory; and that, without ſtraining either the Underſtanding or Faith. Tortures, which modern Criticks are extremely afraid of. The learned and pious Biſhop Patrick, who wrote his Commentary with a charitable Intention of opening the true Senſe of the Scriptures, without Regard to any Syſtem of Opinions, expreſſes himſelf on this Head, that it was the Devil who tempted Eve in the Serpent, and actually ſpoke to her, in the Manner related by Moſes; only the good Biſhop inclines to the Sentiment laſt mentioned, and declares a Belief of the Serpent's being a beautiful Creature, and not unlike the Form in which

ſome good Angels had been ſeen by Eve. The judicious Francis Barman has written very accurately and clearly on this Matter: The Hiſtory of the Fall, ſays he, is very properly introduced in the Book of Geneſis, by the Deſcription of the Tempter, which is exact, and affords a double Repreſentation, viz. of the Beaſt, which appeared as the Actor in this Deception, and of him who was hidden under the Serpent; for Moſes, as an Hiſtorian, ſet down only Matters of Fact, juſt as they happened; and, conſequently, as the Woman ſaw and heard only the Serpent, without apprehending any Thing of the Devil by whom it was actuated, the inſpired Writer keeps to the Serpent ſolely, and makes no Mention of the Evil Spirit in this Work. Our Author proceeds afterwards to ſpeak of the Subtilty and Cunning of Serpents, in order as well to juſtify the Words of Moſes, as to prove that Satan, on this Occaſion, made Choice of the moſt proper Inſtrument, for the effecting his malicious Purpoſe. Afterwards he takes Notice of the Stories mentioned by Roman Authors of ſpeaking Beaſts held to be portentous, and of the Manner in which the Pythoniſſa was ſuppoſed to pronounce her Anſwer; whence he very juſtly argues, that Voices proceeding in the ſame Way, this is conceived to have proceeded from the Serpent, is neither incredible, nor contrary to the common Notions of Mankind; which Argument was long ago urged againſt Julian, who, tho' he apoſtatized from Chriſtianity, and would afterwards have charged Abſurdities on our Faith, yet made no Difficulty of ſwallowing ſuch Stories, in reſpect of the Ethnic Divinity, as were abſolutely impoſſible, and irreconcilable to Reaſon and the Senſes.

The learned and judicious Mede has offer'd a very philoſophical Solution of this Difficulty, viz. Who the Serpent was underſtood to be, by Eve? And, firſt, he ſays, ſhe cannot be ſuppoſed to have taken this for a common Serpent; for ſuch a Suppoſition reflects upon her Judgment as weak and inſufficient, And, ſecondly, If we believe ſhe was conſcious of a ſuperior Power actuating the Beaſt, it may be aſked, How ſhe came to diſcourſe therewith? Or how this agrees with the Letter of Moſes, which ſeems to attribute this whole Tranſaction to the Subtilty of the Serpent? Theſe Queſtions are intricate; but, however, not inexplicable, as we ſhall ſee. 1ſt, I ſuppoſe it was the eſtabliſh'd Law of Spirits Commerce with Mankind, that, in order thereto, they ſhould put on ſome viſible Body or other; and this may be inferred from the very Term made uſe of, to ſignify ſuch a Correſpondence, Viſio, Apparitio, a Viſion, an Apparition; and this Law I ſuppoſe alſo to have been known to Eve; and that the good Spirits, or miniſtring Angels in Paradiſe, complied therewith. 2dly, I ſuppoſe that this Law had another Branch, whereby Spirits were commanded to take ſuch Bodies as had ſome Relation to the End for which they came, inaſmuch as that their Condition might appear from ſuch Bodies, as, in this World, we gueſs at the Qualities of Men from the Habits they wear; and of this too, I ſuppoſe that Eve was not ignorant. From whence I take it for granted, that good Angels did always apppear in human Forms, but bad Angels never; the Power of aſſuming that Form, being denied them, while Man continued in Paradiſe; nor is it at all ſubverſive of this Poſition, that they have appear'd in human Likeneſs ſince, there having been a vaſt Change in the Laws of Nature, induced by Adam's Sin, which, as it weakened the intellectual Faculties of his Deſcendants, ſo it occaſioned the evil Spirits acquiring larger Dominion. Theſe Obſervations premiſed, it will not be very difficult to apprehend, how Eve conceived a ſpiritual Being animating the Serpent, and yet converſed therewith unaffrighted; for, with her, doubtleſs, he paſſed for a good Angel, with whom ſhe might ſafely diſcourſe; and gueſſing at his Nature, from the Sagacity of the Creature he appear'd in, ſhe believed his Knowledge was more excellent than thoſe of his Fellows, and therefore liſtened readily to whatever he advanced; thinking alſo, that, as a more excellent Being, he might be intimately acquainted with the Mind or Will of God.

It is very well worth our Obſervation, ſays Aynſworth in his Annotations, how ambiguous and deceitful the Promiſe, which the Tempter makes our firſt Parent, was: For, by opening the Eyes, ſhe underſtood a farther Degree of Wiſdom, as the ſame Phraſe imports, Acts xxvi. 18. and Eph. i. 18. but he meant their perceiving their own Miſery, and Confuſion of Conſcience, as fell out immediately. By being like Gods, ſhe underſtood the Happineſs of Father, Son, and Holy Ghoſt, as appears by the Words of God himſelf, Ver. 22. but he meant it of Angels (frequently ſtiled Elohim, i. e. Gods) and of ſuch fallen Angels, as himſelf, who are called Principalities and Powers, Col. ii. 15. And by knowing Good and Evil, ſhe underſtood a Kind of Divine Omniſcience, or knowing all Manner of Things, (as the Phraſe frequently ſignifies.) But he meant it, that ſhe thereby ſhould experience the Difference between Good and Evil, between Happineſs and Miſery, which ſhe did to her Coſt: A Method this of Cunning and Reſerve, which he has practis'd in his oracular Reſponſes ever ſince.

The Words Good and Evil, ſays Le Clerc, when apply'd to Knowledge, comprehend every Thing that is poſſible for Man to know; for ſo the Woman of Tekoa, in her Addreſs to King David, tells him, (2 Sam. xiv. 17.) as an Angel of God is my Lord the King, to diſcern Good and Bad; and that by the Terms Good and Bad, we are to underſtand all Things, the 20th Verſe of that Chapter will inform us, where ſhe continues her Compliment, and ſays my Lord is wiſe, according to the Wiſdom of an Angel, to know all Things that are on the Earth.

And the Eyes of them both were opened] Le Clerc obſerves, that it is reputed an Elegance in the ſacred Writing to make uſe of the Figure, which Rhetoricians call Antanaclaſis, whereby they continue the ſame Word or Phraſe that went before, tho' in a quite different Senſe; as the learned Grotius upon John i. 16. and Hammond on Matt. viii. 22. have abundantly ſhewn: And for this Reaſon he ſuppoſes, that Moſes repeats their Eyes were open, which the Devil had us'd before, tho' he means it in a Senſe quite different from the former.

And they knew that they were naked] Thoſe who take the Word naked in a literal Senſe, ſuppoſe, that upon the Fall, the Air, and other Elements, immediately became intemperate and diſorderly; ſo that our firſt Parents ſoon knew, or felt, that they were naked, becauſe the Son ſcorch'd them, the Rain wet them, and the Cold pierc'd them. See Patrick's Com. and King on the Origin of Evil. But others take the Expreſſion rather in a figurative Senſe, viz. to denote the Commiſſion of ſuch Sin, as a Man in his Senſes may be aſham'd of: And to this Purpoſe they have obſerv'd, that when Moſes return'd from the Mount, and found that the People had made and conſecrated a Golden Image, the Expreſſion in Scripture is, that the People were naked, i. e. were become vile and reprobate Sinners, (for ſo the Word gumnos, naked, ſignifies in the New Teſtament, Rev. xvi. 15.) for Aaron had made them naked, unto their Shame, among their Enemies. See Le Clerc's Com. Now thoſe who take it in this Senſe, obſerve farther, that by the Word Nakedneſs (according to the uſual Modeſty of the Hebrew Tongue) are meant all the irregular Appetites to venereal Pleaſures, which Adam and Eve were Strangers to in their State of Innocence, but began now firſt to experience, and which the intoxicating Juice of the forbidden Tree might very probably excite. Nicholl's Confer. Vol. 1.

As with new Wine intoxicated both,
They ſwim in Mirth, and fancy that they feel Divinity within them, breeding Wings
Wherewith to ſcorn the Earth: But that falſe Fruit
Far other Operation firſt diſplay'd,
Carnal Deſire inflaming: He on Eve
Began to caſt laſcivious Eyes, ſhe him
As wantonly repaid, in Luſt they burn.
Milton. B. 9.

And they ſew'd Fig-leaves together, and made themſelves Aprons] Patrick obſerves, that the Words ſew'd Fig-leaves together, as they are here tranſlated, have given Occaſion to the uſual Sneer, What they could do for Needles and Thread? But the original Word Tapar, ſignifies no more, than to put together, apply, or fit, as is plain from Job xvi. 15. and Ezek. xiii. 28. and the Word Gneleh, which we render Leaves, ſignifies alſo Branches of Trees, ſuch as were to make Booths or Bowers, Nehem. xviii. 15. So that, to adapt, or fit Branches (which is tranſlated ſewing Leaves together) is only to twiſt, and plat the flexible Branches of the Fig-tree round about their Waiſts, in the Manner of a Roman Crown; for which Purpoſe, the Fig-tree, of all others, was the moſt ſerviceable, becauſe, as Pliny tells us, it had Folium maximum, & umbroſiſſimum, an exceeding large and ſhady Leaf.

The Word, in the Tranſlation, is Aprons: But ſince, in the Original, as Le Clerc obſerves, it may ſignify any Thing that covers or ſurrounds us, it may every whit as properly be here rendred a Bower, or Arbor, cover'd with the Branches of the Fig-tree, wherein the fallen Pair thought to have hid themſelves from the Sight of God; to which Interpretation, the ſubſequent Verſe ſeems to give ſome Countenance. Nor is Milton's Deſcription of the Fig-tree uninclinable to this Senſe.

-----Such as at this Day ſpreads her Arms,
Branching ſo broad and long, that in the Ground
The bended Twigs take Root, and Daughters grow
About the Mother-Tree; a pillar'd Shade
High over-arch'd, and ecchoing Walks between.
There oft the Indian Herdſman, ſhunning Heat,
Shelters in cool, and tends his paſturing Herds
In Loop-holes, cut through thickeſt Shade.

B. 9.

And they heard the Voice of the Lord walking in the Garden] The Word Voice, Le Clerc ſays, may be equally render'd Noiſe: And, ſince God's uſual Way of notifying his Preſence afterwards, was either by a ſmall ſtill Voice, or Noiſe, 1 Kings xix. 1, 2. or by a Noiſe, like that of great Waters, Ezek. i. 24. or like the Ruſtling of Wind in the Trees, 2 Sam. v. 24. we may reaſonably ſuppoſe, that it was either a ſoft a gentle Noiſe, like a Breeze of Wind among the Trees of Paradiſe, or a louder one, like the Murmuring of ſome large River, which gave Adam Notice of God's approaching.

Milton makes Adam, upon this Occaſion, expreſs himſelf in this Manner.

-----How ſhall I behold the Face
Henceforth of God or Angel, erſt with Joy
And Raptures oft beheld?—O! might I here
In Solitude live ſavage, in ſome Glade
Obſcur'd, where higheſt Woods (impenetrable To Star or Sun light) ſpread their Umbrage broad,
And brown as Evening! Cover me ye Pines,
Ye Cedars, with innumerable Boughs
Hide me, where I may never ſee them more.

B. 9.

Upon thy Belly ſhalt thou go, and Duſt ſhalt thou eat all the Days of thy Life] Joſephus, in the Beginning of his Antiquities, pretends, that all Creatures, uſing the ſame Language, and conſequently being endu'd with Reaſon and Underſtanding, the Serpent, excited by Envy, tempted Eve to ſin, and, among other Things, receiv'd this ſignal Puniſhment, viz. That it ſhould be depriv'd of its Feet, and ever after crawl upon the Ground, which Aben Ezra, and ſeveral other Rabbins confirm. But, what is certain in the Serpent's Puniſhment, is this—that it actually eats the dry and duſty Earth (as Bochart and Pliny tell us) otherwiſe we can hardly conceive, how it could ſubſiſt in dry and ſandy Deſarts, to which God, in a good Meaſure, has condemn'd it.

It ſhall bruiſe thy Head, and thou ſhalt bruiſe his Heel] This Promiſe, made generally to Eve, was afterwards, on an extraordinary Occaſion, and for extraordinary Faith renewed to Abraham, and confined to his Deſcendants; In thy Seed ſhall all the Nations be bleſſed. Which Promiſe was the great Glory of the Jewiſh Nation, which in Conſequence of Daniel's Prophecy, had an univerſal Expectation of the Meſſiah's appearing, at the Time of the Coming of Chriſt. From this Cauſe they were continually vaunting that they were the Children of Abraham, and for this they were reproved by Jeſus, when he explained to them the true Senſe of the Text they alluded to; telling them, that Abraham had ſeen his Day, and was glad. The Endeavours of the Devil to ſeduce Souls, and to involve Mankind in the ſame Condemnation with himſelf, is mentioned by Chriſt, as a Warfare; the Phariſees, who blaſphemed God, and oppoſed the Preaching of Jeſus, are by him ſtiled the Seed, or Children of the Devil, and are charged with continuing in the ſame Practices with their Father; the Children of Darkneſs, it is declared, hate the Children of Light; and by his ſuffering on the Croſs, the Saviour of the World propheſied, that he had vanquiſhed the Powers of Darkneſs; as he was born of the Virgin Mary, he was plainly the Seed of Eve, and as ſhe was of the Stock of Abraham, this Prophecy and ſeveral others, were fulfilled. The ſtriking the old Serpent on the Head, was by his Triumph at his Death, in which happened that wounding of the Heel, which himſelf ſuffered, for the Sake of Mankind. In this Light are theſe Texts conſidered and applied to the New Teſtament, particularly by St. Paul, in his firſt Epiſtle to the Corinthians, and in his Epiſtle to the Galatians; in the one he explains how Chriſt repaired the Sin of Adam, in the other how the Promiſe to Abraham was fulfilled in him.

I will greatly multiply thy Sorrow, and thy Conception] The Author of Revelation examin'd obſerves, that 'tis remarkable, that a Woman is the only Creature we know of, who has any Sorrow in Conception. This Ariſtotle expreſly affirms, and only excepts the Inſtance of a Mare conceiving by an Aſs, and, in general, where there is any Thing monſtrous in the Fœtus. Other Creatures, we find, are in more perfect Health, and Strength, and Vigour, at that Time, than before; but Ariſtotle reckons up ten different Maladies, to which the Woman is then naturally ſubject. And, as ſhe is ſubject to Sickneſs, in the Time of her Conception; ſo it is farther remarkable, that ſhe brings forth her Offſpring with more Pain and Agony than any other Creature upon Earth, even tho' ſhe has ſome Advantages in her Make, above other Creatures, that might promiſe her, in this Caſe, an Alleviation: And therefore we may ſuppoſe, that, upon God's ſaying to the Woman, In Sorrow ſhalt thou bring forth Children, a real Effect did immediately accompany the Word ſpoken, and cauſe ſuch a Change in the Woman's Body, as, in the Courſe of Nature, muſt have occaſion'd the extraordinary Pain here ſpoken of: For ſo we find, that in the Sentence pronounc'd againſt the Serpent, againſt the Earth, and againſt the Man, the Word of God was not only declarative, but executive likewiſe, as producing a real Change by a new Modification of Matter, or Conformation of Parts.

Thy Deſire ſhall be unto thy Huſband] That is, as thou haſt hearkened to the Solicitations of the Tempter, in the Abſence of thy Huſband, thou therefore ſhalt be put under greater Subjection to him, than before; and in this Senſe theſe Words have been underſtood by the Generality of Commentators.

Curſed be the Ground for thy Sake] But why ſhould God curſe the Ground, which was incapable of offending him? Anſ. This was not the Effect of Anger, or any haſty Paſſion (which God is not capable of) but of calm and equitable Juſtice; ſince it was Man (who had done enough to incur the divine Diſpleaſure) that was to ſuffer by the Curſe, and not the Ground itſelf: For the Ground felt no Harm, by bringing forth Thorns and Thiſtles, but Adam, who, for ſome Time, had experienc'd the ſpontaneous Fertility of Paradiſe, was a ſufficient Sufferer by the Change, when he found himſelf reduced to hard Labour, and forc'd to eat his Bread by the Sweat of his Brow.

In the Sweat of thy Face ſhalt thou eat Bread] From whence ſome conclude, that the Earth, before the Fall, brought forth ſpontaneouſly, (as ſeveral of the antient Poets have deſcribed the Golden Age) and without any Pains to cultivate it; as indeed there needed none, ſince all Things, at firſt, were by the Divine Power, created in their full Perfection. What Labour would have been neceſſary in Time, if Man had continued innocent, we do not know, only we may obſerve from the Words, that leſs Pains would have been then required than Men are now forc'd to take for their Suſtenance. The Wiſdom, Goodneſs, and Juſtice of God, however, are very conſpicuous, in decreeing, that Toil and Drudgery ſhould be the Conſequence of departing from an eaſy and rational Obedience; in making the Earth leſs deſirable to Man, when his Guilt had reduc'd him to the Neceſſity of leaving it; and in keeping in order thoſe Paſſions and Appetites, which had now broke looſe from the Reſtraint of Reaſon, by ſubduing their Impetuoſity with hard Labour. See Patrick's Com. and Revel. exam.

Milton brings God, after the Fall, appointing his holy Angels to make an Alteration in the Courſe of the celeſtial Bodies, and to poſſeſs them with noxious Qualities, in order to deſtroy the Fertility of the Earth, and thereby puniſh Man for his Tranſgreſſion.

----- The Sun
Had firſt its Precept ſo to move, ſo ſhine,
As might affect the Earth with Cold and Heat
Scarce tolerable; and from the North to call Decrepid Winter; from the South to bring Solſtitial Summer's Heat. To the blank Moon
Her Office they preſcrib'd, to th' other five
Their planetary Motions and Aſpects
Of noxious Efficacy, and when to join
In Synod unbenign; and taught the fix'd
Their Influence malign when to ſhower;
Which of them riſing with the Sun, or falling,
Shou'd prove tempeſtuous. To the Winds they ſet
Their Corners, when with Bluſter to confound
Sea, Air, and Shoar: The Thunder when to roll
With Terror thro' the dark aerial Hall.
Theſe Changes in the Heavens, tho' ſlow, produce
Like Change on Sea, and Land; Siderial Blaſt, Vapour, and Miſt, and Exhalation hot,
Corrupt, and Peſtilent.
B. 10.

Unto Adam alſo, and to his Wife, did the Lord God make Coats of Skins, and cloathed them] It cannot be denied, but that the Skins of Beaſts were a very antient Sort of Cloathing. Diodorus Siculus (L. 1.) Where he introduces Hercules in a Lion's Skin, tells us no leſs; and the Author to the Hebrews makes Mention of this Kind of Habit: But the Jewiſh Doctors have carried the Matter ſo far, as to maintain, that, as Adam was a Prieſt, this Coat of his was a Prieſtly Garment, which he left to his Poſterity: So that Abel, Noah, Abraham, and the reſt of the Patriarchs, ſacrific'd in it, until the Time that Aaron was made High Prieſt, and had peculiar Veſtments appointed him by God. But all this fine Fiction of theirs, falls to the Ground, if we can but ſuppoſe with ſome, that, by the Word which we render Coats, we may not improperly underſtand Tents, or Arbors, to defend our firſt Parents from the Violence of the Heat, and ſuch haſty Showers as were common in the Countries adjacent to Paradiſe, and where the Winter was not ſo cold, as to require Coats made of Skins, which wou'd certainly be too warm. That they cou'd not be the Skins of ſlain Animals is very manifeſt, becauſe, as yet, there was no more than two of each Species, Male and Female, nor had they propagated. And therefore others have imagin'd, that if the original Word muſt mean Coats, they were more probably made of the Bark of Trees, which are called Dermata, the Skins of them, as well as the Hides of Animals. See Le Clerc, and Patrick's Com. and Bibliotheca Bibl. Vol. 1.

Behold the Man is become as one of us, to know Good and Evil, and now, leſt he put forth his Hand, and taſte of the Tree of Life, and live for ever] The former of theſe Sentences is held, by moſt Interpreters, to be an Irony, ſpoken in Alluſion to the Devil's Manner of tempting Eve, Ver. 5. but from the latter Part of the Words, this Queſtion ſeems to ariſe; "Whether "Adam and Eve if they had taſted of the Tree of Life, "after their Tranſgreſſion, ſhould have liv'd for ever?" Now it is very manifeſt, that, by the Violation of God's Command, they had juſtly incurr'd the Penalty. In the Day thou eateſt thereof thou ſhalt ſurely die; i. e. ſhalt ſurely become Mortal: From whence it follows, that, whether they had, or had not eaten, of the Tree of Life, they were, the Moment they fell, ſubject to the Neceſſity of dying, nor cou'd the Virtue of the Tree be it what it wou'd, preſerve them from the Execution of the Sentence; and therefore theſe latter Words, and now, leſt he put forth his Hand, and taſte of the Tree of Life, and live for ever, are in like Manner, ſpoken ſarcaſtically, as if God had ſaid, 'Leſt the Man ſhould 'vainly fancy in himſelf, that, by eating of the Tree 'of Life, he ſhall be enabled to live for ever, let us 'remove this Conceit from him, by removing him from 'this Place, and for ever debarring him from any Hopes 'of coming at that Tree again. See Eſtius in Diff. Loca.

Examples of God's ſpeaking by way of Sarcaſm, or Upbraiding, are not uncommon in Scripture: But conſidering that, in the Midſt of Judgment, he here thinketh upon Mercy; that, before the Sentence againſt our firſt Parents, he promiſes them a Reſtoration, and after Sentence paſt, does nevertheleſs provide them with Cloathing; ſome have thought, that the Words, by taking the original Verb to ſignify the Time-paſt (as it may well enough do) are rather an Expreſſion of Pity and Compaſſion, and of the ſame Import as if God had ſaid; 'The Man was once, like one of us, 'to know Good, and to purſue it; to know Evil, and 'to avoid it; (for that is the Perfection of Moral 'Knowledge) but behold how he is now degenerated! 'And therefore, leſt this Degeneracy ſhould continue 'upon him, and he become obdurate, the beſt Way 'will be to ſeclude him from the Tree of Life, by 'expelling him from Paradiſe.' But this Opinion ſeems to aſcribe too much to the Power of the Tree, and is not ſupported with Authority equal to the former.

And he placed at the Eaſt Side of the Garden of Eden, Cherubims and a flaming Sword] Cherubim, was a Name appropriated unto a certain Order of Angels, at the Time Moſes wrote this Hiſtory in the Wilderneſs, according to the Opinion of Biſhop Patrick. We have ſeveral Deſcriptions of Cherubims in the Holy Scriptures; but they are not exactly agreeable to one another: All that can certainly be pronounced of them, is, that they had Wings, as appears from Exod. xxv. 20. Joſephus ſays, that they were like unto no flying Animals, which were ſeen by Men, but ſuch as Moſes ſaw figured on the Throne of God. From a Paſſage in Ezek. x. 14. it hath been conjectur'd, that they were in Figure like Oxen; but the ſame Writer on the Jewiſh Antiquities ſays expreſly in two Places, As for the Cherubims, no one can tell, or conceive what they are like.

What is meant by the flaming Sword, ſays Teniſon, repreſented to be in the Hands of the Cherubims, at the Entrance of the Garden of Paradiſe, is variouſly conjectur'd by learned Men: But, of all Eſſays of this Kind, that of Tertullian, who thought it was the Torrid Zone, is the moſt unhappy. The Words of Lactantius are, Ipſam Paradiſum igne circumvallavit, he encompaſſed Paradiſe with a Wall of Fire: From whence a learned Man of our Nation, pretending that the original Word ſignifies a dividing Flame, as well as a flaming Sword, ſuppoſes, that this Flame was an Acceniion of ſome combuſtible Matter, round about the Garden, which excluded all Corners to it, till ſuch Time as the Beauty of the Place was defac'd. See Nicholl's Confer. Vol. 1. Some Rabbins are of Opinion, that this flaming Sword was an Angel, founding their Sentiment on that Paſſage in the Pſalms, where 'tis ſaid, that God maketh his Angels Spirits, and his Miniſters a flaming Fire, Pſ. civ. 4. And hereupon another learned Man of our Nation has imagin'd, that this flaming Sword (which was accounted by the Jews a ſecond Angel) was of a different Kind to the Cherubims, viz.

And Adam knew Eve his Wife; & She conceived and bare Cain, and said, viz. a Seraph, or flaming Angel, in the Form of a flying fiery Serpent, whose Body vibrated in the Air with Lustre, and may fitly be described by the Image of such a Sword.

Sculp

It was, says one, the Accension of inflamable Matter round about the Garden, which excluded all Comers to it, till such Time as the Beauty of the Place was defaced. Now this Opinion must be more probable to them, who place Paradise in the Eastern Parts of the World, especially about Babylon, where there is such an Abundance of Naphtha, and Bitumen, according to the Relations of Pliny, Plutarch, Strabo, and Curtius, and where there are Fields, which even yet, at some Times of the Year, seem all on Fire. But then it may be said what have these Cherubims or Angels to do with this fiery Wall? I answer, it is the Custom of the Hebrews, to express all the extraordinary Works of God by Angels, as to call a Plague, Famine, &c. a destroying Angel. Nay, farther, they being averse from the Philosophy of mechanick and material Principles, used to explain the common Phænomena of Nature by vital, pneumatick, or, which is the same, Angelick Principles.

But, as some have objected, be their Crime to themselves; why should their innocent Posterity have it imputed to them, or be loaded with the sad Effects or Consequences of it?

To give this a probable Solution, some have been apt to imagine, says Stackhouse, that the Fruit of the forbidden Tree might be impregnated with a very fermenting Juice, which put the Blood and Spirits into a great Disorder, and thereby divested the Soul of that Power and Dominion which it had before over the Body, which by its Operation clouded the Intellect, and depraved the Will, and reduced every Faculty of the Mind to that miserable Condition, which along with human Nature, has been propagated down to Posterity; as some Poisons we know, will strangely affect the Nerves and Spirits without causing an immediate Death, and, as the Indians, we are told, are acquainted with a Juice, which will immediately turn the Person who drinks it, into an Idiot, and yet leave him at the same Time, the Enjoyment of his Health, and all the Powers and Faculties of his Body. But whatever the Effect of the Fruit might be, and whether the Corruption of our Nature and Death, with all its Train of Evils, which have descended to us, lay in the Tree or in the Will of God, there is no Question to be made, but that our wise Creator might very justly decree, that human Nature in general should be affected with it, and our Happiness or Unhappiness to depend upon the Obedience or Disobedience of our first Parents. We daily see, that Children, very often, inherit the Diseases of their Parents, and that a vicious and extravagant Father leaves commonly his Son Heir of nothing else, but the Name and Shadow of a great Family, with an infirm sickly Constitution: And if Men generally now partake of the bad Habits and Dispositions of their immediate Parents, why not the Corruption of human Nature, in the first, have equally descended on all Mankind? The Rebellion of a Parent, in all civil Governments, reduces his Children to Poverty and Disgrace, who had a Title before to Riches and Honours: And, for the same Reason, why might not Adam forfeit for himself, and all his Descendants, the Gift of Immortality, and the Promise of eternal Life? God might certainly bestow his own Favours upon his own Terms; and therefore, since the Condition was Obedience, he might justly inflict Death, i. e. with-hold Immortality from us; he might justly deny us Heaven, for the Promise of Heaven was an Act of his free Bounty, upon the Transgression and Disobedience of our first Parents. We were in their Loins, and from thence our Infection comes: They were our Representatives, and in them we fell: But then, amidst all this Scene of Calamity, we have one comfortable, one saving Prospect to revive us, viz. That Adam was the Figure of him that was to come, and therefore, as by the Offence of one, Judgment came upon all Mankind to Condemnation, even so by the Righteousness of one, the free Gift came upon all Men unto Justification of Life.

CHAP IV.

The Birth, Trade, and Religion of Cain and Abel; the Murder of Abel; the Curse of Cain; the first City built; Lamech and his two Wives; the Birth of Seth and Enos.

Ver. 1. AND Adam knew Eve his wife: and she conceived, and bare Cain, and said, I have gotten a man from the Lord. 2 And she again bare his brother Abel. And Abel was a keeper of sheep, but Cain was a tiller of the ground. 3 And in process of time, it came to pass, that Cain brought of the fruit of the ground an offering unto the Lord. 4 And Abel, he also brought of the firstlings of his flock, and of the fat thereof. And the Lord had respect unto Abel, and to his offering. 5 But unto Cain and to his offering he had not respect. And Cain was very wroth, and his countenance fell. 6 And the Lord said unto Cain. Why art thou wroth? and why is thy countenance fallen? 7 If thou doest well, shalt thou not be accepted? and if thou doest not well, sin lieth at the door. And unto thee shall be his desire, and thou shalt rule over him.

I have gotten a Man from the Lord] Ish eth Jehovah, which our Translation makes, a Man from the Lord, should rather be render'd the Man, the Lord. Helvicus has shewn in so many Instances in Scripture, that eth is an Article of the Accusative Case, that it seems indeed to be the Hebrew Idiom; besides, that it is a demonstrative, or emphatick Particle, which points at some Thing or Person, in a particular Manner; and therefore several, both Jewish and Christian Doctors, have taken the Words in this Sense,— That our Grandmother Eve, when deliver'd of Cain, thought she had brought forth the Messias, this God-man, who was to bruise the Serpent's Head, or destroy Satan's Power and Dominion, according to the Promise which God had made her. See Edward's Survey of Religion, Vol. I.

And she again bare his Brother Abel] Abel denotes Sorrow and Mourning; but very probably he might not not receive that Name, until his tragical End, which caused great Grief to his Parents, and thereby verified the Meaning of it.

Others (as Patrick and Saurin) derive the Name from a Word, which signifies Vanity; and are of Opinion, that Eve intended thereby, either to declare the little Esteem she had of him, in Comparison of her Firstborn; or to shew the Vanity of her Hopes, in taking Cain for the Messiah; or to denote that all Things in the World, into which he was now come, were mere Vanity and Vexation of Spirit.

The Mohammedans have a Tradition, that Eve was brought to Bed at one Time of Cain and his Twin Sister Achima or Achimia, and that afterwards she bare Abel and his Twin Sister Lebuda. Some of the Eastern Christians call these Sisters Azrum and Orain; but except this Mutation of Names, they agree in every Respect with the Fables received by the Mohammedans, who pretend, that Adam would have had Cain take to Wife Lebuda or Orain, intending also that Abel shou'd have married Achima or Azrum: But Cain liking the Sister which was born with him best, complained of his Father's Partiality, who would give the most beautiful unto Abel. Adam remonstrated to him, that altho' there was a Necessity of taking his Sister to Wife, yet that he should avoid taking her who came into the World with him, because she was nearer unto him, than the Damsel born with Abel. Yet this not satisfying Cain, he persisted in his first Resolution, and in order to determine which should marry Achimia, Adam di-directed that his two Sons ſhould offer before the Lord; whereupon Abel's Sacrifice being accepted, Cain conceiv'd ſuch Diſpleaſure thereat, that he immediately reſolv'd upon that Murder which he afterwards committed.

Abel brought of the Firſtlings of his Flock, and of the Fat thereof] It is a pretty common Opinion, ſays Le Clerc, that the Eating of Fleſh was not permitted before the Flood; and 'tis the Poſition of Grotius, that no carnal Sacrifices were at that Time offered, becauſe nothing, but what was of uſe to Man, was to be conſecrated to God. The Scarcity of Cattle might very well excuſe their being ſlain in the Worſhip of God; and therefore ſince the ſame Word in Hebrew (Hhalab, or Hheleb) according to its different Punctuation, ſignifies both Fat and Milk, and accordingly is render'd both Ways by the LXX, many learned Men ſeem to favour the latter, as finding it a Cuſtom, among the antient Egyptians, to ſacrifice Milk to their Deities, as a Token and Acknowledgment of the Fecundity of their Cattle. See likewiſe Saurin's Diſſertation. But the learned Heidegger is of an Opinion quite the contrary. See Exercit. 15. de Cibo Antediluviano.

And the Lord had Reſpect unto Abel, and to his Offering] The Jews are generally of Opinion, that this viſible Token of God's accepting Abel's Sacrifice, was a Fire, or Lightning, which came from Heaven, and conſum'd it. The Footſteps of this we meet with in a ſhort Time after, Gen. xv. 17. and the Examples of it were many in future Ages, viz. When Moſes offered the firſt Burnt-offering according to Law, Lev. ix. 24. When Gideon offered upon the Rock, Judg. vi. 31. when David ſtayed the Plague, 1 Chron. xxi. 26. when Solomon conſecrated the Temple, 2 Chron. vii. 1. and when Elijah contended with the Baalites, 1 Kings xviii. 38, &c. And accordingly, we find the Iſraelites, (when they wiſh all Proſperity to their Kings) praying, that God would be pleaſed to accept (in the Hebrew, turn into Aſhes) his burnt Sacrifice, Pſ. xx. 3. See Patrick's and Le Clerc's Com.

It is the general Opinion of Commentators, that Cain offered the worſt of the Fruits of the Earth; which ſhew'd, that he did not pay his Acknowledgments to God with that Chearfulneſs and Sincerity of Heart, as Abel did, who brought the Firſt of his Flock.

A Man ſhould enlarge his Hand, and bring his Offering of the faireſt and moſt laudable amongſt theſe Kinds of Things whereof he bringeth. Behold, it is written in the Law, And Abel he alſo brought of the Firſtlings of his Flock, and of the Fat of them. And this is a common Law in every Thing which is in the Name of the Good God, that it be of the Goodlieſt and Beſt. If one would build a Houſe of Prayer, let it be fairer than his own Dwelling Houſe: If he feed the Hungry, let him feed him with the beſt and ſweeteſt that is upon his Table: If he cloath the Naked, let it be with the faireſt of his Cloaths: If he ſanctify any Thing, let him ſanctify the faireſt of his Goods; and ſo he ſaith, Levit. iii. 15. All the Fat is the Lord's.

If thou doeſt well, ſhalt thou not be accepted? And if thou doeſt not well, Sin lieth at the Door] Theſe Words If thou doeſt well, ſhalt thou not be accepted? Some render, ſhalt thou not receive, viz. a Reward; others, ſhalt thou not be pardoned? and others again, thou ſhalt be elevated to Dignity. But, if we conſider what God ſays to Cain in the two foregoing Verſes, that his Countenance was fallen, we cannot but perceive, that in this he promiſes him, that, if he did well he ſhould have his Face lifted up, and that he ſhould have no more Reaſon to be ſad; for ſo the Scripture frequently expreſſes a fearleſs and chearful State. If Iniquity be in thine Hand, ſays one of Job's Friends, put it away from thee, and let not Wickedneſs dwell in thy Tabernacle; for then thou ſhalt lift up thy Face without Spot, Job. xi. 15. Eſſay for a new Tranſlation.

Sin lieth at thy Door: Where, by Sin, the Generality of Interpreters mean, the Puniſhment of Sin, which is hard at Hand, and ready to overtake the Wicked. But our learned Lightfoot obſerves, that God does not here preſent himſelf to Cain, in order to threaten, but to encourage him, as the firſt Words of his Speech to him do import; and therefore that the Deſcription of lying at the Door, does plainly enough inſinuate, that the Text does not ſpeak either of Errors or Puniſhment, but of a Sacrifice for Sin, which the Scripture often calls by the Hebrew Word here, and which was commonly plac'd before the Door of the Sanctuary, as may be ſeen in ſeveral Paſſages in Scripture. So that according to this Senſe, God is here comforting Cain, even tho' he did amiſs in maligning his Brother, and referring him to the Propitiation of Chriſt, which, even then, was of ſtanding Force for the Remiſſion of Sin. But this Senſe of the Words ſeems a little too far fetch'd.

The Jeruſalem Targum upon the whole Verſe runs thus; Now if thou do well, if thy Deeds be righteous in this Life, ſhall I not give thee Reſt and a dwelling Place hereafter? And if thy Deeds are not good in this World, thy Sins ſhall be reſerved until the Day of the great Judgment, and ſhall lie at the Door of thy Heart. In the mean Time I have put into thy Hand a Power over thy Luſt unto Evil, and thou ſhalt make what Uſe of it is agreeable to thee, either in doing well, or in doing Evil. Mr. Shuckford, in his Connection of ſacred and prophane Hiſtory, mentions an Interpretation of this Verſe, who it ſeems, thought it might be thus tranſlated. If thou doſt well ſhalt thou not be accepted? but if thou doeſt not well Sin lieth at the Door; indeed the Appetite of it, i. e. of Sin, will be at Thee, i. e. to tempt Thee, but thou ſhouldeſt rule over it. But as Mr. Shuckford has there ſhewn, Teſhukato doth not ſignify the Appetite of it, but of him, and the Hebrew Phraſe eleka Teſhukato, ſignifies, he will heartily reſpect thee, and cannot be taken for Sin will tempt thee. The learned Dr. Lightfoot interprets this Verſe in a different Manner, as may be ſeen in the laſt Note.

And unto thee ſhall be his Deſire, and thou ſhalt rule over him] Theſe Words, ſays Shuckford, however ſome Expoſitors have clouded them, will appear to be plain and eaſy enough, if we do but conſider, that there are two Expreſſions, in the Hebrew Tongue, to ſignify the Readineſs of one Perſon to ſerve and reſpect another. The one is, aine el yad, or our Eyes are to his Hands; the other Teſhukal el, or our Deſire is to him. The former expreſſes our outward Attendance, and the latter the inward Temper and Readineſs of the Mind to pay Reſpect. Of the former we have an Inſtance in Pſal. cxxxiii. The Eyes of Servants are to the Hand of their Maſters, and the Eyes of a Maiden are to the Hand of her Miſtreſs, i. e. they ſtand ready with a vigilant Obſervance to execute their Orders. We meet the other Expreſſion in the Place before us, and it imports an inward Temper and Diſpoſition of Mind to pay Reſpect and Honour. His Deſire will be unto thee, i. e. he will be heartily devoted (as we ſay in Engliſh) to honour and reſpect you. And thou ſhalt (or mayeſt) rule over him, i. e. you may have any Service from him, you can deſire.

8 And Cain talked with Abel his brother: and it came to paſs when they were in the field, that Cain roſe up againſt Abel his brother: and ſlew him. 9 And the Lord ſaid unto Cain, Where is Abel thy brother? And he ſaid, I know not: Am I my brothers keeper? 10 And he ſaid, what haſt thou done? the voice of thy brothers blood crieth unto me from the ground. 11 And now art thou curſed from the earth, which hath opened her mouth to receive thy brothers blood from thy hand. 12 When thou tilleſt the ground, it ſhall not henceforth yield unto thee her ſtrength. A fugitive and a vagabond ſhalt thou be in the earth. 13 And Cain ſaid unto the Lord, My puniſhment is greater then I can bear. 14 Behold thou haſt driven me out this day from the face of the earth: and from thy face ſhall I be hid hid, and I ſhall be a fugitive and a vagabond in the earth, and it ſhall come to paſs, that every one that findeth me ſhall ſlay me. 15 And the Lord ſaid unto him, Therefore whoſoever ſlayeth Cain, vengeance ſhall be taken on him ſevenfold. And the Lord ſet a mark upon Cain, leſt any finding him ſhould kill him.

And Cain talked with Abel his Brother] Eſtius in Difficil. Loca, obſerves, that the Words ſtrictly ſignify, Cain ſaid unto Abel his Brother; after which there is a blank Space left in the Hebrew Copies, as if ſomething was wanting. The Samaritan Pentateuch, and the LXX Verſion ſupply this, by adding the Words,—Let us go into the Fields; but the Jeruſalem Targum, and that of Jonathan, have ſupplied us with their whole Converſation, as they went along. 'I know, ſays 'Cain, that the World was created by the Mercy of 'God, but it is not govern'd according to the Fruit of 'our good Works, and there is Reſpect of Perſons in 'Judgment. Why was thy Oblation favourably ac'cepted, when mine was rejected? Abel anſwer'd, and 'ſaid unto Cain, The World was created in Mercy, 'and is govern'd according to the Fruits of our good 'Works. There is no Reſpect of Perſons in Judgment; 'for my Oblation was more favourably receiv'd, be'cauſe the Fruit of my Works was better, and more 'precious, than thine. Hereupon Cain in a Fury breaks 'out, There is no Judgment, nor Judge, nor any other 'World; neither ſhall good Men receive any Reward, 'nor wicked Men be puniſh'd. To which Abel replied, 'There is a Judgment, and a Judge, and another 'World, in which good Men will receive a Reward, 'and wicked Men be puniſh'd.' Upon which there enſu'd a Quarrel, which ended in Abel's Death. So that, according to this Account, Abel ſuffer'd for the Vindication of the Truth, and was in Reality, the firſt Martyr.

At the Foot of the Hill near Damaſcus, the Inhabitants pretend, from antient Tradition, to ſhew the very Spot where Abel was ſlain. As to the Weapon which Cain uſed, Eutichus, the great Author of theſe Sort of Tales, ſays, that it was a Stone; and the Arabians have in a great Meaſure followed his Opinion, both as to this and to other Matters. Some of the Jewiſh Writers tell us, that he pulled him to Pieces with his Teeth. Others, that he killed him with the Jaw-bone of an Aſs, which the Painters therefore put in his Hand, whenever it comes to their Turn to repreſent the Story. Some arm him with a Fork, St. Chryſoſtom with a Sword, St. Irenæus with a Scythe, and Prudentius with a Pruning-hook.

There is an oriental Tradition, that, when Cain was confirmed in his Deſign of deſtroying his Brother, and knew not how to go about it, the Devil appeared to him in the Shape of a Man, holding a Bird in his Hand, and that, placing the Bird upon a Rock, he took up a Stone, and with it ſqueezed his Head in Pieces. Cain, inſtructed by this Example, reſolved to ſerve his Brother in the ſame Manner; and therefore, waiting till Abel was aſleep, he lifted up a large Stone, and let it fall, with all its Weight, upon his Head, and ſo kill'd him; whereupon God cauſed him to hear a Voice from Heaven, to this Purpoſe, The reſt of thy Days ſhalt thou paſs in continual Fear.

My Puniſhment is greater than I can bear] Shuckford obſerves, that as the Hebrew Word Aven, ſignifies Iniquity, rather than Puniſhment, and the Word Naſha ſignifies to be forgiven, as well as to bear, it ſeems to agree better with the Context, if the Verſe be render'd either poſitively, My Iniquity is too great to be forgiven, or (as the Hebrew Expoſitors take it) by way of Interrogation, Is my Iniquity too great to be forgiven? Which ſeems to be the better of the two. Aynſworth has obſerv'd, that, as there are ſeven Abominations in the Heart of him that loveth not his Brother, Prov. xxvi. 25. there were the like Number of Tranſgreſſions in Cain's whole Conduct; for, 1ſt, he ſacrificed without Faith; 2dly, was diſpleas'd that God reſpected him not; 3dly, hearken'd not to God's Admonition; 4thly, ſpake diſſemblingly to his Brother; 5thly, killed him in the Field; 6thly, denied, that he knew where he was; and, 7thly, neither aſk'd, nor hop'd for Mercy from God, but deſpair'd, and ſo fell into the Condemnation of the Devil.

And it ſhall come to paſs, that every one that findeth me ſhall ſlay me] But, if his Father and Mother were the only Perſons beſides himſelf, what Reaſon had he for ſuch an Apprehenſion? According to the Computation of moſt Chronologers, ſays Stackhouſe, it was in the one hundred and twenty ninth Year of Adam's Age, that Abel was ſlain; for the Scripture ſays expreſly, that Seth (who was given in Lieu of Abel) was born in the hundred and thirtieth Year (very likely the Year after the Murther was committed) to be a Comfort to his diſconſolate Parents. So that Cain muſt be an hundred and twenty nine Years old, when he abdicated his own Country, at which Time, there might be a ſufficient Quantity of Mankind upon the Face of the Earth, to the Number, it may be, of an hundred thouſand Souls. For if the Children of Iſrael, from ſeventy Perſons, in the Space of a hundred and ten Years, became ſix hundred thouſand fighting Men (tho' great Numbers of them were dead during this Increaſe) we may very well ſuppoſe, that the Children of Adam, whoſe Lives were ſo very long, might amount, at leaſt, to an hundred thouſand, in a hundred and thirty Years, which are almoſt five Generations.

A certain French Author obſerves (Diſſert. i. in the Journal of Paris, Jan. 1712.) that tho' we ſhou'd ſuppoſe, that Adam and Eve had no other Children than Cain and Abel in the Year of the World 128, which, as the beſt Chronologers agree, was the Time of Abel's Murder; yet, as it muſt be allow'd, that they had Daughters, married with theſe two Sons, we require no more, than the Deſcendants of theſe two Children to make a conſiderable Number of Men upon the Earth in the ſaid Year 128. For, ſuppoſing them to have been married in the 19th Year of the World, they might eaſily have had each of them eight Children, ſome Males, ſome Females, in the 25th Year. In the 50th Year there might proceed from them, in a direct Line, 64 Perſons; in the 74th Year, there wou'd be 572; in the 98th Year, 4096; and in the 122d Year they wou'd amount to 32,768. If to theſe we add the other Children, deſcended from Cain and Abel, their Children, and the Children of their Children, we ſhall have in the aforeſaid 122d Year, 421,164 Men, capable of Generation, without ever reckoning the Women, both old and young, or ſuch Children, as are under the Age of 17 Years.

And the Lord ſet a Mark upon Cain, leſt any finding him ſhould ſlay him] So it is in our Tranſlation, but Patrick and Saurin obſerve, that the Original ſays no ſuch Thing, and the LXX have very well render'd it thus—God ſet a Sign before Cain, to perſuade him, that whoever ſhould find him, ſhould not kill him. This is almoſt the ſame with what is ſaid, Exod. x. 1. that God did Signs before the Egyptians; and Iſa. lxvi. 19. that he would ſet a Sign before the Heathen; where it is evident, that God did not mean any particular Mark, which ſhould be ſet on their Bodies, but only thoſe Signs and Wonders, which he wrought in Egypt, to oblige Pharaoh to let his People go, and the miraculous Manner, in which he delivered them from their Babyloniſh Captivity. This Expoſition is natural, and agreeable to the Methods of Divine Providence, which is wont to convince the Incredulous by Signs and Wonders; nor could any Thing elſe aſſure Cain, in the Fear he was under, that the firſt who met him, ſhould not kill him, after what God had ſaid to him, in Exprobation of his Crime.

16 And Cain went out from the preſence of the Lord, and dwelt in the land of Nod, on the eaſt of Eden. 17 And Cain knew his wife, and ſhe conceived and bare Enoch: and he builded a city, and called the name of the city, after the name of his ſon, Enoch. 18 And unto Enoch was born Irad: and Irad begat Mahujael: and Mahujael begat Methuſael: and Methuſael begat Lamech. 19 And Lamech took unto him two wives: the name of the one was Adah, and the name of the other Zillah. 20 And Adah bare Jabal: he was the father of ſuch as dwell in tents, and of ſuch as have cattel. 21 And his brothers name was Jubal: he was the father of all ſuch as handle the harp and organ. 22 And Zillah, ſhe alſo bare Tubal-cain, an inſtructer of every artificer in braſs and iron: and the ſiſter of Tubal-cain was Naamah. 23 And Lamech ſaid unto his wives, Adah and Zillah, Hear my voice, ye wives of Lamech, hearken unto my ſpeech: for I have ſlain a man to my wounding, and a young man to my hurt. 24 If Cain ſhall be avenged ſeven-fold, truly Lamech ſeventy and ſeven-fold. 25 And Adam knew His wife again, and ſhe bare a ſon, and called his name Seth: For God, ſaid ſhe, hath appointed me another ſeed in ſtead of Abel whom Cain ſlew. 26 And to Seth, to him alſo there was born a ſon; and he called his name Enos: then began men to call upon the name of the Lord.

And Cain went out from the Preſence of the Lord] Both Lightfoot, Heidegger, and Le Clerc ſeem to be of Opinion, that what we render the Preſence of the Lord, was the proper Name of that particular Place, where Adam, after his Expulſion from Paradiſe, dwelt; and accordingly we find that Part of the Country, which lies contiguous to the ſuppoſed Situation of Paradiſe, called by Strabo, Proſopon Theou. However this be, 'tis agreed by all Interpreters, that there was a Divine Glory, called by the Jews SHECHINAH, which appeared from the Beginning, and from which Cain, being now baniſh'd, never enjoy'd the Sight of it again. If, after this, Cain turned a downright Idolater (as many think) 'tis very probable that he introduced the Worſhip of the Sun (which was the moſt antient Idolatry) as the beſt Reſemblance he could find, of the Glory of the Lord, which was wont to appear in a flaming Light.

The Pſalmiſt aſks the Queſtion, Whither ſhall I go from thy Spirit, or whither ſhall I fly from thy Preſence? Pſal. cxxxix. 7. The Queſtion has in it the full Force of a Negation; and if ſo, how is this conſiſtent with Cain's going out from the Preſence of God? Now to reconcile this, we muſt make a Diſtinction between the eſſential and majeſtic Preſence of God. His eſſential Preſence is infinite, and ſo every where, and every where unſeen; but his majeſtic Preſence is the notifying, or Diſcovery of his eſſential Preſence, in a determinate Place, by ſome Kind of magnificent luminous Appearance; which, by the Pſalmiſt's Authority, we may call the Garment or Cloathing of his Eſſence, for he decketh himſelf with Light, as with a Garment, Pſ. civ. 2. or, by the Apoſtle's Authority, the Dwelling, or Palace of his Eſſence; for he dwelleth in Light that is unapproachable, 1 Tim. vi. 16. By this glorious Appearance, God manifeſted himſelf very frequently in the Place where Adam liv'd; and therefore, when Cain departed from his native Country, he neceſſarily went from this majeſtic Preſence of God, tho' it was impoſſible for him to flee from his eſſential.

And dwelt in the Land of Nod, on the Eaſt of Eden ---- and there he built a City, and called the Name of it after the Name of his Son, Enoch] Hereupon the learned Huetius obſerves, that Ptolemy in his Deſcription of Suſiana, places there a City called Anuchtha; and that the Syllable tha, which ends the Word, is, in the Chaldee Language, a Termination pretty common to Nouns Feminine, and conſequently no Part of the Name itſelf: From whence he infers, that this Anuchtha, mention'd by Ptolemy, is the ſame with the City Enoch mention'd by Moſes; eſpecially ſince Ptolemy places it on the Eaſt Side of Eden, which agrees very well with what Moſes ſays of the Land of Nod. But tho' it be allow'd, that Anuchtha and Enoch be the ſame Name, yet it will not therefore follow, that there was no other City ſo called, but that which was built by Cain. 'Tis certain that there was another Enoch, the Son of Jared, and Father of Methuſelah, a Perſon of remarkable Piety, in the Ante-diluvian Age; and why might not the City, mention'd by Ptolemy, be call'd after him, in reſpect to his illuſtrious Character, and miraculous Exemption from Death? Or rather, why might it not take its Name from ſome other Enoch, different from both the former, and living ſome Generations after the Flood? For it is ſcarce imaginable, how the City of Enoch, built before the Flood, ſhould either ſtand, or retain its antient Name, after ſo violent a Conculſion, and total Alteration of the Face of Nature.

Nor ſhould it be forgot, that the Province of Suſiana, where Huetius places the Land of Nod, is one of the moſt fruitful and pleaſant Countries in the World. Whereas, conſidering that Cain's Baniſhment was intended by God to be Part of his Puniſhment, it ſeems more reaſonable to think, that he ſhould, upon this Account, be ſent into ſome barren and deſolate Country, remote from the Place of his Nativity, and ſeparated by Mountains, and other natural Obſtructions, from the Commerce of his Relations. For which Reaſon, the learned Grotius is clearly of Opinion, that the Country, into which Cain was ſentenc'd to withdraw, was Arabia Deſerta; to the Barrenneſs of which, the Curſe, that God pronounces againſt him, ſeems not improperly to belong. And now thou art curſed from the Earth, and when thou tilleſt the Ground, it ſhall not henceforth yield unto thee her Strength. But, after all, their Opinion is not to be found fault with, who ſuppoſe, that the Word Nod, which ſignifies an Exile or Fugitive, is not a proper, but only an appellative Name; and that therefore, where-ever the Country was, where Cain took up his Abode, that, in After-ages, was call'd the Land of Nod, or the Land of the baniſhed Man. See Stackhouſe's Diſſert.

And Lamech took unto him two Wives] Le Clerc, ſuppoſing that the Increaſe of Females, at the Beginning of the World, was much greater than that of Males, is of Opinion, that there might poſſibly want a Man to eſpouſe one of the Women, whom Lamech married; nor can he think that Moſes intended to blame him, for what was the conſtant Practice of ſome of the moſt eminent of the Poſt-diluvian Patriarchs. Biſhop Patrick likewiſe makes this Apology for him: 'His earneſt Deſire of ſeeing that bleſſed Seed, which was promiſed to Eve, might perhaps induce him to take more Wives than one, hoping that, by multiplying his Poſterity, ſome or other of them might prove ſo happy, as to produce that Seed. And this he might poſſibly perſuade himſelf to be more likely, becauſe the Right which was in Cain, the Firſt-born, he might now conclude was reviv'd in himſelf; and that the Curſe laid upon Cain, was, by this Time, expired, and his Poſterity reſtored to the Right of fulfilling the Promiſe.' Both Selden and Grotius plead for the Lawfulneſs of Polygamy before the Levitical Diſpenſation; but the learned Heidegger has ſufficiently anſwered them, and proved at large, that this Cuſtom of multiplying Wives is contrary both to the Law of God, and the Law of Nature.

He was the Father of ſuch as dwell in Tents] Heidegger obſerves, that the Hebrews call him the Father of any Thing, who was the firſt Inventor of it, or a moſt excellent Maſter of that Art: And from the Affinity of their Names, as well as the Similitude of their Inventions, learned Men have ſuppoſed, that Jabal was the Pales; Jubal the Apollo; Tubal-Cain (which in the Arabick Tongue ſtill ſignifies a Plate of Iron or Braſs) the Vulcan; and his Siſter Naamah the Venus, or (as ſome will have it) the Minerva of the Gentiles. See Stillingfleet's Origines.

And Lamech ſaid unto his Wives, Adah and Zillah, Hear my Voice, &c] This Speech of Lamech, as it ſtands inconnected with any Thing before it, is ſuppoſed posed by many to be a Fragment of some old Record, which Moses was willing to preserve; and, because it seems to fall into a kind of Metre, some have thought it a Sketch of Lamech's Poetry, which he was desirous to add to his Son's Invention of Musick, and other Arts. Many suppose that Lamech, being plagued with the daily Contentions of his two Wives, here blusters and boasts of what he had done, and what he would do if they gave him any farther Molestation. Others imagine, that as the Use of Weapons was found out by one of his Sons, and now become common, his Wives were fearful lest some Body or other might make use of them to slay him; but that, in this regard, he desires them to be easy, because, as he was not guilty of slaying any Body himself, there was no Reason to fear that any Body should hurt him. The Targum of Onkelos, which reads the Words interrogatively, favours this Interpretation much: Have I slain a young Man to my wounding, or a young Man to my Hurt? i. e. I have done no Violence or Offence to any one, either great or small, and therefore have no Cause to be apprehensive of any to myself. But the Rabbins tell us a traditional Story, which if true, would explain the Passage at once. The Tradition is, —— That Lamech, when he was blind, took his Son Tubal-Cain to hunt with him in the Woods, where they happened on Cain, who, being afraid of the Society and Converse with Men, was wont to be lurking up and down in the Woods; that the Lad mistook him for some Beast stirring in the Bushes, and directed his Father, how, with a Dart, or an Arrow, he might kill him; and this, they say, was the Man, whom he killed by his wounding him; and that afterwards, when he came to perceive what he had done, he beat Tubal-Cain to Death, for mis-informing him, and this was the young Man whom he killed by hurting, or beating him. But besides the Incongruity of a blind Man's going a Hunting, this Story is directly contrary to the Promise of God, which assured Cain, that no Person should kill him, and seems indeed to be devised for no other Purpose, but merely to solve the Difficulty of the Passage. Among the many Interpretations which have been made of it, that of the Targum of Onkelos, above recited, seems most natural and easy, and is not a little countenanced by the Authority of Josephus. As for Lamech, says he, who saw, as far as any Man, into the Course and Methods of divine Justice, he could not but find himself concerned in the Prospect of that dreadful Judgment which threatned his whole Family for the Murder of Abel, and under this Apprehension he brake the Matter to his two Wives.

Stackhouse descants upon this Passage thus: The Murther of Abel had, for a long Time, occasioned a great Animosity between the Family of Seth, and the Descendants of Cain, who, tho' at some Distance, lived in perpetual Apprehensions that the other Family might come upon them unawares, and revenge Abel's untimely Death: But Lamech when he came to be Head of a People, endeavoured to reason them out of this Fear. For, calling his Family together, he argued with them to this Purpose: 'Why should we make our 'Lives uneasy with these groundless Suspicions? What 'have we done, that we should be afraid? We have 'not killed any Man, nor offered any Violence to our 'Brethren of the other Family; and surely Reason must 'teach them, that they can have no Right to hurt or 'invade us. Cain indeed, our Ancestor, killed Abel; 'but God was pleased so far to forgive his Sin, as to 'threaten to take the severest Vengeance on any one 'that should kill him: And if so, surely they must ex'pect a much greater Punishment, who shall presume 'to kill any of us. For if Cain shall be avenged seven'fold, surely Lamech, or any of his innocent Family, 'seventy-seven-fold.' And 'tis not improbable, that, by frequent Discourses of this Kind, as well as by his own Example, he overcame the Fears and Shiness of the People, and (as we shall find hereafter) encouraged them to commence Acquaintance with their Brethren, the Children of Seth.

She bare a Son, and called his Name Seth] Seth signifies substitute, so named, because God had been so good as to send him in the Room of his Brother Abel, whom Cain slew.

Then began Men to call upon the Name of the Lord] It being very probable, that publick Assemblies for religious Offices, where held long before this Time, and that even when Cain and Abel offer'd their Sacrifices their Families join'd with them in the Worship of God; some Men of great Note, such as Bertram, Hackspan, and Heidegger, take them in the same Sense with our marginal Translation; then began Men (i. e. the Children of Seth) to call themselves by the Name of the Lord, i. e. the Servants and Worshippers of the Lord, in Contradistinction to the Cainites, and such prophane Persons, as had forsaken him. It must not be dissembled however, that the Word Hochal, which we translate began, in several Places of Scripture, signifies to profane; and upon this Presumption, many of the Jewish Writers, and some of no obscure Fame among us, have taken the Words so, as if Moses intended to intimate to us, that Men began now to apostatize from the Worship of God, to fall into Idolatry, and to apply the most holy Name, which alone belongs to the great Creator of Heaven and Earth, to created Beings, and especially to the Sun. But, considering that Moses is here speaking of the pious Family of Seth, and not of that of Cain; that when the Hebrew Word signifies to profane, it has always a Noun following it; but when an affirmative Mood follows (as in the Passage before us) it always signifies to begin; and withal, that the Eastern Writers represent this Enos as an excellent Governor, who, while he liv'd, preserv'd his Family in good Order, and, when he died, call'd them all together, and gave them a Charge to keep all God's Commandments, and not to associate themselves with the Children of Cain: Considering all this, I say, we can hardly suppose, that Moses is here pointing out the Origin of Idolatry, but rather the Invention of some religious Rites and Ceremonies in the external Worship of God at this Time, or the Distinction, which good Men began to put between themselves, and such as were openly wicked and profane. For that the true Meaning of the Expression Karabeshem, according to our marginal Translation, is to call or nominate by, or after the Name of any one, is manifest from several Instances in Scripture. Thus Gen. iv. 17. Jikra, he called the Name of the City beshem, by or after the Name of his Son, Numb. xxxii. 42. Jikra, he called it Nobah-beshem, by or after his own Name; and in Psal. xlix. 11. Karean, they call their Lands Bishmotham, by or after their own Names: And the Name here intimated, is afterwards expresly given by Moses himself, Gen. vi. when he tells us, that the Sons of God saw the Daughters of Men. See Patrick's Com. Calmet's Dict. and Shuckford's Connect.

CHAP. V.

The Genealogy, Age, and Death of the Antediluvian Patriarchs, and the Piety and Translation of Enoch.

Ver. 1. THIS is the book of the generations of Adam: In the day that God created man, in the likeness of God made he him: 2 Male and female created he them; and blessed them, and called their Name Adam, in the day when they were created. 3 And Adam lived an hundred and thirty years, and begat a son in his own likeness, after his image; and called his Name Seth. 4 And the days of Adam after he had begotten Seth were eight hundred years: and he begat sons and daughters. 5 And all the days that Adam lived were nine hundred and thirty years and he died. 6 And Seth lived an hundred and five years: and begat Enos. 7 And Seth lived after he begat Enos eight hundred and seven years, and begat sons and and daughters. 8 And all the days of Seth were nine hundred and twelve years: and he died. 9 And Enos lived ninety years, and begat Cainan. 10 And Enos lived after he begat Cainan eight hundred and fifteen years, and begat ſons and daughters. 11 And all the days of Enos were nine hundred and five years: and he died. 12 And Cainan lived ſeventy years, and begat Mahalaleel. 13 And Cainan lived after he begat Mahalaleel eight hundred and forty years, and begat ſons and daughters. 14 And all the days of Cainan were nine hundred and ten years: and he died. 15 And Mahalaleel lived ſixty and five years, and begat Jared. 16 And Mahalaleel lived after he begat Jared eight hundred and thirty years, and begat ſons and daughters. 17 And all the days of Mahalaleel were eight hundred ninety and five years: and he died. 18 And Jared lived an hundred ſixty and two years, and he begat Enoch. 19 And Jared lived after he begat Enoch eight hundred years, and begat ſons and daughters. 20 And all the days of Jared were nine hundred ſixty and two years: and he died. 21 And Enoch lived ſixty and five years, and begat Methuſelah. 22 And Enoch walked with God after he begat Methuſelah three hundred years, and begat ſons and daughters. 23 And all the days of Enoch were three hundred ſixty and five years. 24 And Enoch walked with God, and he was not: for God took him. 25 And Methuſelah lived an hundred eighty and ſeven years, and begat Lamech. 26 And Methuſelah lived after he begat Lamech ſeven hundred eighty and two years, and begat ſons and daughters. 27 And all the days of Methuſelah were nine hundred ſixty and nine years: and he died. 28 And Lamech lived an hundred eighty and two years, and begat a ſon. 29 And he called his name Noah, ſaying, This ſame ſhall comfort us concerning our work and toil of our hands, becauſe of the ground which the Lord hath curſed. 30 And Lamech lived after he begat Noah five hundred ninety and five years, and begat ſons and daughters. 31 And all the days of Lamech were ſeven hundred ſeventy and ſeven years: and he died. 32 And Noah was five hundred years old: and Noah begat Shem, Ham, and Japheth.

In the Likeneſs of God made he him] The great Moſes ſays Philo, makes not the Species of the rational Soul to be like to any of the Creatures, but pronounceth it to be the Image of the inviſible God, as judging it then to become the true and genuine Coin of God, when it is form'd, and impreſs'd by the divine Seal, the Character whereof is the eternal Word. For God, ſaith he, breath'd into his Face the Breath of Life; ſo that he, who receives the Inſpiration, muſt, of Neceſſity, repreſent the Image of him that gives, and for this Reaſon it is ſaid, that Man was made after the Image of God.

Mr. Stackhouſe has a Diſſertation upon this Subject, to which we refer the Reader.

All the Days that Adam lived, were nine hundred and thirty Years] If it be aſk'd, ſays Eſtius, how it came to paſs, that Adam, who was immediately created by God, and, conſequently, more perfect than any of his Kind, did not outlive Methuſelah, who was the eighth from him? The Anſwer which ſome have given, viz. That his Grief and Affliction of Mind for the Loſs of Paradiſe, and the Miſery, which, by his Tranſgreſſions he had entailed upon his Offſpring, might affect his Conſtitution, and, by Degrees, impair his Strength, is not much amiſs: But there is another Reaſon, which ſeems to me better founded, viz. That, whereas Adam was created in the full Perfection of his Nature, and all his Deſcendants being born Infants, did gradually proceed to Maturity; ſubducting the Time from their Infancy to their Manhood, we ſhall find, that Adam out-liv'd them all: For we muſt not compute as we do now (when the Extent of a Man's Life is uſually no more than 70) that his compleat Manhood was at 30, or thereabouts. In the very Catalogue, now before us, we read of none (except Enoch, and two others) who begat Children, before they were 90 or upwards, and therefore, ſubſtracting thoſe Years (which we may ſuppoſe interfer'd between his Birth and his Manhood) from the Age of Methuſelah, we may perceive, that Adam ſurpaſſed him to the Number of almoſt Sixty.

And all the Days that Adam lived, were nine hundred and thirty Years; and he died]. Where Adam was buried cannot be collected from Scripture. St. Jerom (in Matt. xxvii.) ſeems to approve of the Opinion of thoſe, who imagine he was buried at Hebron, in the Cave of Machpelah, or the double Cave, which Abraham, many Ages after, bought for a Burying-Place for himſelf and Family, Gen. xxiii. 3, &c. The Oriental Chriſtians ſay, that when Adam ſaw Death approaching, he call'd his Son Seth, and the reſt of his Family to him, and order'd them to embalm his Body with Myrrh, Frankincenſe, and Caſſia, and depoſit it in a certain Cave, on the Top of a Mountain, which he had choſen for the Repoſitory of his Remains, and was thence call'd the Cave of Al-Konuz, a Word deriv'd from the Arabian-Kanaza, which ſignifies to lay up privately. And this Precaution (as the Jews will have it) was order'd by Adam to be taken, leſt his Poſterity ſhould make his Relicks the Object of Idolatry. Several of the primitive Fathers believe, that he died in the Place where Jeruſalem was afterwards built, and that he was interr'd on Mount Calvary, in the very Spot where Chriſt was crucified; but others are of Opinion, that (tho' he did not die at Jeruſalem, yet) Noah, at the Time of the Deluge, put his Body into the Ark, and took care to have it buried there by Melchiſedeck, the Son of Shem, his Grandſon. The Mahometans will have his Sepulchre to have been on a Mountain near Mecca, and the antient Perſians, in Serendil, or Ceylon. So ambitious is every Nation to have the Father of all Mankind buried with them. When Eve, the Mother of all Living, died, is no where expreſs'd in Scripture, but there are ſome, who venture to tell us, that ſhe outliv'd her Huſband ten Years. See Univerſ. Hiſt. and Calmet's Dict. on the Word Adam.

The Greek Church have conſecrated a Chapel to his Memory, on Mount Calvary; and they commemorate both him and Eve, with the other juſt and holy Perſons mentioned in the Old Teſtament, on the 19th of December, or rather on the Sunday preceding Chriſtmas. They keep alſo a ſolemn Faſt on the 4th of February, for the Baniſhment of our firſt Parents out of Paradiſe. In ſome Latin Kalenders, the 25th Day of March is appointed an Holy-day in his Honour; the Creation of the World, the Death of this Patriarch, and the Conception of our Saviour, being ſuppoſed to have happened all on that Day.

And Enos lived ninety Years, and begat Cainan] Moſes hath recorded nothing concerning Enos, nor in general concerning any of the Patriarchs, more than the Time of their Birth, the Age at which they begat their Succeſſors, and the Time of their Death. In the Traditions of the Eaſtern People, it is indeed ſaid, that Enos was a Man of exemplary Piety; that he not only govern'd his Family with great Wiſdom and Goodneſs, but alſo was the firſt who inſtituted Courts of Juſtice, and directed that Neceſſaries ſhould be provided for thoſe, who through Age or bodily Infirmities, were unable to provide for themſelves. Sin continuing to extend its Empire, through the extraordinary Wickedneſs of the Deſcendants of Cain, Enos called his Son, born to him in the 90th Year of his Age, Kenan or Cainan, a Mourner, to ſignify the Affliction under which his Father laboured thro' the general Corruption tion of Men in that Age.

As to Cainan, the Son of Enos, a Jewiſh Writer, pretends that Alexander the Great, in a Letter to Ariſtotle, his Preceptor, wrote thus: 'After paſſing thro' 'Perſiacon, which is a Province of India, I penetrated 'even to the Sea; and paſſing over into certain Iſlands, 'I found in them a Race of Men, of effeminate Ap- 'pearance; they feed upon live Fiſhes, and ſpeak a 'Tongue not far from Greek. Theſe People told me, 'that in their Iſland, there was to be ſeen the Tomb of a 'moſt antient King, whoſe Name was Cainan, the 'Son of Enos, who govern'd before the Deluge which 'overſpead the World. This Prince was verſed in all 'Sciences, and poſſeſſed the moſt extenſive Wiſdom, 'the Demons and evil Genii being under his Command. 'He alſo foreſaw at what Time the Deluge, which 'happened in the Days of Noah, would come; and 'cauſed an Account thereof to be engrav'd on certain 'Tables of Stone, which remain in that Iſland unto this 'Day: On theſe alſo he cauſed to be inſcribed, that a 'third Part of the Earth was ſwallow'd up by the Ocean, 'in the Days of Enos the Son of Seth, the Son of Adam. 'In this Iſland, the ſame Cainan built a large and mag- 'nificent City, with a Caſtle therein, of fine poliſhed 'Marble; in this Caſtle alſo, be buried a vaſt Quantity 'of Riches of all Sorts; raiſing up over the Place where 'he deſigned to be buried, a Column of excellent 'Beauty, as well as extraordinary Height, to which no 'Mortal, hitherto, hath been able to aſcend; for by 'Reaſon of a taliſmanic Virtue, derived from the ſeven 'Planets, by the Skill of its Royal Founder, whoever 'approaches its Walls, is inſtantly ſtruck dead.'

Bedford, in his Scripture Chronology, has theſe Obſervations on the Catalogue of the old Patriarchs given us in this Chapter: He obſerves, that the Cuſtom in thoſe Times was, to give Children their Names, according to the Occurrences in Life, or Expectations of their Parents. Thus Seth being a good Man, was grieved to ſee the great Degeneracy in other Parts, tho' he endeavour'd to preſerve his own Family from the Contagion; and therefore called his Son Enos, which ſignifies ſorrowful. Enos perceiving the Poſterity of Cain to grow every Day worſe and worſe, was concerned for their Iniquity, and began to dread the Conſequences of it; and therefore called his Son Cainan, which denotes Lamentation. Tho' Cainan had his Name from the Wickedneſs of Cain's Family, yet he himſelf reſolved to maintain the true Worſhip of God in his own; and therefore called his Son Mahalaleel, i. e. a Praiſer and Worſhipper of God. In the Days of Mahalaleel (as the Tradition tells us) a Defection happened among the Sons of Seth, who went down from the Mountains, where they inhabited, and adjoined themſelves to the Daughters of Cain; and therefore he called his Son's Name Jared, which ſignifies deſcending. Jared, to guard againſt the general Corruption, devoted himſelf, and his Deſcendants, more zealouſly to the Service of God; and, accordingly, called his Son Enoch, which means a Dedication. Enoch by the Spirit of Prophecy, foreſeeing the Deſtruction which would come upon the Earth, immediately after the Death of his Son, called his Name Methuſelah, which imports as much; for the firſt Part of the Word (Methu) ſignifies he dies, and (Selah) the ſending forth of Water. Methuſelah, perceiving the Wickedneſs of the World, in the Family of Seth, as well as that of Cain, to grow every Day worſe and worſe, called his Son Lamech, which intimates a poor Man, humbled, and afflicted with Grief, for the preſent Corruption, and Fear of future Puniſhment: And Lamech conceiving better Hopes of his Son (as ſome imagine) that he ſhould be the promiſed Seed, the Reſtorer of Mankind after the Deluge, or a notable Improver of the Art of Agriculture, called his Name Noah, which denotes Agriculture. We may obſerve from this Catalogue, however, ſays Patrick, that the Patriarchs, in thoſe Days, were not ſo ſuperſtitious, as to think any Thing ominous in Names; and therefore we find, that Jared feared not to call his Son Enoch, by the very Name of Cain's eldeſt Son, Gen. iv. 17. even as Methuſelah called his Son Lamech, by the Name of one of Cain's Grand children, Ch. iv. 18.

And Enoch walked with God, and he was not, for God took him] Conſidering how uſual a Thing it was, in theſe early Ages of the World, for Angels to be converſant with good Men, it may not be improperly ſaid of Enoch, and of Noah both, that they walked with God in this Senſe, viz. that they had oftentimes familiar Converſe with theſe Meſſengers, who might be ſent with Inſtructions from him, how they were to behave on ſeveral Occaſions: For this anſwers the Tradition of the Heathens, viz. that in the Golden Age, their Gods had frequent Intercourſe with Men.

Enoch was certainly eminent for his Sanctity, and in other Reſpects a very extraordinary Perſon. St. Jude, diſtinguiſhes him as a Prophet; the Arabians repreſent him as a great Scholar; the Babylonians look upon him as the Author of their Aſtrology; the Greeks call him their Atlas, and affirm, that he was the firſt, who taught Men the Knowledge of the Stars: But it was not for theſe rare Qualities, ſo much as for his ſingular Piety and Virtue, that God exempted him from the common Fate of Mankind.

The Jewiſh Doctors, indeed, ſays Stackhouſe, will have the Words of Moſes concerning him to import no more, than his ſudden and untimely Death, becauſe he liv'd not near ſo long as the other Patriarchs. But the Paraphraſe which St. Paul gives us of them (Heb. xi. 5.) By Faith Enoch was tranſlated, that he ſhould not ſee Death, and was not found, becauſe God had tranſlated him; for, before his Tranſlation, he had this Teſtimony, that he pleaſed God; this Paraphraſe, I ſay, will not ſuffer us to doubt of the Truth of the Chriſtian Interpretation. And indeed, unleſs the Chriſtian Interpretation be true, the whole Emphaſis of Moſes's Words is loſt, and they become a crude Tautology. For, if we ſay, that Enoch was not, i. e. was no longer living, becauſe God took him, i. e. God cauſed him to die; 'tis the ſame, as if we ſhould ſay, God cauſed him to die, becauſe he took him away by Death, which is flat and inſipid, a Proof of the ſame Thing, by the ſame Thing, and hardly conſiſtent with common Senſe: Whereas, if we interpret the Words in this Manner, —— Enoch was not, i. e. was no where to be found, was ſeen neither among the Living nor the Dead here on Earth, for God took him, i. e. becauſe God tranſlated him to another Place, Soul and Body together, without undergoing the Pains of Death; here is a Grace and Energy in the Expreſſion, not unbecoming the Stile of an inſpired Pen-man.

The Reaſon which Moſes aſſigns for God's taking him in this wiſe, is, that he walked with God: But if God's taking him means no more than his haſty Death, it was far from being a divine Atteſtation of his Piety (becauſe Length of Days is the promis'd Reward of that) and therefore we may be allow'd to infer, that his walking with God was not the Cauſe of his Ablation by Death, but of his Aſſumption into Glory. The Truth is, about 57 Years before this Event, as Patrick obſerves, Adam, the Father of all Living, had ſubmitted to the Sentence denounc'd againſt him, and reſign'd his Breath; and whatever Notions his Poſterity might have of a Life immortal in Reverſion, yet it ſeem'd expedient to the divine Wiſdom, at this Time, in the Perſon of Enoch, to give them, as it were, an Anticipation of it, and to ſupport and comfort them under the Senſe of their Mortality, with the Proſpect and aſſured Hope, that after the dark Entry of Death was paſs'd, they were to be admitted into the Manſions of Bliſs.

He called his Son Noah, ſaying, This ſame ſhall comfort us concerning the Work and Toil of our Hands, becauſe of the Ground, which the Lord hath curſed] The Senſe of learned Men upon this Prophecy of Lamech, hath been very different. Some are of Opinion, that there is nothing prophetical in this Declaration of Lamech, and that the only Cauſe of his rejoicing was, to ſee a Son born, who might, in Time, be aſſiſting to him in the Toil of cultivating the Ground. But in this this there is nothing particular: In this Senſe Lamech's Words may be apply'd by every Father, at the Birth of every Son; nor can we conceive, why a peculiar Name ſhould be given Noah, if there was no particular Reaſon for it. The Jewiſh Interpreters generally expound it thus, He ſhall make our Labour in tilling the Ground more eaſy to us, in that he ſhall be the Inventor of ſeveral proper Tools, and Inſtruments of Huſbandry, to abate the Toil and Labour of Tillage: And ſome will tell us, that he therefore receiv'd his Name, becauſe he firſt invented the Art of making Wine, a Liquor that chears the Heart, and makes Man forget Sorrow and Trouble. But the Invention of fit Tools for Tillage, after that Tubal-Cain had become ſo great an Artificer in Braſs and Silver, ſeems to belong to one of his Deſcendants, rather than Noah; and as Noah was not the firſt Huſbandman in the World, ſo neither can it be concluded, from his having planted a Vineyard, that he was the firſt Vine-dreſſer. Another Opinion, not altogether unlike this, is, that Lamech being probably inform'd by God, that his Son Noah ſhould obtain a Grant of the Creatures for Food, Gen. ix. 3. and knowing the Labour and Inconveniencies they were then under, rejoic'd in foreſeeing what Eaſe and Comfort they ſhould have, when they had obtained a large ſupply of Food from the Creatures, beſides what they could produce from the Ground by Tillage. The Reſtoration of Mankind by Noah, and his Sons is thought by many to anſwer the Comfort which Lamech promis'd himſelf and his Poſterity. But the learned Heidegger, after an Examination of all theſe, and ſome other Opinions, ſuppoſes that Lamech, having in Mind the Promiſe of God, expected his Son ſhould prove the bleſſed Seed, the Saviour of the World, who was to bruiſe the Serpent's Head, and, by his Atonement, expiate our Sins, which are the Works of our own Hands, and remove the Curſe which lay upon Sinners. But this, in my Opinion, is too forc'd an Expoſition. Lamech, 'tis true, in Virtue of God's Promiſe, expected a Deliverance from the Curſe of the Earth, and foreſaw that that Deliverance would come through his Son: But how came it thro' his Son, unleſs it came in his Son's Days? And in what Inſtance could it appear, unleſs it were in ſomething ſubſequent to the Flood? And what could that poſſibly be, unleſs the Removal of the Sterility of the Earth, and reſtoring it to its original Fruitfulneſs; For which Reaſon we find God, after the Flood, declaring, that he will not again curſe the Earth for Man's ſake; and ſolemnly promiſing, that while the Earth remaineth, Seed Time and Harveſt ſhall not ceaſe, Gen. viii. 22 See Heidegger, Patrick, Le Clerc, Pool, and Bp. Sherlock.

And Noah begat Shem, Ham, and Japhet] Of theſe three Sons, the eldeſt was Japhet, as appears from Gen. x. 21. and the ſecond was Shem, from Gen. x. 21, and the youngeſt Ham, from Gen. ix. 24. Nevertheleſs, both here, and a little lower, Shem is named firſt; whether it was, that the Rights of Primogeniture were transferred to him (tho' the ſacred Hiſtorian ſays nothing of it); or God was minded, thus early, to ſhew, that he would not be confined to the Order of Nature in the Diſpoſal of his Favours, which he frequently beſtowed upon the younger Children; or (what ſeems the moſt likely) becauſe the Nation of the Jews were to deſcend from him.

CHAP VI.

The Wickedneſs of Men being arrived to a prodigious Height, God reſolves to deſtroy all Fleſh, except Noah and his Family, whom he orders to build an Ark, and gives him the Dimenſions of it; and eſtabliſhes his Covenant with him.

Ver. 1. AND it came to paſs, when men began to multiply on the face of the earth, and daughters were born unto them. 2. That the ſons of God ſaw the daughters of men, that they were fair; and they took them wives of all which they choſe. 3. And the Lord ſaid, my Spirit ſhall not always ſtrive with man, for that he alſo is fleſh; yet his days ſhall be an hundred and twenty years. 4. There were giants in the earth in thoſe days; and alſo after that, when the ſons of God came in unto the daughters of men, and they bare children to them; the ſame became mighty men, which were of old men of renown.

The Sons of God ſaw the Daughters of Men, that they were fair, and they took them Wives of all which they choſe] Some of the oriental Writers have given us a large Account of the Wickedneſs and Debaucheries of that Age. 'As to the Poſterity of Cain, ſay they, the 'Men did violently burn in Luſt towards the Women, 'and, in like Manner, the Women, without any 'Shame, committed Fornication with the Men; ſo 'that they were guilty of all Manner of filthy Crimes 'one with another; and, meeting together in publick 'Places for this Purpoſe, two or three Men were con'cern'd with the ſame Woman, the antient Women, 'if poſſible, being more luſtful and brutiſh than the 'Young. Nay, Fathers liv'd promiſcuouſly with their 'Daughters, and the young Men with their Mothers; 'ſo that neither the Children could diſtinguiſh their 'own Parents, nor Parents know their own Children. 'So deteſtable were the Deeds of the Cainites, who 'ſpent their Days in Luſt and Wantonneſs, in ſinging 'and dancing, and all Kinds of Muſick, until ſome of 'the Sons of Seth, hearing the Noiſe of their Muſick, 'and riotous Mirth, agreed to go down to them from 'the holy Mountain, and upon their Arrival were ſo 'captivated with the Beauty of their Women (who 'were naked) that they immediately defiled themſelves 'with them, and ſo were undone. For, when they 'offer'd to return again to their former Abode, the 'Stones of the Mountain became like Fire, and 'permitted them to paſs no further.' See Eutych. Annals.

Our excellent Milton deſcribes the Manner of their being captivated with the Daughters of Cain, in theſe Words:

——————— They on the Plain,
Long had not walk'd, when from the Tents, behold
A Bevy of fair Women; richly gay,
In Gems, and wanton Dreſs: To th' Harp they ſung Soft amorous Ditties, and in Dance came on.
The Men, tho' grave, ey'd them; and let their Eyes
Rove without Rein; till in the amorous Net
Firſt caught, they lik'd, and each his Liking choſe.
B. 11.

The Scripture indeed, ſays Stackhouſe, ſeems to impute all the Iniquity that ſo much abounded in that Age, to the Marriages between the Sons of God, and the Daughters of Men; but the Misfortune is, that ſeveral Interpreters, being led away by the Authority of the LXX, who, according to Philo, did antiently render what we ſtile the Sons of God, by the Angels of God, have ſuppoſed, that wicked and apoſtate Angels aſſumed, at this Time, human Bodies, and, having had carnal Communion with Women, begat of them a Race of Giants; and from this Original, the Notion of Incubi, or Devils converſing with Women in like Manner, has ever ſince been deriv'd. St. Auguſtin, among many others, is very poſitive in this Opinion. 'Several People have had the Trial, ſays he, and ſeve'ral have heard it from thoſe who knew it to be true, 'that the Silvani and Fauni, commonly called Incubi, 'have been often fatal to Women, and have defiled 'their Bed. It is likewiſe affirmed with ſo much Con'fidence, that certain Demons (call'd Durii among 'the Gauls) have not only attempted, but likewiſe 'perpetrated theſe Kinds of impure Actions, that it 'would

'would be fooliſh to make any Queſtion of it.' But beſides the Incompatibleneſs of the Notion, of a Spirit, and the Nature of an Incubus, the Sons of God are here repreſented under Circumſtances, quite different from what we may ſuppoſe of any Demons aſſuming human Shape.

An Incubus (if any ſuch there be) can deſire Commerce with a Woman, for no other Reaſon, but only to draw her into the Gulf of Perdition. Any carnal Gratification of his own cannot be his Motive, becauſe Pleaſure, in an aſſum'd Body, if it is pretended to, muſt be factitious. But here the Sons of God, are ſaid to be enamour'd with the Daughters of Men and (to ſatisfy their Luſts) to take to themſelves Wives of all that they choſe, which denoting a ſettled Marriage and Cohabitation, can hardly be imagined in the Caſe before us. From thoſe Marriages, we may farther obſerve, that a Generation of living Men, call'd by the Scripture Men of Renown, did enſue, but it is impious to think, that God would ever concur with the Devil, in violating the Laws of Generation, which he had eſtabliſh'd, and proſtituting the Dignity of human Nature, by ſtamping his own Image upon, or infuſing a human Soul into whatever Matter a Fiend ſhould think fit to engenerate.

In prejudice taken to this Opinion therefore, ſeveral Interpreters have made Choice of another, which, tho' ſomewhat more reaſonable, is nevertheleſs ſubject to Exceptions. It ſuppoſes that, by the Sons of God in this Place, are meant the Princes, great Men, and Magiſtrates in thoſe Times, who, inſtead of uſing their Authority to puniſh and diſcountenance Vice, were themſelves the greateſt Examples and Promoters of Lewdneſs and Debauchery; taking the Daughters of Men, or of the inferior and meaner Sort of the People, and debauching them by Force. But beſides the Harſhneſs of the Conſtruction, which (contrary to Scripture-Phraſe) makes all great and powerful Perſons to be call'd the Sons of God; and all mean and Plebeian Women, the Daughters of Men, there is this Error in the Suppoſition, that the great Men, we are now ſpeaking of, did not offer any Force or Violence to thoſe inferior Women, they ſaw that they were fair, and made Choice of them for Wives. They did not take them merely to lie with them, and ſo diſmiſs them; but voluntarily enter'd into a State of Matrimony and Cohabitation with them. And this being all the Matter, wherein is the Heinouſneſs of the Offence, if Men of a ſuperior Rank marry with their Inferiors, eſpecially when an Exceſs of Beauty apologizes for their Choice? Or, why ſhould a few unequal Matches be reckon'd among ſome of the chief Cauſes, which brought upon the World an univerſal Deſtruction?

The moſt common therefore, and indeed the only probable Opinion is, that the Sons of God were the Deſcendants of Seth, who for the great Piety, wherein they continued for ſome Time, were ſo call'd, and that the Daughters of Men were the Progeny of wicked Cain. And why the Intermarriages of theſe two Families (even tho' there was no expreſs Prohibition from God) came to be ſo provoking to him, and in the End ſo deſtructive to themſelves, is the next Point of our Enquiry.

It has been a Queſtion among the Learned, whether or no, in the Ages before the Flood, Idolatry was practis'd; but there ſeems no great Foundation for our doubting it, tho' ſome have endeavour'd to eſtabliſh it upon incompetent Texts. The only Expreſſion in Scripture that bears a proper Aſpect this Way, is in Gen. vi. 3. where we are told, That God ſaw, that the Wickedneſs of Man was great in the Earth, and that every Imagination of the Thoughts of his Heart was only evil continually. The Words ſeem parallel to that Paſſage of the Apoſtle, They became vain in their Imaginations, and their fooliſh Heart was darkened;—whereupon it follows, that they changed the Glory of the incorruptible God into an Image, and to Birds, and to four-footed Beaſts, and creeping Things. Since therefore Moſes made uſe of the like Expreſſion, concerning the Age ſoon after the Flood, and ſince it is certain that, ſoon after the Flood Men fell into Idolatry, until the true Worſhip of God was again eſtabliſhed in Abraham's Family; it ſeems very probable, that he intended us an Intimation thereof in the Manner of his expreſſing himſelf: Nor can we imagine but that, when St. Peter compares the falſe Teachers of his Age with the People of the Antediluvian World, in the Nature of their Puniſhment, he means to inform us, that they reſembled them likewiſe in the Nature of their Crime, in their bringing in damnable Hereſies, and abetting ſuch Doctrines, as even denied the Lord that bought them; or that, when St. Jude expreſſes his Indignation againſt certain ungodly Men in his Days, who denied the only Lord God, and our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, in ſuch Words as theſe, Woe unto them, for they are gone into the Way of Cain; he leaves us to infer, that Cain and his Poſterity were the firſt that threw off the Senſe of a God, and, inſtead of the Creator, began to worſhip the Creature.

Now if the Cainites were, at this Time, not only profligate in their Manners, but Abettors of Infidelity, and Promoters of Idolatry; for the Family of Seth, who profeſs'd the true Worſhip of God, to enter into any Communion, or Matrimonial Compacts with them, could not but prove of fatal Conſequence. 'Tis a ſolemn Injunction, which God gives the Iſraelites, Thou ſhalt not make Marriages with them; thy Daughter thou ſhalt not give unto his Son, nor his Daughter ſhalt thou take unto thy Son, Deut. vii. 3, 4. And that this is no ſpecial, but a general Prohibition, extenſive to all Nations, that profeſs the true Worſhip of God, is evident from the Reaſon that is annex'd to it; for they will turn away thy Son from following me, that they may ſerve other Gods. This was what Baalam knew full well, and therefore, perceiving, that he could injure the Children of Iſrael no other Way, he adviſed the Moabites to commence a Familiarity with them; whereupon it ſoon came to paſs, that the People began to commit Whoredom with the Daughters of Moab, and they called the People unto the Sacrifices of their Gods, and the People did eat, and bowed down to their Gods, Numb. xxv. 1, 2. From all which it ſeems to follow, that the Sin was very heinous in the Family of Seth, to mix with the wicked Seed of Cain, when they could not but foreſee, that the Conſequence would be their Seduction from the true Worſhip of God; and that the Heinouſneſs of their Sin ſeem'd ſtill to be inhanc'd, if, what ſome oriental Writers tell us, be true, viz. that God gave them this Prohibition by the Mouth of their great Forefather Adam, and that their Cuſtom was at certain Times, to ſwear by the Blood of Abel (which was their ſolemn Oath) that they would never leave the mountainous Country, where they inhabited, nor have any Communion with the Deſcendants of Cain.

Yet his Days ſhall be an hundred and twenty Years] This was the Term allowed Mankind for their Repentance, and Prevention of their Ruin. And yet if we compare Ch. v. 32. with Ch. vii. 11. we ſhall find, that between this Time and the Flood, there were but one hundred Years; how then did God perform his Promiſe? Now in Anſwer to this, it may be ſaid, that the increaſing Wickedneſs of Mankind might juſtly haſten their Ruin, and forfeit the Benefit of this Indulgence; but what ſeems to be the true Solution is this--This Promiſe, tho' mention'd after what we read in Ch. v. 32. ſeems nevertheleſs to have been made 20 Years before it; for that Verſe is added there, out of its proper Place, only to complete the Genealogy, and therefore, after this Narrative of the Wickedneſs of the World, it is repeated here in its due Order, in the 10th Verſe; nor are ſuch Tranſpoſitions uncommon in Scripture, without any Diminution to its Authority.

There were Giants in the Earth in thoſe Days] It muſt be acknowledg'd, ſays Stackhouſe, that Tranſlators have not agreed in the Notions of this Word, Giants. Aquila, inſtead of Gigantes, renders it, Men, who attack, or fall with Impetuoſity upon their Enemies; and Symmachus will have it mean violent and cruel Men, the only Rule of whoſe Actions is their Strength and Force of Arms: And from hence ſome have imagin'd, that the Giants, ſpoken of in Scripture, were famous for the Crimes and Violences they committed, rather than for the Height, or Largeneſs of their Stature. But to hinder this from paſſing for a Truth, we have the Hiſtories of all Ages, both ſacred and profane, and ſeveral other Remains and Monuments, to evince the Being of ſuch prodigious Creatures in almoſt every Country.

That there were Multitudes of Giants, in the Land of Promiſe, before the Iſraelites took Poſſeſſion of it, ſuch as Og, King of Baſan, and the Anakims, whom the Moabites called Enims, i. e. terrible Men, and the Ammonites, Zamzummims, i. e. the Inventors of all Wickedneſs, whoſe Poſterity were in Being in the Days of David, and whoſe Bones were to be ſeen at Hebron, the chief Place of their Abode, is manifeſt from the ſacred Records. All the People (ſay the Spies who were ſent to take a Survey of the Land) are Men of Stature; and there we ſaw the Giants, the Sons of Anack, which came of the Giants, ſo immeaſurably large, that we were but like Graſhoppers in Compariſon of them. And therefore we need leſs wonder, that we find Joſephus, upon the ſame Occaſion telling us, 'That the Race 'of Giants was not then extinct, who, on Account of 'their Largeneſs and Shapes (not at all to be liken'd to 'thoſe of other Men) were amazing to ſee, and terri-'ble to hear of.' Homer ſpeaks of the Giants, Otus and Ephialtes, who, at the Age of nine Years, were nine Cubits about, and ſix and thirty in Height; he likewiſe deſcribes the Bigneſs of the Cyclops Polyphemus, who was of ſuch prodigious Strength, that he could, with the greateſt Facility, take up a Stone, which two and twenty four-wheel'd Chariots would ſcarce be able to move. This we allow to be, in ſome Meaſure, romantic, but ſtill it confirms the Tradition, that ſeveral Perſons of old were of a gigantic Stature.

That the Cyclopes and Laſtrigones, ſays Bochart, were once in Sicily, we have the Account, not only in the Poets Homer, Heſiod, and Euripides, Virgil, Ovid, and Sicilus, but in the Hiſtorians and Geographers (I mean Thucydides and Strabo) who were Grecians, and in Trogus, Mela, Pliny, and others, who were Romans: And that there was ſomething of Truth in the Fables concerning them, we are aſſur'd by thoſe Bones of Giants, which were dug out of the Earth in the Memory of our Fathers.

Mr. Whiſton, in his original Records, has a Supplement concerning the old Giants, wherein according to the Apocryphal Book of Enoch, he divides the Giants into three Kinds, and in this Diviſion thinks himſelf countenanc'd by the Words of Moſes, Gen. vi. 2, &c. the firſt and loweſt Kind of which are called Eliudim, and are of Stature from 4 Cubits to 15; the ſecond are Nephilim, from 15 to 40 Cubits; and the third, or great Giants, 40 Cubits at leaſt, and many Times above.

In all Probability, no ſmall Part of the eldeſt Cities, Towers, Temples, Obeliſks, Pyramids, and Pillars, ſome of which are ſtill remaining, are deſervedly eſteem'd the Wonders of the World, were the Structure of theſe antient Giants.

Whiſton has reckon'd up ſeveral Works of this Kind, as, 1. The Giants Dance upon Saliſbury Plain, now call'd Stone-henge. 2. The Giants Cauſeway in the North of Irelaid. 3. The Circular Gigantick Stone at Ravenna. 4. The Tower of Babel. 5. The Two Obeliſks mention'd by Herodotus. 6. The Temple of Diana in Egypt. 7. The Labyrinth in Egypt. 8. The Lake Mæris, 480 Miles long, and dug by human Labour, all by the ſame Herodtus. 9. The Sphnix of Egypt. 10. The moſt antient Temple of Egypt. 11. The Agrigentine Temple. 12. The Pyramidal Obeliſk, all mention'd by Diodorus Siculus. 13. The Temple of Solomon. 14. The Palace of Solomon at Jeruſalem. 15. That at Balbeck. 16. That at Tadmer. 17. The Palace and Buildings at Perſepolis. 18. The Temple of Belus at Babylon. 19. The Temple at Chillembrum; and, 20. The firſt Temple of Diana at Epheſus.

The ſame Author tells us, that Fazellus relates, and out of him Cluverius, that, A. D. 1547, near Panormum in Sicily, the Body of a Giant was dug up, about 18 Cubits, or 27 Foot tall. The ſame Authors relate, that, A. D. 1516. was dug up, near Mazarene in Sicily, the Body of a Giant 20 Cubits or 30 Foot tall. The ſame Authors relate, that, A. D. 1548, near Syracuſe, was dug up another Body of the ſame Dimenſion. They inform us, that, A. D. 1550, near Eutella in Sicily, was dug up a Body of 22 Cubits, or 33 Foot high, whoſe Skull was about 10 Feet in Circumference; and they deſcribe the Corps of a Giant of portentous Magnitude, found ſtanding in a vaſt Cave, near Drepanum in Sicily, A. D. 1340, whoſe Staff was like the Maſt of a Ship, and the Forepart of whoſe Skull would contain ſome Sicilian Buſhels, which are about a third Part of our Engliſh Buſhels.

But how the Commixture of theſe two Families, Seth and Cain, came to produce a Set of Giants, is not, ſays Stackhouſe, ſo eaſy a Matter to determine. Thoſe, who pretend to reduce it to natural Cauſes, or the eager Luſt, and Impetus of their Parents, are vaſtly miſtaken, becauſe Giants there were among the Cainites, before this Conjunction, and we read of ſeveral in other Nations many Ages after the Flood. The more probable Opinion therefore is, that God permitted it, in Vengeance to their Parents Crimes, and that the Children begotten by ſuch unlawful Mixtures, might (ſome of them at leaſt) be accounted monſtrous in their Kind, (for thus the Word Nephilim certainly ſignifies) and ſo become the Abhorrence of all future Generations.

The ſame became mighty Men, which were of old, Men of Renown] That excellent Writer, Sir Walter Raleigh, hath left us ſeveral remarkable Obſervations on this Subject: But, ſays he, of the War, Peace, Government, and Policy of theſe ſtrong and mighty Men, ſo able both in Body and Wit, there is no Memory remaining, whoſe Stories, if they had been preſerv'd, and what elſe was then performed, in that Newneſs of the World, there could nothing of more Delight have been left to Poſterity. For the long Lives of Men, who to their Strength of Body, and natural Wits, had the Experience added of eight hundred and nine hundred Years, how much of Neceſſity, muſt the ſame add of Wiſdom and Underſtanding: Likely it is, that their Works excelled all whatſoever can be told of Aftertimes, eſpecially in Reſpect to this old Age of the World, when we no ſooner begin to know, but we begin to die, according to Hippocrates, Vita brevis, Ars longa, Tempus præceps; that is, Life is ſhort, Art is long, and Time headlong. And that thoſe People of the firſt Age performed many Things worthy Admiration, it may be gathered out of the Words of Moſes, above recited. But theſe Men of Renown, whom the Scripture afterwards called Giants, both for Strength of Body and Cruelty of Mind, truſted ſo much to their own Abilities, that they forgot altogether the Piety of Seth, and the Ways wherein Enoch walked: For all the Imaginations of their Hearts were evil only, and continually evil. And this Wickedneſs was not only found in the Iſſue of Cain, but it was then univerſal, when the Children and Sons of God, or of the Godly, were corrupted or miſ-led by their idolatrous Wives, the Daughters of Cain, or of thoſe other Men, loving themſelves and the World only.

5 And God ſaw that the wickedneſs of man was great in the earth, and that every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually. 6 And it repented the Lord that he had made man on the earth, and it grieved him at his heart. 7 And the Lord ſaid, I will deſtroy man, whom I have created, from the face of the earth, both man and beaſt, and the creeping thing, and the fowls of the air: for it repenteth me that I have made them. 8 But Noah found grace in the eyes of the Lord.

And it repented the Lord that he had made Man on the Earth, and it grieved him at his Heart] As Languages were firſt invented by ſuch Perſons as were neither Philoſophers, nor Divines, we cannot at all wonder, that we meet with many Improprieties in Speech, and ſuch Actions imputed to God, as no ways comport with the Dignity of his Nature. Thus, when the holy Scriptures ſpeak of God, they aſcribe Hands, and Eyes, and Feet to him; not that he has any of theſe Members, according to the literal Signification, but the Meaning is, that he has a Power to execute all thoſe Acts, to the effecting of which, theſe Parts in us are inſtrumental, i. e. he can converſe with Men, as well as if he had a Tongue or Mouth; can diſcern all that we do or ſay, as perfectly as if he had Eyes or Ears; and can reach us, as well as if he had Hands or Feet, &c. In like Manner, the Scripture frequently repreſents him, as affected with ſuch Paſſions, as we perceive in ourſelves, viz. as angry and pleas'd, loving and hating, repenting and grieving, &c. And yet, upon Reflection, we cannot ſuppoſe, that any of theſe Paſſions can literally affect the Divine Nature; and therefore the Meaning is, that he will as certainly puniſh the Wicked, as if he were inflam'd with the Paſſion of Anger againſt them; as infallibly reward the Good, as we will thoſe, for whom we have a particular Affection; and that, when he finds any Alteration in his Creatures, either for the better, or the worſe, he will as ſurely change his Diſpenſations towards them, as if he really repented, or chang'd his Mind. 'Tis by way of Analogy and Compariſon therefore, that the Nature and Paſſions of Men are aſcrib'd to God: So that when he is ſaid to repent or grieve, the Meaning muſt be, not that he perceiv'd any Thing, that he was ignorant of before, to give him any Uneaſineſs; (for known unto him are all his Ways from the Beginning) but only that he alter'd his Conduct and Regard to Men, as they varied in their Behaviour towards him, juſt as we are wont to do, when we are moved by any of theſe Paſſions and Changes of Affections, we, who dwell in Houſes of Clay, and whoſe Foundations are in the Duſt: For the very Heathens can tells us, that Majeſtatis Diminutio eſt, & Confeſſio Erroris, mutanda facere; neceſſe eſt enim ei eadem placere, cui, niſi optima, placere non poſſunt; that is, It is a Diminution of the Divine Majeſty, and a Confeſſion of Error, that he is capable of doing Things that ſhall be liable to Alteration, ſince the ſame Things muſt neceſſarily pleaſe him, whom nothing can pleaſe but thoſe Things which are the very beſt. Seneca. See Le Clerc, Bp King, and Ainſworth.

And the Lord ſaid, I will deſtroy Man whom I have created, from the Face of the Earth, both Man and Beaſt, &c.] But, it has been objected, by ſome, that to lay waſte the whole Earth at once, and even the Brute Creation, which was not capable of offending; to pull down what he had, for the Space of 1656 Years, been eſtabliſhing, and to put himſelf to the Trouble of beginning again, and repeopling the ſhatter'd and defaced Earth from the Loins of four Progenitors, argues too much Levity and Caprice, ever to be imputed to a wiſe and unchangeable God. To this, Stackhouſe anſwers as follows. Had God given them no Intimation of this Deſign, no Calls to Repentance, no Means and Opportunities of becoming better, before he determin'd their Deſtruction, ſomething might then be ſaid in Oppoſition to the Righteouſneſs of this Procedure; but ſince, from the very Beginning, he was pleas'd, in the Sentence he paſs'd upon the Serpent, to give them a remarkable Promiſe, that the Seed of the Woman ſhould deſtroy the Power of that evil Spirit, which brought Sin into the World, and, conſequently, that all Parents were oblig'd to train up their Children in the Ways of Virtue and Religion, without which it was impoſſible for any of them to be the promis'd Seed, which was to reſtore Mankind to their original Perfection; ſince he himſelf inſtituted Sacrifices, as a Means admirably well fitted to inſpire Mankind with an Horror of Guilt, and be, at the ſame Time, a perpetual Memorial of the divine Mercy from Generation to Generation; ſince, in his Expulſion of Cain from his Preſence, and Exaltation of Enoch into Heaven, he made an open Declaration, to all future Ages, that his Vengeance ſhould at all Times purſue Sin, but his Bounty had always in Store an ample Reward for the Righteous; ſince, at this Time, he exhibited himſelf to Mankind in a more ſenſible Manner than he does now, cauſing them to hear Voices, and to dream Dreams, and, by ſundry extraordinary Means, convincing them of their Duty, and giving them Directions for the Conduct of their Lives; ſince, at this Time, they had the Principles of Religion (which were but very few) convey'd to them by an eaſy Tradition, which, by Methuſelah living 248 Years with Adam, and dying but a little before the Flood, in the Compaſs of 1600 Years and more, had but two Hands to paſs through; and, laſtly, ſince God appointed Noah in particular to be a Preacher of Righteouſneſs, as the Apoſtle Peter ſtiles him, to exhort that wicked Race to forſake their Sins, and return unto him; to warn them of their impending Doom, if they perſiſted in their Provocations; to give them Notice, that 120 Years was the ſtated Time of their Reprieve, and that, at the End of that Period, his fix'd Determination was to deſtroy them utterly, unleſs their Amendment averted the Judgment: Since theſe, and many more Methods of Mercy were all along employ'd by God (and eſpecially in the Days, that his Long-ſuffering waited, while the Ark was preparing) for the Recovery of Mankind, before the Deluge came upon them, they are ſufficient to vindicate the Ways of God with Man, and to juſtify his Severity in bringing in the Flood upon the World of the Ungodly, which neither his Reſtraints, nor Rewards, nor all the Monitions and Exhortations from his Prophets, added to his own Declarations, Inſtitutions, Inflictions, and Denunciations of Vengeance, could reclaim, in the Courſe of ſo many Centuries.

Other living Creatures, it's true, were not culpable in this Manner: They all anſwered the Ends of their Production, and Man was the only Rebel againſt his Maker. But as, in an univerſal Deluge, it was impoſſible to preſerve them alive without a Miracle; ſo, having, in ſome Meaſure, been made inſtrumental to Man's Wickedneſs, innocent tho' they were, they were all to be deſtroy'd, in order to evince the Malignity of Sin, and God's Abhorrence of it. For the great End of his Providence in ſending the Deluge, was not ſo much to eaſe himſelf of his Adverſaries, as to leave a perpetual Monument of his unrelenting Severity, that thereby he might deter future Ages from the like Provocations. And this is the Inference, which the Apoſtle draws from all his Judgments of old: If God ſpared not the Angels, ſays he, that ſinned, but caſt them down to Hell; if he ſpared not the old World, but brought in a Flood upon the Ungodly; if he turned the Cities of Sodom and Gomorrah into Aſhes, and condemned them with an Overthrow; theſe are an Enſample unto thoſe, that after ſhall live ungodly; for (however they may eſcape in this Life) he hath reſerved the Unjuſt unto the Day of Judgment to be puniſhed, 2 Pet. ii. 4, &c.

9 Theſe are the generations of Noah: Noah was a juſt man and perfect in his generations, and Noah walked with God. 10 And Noah begat three ſons, Shem, Ham, and Japheth. 11 The earth alſo was corrupt before God; and the earth was filled with violence. 12 And God looked upon the earth, and behold, it was corrupt: for all fleſh had corrupted his way upon the earth. 13 And God ſaid unto Noah, The end of all fleſh is come before me; for the earth is filled with violence through them: and behold, I will deſtroy them with the earth. 14 Make thee an ark of Gopher-wood: rooms ſhalt thou make in the ark, and ſhalt pitch it within and without with pitch. 15 And this is the faſhion which thou ſhalt make it of: The length of the ark ſhall be three hundred cubits, the breadth of it fifty cubits, and the height of it thirty cubits. 16 A window ſhalt thou make to the ark, and in a cubit ſhalt thou finiſh it above; and the door of the ark ſhalt thou ſet in the ſide thereof: with lower, ſecond, and third ſtories ſhalt thou make it. 17 And behold, I, even I do bring a flood of waters upon the earth, to deſtroy all fleſh, wherein is the breath of life, from under heaven: and every thing that is in the earth ſhall die. 18 But with thee will I eſtabliſh my covenant: and thou ſhalt come into the ark; thou, and thy ſons, and thy wife, and thy ſons wives with thee. 19 And of every living thing of all fleſh, two of every ſort ſhalt thou bring into the ark, to keep them alive with thee: they ſhall be male and female. 20 Of fowls after their kind, and of cattle after their kind, of every creeping thing of the earth after his kind; two of every ſort ſhall come unto thee, to keep them alive. 21 And take thou unto thee of all food that is eaten, and thou ſhalt gather it to thee: and it ſhall be for food for thee, and for them. 22 Thus did Noah; according to all that God commanded him, ſo did he.

Noah was a juſt Man, and perfect in his Generation, and Noah walked with God] One can hardly conceive that any Thing could be added to this Deſcription of Noah's Virtues and Piety, whereby he procur'd an Exemption for himſelf and his whole Family, in that general Deſtruction which fell out in his Time; for thus much is expreſſed by God himſelf, when he directed the Prophet and his Family to enter into the Veſſel prepared to preſerve them: Come thou and all thy Houſe into the Ark, for thee have I ſeen righteous before me, in this Generation. Yet from this Text ſome of the Jews have inferred, that he was righteous only in Compariſon with that Generation; tho' this Notion is not only contrary to all that is ſaid of him before, but alſo to the very Letter of the Text, wherein his Righteouſneſs is not ſpoken of comparatively, as greater, but as excellent in its Nature, ſeeing he was righteous, when all the Earth, i. e. all the Inhabitants of the Earth, were corrupt. There is another odd Opinion of the Jews, in Reference to Noah, that he prayed to God for himſelf only, and not for the World, as Abraham did for Sodom; by which Remark it is likely they aim at excelling the Character of the latter, tho' at the Expence of the former: Yet it is no hard Matter to juſtify Noah's Conduct in this Particular, and to ſhew that his Charity ought not to be impeached, even tho' it were certain, as I think it is not, that he never interceeded for the People of that Generation; for being appointed a Meſſenger of God, and informed by him of the Evil which he would bring upon the whole World, it became not the Prophet to contend with his God, or to intercede for impudent and impenitent Sinners, when their righteous, and omnipotent Judge had already extended his Mercy towards them, by affording them ſo ample a Term, wherein to return and live. Whereas in the other Caſe, viz. that of Abraham, Sentence was not yet paſſed, when he made Interceſſion, neither did the Almighty promiſe to allow the Inhabitants of Sodom, any farther Time for Repentance; but threaten'd them with immediate Puniſhment, if he found the Heinouſneſs of their Sins, equal to the Cry that was come up againſt them. It is not to be doubted, tho' Moſes has not recorded it, that Noah took Care to diſcharge faithfully his Office of a Preacher, by warning the Children of Men of the great Day of the Lord, which unleſs they repented, was at Hand. This Reaſon wou'd have dictated, if we had not been aſſured thereof by the greateſt of all Authorities, viz. the Word of Chriſt himſelf, wherein, explaining the Manner of his ſecond Coming, he gives us the moſt clear and diſtinct Account of this Matter that cou'd be wiſh'd: But as the Days of Noah were, ſays he, ſo ſhall the Coming of the Son of Man be; for, as in the Days that were before the Flood, they were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in Marriage, until the Day that Noah entred into the Ark; and knew not until the Flood came, and took them all away, ſo ſhall alſo the Coming of the Son of Man be; that is, the Hearers of Noah were utterly regardleſs of his Admonitions, and continued in the Practice of Senſualities, in Spite of the Warning ſent them by God; as is remark'd alſo by St. Peter, who expreſſes himſelf concerning the Patience the Almighty exerciſed, as to theſe People, thus: When once the Long-ſuffering of God waited in the Days of Noah, when the Ark was preparing; wherein few, that is, eight Souls were ſaved by Water. And, afterwards, exhorting Chriſtians to walk circumſpectly, from the Conſiderations of God's Judgments on the Perverſe, he brings in again the Example of the Times we ſpeak of, in theſe Words: And ſpared not the old World; but ſaved Noah, the eighth Perſon, a Preacher of Righteouſneſs, bringing in the Flood upon the World of Ungodly. It may not, perhaps, be improper to add, that Noah was no leſs eminently qualified to become a Teacher of the new World, than he was to be a Preacher to the Inhabitants of the old one, having not only thoſe Advantages which flow from good Underſtanding, and long Experience; but alſo the invaluable Bleſſing of Revelations from God, whereby he enjoyed all that can be concluded neceſſary to ſupport the Character of him, who was to be the Reſtorer of Mankind.

Make thee an Ark of Gopher-wood] The Timber whereof the Ark was fram'd, Moſes calls Gopher wood; but what Tree this Gopher was, is not a little controverted. Some will have it to be Cedar, others the Pine, others the Box, and others (particularly the Mahometans) the Indian-plane Tree; but our learned Fuller, in his Miſcellanies, has obſerv'd, that it was nothing elſe but that which the Greek call Kupariſſos, or the Cypreſs-Tree: For, taking away the Termination, Cupar and Gopher differ very little in the Sound. This Obſervation the great Bochart has confirm'd, and ſhewn very plainly, that no Country abounds ſo much with this Wood, as that Part of Aſſyria, which lies about Babylon. And to this we may add the Obſervation of Theophraſtus, who ſpeaking of Trees, that are leaſt ſubject to Decay, makes the Cypreſs-Tree the moſt durable of all; for which Vitruvius gives us this Reaſon, viz. that the Sap, which is in every Part of the Wood, has a peculiar bitter Taſte, and is ſo very offenſive, that no Worm, or other corroding Animal, will touch it, ſo that ſuch Works as are made of this Wood, will in a Manner laſt for ever.

Le Clerc obſerves, that the Word Thebath, which we render Ark, is only read here, and in another Place, where Moſes, when an Infant, is ſaid to have been put into one, made of Bulruſhes, Exod. ii. 3. It is ſuppos'd to come from a Root, which ſignifies to dwell or inhabit, and may therefore here denote a Houſe, or Place of Abode. And indeed, if we conſider the Uſe and Deſign, as well as the Form and Figure of this Building, we can hardly ſuppoſe it to be like an Ark or Cheſt, wherein we uſually ſtore Lumber, and put Things out of the Way; but rather like a Farm-houſe, ſuch as are in ſeveral Countries, where the Cattle and People live all under one Roof. As ſoon as Men began to hew down Timber, and to join it together for the Purpoſe of making Houſes, nothing can be ſuppos'd a more ſimple Kind of Edifice, than what was made rectangular; with a Bottom or Floor, to prevent the Dampneſs of the Ground; a ſloping Cover or Roof to carry off the Rain that ſhou'd fall; Stalls and Cabbins for the Lodgment of Man and Beaſt; and, to keep out Wind and Weather effectually, a Coat of Bitumen or Pitch. Of this Kind was this Building of Noah's, and may therefore be rather term'd a Place of Abode, than an Ark or Cheſt properly ſo called.

And ſhalt pitch it within and without with Pitch] Tho' it be expreſſly ſaid here, Pitch, yet Patrick obſerves, that the Bitumen (which was plentiful in that Country, and, as others think, intended here) was of the ſame Nature, and ſerv'd to the ſame Uſe, as Pitch, being glutinous and tenacious, and proper to keep Things together.

The Length of the Ark ſhall be three hundred Cubits, the Breadth, &c.] A Cubit, ſays Ainſworth, is the Meaſure from the Elbow to the Finger's End, containing ſix Hands Breadths, or a Foot and an Half; ſo that 300 Cubits make exactly 450 Feet. There are ſome however, who take thoſe for Geometrical Cubits, every one of which contains Six of the common;

mon; but there is no need for any ſuch Computation, ſince, taking them for common Cubits, it is demonſtrable, that there might be Room enough in the Ark for all Sorts of Beaſts, and Birds, together with Noah's Family, and their neceſſary Proviſion.

A Window ſhalt thou make in the Ark, and in a Cubit ſhalt thou finiſh it above] There are various Tranſlations of the Word Zohar, Window, which occurs but once in the whole Bible in this Senſe. It ſeems to be deriv'd from a Root in the Chaldee, which ſignifies to ſhine, or give Light; and therefore our Verſion renders it a Window; but if ſo, it muſt be collective, and mean ſeveral Windows, becauſe it is not likely, that there ſhould be but one in ſo vaſt a Building: And from the following Words, and in a Cubit ſhalt thou finiſh it above, ſome have ſuppos'd, that the Window was to be a Cubit ſquare, or but a Cubit high, which wou'd have been much too ſmall. But the Relative it, being in the Hebrew, of the Feminine Gender, and Zohar of the maſculine, theſe two Words cannot agree, and therefore the proper Antecedent ſeems to be the Ark, which was cover'd with a Roof, rais'd a Cubit high in the Middle. This however, in the Original, may ſignify no more than an Injunction to build the Ark by the Cubit, as the common Meaſure, by which the Work was to be mark'd out, and directed. See Univerſ. Hiſt. Saurin's Diſſert. and Lamy's Introduction.

According to the Scantlings and Dimenſions here given of the Ark ſome have objected, that it was not fitted to live in rough Weather, and muſt inevitably have periſh'd by the Violence of the Winds and Tempeſts that raged during the Continuance of the Flood. But, in Anſwer to this; ſuppoſe, without any Addition of Art, it was nothing more than an Oblong Square, whoſe Length was Sextuple to the Breadth, and decuple to the Height; it is demonſtrable, that a Piece of Wood of that Proportion being lighter than the Water, will be always ſupported by it. For Inſtance, take a Piece of Oak exactly ſquare, let it be one Foot broad, ſix Foot long, and ſeven or eight Inches thick, anſwering the Proportion of the Ark; there is no Body, I believe, will ſay, that any Waves, or Winds, will be ſtrong enough to break this Piece of Timber, notwithſtanding its right Angles. Now let any Solid of this Faſhion be multiplied in a decuple, centuple, or millecuple Proportion, and let the Force of the Waves, and the invaſive Power of the Wind, be multiplied alſo with it in the ſame Proportion, the Reſiſtance of a rectangular Solid (which is perfectly impenetrable, and exactly the Caſe of the Ark) will be Proof againſt any given Force whatſoever. See Biblioth. Bib. Vol. 1.

About the Beginning of the laſt Century, Peter Janſen, a Dutch Merchant, caus'd a Ship to be built for him, anſwering, in its reſpective Proportions, to thoſe of Noah's Ark, the Length of it being 120 Feet, the Breadth of it 20, and the Depth of it 12. At firſt this was look'd upon no better than a fanatical Viſion of this Janſen (who was by Profeſſion a Menoniſt) and, whilſt it was building, he and his Ship were made the Sport of the Seamen, as much as Noah and his Ark cou'd be. But afterwards it was found that Ships, built in this Faſhion, were, in the Time of Peace, beyond all others, moſt commodious for Commerce; becauſe they wou'd hold a third Part more, without requiring any more Hands, and were found better Runners than any made before.

It has likewiſe been objected, that the Ark was not capacious enough to hold ſuch a Number of Creatures as muſt neceſſarily be put in it, at leaſt, not without crowding them together. But Buteo has plainly demonſtrated, that all the Animals contain'd in the Ark, cou'd not be equal to 500 Horſes; (the learned Heidegger, from Temporarius, makes them 400 Oxen) and yet it is not to be queſtion'd, but that a Building very near as long as St. Paul's Church, and as broad as the Middle Iſle of that Church is high within, is capable of affording Stabling for ſuch a Number of Horſes.

Kircher has given us large Dimenſions of the Ark, and from thence concludes, that this Veſſel was capable enough to receive, not only Noah and his Family, all other Creatures and their Food, but even an entire Province likewiſe.

Le Peletier (in his Diſſertation upon Noah's Ark) follows another Author, Biſhop Cumberland, who, in his Diſcovery of the Weights and Meaſures of the Jews, has prov'd, that the antient Cubit of the Jews, was the old Derah of Memphis, whereupon Peletier allows, 1,781,377 cubical Feet of Paris for the whole Contents of the Ark, ſo that it might hold (as he pretends) 42,413 Tons of Lading. But a certain anonymous Author has publiſh'd a Diſſertation upon the ſame Principles, wherein he compares the Ark to our modern Ships, and computes its Meaſure according to the Tons it might contain, and thereupon makes it larger than 40 Ships of 100 Tons each.

Mr. Stackhouſe obſerves, that if he ſhou'd put the Queſtion, How many Kinds of Beaſts, or Birds, there are in the World? wou'd be anſwer'd, even by ſuch, as, in other Reſpects, are knowing and learned enough, that there are ſo many Hundreds of them, as cannot be enumerated; whereas, upon a diſtinct Enquiry into all ſuch as are yet known, or have been deſcribed by credible Authors, it will appear, that they are much fewer than is commonly imagin'd, not an hundred Sorts of Beaſts, and not two hundred of Birds.

And yet, out of this Number we muſt except all Animals that are of equivocal Generation, as Inſects; all that are accuſtom'd to live in Water, as Fiſh, and Water-Fowl; all that proceed from a Mixture of a different Species, as Mules; and all that by changing their Climate, change their Colour and Size, and ſo paſs for different Creatures, when in Reality they are the ſame. We muſt obſerve farther, that all Creatures of the Serpentine Kind, the Viper, Snake, Slow-worm, Lizard, Frog, Toad, &c. might have ſufficient Space for their Reception, and for their Nouriſhment, in the Hold or Bottom of the Ark, which was probably three or four Foot under the Floor, whereon the Beaſts are ſuppos'd to ſtand; and that the ſmaller Creatures, ſuch as the Mouſe, Rat, Mole, &c. might find ſufficient Room in ſeveral Parts of the Ark, without having any particular Places, or Cells appointed for them: So that the Number of the ſeveral Species of Animals to be plac'd in the firſt or loweſt Story, on the Foot of this Deduction, ſtands thus:

Beaſts which live on Hay		On Fruits and Roots	On Fleſh.
The Horſe	Stone-buck	The Hog	The Lion	Stoat
Aſs	Shamois	Baboon	Bear	Weaſel
Camel	Antelope	Ape	Tyger	Caſtor
Elephant	Elke	Monkey	Perd	Otter
Bull	Hart	Sloth	Ounce	Dog
Urus	Buck	Porcupine	Cat	Wolf
Biſons	Rein-deer	Hedge-hog	Civet-cat	Fox
Bonaſus	Roe	Squirrel	Finet	Badger
Buffalo	Rhinoceros	Ginny-pig	Pole-cat	Jackall
Sheep	Camelepard	Ant-bear	Martin	Caraguya
Stepciſeros	Hare	Armadilla
Broad-tail	Rabbit	Tortoiſe
Goat	Marmotto

Now

Now concerning theſe Creatures God gives Noah this Injunction; Of every clean Beaſt thou ſhalt take to thee by ſevens, the Male and the Female; and of Beaſts that are not clean, by Two, the Male and the Female. Taking the Words then in the higheſt Acceptation, viz. that Noah was to receive into the Ark one Pair of every Species of unclean Animals, which were admitted by Pairs only, and ſeven Pair of every Species of clean; yet, conſidering that the Species of unclean Animals, which were admitted by Pairs only, are many, in Compariſon of the clean, and the Species of the large Animals few, in Compariſon of the ſmaller; we cannot but perceive (as by a ſhort Calculation it will appear) that this lower Story, which was ten Cubits high, three hundred long, and fifty broad, i. e. 225,000 ſolid Feet in the Whole, would be capable of receiving with all Manner of eaſe, not only all the Sorts of Beaſts, but probably all thoſe other Kinds, which are any where to be found under the Copes of Heaven.

'Tis a pretty general Opinion, and what ſeems to be founded on Scripture, that before the Flood, Beaſts and Birds fed only upon Fruits and Vegetables. See Gen. i. 29, 30. Heidegger ſays, It is not to be denied, but that ſeveral Men have taken great Pains to provide Fleſh for the carnivorous Animals ſhut up in the Ark; when it is beyond all Controverſy, that the Stomachs of ſuch Animals are fitted for the Digeſtion of Fruits and Vegetables; that ſuch Food would be more ſalutary both for them and their Keepers, and would create a leſs Demand of Drink, throughout the Courſe of ſo long a Confinement; and yet there is not the leaſt Foundation from the Text to ſuppoſe, that any ſuch Proviſion was made for Creatures of ſuch an Appetite; but ſeveral Inſtances in Hiſtory do ſhew, that the moſt rapacious of them all may be brought to live upon other Diet than Fleſh. Thus Philoſtratus, in his Apollonius, L. 5. tells us of a Lion in Egypt, which, tho' it went into the Temple conſtantly, would neither lick the Blood of Sacrifices, nor eat any of the Fleſh, when it was cut in Pieces, but fed altogether on Bread and Sweet-meats. And Sulpicius Severus gives us this Account of a Monk of Thebais: 'When we came to the Tree, whither our 'courteous Hoſt led us, we there perceiv'd a Lion, at 'the Sight of which, I and my Guide began to trem-'ble; but as the holy Man went directly up to it, wo, 'tho' in no ſmall Fright, follow'd after. The Beaſt, 'at our Approach, modeſtly retired, and ſtood very 'quiet and ſtill, while the good Man gather'd it ſome 'Branches of Apples, and as he held them out, the 'Lion came up and eat them, and ſo went off.' The like Story is told us by Phocas, in his Deſcription of the Holy Land, of ſome Lions beyond the River Jordan, whom an Anchorite, nam'd Iberus, fed with Pulſe and Cruſts of Bread: And to the Animals in the Ark, feeding in this Manner, the Prophet Iſaiah ſpeaking of the Times of the Meſſiah, (Ch. xi. 6, 7.) is ſuppos'd by our Author to allude. The Wolf ſhall dwell with the Lamb, and the Leopard lie down with the Kid, and the Calf, and the young Lion, and the Fatling together; and a little Child ſhall lead them; and the Cow and the Bear ſhall feed, their young ones ſhall lie down together, and the Lion ſhall eat Straw like an Ox.

So that there was no Neceſſity for Noah's providing ſo many ſupernumerary Sheep (as ſome would have it) to feed the carnivorous Animals for a whole Year. The ſame Divine Providence, which directed all the Animals, of whatever Country, to make towards the Ark, which took from them their Fierceneſs, and made them tame and gentle upon this Occaſion, might likewiſe beget in them a Loathing of Fleſh (ſuppoſing they eat it before) and an Appetite for Hay, Corn, Fruits, or any other Eatables, that were moſt obvious in this Time of Diſtreſs. And, as they were ſhut up, and cou'd not ſpend themſelves by Motion, but might have their Stomachs pall'd with the continu'd Agitation of the Veſſel, they may be well ſuppos'd to ſtand in need of leſs Proviſion, than at other Times.

If then (to make our Computation) we ſhould ſay, that all the Beaſts in the lower Story of the Ark, were equal, in their Conſumption of Food, to 300 Oxen (which is more by a great deal, than ſome Calculations allow'd) that 30 or 40 Pounds of Hay is ordinarily ſufficient for an Ox for one Day; and that a ſolid Cubit of Hay, well compreſs'd, will weigh about 40 Pounds; then will the ſecond Story, being of the ſame Dimenſions with the firſt, i. e. 225,000 ſolid Feet, not only allow Space for a ſufficient Quantity of Hay, but for other Repoſitories of ſuch Fruits, Roots, and Grain, as might be proper for the Nouriſhment of thoſe Animals that live not upon Hay; and for ſuch Paſſages, and Apertures in the Floor, as might be proper for the putting down Hay, and other Provender, to the Beaſts in the lower Story.

Upon the Whole therefore it appears, that the middle Story of the Ark was likewiſe large enough to hold all that was requiſite to put therein: And as for the third and upper Story, there can no Manner of Doubt be made, but that it was ſufficient to hold all the Species of Birds, even tho' they were many more than they are generally computed. The accurate Bp. Wilkins has divided them into nine Sorts, and reckons them to be an hundred and ninety five in the Whole; but then the greateſt Part of them are ſo very ſmall, that they might well enough be kept in Partitions or Cages, pil'd one upon another. The Food neceſſary for their Suſtenance, wou'd not take up any great Proportion of Room, and the Remainder of the Story wou'd make a commodious Habitation enough for Noah and his Family, together with little Cloſets and Offices, wherein to diſpoſe of their ſeveral domeſtick Matters and Utenſils.

1. Carnivorous Birds	66
2. Phytivorous Birds of ſhort Wings	17
3. Phytivorous Birds of long Wings	18
4. Phytivorous Birds of ſhort thick Bills	16
5. Inſectivorous Birds the greater	15
6. Inſectivorous Birds the leſs	12
7. Aquatick Birds near wet Places	17
8. Aquatick Fiſſipedes	16
9. Aquatick Plenipodes	18
In all	195

To theſe perhaps may be added ſome exotic Birds, but as the Number of theſe is but ſmall, ſo we may obſerve of the Carnivorous, which is the largeſt Species, that they were reputed unclean, and, conſequently, but two of each Sort admitted into the Ark.

How the Beaſts were brought into the Ark, and how they ſubſiſted there, in Want of Light and Air, is very well accounted for by Mr. Stackhouſe, in his Diſſertation upon this Chapter.

The Diſtinction between Beaſts that were clean and unclean, being made by the Law, has given ſome a Colour to imagine, that Moſes wrote this Book after his Coming out of Egypt, and receiving the Law: But to this it may be anſwer'd, that tho' with Reſpect to Man's Food the Diſtinction of clean and unclean was not before the Law, yet ſome were accounted fit for Sacrifices, and others unfit, from the very firſt Beginning; and then unclean Beaſts, in this Place, muſt denote ſuch as are rapacious, which were not to be offer'd to God. In ſhort, ſince the Rite of Sacrificing was before the Flood, we may be very well allow'd to ſuppoſe, that this Diſtinction was alſo before it; and to ſuppoſe farther, that, as the Rite was undoubtedly of God's Inſtitution, ſo the Difference of clean and unclean Creatures, to be ſacrificed, was of his Appointment likewiſe. But there is a farther Doubt ariſing from this Paſſage, and that is, Whether there went into the Ark but ſeven of every clean, and two of every unclean Species, or fourteen of the firſt, and two of the laſt. Some adhere to the former Expoſition, but others to the latter, which ſeems to be the natural Senſe of the Hebrew Words, ſeven and ſeven, and two and two. Beſides, if there were but ſeven of the clean Beaſts, one muſt have been without a Mate: And if it be ſuggeſted, that the odd one was for Sacrifice, it is more than Moſes tells us; who, on the contrary

repeats

With thee will I eſtabliſh my Covenant] These are the Words in our Tranſlation: But, 1*ſt*. by the Word Covenant, we are not here to underſtand, ſays Pool, a mutual Compact or Agreement, but only a ſimple and gracious Promiſe, as it is likewiſe us'd, Numb. xviii. 19. xxv. 12. and in ſeveral other Places; which Promiſe, tho' only mention'd here, was doubtleſs made before, as may eaſily be gather'd from both theſe Words, and ſome foregoing Paſſages, and from the Neceſſity, that Noah ſhould have ſome ſuch Support and Encouragement, during all the Time of his Miniſtry. 2*dly*. This Covenant of God might relate to his ſending the promis'd Seed, and Redemption of Mankind by the Meſſias; and, in this Senſe will import, that, as the Meſſias was to come out of Noah's Loins, ſo the Divine Providence would take Care to preſerve him alive. But, 3*dly*. Bp. Sherlock is of Opinion, that this Covenant of God relates to his re-inſtating the Earth in its primitive Fertility in Noah's Life-time: To which Purpoſe he obſerves, that, as ſoon as the Flood was over, God declares, I will not curſe again the Ground any more for Man's Sake: From which Declaration it appears, ſays he, 1*ſt*, That the Flood was the Effect of that Curſe, which was denounc'd againſt the Earth for Man's Sake; and, 2*dly*, That the old Curſe was fully executed, and accompliſh'd in the Flood; in Conſequence of which, a new Bleſſing is immediately pronounc'd upon the Earth, Gen. viii. 22. While the Earth remaineth, Seed-time, and Harveſt, and Cold, and Heat, and Summer, and Winter, and Day, and Night, ſhall not ceaſe.

CHAP. VII.

Noah with his Family, and the living Creatures, enter into the Ark. The Beginning, Increaſe, and Continuance of the Flood.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſaid unto Noah, Come thou, and all thy houſe into the ark: for thee have I ſeen righteous before me in this generation. 2 Of every clean beaſt thou ſhalt take to thee by ſevens, the male and his female: and of beaſts that are not clean by two, the male and his female. 3 Of fowls alſo of the air by ſevens, the male and the female, to keep ſeed alive upon the face of all the earth. 4 For yet ſeven days, and I will cauſe it to rain upon the earth forty days and forty nights: and every living ſubſtance that I have made, will I deſtroy from off the face of the earth. 5 And Noah did according unto all that the Lord commanded him. 6 And Noah was ſix hundred years old, when the flood of waters was upon the earth. 7 And Noah went in, and his ſons, and his wife, and his ſons wives with him, into the ark, becauſe of the waters of the flood. 8 Of clean beaſts, and of beaſts that are not clean, and of fowls, and of every thing that creepeth upon the earth, 9 There went in two and two unto Noah into the ark, the male and the female, as God had commanded Noah. 10 And it came to paſs after ſeven days, that the waters of the flood were upon the earth. 11 In the ſix hundreth year of Noahs life, in the ſecond month, the ſeventeenth day of the month, the ſame day were all the fountains of the great deep broken up, and the windows of heaven were opened. 12 And the rain was upon the earth forty days and forty nights. 13 In the ſelf-ſame day entred Noah, and Shem, and Ham, and Japheth, the ſons of Noah, and Noahs wife, and the three wives of his ſons with them, into the ark: 14 They, and every beaſt after his kind, and all the cattel after their kind, and every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth after his kind, and every fowl after his kind, every bird of every ſort. 15 And they went in unto Noah into the ark, two and two of all fleſh, wherein is the breath of life. 16 And they that went in, went in male and female of all fleſh, as God had commanded him: and the Lord ſhut him in. 17 And the flood was forty days upon the earth: and the waters increaſed, and bare up the ark, and it was lift up above the earth. 18 And the waters prevailed, and were increaſed greatly upon the earth, and the ark went upon the face of the waters. 19 And the waters prevailed exceedingly upon the earth; and all the high hills, that were under the whole heaven, were covered. 20 Fifteen cubits upwards did the waters prevail; and the mountains were covered. 21 And all fleſh died that moved upon the earth, both of fowl, and of cattel, and of beaſt, and of every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth, and every man. 22 All in whoſe noſtrils was the breath of life, of all that was in the dry land, died. 23 And every living ſubſtance was deſtroyed which was upon the face of the ground, both man, and cattel, and the creeping things, and the fowl of the heaven; and they were deſtroyed from the earth: and Noah only remained alive, and they that were with him in the ark. 24 And the waters prevailed upon the earth an hundred and fifty days.

In the ſix hundredth Year of Noah's Life, the ſecond Mouth] The Words in the Text are, In the ſecond Month, but, for the better underſtanding of this, ſays Pool, we muſt remember, that the Year among the Hebrews, was of two Kinds; the one eccleſiaſtical, which began in March, and chiefly recorded the Obſervation of their Faſts and Feſtivals, of which we read Exod. xii. 2. and the other civil, for the better regulating Mens political Affairs, which began in September. Accordingly the ſecond Month is thought by ſome to be Part of April, and Part of May, the moſt pleaſant Part of the Year, and when the Flood was leaſt expected, and leaſt fear'd; but, by others, Part of October, and Part of November, a little after that Noah had gather'd in the Fruits of the Earth, and laid them up in the Ark: So that the Flood came in with the Winter, and was by Degrees dried up in the following Summer. And this Opinion ſeems to be more probable, becauſe the moſt antient, and firſt Beginning of the Year was in September; and the other Beginning of the Year in March, was but a later Inſtitution among the Jews, with reſpect to their Feſtivals, and other ſacred Affairs, which are not at all concern'd here.

Fifteen Cubits upwards did the Waters prevail, and the Mountains were covered] The Author of Revelation examin'd, has enforc'd this Argument with a good deal of Life and Spirit: 'Whereas Moſes aſſures us, ſays he, 'that the Waters prevail'd fifteen Cubits above the higheſt 'Mountains, let the Mountains themſelves be appeal'd 'to for the Truth of this Aſſertion: Examine the 'higheſt Eminencies of the Earth, and they all, with 'one Accord, produce the Spoils of the Ocean, depoſited upon them on that Occaſion the Shells and Skeletons of Sea-fiſh, and Sea-Monſters of all Kinds. 'The Alps, the Apennine, the Pyrenees, the Audes, and 'Atlas, and Ararat, every Mountain of every Region 'under Heaven, from Japan to Mexico, all conſpire, 'in one uniform, univerſal Proof, that they all had 'the Sea ſpread over the higheſt Summits. Search the 'Earth, and you will find the Mouſe-deer, Natives of 'America, buried in Ireland; Elephants, Natives of 'Aſia and Africa, buried in the Midſt of England; Crocodiles, Natives of the Nile, in the Heart of Germany; 'Shell-fiſh, never known but in the American Seas, together with entire Skeletons of Whales, in divers

'other Countries; and, what is more, Trees and Plants 'of various Kinds, which are not known to grow in 'any Region under Heaven. All which are a perfect 'Demonstration, that Moses's Account of the Deluge 'is inconteſtably true.'

Authors have been mightily at a Loſs, where to find a Sufficiency of Waters to overflow the Earth to the Degree of making ſuch a prodigious Flood. Some have thought it the beſt and moſt compendious Way, to call in the Arm of Omnipotence at once, and to affirm, that God created Waters on Purpoſe to make the Deluge, and then annihilated them again, when the Deluge was to ceaſe. But our Buſineſs is not here to enquire what God could work by his Almighty Power; but to account for this Event, in the beſt Manner we can, from natural Cauſes. Moſes, it is plain, has aſcrib'd it to natural Cauſes, the continu'd Rains for forty Days, and the Diſruption of the great Abyſs; and the Manner of its gradual Increaſe and Decreaſe, wherein he has repreſented it, is far from agreeing with the inſtantaneous Actions of Creation and Annihilation.

Others, inſtead of a Creation, have ſuppoſed a Tranſmutation of Elements, viz. either a Condenſation of the Air, or a Rarefaction of the Waters; but neither of theſe Expedients will do: For, beſides that Air is a Body of a different Species, and (as far as we know) cannot, by any Compreſſion or Condenſation, be changed into Water, even upon the Suppoſition that all the Air in the Atmoſphere were in this Manner condens'd, it would not produce a Bed of Water, over all the Earth, above two and thirty Foot deep; becauſe it appears, by undoubted Experiments, that a Column of Air, from the Earth to the Top of the Atmoſphere, does not weigh more than 32 Feet of Water: Much leſs would the Expedient of Rarefaction anſwer the Purpoſe; becauſe, if we ſuppoſe the Waters but fifteen Times rarer than they naturally are (as we muſt certainly do to make them reach the Top of the higheſt Mountains) it will be difficult to conceive, how they could either drown Man or Beaſt, keep alive the Fiſh, or ſupport the Bulk of the Ark. The Truth is, Moſes, in his Account of the Deluge, ſays not one Word of the Tranſmutation of Elements; the forty Days Rain, and the Diſruption of the Abyſs, are the only Cauſes which he aſſigns, and theſe very likely will ſupply us with a ſufficient Quantity of Water, when other Devices fail.

Ray (a very ſagacious Naturaliſt) obſerving that, at certain Times, there are extraordinary Preſſures on the Surface of the Sea, which force the Waters outwards to the Shores to a great Height, does very reaſonably ſuppoſe, that the Divine Power might, at this Time, by the Inſtrumentality of ſome natural Agent, to us at preſent unknown, ſo depreſs the Surface of the Ocean, as to force up the Water of the Abyſs through certain Channels and Apertures, and ſo make them a partial, and concurrent Cauſe of the Deluge. It cannot be denied indeed, but that the Divine Providence might, at the Time of the Deluge, ſo order and diſpoſe ſecond Cauſes, as to make them raiſe, and impel the Water to an Height ſufficient to overflow the Earth; but then, becauſe there muſt be another Miracle required to ſuſpend the Waters upon the Land, and to hinder them from running off again into the Sea, our Author ſeems to give the Preference to another Hypotheſis, which, at the Time of the Deluge, ſuppoſes the Center of the Earth to have been chang'd, and ſet nearer to the Center or Middle of the Continent, whereupon the Atlantick and Pacifick Oceans, muſt needs preſs upon the ſubterraneous Abyſs, and ſo compel the Water to run out at thoſe wide Mouths and Apertures, which the Divine Power had made in breaking up the Fountains of the great Deep. Thus the Waters being pour'd out upon the Face of the Earth, and its Declivity chang'd by the Removal of the Center, they could not run down to the Sea again, but muſt neceſſarily ſtagnate upon the Earth, and overflow it, till upon its Return to its old Center, they in like Manner would retreat to their former Receptacles. But the Misfortune of this Hypotheſis is, that beſides the Multitude of Miracles required in it, it makes the Deluge topical, and confin'd to our Continent only, whereas, according to the Teſtimony of the Spirit in the Holy Scriptures, it was certainly univerſal.

Dr. Burnet is of Opinion, that the Deluge was occaſion'd by the Diſſolution of the primæval Earth. To have a perfect Idea of this Author's Scheme, we muſt remember, that he conceives the firſt Earth, from the Manner of its Formation, to have been extremely regular and uniform, of a ſmooth and eaſy Surface, without Mountains, and without a Sea; and that all the Waters, belonging to it, were enclos'd in an upper Cruſt, which form'd a ſtupendous Vault around them. This vaſt Collection of Waters he takes to have been the great Deep, or Abyſs of Moſes, and that the Diſruption of it was the chief Cauſe of the Deluge. For he ſuppoſes, that the Earth being for ſome hundreds of Years, expos'd to the continual Heat of the Sun, which, by Reaſon of the perpendicular Poſition, which, he imagines, the Earth's Axis then had to the Plane of the Ecliptic, was very intenſe, and not allay'd by the Diverſity of Seaſons, which now keep our Earth in an Equality of Temper; its exterior Cruſt was, at length, very much dried, and when the Heat had pierc'd the Shell, and reach'd the Waters beneath it, they began to be rarefied, and rais'd into Vapours, which Rarefaction made them require more Space than they needed before, and finding themſelves pent in by an exterior Earth, they preſs'd with Violence againſt the Arch to make it yield to their Dilatation: And as the repeated Action of the Sun gave Force to theſe enclos'd Vapours more and more, ſo, on the other Hand, it weaken'd more and more the Arch of the Earth, that was to reſiſt them, ſucking out the Moiſture that was the Cement of its Parts, and parching and chapping it in ſundry Places; ſo that, there being then no Winter to cloſe up its Parts, it, every Day, grew more and more diſpos'd to Diſſolution, till at length, when God's appointed Time was come, the whole Fabrick broke; the Frame of Earth was torn in Pieces, as by an Earthquake; and thoſe great Portions or Fragments, into which it was parted, fell down into the Abyſs, ſome in one Poſture, and ſome in another. Thus the Earth put on a new Form, and became divided into Sea and Land; the greateſt Part of the Abyſs conſtituting our preſent Ocean, and the reſt filling up the Cavities of the Earth. Mountains and Hills appear'd on the Land, Iſlands in the Sea, and Rocks upon the Shore; ſo that, at one Shock, Providence diſſolv'd the old World, and made a new one out of its Ruin.

Upon this Scheme Stackhouſe remarks, that, allowing the Poſition of the Earth to be what he imagines, yet it ſeems difficult to conceive, how the Heat of the Sun ſhould be ſo intenſe, as to cauſe great Cracks in it, and ſo raiſe the Waters in it into Vapours; or how the Waters, thus rarefied, ſhould be of Force ſufficient to break through an Arch of ſolid Matter, lying upon them ſome hundred Miles thick. 'Tis much more probable, that if the Action of the Sun was ſo ſtrong, the Abyſs (which the Theoriſt makes the only Storehouſe of Waters in the firſt Earth) would have been almoſt quite exhauſted before the Time of the Deluge; nor can we believe that this Account of Things is any way conſonant to the Moſaic Hiſtory, which he deſcribes a gradual Riſe and Abatement, a long Continuance of the Flood, and not ſuch a ſudden Shock and Convulſion of Nature, as the Theoriſt intends, in which, without the Divine Intervention, it was impoſſible for the Ark to be ſav'd.

Mr. Whiſton endeavours to ſolve the whole Matter, and ſupply a Sufficiency of Water from the Trajection of a Comet. For he ſuppoſes, 'That, in its Deſcent 'towards the Sun, it preſs'd very violently upon the 'Earth, and by that Means, both rais'd a great Tide 'in the Sea, and forc'd up a vaſt Quantity of ſubter- 'raneous Waters; that as it paſs'd by, it involv'd the 'Earth in its Atmoſphere for a conſiderable Time; and, 'as it went off, left a vaſt Tract of its Tail behind, 'which (together with the Waters, preſs'd from the 'Sea, and from the great Abyſs) was enough to cover

'the Face of the whole Earth, for the perpendicular 'Height of three Miles.' But (to pass by smaller Objections) that which seems to destroy his whole Hypothesis is this--- That it is far from being clear, whether the Atmosphere of a Comet be a watery Substance or not. The Observations of the most curious Enquirers make it very probable, that the Circle about the Body of a Comet is nothing but the curling or winding round of the Smoak, rising at first to a determinate Height, from all Parts of the Comet, and then making off to that Part of it which is opposite to the Sun; and if this Opinion be true, the Earth, by passing through the Atmosphere of a Comet, ran a greater Risque of a Conflagration than a Deluge.

Stackhouse having quoted the Opinions of several ingenious Theorists upon this Head, at last gives his own, and for that Purpose, turns to the sacred Records, and considers the two general Causes, assign'd therein, the opening the Windows of Heaven, and the breaking up the Fountains of the great Deep.

1. By the Opening the Windows of Heaven, must be understood the causing the Waters, which were suspended in the Clouds, to fall upon the Earth, not in ordinary Showers, but in Floods, or (as the Septuagint translate it) in Cataracts, which Travellers may have the truest Notion of, who have seen those prodigious Falls of Water, so frequent in the Indies, and where the Clouds many Times do not break into Drops, but fall, with a terrible Violence, in a Torrent.

How far these Treasures of Water in the Air might contribute to the general Inundation, we may, in some Measure conpute from what may be observ'd of a Thunder-cloud, which, in the Space of less than two Hours, has pour'd down such a vast Quantity of Water, as, besides what sunk into the dry and thirsty Ground, and fill'd all the Ditches and Ponds, has caus'd a considerable Flood in the Rivers, and set all the Meadows on float.

Now had this Cloud (which, for ought we know, mov'd forty Miles forward in its falling) stood still, and emptied all its Water upon the same Spot of Ground, what a sudden and incredible Deluge wou'd it have made in that Place? What then must we suppose the Event to have been, when the Flood-gates of Heaven were all open'd, and on every Part of the Globe, the Clouds were incessantly pouring out Water with such Violence, and such Abundance, for forty Days together?

It is impossible for us indeed, says Patrick, to have any adequate Conception of the Thing, tho' the vast Inundations which are made every Year in Egypt, only by the Rains which fall in Ethiopia, and the like annual Overflowings of the great River Oroonoque in America, whereby many Islands and Plains, at other Times inhabited, are laid twenty Feet under Water, between May and September, may give us a faint Emblem, and be of some Use to cure our Infidelity in this Respect.

2. The other Cause which the Scripture makes Mention of, is the Breaking up of the Fountains of the great Deep, whereby those Waters which were contain'd, in vast Quantities, in the Bowels of the Earth, were forc'd out, and thrown upon the Surface of it. That there is a mighty Collection of Waters enclos'd in the Bowels of the Earth, which constitutes a large Globe, in the interior or central Part of it; and that the Waters of this Globe communicate with those of the Ocean, by Means of certain Hiatus, or Apertures passing between it and the Ocean, is evident from the Caspian and other Seas, which receive into themselves great Rivers, and, having no visible Outlets, must be suppos'd to discharge the Water, they receive, by subterraneous Passages into this Receptacle, and, by its Intervention, into the Ocean again. The Mediterranean in particular, besides the many Rivers that run into it, has two great Currents of the Sea, one at the Streights of Gibraltar, and the other at the Propontis, which bring in such vast Tides of Water, that, many Ages ago, it must have endanger'd the whole World, had it not emptied itself by certain secret Passages, into some great Cavity underneath. And for this Reason, some have imagin'd, that the Earth altogether is one great Animal, whose Abyss supplies the Place of the Heart in the Body of the Earth, to furnish all its Aqueducts with a Sufficiency of Water, and whose subterraneous Passages are like Veins in the Body, which receive Water out of the Sea, as the Veins do Blood out of the Liver, and in a continu'd Circulation, return it to the Heart again.

However this be, 'tis certainly more than probable (because a Matter of Divine Revelation) that there is an immense Body enclos'd in the Center of the Earth, to which the Psalmist plainly alludes, when he tells us, that God founded the Earth upon the Seas, and established it upon the Floods, Ps. xxiv. 2. that he stretched out the Earth above the Waters, Ps. cxxxvi. 6. that he gathered up the Waters as in a Bag, (so the best Translations have it) and laid up the Deep as in a Storehouse, Ps. xxxiii. 7. Nay, there is a Passage or two in the Proverbs of Solomon (where Wisdom declares her Antiquity, and Pre-existence to all the Works of the Earth) which sets before our Eyes, as it were, the Form and Figure of this Abyss: When he prepared the Heavens, I was there, when he set a Compass upon the Face of the Deep, and strengthened the Fountains of the Abyss, Prov. viii. 27, 28. Here is Mention made of the Abyss, and of the Fountains of the Abyss; nor is there any Question to be made, but that the Fountains of the Abyss here, are the same with those which Moses mentions, and which, as he tells us, were broken up at the Deluge. And what is more observable in this Text, the Word, which we render Compass, properly signifies a Circle, or Circumference, or an Orb, or Sphere: So that according to the Testimony of Wisdom, who was then present, there was in the Beginning, a Sphere, Orb, or Arch, set round the Abyss, by the Means of which, the Fountains thereof were strengthened; for we cannot conceive, how they could have been strengthened any other Way, than by having a strong Cover, or Arch made over them.

If such then be the Form of this Abyss, that it seems to be a vast Mass, or Body of Water, lying together in the Womb of the Earth, it will be no hard Matter to compute what a plentiful Supply might have been expected from thence, in order to effect an universal Deluge. For if, as Patrick observes, the Circumference of the Earth (even according to the lowest Computation) be 21,000 Miles, the Diameter of it (according to that Circumference) 7000 Miles; and consequently from the Superficies to the Center, 3500 Miles; and if (according to the best Account) the highest Mountain in the World (taking its Altitude from the Plain it stands upon) does not exceed four perpendicular Miles in Height; then we cannot but conclude, that in this Abyss, there would be infinitely more Water than enough, when drawn out of the Surface of the Earth, to drown the Earth to a far greater Height than Moses relates. In a Word, since it is agreed on all Hands, that, in the Time of the Chaos, the Waters did cover the Earth, insomuch that nothing of it could be seen, till God was pleas'd to make a Separation. Why should it be thought so strange a Thing, that, upon a proper Occasion, they should be able to cover the Earth again; especially when the Waters above the Firmament came down to join those below, as they did at the Beginning?

Seneca has these remarkable Words: There are vast Lakes which we do not see, much of the Sea which lies hidden and concealed, and many Rivers which glide in Secret; so that there may be Causes of a Deluge on all Sides, when some Waters flow under the Earth, others flow round about it, and being long pent up, may overwhelm it. And, as our Bodies sometimes dissolve into Sweat, so the Earth shall melt, and, without the Help of other Causes, shall find in itself what shall drown it.--- There being in all Places, both openly and secretly, both from above, and from beneath, an Eruption of Waters ready to overflow and destroy it.

But whatever Solutions we may gather, either from sacred or prophane Authors, it seems necessary, after all, (as Stackhouse concludes) to call in the Divine Power

Power to our Assistance. For, tho' the Waters, which cover'd the Earth at the Creation, might be sufficient to cover it again; yet, how this could be effected by mere natural Means, cannot be conceiv'd. Tho' the Waters, suspended in the Clouds, might fall in great Torrents for some Time; yet, when once their Store was exhausted (as at this Rate it could not last long) nothing, but an Almighty Voice, could have commanded a fresh Supply of forty Days Continuance from those other planetary Spaces, where he had setled their Abode: And tho' the subterraneous Stores did certainly contain a Fund sufficient to complete the Deluge, yet there wanted, on this Occasion, an Almighty Hand, either to break down the Arch, which enclos'd the Abyss; or, by some secret Passages, to force the Waters out of it upon the Surface of the Earth; and so, stopping the Reflux, suspend them for such a determinate Time, at such an Elevation. There needed some Almighty Hand, I say, to do this: And, accordingly we may observe, that, tho' Moses makes Mention of two natural Causes, that might be conducive to the Work, yet he introduces God, as superintending these Causes, and assuming indeed the whole Performance to himself: For, behold I, even I, do bring a Flood of Waters upon the Earth, to destroy all Flesh, wherein is the Breath of Life, from under Heaven, and every Thing that is on the Earth shall die.

CHAP. VIII.

The Waters abate, and the Ark rests on Mount Ararat. Noah sends out the Raven and Dove for Intelligence, and at length goes out himself with all his Family. He builds an Altar, and offers Sacrifices; God is appeased, and promises to curse the Earth no more.

Ver. 1. AND God remembred Noah, and every living thing, and all the cattel that was with him in the ark: and God made a wind to pass over the earth, and the waters asswaged. 2 The fountains also of the deep, and the windows of heaven were stopped, and the rain from heaven was restrained. 3 And the waters returned from off the earth continually: and after the end of the hundred and fifty days the waters were abated. 4 And the ark rested in the seventh month, on the seventeenth day of the month, upon the mountains of Ararat. 5 And the waters decreased continually until the tenth month: in the tenth month, on the first day of the month, were the tops of the mountains seen.

And God remembred Noah, and every living Thing, and all the Cattle that was with him in the Ark] This Expression is according to that Figure which we have before explained; God is said to remember, when his Providence acts in such a Manner as a Man would do from his Remembrance of particular Persons or Things; as is obvious from the present Case, where this Expression is applied to the Almighty, from his making a proper Provision for Noah and his Family, who, at his Command, had shut themselves in the Ark; and may reasonably be supposed to have dwelt with much Sorrow therein, considering they were surrounded with Water, and that all their Friends and Relations were destroyed.

And God made a Wind to pass over the Earth] Such an one, perhaps, as that by which the Red-Sea was driven back, that the Israelites might pass through it with Safety, Exod. xvi. 21. There indeed is said to have been a strong East Wind; but most of the Commentators on this Passage incline to think, that the Wind, here spoken of, was a North-Wind.

And the Ark rested --- upon the Mountains of Ararat] Sir Walter Raleigh, and from him some later Writers are of Opinion, that the Mountains of Ararat were those of Caucasus, towards Bactria and Soga Scythia. This, as they imagine, agrees with the general Notion, that the Scythians might contend for the Antiquity of their Original, with any other Nation; with the Chaldean Tradition, concerning the Actions of their great Man Xisuthrus, who is commonly suppos'd to be the same with Noah; with the Language, Learning, and History of the Chinese, who are thought to be Noah's immediate Descendants; and with the Journey, which some of his other Descendants are said to have took, viz. from the East to the Land of Shinar, Gen. xi. 2. A modern Chronologer has endeavour'd to prove, that the Place, where Noah built the Ark, was call'd Gyparisson, not far from the River Tigris, and on the North East Side of the City of Babylon; that, while the Flood continued, it sail'd from thence to the North East, as far as the Caspian Sea, and when the Flood abated, the North Wind brought it back by a Southern Course, and landed it upon Mount Caucasus, East of Babylon, and about nine Degrees distant from it in Longitude; and that this Opinion, as he imagines, is more agreeable to the Course, which the Ark, by meeting with contrary Currents, wou'd be forc'd to make; to the Sense of Scripture, in bringing the Sons of Noah from the East, and in setling the Children of Shem (who went not to Shinar) in the Place, and to this great Conveniency of Noah's landing not too far from the Country, where he liv'd before the Flood, that thereby he might be capable of giving Directions to his Family, how to disperse themselves and to replenish the new World as Occasion did require. But, besides that there appears little or no Authority for all this, the Observation of Travellers into those Countries may make it be question'd whether such a Vessel, as the Ark is represented, drawing much Water, and very unfit for sailing, cou'd be able to reach Mount Caucasus from the Province of Eden (where it is generally thought to have been built) in the Space of the Flood's Increase, which was no more than an hundred and fifty Days. The most probable Opinion therefore is, that, by the Word Ararat, the Holy Scriptures denote that Country, which the Greeks, and from them other Western Nations, do call Armenia. In this Sense it is taken by the Septuagint, by the Chaldee Paraphrase, by the Vulgat, by Theodoret, and by divers others. The learned Bochart has brought together a Multitude of Arguments, all tending to the same Conclusion.

6 And it came to pass at the end of forty days, that Noah opened the window of the ark which he had made: 7 And he sent forth a raven, which went forth to and fro, until the waters were dried up from off the earth. 8 Also he sent forth a dove from him, to see if the waters are abated from off the face of the ground. 9 But the dove found no rest for the sole of her foot, and she returned unto him into the ark: for the waters were on the face of the whole earth. Then he put forth his hand and took her, and pulled her in unto him into the ark. 10 And he stayed yet other seven days, and again he sent forth the dove out of the ark. 11 And the dove came in to him in the evening, and lo, in her mouth was an olive-leaf pluckt off: So Noah knew that the waters were abated from off the earth. 12 And he stayed yet other seven days, and sent forth the dove; which returned not again unto him any more.

Noah opened the Window of the Ark] It is very observable that the Words, which we render Window, Ch. vi. 16. and viii. 6. of Genesis, are far from being the same: In the former Place, the Word is Zohar; in the latter 'tis Hhalon, which signifies indeed an oval Hole, or Window, in any Building, but here is a Window of a peculiar Denomination. That it was customary cuſtomary among the Jews to have a Room, in the upper Part of their Houſes, ſet apart for divine Worſhip, in Hebrew call'd Beth-Alijah, or ſimply Alijah, in Greek, Huperoon, and in Latin, Oraterium; and that, in this Place of Prayer, there was always an Hhalon, an Hole, or Window, which pointed to the Kibla, or Place whereunto they directed their Worſhip, is evident from ſeveral Paſſages in Scripture. Among the Jewiſh Conſtitutions in the Code call'd Beracoth, there is a certain Canon grounded upon this Cuſtom, viz. That no Man ſhall pray, but in a Room where there is an Hhalon opening towards the Holy City. And of Daniel it is perfectly related, that when he knew that the Decree for his Deſtruction was ſign'd, he went into the Houſe, and his Hhalon, his Window, being open in his Chamber towards Jeruſalem, he kneel'd upon his Knees three Times a day, as he did aforetime, Dan. vi. 10. for that this was not a common Window, but one dedicated to religious Worſhip, is plain from the People's diſcerning, by its being open, that he was at Prayers. Nor is it improbable, that this Window might have ſome viſible Sign, either of the Name of God, or of the Holy City, or of the Sanctuary; or the like, inſcrib'd on it; becauſe it is a conſtant Tradition, that theſe Oratories, or Rooms for Prayers, were always ſo made, as to have their Angles anſwer to ſuch certain Points of the Heaven, and to have the Mark of Adoration ſo evidently diſtinguiſh'd, that none might miſtake it, if they caſt but their Eye upon the Wall. Now as the Practice among the Jews of worſhipping in the upper Rooms, with their Faces towards a Hole, or Window in the Wall, was never introduc'd by any poſitive Law, and yet univerſally prevail'd, 'tis reaſonable to believe, that at firſt, it was deriv'd from Noah, and that the Windows, in their Oratories, were made in Imitation of this Hhalon, or Point of Adoration, in the Ark. See Biblioth. Bibl. Vol. II.

And he ſent forth a Raven] The Rabbins have framed a Dialogue, which, as they would have us believe, paſſed between Noah and the Raven on this Occaſion. The Bird it ſeems was inquiſitive to know, Why he was pitched on for this Purpoſe? To which Noah replied, That ſince Ravens were neither good for Food nor Sacrifice, the World might well enough be without them.

Which went forth to and fro, till the Waters were dried up] That is, continued to flutter up and down about the Ark, till the Waters were dried off the Earth. This ſeems to be the true Senſe of this Paſſage: For the Hebrew does not import, that the Raven never returned back again to the Ark, but only, that it did not again go in to Noah. Notwithſtanding the Vulgat has it, egrediebatur, & non revertebatur. Junius and Tremellius renders it, indeſinenter ibat & redibat, i. e. was continually coming and going: And the beſt Commentators agree in this Opinion.

Alſo he ſent forth a Dove] This Circumſtance agrees with what is cited from Abydenus, by Euſebius and Cyril. Plutarch alſo ſays, that the Mythologiſts aver, that a Dove was ſent out of the Ark by Deucalion, and that her Stay informed him of the Serenity of the Weather abroad, and her Return of its being foul and tempeſtuous.

And the Dove came in to him in the Evening, and lo in her Mouth was an Olive Leaf pluck'd off] Some captious Perſons have ridiculed this Paſſage of the Dove's returning with an Olive Leaf in her Bill, as if it were inconſiſtent with the other Circumſtances of the Deluge, and have enquired, How the Leaves came to be preſerved under Water? To this it may be anſwered, in the firſt Place, That the Word tranſlated Leaf, ſignifies a tender Shoot alſo; and, Secondly, that Naturaliſts agree, that Olive-Trees live and thrive under Water; ſo that this Objection ſprings from the ſame Cauſe with many others, viz. Want of Knowledge and Conſideration.

13 And it came to paſs in the ſix hundreth and firſt year, in the firſt month, the firſt day of the month, the waters were dried up from off the earth: and Noah removed the covering of the ark, and looked, and behold, the face of the ground was dry. 14 And in the ſecond month, on the ſeven and twentieth day of the month, was the earth dried. 15 And God ſpake unto Noah, ſaying, 16 Go forth of the ark, thou, and thy wife, and thy ſons, and thy ſons wives with thee. 17 Bring forth with thee every living thing that is with thee, of all fleſh, both of fowl, and of cattle, and of every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth; that they may breed abundantly in the earth, and be fruitful, and multiply upon the earth. 18 And Noah went forth, and his ſons, and his wife, and his ſons wives with him. 19 Every beaſt, every creeping thing, and every fowl, and whatſoever creepeth upon the earth, after their kinds, went forth out of the ark. 20 And Noah builded an altar unto the Lord, and took of every clean beaſt, and of every clean fowl, and offered burnt-offerings on the altar. 21 And the Lord ſmelled a ſweet ſavour, and the Lord ſaid in his heart, I will not again curſe the ground any more for mans ſake; for the imagination of mans heart is evil from his youth: neither will I again ſmite any more every thing living, as I have done. 22 While the earth remaineth, ſeed-time and harveſt, and cold and heat, and ſummer and winter, and day and night ſhall not ceaſe.

And Noah went forth, and his Sons and his Wife, and his Sons Wives with him] Mr. Baſnage (in his Antiq. Judaiq. Tom. ii. P. 399) has given us the Kalendar of this melancholy Year of Noah's Confinement.

The Year of the World's Creation, 1656.

Month

I. September. Methuſelah, died at the Age of 969 Years.
II. October. Noah and his Family enter'd the Ark.
III. November the 17th, the Foundations of the Great Deep were broken open.
IV. December the 16th, the Rain began, and continued 40 Days and 40 Nights.
V. January. All the Men and Beaſts, that were upon the Earth were buried under the Waters.
VI. February. The Rain continued.
VII. March. The Waters remain'd in their Elevation, till the 27th, when they began to abate.
VIII. April the 17th, the Ark reſted on Mount Ararat.
IX. May. They did nothing while the Waters were retreating.
X. June the 1ſt, the Tops of the Mountains appear'd.
XI. July the 11th, Noah let go a Raven, which (as Baſnage thinks) return'd to him no more.
The 16th, he let go a Dove, which return'd.
The 25th, he let go the Dove again, which return'd with an Olive-branch.
XII. Auguſt the 2d, the Dove went out the third Time, and return'd no more.
I. September the 1ſt. The dry Land appear'd.
II. October the 27th. Noah went out of the Ark with his Family. During this long Continuance in the Ark, the Form of Prayer, which ſome Oriental Writers make Noah to have offered unto God, runs in this Manner: 'O Lord, thou art truly great, and 'there is nothing ſo great, as that it can be compar'd 'to Thee; look upon us with an Eye of Mercy, and 'deliver us from the Deluge of Waters, I intreat this 'of Thee for the Love of Adam, thy firſt Man; for the 'Love of Abel, thy Saint; for the Righteouſneſs of 'Seth, whom thou haſt loved. Let us not be reckon'd 'in the Number of thoſe, who have diſobey'd thy 'Commandments; but ſtill extend thy merciful Care 'to us, becauſe thou has hitherto been our Deliverer, 'and all thy Creatures ſhall declare thy Praiſe, Amen.' See Calmet's Dict. on the Words Deluge and Noah.

And offered Burnt-offerings on the Altar] Joſephus tells us, that Noah, in a Perſuaſion that God had doom'd Mankind to Deſtruction, lay under a mortal Dread for fear of the ſame Deſtruction over again, and that it wou'd end in an Anniverſary Inundation; ſo that he preſented himſelf before the Lord with Sacrifices and Prayers, 'humbly beſeeching him, in Mercy, to 'preſerve the Order of the World in its Frame; to 'puniſh the Guilty, and ſpare the Lives of the Inno-'cent; and not to proceed with Rigour, for the 'Wickedneſs of ſome Particulars, to the Deſtruction of 'the Whole; otherwiſe, the Survivors of this Calamity 'wou'd be more wretched than thoſe that were waſh'd 'away in the common Ruin, if, after having ſuffer'd 'Horror of Thought, and the Terror of ſo diſmal a 'Spectacle, they ſhou'd only be deliver'd from one 'Calamity, to be conſum'd by another.' But that this ſhou'd be the Purport of his Prayer is not very likely, becauſe we find no ſuch Indications of Terror in Noah, who knew the great and criminal Cauſes of the Deluge to be ſuch as cou'd not happen every Year, and who, having found Favour in the Eyes of God, and a miraculous Preſervation from a general Deſtruction, can hardly be ſuppos'd to have caſt away his Confidence in him ſo ſoon, and, inſtead thereof, to be poſſeſs'd with an abject and ſervile Fear: And therefore we may conclude, that the Nature of his Prayer and Sacrifice were euchariſtical, and not deprecatory. See Heideggers's Hiſt. Patriarch.

And the Lord ſmelled a ſweet Savour] What, in our Tranſlation, is render'd agreeable both to the Septuagint and Vulgat, a ſweet Savour, is by others more literally tranſlated a Savour of Reſt, by which, as the beſt Commentators agree, we are to underſtand, that God received this Sacrifice of Noah as an Expiation, and beheld him with an Eye of Mercy and Forgiveneſs. Some are of Opinion, that the particular Cauſe of Noah's offering this Burnt-ſacrifice was from his Apprehenſion, that even the ſmall Remnant of the old World, which had been preſerved in the Ark, might be ſwept away by another general Devaſtation. And conformable to this Notion, our Readers may find the Subſtance of Noah's Prayer in the firſt Book of Joſephus's Antiquities (ſee the foregoing Note.) Whether the Conjecture be agreeable to Truth or not, is impoſſible now to be determined; altho' from what follows in the ſame Verſe, it appears, that God promiſed this righteous Man, that he would not again curſe the Ground for the Offences of thoſe who dwelt thereon; eſpecially ſeeing the Inclinations of Mens Hearts tend unto evil; wherefore of ſuch Puniſhments there would be no End.

I will not again curſe the Ground any more for Man's ſake, for the Imagination of Man's Heart is evil] This is certainly very injuriouſly render'd, becauſe it makes the ſacred Author ſpeak quite contrary to what he deſign'd, and is an Affront to the Juſtice, Wiſdom, and Goodneſs of God, who, by this Tranſlation of for, inſtead of tho', might ſeem to bleſs Man for his evil Imaginations. See Eſſay for a new Tranſlation.

While the Earth remaineth, Seed Time, and Harveſt, and Cold, and Heat, and Summer, and Winter, and Day, and Night, ſhall not ceaſe] All the Verſions do manifeſtly in this Place, confound the four Seaſons of the Year, which Moſes exactly diſtinguiſhes. For the Hebrew Word Kor, which they render Cold, ſignifies the Winter, becauſe of the Cold that then reigns. The Word Chom, which they render Heat, ſignifies the Spring, becauſe of the Heat, which abounds in Judea about the End of the Spring, in the Months of May and June, which are the Harveſt-time in that Country. The Word Kajts, which they render Summer, does indeed ſignify ſo; but the Word Coroph, which they term the Winter, ſhou'd be render'd Autumn, which is the Time of plowing, aud cultivating the Ground, as may be ſeen Prov. xx. 4. So that the whole Sentence, which contains the Promiſe of God, if render'd juſtly, ſhould run thus,--- While the Earth remaineth, Seed-time and Harveſt, Winter and Spring, Summer and Autumn, Day and Night, ſhall not ceaſe. See Eſſay for a new Tranſlation. We cannot but obſerve however, that this Viciſſitude of Times and Seaſons, which is here promis'd as a Bleſſing to Mankind, is a full Comfutation of the Dreams of ſuch Writers, as are apt to fancy, 'That in the primordial Earth there 'was a perpetual Spring and Equinox; that all the Parts 'of the Year had one and the ſame Tenor, Face, and 'Temper; and that there was no Winter or Summer, 'Seed-time or Harveſt, but a continual Temperature of 'the Air, and Verdure of the Earth;' which, if it were true, wou'd make this Promiſe of God a Puniſhment, rather than a Bleſſing to Mankind. See Burnet's Theory, and Heidegger's Hiſt. Patr.

CHAP. IX.

God bleſſes Noah and his Sons; his Precept concerning Blood; his Covenant, ſignified by the Rainbow. By Noah's Family the World is repleniſhed; he plants a Vineyard, is drunken, and his Nakedneſs diſcover'd by his Son; he curſes Canaan, bleſſes Shem, prays for Japhet, and then dies.

Ver. 1. AND God bleſſed Noah, and his ſons, and ſaid unto them, Be fruitful and multiply, and repleniſh the earth. 2 And the fear of you and the dread of you ſhall be upon every beaſt of the earth, and upon every fowl of the air, upon all that moveth upon the earth, and upon all the fiſhes of the ſea; into your hand are they delivered. 3 Every moving thing that liveth ſhall be meat for you; even as the green herb have I given you all things: 4 But fleſh with the life thereof, which is the blood thereof, ſhall you not eat. 5 And ſurely your blood of your lives will I require: at the hand of every beaſt will I require it; and at the hand of man, at the hand of every mans brother will I require the life of man. 6 Whoſo ſheddeth mans blood, by man ſhall his blood be ſhed: for in the image of God made he man. 7 And you, be ye fruitful, and multiply, bring forth abundantly in the earth, and multiply therein. 8 And God ſpake unto Noah, and to his ſons with him, ſaying, 9 And I, behold, I eſtabliſh my covenant with you, and with your ſeed after you; 10 And with every living creature that is with you, of the fowl, of the cattel, and of every beaſt of the earth with you, from all that go out of the ark, to every beaſt of the earth. 11 And I will eſtabliſh my covenant with you, neither ſhall all fleſh be cut off any more by the waters of a flood: neither ſhall there any more be a flood to deſtroy the earth. 12 And God ſaid, This is the token of the covenant which I make between me, and you, and every living creature that is with you, for perpetual generations: 13 I do ſet my bow in the cloud, and it ſhall be for a token of the covenant between me and the earth. 14 And it ſhall come to paſs, when I bring a cloud over the earth, that the bow ſhall be ſeen in the cloud: 15 And I will remember my covenant, which is between me, and you, and every living creature of all fleſh; and the water ſhall no more become a flood to deſtroy all fleſh. 16 And the bow ſhall be in the cloud; and I will look upon it, that I may remember the everlaſting covenant between God and every living creature of all fleſh that is upon the earth. 17 And God ſaid unto Noah, This is the token of the covenant, which I have eſtabliſhed between me and all fleſh that is upon the earth.

And

And God bleſſed Noah and his Sons, and ſaid unto them, be fruitful, and multiply, and repleniſh the Earth. And the Fear of you, &c.] A learned and right reverend Author, to ſhew the Renovation of the Earth after the Deluge, and its Deliverance from the Curſe inflicted upon it by Reaſon of Adam's Tranſgreſſion, runs the Parallel between the Bleſſings and Privileges, granted to Adam ſoon after his Creation, and thoſe reſtored to Noah and his Poſterity, ſoon after the Flood. To our firſt Parents it is ſaid, Have Dominion over the Fiſh of the Sea, and over the Fowl of the Air, and over every living Thing, that moveth on the Earth, Gen. i. 28. To Noah and his Sons it is ſaid, The Fear of you, and the Dread of you ſhall be upon every Beaſt of the Earth, and upon every Fowl of the Air, and upon all that moveth upon the Earth, and upon all the Fiſhes of the Sea, into your Hand are they delivered, Gen. ix. 2. To Adam and Eve are granted for Food every Herb, bearing Seed---and every Tree, in the which is the Fruit of the Tree, yielding Seed, Gen. i. 29. But Noah and his Sons have a larger Charter,---Every Thing that liveth, ſhall be Meat to you, even as the green Herb, have I given you all Things, Gen. ix. 3. The Bleſſing upon the Earth, at the Creation was,---Let the Earth bring forth Graſs, and Herb yielding Seed, and the Fruit-tree yielding Fruit after his Kind, Gen. i. 11. The Bleſſing after the Flood is,---While the Earth remaineth, Seed-time and Harveſt, ſhall not ceaſe, Gen. viii. 22. In the Beginning, the Lights in the Firmament were appointed to divide the Day from the Night, and to be for Seaſons, and for Days, and for Years, Gen. i. 14. After the Flood, the new Bleſſing is, ---That Spring and Autumn, Summer and Winter, and Day and Night, ſhall not ceaſe, Gen. viii. 22. Whereupon our Author aſks, What is beſtow'd in the firſt Bleſſings, that is wanted in the ſecond? What more did Adam enjoy in his happieſt Days? What more did he forfeit in his worſt, with reſpect to this Life, than that which is contained in theſe Bleſſings? If he neither had more, nor loſt more, all theſe Bleſſings you ſee expreſly reſtored to Noah and his Poſterity: And, from all this laid together, he concludes, that the old Curſe upon the Ground was, after the Deluge, finiſh'd and compleated. See Uſe and Intent of Prophecy, P. 91.

But Fleſh with the Life thereof, which is the Blood thereof, ſhall ye not eat] This the Hebrew Doctors generally underſtand to be a Prohibition to cut off any Limb of any living Creature, and to eat it, while the Life, i. e. the Blood, was in it; dum adhuc vivit, & palpitat, ſeu tremit, as a modern Interpreter has truly explain'd their Senſe. And in this they are follow'd by ſeveral Chriſtians, who think (as Maimonides did) that there were ſome People, in the old World, ſo ſavage and barbarous, that they did eat raw Fleſh, while it was yet warm from the Beaſt, out of whoſe Body it was cut piece-meal. Plutarch tells us, that it was cuſtomary in his Time, to run red hot Spits thro' the Bellies of ſome Swine, to make their Fleſh more delicious; and I believe ſome among us, have heard of whipping Pigs, and torturing other Creatures to Death, for the ſame Purpoſe. Now theſe Things could not be committed, if ſuch Men thought themſelves bound in Conſcience to abſtain from all unneceſſary Cruelties to the Creatures, and to bleed them to Death, with all the Diſpatch they could, before they touch'd them for Food. See Patrick's Com. and Revel. exam. Vol. II. P. 20.

At the Hand of every Beaſt will I require it] If it here ſhould be aſk'd, ſays Patrick, How any Beaſt that is neither capable of any Virtue or Vice, can be deem'd culpable, in Caſe it ſhould chance to kill any Man? The Anſwer is, That this Law was ordain'd for the Benefit of Men, for whoſe Uſe all Beaſts were created. For, 1*ſt*, ſuch Owners, as were not careful to prevent ſuch Miſchiefs, were hereby puniſh'd. 2*dly*, Others were admoniſh'd by their Example to be cautious. 3*dly*, God thereby inſtructed them, that Murder was a moſt grievous Crime, whoſe Puniſhment extended even to Beaſts; and, 4*thly*, The Lives of Men were hereby much ſecured, when ſuch Beaſts, as might do the like Miſchief another Time, were immediately diſpatch'd, and taken out of the Way.

Whoſo ſheddeth Man's Blood, by Man ſhall his Blood be ſhed] By this Command the Hebrew Doctors underſtand, that a Power was committed to thoſe in Authority to put ſuch to Death as ſhould commit Murder; from whence, by a Parity of Reaſon, other Crimes of as heinous a Nature have been capitally puniſhed. From the Words following thoſe cited in the Text, viz. For in the Image of God made he Man, Maimonides was led to believe, that Murder was a Crime which could not lawfully be pardoned by Man; becauſe over and above the other Evils wrought thereby, the Image, or Likeneſs of God was deſtroyed, for which no Atonement could be made.

Theſe two Precepts, the one of not eating Blood, and the other, againſt ſhedding that of Man, with the Power given to the reſt of the human Species, for their own Preſervation, to put to Death him who ſhould offend againſt this Law, make up the Whole of what, according to Moſes, was enjoined by God, as a particular Rule to this Patriarch. Altho' the Rabbins, and thoſe who have followed them, ſpeak generally of the ſeven Precepts given to Noah, as an Opinion prevailing ſo univerſally among the Hebrews, that they would not ſuffer any Stranger to dwell among them, who did not acknowledge the Authority of them, nor would afford Quarter to any ſuch, when they had overcome them in Battle.

The firſt of the ſeven Precepts, ſaid to be given to Noah, was, to abſtain from Idolatry, which ſeems to have been taken from a Paſſage in the Book of Job, wherein that holy Man purges himſelf from this Sin. If I beheld, ſays he, the Sun when it ſhined, or the Moon walking in Brightneſs, and my Heart hath been ſecretly enticed, or my Mouth hath kiſſed my Hand: This alſo were an Iniquity to be puniſhed by the Judge; for I ſhould have denied the God that is above, Job xxxi. 26, &c. The Second was againſt Blaſphemy, which ſeems to have been derived from the former, in as much as blaſpheming the Name of God is an Offence, the Guilt of which approaches near unto Idolatry. The Third was againſt Murder or ſhedding Blood. The Fourth againſt Adultery, or rather againſt all Uncleanneſs. Something in relation to this is alſo found in the before-mentioned Chapter of Job, where he ſays, If mine Heart hath been deceived by a Woman, or if I have laid wait at my Neighbour's Door, &c. Ver. 9, &c. The Fifth was againſt Theft, or rather againſt all Manner of Rapine, Fraud, and Injuſtice: Concerning the ſeveral Kinds of ſuch Offences, a very emphatic Deſcription is made in the xxivth Chapter of Job. The Sixth and Seventh related to the eating the Blood with the Fleſh of Animals, of which we have ſpoken before. Tho' it muſt be acknowledged, that theſe are very eſſential Heads of the Law of Nature, yet, as the ſeven Precepts given to Noah, they are of little Authority; for notwithſtanding they are generally received by the modern Jews, yet they were certainly unknown to Joſephus or Philo, and even to Jerome, Origen, or others of the Antients; none of whom make any Mention of them. Maimonides ſays, that the ſix firſt Precepts were given to Adam, and the ſeventh to Noah. Other Rabbins have added, to what we have before mentioned, ſeveral Prohibitions in relation to drawing out the Blood of any Creature to drink, to maim Animals, to uſe any Kind of Sorcery, to couple Animals, or graft Trees with different Kinds.

I do ſet my Bow in the Cloud, and it ſhall be for a Token of a Covenant between me and the Earth] The learned Heidegger, has given an Account of the Nature and Colours of the Rainbow, and by what Cauſes they are produced, in Words very expreſſive; and yet we muſt own, that the Nature of Refraction, on which the Colours of the Rainbow do depend, is one of the abſtruſeſt Things that we meet with in the Philoſophy of Nature. Our renowned Boyle, who wrote a Treatiſe on the Subject of Colours, after a long and indefatigable Search into their Natures and Properties, was not able ſo much as to ſatisfy himſelf what Light is, or (if it be a Body) what Kind of Corpuſcles could be ſo differently, and yet withal ſo regularly refracted; and he freely acknowledges, that however ſome Colours might be plauſibly enough explain'd, in the general, from Experiments he had made, yet whenſoever he would deſcend to the minute and accurate Explication of Particulars, he found himſelf very ſenſible of the great Obſcurity of Things. Dr. Halley, the great Ornament of his Profeſſion, makes the ſame Acknowledgment; and, after having, from the given Proportion of Refraction, accounted both for the Colours and Diameter of the Rainbow, with its ſeveral Appearances, he could hence diſcern (as he tells us) farther Difficulties laying before him: Particularly, from whence aroſe the refractive Force of Fluids, which is a Problem of no ſmall Moment, and yet deſervedly to be plac'd among the Myſteries of Nature, nondum Senſibus, aut Ratiociniis noſtris objecta: And the noble Theoriſt of Light himſelf, after his many ſurprizing Diſcoveries, built even upon vulgar Experiments, found it too hard for him to reſolve himſelf in ſome Particulars about it; and, notwithſtanding all his prodigious Skill in Mathematicks, and his dexterous Management of the moſt obvious Experiments, he concludes it at laſt to be a Work too arduous for human Underſtanding, abſolutely to determine what Light is, after what Manner refracted, and by what Modes and Actions it produces in our Minds the Phantaſſes of Colours. See Biblioth. Bibl. Vol. II.

That this Rainbow was thought to be of ſomewhat more than mere natural Extraction, the phyſical Mythology of the antient Heathens ſeems to teſtify, and 'tis not improbable, that, from the Tenor of God's Covenant here, made with Noah, which might be communicated to them by Tradition, Homer, the great Father of Ethnick Poetry, does, by an eaſy and lively Fiction, bring in Jupiter, the King of Heaven, ſending Iris, his Meſſenger, with a peremptory Command to Neptune, the Prince of Waters, to deſiſt from any farther aſſiſting the Grecians, and annoying the Trojans; and, at the ſame Time that Iris is ſent with this Meſſage to the watery Deity, the Poet has ſo contriv'd the Matter, that Apollo, or the Sun, which is the Parent, and efficient Cauſe of the Rainbow, be ſent with another Meſſage to Hector, and the Trojans, in order to encourage them to take the Field again, and renew their Attack. The Meaning of all which fine Machinery is no more than this,---That, after a great deal of Rain, which had caus'd an Inundation, and thereby made the Trojan Horſe uſeleſs, the Sun began to appear again, and the Rainbow in a Cloud oppoſite to the Sun, which was a ſure Prognoſtick of fair Weather. See Biblioth. Bibl. Vol. I.

It has been a Queſtion much debated among the Learned, whether the Rainbow, the Sign and Sacrament of God's Covenant with Noah, was previous or ſubſequent to the Deluge? It cannot be denied, ſays Stackhouſe, but that this curious Mixture of Light and Shade, diſcernible in the Rainbow, ariſes naturally from the Superficies of thoſe Parts which conſtitute a Cloud, when the Rays of the Sun, from the adverſe Part of the Hemiſphere, are darted upon it; and, for this Reaſon, whenever there is the like Diſpoſition of the Sun to the Cloud, it may be imagin'd, that the ſame Phænomenon may be ſeen, and, conſequently, at certain Times, has been ſeen, not from the Deluge only, but from the firſt Foundation of the World. But as this Opinion has nothing in Scripture to enforce it, ſo there is no Grounds in Nature to give it any Sanction, unleſs we will aſſert this manifeſt Untruth,---That every Diſpoſition of the Air, and every Denſity of a Cloud is fitly qualify'd to produce a Rainbow.

This Meteor (as the Scripture informs us) was appointed by God to be a Witneſs of his Covenant with the new World, and a Meſſenger to ſecure Mankind from Deſtruction by Deluges; ſo that, had it appear'd before the Flood, the Sight of it afterwards would have been but a poor Comfort to Noah and his Poſterity, whoſe Fear of an Inundation was too violent, ever to be taken away by a common and ordinary Sign.

Dr. Burnet writes thus: When God, ſays he, gives a Sign, in the Heavens, or on the Earth, of any Prophecy or Promiſe to be fulfill'd, it muſt be by ſomething new, or by ſome Change wrought in Nature, whereby he teſtifies to us, that he is able and willing to ſtand to his Promiſe. Thus God puts the Matter to Ahaz, Aſk a Sign of the Lord, aſk it either in the Depth, or in the Height above: And when Ahaz would aſk no Sign, God gives him one unaſk'd; Behold a Virgin ſhall conceive, and bear a Son. That when Abraham aſk'd a Sign, whereby he might be aſſured of God's Promiſe, that his Seed ſhould inherit the Land of Canaan, 'tis ſaid, that when the Sun went down, and it was dark, behold a ſmoaking Furnace, and a burning Lamp paſs'd between the Pieces of the Beaſt, which he had cut aſunder, Gen. xv. 17. And in like Manner, in the Sign given to Hezekiah for his Recovery, and to Gideon for his Victory; in the former Caſe, the Shadow went back ten Dogrees in Ahaz's Dial, Iſa. xxxviii. 8. and, in the latter, the Fleece was wet, and all the Ground about it dry; and then (to change the Trial) it was dry, and all the Ground about it wet, Judg. vi. 38, 39. Theſe were all Signs, proper, ſignificant, and ſatisfactory, having ſomething new, ſurprizing, and extraordinary in them, denoting the Hand, and Interpoſition of God: But when every Thing continues to be as it was before, and the Face of Nature, in all its Parts, the very ſame, it cannot ſignify any Thing new, nor any new Intention of the Author of Nature; and, conſequently, cannot be a Sign or Pledge, a Token or Aſſurance, of the Accompliſhment of any new Covenant, or Promiſe made by him.

Common Philoſophy teaches us, ſays Patrick, that the Rainbow is a natural Sign, that there will not be much Rain after it appears, but that the Clouds begin to diſperſe. For, as it never appears in a thick Cloud, but only in a thin; whenever it appears, after Showers, which come from thick Clouds, it is a Token that they now grow thin; and therefore the God of Nature made Choice of this Sign, rather than any other, to ſatisfy us, that he would never ſuffer the Clouds to thicken again to ſuch a Degree, as to bring another Deluge upon the Earth.

The ingenious Marcus Marci is of Opinion, that the Rainbow, which firſt appeared to Noah after the Flood, and was ſo particularly dignified by God, as to be conſecrated for a Divine Sign, was not the common one, but a great and univerſal Iris, inimitable by Art, which he has defined by a Segment of a Circle diſſected into ſeveral Gyrations (or Rounds) by the Diverſity of the Colours, differing one from another, begotton by the Sunbeams refracted in the Atmoſphere, and terminated with an opaque Superficies. But, whether this ſerves to explain the Matter any better, or whether the common Rainbow be not an Appearance illuſtrious enough to anſwer the Purpoſes for which it was intended, we leave the Curious to enquire; and ſhall only obſerve farther, that, whether it was an ordinary or extraordinary Bow, which appear'd to Noah, 'tis the Opinion of ſome, that the Time of its firſt appearing, was not immediately after he had ſacrific'd (as is generally ſuppos'd) but on the 150th Day of the Flood, when God remember'd Noah, upon which very Day of the Year they likewiſe calculate the Birth of Chriſt (as pre-typified thereby) to have exactly fallen out, and that even the Glory of the Lord, which ſhone round about the Shepherds, was a gracious Phænomenon, correſponding with this Sign of the Covenant.

18 And the ſons of Noah that went forth of the ark, were Shem, and Ham, and Japheth: and Ham is the father of Canaan. 19 Theſe are the three ſons of Noah: and of them was the whole earth overſpread. 20 And Noah began to be an huſbandman, and he planted a vineyard. 21 And he drank of the wine, and was drunken, and he was uncovered within his tent. 22 And Ham the father of Canaan ſaw the nakedneſs of his father and told his two brethren without. 23 And

And Shem and Japheth took a garment, and laid it upon both their ſhoulders, and went backward and covered the nakedneſs of their father; and their faces were backward, and they ſaw not their fathers nakedneſs. 24 And Noah awoke from his wine, and knew what his younger ſon had done unto him. 25 And he ſaid, Curſed be Canaan; a ſervant of ſervants ſhall he be unto his brethren. 26 And he ſaid, Bleſſed be the Lord God of Shem; and Canaan ſhall be his ſervant. 27 God ſhall enlarge Japheth, and he ſhall dwell in the tents of Shem; and Canaan ſhall be his ſervant. 28 And Noah lived after the flood three hundred and fifty years. 29 And all the days of Noah were nine hundred and fifty years: and he died.

And Noah began to be an Huſbandman and planted a Vineyard] Antiently the greateſt Men eſteem'd nothing more honourable, and worthy of their Study, than the Art of Agriculture. Nihil homine libero dignius, nothing more becoming a Gentleman, was the Saying of the Roman Orator; and for the Truth of this, the Fabii, the Cato's, the Varro's, the Virgil's, the Pliny's, and other great Names, are ſufficient Witneſſes.

It is a Jewiſh Tradition or Allegory, that the Vine, which Noah planted, was not of ordinary, terreſtrial Growth, but was carried down the River out of Paradiſe, or at leaſt out of Eden, and found by him: And, as ſome have imagin'd, that the Tree of Knowledge of Good and Evil was a Vine; ſo, by the Deſcription given thereof, and the fatal Conſequences attending it, there ſeems to be a plain Alluſion to it, and ſome Reaſon to believe, that it was one and the ſame Tree, by which the Nakedneſs both of Adam and Noah was expos'd to Deriſion. See Targ. Jonathan.

And he drank of the Vine, and was drunken, and he was uncovered within his Tent] There is not, ſays Stackhouſe, all the Reaſon that can be imagin'd, to ſuppoſe, that Noah was drunk to an exceſſive Degree. The ſame Word, which is here us'd, occurs in other Place in the Book of Geneſis, where we read, that Joſeph's Brethren drank, and were merry with him; and yet the Circumſtances of the Entertainment will not ſuffer us to think, that they indulg'd themſelves in any Exceſs, in the Preſence of him, whom, as yet, they knew to be no other than the Governor of Egypt. And, in like Manner, if we may be allow'd to take the Word here in an innocent Senſe, its Import will only be, that Noah drank of the Wine plentifully perhaps, but not to a Debauch, and ſo fell aſleep. For we muſt obſerve, that Moſes's Deſign is, not to accuſe Noah of Intemperance, but only to ſhew upon what Occaſion it was, that the Canaanites, whom the People under his Command were now going to engage, were accurs'd, and reprobated by God, even from the Days of Noah, and, conſequently, in more Likelihood to fall into their Hands.

To confirm, in ſome Meaſure, the Truth of this Account of Moſes, we have an heathen Story which ſeems, ſays Calmet, to have ſprung from ſome Tradition concerning it; for it tells us, that, on a certain Day, Myrrha, Wife (or as others ſay) Nurſe to Hammon, and Mother of Adonis, having her Son in Company, found Cyniſtas ſleeping in his Tent, all uncover'd, and in an indecent Poſture. She ran immediately and inform'd Hammon of it; he gave Notice of it to his Brothers, who, to prevent the Confuſion that Cyniſtas muſt be in, to find himſelf naked, cover'd him with ſomething. Cyniſtas, underſtanding what had paſſed, curs'd Adonis, and purſu'd Myrrha into Arabia, where after having wander'd nine Months, was chang'd into a Tree, which bears Myrrh. Ham and Hammon are the ſame Perſon, and ſo are Adonis and Canaan.

And Ham, the Father of Canaan, ſaw the Nakedneſs of his Father, and told his two Brethren without] The Jewiſh Doctors are generally of Opinion, that Canaan, having firſt diſcover'd his Grandfather's Nakedneſs, made himſelf merry therewith, and afterwards expos'd it to the Scorn of his Brothers. Whoever the Perſon was, 'tis certain, that he is call'd the younger, Ver. 24. or little Son of Noah, which cannot well agree with Ham, becauſe he was neither little, nor his younger Son, but the ſecond, or middlemoſt, as he is always plac'd; nor does it ſeem ſo pertinent to the Matter in Hand, to mention the Order of his Birth, but very fit (if he ſpeaks of his Grandſon) to diſtinguiſh him from the reſt. So that, if it was Canaan, who treated his Grandſire in this unworthy Manner, the Application of the Curſe to him, who was firſt in the Offence, is far from being a Miſtake in Noah. 'Tis no random Anathema, which he let fly at all Adventures, but a cool, deliberate Denunciation, which proceeded, not from a Spirit of Indignation, but of Prophecy. The Hiſtory indeed takes notice of this Malediction immediately upon Noah's awaking out of his Sleep, and being inform'd of what had happen'd; but this is occaſion'd by its known Brevity, which relates Things, as inſtantly ſucceſſive, when a conſiderable Space of Time ought to interfere. In all Probability theſe Predictions of Noah, which point out the different Fates of his Poſterity, as we find Jacob pronouncing over his Sons, a little before his Death; and 'tis not unlikely, that the common Opinion, of Noah's dividing the Earth among his, might take its Original from theſe laſt Words that we read of him, which were certainly accompliſh'd in their Event.

And he ſaid, Curſed be Canaan; a Servant of Servants ſhall he be unto his Brethren] The Curſe upon Canaan is, ſays Stackhouſe, that he ſhould be a Servant to Shem: And about 800 Years after this, Did not the Iſraelites, Deſcendants of Shem, take Poſſeſſion of the Land of Canaan, ſubdue thirty of its Kings, deſtroy moſt of its Inhabitants, lay heavy Tributes upon the Remainder, and, by Oppreſſions of one Kind or other, oblige ſome to flee into Egypt, others into Africa, and others into Greece? He was doom'd likewiſe to be a Servant to Japhet; and did not the Greeks and Romans, deſcended from Japhet, utterly deſtroy the Relicks of Canaan, who fled to Tyre, built by the Sidonians; to Thebes, built by Cadmus; and to Carthage, built by Dido? For who has not heard of the Conqueſts of the Romans over the Africans?

Interpreters have invented ſeveral other Reaſons, ſays Pool, why the Curſe, which properly belong'd to Ham, was inflicted on his Son Canaan; as 1ſt, When Canaan is mention'd, Ham is not exempted from the Malediction, but rather more deeply plung'd into it, becauſe Parents are apt to be more affected with their Children's Misfortunes, than their own; eſpecially, if themſelves brought the Evil upon them by their own Fault and Folly. 2dly, God having bleſs'd the three Sons of Noah, at their going out of the Ark, it was not proper, that Noah's Curſe ſhould interfere with the Divine Bleſſing, but very proper, that it ſhould be transferr'd to Canaan, in regard to the future Extirpation of the People, which were to deſcend from him. But 3dly, Some imagine, that there is here an Elliptis, or Defect of the Word Father, ſince ſuch relative Words are frequently omitted, or underſtood in Scripture. Thus Matt. iv. 21. James of Zebedee, for the Son of Zebedee, John. xix. 25. Mary of Cleopas, for the Wife of Cleopas; and Acts vii. 16. Emmor of Sychem, for the Father of Sychem, which our Tranſlation rightly ſupplies; and, in like Manner, Canaan may be put for the Father of Canaan, as the Arabick Tranſlation has it; i. e. Ham, as the Septuagint here render it. And, tho' Ham had more Sons, yet he may be here deſcrib'd by his Relation to Canaan, becauſe in him the Curſe was more fix'd and dreadful, reaching to his utter Extirpation, while the reſt of Ham's Poſterity, in After-ages, were bleſs'd with the ſaving Knowledge of the Goſpel.

God ſhall enlarge Japhet] And can we think otherwiſe, when not only all Europe, and the Leſſer Aſia, but Media likewiſe, and Part of Armenia, Iberia, Albania, and the vaſt Regions towards the North, which antiently the Scythians, but now the Tartars inhabit, fell

The Meaning of all which fine Machinery is no more than this,---That, after a great deal of Rain, which had caus'd an Inundation, and thereby made the Trojan Horſe uſeleſs, the Sun began to appear again, and the Rainbow in a Cloud oppoſite to the Sun, which was a ſure Prognoſtick of fair Weather. See Biblioth. Bibl. Vol. I.

It has been a Queſtion much debated among the Learned, whether the Rainbow, the Sign and Sacrament of God's Covenant with Noah, was previous or ſubſequent to the Deluge? It cannot be denied, ſays Stackhouſe, but that this curious Mixture of Light and Shade, diſcernible in the Rainbow, ariſes naturally from the Superficies of thoſe Parts which conſtitute a Cloud, when the Rays of the Sun, from the adverſe Part of the Hemiſphere, are darted upon it; and, for this Reaſon, whenever there is the like Diſpoſition of the Sun to the Cloud, it may be imagin'd, that the ſame Phænomenon may be ſeen, and, conſequently, at certain Times, has been ſeen, not from the Deluge only, but from the firſt Foundation of the World. But as this Opinion has nothing in Scripture to enforce it, ſo there is no Grounds in Nature to give it any Sanction, unleſs we will aſſert this manifeſt Untruth,---That every Diſpoſition of the Air, and every Denſity of a Cloud is fitly qualify'd to produce a Rainbow.

This Meteor (as the Scripture informs us) was appointed by God to be a Witneſs of his Covenant with the new World, and a Meſſenger to ſecure Mankind from Deſtruction by Deluges; ſo that, had it appear'd before the Flood, the Sight of it afterwards would have been but a poor Comfort to Noah and his Poſterity, whoſe Fear of an Inundation was too violent, ever to be taken away by a common and ordinary Sign.

Dr. Burnet writes thus: When God, ſays he, gives a Sign, in the Heavens, or on the Earth, of any Prophecy or Promiſe to be fulfill'd, it muſt be by ſomething new, or by ſome Change wrought in Nature, whereby he teſtifies to us, that he is able and willing to ſtand to his Promiſe. Thus God puts the Matter to Ahaz, Aſk a Sign of the Lord, aſk it either in the Depth, or in the Height above: And when Ahaz would aſk no Sign, God gives him one unaſk'd; Behold a Virgin ſhall conceive, and bear a Son. That when Abraham aſk'd a Sign, whereby he might be aſſured of God's Promiſe, that his Seed ſhould inherit the Land of Canaan, 'tis ſaid, that when the Sun went down, and it was dark, behold a ſmoaking Furnace, and a burning Lamp paſs'd between the Pieces of the Beaſt, which he had cut aſunder, Gen. xv. 17. And in like Manner, in the Sign given to Hezekiah for his Recovery, and to Gideon for his Victory; in the former Caſe, the Shadow went back ten Dogrees in Ahaz's Dial, Iſa. xxxviii. 8. and, in the latter, the Fleece was wet, and all the Ground about it dry; and then (to change the Trial) it was dry, and all the Ground about it wet, Judg. vi. 38, 39. Theſe were all Signs, proper, ſignificant, and ſatisfactory, having ſomething new, ſurprizing, and extraordinary in them, denoting the Hand, and Interpoſition of God: But when every Thing continues to be as it was before, and the Face of Nature, in all its Parts, the very ſame, it cannot ſignify any Thing new, nor any new Intention of the Author of Nature; and, conſequently, cannot be a Sign or Pledge, a Token or Aſſurance, of the Accompliſhment of any new Covenant, or Promiſe made by him.

Common Philoſophy teaches us, ſays Patrick, that the Rainbow is a natural Sign, that there will not be much Rain after it appears, but that the Clouds begin to diſperſe. For, as it never appears in a thick Cloud, but only in a thin; whenever it appears, after Showers, which come from thick Clouds, it is a Token that they now grow thin; and therefore the God of Nature made Choice of this Sign, rather than any other, to ſatisfy us, that he would never ſuffer the Clouds to thicken again to ſuch a Degree, as to bring another Deluge upon the Earth.

The ingenious Marcus Marci is of Opinion, that the Rainbow, which firſt appeared to Noah after the Flood, and was ſo particularly dignified by God, as to be conſecrated for a Divine Sign, was not the common one, but a great and univerſal Iris, inimitable by Art, which he has defined by a Segment of a Circle diſſected into ſeveral Gyrations (or Rounds) by the Diverſity of the Colours, differing one from another, begotton by the Sunbeams refracted in the Atmoſphere, and terminated with an opaque Superficies. But, whether this ſerves to explain the Matter any better, or whether the common Rainbow be not an Appearance illuſtrious enough to anſwer the Purpoſes for which it was intended, we leave the Curious to enquire; and ſhall only obſerve farther, that, whether it was an ordinary or extraordinary Bow, which appear'd to Noah, 'tis the Opinion of ſome, that the Time of its firſt appearing, was not immediately after he had ſacrific'd (as is generally ſuppos'd) but on the 150th Day of the Flood, when God remember'd Noah, upon which very Day of the Year they likewiſe calculate the Birth of Chriſt (as pre-typified thereby) to have exactly fallen out, and that even the Glory of the Lord, which ſhone round about the Shepherds, was a gracious Phænomenon, correſponding with this Sign of the Covenant.

18 And the ſons of Noah that went forth of the ark, were Shem, and Ham, and Japheth: and Ham is the father of Canaan. 19 Theſe are the three ſons of Noah: and of them was the whole earth overſpread. 20 And Noah began to be an huſbandman, and he planted a vineyard. 21 And he drank of the wine, and was drunken, and he was uncovered within his tent. 22 And Ham the father of Canaan ſaw the nakedneſs of his father and told his two brethren without. 23 And

And Shem and Japheth took a garment, and laid it upon both their ſhoulders, and went backward and covered the nakedneſs of their father; and their faces were backward, and they ſaw not their fathers nakedneſs. 24 And Noah awoke from his wine, and knew what his younger ſon had done unto him. 25 And he ſaid, Curſed be Canaan; a ſervant of ſervants ſhall he be unto his brethren. 26 And he ſaid, Bleſſed be the Lord God of Shem; and Canaan ſhall be his ſervant. 27 God ſhall enlarge Japheth, and he ſhall dwell in the tents of Shem; and Canaan ſhall be his ſervant. 28 And Noah lived after the flood three hundred and fifty years. 29 And all the days of Noah were nine hundred and fifty years: and he died.

And Noah began to be an Huſbandman and planted a Vineyard] Antiently the greateſt Men eſteem'd nothing more honourable, and worthy of their Study, than the Art of Agriculture. Nihil homine libero dignius, nothing more becoming a Gentleman, was the Saying of the Roman Orator; and for the Truth of this, the Fabii, the Cato's, the Varro's, the Virgil's, the Pliny's, and other great Names, are ſufficient Witneſſes.

It is a Jewiſh Tradition or Allegory, that the Vine, which Noah planted, was not of ordinary, terreſtrial Growth, but was carried down the River out of Paradiſe, or at leaſt out of Eden, and found by him: And, as ſome have imagin'd, that the Tree of Knowledge of Good and Evil was a Vine; ſo, by the Deſcription given thereof, and the fatal Conſequences attending it, there ſeems to be a plain Alluſion to it, and ſome Reaſon to believe, that it was one and the ſame Tree, by which the Nakedneſs both of Adam and Noah was expos'd to Deriſion. See Targ. Jonathan.

And he drank of the Vine, and was drunken, and he was uncovered within his Tent] There is not, ſays Stackhouſe, all the Reaſon that can be imagin'd, to ſuppoſe, that Noah was drunk to an exceſſive Degree. The ſame Word, which is here us'd, occurs in other Place in the Book of Geneſis, where we read, that Joſeph's Brethren drank, and were merry with him; and yet the Circumſtances of the Entertainment will not ſuffer us to think, that they indulg'd themſelves in any Exceſs, in the Preſence of him, whom, as yet, they knew to be no other than the Governor of Egypt. And, in like Manner, if we may be allow'd to take the Word here in an innocent Senſe, its Import will only be, that Noah drank of the Wine plentifully perhaps, but not to a Debauch, and ſo fell aſleep. For we muſt obſerve, that Moſes's Deſign is, not to accuſe Noah of Intemperance, but only to ſhew upon what Occaſion it was, that the Canaanites, whom the People under his Command were now going to engage, were accurs'd, and reprobated by God, even from the Days of Noah, and, conſequently, in more Likelihood to fall into their Hands.

To confirm, in ſome Meaſure, the Truth of this Account of Moſes, we have an heathen Story which ſeems, ſays Calmet, to have ſprung from ſome Tradition concerning it; for it tells us, that, on a certain Day, Myrrha, Wife (or as others ſay) Nurſe to Hammon, and Mother of Adonis, having her Son in Company, found Cyniſtas ſleeping in his Tent, all uncover'd, and in an indecent Poſture. She ran immediately and inform'd Hammon of it; he gave Notice of it to his Brothers, who, to prevent the Confuſion that Cyniſtas muſt be in, to find himſelf naked, cover'd him with ſomething. Cyniſtas, underſtanding what had paſſed, curs'd Adonis, and purſu'd Myrrha into Arabia, where after having wander'd nine Months, was chang'd into a Tree, which bears Myrrh. Ham and Hammon are the ſame Perſon, and ſo are Adonis and Canaan.

And Ham, the Father of Canaan, ſaw the Nakedneſs of his Father, and told his two Brethren without] The Jewiſh Doctors are generally of Opinion, that Canaan, having firſt diſcover'd his Grandfather's Nakedneſs, made himſelf merry therewith, and afterwards expos'd it to the Scorn of his Brothers. Whoever the Perſon was, 'tis certain, that he is call'd the younger, Ver. 24. or little Son of Noah, which cannot well agree with Ham, becauſe he was neither little, nor his younger Son, but the ſecond, or middlemoſt, as he is always plac'd; nor does it ſeem ſo pertinent to the Matter in Hand, to mention the Order of his Birth, but very fit (if he ſpeaks of his Grandſon) to diſtinguiſh him from the reſt. So that, if it was Canaan, who treated his Grandſire in this unworthy Manner, the Application of the Curſe to him, who was firſt in the Offence, is far from being a Miſtake in Noah. 'Tis no random Anathema, which he let fly at all Adventures, but a cool, deliberate Denunciation, which proceeded, not from a Spirit of Indignation, but of Prophecy. The Hiſtory indeed takes notice of this Malediction immediately upon Noah's awaking out of his Sleep, and being inform'd of what had happen'd; but this is occaſion'd by its known Brevity, which relates Things, as inſtantly ſucceſſive, when a conſiderable Space of Time ought to interfere. In all Probability theſe Predictions of Noah, which point out the different Fates of his Poſterity, as we find Jacob pronouncing over his Sons, a little before his Death; and 'tis not unlikely, that the common Opinion, of Noah's dividing the Earth among his, might take its Original from theſe laſt Words that we read of him, which were certainly accompliſh'd in their Event.

And he ſaid, Curſed be Canaan; a Servant of Servants ſhall he be unto his Brethren] The Curſe upon Canaan is, ſays Stackhouſe, that he ſhould be a Servant to Shem: And about 800 Years after this, Did not the Iſraelites, Deſcendants of Shem, take Poſſeſſion of the Land of Canaan, ſubdue thirty of its Kings, deſtroy moſt of its Inhabitants, lay heavy Tributes upon the Remainder, and, by Oppreſſions of one Kind or other, oblige ſome to flee into Egypt, others into Africa, and others into Greece? He was doom'd likewiſe to be a Servant to Japhet; and did not the Greeks and Romans, deſcended from Japhet, utterly deſtroy the Relicks of Canaan, who fled to Tyre, built by the Sidonians; to Thebes, built by Cadmus; and to Carthage, built by Dido? For who has not heard of the Conqueſts of the Romans over the Africans?

Interpreters have invented ſeveral other Reaſons, ſays Pool, why the Curſe, which properly belong'd to Ham, was inflicted on his Son Canaan; as 1ſt, When Canaan is mention'd, Ham is not exempted from the Malediction, but rather more deeply plung'd into it, becauſe Parents are apt to be more affected with their Children's Misfortunes, than their own; eſpecially, if themſelves brought the Evil upon them by their own Fault and Folly. 2dly, God having bleſs'd the three Sons of Noah, at their going out of the Ark, it was not proper, that Noah's Curſe ſhould interfere with the Divine Bleſſing, but very proper, that it ſhould be transferr'd to Canaan, in regard to the future Extirpation of the People, which were to deſcend from him. But 3dly, Some imagine, that there is here an Ellipſis, or Defect of the Word Father, ſince ſuch relative Words are frequently omitted, or underſtood in Scripture. Thus Matt. iv. 21. James of Zebedee, for the Son of Zebedee, John. xix. 25. Mary of Cleopas, for the Wife of Cleopas; and Acts vii. 16. Emmor of Sychem, for the Father of Sychem, which our Tranſlation rightly ſupplies; and, in like Manner, Canaan may be put for the Father of Canaan, as the Arabick Tranſlation has it; i. e. Ham, as the Septuagint here render it. And, tho' Ham had more Sons, yet he may be here deſcrib'd by his Relation to Canaan, becauſe in him the Curſe was more fix'd and dreadful, reaching to his utter Extirpation, while the reſt of Ham's Poſterity, in After-ages, were bleſs'd with the ſaving Knowledge of the Goſpel.

God ſhall enlarge Japhet] And can we think otherwiſe, when not only all Europe, and the Leſſer Aſia, but Media likewiſe, and Part of Armenia, Iberia, Albania, and the vaſt Regions towards the North, which antiently the Scythians, but now the Tartars inhabit, fell to the Share of his Poſterity? It was likewiſe declar'd, that he ſhould dwell in the Tents of Shem; and is it not notorious, that the Greeks and Romans invaded, and conquer'd that Part of Aſia, where the Poſterity of Shem had planted themſelves; that both Alexander and Cæſar were Maſters of Jeruſalem, and made all the Countries thereabouts Tributaries? 'You, ſays Juſtin Martyr '(ſpeaking to Trypho the Jew concerning his Nation) 'who are deſcended from Shem, according as God had 'appointed, came into the Land of the Children of 'Canaan, and made it your own, and, in like Man-'ner, according to the Divine Decree, the Sons of 'Japhet (the Romans) have broke in upon you, ſeiz'd 'upon your whole Country, and ſtill keep Poſſeſſion of 'it. Thus the Sons of Shem, ſays he, have over-pow-'ered, and reduc'd the Canaanite; and the Sons of 'Japhet have ſubdu'd the Sons of Shem, and made them 'their Vaſſals; ſo that the Poſterity of Canaan are be-'come, in a literal Senſe, Servants of Servants.'

Bleſſed be the Lord God of Shem] But why, ſays Stackhouſe, the God of Shem, and not the God of Japhet? As to the Behaviour of theſe two Sons towards their Father, it was the ſame. They join'd in the pious Office done to him, ſo that in this Reſpect they were equal, and equally deſerving of a Bleſſing. Nay, if any Preference was due to either from the Father, it was to Japhet his Firſt-born; for ſo he was, tho' commonly laſt nam'd, when the Sons of Noah are mention'd together. Now this being the Caſe, how comes Shem to be preferr'd? And what is the Bleſſing conferr'd on him? A temporal Bleſſing it could not be; for that was before confirm'd with all the Sons of Noah. Day and Night, Summer and Winter, Seed-time and Harveſt, were a common Gift to the World, and beſtow'd, as our Saviour obſerves, on the Evil as well as on the Good. We may therefore preſume, that the Bleſſing, here given to Shem, was of a different Kind, founded upon a better Covenant, and eſtabliſhed upon better Promiſes, than any temporal Grant can be. And, accordingly we may obſerve, that the ſame Promiſe, which was given to Adam after the Fall, viz. that the Seed of the Woman ſhould finally prevail, was renew'd to Noah before the Flood; for with thee will I eſtabliſh my Covenant, ſays God; and therefore, as the Apoſtle to the Hebrews tells us of this Patriarch, that he was Heir of Righteouſneſs, which is by Faith; he certainly foreſaw, that in Seth's Family, God would ſettle his Church; that of his Seed Chriſt ſhould be born according to the Fleſh; and, that the Covenant, which ſhould reſtore Man to himſelf and to his Maker, ſhould be convey'd to his Poſterity. And this accounts for the Preference given to Shem; for Noah ſpoke not of his own Choice, but declar'd the Counſel of God, who had now, as he frequently did afterwards, choſen the Younger before the Elder.

CHAP. X.

The Generations of Noah, and the Deſcendants of his Sons with their reſpective Settlements. Nimrod the firſt Monarch.

Ver. 1. NOW theſe are the generations of the ſons of Noah; Shem, Ham, and Japheth: and unto them were ſons born after the flood. 2 The ſons of Japheth; Gomer, and Magog, and Madai, and Javan, and Tubal, and Meſhech, and Tiras. 3 And the ſons of Gomer; Aſhkenaz, and Riphath, and Togarmah. 4 And the ſons of Javan; Eliſhah, and Tarſhiſh, Kittim, and Dodanim. 5 By theſe were the iſles of the Gentiles divided in their lands; every one after his tongue, after their families, in their nations. 6 And the ſons of Ham; Cuſh, and Mizraim, and Phut, and Canaan. 7 And the ſons of Cuſh; Seba, and Havilah, and Sabtah, and Raamah, and Sabtecha: and the ſons of Raamah; Sheba, and Dedan. 8 And Cuſh begat Nimrod: he began to be a mighty one in the earth. 9 He was a mighty hunter before the Lord: wherefore it is ſaid, Even as Nimrod the mighty hunter before the Lord. 10 And the beginning of his kingdom was Babel, and Erech, and Accad, and Calneh, in the land of Shinar. 11 Out of that land went forth Aſhur, and builded Nineveh and the city Rehoboth, and Calah, 12 And Reſen between Nineveh and Calah: the ſame is a great city. 13 And Mizraim begat Ludim, and Anamim, and Lehabim, and Naphtuhim, 14 And Pathruſim, and Caſluhim (out of whom came Philiſtim) and Caphtorim. 15 And Canaan begat Sidon his firſt-born, and Heth, 16 And the Jebuſite, and the Amorite, and the Gergaſite, 17 And the Hivite, and the Arkite, and the Sinite, 18 And the Arvadite, and the Zemarite, and the Hamathite: and afterward were the families of the Canaanites ſpread abroad. 19 And the border of the Canaanites was from Sidon, as thou comeſt to Gerar, unto Gaza; as thou goeſt unto Sodom and Gomorrah, and Admah, and Zeboim, even unto Laſhah. 20 Theſe are the ſons of Ham, after their families, after their tongues, in their countreys, and in their nations. 21 Unto Shem alſo the father of all the children of Eber, the brother of Japheth the elder, even to him were children born. 22 The children of Shem; Elam, and Aſhur, and Arphaxad, and Lud, and Aram. 23 And the children of Aram; Uz, and Hul, and Gether, and Maſh. 24 And Arphaxad begat Salah; and Salah begat Eber: 25 And unto Eber were born two ſons: the name of the one was Peleg, for in his days was the earth divided; and his brothers name was Joktan. 26 And Joktan begat Almodad, and Sheleph, and Hazarmaveth, and Jerah, 27 And Hadoram, and Uzal, and Diklah, 28 And Obal, and Abimael, and Sheba, 29 And Ophir, and Havilah, and Jobab: all theſe were the ſons of Joktan. 30 And their dwelling was from Meſha, as thou goeſt unto Sephar a mount of the eaſt. 31 Theſe are the ſons of Shem, after their families, after their tongues, in their lands, after their nations. 32 Theſe are the families of the ſons of Noah, after their generations, in their nations: and by theſe were the nations divided in the earth after the flood.

The following Account of the Plantations of the three Sons of Noah, and their Deſcendants, is extracted from Bochart's Phaleg, Heidegger's Hiſt. Patriarch. Vol. I. Exercit. 22. Wells's Sacred Geography, Vol. I. Bedford's Scripture Chronology, L. 2. Shuckford's Connection, Vol. I. Parker's Biblioth. Bibl. Vol. I. the Authors of the Univerſal Hiſtory, L. 1. Le Clerc and Patrick's Comment. Pool and Ainſworth's Annotations, with other Authors of the like Nature; from whom we have made Uſe of the moſt probable Conjectures, and to whom we refer the Reader. Only note, that this Account contains this Chapter, and the 10th Verſe to the End of the next.

Japhet, tho' uſually mention'd laſt, yet was, in Reality, the eldeſt Son of Noah, and, accordingly, has his Deſcendants here plac'd in the Front of the Genealogy. He had ſeven Sons: Gomer, who ſeated himſelf in Phrygia; Magog, in Scythia; Madai, in Media; Javan, in Ionia; or Part of Greece; Tubal, in Tibarene; Maſhech, in Moſchia, (which lies in the North-Eaſt Parts of Cappadocia) and Tiras, in Thrace, Myſchia, and the reſt of Europe towards the North.

The Sons of Gomer were Aſkenaz, who took Poſſeſſion ſion of Aſcania (which is Part of Leſſer Phrygia) Riphah, of the Riphæan Mountains; and Togarmah, of Part of Cappadocia, and Galatia.

The Sons of Javan, were Eliſhah, who ſeated himſelf in Peloponneſus; Tarſhiſh, in Spain; Kittim, in Italy; and Dodanim (otherwiſe call'd Rhodanim) in France, not far from the Banks of the River Roſne, to which he ſeems to have given the Name. By theſe, and the Colonies, which, in ſome Space of Time, proceeded from them, not only a conſiderable Part of Aſia, but all Europe, and the Iſlands adjacent, were ſtock'd with Inhabitants; and the ſeveral Inhabitants were ſo ſetled and diſpos'd of, that each Tribe or Family, who ſpoke the ſame Language, kept together in one Body, and (how diſtant ſoever in their Situation) continu'd, for ſome Time at leaſt, their Relation to the People, or Nation, from whom originally they ſprang.

Shem, the ſecond Son of Noah (and from whom the Hebrew Nation did deſcend) had himſelf five Sons; whereof Elam took Poſſeſſion of a Country in Perſia, called after himſelf at firſt, but, in the Time of Daniel, it obtain'd the Name of Suſiana; Aſſur, of Aſſyria; Arphaxad, of Chaldea; Lud, of Lydia; and Aram, of Syria, ar far as the Mediterranean Sea.

The Sons of Aram were Uz, who ſeated himſelf in the Country of Damaſcus; Hull, near Cholobatene in Armenia; Maſh, near the Mountain Maſius; and Gether, in Part of Meſopotamia.

Arphaxad, had a Son named Salah, who ſetled near Suſiana, and begat Eber (the Father of the Hebrew Nation) who had likewiſe two Sons; Peleg, whoſe Name imports Diviſion, becauſe, in his Days, Mankind was divided into ſeveral Colonies; and Jocktan, who had a large Offſpring, to the Number of thirteen Sons, all ſeated in Arabia Felix, and who, in all Probability, were the Progenitors of ſuch People and Nations, as, in thoſe Parts, in after Ages, had ſome Affinity to their ſeveral Names. For here it was, that the Allumæotæ, who took their Name from Almodad, the Selapeni, from Sheleph, and the Abalitæ, from Obal, &c. liv'd, viz. from that Part of Arabia, which lies between Muſa, (a famous Sea-port in the Red Sea) and the Mountain Climax, which was formerly call'd Sephar, from a City of that Name, built at the Bottom of it, and then the Metropolis of the whole Country.

Ham, the youngeſt Son of Noah, had four Sons; whereof Cuſh ſetled his Abode in that Part of Arabia which lies towards Egypt; Mizraim, in both Upper and Lower Egypt; Phut, in Part of Lybia; and Canaan, in the Land which was afterwards called by his Name, and in other adjacent Countries.

The Sons of Cuſh were Seba, who ſetled in the South-Weſt Part of Arabia: Habilah, who gave Name to a Country upon the River Piſon, where it parts with Euphrates, to run into the Arabian Gulf; Sabtah, who liv'd on the ſame Shore (but a little more Northward) of the Arabian Gulf; Roamah, who, with his two Sons, Sheba and Dedan, occupied the ſame Coaſt, but a little more Eaſtward; and Sabtecha, who (we need not doubt) plac'd himſelf among the reſt of his Brethren. But, among all the Sons of Cuſh, Nimrod was the Perſon, who, in theſe early Days diſtinguiſh'd himſelf by his Bravery and Courage. His Lot chanc'd to fall in a Place that was not a little infected with wild Beaſts; and therefore he betook himſelf to the Exerciſe of Hunting, and, drawing together a Company of ſtout young Fellows, not only clear'd the Country of ſuch dangerous Creatures, but, procuring himſelf likewiſe great Honour and Renown by his other Exploits, he rais'd himſelf to the Dignity of a King, (the firſt King that is ſuppos'd to have been in the World) and, having made Babylon the Seat of his Empire, laid the Foundation of three other Cities, viz. Erech, Accad, and Calneth, in the neighbouring Provinces; and ſo, paſſing into Aſſyria, and enlarging his Territories there, he built Nineveh, Rehoboth, Calah, and Reſen, (which was afterwards call'd Lariſſa) ſituate upon the Tygris. But to return to the Remainder of Ham's Poſterity.

Mizraim, his ſecond Son, became King of Egypt, which, after his Death, was divided into three Kingdoms by three of his Sons; Anamim, who was King of Tanis, or Lower-Egypt, call'd afterwards Delta; Naphtulim, who was King of Naph, or Memphis, in Upper-Egypt; and Pathruſim, who ſet up the Kingdoms of Pathros, or Thebes, in Thebais. Ludim and Lehabim, peopled Lybia; Caſlubim fix'd himſelf at Caſhiotis, in the Entrance of Egypt from Paleſtine; and, having two Sons, Philiſtim and Caphtorim, the latter he left to ſucceed him at Caſhiotis, and the former planted the Country of the Philiſtines, between the Borders of Canaan and the Mediterranean Sea. The Sons of Canaan were Sidon, the Father of the Sidonians, who liv'd in Phænicia; Heth, the Father of the Hittites, who liv'd near Hebron; Emor, the Father of the Amorites, who liv'd in the Mountains of Judea; and Arvad, the Father of the Arvadites, not far from Sidon: But whether the other Sons of Canaan ſetled in this Country, cannot be determin'd with any Certainty and Exactneſs; only we muſt take Care to place them ſomewhere between Sidon, and Gerar, and Admah, and Zeboim; for theſe were the Boundaries of their Land.

Upon the Whole then we may obſerve, that the Poſterity of Japhet came into the Poſſeſſion, not only of all Europe, but of a conſiderable Portion of Aſia: For two of his Sons, Tiras and Javan, together with their Deſcendants, had all thoſe Countries, which, from the Mediterranean Sea, reach as far as Scandinavia Northward; and his other Sons, from the Mediterranean, extended themſelves Eaſtward over almoſt all Aſia Minor, and Part of Armenia, over Media, Iberia, Albania, and thoſe vaſt Regions towards the North, where formerly the Scythians, but now the Tartars, dwell: That the Poſterity of Ham held in their Poſſeſſion all Africa, and no ſmall Part of Aſia; Mizraim, both the Upper, Lower, and Middle Egypt, Marmarica and Ethiopia, both Eaſt and Weſt; Phut, the Remainder of Africa, Lybia, Interior and Exterior, Numidia, Mauritania, Getulia, &c. Cuſh, all Arabia, that lies between the Red Sea and the Gulf, beyond the Gulf, Carmania, and no ſmall Part of Perſia, and towards the North of Arabia, (till expell'd by Nimrod) Babylonia, and Part of Chaldea: And Canaan, Paleſtine, Phænicia, Part of Cappadocia, and that large Tract of Ground along the Euxine Sea, even as far as Colchis: And that the Poſterity of Shem had in their Poſſeſſion Part both of the Greater and Leſſer Aſia; in the Leſſer, Lydia, Myſia, and Cares; and in the Greater, Aſſyria, Syria, Meſopotamia, Armenia, Suſiana, Arabia Felix, &c. and perhaps Eaſtward, all the Countries, as far as China.

Theſe are the Plantations of the Families of the Sons of Noah, in their Generations, and in this Manner were the Nations divided in the Earth after the Flood. And now to deſcend to a more particular Account of his Son Shem, from whom the Hebrews were deſcended.

Two Years after the Flood, when Shem was 100 Years old, he had a Son nam'd Arphaxad; after which Time he liv'd 500 Years; ſo that the Whole of his Life was 600.

Arphaxad, when 35, had a Son nam'd Salah; after which he liv'd 403; in all 438.

Salah, when 30, had a Son nam'd Eber, (from whom his Deſcendants were called Hebrews) after which he liv'd 403 Years; in all 433.

Eber, when 34, had a Son named Peleg, in whoſe Time (as we ſaid) the Earth came to be divided; after which he liv'd 430 Years; in all 464.

Peleg, when 30, had a Son nam'd Reu, after which he liv'd 209 Years; in all 239.

Reu, when 32, had a Son nam'd Serug; after which he liv'd 207 Years; in all 239.

Serug, when 30, had a Son nam'd Nahor; after which he liv'd 200 Years; in all 230.

Nahor, when 29, had a Son nam'd Terah; after which he liv'd 119 Years; in all 148. But of all theſe Perſons it muſt be remark'd, that they had ſeveral other Children of both Sexes, tho' not recorded in this Hiſtory.

Terah, when 70, (for he was not bleſs'd with Children ſooner) had three Sons one after another, Abram, Nahor, and Haran; whereof Haran, the eldeſt, died before before his Father, in his native Country of Ur, leaving behind him one Son whoſe Name was Lot, and two Daughters, whereof the Elder, viz. Milcah, was married to her Uncle Nahor, and the younger (whoſe Name was Sarai) was married to her Uncle Abram; but, at this Time, ſhe was barren, and had no Children.

CHAP. XI.

One Language in the World: Babel is built; the Confuſion of Tongues there. The Generations and Lineage of the Hebrew Nation.

Ver. 1. AND the whole earth was of one language, and of one ſpeech. 2 And it came to paſs as they journeyed from the eaſt, that they found a plain in the land of Shinar; and they dwelt there. 3 And they ſaid one to another, Go to, let us make brick, and burn them thoroughly. And they had brick for ſtone, and ſlime had they for mortar. 4 And they ſaid, Go to, let us build us a city and a tower, whoſe top may reach unto heaven, and let us make us a name, leſt we be ſcattered abroad upon the face of the whole earth. 5 And the Lord came down to ſee the city and the tower, which the children of men builded. 6 And the Lord ſaid, Behold, the people is one, and they have all one language; and this they begin to do: and now nothing will be reſtrained from them, which they have imagined to do. 7 Go to, let us go down, and there confound their language, that they may not underſtand one anothers ſpeech. 8 So the Lord ſcattered them abroad from thence upon the face of all the earth: and they left off to build the city. 9 Therefore is the name of it called Babel, becauſe the Lord did there confound the language of all the earth: and from thence did the Lord ſcatter them abroad upon the face of all the earth.

And they ſaid, Go to, let us build us a City, and a Tower, whoſe Top may reach unto Heaven, and let us make us a Name, leſt we be ſcattered abroad upon the Face of the whole Earth] That there was ſuch a Building as the Tower of Babel, ſays Stackhouſe, is evident from the concurrent Teſtimony of ſeveral Heathen Writers. For when (beſides the particular Deſcription which Herodotus, the Father of the Greek Hiſtorians, gives us of it) we find Abydemus (as he is quoted by Euſebius) telling us, 'That the firſt Race of Men, big 'with the fond Conceit of the Bulk and Strength of 'their Bodies, built, in the Place where Babylon now 'ſtands, a Tower of ſuch prodigious an Height, that 'it ſeem'd to touch the Skies, but that the Winds and 'the Gods overthrew the mighty Structure upon their 'Heads.' When we find Eupolemus (as he is cited by Alexander Polyhiſtor) leaving it upon Record, 'That 'the City of Babylon was firſt built by Giants, who 'eſcap'd from the Flood; that theſe Giants built the 'moſt famous Tower in all Hiſtory; and that this 'Tower was daſh'd to Pieces by the Almighty Power 'of God, and the Giants diſpers'd, and ſcatter'd over 'the Face of the whole Earth.' And laſtly, when we find Joſephus mentioning it, as a received Doctrine among the Sybils, 'That at a certain Time, when the 'whole World ſpake all one Language, the People of 'thoſe Days gathered together, and rais'd a mighty 'Tower, which they carried up to ſo extravagant an 'Height, that it look'd as if they propos'd to ſcale 'Heaven from the Top of it; but that the Gods let the 'Winds looſe upon it, which, with a violent Blaſt, beat 'it down to the Ground, and, at the ſame Time ſtruck 'the Builders with an utter Forgetfulneſs of their na-'tive Tongue, and ſubſtituted new and unknown Lan-'guages in the Room of it:' When we find theſe and ſeveral other Authors, bearing Teſtimony to Moſes, in moſt of the material Circumſtances attending the Building of this Tower, we cannot but conclude, that the Repreſentation, which he gives us of the whole Tranſaction, is agreeable to Truth.

There is one Circumſtance indeed, wherein we find theſe antient Hiſtorians differing with Moſes, and that is in affirming, that the Tower was demoliſhed by the Anger of God, and by the Violence of the Winds; but as it ſeems more conſiſtent with the Divine Wiſdom (for the Admonition of Poſterity) to have ſuch a Monument of Mens Folly and Ambition for ſome Time ſtanding; ſo we may obſerve, that (in Confirmation of the ſacred Penman who ſpeaks of it as a Thing exiſting in his Time) Herodotus, the Greek Hiſtorian, tells us expreſly, that he himſelf actually ſaw it, as it was repair'd by Belus, or ſome of his Succeſſors; Pliny, the Latin Hiſtorian, that it was not deſtroy'd in his Days; and ſome modern Travellers, that there are ſome viſible Remains of it extant even now. And therefore the Fancy of its being beat down by the Winds is taken up, in pure Conformity to ſome Perſian Tales, recorded of Nimrod, whom theſe Hiſtorians ſuppoſe to be the Projector of it.

It cannot be deny'd indeed, but that the Generality of Interpreters, meeting with the Expreſſion the Children of Men, whereby they underſtand bad Men and Infidels, as oppos'd to the Children of God, which uſually denote the Good and the Faithful, are apt to imagine, that none of the Family of Shem, which retain'd (as they ſay) the true Worſhip and Religion, were engag'd in the Work, but ſome of the worſer Sort of People only, who had degenerated from the Piety of their Anceſtors: But by the Children of Men in that Place, 'tis evident that we are to underſtand all Mankind, becauſe, in the initial Words of the Chapter, they are call'd the whole Earth; nor can we well conceive how, in ſo ſhort a Time, after that awakening Judgment of the Deluge, the major Part of Mankind, even while Noah and his Sons were ſtill alive, ſhould be ſo far corrupted in their Principle, as to deſerve the odious Character of Unbelievers.

Joſephus indeed, and ſome other Authors, are clearly of Opinion, that Nimrod, a Deſcendant from the impious Ham, was the great Abettor of this Deſign, and the Ringleader of thoſe who combin'd in the Execution of it. But, tho' the Undertaking ſeems to agree very well with the Notion, which the Scripture gives us of that ambitious Prince; yet, beſides that others, extremely well vers'd in all Jewiſh Antiquities, have made it appear, that Nimrod was either very young at the Time, or even not yet born, when the Project of Building the Tower and City was firſt form'd, there is Reaſon to believe (even ſuppoſing him then alive, and in great Power and Authority among his People) that he was not in any tolerable Condition to undertake the Work.

The Account which Moſes gives us of him, is, ---- That he began to be a mighty one in the Earth, which the beſt Writers explain, by his being the firſt who laid the Foundation of regal Power among Mankind; but it is ſcarce imaginable, how an Empire, able to effect ſuch a Work, could be entirely acquired, and ſo thoroughly eſtabliſh'd by one and the ſame Perſon, as to allow Leiſure for Amuſements of ſuch infinite Toil and Trouble.

But admitting his Kingdom to be large enough; yet, from that Day to this, we can meet with no Works of this Kind attempted, but from a Fulneſs of Wealth, and Wantonneſs of Power, and after Peace, Luxury, and long Leiſure had introduc'd and eſtabliſh'd Arts: So that nothing can be more abſurd than to attribute ſuch a prodigious Work to the Power and Vanity of one Man, in the Infancy both of Arts and Empire, and when we can ſcarce ſuppoſe, that there was any ſuch Thing as artificial Wealth in the World.

Since then this Building was undoubtedly very antient, as antient as the Scripture makes it, and yet could not be effected by any ſeparate Society, in the Period aſſigned for it, the only probable Opinion is, that it was undertook, and executed by the united Labours of all the People that were then on the Face of the Earth. 'Tis not unlikely however, that, after the Diſperſion of the People, and their leaving the Place unfiniſh'd, Nimrod, and his Subjects, coming out of Arabia, or ſome other neighbouring Country, might after their Fright was over, ſettle at Babel, and there building the City of Babylon, and repairing the Tower, make it the Metropolis (as afterwards it was) of all the Aſſyrian Empire.

To this Purpoſe, there is a very remarkable Paſſage in Diodorus Siculus, where he tells us, 'That on the 'Walls of one of the Babylonian Palaces were pourtray'd 'a general Hunting of all Sorts of wild Beaſts, with 'the Figure of a Woman on Horſe-back, piercing a 'Leopard, and a Man fighting with a Lion; and that, 'on the Walls of the other Palace were Armies in Bat-'talia, and Huntings of ſeveral Kinds.' Now of this Nimrod, the ſacred Hiſtorian informs us, that he was a great and remarkable Hunter, ſo as to paſs into a Proverb; and this Occupation he might rather purſue, as the beſt Means for training up his Companions to Exploits of War, and of making himſelf popular, by the Glory he gained, and the publick Good he did, in deſtroying thoſe wild Beaſts, which, at that Time, infeſted the World. And as this was a Part of his Character, the moſt rational Account that we can give of theſe Ornaments on the Babylonian Palaces, is, that they were ſet up by ſome of Nimrod's Deſcendants, in their Anceſtor's Imperial City, in Memory of the great Founder of their Family, and of an Empire, which afterwards grew ſo famous.

Eutychius, Patriarch of Alexandria, will needs have it, that Nimrod was the firſt Author of the Religion of the Magians, the Worſhippers of Fire: And from hence, very probably, Dr. Teniſon has thought, that the Tower of Babel (whoſe Form was pyramidal, as he ſays, and ſo reſembling Fire, whoſe Flame aſcends in a conick Shape) was a Monument deſign'd for the Honour of the Sun, as the moſt probable Cauſe of drying up the Waters of the Flood. For, 'tho' the Sun, ſays 'he, was not merely a God of the Hills, yet the Hea-'thens thought it ſuitable to his advanc'd Station, to 'worſhip him upon Aſcents, either natural, or, where 'the Country was flat, artificial, that they might ap-'proach, as near as poſſibly they conld, the Deity they 'ador'd.' This certainly accounts for God's Diſpleaſure againſt the Builders, and why he was concern'd to defeat their Undertaking; but, as there is no Foundation for this Conjecture in Scripture, and the Date of this Kind of Idolatry was not perhaps ſo early as is pretended; the two Ends, which Moſes declares the Builders had in View, in forming their Project, will be Motives ſufficient for their undertaking it.

For, if we conſider, that they were now in the Midſt of a vaſt Plain, undiſtinguiſh'd by Roads, Buildings, or Boundaries of any Kind, except Rivers; that the Proviſion of Paſture, and other Neceſſaries, oblig'd them to ſeparate; and that, when they were ſeparated, there was a Neceſſity of ſome Land-mark to bring them together again upon Occaſion, otherwiſe, all Communication, and, with it, all the Pleaſures of Life, muſt be cut off; we can hardly imagine any Thing more natural, and fit for this Purpoſe, than the Erection of a Tower, large and lofty enough to be ſeen at great Diſtances, and, conſequently, ſufficient to guide them from all Quarters of that immenſe Region; and, when they had Occaſion to correſpond, or come together, nothing certainly could be more proper, than the contiguous Buildings of a City, for their Reception, and convenient Communication.

If we conſider likewiſe, that all the Pride and Magnificence of their Anceſtors were now defac'd, and utterly deſtroy'd by the Deluge, without the leaſt Remains, or Memorial of their Grandeur; that, conſequently, the Earth was a clear Stage, whereon to erect new and unrivall'd Monuments of Glory and Renown to themſelves; and that, at this Juncture, they wanted neither Art nor Abilities, neither Numbers nor Materials, to make themſelves Maſters of what their Vanity projected; we may reaſonably ſuppoſe, that this Affectation of Renown was another Motive to their Undertaking; ſince it is very well known, that this is the very Principle, which has, all along, govern'd the whole Race of Mankind, in all the Works, Monuments of Magnificence, the Mauſoleums, Pillars, Palaces, Pyramids, and whatever has been erected of any pompous Kind, from the Foundation of the World to this very Day.

Let us now conſider the Dimenſions of this Tower of Babel. It is the Opinion of the learned Bochart, that, whatever we read of the Tower, enclos'd in the Temple of Belus, may very properly be applied to the Tower of Babel; becauſe, upon due Search and Examination, he conceives them to be one and the ſame Structure. Now of this Tower Herodotus tells us, that it was a Square of a Furlong on each Side, i. e. half a Mile in the whole Circumference, whoſe Height, being equal to its Baſis, was divided into eight Towers, built one upon another; but what made it look as if it was divided into eight Towers, was very probably the Manner of its Aſcent. The Paſſage to go up it, continues our Author, was a circular or winding Way, carried round the Outſide of the Building to its higheſt Point. From whence it ſeems moſt likely, that the whole Aſcent was, by the Benching-in, drawn in a ſloping Line, from the Bottom to the Top eight Times round it, which would make the Appearance of eight Towers one above another. This Way was ſo exceeding broad, that it afforded Space for Horſes and Carts, and other Means of Carriage to meet and turn; and the Towers, which look'd like ſo many Stories upon one another, were each of them ſeventy five Foot high, in which were many ſtately Rooms, with arch'd Roofs, ſupported by Pillars, which were made Parts of the Temple, after the Tower became conſecrated to that idolatrous Uſe; and, on the uppermoſt of the Towers, which was held more ſacred, and where their moſt ſolemn Devotions were perform'd, there was an Obſervatory, by the Benefit of which it was, that the Babylonians advanc'd their Skill in Aſtronomy, beyond all other Nations.

In this Condition continued the Tower of Babel, or the Temple of Belus, until the Time of Nebuchadnezzar; but he enlarged it by vaſt Buildings, which were erected round it, in a Square of two Furlongs on every Side or a Mile in Circumference; and enclos'd the Whole with a Wall of two Miles and a half in Circumference, in which were ſeveral Gates leading to the Temple, all of ſolid Braſs, which very probably were made of the brazen Sea, the brazen Pillars, and the other brazen Veſſels, which were carried to Babylon from the Temple of Jeruſalem. This Tower did not ſubſiſt much above an hundred Years, when Xerxes coming from his Grecian Expedition, wherein he had ſuffer'd a vaſt Loſs of Men and Money, out of Pretence of Religion (as being himſelf a Magian, and, conſequently, deteſting the Worſhip of God by Images) but, in reality, with a Deſign to repair the Damages he had ſuſtain'd, he demoliſhed it, and laid it all in Rubbiſh; having firſt plunder'd it of all its immenſe Riches, among which were ſeveral Images, or Statues, of maſſy Gold, and one particularly of forty Feet high, which, very probably, was that which Nebuchadnezzar conſecrated in the Plains of Dura.

Having here finiſh'd our Account of the Tower of Babel, we ſhall now proceed to ſpeak of the Language of the People, and the Confuſion of it at Babel. In the firſt Verſe it is ſaid, that the whole Earth was of one Language. That the Children of Noah, ſays Patrick, did ſpeak the ſame Language with Adam, is very manifeſt; becauſe Methuſelah, the Grandfather of Noah, liv'd a conſiderable Time with him, and queſtionleſs ſpake the ſame Language. And that this Language was no other than the Hebrew, is very probable from this Argument, ---That Shem, the Son of Noah, was for ſome Time contemporary with Abraham, who deſcended from him, and whoſe Family continued the ſame Language that they both ſpake, until the Time of Moſes, who recorded the Hiſtory of his Nation in his native Language; ſo that what we have now in the Pentateuch, according to the Opinion of all Hebrew, and moſt Chriſtian Writers, is the very ſame with what God taught Adam, and Adam his Poſterity.

Let us confound their Language that they may not underſtand one another's Speech] Some Commentators, from the Word confound, are ready to infer, that God did not make ſome of theſe Builders ſpeak new, different Languages, only that they had ſuch a confus'd Remembrance of the original Language, they ſpake before, as made them ſpeak it in a quite different Manner: So that by the various Inflections, Terminations, and Pronunciations of divers Dialects, they cou'd no more underſtand one another, than thoſe, who underſtand Latin, can comprehend thoſe, who ſpeak French, Italian, or Spaniſh, tho' theſe Languages do certainly ariſe from it. But this we conceive to be a great Miſtake; not only becauſe it makes all Languages extant to be no more than ſo many different Dialects of the ſame Original, and conſequently reducible to it; but becauſe, upon Examination it will appear, that there are certain Languages in the World ſo entirely different from each other, that they agree in no one eſſential Property whatever, and muſt therefore, at this Time, have been of immediate Infuſion.

Since Moſes has no where acquainted us, ſays Heidegger, in what Manner the Confuſion of Languages was effected, every one is left to follow what Opinion he likes beſt, ſo long as that Opinion contains nothing incongruous to the receiv'd Rule of Faith: Nay it may not be inconvenient to produce ſeveral Opinions upon this Subject, to the Intent every one may embrace that, which ſeems to him moſt conformable to Truth. And therefore he inſtances in the Opinions of ſeveral learned Men, but in thoſe more particularly, of Julius Scaliger, who aſcribes this Event to a Confuſion of Notions, which God miraculouſly ſent among the Builders; and that of Iſaac Caſaubon, who will needs have all the different Languages, now extant, to be no more than Derivatives from the Hebrew.

It is not to be thought, ſays Patrick, and Wotton of the Confuſion of Languages at Babel, that there were as many Dialects, as there were Men at Babel, ſo that none of them underſtood one another. This wou'd not only have diſpers'd Mankind, but utterly deſtroyed them; becauſe it is impoſſible to live without Society, or to have any Society without underſtanding one another. It is likely therefore that every Family had its peculiar Dialect; or rather, that ſome common Dialect, or Form of ſpeaking, was given to thoſe Families, whom God deſign'd to make one Colony in the following Diſperſion. Into how many Languages the People were divided, it is impoſſible to determine. The Hebrews fancy Seventy, becauſe the Deſcendants of the Sons of Noah, as they are enumerated in Scripture, are juſt ſo many: The Greek Fathers make them ſeventy-two, becauſe the LXX Verſion adds two more, (Eliſa among the Sons of Japhet, and Canaan among the Sons of Shem) and the Latin Fathers follow them. But this is all Conjecture, and what is built upon a very weak Foundation. For, in many Places, ſo many People concurr'd in the Uſe of the ſame Speech, that of the Seventy ſcarce thirty remain'd diſtinct, as Bochart has obſerv'd: And among theſe others have ſuppos'd, that the Hebrew, Chaldee, and Arabick, in the Eaſt; the Greek and Latin in the Weſt; and the Finniſh, Sclavonian, Hungarian, Cantabrick, and the antient Gauliſh in the North, are generally reputed Originals; beſides ſome more that might be diſcover'd in Perſia, China, the Eaſt-Indies, the midland Parts of Africk, and all America, if we had but a ſufficient Knowledge of the Hiſtory of theſe People.

If we conſider the Time, ſays Stackhouſe, ſince the Building of the Tower of Babel, not yet 4000 Years, and the great Variety of Languages that are at preſent in the World; if we conſider, how entirely different ſome are to others, ſo that no Art of Etymology can reduce them to the leaſt Likeneſs of Conformity; and yet, in thoſe early Days, when the World was leſs peopled, and Navigation and Commerce not ſo much minded, there could not be that quick Progreſſion of Languages; and if we examine the Alteration, which ſuch Languages, as we are acquainted with, have made, in two or three thouſand Years paſt, where Colonies of different People have not been imported, we ſhall find the Difference between Language and Language to be ſo very great, and the Alteration of the ſame Language in a conſiderable Tract of Time, to be ſo very ſmall, that we ſhall be at a Loſs to conceive, whence ſo many, and ſo various Languages cou'd have proceeded, unleſs we take in the Account of Moſes, which unriddles the whole Difficulty, and juſtly aſcribes them to the ſame Almighty Power, which taught our firſt Parents to ſpeak one Tongue in the Beginning, and, in After-ages, inſpired the Apoſtles of Jeſus Chriſt with the Gift of many.

10 Theſe are the generations of Shem: Shem was an hundred years old, and begat Arphaxad two years after the flood: 11 And Shem lived after he begat Arphaxad five hundred years, and begat ſons and daughters. 12 And Arphaxad lived five and thirty years, and begat Salah. 13 And Arphaxad lived after he begat Salah four hundred and three years, and begat ſons and daughters. 14 And Salah lived thirty years, and begat Eber. 15 And Salah lived after he begat Eber four hundred and three years, and begat ſons and daughters. 16 And Eber lived four and thirty years, and begat Peleg. 17 And Eber lived after he begat Peleg four hundred and thirty years, and begat ſons and daughters. 18 And Peleg lived thirty years, and begat Reu. 19 And Peleg lived after he begat Reu two hundred and nine years, and begat ſons and daughters. 20 And Reu lived two and thirty years, and begat Serug. 21 And Reu lived after he begat Serug two hundred and ſeven years, and begat ſons and daughters. 22 And Serug lived thirty years, and begat Nahor. 23 And Serug lived after he begat Nahor two hundred years, and begat ſons and daughters. 24 And Nahor lived nine and twenty years, and begat Terah. 25 And Nahor lived after he begat Terah an hundred and nineteen years, and begat ſons and daughters. 26 And Terah lived ſeventy years, and begat Abram, Nahor, and Haran. 27 Now theſe are the generations of Terah: Terah begat Abram, Nahor, and Haran; and Haran begat Lot. 28 And Haran died before his father Terah, in the land of his nativity, in Ur of the Chaldees. 29 And Abram and Nahor took them wives: the name of Abrams wife was Sarai; the name of Nahors wife Milcah, the daughter of Haran, the father of Milcah, and the father of Iſcah. 30 But Sarai was barren; ſhe had no child. 31 And Terah took Abram his ſon, and Lot the ſon of Haran his ſons ſon, and Sarai his daughter-in-law, his ſon Abrams wife; and they went forth with them from Ur of the Chaldees, to go into the land of Canaan; and they came unto Haran, and dwelt there. 32 And the days of Terah were two hundred and five years: and Terah died in Haran.

Shem was an hundred Years old, and begat Arphaxad] In the Moſaic Hiſtory, ſays Miller in his Church Hiſtory, we ſee by what Degrees the long Lives, which preceded the Flood, were, after it, ſhorten'd. The firſt Generations recorded in Scripture, after the Deluge, Arphaxad, Salah, and Heber, lived above 430 Years, yet not ſo long as their Anceſtor Shem, who being born 100 Years before the Flood, liv'd above 500 after it. The three next Generations, Peleg, Reu, and Serug, liv'd not not much above 230 Years, and from their Time, only Terah liv'd above 200. All the others, after him, were below that Number, Moſes came not to be above 120; and, in his Days, he complains, that the Age of Man was ſhorten'd to about ſeventy or eighty Years; and near this Standard it has continued ever ſince.

Petavius ſuppoſes, that the Poſterity of Noah might beget Children at ſeventeen; that each of Noah's Sons might have eight Children, in eight Years after the Flood; and that every one of theſe eight might beget eight more; by this Means, in one Family (as in that of Japhet, 238 Years after the Flood) he makes a Diagram, conſiſting of almoſt an innumerable Company of Men. Temporarius (as the learned Uſher tells us) ſuppoſes, that all the Poſterity of Noah, when they attain'd twenty Years of Age, had every Year Twins; and hereupon he undertakes to make it appear, that, in 102 Years after the Flood, there would be in all 1,534,400, but without this Suppoſition of Twins, there wou'd, in that Time, be 388,605 Males, beſides Females. Others ſuppoſe, that each of the Sons of Noah had ten Sons, and, by that Proportion, in a few Generations the Amount will ariſe to many Thouſands, within a Century. Others again inſiſt upon the Parallel between the Multiplication of the Children of Iſrael in Egypt, and thereupon compute, that, if from 72 Men, in the Space of 215 Years, there were procreated 600,000, how many will be born of three Men in the Space of an 100 Years. But, what Method ſoever we take to come to a probable Conjecture, we ſtill have Cauſe to believe, that there was a more than ordinary Multiplication in the Poſterity of Noah after the Flood.

Various are the Ways, which have been attempted by learned Men, to ſhew the probable Increaſe of Mankind, in that Period of Time: But, ſays Stackhouſe, for our preſent Purpoſe, it will be ſufficient to ſuppoſe, that the firſt three Couples, i. e. Noah's three Sons and their Wives, in twenty Years Time after the Flood, might have thirty Pair, and, by a gradual Increaſe of ten Pair for each Couple in forty Years Time, till the three hundred and fortieth Year after the Flood, in which Peleg died, there might ariſe a ſufficient Number to ſpread Colonies over the Face of the whole Earth, as appears by the following Table.

The Name of Abram's Wife was Sarai] 'Tis very probable, ſays Patrick, that Sarai was called Iſcah, before ſhe left Ur; becauſe, in the 29th Verſe, we read that Haran had a Daughter of that Name, and yet we cannot ſuppoſe, but that, had ſhe been a diſtinct Perſon, Moſes would have given us an Account of her Deſcent, becauſe it ſo much concern'd his Nation to know from whom they came both by the Father's and Mother's Side.

They went forth from Ur of the Chaldees] The City of Ur was in Chaldee, ſays Wells in his Geography, as the Scripture aſſures us in more Places than one; but ſtill its true Situation is not ſo well known. For ſome think it to be the ſame as Camarina in Babylonia; others confound it with Orcha, or Orche, or Chaldea; while others take it to be Ura, or Sura, upon the Banks of the River Euphrates. Bochart and Grotius, maintain, that it is Ura, in the Eaſtern Part of Meſopotamia, which was ſometimes (as it appears from Acts vii. 4.) included under the Name Chaldea; and this Situation ſeems the more probable, not only becauſe it agrees with the Words of St. Stephen in the above cited Place, but with the Writings of Ammianus Marcellinus likewiſe, who himſelf travell'd this Country, and mentions a City of this Name, in the Place where Bochart ſuppoſes it, about two Days Journey from Niſibis.

And they came unto Haran] Haran, which is likewiſe called Charan, according to the Hebrew, and Charran, according to the Greek Pronunciation, was a City ſituated in the Weſt, or North-Weſt Part of Meſopotamia; on a River of the ſame Name, which very probably runs into the River Chaboras, as that does into the Euphrates. It is taken Notice of by Latin Writers, on Account of the great Overthrow, which the Parthians gave the Roman Army, under the Command of Craſſus, and, as ſome think, had its Name given by Terah, in Memory of Haran, his deceas'd Son. But others think it is much better deriv'd from the Word Hharar, which denotes its Soil to be hot and aduſt, as it appears to be from a Paſſage out of Plutarch, in the Life of Craſſus, and ſeveral other antient Teſtimonies. See Calmet, Wells, and Le Clerc.

And the Days of Terah were two hundred and five Years; and Terah died in Haran] St. Stephen (in Acts vii. 4.) tells us, that after the Death of his Father, Abraham remov'd from Haran, or, as he calls it, Charran, to the Land of Canaan. In Gen. xii. 4. we are told, that Abram was ſeventy five Years old, when he departed out of Charran. In Gen. xi. 26. it is ſaid, that Terah was ſeventy Years old, when he begat Abram; and yet, in Ver. 32. of the ſame Chapter it is affirm'd, that he died, being two hundred and five Years old. But, at this Rate, Terah muſt have lived ſixty Years after Abraham's going from Haran: For 75 (the Number of Abram's Years, when he left Haran) being added to 70, the Number of Terah's Years, when he begat Abram, make 145 Years only; whereas the Account in Geneſis is, that he liv'd 205. This therefore muſt certainly proceed from a Fault crept into the Text of Moſes; becauſe of the two hundred and five Years, which are given to Terah, when he died at Haran, he only liv'd an hundred and forty five, according to the Samaritan Verſion, and the Samaritan Chronicle, which without Doubt, do agree with the Hebrew Copy, from which they were tranſlated. See Eſſay for a new Tranſlation.

CHAP. XII.

God commands Abram to leave his Country and Kindred, and, for his Encouragement, gives him ſeveral great and precious Promiſes. He travels through Canaan, which is promis'd him in a Viſion. A Famine obliges him to flee into Egypt, where, through Fear, he fains his Wife to be his Siſter. Pharaoh takes her from him, but, by Plagues, is compell'd to reſtore her.

Ver. 1. NOW the Lord had ſaid unto Abram, Get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and from thy fathers houſe, unto a land that I will ſhew thee. 2 And I will make of thee a great nation, and I will bleſs thee, and make thy name great; and thou ſhalt be a bleſſing. 3 And I will bleſs them that bleſs thee, and curſe him that curſeth thee: and in thee ſhall all families of the earth be bleſſed. 4 So Abram departed, as the Lord had ſpoken unto him; and Lot went with him: and Abram was ſeventy and five years old when he departed out of Haran. 5 And Abram took Sarai his wife, and Lot his brothers ſon, and all their ſubſtance that they had gathered, and the ſouls that they had gotten in Haran; and they went forth to go into the land of Canaan, and into the land of Canaan they came. 6 And Abram paſſed through the land unto the place of Sichem, unto the plain of Moreh. And the Canaanite was then in the land. 7 And the Lord appeared unto Abram, bram, and ſaid, Unto thy ſeed will I give this land: and there builded he an altar unto the Lord, who appeared unto him. 8 And he removed from thence unto a mountain on the eaſt of Bethel, and pitched his tent, having Bethel on the weſt, and Hai on the eaſt: and there he builded an altar unto the Lord, and called upon the name of the Lord. 9 And Abram journeyed, going on ſtill toward the ſouth.

Get thee out of this Country,---unto a Land that I will ſhew thee] It is very probable, that this was done by ſome Appearance or other of the Shechinah, going before him, even as afterwards, his Poſterity was conducted in the Way thither; ſince, paſſing over Rivers, climbing Mountains, and travelling through a dangerous and vaſt Deſart, he had certainly need of an extraordinary and divine Direction, and ſome ſenſible Exhibition or Token of it, while he had nothing but the Promiſe of God to ſupport him, in ſo long, and ſo hazardous a Journey.

And in thee ſhall all Families of the Earth be bleſſed] Some Interpreters have imagin'd, ſays Bp. Sherlock, that theſe Words require no higher Senſe than this,--- That all Nations ſhould ſee the Proſperity of Abraham and his Seed, ſo evidently, that they ſhould bleſs themſelves, and others, in ſome ſuch Form as this, God make thee as great as Abraham and his Seed. But, beſides the Incongruity of ſuppoſing, that God's everlaſting Covenant (as he calls it, Gen. xvii. 19.) was given only to produce a proverbial Form of Speech, 'tis plain Matter of Fact, that the Poſterity of Abraham, in the Line of Iſaac, was far from being the moſt proſperous (as to temporal Affairs) of all the other Branches of his Family; and therefore this Promiſe muſt of Neceſſity be ſuppos'd to relate to ſome more ſpiritual and diſtant Bleſſing, juſt as St. Paul, in his Epiſtle to the Galatians, has explain'd it: Now to Abraham and his Seed were the Promiſes made, he ſaith not, and to Seeds, as of many, but of one, and to thy Seed, which is Chriſt, Gal. iii. 16.

And into the Land of Canaan they came] The Land of Canaan, ſays Lamy, lies between the Mediterranean Sea and the Mountains of Arabia, and extends from Egypt to Phœnicia. It is bounded to the Eaſt, by the Mountains of Arabia; to the South, by the Wilderneſs of Paran, Idumea, and Egypt; to the Weſt, by the Mediterranean, called in Hebrew, the Great Sea; and to the North, by the Mountains of Libanus. Its Length from the City of Dan (ſince called Cæſarea Philippi, or Paneadis, which ſtands at the Foot of theſe Mountains) to Beerſheba, is about ſeventy Leagues, and its Breadth, from the Mediterranean Sea to the Eaſtern Borders, is, in ſome Places thirty. It was firſt called the Land of Canaan, from Cainan, the Son of Ham, whoſe Poſterity poſſeſſed it. It was afterwards called Paleſtine, from the People which the Hebrews called Philiſtines, and the Greeks and Romans corruptly Paleſtines, who inhabited the Sea-coaſts, and were firſt known to them. It likewiſe had the Name of the Land of Promiſe, from the Promiſe God made Abraham of giving it to him; that of the Land of Iſrael, from the Iſraelites having made themſelves Maſters of it; that of Judah, from the Tribe of Judah, which was the moſt conſiderable of the Twelve; and, laſtly, the Happineſs it had of being ſanctified by the Preſence, Actions, Miracles, and Death of Jeſus Chriſt, has given it the Name of the Holy Land, which it retains to this Day.

And Abram paſſed through the Land, unto the Plain of Sichem, unto the Plain of Moreh] The City of Sichem, or Sechem, or Sychar (for it had all theſe Names) was, at this Time, ſo called by way of Anticipation, (for as yet it was not founded) is a Town of Samaria, in the Borders of Ephraim, which ſtands in a narrow Valley, between Gerazim on the South, and Ebal on the North, being built at the Foot of the former. At preſent it is called Naphorus, and conſiſts only of two Streets, lying Parallel under Mount Gerazim, and is far from being in the flouriſhing Condition it was once, tho' it is ſtill full of People, and the Seat of a Baſſa. The true Name which was given it by Abram was Moreh, or Allon Moreh, which our Tranſlation renders the Plain of Moreh; by St. Jerom, the illuſtrious Vale; by the Jeruſalem Targum, the Valley of Viſion, becauſe of God's appearing to Abraham here; and by others, the Oak of Moreh, or the illuſtrious Oak, &c. though it ſeems very probable, that there was in this Place, not only one ſingle Tree, but a whole Grove of them, and therefore it is called Allon, or Aulon, being a Corruption from Elon, in Latin Eſculetum; i. e. an Oaken Grove, or Foreſts of Ever-green Oaks: And ſince this was the Place where Abraham, at his firſt coming into the Country, built an Altar, we have great Reaſon to be of the ſame Opinion with the learned and ſagacious Mr. Mede, viz. that this Allon-Moreh was a Place of Divine Worſhip, a Proſeucha, or open Oratory, in Imitation of which, the Jewiſh Proſeuchæ (which were certain Spaces of Ground, with an Altar in the Midſt, encompaſſed with a Wall, or ſome other Encloſure, but open above, and ſhaded with Trees) in after Ages were ſet up. See Wells's Geograph. of the N. Teſt. Vol. 1. and Biblioth. Bibl. Vol. 1. Occaſ. Annot. 18. where the Reader may meet with a particular Enumeration, upon how many Accounts more, the Place was, in former Times, very famous.

And the Canaanite was then in the Land] From whence ſome have raiſed an Objection, that Moſes could not be the Author of this Book of Geneſis, becauſe the Words ſeem to import, that the Writer of them lived after that the Canaanites were drove out of the Land, which was after Moſes's Death. But, in Anſwer to this, it may be obſerved, that, as by the Land here, we are not obliged to underſtand the whole Country, but only that Part of it which lay about Sichem, ſo by the Canaanite, we need not mean the whole Poſterity of Canaan, or all the Canaaniti/h Tribes, but only one particular Tribe of them, as in the very next Chapter, Ver. 7. is more diſtinctly expreſſed. And the Reaſon why this is taken Notice of by the ſacred Hiſtorian, is beſt accounted for in that antient Tradition in Epiphanius, if we will allow it to be true, viz. that, according to the original Settlement and Diſtribution among the Sons of Noah, Paleſtine was not allotted to any of the Sons of Ham, but was uſurped by Canaan from the Children of Ham, to whom it did of Right belong; ſo that theſe Words, the Canaanite was then in the Land, ſignify, that they had already invaded the Land, before Abram came thither, and therefore God's promiſing to give it him, was only in order to reſtore that to the Poſterity of Shem, which the Children of Ham had wrongfully ſeized. See Patrick's Com. and Biblioth. Bibl. Vol. I.

And the Lord appeared unto Abram, and ſaid---] The uſual Ways, recorded in the Old Teſtament of God's revealing himſelf to his Servants, were by Dreams, by Voices, and by Apparitions. 1. Dreams are, in ſome Places, call'd Viſions, and Viſions of the Night, becauſe Perſons, under this Form of Revelation, ſaw Things, and heard Voices, as plainly to all Imagination, as if they had been awake: But what Sort of Ideas and Images affected their Minds at ſuch a Time, and how they diſtinguiſh'd divine Dreams from ſuch, as were purely natural, we are no where told; only, if we may be allow'd to conjecture, 1*ſt*, ſuch Dreams as were divine, had none of thoſe confus'd and idle Phantoms, which are found in other Dreams, but diſtinctly repreſented to their Minds whatever Things, or Beings, God was pleaſed to ſend, without any Mixture of foreign Images, or Words. 2*dly*, They were more lively than other Dreams, their Images were ſtrong and vigorous, and fix'd deeply in the Soul; and, 3*dly*, they were either attended with the Voices of God or Angels, ſpeaking diſtinctly to them, or had ſome particular Inſtinct always accompanying them. 2. Voices were frequently heard without any Appearance or Repreſentation, and proceeded ſometimes from the Clouds, from out of the Fire, out of the Whirlwind, &c. in which Caſes, to judge of the Veracity of a Revelation, it it was generally thought, that when the Voice was greater than any human Voice, (as it was on the Top of the Mountain when God deliver'd the Law) or proceeded from a Place, where no human Creature was, (as in the Inſtance before) that came either from God himſelf, or from ſome Meſſenger ſent from Heaven. 3. At other Times, a Figure or Reſemblance has appear'd to Perſons awake, talk'd with them, and done ſeveral Things in their Company, as if it had been a human Creature; and yet the Event has ſhewn, that it was either God himſelf, or an Angel conceal'd in human Shape. And, in this Caſe, the Way of diſcerning them ſeems to have been, either by the Air or Majeſty of their Looks, (as in the Angel that appear'd to Manoah's Wife) or by ſome miraculous Actions, that were above the Power of human Performance (as in that which appeared to Gideon.) In any of theſe Methods of Revelation, where theſe ſeveral Circumſtances concurr'd, it was always preſum'd, that the Dream, or Voice, or Viſion, was from God; ſince it is not to be ſuppos'd, that he, who ſees and hears all Things, and himſelf is a Lover of Truth, would ever ſuffer thoſe that love and fear him, to be impos'd upon by evil Spirits, or even perplex'd with the phantaſtical Operations of Nature itſelf. See Stackhouſe's, Body of Divinity, Part. ii. C. 3.

10 And there was a famine in the land: and Abram went down into Egypt to ſojourn there; for the famine was grievous in the land. 11 And it came to paſs, when he was come near to enter into Egypt, that he ſaid unto Sarai his wife, Behold now I know that thou art a fair woman to look upon. 12 Therefore it ſhall come to paſs, when the Egyptians ſhall ſee thee, that they ſhall ſay, This is his wife: and they will kill me, but they will ſave thee alive. 13 Say, I pray thee, thou art my ſiſter: that it may be well with me for thy ſake; and my ſoul ſhall live becauſe of thee. 14 And it came to paſs, that when Abram was come into Egypt, the Egyptians beheld the woman, that ſhe was very fair. 15 The princes alſo of Pharaoh ſaw her, and commended her before Pharaoh: and the woman was taken into Pharaohs houſe. 16 And he entreated Abram well for her ſake: and he had ſheep and oxen, and he-aſſes, and men-ſervants, and maid-ſervants, and ſhe-aſſes, and camels. 17 And the Lord plagued Pharaoh and his houſe with great plagues, becauſe of Sarai Abrams wife. 18 And Pharaoh called Abram, and ſaid, What is this that thou haſt done unto me? Why didſt thou not tell me that ſhe was thy wife? 19 Why ſaidſt thou, She is my ſiſter? ſo I might have taken her to me to wife: now therefore, behold thy wife, take her, and go thy way. 20 And Pharaoh commanded his men concerning him: and they ſent him away, and his wife, and all that he had.

And there was a Famine in the Land, and Abram went down into Egypt] Joſephus tells us, that Abraham, underſtanding that there was a great Plenty in Egypt, reſolv'd upon a Journey thither, not only to partake of their Plenty, but alſo to conſult the Prieſts in their Profeſſion in divine Matters, with an impartial Deſire and Diſpoſition to find out the Truth, and either to give, or receive Satisfaction, according as the Subject in Queſtion did require; that here he gained himſelf infinite Credit, not only for the Solidity of his Judgment, and an admirable Felicity of Elocution, but for his inſtructive Talent of informing, and convincing his Hearers at once; and that here he read Lectures of Aſtronomy and Arithmetick, which the Egyptians underſtood nothing of, until Abraham brought them with him out of Chaldee into Egypt, from whence they paſſed into Greece.

Say, I pray thee, thou art my Siſter] Abraham, in the Age wherein he liv'd, was certainly accounted a Man of great Piety and Worth. We have, ſays Stackhouſe, the Teſtimony of ſeveral Heathen Authors in his Favour, and Beroſus, in particular, (as he is quoted by Joſephus) gives us this Character of him, viz. That in the tenth Generation, after the Flood, there was a Man among the Chaldeans, who was very juſt, and great, and ſought after heavenly Things. But notwithſtanding this, it muſt be acknowledged, that, in this Inſtance of denying his Wife Sarah, he was guilty, at leaſt, of a manifeſt Diſſimulation.

'Tis in vain to ſay, that ſhe was his Siſter by another Wife, whom his Father Terah might marry, after the Death of his Mother; for this brings upon him the Charge of Inceſt. 'Tis in vain to ſay, that as he was a Prophet, he was directed by the Holy Spirit to make Uſe of this Subterfuge, in order to preſerve his Life; for this is making God the Author of Sin. 'Tis in vain to ſay, that what he declared was Truth, tho' not the whole Truth; that he conceal'd what was proper, and told nothing that was falſe; becauſe his declaring her to be his Siſter, was, in Effect, denying her to be h Wife, which was a direct Falſhood. Men certainly have a Right to conceal their Sentiments, upon ſeveral Occaſions, by a prudent Silence; but whenever they make Uſe of Words, and pretend thereby to diſcover their Thoughts, they impoſe upon their Hearers, if they do not really expreſs what they pretend: And in this the Formality of Lying does conſiſt, in a ſetled Intention to deceive others. 'For, ſays Bp Smalridge, 'whatever is ſaid, whether in itſelf it be true or falſe, 'whether it agrees with the Thoughts of the Speaker 'or not, yet, if it plainly tends to deceive the Hearer; 'if he, who ſays it, perceives the Tendency, and ac-'cordingly uſes it to this End, however diſguiſed it is, 'under whatever Forms it is expreſſed, it is to all In-'tents and purpoſes, a Lie.'

'Tis in vain then to aſſoil the Patriarch from the Imputation of Lying or Diſſimulation in this Caſe; but then this may be ſaid in Extenuation of his Fault, ---- That it proceeded from a Weakneſs of Faith, and a Prevalency of Fear, which are ſometimes found to be incident to the beſt of Men. He conſider'd himſelf as a Stranger, among a licentious Sort of People, and expoſed to the Power of an arbitrary Government; and, from a Principle of worldly Caution, both to preſerve his own Life, and his Wife's Modeſty, he concluded that this would be the beſt Expedient; but much more wiſely had he done, had he committed the whole Matter to God's Management, in Reliance on his Promiſes, and in Confidence of his Protection.

It cannot however, with any tolerable Conſtruction, be charged upon him (as ſome have done) that he went about to betray his Wife's Chaſtity; ſince, according to his preſent Sentiments, he took the moſt effectual Method to prevent it. For, in declaring her to be his Siſter, he made it known that ſhe was committed to his Care and Diſpoſal; and from hence he ſuppoſed it would come to paſs, that, if any of the Country was minded to make his Addreſſes to the Siſter, he would, of Courſe, come and apply himſelf to the Brother. The firſt Motions of Love he knew were moſt impetuous, and apt to hurry Men into Violence and Outrage; and therefore he thought with himſelf, that, if he ſhould paſs for her Huſband, ſuch as were in Love with her, would have no other Way of accompliſhing their Deſires, but at the Expence of his Life: Whereas, if he paſs'd for her Brother, Time might be gain'd, the Treaty of Marriage prolong'd, and ſeveral unforeſeen Accidents happen, that might give the divine Providence a ſeaſonable Opportunity to interpoſe in his Favour, as we find it did.

Nor can the Preſents, which both Pharaoh and Abimelech gave Abraham upon the Delivery of his Wife, with any Juſtice, be imputed to his Management; ſince they were both voluntary Acknowledgments for his interceding for them; Oblations of Gratitude for their Recovery from the ſore Plagues wherewith God had afflicted them; and a Kind of Commutation for the Injury and Affront they had put upon Perſons, ſo highly favour'd by God.

The Princes alſo of Pharaoh ſaw her] Pharaoh was the common Name for all the Egyptian Kings, for above 3300 Years (as Joſephus tells us) but what its proper Etymology is, the Learned are not ſo well agreed. Bochart thinks, that the Word Pharaoh ſignifies a Crocodile, and that Ezekiel alludes to it in theſe Words: Behold, I am againſt thee, Pharaoh, King of Egypt, the great Dragon, that lieth in the midſt of the River, Ezek. xxix. 3. M. Le Clerc fancies, that the Arabick Word Pharaoh, to be raiſed on high, or to be ſuperior to, is the true Root of the Name. Kircher does indeed derive the Word from the ſame Root, but will have it ſignify to deliver, or free; and that Pharaoh therefore ſignifies to be exempt from the Juriſdiction of the Laws. And (to name no more) the learned Renaudot thinks, that Pharaoh is the ſame with the Egyptian Pourro, or Pooro, which ſignifies a King.

Who the particular Prince was, here ſpoken of, is ſo uncertain, that it would be loſt Labour to endeavour the Determination thereof. The learned Archbiſhop Uſher thinks it was Æpophis; but he does not aſſign any Reaſons for his being of that Opinion.

And commended her before Pharaoh] The King of Egypt was, it ſeems, inclin'd to Women, and the Flattery of his Courtiers turned, as it naturally does, on that Point in which they perceived their Prince to be moſt weak. As the Egyptians were always a ſallow-coloured People, ſo a Woman of a fair Complexion muſt neceſſarily paſs for a great Beauty among them. It ſeems therefore, that Abram had very juſt Reaſons to fear the Effects of his Wife's Charms; eſpecially if, as ſome Commentators ſay, the Egyptians were always a People of warm Inclinations.

And the Lord plagued Pharaoh and his Houſe with great Plagues] Commentators have advanced many Conjectures on this Head, which have little Probability in them: They fancy that the Egyptians were plagued with Ulcers, in ſuch a Manner, that it was impoſſible for them to converſe with Women. That Pharaoh, thereupon, conſulted with his Prieſts, concerning the Cauſe which had drawn this heavy Evil upon him; and being told by them, that this Curſe proceeded from the Injury he intended to offer to the Stranger's Wife, he thereupon ſummoned Abram, and reproached him for the Deception he had put upon him. Now there is not, as I can ſee, ſays Campbel, any Neceſſity for framing this long Story. If Pharaoh was a Prince of any Sagacity, he might eaſily ſuſpect the Ground of his Puniſhment, without having Recourſe to his Prieſts. And we cannot conceive that Sarai, if ſtrictly examin'd, and well aſſured that the Life of her Huſband was not in Danger, would perſiſt in the Deceit. But moſt of our Interpreters have followed what is ſaid, on this Subject, by Joſephus, a Writer who diſcovers, on all Occaſions, a manifeſt Inclination to do Honour to his own Nation, by giving ſuch Turns as theſe to the plain and ſimple Narrations, delivered in the holy Scriptures. According to him, Pharaoh excuſed himſelf to Abram, after the beſt Manner he was able, for what had happened, preſenting him, by Way of Compenſation for his Trouble, with a large Sum of Money; giving him, at the ſame Time, Permiſſion to converſe with the Prieſts, and other learned Men in Egypt; whereby the Patriarch had an Opportunity of diſcovering the Superſtition of their religious Ceremonies, and the Folly and Inconſiſtency of their Opinions, as to divine Matters. Abram alſo read Lectures in Arithmetick, and Aſtronomy to this People, who were, as yet, unacquainted with theſe Sciences; and, from the Solidity of his Diſcourſes, and a certain Facility he had in ſpeaking, Abram became a Perſon of great Conſideration, and in high Eſteem among the People of the Land.

CHAP. XIII.

Abram and Lot leave Egypt, and travel till they come to Bethel. Upon a Quarrel between their Herdſmen, they part their Subſtance, and Lot chuſes the Plain of Sodom. God renews his Promiſe with Abram, who removes to Hebron, and there builds an Altar.

Ver. 1. AND Abram went up out of Egypt, he, and his wife, and all that he had, and Lot with him, into the ſouth. 2 And Abram was very rich in cattel, in ſilver, and in gold. 3 And he went on his journeys from the ſouth, even to Bethel, unto the place where his tent had been at the beginning, between Bethel and Hai; 4 Unto the place of the altar, which he had made there at the firſt: and there Abram called on the name of the Lord. 5 And Lot alſo which went with Abram had flocks, and herds, and tents. 6 And the land was not able to bear them, that they might dwell together: for their ſubſtance was great, ſo that they could not dwell together. 7 And there was a ſtrife between the herdſmen of Abrams cattel and the herdſmen of Lots cattel: And the Canaanite and the Perizzite dwelled then in the land. 8 And Abram ſaid unto Lot, Let there be no ſtrife, I pray thee, between me and thee, and between my herdſmen and thy herdſmen: for we be brethren. 9 Is not the whole land before thee? Separate thyſelf, I pray thee, from me: if thou wilt take the left hand, then I will go to the right; or if thou depart to the right hand, then I will go to the left. 10 And Lot lifted up his eyes, and beheld all the plain of Jordan, that it was well watered every where, before the Lord deſtroyed Sodom and Gomorrah, even as the garden of the Lord, like the land of Egypt, as thou comeſt unto Zoar. 11 Then Lot choſe him all the plain of Jordan; and Lot journeyed eaſt: and they ſeparated themſelves the one from the other. 12 Abram dwelled in the land of Canaan, and Lot dwelled in the cities of the plain, and pitched his tent toward Sodom. 13 But the men of Sodom were wicked, and ſinners before the Lord, exceedingly. 14 And the Lord ſaid unto Abram, after that Lot was ſeparated from him, Lift up now thine eyes, and look from the place where thou art, north-ward, and ſouth-ward, and eaſt-ward, and weſt-ward. 15 For all the land which thou ſeeſt, to thee will I give it, and to thy ſeed for ever. 16 And I will make thy ſeed as the duſt of the earth: ſo that if a man can number the duſt of the earth, then ſhall thy ſeed alſo be numbered. 17 Ariſe, walk through the land, in the length of it, and in the breadth of it: for I will give it unto thee. 18 Then Abram removed his tent, and came and dwelt in the plain of Mamre which is in Hebron, and built there an altar unto the Lord.

And Abram went up out of Egypt, he, and his Wife, and all that he had, and Lot with him into the South] By which we are not to underſtand, that they travelled from Egypt, Southwards, but that they went up into the Southern Parts of the Land of Canaan, as is evident from the Scripture itſelf.

And he went on his Journeys from the South, even to Beth-el] Beth-el is here ſpoken of proleptically; for it was

was not ſo called till after Times; its old Name was Luz. Some have been inclined to think, that Abram took Pleaſure in ſurveying that Land, which the Goodneſs of God had aſſured him ſhould, one Day, be inhabited by his Deſcendants. Others are of Opinion, that the Canaanites, being very ſuperſtitious, were offended with the Religion of Abram; and that, therefore, he choſe rather to ſojourn up and down, than by fixing himſelf to a certain Place, give them any Umbrage, of his deſigning to poſſeſs any Part of their Country. However, there is no Certainty in any of theſe Notions. It ſeems moſt probable, that, as Abram received frequent Directions from the Almighty, ſo his Conduct ought rather to be referred to the Obedience he paid to the Divine Commands, than to any other Motive.

And there was a Strife between the Herdſmen of Abram's Cattle, and the Herdſmen of Lot's Cattle] The Jews here tell us, that the Herdſmen of Abram were commanded by their Maſter not to go near the Canaanites, or the Perizzites, nor to come into the Grounds which they had taken, either for Culture or Paſturage, that ſo they might not appear to do the leaſt Injury to any of them; and that, in Obedience to his Command, they took eſpecial Care to confine all their Cattle, and to watch their Flocks with a ſtrict Eye, that none might go aſtray, and ſo treſpaſs upon the Natives; but that Lot's Herdſmen were herein very negligent, and ſuffered their Cattle to go beyond their Bounds, and to feed in the Fields which belonged to the Canaanites, and Perizzites, who dwelt then in the Land, and claimed the Sovereignty of it. See Biblioth. Bibl. Vol. I.

And the Canaanite, and the Perizzite dwelled then in the Land] The learned Mr. Bedford, in his Scripture Chronology, ſeems to have given us a better Account of theſe People than is to be met with in any other Author. He ſuppoſes that they are the ſame with the Paſtors who broke into Egypt, and there erected a Kingdom. About the Time when the Promiſe was given unto Abram, he ſuppoſes, that great Bodies of this People removed out of Egypt, where the Kings of the natural Egyptians began to grow too powerful for them, and that they ſetled in the Land of Canaan, living together in regular Plantations, and ſupportingthem ſelves much on Traffick. About the Time the Famine happened which drove Abram into Egypt, he thinks, that the Canaanites, who had hitherto kept together in great Bodies, were mightily diſtreſſed for Want of Proviſion and Paſturage, which occaſioned ſuch of them, as were rich only in Herds, to ſeparate from the reſt, and live up and down in Villages, according as they could find proper Places for feeding their Cattle, and affording ſuch other Conveniencies as they wanted. Theſe were called Perizzites, from the Life they led, that Word ſignifying in the Hebrew, Men who live in Hamlets, or ſmall open Towns. And indeed, if this Interpretation ſhould be admitted, it will give us better Notions of what is ſaid in the 6th Verſe of Ch. xii. and in the 7th Verſe of Ch. xiii. than otherwiſe can be had. For Moſes in the firſt Place relating Abram's Settlement at Sichem, tells us, that the Canaanite was then in the Land. In the ſecond Paſſage, we are told of the Strife between the Herdſmen of Abram's Cattle, and the Herdſmen of Lot's; and there it is added, that the Canaanites, and the Perizzites, dwelled then in the Land. To reconcile which, ſome have been bold enough to aſſert, that, originally, it was not ſo written, but that, by Degrees, what was in the Margin crept into the Text.

Behold all the Plain of Jordan, that it was well watered every where, before the Lord deſtroyed Sodom and Gomorrah, even as the Garden of the Lord, like the Land of Egypt, as thou comeſt unto Zoar] The laſt Clauſe, as thou comeſt to Zoar, has much perplexed Commentators, whilſt they refer it to the Land of Egypt, in the Clauſe immediately preceding; whereas, if what is ſaid by way of Compariſon of the Plain of Jordan to the Garden of the Lord, i. e. the Garden of Eden, and to the Land of Egypt, be underſtood as inſerted by way of Parentheſis, the Difficulty will be taken away, and the Import of the laſt Clauſe be plain and eaſy; for then the Meaning of the Verſe will amount to this,--- 'That before the Lord deſtroy'd Sodom and Gomorrah, the 'Plain of Jordan was well watered every where, as thou 'comeſt unto Zoar,' i. e. in the Parts where Sodom and Gomorrah ſtood, or, in ſhort, in the Vale of Siddim. But there is another Interpretation, which ſuppoſes the Word Zoar to be a falſe Reading for Zoan; a City that was once the Capital of Egypt, ſituate at the lower Part of the River Nile, where it divides itſelf into ſeveral Branches, and ſo waters the Country more plentifully thereabouts, than in any other Parts. According to which Reading the Import of the Verſe will be this,--- That the Plain of Jordan was well watered every where about Sodom and Gomorrah, before the Lord deſtroyed them; yea, the Plain was ſo well watered, that it was, in this Reſpect, as the Garden of Eden, or as the Land of Egypt, and particularly as thou goeſt to Zoan, i. e. in the Parts about Zoan, where the Nile is divided into ſeveral Branches. See Wells's Geogr. of the O. T. Vol. I.

Calmet obſerves, that the River Jordan, which runs through this Plain, is of ſo great Note in the ſacred Writings, that we muſt not paſs it by without this Obſervation,---That it derives its Name (as ſome aſſert) from the Hebrew Word Jor, which ſignifies a Spring, and Dan, which is a ſmall Town near the Source of this River. But the Misfortune is, that the Name of Dan is much more modern, than that of Jordan. From its Source, which we ſuppoſe to be at Cæſarea Philippi, it runs through a Space of about 50 Leagues, till it diſcharges itſelf into the Dead Sea, otherwiſe called the Aſphaltite Lake, where Sodom and Gomorrah, and the other Cities of the Plain, that were deſtroyed with Fire from Heaven, once ſtood. About five or ſix Leagues Diſtance from its Spring, it forms the Lake Semechon, and from thence it enters the Lake of Tiberias; paſſes quite through it, and ſo is quite loſt in the Dead Sea. Its Water, in Summer-time, is very ſhallow; but, about the Time of Barley-harveſt, or the Feaſt of the Paſſover, it conſtantly overflows its Banks, and greatly fructifies the Plain.

Then Abram removed his Tent, and came and dwelt in the Plain of Mamre, which is in Hebron] The ingenious Mr. Evelyn gives us a very curious Paſſage on this Subject. 'Abram, ſays he, might imitate what the moſt Religious of that Age had practiſed before him, when, as we read, he planted himſelf and Family in the Quercitum of Mamre; where, as Euſebius gives us the Account, he ſpread his pavilions, erected an Altar, offered and performed all the prieſtly Rites; and there, to the immortal Glory of the Oak, or rather Arboreous Temple, he entertained God himſelf. Iſidore, St. Jerome, and Sozomene, reported confidently, that one of the moſt eminent of thoſe Trees remained to the Reign of the Great Conſtantine, who founded a venerable Chapel under it; and that both the Chriſtians, Jews, and Arabs, held a ſolemn Anniverſary to ſtation there, and believed that, from the very Time of Noah, it had been a conſecrated Place: Sure we are, it was about ſome ſuch Aſſembly of Trees that God was pleaſed, firſt of all, to appear to the Father of the Faithful when he eſtabliſhed the Covenant with him; and more expreſly, when removing thence (upon confirming the League with Abimelech, Gen. xxi. and ſetling at Beerſheba) he deſigned an expreſs Place for God's Divine Service: For there, ſays the ſacred Text. he planted a Grove, and called upon the Name of the Lord. Such another Tuft we read of (for we muſt not always reſtrain it to one ſingle Tree) when the Patriarch came to Elon Moreh: But whether that were the ſame in which the High Prieſt repoſited the famous Stone, after the Exhortation mentioned Joſ. xxiv. 26. we do not contend; under an Oak, ſays the Scripture, and it grew near the Sanctuary, and probably might be that which his Grandchild conſecrated with the Funeral of his beloved Rebecca, Gen. xxxv. For it is apparent, by the Context, that there God appeared to him again: So Grotius upon the Words, Subter Quercum, &c. is Locus in honorem

The Battle of four Kings against five; the Sodomites and their Confederates routed, and Lot taken Prisoner; is rescued by Abram, who, in his Return from his Victory, visits Melchisedeck, and pays him Tithes, and is blessed by him; restores the King of Sodom his Goods, and divides the rest of the Spoil among his Partners in the Expedition.

Ver. 1. AND it came to pass in the days of Amraphel, king of Shinar, Arioch king of Ellasar, Kedorlaomer king of Elam, and Tidal king of nations. 2 That these made war with Bera king of Sodom, and with Birsha king of Gomorrah, Shinab king of Admah, and Shemeber king of Zeboiim, and the king of Bela, which is Zoar. 3 All these were joyned together in the vale of Siddim, which is the salt-sea. 4 Twelve years they served Chedorlaomer, and in the thirteenth year they rebelled. 5 And in the fourteenth year came Chedorlaomer, and the kings that were with him, and smote the Rephaims in Ashteroth Karnaim, and the Zuzims in Ham, and the Emims in Shaveh Kiriathaim, 6 And the Horites in their mount Seir, unto Elparan, which is by the wilderness. 7 And they returned, and came to En-mishpat, which is Kadesh, and smote all the country of the Amalekites, and also the Amorites, that dwelt in Hazezon-tamar. 8 And there went out the king of Sodom, and the king of Gomorrah, and the king of Admah, and the king of Zeboim, and the king of Bela (the same is Zoar) and they joyned battel with them in the vale of Siddim; 9 With Chedorlaomer the king of Elam, and with Tidal king of nations, and Amraphel king of Shinar, and Arioch king of Ellasar: four kings with five. 10 And the vale of Siddim was full of slime-pits, and the kings of Sodom and Gomorrah fled, and fell there: and they that remained fled to the mountain. 11 And they took all the goods of Sodom and Gomorrah, and all their victuals, and went their way. 12 And they took Lot Abrams brothers son (who dwelt in Sodom) and his goods, and departed. 13 And there came one that had escaped, and told Abram the Hebrew; for he dwelt in the plain of Mamre the Amorite, brother of Eshcol; and brother of Aner: and these were confederate with Abram. 14 And when Abram heard that his brother was taken captive, he armed his trained servants, born in his own house, three hundred and eighteen, and pursued them unto Dan. 15 And he divided himself against them, he and his servants by night, and smote them, and pursued them unto Hobah, which is on the left hand of Damascus: 16 And he brought back all the goods, and also brought again his brother Lot, and his goods, and the women also, and the people. 17 And the king of Sodom went out to meet him (after his return from the slaughter of Chedorlaomer and of the kings that were with him) at the valley of Shaveh, which is the kings dale. 18 And Melchizedek king of Salem brought forth bread and wine: and he was the priest of the most high God. 19 And he blessed him, and said, Blessed be Abram of the most high God, possessor of heaven and earth: 20 And blessed be the most high God, which hath delivered thine enemies into thy hand. And he gave him tithes of all. 21 And the king of Sodom said unto Abram, Give me the persons, and take the goods to thyself. 22 And Abram said to the king of Sodom, I have lift up mine hand unto the Lord, the most high God, the possessor of heaven and earth, 23 That I will not take from a thread even to a shoe-latchet, and that I will not take any thing that is thine, lest thou shouldest say, I have made Abram rich: 24 Save only that which the young men have eaten, and the portion of the men which went with me, Aner, Eshcol, and Mamre; let them take their portion.

And it came to pass in the Days of Amraphel King of Shinar, Arioch King of Ellasar, Chedorlaomer King of Elam, and Tidal King of Nations] We meet no where, says Shuckford, in profane History, with the Name of Chedorlaomer, nor with any of those Names of the Kings that were confederate with him: And the Reason hereof is, that Ctesias (from whom profane Historians took the Names of these Kings) did not use their original Assyrian Names in his History, but rather such as he found in the Persian Records. However, since the Date of this Transaction falls four Years before the Death of Ninyas, there are Grounds to infer, that Ninyas, who then lived in Persia, was the Chedorlaomer of Moses, at that Time the Head of the Assyrian Monarchy; that Amraphel was his Deputy at Babylon in Shinar; and Arioch and Tidal his Deputies over some other adjacent Countries: For it is remarkable, that Ninyas was the first who had appointed under him such Deputies; nor is there any Absurdity in Moses in calling them Kings, since it is observable, from what Isaiah hinted afterwards, (Ch. x. 8.) that the Assyrian boasted his Deputy-princes to be equal to royal Governors, Are not my Princes altogether Kings?

The Penmen of the Holy Scriptures call all Princes, Kings of those Countries in which they resided, without having Respect to the lesser or greater Extent of their Dominions. Chedorlaomer is here styled King of Elam, or Persia, because he established the Seat of his Empire there; the three other Kings, mentioned as his Confederates, were indeed no other than his Deputies, or Viceroys; Amraphel in Shinar, Arioch at Ellasar, and Tidal over several Countries, from whence he is called in Scripture, King of Nations. It has been urged as an Objection to this Account, that Elam, or Persia, was at a great Distance from Canaan and the Plain of Sodom, and indeed so appears to be from the Mosaic Relation, wherein the Space of a Year is said to have elapsed before Chedorlaomer came with his Army against the King of the five Cities, which agrees very well with the Time in which the News of this Rebellion might be carried, and that wherein such a Body of Forces became their Confederates. Another Objection has been started, from the supposed Power of the Assyrian Emperors, as if it would have been unworthy of so great a Monarch, to have marched at the Head of his Army against Potentates of so little Force as these Princes, who had each but a City for his Kingdom, must necessarily have been. To this it's answer'd, That the Mosaic Account of Chedorlaomer's Expedition renders this perfectly clear: That King is said to have reduced the Rephaims, a People so distinguished for their Strength, that the Septuagint calls them Giants. The Zuzims, and Emims also, were defeated by Chedorlaomer, and, in a Word, he reduced all the Nations which lay between what was afterwards called the Country of Amalek, and the Plain of Siddim, and this, it is evident, could not have been effected without a considerable Strength, which must have been weakened and impaired before the Engagement in the Plain of Siddim; after which, his Army being loaded with Plunder, it appears to have been a Course perfectly just and reasonable for him to return, with his Troops, into his his own Territories, for Fear of ſuch an Accident happening as that which afterwards befel him. Some indeed, have taken either Amraphel King of Shinar, or Tidal, King of Nations, for the Aſſyrian Emperor, and have made Chedorlaomer his Deputy. It would take up too much Time to refute their Arguments here, and therefore I ſhall only obſerve, that the literal Senſe of the Moſaic Hiſtory is expreſly in Favour of that Opinion which is above given.

And ſmote the Rephaims] Theſe People are thought to have dwelt in Baſhan, on the other Side of Jordan. The Zuzims, Emims, and Horites, were their Neighbours, and poſſeſſed that Country which was afterwards called Edom, and lay Eaſt from the Country about Sodom.

And the Vale of Siddim was full of Slime-pits; and the Kings of Sodom and Gomorrah fled, and fell there] As the Text tells us, that the Kings of Sodom and Gomorrah fell into the Slime-pits, with which the Valley of Siddim abounds, and takes no Notice of their coming out of them; it is more rational to ſuppoſe, that they periſhed there, than that Abraham ſtayed to take them up, as the Jews vainly imagine; and that therefore the King of Sodom, who afterwards came out to congratulate Abraham, muſt have been the Son of the Deceaſed.

He armed his trained Servants, born in his own Houſe, three hundred and eighteen, and purſued them unto Dan] It is impoſſible for us to compute, with any Certainty, the Number of Men which Abram had with him when he went in Purſuit of the Aſſyrian Army. Moſes tells us indeed of three hundred and eighteen trained Servants of his own; but what Number of Perſons each of his three Friends carried with him, is not ſaid. As the Patriarch divided his Force, and attacked the Enemy in the Night, there is no ſuch extraordinary Matter in defeating the Aſſyrians, as ſome have imagined. Beſides, it does not appear how far he followed them, after they were routed. Hoba is a Place not ſpoken of elſewhere in Scripture; and all that is ſaid of it here is, that it was on the left Hand of Damaſcus; but how far it was diſtant from thence, where the firſt Engagement happened.

And Melchiſedeck, King of Salem, brought forth Bread and Wine] The Name Melchiſedeck ſignifies, the King of Righteouſneſs; and the Jews, generally, ſuppoſe Salem to have been the ſame Place with Jeruſalem. In the ſacred Text there is ſome Doubt, with Reſpect to the Words expreſſing the Payment of Tithes, it not appearing clearly, whether they were preſented by Abram to Melchiſedeck, or by Melchiſedeck to Abram. Many of the Jews incline to the latter Interpretation; tho' the Reaſon of the Thing, and the Teſtimony of Joſephus, are both on the other Side.

Melchiſedeck is deſcribed by St. Paul, as without Father, without Mother, and without Deſcent; that is, ſays Stackhouſe, without any Father or Mother, mention'd in the Genealogies of Moſes, where the Parents of all pious Worthies are generally ſet down with great Exactneſs: So that there being no Genealogy at all of Melchiſedeck recorded in Scripture, he is introduc'd at once; even like a Man dropp'd down from Heaven, for ſo the Deſcription goes on, having neither Beginning of Days, nor End of Life, i. e. in the Hiſtory of Moſes, which (contrary to its common Uſage, when it makes Mention of great Men) takes no Notice at all of the Time, either of his Birth or Death, and herein he is made like unto the Son of God, i. e. by the Hiſtory of Moſes, which mentions him appearing, and acting upon the Stage, without either Entrance or Exit, as if, like the Son of God, he had abode a Prieſt continually.

The learned Heidegger ſeems to have taken the right Method to explain this difficult Paſſage of St. Paul to the Hebrews. He ſuppoſes (as there really is) a twofold Melchiſedeck, the one hiſtorical, whereof Moſes gives us an Account in the xivth Chapter of Geneſis, as that he was the King, as well as Prieſt of Jeruſalem; the other allegorical, whom St. Paul deſcribes in the Words now under Conſideration, and this allegorical Perſon is Chriſt. The Word Melchiſedeck, ſimply conſider'd means the King of Righteouſneſs; and, from this Senſe of the Word, in its appellative Signification, and the Remembrance of this Perſon's being a Prieſt, as well as a King, the Apoſtle took the Occaſion to draw the Compariſon between him and Chriſt, in order to ſhew the Pre-eminence of the Chriſtian, above the Aaronical Prieſthood; and what he aſcribes to the hiſtorical Melchiſedeck, upon this Account, is only to be underſtood in an imperfect and improper Senſe, that is, really and literally true only in the Perſon of Chriſt. The Apoſtle was minded, in ſhort, to illuſtrate his Argument with ſome Compariſon; and, writing at this Time to the Jews (who were well acquainted with this allegorical Way of arguing) he could meet with none, in the whole Compaſs of their Law, ſo commodious for his Purpoſe, as this of Melchiſedeck: And therefore, as Chriſt, the heavenly Melchiſedeck, was without Father, without Mother, without Deſcent here on Earth, in reſpect of his Divinity, having neither Beginning of Days, nor End of Life; ſo the like Properties may, in ſome Meaſure be applied to the earthly Melchiſedeck. Foraſmuch as, in the Book of Geneſis, wherein all great Men's Genealogies are ſuppos'd to be recorded, there is no Mention made, either of his Birth, Family, or Death; only he was inveſted with a Royal Prieſthood, which aſſimulates him to Chriſt. He had a Father and Mother, no doubt, and was born, and died, like other Men; but, becauſe theſe Things are not related by Moſes, the Apoſtle looks upon them as tho' they never had been. So that the whole Hinge of the Compariſon turns upon the Silence of the ſacred Hiſtorian, who, in a Book (wherein it might be expected otherwiſe) makes no manner of Mention, either of the Beginning or Ending of Melchiſedeck's Life or Prieſthood: And 'tis for this Reaſon, that he, who wrote by the Guidance of the Bleſſed Spirit, was directed to conceal theſe Matters; that, in this Situation, this ſame Melchiſedeck might be a more proper Type of ſo ſublime a Thing, as that of the Prieſthood of Jeſus Chriſt.

The ſole Queſtion concerning the Perſon of Melchiſedeck, would ſupply Matter for a whole Volume, even tho' one ſhould do no more than recite the Catalogue of the different Opinions, to which it has given Riſe, and the Reaſon, upon which each Conjecturer has endeavour'd to eſtabliſh his own. The Melchiſedecians, a Sect in the early Times of the Church, maintain'd, that he was a certain divine Power ſuperior to Chriſt: Hieraxes the Egyptian, that he was the Holy Ghoſt, becauſe compar'd to the Son of God: The Samaritans, and many Jews, that he was Shem, the Son of Noah: Mr. Jurieu, that he was Ham, another Son of his: Origen, that he was an Angel: Athanaſius, that he was the Son of Melchi, the Grandſon of Salaad: Patricides, that he was the Son of Phaleg: Irenæus, that he was the King of Jeruſalem: St. Jerome, that he was the King of Salem, in Scythopolis; and a certain anonymous Author, that he was a Man immediately created by God, as was Adam: And becauſe he is ſaid to have no Relations, ſome have given out, that the Earth open'd her Mouth, and ſwallow'd them all up; whilſt others, becauſe he is ſaid to have no End of Life, ſuppoſe that he was tranſlated, and that he is now with Enoch and Elias in a State of Paradiſe. See Heidegger's Hiſt. Patriarch. Vol. II. Exerc. 2. But all theſe Opinions are at preſent reduc'd to theſe two, whether this Melchiſedeck was a mere mortal Man, or the Son of God in human Shape, which the Reader may find ſupported with Arguments on both Sides, in both Saurin's and Calmet's Diſſertations upon this Subject.

Thoſe who make him to be the Son of Melchi, an idolatrous King, and of a Queen named Salem, have an antient Tradition, that Melchi having reſolv'd to offer a Sacrifice to his Gods, ſent his Son Melchiſedeck to fetch him ſeven Calves, that he might ſacrifice them; but that, as he was going, he was enlighten'd by God, and immediately return'd to his Father to remonſtrate to him the Vanity of Idols. His Father in Wrath ſent him back to fetch the Victims, and while he was gone, offered up to his Gods his own Son, who was the elder

Brother of Melchiſedeck, with a great Number of other Children. Melchiſedeck returning, and conceiving a great Horror at this Butchery, retir'd to Mount Tabor, where he liv'd ſeven Years without Cloaths, and without any other Food, but wild Fruits, or any other Drink, but the Dew that he ſuck'd up from the Plants; till, at length, Abraham, by the Direction of God, went up to the Mount, found out Melchiſedeck, cloathed him and brought him down with him. But thoſe who wou'd have him to be the Son of Phaleg, relate a ſtill ſtranger Story, viz. That Noah, upon his Death-bed, charged his Son Seth to take Melchiſedeck, the Son of Phaleg, with him, and go to a Place, which the Angel of the Lord ſhould ſhew them, and there bury the Body of Adam, which he had preſerv'd in the Ark during the Flood; that in that Place Melchiſedeck ſhould fix his Habitation, lead a ſingle Life, and entirely addict himſelf to the Practice of Piety, becauſe God had made Choice of him for his Prieſt, but allow'd him not to ſhed the Blood of any Animal, nor to offer any other Oblation to him, but that of Bread and Wine only; that Seth and Melchiſedeck did as Noah had enjoin'd them, and buried Adam in the Place which the Angel pointed out; that, upon their parting, Melchiſedeck betook himſelf to the monaſtick Courſe of Life, which Noah had preſcrib'd him; but that twelve neighbouring Kings, hearing of his Fame, and deſirous of his Acquaintance, conſulted together, and built a City, whereof they conſtituted him King and Governor, and, in Honour to his Merit, call'd it Jeruſalem. Abram is encouraged by God; he complains for want of Iſſue; is promiſed a Son, with a numerous Offſpring; he is juſtified by Faith. God renews his Promiſe of giving him Canaan, and confirms his Covenant with him.

Ver. 1. AFTER theſe things the word of the Lord came unto Abram in a viſion, ſaying, Fear not, Abram: I am thy ſhield, and thy exceeding great reward. 2 And Abram ſaid, Lord God, what wilt thou give me, ſeeing I go childleſs, and the ſteward of my houſe is this Eliezer of Damaſcus? 3 And Abram ſaid, Behold, to me thou haſt given no ſeed: and lo, one born in mine houſe is mine heir. 4 And behold, the word of the Lord came unto him, ſaying, This ſhall not be thine heir, but he that ſhall come forth out of thine own bowels ſhall be thine heir. 5 And he brought him forth abroad, and ſaid, Look now toward heaven, and tell the ſtars, if thou be able to number them: And he ſaid unto him, So ſhall thy ſeed be. 6 And he believed in the Lord; and he counted it to him for righteouſneſs. 7 And he ſaid unto him, I am the Lord that brought thee out of Ur of the Chaldees, to give thee this land to inherit it. 8 And he ſaid, Lord God, whereby ſhall I know that I ſhall inherit it. 9 And he ſaid unto him, Take me an heifer of three years old, and a ſhe-goat of three years old, and a ram of three years old, and a turtle-dove, and a young pigeon. 10 And he took unto him all theſe, and divided them in the midſt, and laid each piece one againſt another: but the birds divided he not. 11 And when the fowls came down upon the carcaſes, Abram drove them away. 12 And when the ſun was going down, a deep ſleep fell upon Abram; and lo, an horror of great darkneſs fell upon him. 13 And he ſaid unto Abram, Know of a ſurety that thy ſeed ſhall be a ſtranger in a land that is not theirs, and ſhall ſerve them, and they ſhall afflict them four hundred years. 14 And alſo that nation whom they ſhall ſerve, will I judge: and afterward ſhall they come out with great ſubſtance. 15 And thou ſhalt go to thy fathers in peace; thou ſhalt be buried in a good old age. 16 But in the fourth generation they ſhall come hither again: for the iniquity of the Amorites is not yet full. 17 And it came to paſs, that when the ſun went down and it was dark, behold a ſmoaking furnace, and a burning lamp that paſſed between thoſe pieces. 18 In that ſame day the Lord made a covenant with Abram, ſaying, Unto thy ſeed have I given this land, from the river of Egypt unto the great river, the river Euphrates: 19 The Kenites, and the Kenizzites, and the Kadmonites, 20 And the Hittites, and the Perizzites, and the Rephaims, 21 And the Amorites, and the Canaanites, and the Girgaſhites, and the Jebuſites.

Fear not Abram] It has been conjectured, and that not without Probability, that Abram was under ſome Apprehenſions, for Fear the Aſſyrians ſhould return the next Year, into the Land of Canaan, in order to revenge themſelves for this Defeat; and that God, in order to deliver him from his Fears, graciouſly promiſed him, to be a Shield to him in all Dangers; and to reward his Piety, with whatever Bleſſings were fit for him to receive.

And Abram ſaid, Lord God, What wilt thou give me, ſeeing I go childleſs? And the Steward of my Houſe is this Eliezer of Damaſcus] It would have been impoſſible, even in the moſt artful Piece of Oratory, to have ſet forth, in ſtronger Terms, the Anxiety of a Perſon deſirous of Children, and diſappointed in that Deſire, than Moſes, as directed by God's Spirit, hath done it here, in few Words, Lord, what wilt thou give me, &c. There does, indeed, appear ſomewhat of Impatience in this Expoſtulation of Abram's; but we are not to ſuppoſe that the Patriarchs were void of human Frailties; we are expreſly told the contrary, by the ſacred Writer; and perhaps it is one of the moſt uſeful Points of Scripture Hiſtory, to conſider the Nature of their Errors, and of their Repentance, from whence we may learn, neither to diſtruſt the Mercy of God, nor raſhly to rely on it, without properly preparing our Hearts to receive it; that is, by being ſorrowful for Sins already committed, and putting on a ſetled Reſolution, not to offend by committing them again.

And he took unto him all theſe, and divided them in the midſt] Patrick and Le Clerc obſerve, that the only Place beſide this, where we have any Intimation given us of this Method of making Covenants, by dividing the Beaſts then to be ſacrificed, and by the Parties, who covenanted, paſſing between the Parts of the Beaſts ſo divided, is in Jer. xxxiv. 18, 19. I will give the Men, that have tranſgreſſed my Covenant, which they had made before me, when they cut the Calf in twain, and paſſed between the Parts thereof; the Princes of Judah, and the Princes of Jeruſalem, the Eunuchs, and the Prieſts, and all the People of the Land, which paſſed between the Parts of the Calf, I will even give them into the Hand of their Enemies, and into the Hand of them that ſeek their Life; and their dead Bodies ſhall be for Meat unto the Fowls of Heaven, and unto the Beaſts of the Earth. This certainly was a very antient Cuſtom; and Euſtathius upon Homer hath this Obſervation, that in Matters of great Moment, Oaths, or Covenants, were generally made by dividing the Animals, which, upon ſuch Occaſions, were ſacrific'd; and the Deſign of this Rite (as the learned Mede, in a Diſcourſe upon this Subject, has expreſſed it) was as much as to ſay, Thus let me be divided, and cut in Pieces, if I violate the Oath which I have now made in the Preſence of God.

And lo! an Horror of great Darkneſs fell upon him] That Horror and Dread of Spirits does frequently ſeize

on thoſe who ſee Viſions, is evident from what Daniel tells us of himſelf. I was left alone, and ſaw this great Viſion, and there remained no Strength in me, for my Comelineſs was turned in me into Corruption, and I retained no Strength, Ch. x. 8. but the Deſcription which we have in Job of this Matter, is, in itſelf, very awful and affecting. In Thoughts from the Viſions of the Night, when deep Sleep falleth on Men, Fear came upon me, and Trembling, which made all my Bones to ſhake. Then a Spirit paſſed before my Face, the Hair of my Fleſh ſtood up. It ſtood ſtill, but I could not diſcern the Form thereof; an Image was before mine Eyes, there was Silence, and I heard a Voice, Ch. iv. 13, &c.

And they ſhall afflict them four hundred Years] Expoſitors, ſays Patrick, are very much divided in their Opinions, how to make it out, that Abraham's Poſterity was in a State of Servitude and Affliction for the Space of four hundred Years: It may be obſerved however, that all this Difficulty is removed, if we ſuppoſe, that their State of Affliction is to be reckoned from the Time of Iſaac's Birth, which to the Deliverance out of the Egyptian Bondage, was juſt four hundred and five Years; but the five odd Years are therefore not mentioned, becauſe it is a common Cuſtom among all Writers to take no Notice of broken Numbers (as they call them) when they name a round Sum, and if there be ſuppoſed a farther Difficulty, in that their Sojourning is (in Exod. xii. 43.) ſaid to have continued four hundred and thirty Years, in theſe Years the Time of Abraham's Sojourning (which was exactly twenty five Years, from his Coming into the Land of Canaan to the Birth of Iſaac) may be comprehended, and then all the Difficulty vaniſhes; becauſe theſe twenty five Years, added to the four hundred and five before mentioned, exactly make up the four hundred and thirty.

And thou ſhalt go to thy Fathers in Peace] This Expreſſion ſome will have to be no more than an Oriental Phraſe for going to the Grave; but ſince it cannot be ſaid of Abraham, that he did, in this Senſe, go to his Fathers (for as much as his Body was ſo far from being laid with them in the Sepulcher, that it was depoſited in a Country, that had no Manner of Communication with that of his Fathers) it muſt be allowed, that, from this Text, an Argument may be juſtly drawn for the ſeparate Exiſtence of human Souls. The Expreſſion however, of going to our Fathers, ſeems to have been formed from ſome ſuch Notion as this, — That the Souls of the Deceaſed do go to ſome certain Place, where thoſe of the ſame Family, or ſame Nation at leaſt, are ſuppoſed to live together, and in Communion: Which Notion certainly ariſes from that natural Deſire which all Men, who think their better Part immortal, have to ſee and converſe with ſuch of their Relations or Countrymen, as have left behind them a great and laſting Fame. For, if the Soul of Socrates, ſays one, were permitted to go where it deſired, it certainly would aſſociate with the Worthies of Greece, with Orpheus, Muſæus, Homer, and thoſe antient Demi-gods, who, in ſeveral Generations, were ſo renowned. See Le Clerc's Com. and Biblioth Bibl. Vol. I.

Behold, a ſmoaking Furnace, and burning Lamp] By this Symbol God deſigned to repreſent to Abraham either the future State of his Poſterity, the ſmoaking Furnace ſignifying Iſrael's Miſery in the Land of Egypt; and the burning Lamp, their happy Eſcape and Deliverance; or (what ſeems more probable) to notify his own immediate Preſence, ſince both Smoak and Fire are, in ſeveral Parts of Scripture, mention'd, as Emblems and Repreſentations of the Divine Appearance. And therefore, as it was a Thing cuſtomary, and eſpecially in Chaldea (from whence Abraham came) for Perſons, covenanting together, to paſs between the Pieces of the Sacrifice; ſo God, who had no Body to do it viſibly for him, did it in this Type and Emblem. See Pool's Annot. and Biblioth. Bibl.

St. Chryſoſtom obſerves rightly, as to this Paſſage, that God entered thereby, into a Covenant with Abram, and his Poſterity; ſince, by paſſing between the Pieces, he teſtified from thence, his Approbation of the Sacrifice.

CHAP. XVI.

Sarai, judging herſelf paſt bearing of Children, prevails on her Huſband to take her Handmaid Hagar to be his ſecondary Wife. Hagar accordingly conceives, and valuing herſelf upon it, miſbehaves to her Miſtreſs, who reſents it, and by her ſevere Uſage, obliges Hagar to leave the Family; but is exhorted by an Angel to return Home, and be ſubject to her Miſtreſs; and ſoon after is deliver'd of Iſhmael.

Ver. 1. NOW Sarai Abrams wife bare him nō children: and ſhe had an handmaid an Egyptian, whoſe name was Hagar. 2 And Sarai ſaid unto Abram, Behold now, the Lord hath reſtrained me from bearing: I pray thee go in unto my maid; it may be that I may obtain children by her: and Abram hearkened to the voice of Sarai. 3 And Sarai Abrams wife took Hagar her maid the Egyptian, after Abram had dwelt ten years in the land of Canaan, and gave her to her huſband Abram to be his wife. 4 And he went in unto Hagar, and ſhe conceived: And when ſhe ſaw that ſhe had conceived, her miſtreſs was deſpiſed in her eyes. 5 And Sarai ſaid unto Abram, My wrong be upon thee: I have given my maid into thy boſom; and when ſhe ſaw that ſhe had conceived, I was deſpiſed in her eyes: the Lord judge between me and thee. 6 But Abram ſaid unto Sarai, Behold, thy maid is in thy hand; do to her as it pleaſeth thee. And when Sarai dealt hardly with her, ſhe fled from her face. 7 And the angel of the Lord found her by a fountain of water in the wilderneſs, by the fountain in the way to Shur. 8 And he ſaid, Hagar, Sarai's maid, whence cameſt thou? and whither wilt thou go? And ſhe ſaid, I flee from the face of my miſtreſs Sarai. 9 And the angel of the Lord ſaid unto her, Return to thy miſtreſs, and ſubmit thyſelf under her hands. 10 And the angel of the Lord ſaid unto her, I will multiply thy ſeed exceedingly, that it ſhall not be numbered for multitude. 11 And the angel of the Lord ſaid unto her, Behold, thou art with child, and ſhalt bear a ſon, and ſhalt call his name Iſhmael; becauſe the Lord hath heard thy affliction. 12 And he will be a wild man; his hand will be againſt every man, and every mans hand againſt him: and he ſhall dwell in the preſence of all his brethren. 13 And ſhe called the name of the Lord that ſpake unto her, Thou God ſeeſt me: for ſhe ſaid, Have I alſo here looked after him that ſeeth me? 14 Wherefore the well was called Beer-lahai-roi; behold, it is between Kadeſh and Bered. 15 And Hagar bare Abram a ſon: and Abram called his ſons name, which Hagar bare, Iſhmael. 16 And Abram was fourſcore and ſix years old, when Hagar bare Iſhmael to Abram.

She had an Handmaid, an Egyptian, whoſe Name was Hagar] The Tradition which the Jews have concerning her being given by Pharaoh to Sarai, is probable enough; but what they ſay farther, ſeems a little extravagant; viz. that ſhe was the Daughter of the King of Egypt, who, obſerving the Wonders which were wrought in Favour of Abram, by the Divine Power, choſe therefore to recommend his Daughter to the the Patriarch's Wife, ſaying to the Girl, when he deliver'd her, My Child it is better for you to ſerve in this Houſe, than to be Miſtreſs in another. What Philo relates of her, that ſhe became a Convert to the true Religion, is highly probable; but for the Jewiſh Stories, of great Miracles wrought for her Conviction, they are to be conſider'd as Fables, taking Birth from the Vanity of that Nation. Some of the Rabbins, among other of their wild Conjectures, pretend, that ſhe is the ſame with Keturah, whom Abram took to Wife after Sarai's Deceaſe. But there is not the leaſt Ground for this Suppoſition. The Muſſulmans, who take themſelves to be deſcended from Iſhmael, the Son of Hagar, beſtow the higheſt Praiſes on her, and recount the Hiſtory in a very different Manner from that in which it is recorded by Moſes. By Way of Excellence, they call her the Mother Hagar; and aſſert ſhe was not the Concubine, but the lawful Wife of Abram: They look on Iſhmael, as the legitimate Heir of the Prophet, and ſay, that he claimed from thence the Country which he afterwards poſſeſſed, and which they make to be of greater Extent and Value than that of Canaan, which was given to Iſaac his ſecond Son. They not only believe the Fables, of her being the Daughter of the King of Egypt, but pretend alſo to tell us the Town where ſhe was born, and which, out of Reſpect to her Memory, was rebuilded by one of the Egyptian Caliphs.

Go in unto my Maid; it may be that I may obtain Children by her; and Abram hearkened to the Voice of Sarai] It may be obſerv'd, that from the Scripture Hiſtory, there is not the leaſt Reaſon to ſuſpect, that Luſt entered, in any Degree, into Abram's conſenting to his Wife's Propoſal, as we cannot conceive, on her Part that there could be any other View than obtaining the promiſed Seed, which, if it ſprung from her Handmaid, Sarai, in ſome Degree, thought it might be called hers.

In Concubinage, theſe Secondary, or Wives of a lower Order, were accounted lawful and true Wives; had an equal Right to the Marriage-bed with the chief Wife, and their Iſſue was reputed as legitimate; but, in all other Reſpects, they were inferior. As they had no Authority in the Family, nor any Share in houſhold Government; ſo, if they had been Servants in the Family, before they came to be Concubines, they continued in that State afterwards, and in the ſame Subjection to their Miſtreſſes as before. See Howel's Hiſt. of the Bible.

This Propoſal of Sarai to Abram, as Chryſoſtom obſerves, and the ſoft Manner of making it, diſcovers a very uncommon Love and Reſpect to her Huſband; that ſhe herſelf ſhou'd perſuade, and urge him to this Expedient, in order to make him eaſy in that Particular, which gave him ſo much Diſturbance, the Want of Iſſue, the Default of which ſhe ſuppos'd to be owing to herſelf: And 'twas purely in Compliance to this Solliciation of her's, that he took Hagar to his Bed. Sarah undoubtedly, was by far the more beautiful Woman, at leaſt if ſo good Judges, as the King of Egypt and his Subjects may be depended on. Abraham had now liv'd many Years, without giving any Occaſion to have his Modeſty and Continence ſuſpected: Hagar too was no more than his Wife's Servant, and inferior to her in Perſon, as much as in Condition: In a ſhort Time after, when, upon her Conception, ſhe grew undutiful to her Miſtreſs, Abraham never interpoſed in her Favour, but left her entirely to her Lady's Diſcretion: From all which Circumſtances it appears, that his taking Hagar to be his concubinary Wife, was not from any Motive of Senſuality, but from a true Principle of conjugal Affection to Sarai.

Whether Polygamy, in the Age of the Patriarchs, was innocent, or no, is a Queſtion that has much employ'd the Pens of the Learned. Moſt of the antient Fathers of the Church maintain its Lawfulneſs, and ſome of our later Divines can hardly perſuade themſelves, that a Practice which the moſt holy and venerable Men ordinarily engag'd in, and during that Engagement, continued an intimate Converſation and Familiarity with God; a Practice, which God never blam'd in them, even when he ſharply reproves other Vices, and for which they themſelves never ſhewed any Remorſe, or Tokens of Repentance, ſhou'd be deteſtable in the Sight of God. Our bleſſed Saviour, who has reſtor'd Matrimony to its primitive Inſtitution, has certainly declar'd it to be criminal; but whether it was ſo, under a leſs perfect Diſpenſation, is not ſo well agreed. At preſent, if we ſuppoſe it only tolerated by God, in the Time of the Patriarchs, we ſhall ſoon perceive another Inducement for Abraham's complying with his Wife's Requeſt; and that is, the paſſionate Deſire for a numerous Progeny, which, in thoſe Days, was very prevalent; ſo very prevalent, that we find Men accounting of their Children as their Riches, their Strength, their Glory; and ſeveral Families reckoning them up with a Sort of Pride, and placing the chief of their Renown in the Multitude of them: For Children, and the Fruit of the Womb, are an Heritage and Gift that cometh of the Lord; like as Arrows in the Hand of a Giant, ſo are young Children. Happy is the Man that has a Quiver full of them; he ſhall not be aſhamed, when he ſpeaketh with his Enemies in the Gate, Pſ. cxxvii. 3. &c.

After Abram had dwelt ten Years in the Land of Canaan] Some of the Jewiſh Doctors, with very little Foundation, have endeavoured to eſtabliſh a Rule, from this extraordinary Caſe, and teach, that if a Wife be barren ten Years, that then the Huſband may take a Second, in order to raiſe up Iſſue.

And Sarai ſaid unto Abram, My Wrong be upon thee: I have given my Maid into thy Boſom, and when ſhe ſaw that ſhe had conceived, I was deſpiſed in her Eyes: The Lord judge between thee and me] This Speech of Sarai to Abram is thus paraphraſed by the Jeruſalem Targum: My Cauſe, ſays ſhe, and the Injury I have received, behold they are in thy Hand to do by me as thou pleaſeſt. I have left the Houſe of my Father where I was born, and the Country where I drew my Breath, and hither have I come with thee, truſting in thy God. I have gone with thee before Kings, before Pharaoh King of Egypt, and before Abimelec King of the Philiſtines; and I have ſaid of thee, that thou waſt my Brother, leſt they ſhould kill thee; and now, when I perceived that I could not bear Children, I have taken Hagar the Egyptian, my Handmaid, and have given her to thee as a Wife, and have ſaid, Let her bring forth, and I will bring up, if by her alone thou canſt have Children; but now perceiving that ſhe hath conceived, behold I am grown low and deſpicable in her Eyes; let therefore the righteous God appear, and let him judge between me and thee, and let his Mercy be poured out over us, that the World may be filled with our Deſcendants, and that we ſtand not in need of a Son of an Egyptian Bond-ſlave, who is ſprung from the Loins of the People, by whom thou waſt thrown into the Fire of the Chaldees.

And when Sarai dealt hardly with her, ſhe fled from her Face] With Pride, or a Diſdain of ſubmitting to Sarai's Rebukes, as ſome have imagined, or whether hard Labour, or ſome other Kind of Puniſhment, made ſo deep an Impreſſion on the Mind of Hagar, as to engage her to quit the Houſe of her Huſband, and to truſt herſelf, in the Condition ſhe then was, alone, in the Wilderneſs, is not ſaid in Scripture; but, from what follows, we may reaſonably conceive, that there was a Mixture of both theſe Cauſes, which occaſioned her Flight.

And the Angel of the Lord found her] This is the firſt Appearance of an Angel, recorded in Scripture. The Hebrew Word is Maleac, and ſignifies no more than a Meſſenger, or one employed to carry a Command or Requeſt. The Greeks expreſs the ſame Thing by the Word Aggelos, from whence we have taken Angel, and have fixed its Signification to a Meſſenger of the Divine Will.

Submit thyſelf under her Hands] Theſe are the Words in our Tranſlation, but the Hebrew Word is the ſame here as in the 6th Verſe, where it is ſaid, Sarai dealt hardly with her; ſo that the Meaning of the Angelic Advice is plainly this, that ſhe ſhould bear with the the Averſion of her Miſtreſs, and ſubmit again to the ſame hard Uſage from which ſhe was now flying. This Repetition of the ſame Phraſe is very elegant in the Oriental Languages, and was a Thing practiſed by the moſt antient of the Greek Writers. Several Inſtances of it are to be found in Homer, and ſome alſo in the ſhort Poem of Muſæus.

And ſhalt call his Name Iſhmael] Iſhmael is compounded of the Words Iiſhmag and El, the Lord hath, or the Lord will hear: And the Reaſon of the Name is immediately ſubjoined by the Angel, namely, becauſe the Lord hath heard her Complaint.

And he ſhall be a wild Man; his Hand will be againſt every Man, and every Man's Hand againſt him; and he ſhall dwell in the Preſence of all his Brethren] In order to explain this Prophecy, and thence to obſerve how perfectly it has been all along fulfilled, it muſt be remember'd, ſays Stackhouſe, that, (according to the Stile of the Old Teſtament) what is here ſaid of Iſhmael, muſt be chiefly underſtood of his Deſcendants, in the ſame Manner as what Jacob predicts of Judah, and the reſt of his Sons, was to relate to their Poſterity, and be indeed the Characteriſtick of their ſeveral Tribes. And therefore (to take Notice of two of the moſt odd and unaccountable Branches of his Character) he will be a wild Man, or a Man like a wild Aſs; this (from the known Properties of that Creature) ſeveral Interpreters have reſolv'd into theſe Qualities, --- Fierce, and cruel, loving Solitude, and hating Confinement of any Kind.

How far this Part of the Character was verified in Iſhmael, who liv'd in the Wilderneſs, and became an expert Archer, his very Condition of Life ſhews us; and how properly it belongs to his Poſterity, the Arabians, who, in every Nation, have very juſtly obtained the Name of wild, a ſmall Inſpection into Hiſtory will inform us.

To this very Day (as modern Travellers inform us) great Numbers of them live in the Deſarts, and wander about from Place to Place, without any certain Habitation. They neither plow the Ground, nor apply themſelves to any Kind of Huſbandry, tho' there are ſeveral fruitful Places in the Wilderneſs, that would repay their Pains. Their whole Occupation (beſide ſpoiling their Neighbours) lies in hunting, and killing wild Beaſts, in which there are but few that make uſe of Fire-Arms: The much greater Part of them make uſe of the Bow, and do herein imitate their great Progenitor, that they are the moſt exquiſite Archers in the World.

Before the Introduction of Mahometaniſm, they were as vagrant in their Luſt, and as little reſtrain'd in the Uſe of Females, as the brutal Herd: And, even now, they take as many Wives as do the Turks, i. e. as many as they can keep, whom they purchaſe of their Parents, uſe with Indifference, and diſmiſs at Pleaſure. They rove about like the fierceſt Beaſts of Prey, ſeeking continually whom they may devour; inſomuch that the Governor of Grand Cairo is forced to keep a Guard of 4000 Horſemen every Night, on the Side of the City next the Wilderneſs, to ſecure it againſt their Incurſions. Nor is the Wilderneſs only the Scene of their Depredations: They rove all over the Southern and Eaſtern Seas, viſit every Creek, and Coaſt, and Iſland, and (as the Hiſtorian Ammianus Marcellinus compares them) come ſouſing like a Hawk, with incredible Swiftneſs, upon their Prey, and are gone again in an Inſtant. And, as they have always thus prey'd upon Mankind, the neceſſary Conſequence is, that they have always been at Variance and Hoſtility with them; and therein have made good the other Branch of Iſhmael's Character, His Hand ſhall be againſt every Man, and every Man's Hand againſt him.

There is not the leaſt Hint in Scripture, nor any Manner of Reaſon to believe, that Iſhmael dwelt in a perſonal State of Hoſtility with his Brethren, nor is it conceivable, how he could have maintain'd himſelf againſt their united Forces, had he ſo done; and therefore, this Prediction can be no otherwiſe underſtood, than as it relates to his Poſterity, the Arabians. Now, that any one Nation ſhould be of ſo ſingular and perverſe a Character, as to ſet themſelves in open Oppoſition to the reſt of the World, and live in perpetual, profeſſed Enmity with all Mankind; and that they ſhould continue to do ſo, not for one Age, or two only, but for four thouſand Years together, is ſurely the ſtrangeſt and moſt aſtoniſhing Prediction that ever was read or heard of. And yet, if we attend a little to the Hiſtory of theſe People (as ſoon as Hiſtory takes Notice of them) we ſhall find, in ſeveral Inſtances, a full Accompliſhment of it.

When Alexander and his victorious Army over-ran a great Part of the Eaſt, the Arabians (as we are told by Arrian and Strabo) of all the Aſiaticks, were the only People who ſent him no Ambaſſador, nor made any Submiſſion to him; which Indignity he intended to have revenged in a particular Expedition againſt them, but was prevented by Death.

What Alexander intended, Antigonus, the greateſt of his Succeſſors, attempted; but he was repulſed with Diſgrace, and the Loſs of above 8000 Men: And when, enrag'd at this Repulſe, he made a ſecond Attempt upon them with a Number of ſelect Men, under the Command of his valiant Son Demetrius, the Reſiſtance he met with, was ſo obſtinate, that he was forced to compound the Matter, and leave them in the quiet Poſſeſſion of their Liberty and Peace.

When the Romans and Parthians were Rivals for the Empire of the Eaſt, the Arabians join'd, and oppoſed each Nation, as they thought fit, but were never devoted to either, for their Character always was, that they were fickle, if not faithleſs Friends, and fierce Enemies, who might be repulſed, and repreſs'd for a Seaſon, but could never be totally vanquiſh'd or ſubdued.

Men of this Character ſoon became the Objects of the Roman Enmity and Ambition, which could endure nothing that was free and independant; and accordingly ſeveral Attempts were ſet on Foot by Pompey, Craſſus, and other great Generals, in order to enſlave them; but all prov'd ſucceſſleſs: And, tho' they are ſometimes ſaid to have been defeated, yet is there no Account, that we can properly depend on, until we come to the Expedition, which Trajan is known to have made againſt them.

Trajan was certainly a long experienc'd and ſucceſsful Warrior. He had ſubdued the German, humbled the Parthian, and reduc'd already one Part of Arabia into a Province; and yet, when he came to beſiege the City of the Hagarenes, upon every Aſſault, his Soldiers were ſo annoy'd with Whirl-Winds and Hail, and ſo affrighten'd with Thunder and Lightning, and other Apparitions in the Air (whilſt their Meat was ſpoil'd and corrupted with Flies, even as they were eating it) that he was forced to give over the Siege, and was, not long after, ſeiz'd with a Diſeaſe, whereof he died.

About eight Years after this, the Emperor Severus, a very valiant and proſperous Warrior, whom Herodian makes no Scruple to prefer even before Cæſar, Marius, and Sylla, diſdaining (as Trajan had done) that the Hagarenes ſhould ſtand out ſtill againſt the Romans, when all the reſt about them had yielded, beſieg'd their City (tho' it was but a ſmall one) twice, and was twice repulſed with Shame, and great Slaughter of his Men. In the ſecond Aſſault indeed, he beat down ſome of their City-Wall, and thereupon ſounded a Retreat, in Hopes that they would have capitulated, and ſurrender'd up the hidden Treaſure, ſuppoſed to be conſecrated to the Sun: But when they continu'd reſolute a whole Day, without giving any Intimation of a Treaty for a Peace, on the Morrow following, the Roman Army was quite intimidated. The Europeans, who were gallant Men before, refus'd to enter the Breach; and the Syrians, who were forced to undertake that Service, had a grievous Repulſe: Whereupon the Emperor, without making any freſh Attack, decamped from before the City, and departed to Paleſtine. Thus God deliver'd the City, ſays Dio, recalling the Soldiers by Severus, when they might have enter'd, and reſtraining Severus the ſecond Day, by the Soldiers Backwardneſs.

Upon the whole, two Things are obſervable; firſt, that the Arabians ſtood ſingle in this their Extremity, againſt the whole Roman Power; for none of their Neighbours would aſſiſt them. The other Thing is, that the Emperor had Soldiers of all Nations in his Army: For, 'whereas other Emperors, ſays the Hiſto-'rian, Ammianus Marcellinus, were content with Guards 'of four different European Countries, Severus fill'd the 'City with a mix'd Multitude of Soldiers of all Kinds, 'ſavage to look on, frightful to hear, and rude and 'wild to converſe with.' So that, conſidering all Things, I think we may fairly conclude, that every Man's Hand was, at this Time, againſt Iſhmael, and his Hand, his only Hand, againſt every Man; and yet he dwelt, and ſtill dwelleth, in the Preſence of all his Brethren: For not long after this, it is well known, that the Iſhmaelites join'd the Goths againſt the Romans, and, having afterwards overcome both, under the Name of Saracens, they erected a vaſt Empire upon their Ruins; and thus Iſhmael, in the full Extent of the Prophecy, became a great Nation.

Calmet obſerves, that the Iſhmaelites, as ſome imagine, upon the Reproaches of the Jews, who upbraided them with Baſtardy, became aſham'd of their old Names, deriv'd from Hagar and Iſhmael, which carried an Odium in the Sound, and took upon them the Name of Saracens, deſiring to be accounted as the Deſcendants of Abraham by his Wife Sarah; but what deſtroys this Etymology is this, that the Antients call'd them Sara-kenoi, and not Sarænoi, as they muſt have been call'd, if their Name had been deriv'd from Sarah; and therefore the learned Scaliger ſuppoſes the Word to come from the Arabick Word, Sarack, which ſignifies to ſteal or plunder.

CHAP. XVII.

God renews his Covenant with Abram, whoſe Name he changes into Abraham, in Token of a greater Bleſſing. Circumciſion is inſtituted. Sarai's Name is changed to Sarah; ſhe is bleſſed, and a Son promiſed to her. Abraham and Iſhmael are circumciſed.

Ver. 1. AND when Abram was ninety years old and nine, the Lord appeared to Abram, and ſaid unto him, I am the Almighty God; walk before me, and be thou perfect. 2 And I will make my covenant between me and thee, and will multiply thee exceedingly. 3 And Abram fell on his face: and God talked with him, ſaying, 4 As for me, behold, my covenant is with thee, and thou ſhalt be a father of many nations. 5 Neither ſhall thy name any more be called Abram; but thy name ſhall be Abraham, for a father of many nations have I made thee. 6 And I will make thee exceeding fruitful, and I will make nations of thee; and kings ſhall come out of thee. 7 And I will eſtabliſh my covenant between me and thee, and thy ſeed after thee, in their generations, for an everlaſting covenant; to be a God unto thee, and to thy ſeed after thee. 8 And I will give unto thee, and to thy ſeed after thee, the land wherein thou art a ſtranger, all the land of Canaan, for an everlaſting poſſeſſion; and I will be their God. 9 And God ſaid unto Abraham, Thou ſhalt keep my covenant therefore, thou, and thy ſeed after thee, in their generations. 10 This is my covenant, which ye ſhall keep between me and you, and thy ſeed after thee; Every man-child among you ſhall be circumciſed. 11 And ye ſhall circumciſe the fleſh of your fore-ſkin, and it ſhall be a token of the covenant betwixt me and you. 12 And he that is eight days old ſhall be circumciſed among you, every man-child in your generations, he that is born in thy houſe, or bought with money of any ſtranger, which is not of thy ſeed. 13 He that is born in thy houſe, and he that is bought with thy money, muſt needs be circumciſed: and my covenant ſhall be in your fleſh for an everlaſting covenant. 14 And the uncircumciſed man-child, whoſe fleſh of his fore-ſkin is not circumciſed, that ſoul ſhall be cut off from his people: he hath broken my covenant.

Neither ſhall thy Name any more be called Abram, but thy Name ſhall be Abraham] Abram is compounded of two Hebrew Words, Ab, and Ram, which ſignify high Father; and Abraham is commonly derived from three, namely, Ab-Ram-Hamon, the Father of a great Multitude. But this, ſays a certain Author, is forced and ungrammatical, having nothing to ſupport it, but only the Reaſon which God gives in the Text, for changing Abram into Abraham, viz. Becauſe he was to make of him a Father of many Nations, as indeed he was; for not only the Twelve Tribes, but the Iſhmaelites, the Edomites, and all the Poſterity of Keturah, deſcended from his Loins.

The changing of Names, as appears from the Scripture Hiſtory itſelf, was a Cuſtom frequent in the Eaſt, upon notable Occaſions; and, as the Orientals are more conſtant in their Manners, than the European Nations, ſo late Accounts inform us, that this Practice is not totally in Diſuſe at this Day. Sir John Chardin, in his Travels, gives us a very full Relation of a Perſian Emperor's changing his Name, after ſome Misfortunes, in Hopes that he ſhould be more happy under that which he aſſumed.

This is my Covenant which ye ſhall keep between me and you, and thy Seed after thee: Every male Child among you ſhall be circumciſed] Whoever looks into the Life of Abraham, will ſoon perceive, ſays Stackhouſe, that God did all along deſign him for a Pattern of Faith and perfect Obedience, to all ſucceeding Generations. The more his Faith was try'd, the more illuſtrious it became, and the more Obſtacles were rais'd in the Accompliſhment of the divine Promiſes, the more the good Patriarch ſhewed (in ſurmounting theſe Obſtacles) the high Conception he had entertain'd of him from whom theſe Promiſes came. For, after a Promiſe of a numerous Poſterity, why was it ſo long before he gave him any Son at all? After the Birth of Iſhmael, why ſo long before the Promiſe of an Heir by his Wife Sarah? And after that Promiſe was given, why ſo long, even till the Thing was impoſſible, in an ordinary Courſe of Nature, before the Promiſe was accompliſh'd, and the Child ſent? All this was to exerciſe his Faith, and to give him an Opportunity of ſhewing to the World, how fully he was convinc'd, that, notwithſtanding all theſe Impediments and Delays, God would certainly, by one Means or other, effectually make good his Promiſes. The like may be ſaid of the Command of Circumciſion. God did not only defer, for the Space of twenty four Years, the Birth of that Son who was ſo ſolemnly promiſed, and ſo impatiently deſir'd, but even, when that Time was expired, and Abraham might now juſtly hope to ſee the Promiſe accompliſh'd, and his Faith crown'd; God was pleas'd to croſs it again, by requiring of him the Performance of an Act, which, in all Appearance, would be a total Defeat to all his Hopes. For this Injunction, My Covenant ſhall be in your Fleſh, to a Man of advanc'd Age, ſeems as oppoſite to the Promiſe of having a Son, as that other of taking his Son, his only Son Iſaac, and offering him up for a Burnt-Sacrifice, was to his being the Father of a numerous Poſterity.

But Abraham's Faith triumph'd over this, as well as all other Obſtacles. He immediately perform'd the Operation, notwithſtanding its Oddneſs, its Danger, its ſeeming Indecency, and the apparent Oppoſition it had to the divine Promiſes: And, 'tis to preſerve the Remembrance of the Faith of their great Anceſtor, who, in ſo many diſcouraging Circumſtances, waited patiently patiently on God, and againſt Hope believed in Hope (as the Apoſtle expreſſes it) that God preſcrib'd to the Jewiſh Nation the Sacrament of Circumciſion. For this was a farther End of its Inſtitution, not only to be a Mark of Diſtinction between the Poſterity of Abraham, and all other Nations, but a Token likewiſe of God's Covenant made with him and his Poſterity, and a Note of Commemoration to put thoſe, who bore it, continually in Mind, whoſe Offſpring they were, and what Advantages entitled to upon that Account, provided they took Care not to degenerate from the Glories of that Stock, from whence they ſprang.

And indeed, conſidering that Abraham was the firſt, we read of, whom God reſcued from the general Corruption of Faith and Manners, which the World had now, a ſecond Time, relaps'd into; and conſidering withal, that this Perſon and his Poſterity were ſingled out for a choſen Generation, the Repoſitory of Truth, and the Receptacle of God incarnate; there was Reaſon in Abundance, why this Remembrance ſhould be very grateful to them: And apt enough, 'tis plain, upon all Occaſions they were, to value themſelves, and deſpiſe others, upon the Account of ſo particular an Honour. But the Misfortune was, as Dr. Stanhope obſerves, viz. the eminent Faith, and ready Obedience of ſo renown'd an Anceſtor, and the noble Emulation of his Virtues, which ſuch a Pattern ought to have inſpired; this they were too apt to overlook, tho' any conſidering Man (as the Apoſtle excellently argues) could not but perceive, that the only valuable Relation to Abraham, is not that of Conſanguinity, and natural Deſcent, but the Reſemblance of his Virtues, and claiming under him as the Father of the Faithful.

And this ſuggeſts another, and indeed none of the leaſt conſiderable Ends, for which Circumciſion was inſtituted, viz. to be a Sign of inward Virtue, and to figure out to us ſome particular Diſpoſitions of Mind, which bore Reſemblance to the outward Ceremony, and were required to render it effectual; for which Reaſon it is, that we read ſo much in the old Law, of circumciſing the Fore ſkin of the Heart; and hear the Apoſtle ſo frequently telling us, in the new, of putting off the Body of the Sins of the Fleſh by the Circumciſion of Chriſt, Col. ii. 11. for he is not a Jew, who is one outwardly, neither is that Circumciſion, which is outward in the Fleſh; but he is a Jew who is one inwardly, and Circumciſion is that of the Heart, in the Spirit, and not in the Letter, whoſe Praiſe is not of Men, but of God.

Circumciſion, ſays another Author, was certainly a very proper Mark, or Seal, of that Covenant, or League which God entered into with this Patriarch; but whether it was before in Uſe among the Egyptians, or obtained among them from the Practice of the Iſraelites, while they were under their Dominion, has been Matter of Diſpute among the Learned. But it is neceſſary to remark here, that conſidering the Pain and Danger of this Operation, it is highly improbable, that any People ſhou'd execute it upon their Children, from other than a religious Motive; and the plain Senſe of the Moſaic Relation of God's Command here, is, that without receiving this Mark, Perſons were incapable of being Heirs to the Covenant made with Abraham. That it was cuſtomary in the Eaſt, to confirm Contracts ſolemnly made, by the Blood of the contracting Parties, is certain, from the Authority of the moſt credible Authors; but whether it were in uſe ſo early as the Days of Abraham, is impoſſible to determine.

15 And God ſaid unto Abraham, As for Sarai thy wife, Thou ſhalt not call her name Sarai, but Sarah ſhall her name be. 16 And I will bleſs her, and give thee a ſon alſo of her: yea, I will bleſs her, and ſhe ſhall be a mother of nations; kings of people ſhall be of her. 17 Then Abraham fell upon his face and laughed, and ſaid in his heart, Shall a child be born unto him that is an hundred years old? and ſhall Sarah that is ninety years old, bear? 18 And Abraham ſaid unto God, O that Iſhmael might live before thee! 19 And God ſaid, Sarah thy wife ſhall bear thee a ſon indeed; and thou ſhalt call his name Iſaac; and I will eſtabliſh my covenant with him for an everlaſting covenant, and with his ſeed after him. 20 And as for Iſhmael, I have heard thee: Behold, I have bleſſed him, and I will make him fruitful, and will multiply him exceedingly: twelve princes ſhall he beget, and I will make him a great nation. 21 But my covenant will I eſtabliſh with Iſaac, whom Sarah ſhall bear unto thee at this ſet time in the next year. 22 And he left off talking with him, and God went up from Abraham. 23 And Abraham took Iſhmael his ſon, and all that were born in his houſe and all that were bought with his money, every male among the men of Abrahams houſe; and circumciſed the fleſh of their fore-ſkin, in the ſelf-ſame day, as God had ſaid unto him. 24 And Abraham was ninety years old and nine, when he was circumciſed in the fleſh of his fore-ſkin, 25 And Iſhmael his ſon was thirteen years old when he was circumciſed in the fleſh of his fore-ſkin. 26 In the ſelf-ſame day was Abraham circumciſed, and Iſhmael his ſon. 27 And all the men of his houſe, born in the houſe, and bought with money of the ſtranger, were circumciſed with him.

Thou ſhalt not call her Name Sarai, but Sarah ſhall her Name be] Sarai, ſignifies my Princeſs, or Princeſs of my Family only; but Sarah, the Name now given her, denotes a Princeſs indefinitely, and at large, according to the Prediction concerning her, a Mother (or Princeſs) of many Nations ſhall ſhe be, and Kings of People ſhall come of her; Ver. 16.

Then Abraham fell upon his Face, and laughed] It is apparent that Abraham laughed merely out of Joy, and not from any Contempt of that Promiſe which he had received: For, if it had been otherwiſe, the Spirit of the Lord wou'd have reproved him; inſtead of which, the Promiſe is here again repeated, in ſtronger Terms, and the Name alſo of this Son of Sarah, declared before his Birth, that it ſhould be Iſaac, which ſignifies Laughter; which evidently ſhews, that God was not diſpleaſed at this Expreſſion of Abraham's Joy.

And thou ſhalt call his Name Iſaac] Iſaac, according to the Hebrew, ſays Calmet, which is Iſchack, ſignifies he or ſhe has, or ſhall laugh; and this Name Sarah gave him, becauſe, when the Angel promis'd ſhe ſhould become a Mother, tho' ſhe was not of an Age to have Children, ſhe privately laugh'd at the Prediction, and when the Child was born, ſhe ſaid, God hath made me to laugh, ſo that all that hear will laugh with me, Gen. xxi. 6.

And Abraham took Iſhmael his Son, and all that were born in his Houſe, and all that were bought with his Money, --- and circumciſed the Fleſh of their Fore-ſkin] It is generally agreed, that it was with their own Conſent; for tho' the Hebrews require, by their Laws, that Servants born in the Houſe be circumciſed; yet, thoſe who were bought with Money, at full Age, were not conſtrained, in this Point, or, at leaſt, not in theſe early Ages, according to the Obſervation of Maimonides.

CHAP. XVIII.

Abraham, ſitting in the Door of his Tent, invites three Angels, in the Habit and Appearance of Travellers, to take a Repaſt with him; while Sarah is preparing it, one of his angelick Gueſts aſſures him that Sarah ſhould have a Child; which ſhe over-hearing, laughed, and is reproved. They acquaint Abraham with their Intent of deſtroying Sodom;

Sodom; his modeſt Interceſſion for its Inhabitants.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord appeared unto him in the plains of Mamre: and he ſat in the tent-door in the heat of the day. 2 And he lift up his eyes and looked, and lo, three men ſtood by him: and when he ſaw them, he ran to meet them from the tent-door, and bowed himſelf toward the ground, 3 And ſaid, My Lord, if now I have found favour in thy ſight, paſs not away, I pray thee, from thy ſervant. 4 Let a little water, I pray you, be fetched, and waſh your feet, and reſt yourſelves under the tree. 5 And I will fetch a morſel of bread, and comfort ye your hearts; after that ye ſhall paſs on: for therefore are ye come to your ſervant. And they ſaid, So do as thou haſt ſaid. 6 And Abraham haſtened into the tent unto Sarah, and ſaid, Make ready quickly three meaſures of fine meal, knead it, and make cakes upon the hearth. 7 And Abraham ran unto the herd, and fetcht a calf tender and good, and gave it unto a young man; and he haſted to dreſs it. 8 And he took butter and milk, and the calf which he had dreſſed, and ſet it before them; and he ſtood by them under the tree, and they did eat.

And the Lord appeared unto him in the Plains of Mamre] What we tranſlate the Plain, ſays Calmet, ſhould be rendered the Oak of Mamre; becauſe the Word Elon, ſignifies an Oak, or Tree of long Duration. Sozomen tells us, that this Tree was ſtill extant, and famous for Pilgrimages, and annual Feaſts, even in Conſtantine's Time; that it was about ſix Miles diſtant from Hebron; that ſome of the Cottages, which Abraham built, were ſtill ſtanding near it; and that there was a Well likewiſe of his digging, whereunto both Jews, Chriſtians, and Heathens, did, at certain Seaſons, reſort, either out of Devotion, or for Trade; becauſe there was held a great Mart. As for Hebron, or Chebron, it was accounted one of the moſt antient Cities in the World; having been built ſeven Years before Tanis, the Capital of Lower Egypt. It was ſituated upon an Eminence, twenty Miles Southward from Jeruſalem, and twenty Miles North from Beerſheba, and had its Name, very probably, from the Word Chavar, to couple, or join; becauſe theſe married Couples, Abraham and Sarah, Iſaac and Rebecca, Jacob and Leah were buried there.

And he ſat in the Tent-door, in the Heat of the Day] It is a Tradition univerſally received among the Jews, and not without Probability, that Abraham, being a Perſon of great Hoſpitality, was wont, ſometimes, to ſit in the Door of his Tent, about the Time which Travellers were moſt likely to paſs by, in order to ſalute them, and offer them ſuch Refreſhments as might ſupport their Spirits under the Fatigue of their Journey.

And he took Butter and Milk, and the Calf, and ſet it before them, and they did eat] Here, ſays Pool, the Eating of theſe Angels muſt be underſtood, according to the Nature of the Bodies, we may ſuppoſe them to have aſſum'd. If their Bodies were aerial, their Eating muſt have been in Appearance only; if ſubſtantial, their Eating might have been real, i. e. they might have receiv'd the Meat into their Bodies, which, afterwards, by a divine Power, was conſum'd there.

9 And they ſaid unto him, Where is Sarah thy wife? And he ſaid Behold, in the tent. 10 And he ſaid, I will certainly return unto thee according to the time of life; and lo, Sarah thy wife ſhall have a ſon. And Sarah heard it in the tent-door, which was behind him. 11 Now Abraham and Sarah were old, and well ſtricken in age: and it ceaſed to be with Sarah after the manner of women. 12 Therefore Sarah laughed within herſelf, ſaying, After I am waxed old, ſhall I have pleaſure, my lord being old alſo? 13 And the Lord ſaid unto Abraham, wherefore did Sarah laugh, ſaying, Shall I of a ſurety bear a child, which am old? 14 Is any thing too hard for the Lord? At the time appointed will I return unto thee, according to the time of life, and Sarah ſhall have a ſon. 15 Then Sarah denied, ſaying, I laughed not: for ſhe was afraid. And he ſaid, Nay, but thou didſt laugh.

And they ſaid unto him, Where is Sarah thy Wife] It is very obſervable, that one of theſe Angels (as the Apoſtle to the Hebrews calls them, Ch. xiii. 2.) appear'd more honourable, and ſuperior to the other two, and therefore Abraham makes his Addreſs to him as the Chief, and the Hiſtorian ſtiles him Jehovah, which the Generality both of Jews and Chriſtians do look upon as the imcommunicable Name of God; and therefore it is believed by the far greateſt Part of the latter, that it was the Son of God who appear'd in that Form. There are others however (particularly ſome modern ones) who maintain, that it was no more than an Angel, who ſpoke to him in the Perſon of God; tho' it hardly ſeems probable, either that Moſes ſhould call an Angel by that Name, or that Abraham ſhould intercede with him, as he does, when he ſaith, That be far from thee to deſtroy the Good with the Wicked; ſhall not the Judge of all the Earth do Right? Or that an Angel ſhould peremptorily ſay, If I find forty righteous Men in the Place, for their Sake, I will not deſtroy it. So that the moſt probable Opinion is, that it was Chriſt himſelf, who is emphatically called the Judge of all the Earth. See Univerſal Hiſtory. --- The Jews however have a Maxim, that no Angel performs two Miniſteries, or is ſent upon two Meſſages at once; and therefore they think, that theſe three Angels (as they ſuppoſe them) were diſpatch'd for different Purpoſes; one of them, who was the Chief, to bring a Confirmation of the Birth of Iſaac; another, to conduct Lot ſafe out of Sodom; and the third, to overthrow the Cities of the Plain: And therefore, when one of them had deliver'd his Meſſage to Abraham, there were but two, who held on their Courſe to Sodom. See Patrick's Comment.

Wherefore did Sarah laugh] In the preceding Chapter (Ver. 17.) we read that Abraham laughed upon the ſame Occaſion, and yet was not reprov'd; but, ſays Pool, the Difference of their Conduct might be this, --- That Abraham laughed for Joy upon hearing the glad Tidings of a Son, but Sarah's Laughter proceeded from a Spirit of Diſtruſt and Infidelity.

It appears, from this, and the ſubſequent Reproof given her, ſays another Author, that Sarah was incredulous, as to the Promiſe of returning according to the Time of Life, and of her bringing forth, then, a Son, which occaſioned her ſmiling at the Credulity of her Huſband, in a Point which, from natural Cauſes ſeemed to her impoſſible to come to paſs; for which ſhe was ſeverely chid, as having been guilty of the greateſt Offence, in deriding the Meſſage brought from Heaven, and ſlighting the Power of the Almighty.

16 And the men roſe up from thence, and looked toward Sodom: and Abraham went with them to bring them on the way. 17 And the Lord ſaid, Shall I hide from Abraham that thing which I do; 18 Seeing that Abraham ſhall ſurely become a great and mighty nation, and all the nations of the earth ſhall be bleſſed in him. 19 For I know him, that he will command his children and his houſhold after him, and they ſhall keep the way of the Lord, to do juſtice and judgment; that the Lord may bring upon Abraham that which he hath ſpoken of him. 20 And the Lord ſaid; Becauſe the crie of Sodom and Gomorrah is great, and becauſe their ſin is very grievous; 21 I will go down now, and ſee whether they have done altogether according to the crie of it, which is come unto me; and if not, I will know. 22 And the men turned their faces from thence, and went toward Sodom: but Abraham ſtood yet before the Lord. 23 And Abraham drew near, and ſaid, Wilt thou alſo deſtroy the righteous with the wicked? 24 Peradventure there be fifty righteous within the city: wilt thou alſo deſtroy, and not ſpare the place for the fifty righteous that are therein? 25 That be far from thee to do after this manner, to ſlay the righteous with the wicked: and that the righteous ſhould be as the wicked, that be far from thee: ſhall not the judge of all the earth do right? 26 And the Lord ſaid, if I find in Sodom fifty righteous within the city, then I will ſpare all the place for their ſakes. 27 And Abraham anſwered and ſaid, Behold now, I have taken upon me to ſpeak unto the Lord, which am but duſt and aſhes. 28 Peradventure there ſhall lack five of the fifty righteous: wilt thou deſtroy all the city for lack of five? And he ſaid, If I find there forty and five, I will not deſtroy it. 29 And he ſpake unto him yet again, and ſaid, Peradventure there ſhall be forty found there. And he ſaid, I will not do it for forties ſake. 30 And he ſaid unto him, Oh let not the Lord be angry, and I will ſpeak: Peradventure there ſhall thirty be found there. And he ſaid, I will not do it, if I find thirty there. 31 And he ſaid, Behold now, I have taken upon me to ſpeak unto the Lord: Peradventure there ſhall be twenty found there. And he ſaid, I will not deſtroy it for twenties ſake. 32 And he ſaid, Oh let not the Lord be angry, and I will ſpeak yet but this once: Peradventure ten ſhall be found there. And he ſaid, I will not deſtroy it for tens ſake. 33 And the Lord went his way, as ſoon as he had left communing with Abraham: and Abraham returned unto his place.

And the Lord ſaid, ſhall I hide from Abraham that Thing which I do] It is generally thought, that the Perſon here ſpeaking, is the Word, the Son of God, the ſecond Perſon in the Trinity. St. Hilary was of the ſame Opinion. Some have even ſuppoſed, that the three Strangers, entertained by Abraham, were the three Perſons in the Trinity: But, ſurely, nothing can be found, to juſtify this Opinion, in the ſacred Text. One of the three is plainly diſtinguiſhed, as ſuperior to the other two: Him, therefore, we take to be the Son of God, whoſe Day Abraham ſaw, and was glad; and who revealed the Will of the Father to Mankind in all Ages.

Our Saviour ſpeaks, after the ſame Manner, to his Diſciples: Henceforth I call you not Servants, for the Servant knoweth not what his Lord doeth; but I have called you Friends; for all Things that I have heard of my Father, I have made known unto you, John xv. 15.

I will go down now, and ſee whether they have done altogether according to the Cry of it, which is come unto me; and if not, I will know] Here is a wonderful Inſtance of God's Patience and Goodneſs, who, tho' he knew all without Enquiry, yet would not condemn even the moſt flagitious, without good Examination and Trial. Before the Flood, God proceeded againſt the old World upon ocular Evidence; God ſaw that the Wickedneſs of Man was great, Gen. vi. 5, 12. At the Building of Babel it is ſaid, that the Lord came down to ſee the City and the Tower, which the Children of Men had built, Gen. xi. 5. And now again, before the Deſtruction of Sodom and Gomorrah, tho' the Cry againſt them was great, becauſe of the Grievouſneſs of their Sin, yet the Lord would not proceed againſt them upon common Fame; But I will go down, ſaith he, and ſee, whether they have done according to the Cry of it; and if not, I will know. And hereupon we may obſerve, that the appearing of Gods, in the Manner of Strangers, to puniſh or reward Men, was a common Tradition among the Heathens.

Peradventure there be fifty righteous within the City, wilt thou alſo deſtroy, and not ſpare the Place for the fifty righteous that are therein? Far be it from thee, &c.] It is hardly poſſible, ſays Pool, to uſe more pathetick Words, or a more moving Tenderneſs of Expreſſion than Abraham uſes in this ſhort and fervent Prayer. He appears greatly concerned for the wretched Inhabitants of Sodom, through the extenſive Humanity of his Temper; and at the ſame Time gives a ſignal Inſtance of his exalted Piety, in the Zeal which he teſtifies for the Honour of God; unto whom, from the Title he gives him, of Judge of all the Earth, it is evident he now knew he was ſpeaking.

And the Lord went his Way, as ſoon as he had left communing with Abraham, and Abraham went to his Place] Abraham being ſenſible he could not proceed any farther, without the higheſt Preſumption, deſiſted from making any farther Interceſſion for them; beſides, he thought, that including Lot's Family, there could not fail of being ſo ſmall a Number in that populous City.

CHAP. XIX.

Two Angels coming to Sodom, are entertained by Lot; which the Inhabitants hearing of, ſurround his Houſe, and order him to bring them out; Lot, willing to ſave his Gueſts, offers to deliver up his own Daughters; but not ſatisfied with that, they endeavour to force into the Houſe; the Angels ſave Lot, and ſtrike the Inhabitants with Blindneſs. Lot is order'd to depart with his Family, but lingering, the Angels lay hold of him, and lead him forth, with his Wife and two Daughters. God rains down Fire and Brimſtone upon Sodom and Gomorrah. Lot's Wife, looking back, is turned into a Pillar of Salt; his Daughters, fearing the Extinction of their Family, agree to make their Father drunk, and lie with him; the Offſpring of that inceſtuous Copulation.

Ver. 1. AND there came two angels to Sodom at even; and Lot ſat in the gate of Sodom: and Lot ſeeing them, roſe up to meet them: and he bowed himſelf with his face toward the ground; 2 And he ſaid, Behold now my lords, turn in, I pray you, into your ſervants houſe, and tarry all night, and waſh your feet, and ye ſhall riſe up early, and go on your ways. And they ſaid, Nay, we will abide in the ſtreet all night. 3 And he preſſed upon them greatly; and they turned in unto him, and entred into his houſe: and he made them a feaſt and did bake unleavened bread, and they did eat. 4 But before they lay down, the men of the city, even the men of Sodom, compaſſed the houſe round, both old and young, all the people from every quarter. 5 And they called unto Lot, and ſaid unto him, Where are the men which came in to thee this night? bring them out unto us, that we may know them. 6 And Lot went out at the door unto them, and ſhut the door after him, 7 And ſaid, I pray you brethren, do not ſo wickedly. 8 Behold now, I have two daughters which have

CHAP. XIV.

The Battle of four Kings againſt five; the Sodomites and their Confederates routed, and Lot taken Priſoner; is reſcued by Abram, who, in his Return from his Victory, viſits Melchiſedeck, and pays him Tithes, and is bleſſed by him; reſtores the King of Sodom his Goods, and divides the reſt of the Spoil among his Partners in the Expedition.

Ver. 1. AND it came to paſs in the days of Amraphel, king of Shinar, Arioch king of Ellaſar, Kedorlaomer king of Elam, and Tidal king of nations. 2 That theſe made war with Bera king of Sodom, and with Birſha king of Gomorrah, Shinab king of Admah, and Shemeber king of Zeboiim, and the king of Bela, which is Zoar. 3 All theſe were joyned together in the vale of Siddim, which is the ſalt-ſea. 4 Twelve years they ſerved Chedorlaomer, and in the thirteenth year they rebelled. 5 And in the fourteenth year came Chedorlaomer, and the kings that were with him, and ſmote the Rephaims in Aſhteroth Karnaim, and the Zuzims in Ham, and the Emims in Shaveh Kiriathaim, 6 And the Horites in their mount Seir, unto Elparan, which is by the wilderneſs. 7 And they returned, and came to En-miſhpat, which is Kadeſh, and ſmote all the country of the Amalekites, and alſo the Amorites, that dwelt in Hazezon-tamar. 8 And there went out the king of Sodom, and the king of Gomorrah, and the king of Admah, and the king of Zeboim, and the king of Bela (the ſame is Zoar) and they joyned battel with them in the vale of Siddim; 9 With Chedorlaomer the king of Elam, and with Tidal king of nations, and Amraphel king of Shinar, and Arioch king of Ellaſar: four kings with five. 10 And the vale of Siddim was full of ſlime-pits, and the kings of Sodom and Gomorrah fled, and fell there: and they that remained fled to the mountain. 11 And they took all the goods of Sodom and Gomorrah, and all their victuals, and went their way. 12 And they took Lot Abrams brothers ſon (who dwelt in Sodom) and his goods, and departed. 13 And there came one that had eſcaped, and told Abram the Hebrew; for he dwelt in the plain of Mamre the Amorite, brother of Eſhcol; and brother of Aner: and theſe were confederate with Abram. 14 And when Abram heard that his brother was taken captive, he armed his trained ſervants, born in his own houſe, three hundred and eighteen, and purſued them unto Dan. 15 And he divided himſelf againſt them, he and his ſervants by night, and ſmote them, and purſued them unto Hobah, which is on the left hand of Damaſcus: 16 And he brought back all the goods, and alſo brought again his brother Lot, and his goods, and the women alſo, and the people. 17 And the king of Sodom went out to meet him (after his return from the ſlaughter of Chedorlaomer and of the kings that were with him) at the valley of Shaveh, which is the kings dale. 18 And Melchizedek king of Salem brought forth bread and wine: and he was the prieſt of the moſt high God. 19 And he bleſſed him, and ſaid, Bleſſed be Abram of the moſt high God, poſſeſſor of heaven and earth: 20 And bleſſed be the moſt high God, which hath delivered thine enemies into thy hand. And he gave him tithes of all. 21 And the king of Sodom ſaid unto Abram, Give me the perſons, and take the goods to thyſelf. 22 And Abram ſaid to the king of Sodom, I have lift up mine hand unto the Lord, the moſt high God, the poſſeſſor of heaven and earth, 23 That I will not take from a thread even to a ſhoe-latchet, and that I will not take any thing that is thine, leſt thou ſhouldeſt ſay, I have made Abram rich: 24 Save only that which the young men have eaten, and the portion of the men which went with me, Aner, Eſhcol, and Mamre; let them take their portion.

And it came to paſs in the Days of Amraphel King of Shinar, Arioch King of Ellaſar, Chedorlaomer King of Elam, and Tidal King of Nations] We meet no where, ſays Shuckford, in profane Hiſtory, with the Name of Chedorlaomer, nor with any of thoſe Names of the Kings that were confederate with him: And the Reaſon hereof is, that Cteſias (from whom profane Hiſtorians took the Names of theſe Kings) did not uſe their original Aſſyrian Names in his Hiſtory, but rather ſuch as he found in the Perſian Records. However, ſince the Date of this Tranſaction falls four Years before the Death of Ninyas, there are Grounds to infer, that Ninyas, who then lived in Perſia, was the Chedorlaomer of Moſes, at that Time the Head of the Aſſyrian Monarchy; that Amraphel was his Deputy at Babylon in Shinar; and Arioch and Tidal his Deputies over ſome other adjacent Countries: For it is remarkable, that Ninyas was the firſt who had appointed under him ſuch Deputies; nor is there any Abſurdity in Moſes in calling them Kings, ſince it is obſervable, from what Iſaiah hinted afterwards, (Ch. x. 8.) that the Aſſyrian boaſted his Deputy-princes to be equal to royal Governors, Are not my Princes altogether Kings?

The Penmen of the Holy Scriptures call all Princes, Kings of thoſe Countries in which they reſided, without having Reſpect to the leſſer or greater Extent of their Dominions. Chedorlaomer is here ſtyled King of Elam, or Perſia, becauſe he eſtabliſhed the Seat of his Empire there; the three other Kings, mentioned as his Confederates, were indeed no other than his Deputies, or Viceroys; Amraphel in Shinar, Arioch at Ellaſar, and Tidal over ſeveral Countries, from whence he is called in Scripture, King of Nations. It has been urged as an Objection to this Account, that Elam, or Perſia, was at a great Diſtance from Canaan and the Plain of Sodom, and indeed ſo appears to be from the Moſaic Relation, wherein the Space of a Year is ſaid to have elapſed before Chedorlaomer came with his Army againſt the King of the five Cities, which agrees very well with the Time in which the News of this Rebellion might be carried, and that wherein ſuch a Body of Forces became their Confederates. Another Objection has been ſtarted, from the ſuppoſed Power of the Aſſyrian Emperors, as if it would have been unworthy of ſo great a Monarch, to have marched at the Head of his Army againſt Potentates of ſo little Force as theſe Princes, who had each but a City for his Kingdom, muſt neceſſarily have been. To this it's anſwer'd, That the Moſaic Account of Chedorlaomer's Expedition renders this perfectly clear: That King is ſaid to have reduced the Rephaims, a People ſo diſtinguiſhed for their Strength, that the Septuagint calls them Giants. The Zuzims, and Emims alſo, were defeated by Chedorlaomer, and, in a Word, he reduced all the Nations which lay between what was afterwards called the Country of Amalek, and the Plain of Siddim, and this, it is evident, could not have been effected without a conſiderable Strength, which muſt have been weakened and impaired before the Engagement in the Plain of Siddim; after which, his Army being loaded with Plunder, it appears to have been a Courſe perfectly juſt and reaſonable for him to return, with his Troops, into his

his own Territories, for Fear of ſuch an Accident happening as that which afterwards befel him. Some indeed, have taken either Amraphel King of Shinar, or Tidal, King of Nations, for the Aſſyrian Emperor, and have made Chedorlaomer his Deputy. It would take up too much Time to refute their Arguments here, and therefore I ſhall only obſerve, that the literal Senſe of the Moſaic Hiſtory is expreſly in Favour of that Opinion which is above given.

And ſmote the Rephaims] Theſe People are thought to have dwelt in Baſhan, on the other Side of Jordan. The Zuzims, Emims, and Horites, were their Neighbours, and poſſeſſed that Country which was afterwards called Edom, and lay Eaſt from the Country about Sodom.

And the Vale of Siddim was full of Slime-pits; and the Kings of Sodom and Gomorrah fled, and fell there] As the Text tells us, that the Kings of Sodom and Gomorrah fell into the Slime-pits, with which the Valley of Siddim abounds, and takes no Notice of their coming out of them; it is more rational to ſuppoſe, that they periſhed there, than that Abraham ſtayed to take them up, as the Jews vainly imagine; and that therefore the King of Sodom, who afterwards came out to congratulate Abraham, muſt have been the Son of the Deceaſed.

He armed his trained Servants, born in his own Houſe, three hundred and eighteen, and purſued them unto Dan] It is impoſſible for us to compute, with any Certainty, the Number of Men which Abram had with him when he went in Purſuit of the Aſſyrian Army. Moſes tells us indeed of three hundred and eighteen trained Servants of his own; but what Number of Perſons each of his three Friends carried with him, is not ſaid. As the Patriarch divided his Force, and attacked the Enemy in the Night, there is no ſuch extraordinary Matter in defeating the Aſſyrians, as ſome have imagined. Beſides, it does not appear how far he followed them, after they were routed. Hoba is a Place not ſpoken of elſewhere in Scripture; and all that is ſaid of it here is, that it was on the left Hand of Damaſcus; but how far it was diſtant from thence, where the firſt Engagement happened.

And Melchiſedeck, King of Salem, brought forth Bread and Wine] The Name Melchiſedeck ſignifies, the King of Righteouſneſs; and the Jews, generally, ſuppoſe Salem to have been the ſame Place with Jeruſalem. In the ſacred Text there is ſome Doubt, with Reſpect to the Words expreſſing the Payment of Tithes, it not appearing clearly, whether they were preſented by Abram to Melchiſedeck, or by Melchiſedeck to Abram. Many of the Jews incline to the latter Interpretation; tho' the Reaſon of the Thing, and the Teſtimony of Joſephus, are both on the other Side.

Melchiſedeck is deſcribed by St. Paul, as without Father, without Mother, and without Deſcent; that is, ſays Stackhouſe, without any Father or Mother, mention'd in the Genealogies of Moſes, where the Parents of all pious Worthies are generally ſet down with great Exactneſs: So that there being no Genealogy at all of Melchiſedeck recorded in Scripture, he is introduc'd at once; even like a Man dropp'd down from Heaven, for ſo the Deſcription goes on, having neither Beginning of Days, nor End of Life, i. e. in the Hiſtory of Moſes, which (contrary to its common Uſage, when it makes Mention of great Men) takes no Notice at all of the Time, either of his Birth or Death, and herein he is made like unto the Son of God, i. e. by the Hiſtory of Moſes, which mentions him appearing, and acting upon the Stage, without either Entrance or Exit, as if, like the Son of God, he had abode a Prieſt continually.

The learned Heidegger ſeems to have taken the right Method to explain this difficult Paſſage of St. Paul to the Hebrews. He ſuppoſes (as there really is) a twofold Melchiſedeck, the one hiſtorical, whereof Moſes gives us an Account in the xivth Chapter of Geneſis, as that he was the King, as well as Prieſt of Jeruſalem; the other allegorical, whom St. Paul deſcribes in the Words now under Conſideration, and this allegorical Perſon is Chriſt. The Word Melchiſedeck, ſimply conſider'd means the King of Righteouſneſs; and, from this Senſe of the Word, in its appellative Signification, and the Remembrance of this Perſon's being a Prieſt, as well as a King, the Apoſtle took the Occaſion to draw the Compariſon between him and Chriſt, in order to ſhew the Pre-eminence of the Chriſtian, above the Aaronical Prieſthood; and what he aſcribes to the hiſtorical Melchiſedeck, upon this Account, is only to be underſtood in an imperfect and improper Senſe, that is, really and literally true only in the Perſon of Chriſt. The Apoſtle was minded, in ſhort, to illuſtrate his Argument with ſome Compariſon; and, writing at this Time to the Jews (who were well acquainted with this allegorical Way of arguing) he could meet with none, in the whole Compaſs of their Law, ſo commodious for his Purpoſe, as this of Melchiſedeck: And therefore, as Chriſt, the heavenly Melchiſedeck, was without Father, without Mother, without Deſcent here on Earth, in reſpect of his Divinity, having neither Beginning of Days, nor End of Life; ſo the like Properties may, in ſome Meaſure be applied to the earthly Melchiſedeck. Foraſmuch as, in the Book of Geneſis, wherein all great Men's Genealogies are ſuppos'd to be recorded, there is no Mention made, either of his Birth, Family, or Death; only he was inveſted with a Royal Prieſthood, which aſſimulates him to Chriſt. He had a Father and Mother, no doubt, and was born, and died, like other Men; but, becauſe theſe Things are not related by Moſes, the Apoſtle looks upon them as tho' they never had been. So that the whole Hinge of the Compariſon turns upon the Silence of the ſacred Hiſtorian, who, in a Book (wherein it might be expected otherwiſe) makes no manner of Mention, either of the Beginning or Ending of Melchiſedeck's Life or Prieſthood: And 'tis for this Reaſon, that he, who wrote by the Guidance of the Bleſſed Spirit, was directed to conceal theſe Matters; that, in this Situation, this ſame Melchiſedeck might be a more proper Type of ſo ſublime a Thing, as that of the Prieſthood of Jeſus Chriſt.

The ſole Queſtion concerning the Perſon of Melchiſedeck, would ſupply Matter for a whole Volume, even tho' one ſhould do no more than recite the Catalogue of the different Opinions, to which it has given Riſe, and the Reaſon, upon which each Conjecturer has endeavour'd to eſtabliſh his own. The Melchiſedecians, a Sect in the early Times of the Church, maintain'd, that he was a certain divine Power ſuperior to Chriſt: Hieraxes the Egyptian, that he was the Holy Ghoſt, becauſe compar'd to the Son of God: The Samaritans, and many Jews, that he was Shem, the Son of Noah: Mr. Jurieu, that he was Ham, another Son of his: Origen, that he was an Angel: Athanaſius, that he was the Son of Melchi, the Grandſon of Salaad: Patricides, that he was the Son of Phaleg: Irenæus, that he was the King of Jeruſalem: St. Jerome, that he was the King of Salem, in Scythopolis; and a certain anonymous Author, that he was a Man immediately created by God, as was Adam: And becauſe he is ſaid to have no Relations, ſome have given out, that the Earth open'd her Mouth, and ſwallow'd them all up; whilſt others, becauſe he is ſaid to have no End of Life, ſuppoſe that he was tranſlated, and that he is now with Enoch and Elias in a State of Paradiſe. See Heidegger's Hiſt. Patriarch. Vol. II. Exerc. 2. But all theſe Opinions are at preſent reduc'd to theſe two, whether this Melchiſedeck was a mere mortal Man, or the Son of God in human Shape, which the Reader may find ſupported with Arguments on both Sides, in both Saurin's and Calmet's Diſſertations upon this Subject.

Thoſe who make him to be the Son of Melchi, an idolatrous King, and of a Queen named Salem, have an antient Tradition, that Melchi having reſolv'd to offer a Sacrifice to his Gods, ſent his Son Melchiſedeck to fetch him ſeven Calves, that he might ſacrifice them; but that, as he was going, he was enlighten'd by God, and immediately return'd to his Father to remonſtrate to him the Vanity of Idols. His Father in Wrath ſent him back to fetch the Victims, and while he was gone, offered up to his Gods his own Son, who was the elder

Brother of Melchiſedeck, with a great Number of other Children. Melchiſedeck returning, and conceiving a great Horror at this Butchery, retir'd to Mount Tabor, where he liv'd ſeven Years without Cloaths, and without any other Food, but wild Fruits, or any other Drink, but the Dew that he ſuck'd up from the Plants; till, at length, Abraham, by the Direction of God, went up to the Mount, found out Melchiſedeck, cloathed him and brought him down with him. But thoſe who wou'd have him to be the Son of Phaleg, relate a ſtill ſtranger Story, viz. That Noah, upon his Death-bed, charged his Son Seth to take Melchiſedeck, the Son of Phaleg, with him, and go to a Place, which the Angel of the Lord ſhould ſhew them, and there bury the Body of Adam, which he had preſerv'd in the Ark during the Flood; that in that Place Melchiſedeck ſhould fix his Habitation, lead a ſingle Life, and entirely addict himſelf to the Practice of Piety, becauſe God had made Choice of him for his Prieſt, but allow'd him not to ſhed the Blood of any Animal, nor to offer any other Oblation to him, but that of Bread and Wine only; that Seth and Melchiſedeck did as Noah had enjoin'd them, and buried Adam in the Place which the Angel pointed out; that, upon their parting, Melchiſedeck betook himſelf to the monaſtick Courſe of Life, which Noah had preſcrib'd him; but that twelve neighbouring Kings, hearing of his Fame, and deſirous of his Acquaintance, conſulted together, and built a City, whereof they conſtituted him King and Governor, and, in Honour to his Merit, call'd it Jeruſalem. CHAP. XV.

Abram is encouraged by God; he complains for want of Iſſue; is promiſed a Son, with a numerous Offſpring; he is juſtified by Faith. God renews his Promiſe of giving him Canaan, and confirms his Covenant with him.

Ver. 1. AFTER theſe things the word of the Lord came unto Abram in a viſion, ſaying, Fear not, Abram: I am thy ſhield, and thy exceeding great reward. 2 And Abram ſaid, Lord God, what wilt thou give me, ſeeing I go childleſs, and the ſteward of my houſe is this Eliezer of Damaſcus? 3 And Abram ſaid, Behold, to me thou haſt given no ſeed: and lo, one born in mine houſe is mine heir. 4 And behold, the word of the Lord came unto him, ſaying, This ſhall not be thine heir, but he that ſhall come forth out of thine own bowels ſhall be thine heir. 5 And he brought him forth abroad, and ſaid, Look now toward heaven, and tell the ſtars, if thou be able to number them: And he ſaid unto him, So ſhall thy ſeed be. 6 And he believed in the Lord; and he counted it to him for righteouſneſs. 7 And he ſaid unto him, I am the Lord that brought thee out of Ur of the Chaldees, to give thee this land to inherit it. 8 And he ſaid, Lord God, whereby ſhall I know that I ſhall inherit it. 9 And he ſaid unto him, Take me an heifer of three years old, and a ſhe-goat of three years old, and a ram of three years old, and a turtle-dove, and a young pigeon. 10 And he took unto him all theſe, and divided them in the midſt, and laid each piece one againſt another: but the birds divided he not. 11 And when the fowls came down upon the carcaſes, Abram drove them away. 12 And when the ſun was going down, a deep ſleep fell upon Abram; and lo, an horror of great darkneſs fell upon him. 13 And he ſaid unto Abram, Know of a ſurety that thy ſeed ſhall be a ſtranger in a land that is not theirs, and ſhall ſerve them, and they ſhall afflict them four hundred years. 14 And alſo that nation whom they ſhall ſerve, will I judge: and afterward ſhall they come out with great ſubſtance. 15 And thou ſhalt go to thy fathers in peace; thou ſhalt be buried in a good old age. 16 But in the fourth generation they ſhall come hither again: for the iniquity of the Amorites is not yet full. 17 And it came to paſs, that when the ſun went down and it was dark, behold a ſmoaking furnace, and a burning lamp that paſſed between thoſe pieces. 18 In that ſame day the Lord made a covenant with Abram, ſaying, Unto thy ſeed have I given this land, from the river of Egypt unto the great river, the river Euphrates: 19 The Kenites, and the Kenizzites, and the Kadmonites, 20 And the Hittites, and the Perizzites, and the Rephaims, 21 And the Amorites, and the Canaanites, and the Girgaſhites, and the Jebuſites.

Fear not Abram] It has been conjectured, and that not without Probability, that Abram was under ſome Apprehenſions, for Fear the Aſſyrians ſhould return the next Year, into the Land of Canaan, in order to revenge themſelves for this Defeat; and that God, in order to deliver him from his Fears, graciouſly promiſed him, to be a Shield to him in all Dangers; and to reward his Piety, with whatever Bleſſings were fit for him to receive.

And Abram ſaid, Lord God, What wilt thou give me, ſeeing I go childleſs? And the Steward of my Houſe is this Eliezer of Damaſcus] It would have been impoſſible, even in the moſt artful Piece of Oratory, to have ſet forth, in ſtronger Terms, the Anxiety of a Perſon deſirous of Children, and diſappointed in that Deſire, than Moſes, as directed by God's Spirit, hath done it here, in few Words, Lord, what wilt thou give me, &c. There does, indeed, appear ſomewhat of Impatience in this Expoſtulation of Abram's; but we are not to ſuppoſe that the Patriarchs were void of human Frailties; we are expreſly told the contrary, by the ſacred Writer; and perhaps it is one of the moſt uſeful Points of Scripture Hiſtory, to conſider the Nature of their Errors, and of their Repentance, from whence we may learn, neither to diſtruſt the Mercy of God, nor raſhly to rely on it, without properly preparing our Hearts to receive it; that is, by being ſorrowful for Sins already committed, and putting on a ſetled Reſolution, not to offend by committing them again.

And he took unto him all theſe, and divided them in the midſt] Patrick and Le Clerc obſerve, that the only Place beſide this, where we have any Intimation given us of this Method of making Covenants, by dividing the Beaſts then to be ſacrificed, and by the Parties, who covenanted, paſſing between the Parts of the Beaſts ſo divided, is in Jer. xxxiv. 18, 19. I will give the Men, that have tranſgreſſed my Covenant, which they had made before me, when they cut the Calf in twain, and paſſed between the Parts thereof; the Princes of Judah, and the Princes of Jeruſalem, the Eunuchs, and the Prieſts, and all the People of the Land, which paſſed between the Parts of the Calf, I will even give them into the Hand of their Enemies, and into the Hand of them that ſeek their Life; and their dead Bodies ſhall be for Meat unto the Fowls of Heaven, and unto the Beaſts of the Earth. This certainly was a very antient Cuſtom; and Euſtathius upon Homer hath this Obſervation, that in Matters of great Moment, Oaths, or Covenants, were generally made by dividing the Animals, which, upon ſuch Occaſions, were ſacrific'd; and the Deſign of this Rite (as the learned Mede, in a Diſcourſe upon this Subject, has expreſſed it) was as much as to ſay, Thus let me be divided, and cut in Pieces, if I violate the Oath which I have now made in the Preſence of God.

And lo! an Horror of great Darkneſs fell upon him] That Horror and Dread of Spirits does frequently ſeize

on

on thoſe who ſee Viſions, is evident from what Daniel tells us of himſelf. I was left alone, and ſaw this great Viſion, and there remained no Strength in me, for my Comelineſs was turned in me into Corruption, and I retained no Strength, Ch. x. 8. but the Deſcription which we have in Job of this Matter, is, in itſelf, very awful and affecting. In Thoughts from the Viſions of the Night, when deep Sleep falleth on Men, Fear came upon me, and Trembling, which made all my Bones to ſhake. Then a Spirit paſſed before my Face, the Hair of my Fleſh ſtood up. It ſtood ſtill, but I could not diſcern the Form thereof; an Image was before mine Eyes, there was Silence, and I heard a Voice, Ch. iv. 13, &c.

And they ſhall afflict them four hundred Years] Expoſitors, ſays Patrick, are very much divided in their Opinions, how to make it out, that Abraham's Poſterity was in a State of Servitude and Affliction for the Space of four hundred Years: It may be obſerved however, that all this Difficulty is removed, if we ſuppoſe, that their State of Affliction is to be reckoned from the Time of Iſaac's Birth, which to the Deliverance out of the Egyptian Bondage, was juſt four hundred and five Years; but the five odd Years are therefore not mentioned, becauſe it is a common Cuſtom among all Writers to take no Notice of broken Numbers (as they call them) when they name a round Sum, and if there be ſuppoſed a farther Difficulty, in that their Sojourning is (in Exod. xii. 43.) ſaid to have continued four hundred and thirty Years, in theſe Years the Time of Abraham's Sojourning (which was exactly twenty five Years, from his Coming into the Land of Canaan to the Birth of Iſaac) may be comprehended, and then all the Difficulty vaniſhes; becauſe theſe twenty five Years, added to the four hundred and five before mentioned, exactly make up the four hundred and thirty.

And thou ſhalt go to thy Fathers in Peace] This Expreſſion ſome will have to be no more than an Oriental Phraſe for going to the Grave; but ſince it cannot be ſaid of Abraham, that he did, in this Senſe, go to his Fathers (for as much as his Body was ſo far from being laid with them in the Sepulcher, that it was depoſited in a Country, that had no Manner of Communication with that of his Fathers) it muſt be allowed, that, from this Text, an Argument may be juſtly drawn for the ſeparate Exiſtence of human Souls. The Expreſſion however, of going to our Fathers, ſeems to have been formed from ſome ſuch Notion as this, — That the Souls of the Deceaſed do go to ſome certain Place, where thoſe of the ſame Family, or ſame Nation at leaſt, are ſuppoſed to live together, and in Communion: Which Notion certainly ariſes from that natural Deſire which all Men, who think their better Part immortal, have to ſee and converſe with ſuch of their Relations or Countrymen, as have left behind them a great and laſting Fame. For, if the Soul of Socrates, ſays one, were permitted to go where it deſired, it certainly would aſſociate with the Worthies of Greece, with Orpheus, Muſæus, Homer, and thoſe antient Demi-gods, who, in ſeveral Generations, were ſo renowned. See Le Clerc's Com. and Biblioth Bibl. Vol. I.

Behold, a ſmoaking Furnace, and burning Lamp] By this Symbol God deſigned to repreſent to Abraham either the future State of his Poſterity, the ſmoaking Furnace ſignifying Iſrael's Miſery in the Land of Egypt; and the burning Lamp, their happy Eſcape and Deliverance; or (what ſeems more probable) to notify his own immediate Preſence, ſince both Smoak and Fire are, in ſeveral Parts of Scripture, mention'd, as Emblems and Repreſentations of the Divine Appearance. And therefore, as it was a Thing cuſtomary, and eſpecially in Chaldea (from whence Abraham came) for Perſons, covenanting together, to paſs between the Pieces of the Sacrifice; ſo God, who had no Body to do it viſibly for him, did it in this Type and Emblem. See Pool's Annot. and Biblioth. Bibl.

St. Chryſoſtom obſerves rightly, as to this Paſſage, that God entered thereby, into a Covenant with Abram, and his Poſterity; ſince, by paſſing between the Pieces, he teſtified from thence, his Approbation of the Sacrifice.

CHAP. XVI.

Sarai, judging herſelf paſt bearing of Children, prevails on her Huſband to take her Handmaid Hagar to be his ſecondary Wife. Hagar accordingly conceives, and valuing herſelf upon it, miſbehaves to her Miſtreſs, who reſents it, and by her ſevere Uſage, obliges Hagar to leave the Family; but is exhorted by an Angel to return Home, and be ſubject to her Miſtreſs; and ſoon after is deliver'd of Iſhmael.

Ver. 1. NOW Sarai Abrams wife bare him no children: and ſhe had an handmaid an Egyptian, whoſe name was Hagar. 2 And Sarai ſaid unto Abram, Behold now, the Lord hath reſtrained me from bearing: I pray thee go in unto my maid; it may be that I may obtain children by her: and Abram hearkened to the voice of Sarai. 3 And Sarai Abrams wife took Hagar her maid the Egyptian, after Abram had dwelt ten years in the land of Canaan, and gave her to her huſband Abram to be his wife. 4 And he went in unto Hagar, and ſhe conceived: And when ſhe ſaw that ſhe had conceived, her miſtreſs was deſpiſed in her eyes. 5 And Sarai ſaid unto Abram, My wrong be upon thee: I have given my maid into thy boſom; and when ſhe ſaw that ſhe had conceived, I was deſpiſed in her eyes: the Lord judge between me and thee. 6 But Abram ſaid unto Sarai, Behold, thy maid is in thy hand; do to her as it pleaſeth thee. And when Sarai dealt hardly with her, ſhe fled from her face. 7 And the angel of the Lord found her by a fountain of water in the wilderneſs, by the fountain in the way to Shur. 8 And he ſaid, Hagar, Sarai's maid, whence cameſt thou? and whither wilt thou go? And ſhe ſaid, I flee from the face of my miſtreſs Sarai. 9 And the angel of the Lord ſaid unto her, Return to thy miſtreſs, and ſubmit thyſelf under her hands. 10 And the angel of the Lord ſaid unto her, I will multiply thy ſeed exceedingly, that it ſhall not be numbered for multitude. 11 And the angel of the Lord ſaid unto her, Behold, thou art with child, and ſhalt bear a ſon, and ſhalt call his name Iſhmael; becauſe the Lord hath heard thy affliction. 12 And he will be a wild man; his hand will be againſt every man, and every mans hand againſt him: and he ſhall dwell in the preſence of all his brethren. 13 And ſhe called the name of the Lord that ſpake unto her, Thou God ſeeſt me: for ſhe ſaid, Have I alſo here looked after him that ſeeth me? 14 Wherefore the well was called Beer-lahai-roi; behold, it is between Kadeſh and Bered. 15 And Hagar bare Abram a ſon: and Abram called his ſons name, which Hagar bare, Iſhmael. 16 And Abram was fourſcore and ſix years old, when Hagar bare Iſhmael to Abram.

She had an Handmaid, an Egyptian, whoſe Name was Hagar] The Tradition which the Jews have concerning her being given by Pharaoh to Sarai, is probable enough; but what they ſay farther, ſeems a little extravagant; viz. that ſhe was the Daughter of the King of Egypt, who, obſerving the Wonders which were wrought in Favour of Abram, by the Divine Power, choſe therefore to recommend his Daughter to the the Patriarch's Wife, saying to the Girl, when he deliver'd her, My Child it is better for you to serve in this House, than to be Mistress in another. What Philo relates of her, that she became a Convert to the true Religion, is highly probable; but for the Jewish Stories, of great Miracles wrought for her Conviction, they are to be consider'd as Fables, taking Birth from the Vanity of that Nation. Some of the Rabbins, among other of their wild Conjectures, pretend, that she is the same with Keturah, whom Abram took to Wife after Sarai's Decease. But there is not the least Ground for this Supposition. The Mussulmans, who take themselves to be descended from Ishmael, the Son of Hagar, bestow the highest Praises on her, and recount the History in a very different Manner from that in which it is recorded by Moses. By Way of Excellence, they call her the Mother Hagar; and assert she was not the Concubine, but the lawful Wife of Abram: They look on Ishmael, as the legitimate Heir of the Prophet, and say, that he claimed from thence the Country which he afterwards possessed, and which they make to be of greater Extent and Value than that of Canaan, which was given to Isaac his second Son. They not only believe the Fables, of her being the Daughter of the King of Egypt, but pretend also to tell us the Town where she was born, and which, out of Respect to her Memory, was rebuilded by one of the Egyptian Caliphs.

Go in unto my Maid; it may be that I may obtain Children by her; and Abram hearkened to the Voice of Sarai] It may be observ'd, that from the Scripture History, there is not the least Reason to suspect, that Lust entered, in any Degree, into Abram's consenting to his Wife's Proposal, as we cannot conceive, on her Part that there could be any other View than obtaining the promised Seed, which, if it sprung from her Handmaid, Sarai, in some Degree, thought it might be called hers.

In Concubinage, these Secondary, or Wives of a lower Order, were accounted lawful and true Wives; had an equal Right to the Marriage-bed with the chief Wife, and their Issue was reputed as legitimate; but, in all other Respects, they were inferior. As they had no Authority in the Family, nor any Share in houshold Government; so, if they had been Servants in the Family, before they came to be Concubines, they continued in that State afterwards, and in the same Subjection to their Mistresses as before. See Howel's Hist. of the Bible.

This Proposal of Sarai to Abram, as Chrysostom observes, and the soft Manner of making it, discovers a very uncommon Love and Respect to her Husband; that she herself shou'd persuade, and urge him to this Expedient, in order to make him easy in that Particular, which gave him so much Disturbance, the Want of Issue, the Default of which she suppos'd to be owing to herself: And 'twas purely in Compliance to this Solicitation of her's, that he took Hagar to his Bed. Sarah undoubtedly, was by far the more beautiful Woman, at least if so good Judges, as the King of Egypt and his Subjects may be depended on. Abraham had now liv'd many Years, without giving any Occasion to have his Modesty and Continence suspected: Hagar too was no more than his Wife's Servant, and inferior to her in Person, as much as in Condition: In a short Time after, when, upon her Conception, she grew undutiful to her Mistress, Abraham never interposed in her Favour, but left her entirely to her Lady's Discretion: From all which Circumstances it appears, that his taking Hagar to be his concubinary Wife, was not from any Motive of Sensuality, but from a true Principle of conjugal Affection to Sarai.

Whether Polygamy, in the Age of the Patriarchs, was innocent, or no, is a Question that has much employ'd the Pens of the Learned. Most of the antient Fathers of the Church maintain its Lawfulness, and some of our later Divines can hardly persuade themselves, that a Practice which the most holy and venerable Men ordinarily engag'd in, and during that Engagement, continued an intimate Conversation and Familiarity with God; a Practice, which God never blam'd in them, even when he sharply reproves other Vices, and for which they themselves never shewed any Remorse, or Tokens of Repentance, shou'd be detestable in the Sight of God. Our blessed Saviour, who has restor'd Matrimony to its primitive Institution, has certainly declar'd it to be criminal; but whether it was so, under a less perfect Dispensation, is not so well agreed. At present, if we suppose it only tolerated by God, in the Time of the Patriarchs, we shall soon perceive another Inducement for Abraham's complying with his Wife's Request; and that is, the passionate Desire for a numerous Progeny, which, in those Days, was very prevalent; so very prevalent, that we find Men accounting of their Children as their Riches, their Strength, their Glory; and several Families reckoning them up with a Sort of Pride, and placing the chief of their Renown in the Multitude of them: For Children, and the Fruit of the Womb, are an Heritage and Gift that cometh of the Lord; like as Arrows in the Hand of a Giant, so are young Children. Happy is the Man that has a Quiver full of them; he shall not be ashamed, when he speaketh with his Enemies in the Gate, Ps. cxxvii. 3. &c.

After Abram had dwelt ten Years in the Land of Canaan] Some of the Jewish Doctors, with very little Foundation, have endeavoured to establish a Rule, from this extraordinary Case, and teach, that if a Wife be barren ten Years, that then the Husband may take a Second, in order to raise up Issue.

And Sarai said unto Abram, My Wrong be upon thee: I have given my Maid into thy Bosom, and when she saw that she had conceived, I was despised in her Eyes: The Lord judge between thee and me] This Speech of Sarai to Abram is thus paraphrased by the Jerusalem Targum: My Cause, says she, and the Injury I have received, behold they are in thy Hand to do by me as thou pleasest. I have left the House of my Father where I was born, and the Country where I drew my Breath, and hither have I come with thee, trusting in thy God. I have gone with thee before Kings, before Pharaoh King of Egypt, and before Abimelec King of the Philistines; and I have said of thee, that thou wast my Brother, lest they should kill thee; and now, when I perceived that I could not bear Children, I have taken Hagar the Egyptian, my Handmaid, and have given her to thee as a Wife, and have said, Let her bring forth, and I will bring up, if by her alone thou canst have Children; but now perceiving that she hath conceived, behold I am grown low and despicable in her Eyes; let therefore the righteous God appear, and let him judge between me and thee, and let his Mercy be poured out over us, that the World may be filled with our Descendants, and that we stand not in need of a Son of an Egyptian Bond-slave, who is sprung from the Loins of the People, by whom thou wast thrown into the Fire of the Chaldees.

And when Sarai dealt hardly with her, she fled from her Face] With Pride, or a Disdain of submitting to Sarai's Rebukes, as some have imagined, or whether hard Labour, or some other Kind of Punishment, made so deep an Impression on the Mind of Hagar, as to engage her to quit the House of her Husband, and to trust herself, in the Condition she then was, alone, in the Wilderness, is not said in Scripture; but, from what follows, we may reasonably conceive, that there was a Mixture of both these Causes, which occasioned her Flight.

And the Angel of the Lord found her] This is the first Appearance of an Angel, recorded in Scripture. The Hebrew Word is Maleac, and signifies no more than a Messenger, or one employed to carry a Command or Request. The Greeks express the same Thing by the Word Aggelos, from whence we have taken Angel, and have fixed its Signification to a Messenger of the Divine Will.

Submit thyself under her Hands] These are the Words in our Translation, but the Hebrew Word is the same here as in the 6th Verse, where it is said, Sarai dealt hardly with her; so that the Meaning of the Angelic Advice is plainly this, that she should bear with the

the Averſion of her Miſtreſs, and ſubmit again to the ſame hard Uſage from which ſhe was now flying. This Repetition of the ſame Phraſe is very elegant in the Oriental Languages, and was a Thing practiſed by the moſt antient of the Greek Writers. Several Inſtances of it are to be found in Homer, and ſome alſo in the ſhort Poem of Muſæus.

And ſhalt call his Name Iſhmael] Iſhmael is compounded of the Words Iiſhmag and El, the Lord hath, or the Lord will hear: And the Reaſon of the Name is immediately ſubjoined by the Angel, namely, becauſe the Lord hath heard her Complaint.

And he ſhall be a wild Man; his Hand will be againſt every Man, and every Man's Hand againſt him; and he ſhall dwell in the Preſence of all his Brethren] In order to explain this Prophecy, and thence to obſerve how perfectly it has been all along fulfilled, it muſt be remember'd, ſays Stackhouſe, that, (according to the Stile of the Old Teſtament) what is here ſaid of Iſhmael, muſt be chiefly underſtood of his Deſcendants, in the ſame Manner as what Jacob predicts of Judah, and the reſt of his Sons, was to relate to their Poſterity, and be indeed the Characteriſtick of their ſeveral Tribes. And therefore (to take Notice of two of the moſt odd and unaccountable Branches of his Character) he will be a wild Man, or a Man like a wild Aſs; this (from the known Properties of that Creature) ſeveral Interpreters have reſolv'd into theſe Qualities, --- Fierce, and cruel, loving Solitude, and hating Confinement of any Kind.

How far this Part of the Character was verified in Iſhmael, who liv'd in the Wilderneſs, and became an expert Archer, his very Condition of Life ſhews us; and how properly it belongs to his Poſterity, the Arabians, who, in every Nation, have very juſtly obtained the Name of wild, a ſmall Inſpection into Hiſtory will inform us.

To this very Day (as modern Travellers inform us) great Numbers of them live in the Deſarts, and wander about from Place to Place, without any certain Habitation. They neither plow the Ground, nor apply themſelves to any Kind of Huſbandry, tho' there are ſeveral fruitful Places in the Wilderneſs, that would repay their Pains. Their whole Occupation (beſide ſpoiling their Neighbours) lies in hunting, and killing wild Beaſts, in which there are but few that make uſe of Fire-Arms: The much greater Part of them make uſe of the Bow, and do herein imitate their great Progenitor, that they are the moſt exquiſite Archers in the World.

Before the Introduction of Mahometaniſm, they were as vagrant in their Luſt, and as little reſtrain'd in the Uſe of Females, as the brutal Herd: And, even now, they take as many Wives as do the Turks, i. e. as many as they can keep, whom they purchaſe of their Parents, uſe with Indifference, and diſmiſs at Pleaſure. They rove about like the fierceſt Beaſts of Prey, ſeeking continually whom they may devour; inſomuch that the Governor of Grand Cairo is forced to keep a Guard of 4000 Horſemen every Night, on the Side of the City next the Wilderneſs, to ſecure it againſt their Incurſions. Nor is the Wilderneſs only the Scene of their Depredations: They rove all over the Southern and Eaſtern Seas, viſit every Creek, and Coaſt, and Iſland, and (as the Hiſtorian Ammianus Marcellinus compares them) come ſouſing like a Hawk, with incredible Swiftneſs, upon their Prey, and are gone again in an Inſtant. And, as they have always thus prey'd upon Mankind, the neceſſary Conſequence is, that they have always been at Variance and Hoſtility with them; and therein have made good the other Branch of Iſhmael's Character, His Hand ſhall be againſt every Man, and every Man's Hand againſt him.

There is not the leaſt Hint in Scripture, nor any Manner of Reaſon to believe, that Iſhmael dwelt in a perſonal State of Hoſtility with his Brethren, nor is it conceivable, how he could have maintain'd himſelf againſt their united Forces, had he ſo done; and therefore, this Prediction can be no otherwiſe underſtood, than as it relates to his Poſterity, the Arabians. Now, that any one Nation ſhould be of ſo ſingular and perverſe a Character, as to ſet themſelves in open Oppoſition to the reſt of the World, and live in perpetual, profeſſed Enmity with all Mankind; and that they ſhould continue to do ſo, not for one Age, or two only, but for four thouſand Years together, is ſurely the ſtrangeſt and moſt aſtoniſhing Prediction that ever was read or heard of. And yet, if we attend a little to the Hiſtory of theſe People (as ſoon as Hiſtory takes Notice of them) we ſhall find, in ſeveral Inſtances, a full Accompliſhment of it.

When Alexander and his victorious Army over-ran a great Part of the Eaſt, the Arabians (as we are told by Arrian and Strabo) of all the Aſiaticks, were the only People who ſent him no Ambaſſador, nor made any Submiſſion to him; which Indignity he intended to have revenged in a particular Expedition againſt them, but was prevented by Death.

What Alexander intended, Antigonus, the greateſt of his Succeſſors, attempted; but he was repulſed with Diſgrace, and the Loſs of above 8000 Men: And when, enrag'd at this Repulſe, he made a ſecond Attempt upon them with a Number of ſelect Men, under the Command of his valiant Son Demetrius, the Reſiſtance he met with, was ſo obſtinate, that he was forced to compound the Matter, and leave them in the quiet Poſſeſſion of their Liberty and Peace.

When the Romans and Parthians were Rivals for the Empire of the Eaſt, the Arabians join'd, and oppoſed each Nation, as they thought fit, but were never devoted to either, for their Character always was, that they were fickle, if not faithleſs Friends, and fierce Enemies, who might be repulſed, and repreſs'd for a Seaſon, but could never be totally vanquiſh'd or ſubdued.

Men of this Character ſoon became the Objects of the Roman Enmity and Ambition, which could endure nothing that was free and independant; and accordingly ſeveral Attempts were ſet on Foot by Pompey, Craſſus, and other great Generals, in order to enſlave them; but all prov'd ſucceſleſs: And, tho' they are ſometimes ſaid to have been defeated, yet is there no Account, that we can properly depend on, until we come to the Expedition, which Trajan is known to have made againſt them.

Trajan was certainly a long experienc'd and ſucceſsful Warrior. He had ſubdued the German, humbled the Parthian, and reduc'd already one Part of Arabia into a Province; and yet, when he came to beſiege the City of the Hagarenes, upon every Aſſault, his Soldiers were ſo annoy'd with Whirl-Winds and Hail, and ſo affrighten'd with Thunder and Lightning, and other Apparitions in the Air (whilſt their Meat was ſpoil'd and corrupted with Flies, even as they were eating it) that he was forced to give over the Siege, and was, not long after, ſeiz'd with a Diſeaſe, whereof he died.

About eight Years after this, the Emperor Severus, a very valiant and proſperous Warrior, whom Herodian makes no Scruple to prefer even before Cæſar, Marius, and Sylla, diſdaining (as Trajan had done) that the Hagarenes ſhould ſtand out ſtill againſt the Romans, when all the reſt about them had yielded, beſieg'd their City (tho' it was but a ſmall one) twice, and was twice repulſed with Shame, and great Slaughter of his Men. In the ſecond Aſſault indeed, he beat down ſome of their City-Wall, and thereupon ſounded a Retreat, in Hopes that they would have capitulated, and ſurrender'd up the hidden Treaſure, ſuppoſed to be conſecrated to the Sun: But when they continu'd reſolute a whole Day, without giving any Intimation of a Treaty for a Peace, on the Morrow following, the Roman Army was quite intimidated. The Europeans, who were gallant Men before, refus'd to enter the Breach; and the Syrians, who were forced to undertake that Service, had a grievous Repulſe: Whereupon the Emperor, without making any freſh Attack, decamped from before the City, and departed to Paleſtine. Thus God deliver'd the City, ſays Dio, recalling the Soldiers by Severus, when they might have enter'd, and reſtraining Severus the ſecond Day, by the Soldiers Backwardneſs.

Upon the whole, two Things are obſervable; firſt, that the Arabians ſtood ſingle in this their Extremity, againſt the whole Roman Power; for none of their Neighbours would aſſiſt them. The other Thing is, that the Emperor had Soldiers of all Nations in his Army: For, 'whereas other Emperors, ſays the Hiſto-'rian, Ammianus Marcellinus, were content with Guards 'of four different European Countries, Severus fill'd the 'City with a mix'd Multitude of Soldiers of all Kinds, 'ſavage to look on, frightful to hear, and rude and 'wild to converſe with.' So that, conſidering all Things, I think we may fairly conclude, that every Man's Hand was, at this Time, againſt Iſhmael, and his Hand, his only Hand, againſt every Man; and yet he dwelt, and ſtill dwelleth, in the Preſence of all his Brethren: For not long after this, it is well known, that the Iſhmaelites join'd the Goths againſt the Romans, and, having afterwards overcome both, under the Name of Saracens, they erected a vaſt Empire upon their Ruins; and thus Iſhmael, in the full Extent of the Prophecy, became a great Nation.

Calmet obſerves, that the Iſhmaelites, as ſome imagine, upon the Reproaches of the Jews, who upbraided them with Baſtardy, became aſham'd of their old Names, deriv'd from Hagar and Iſhmael, which carried an Odium in the Sound, and took upon them the Name of Saracens, deſiring to be accounted as the Deſcendants of Abraham by his Wife Sarah; but what deſtroys this Etymology is this, that the Antients call'd them Sara-kenoi, and not Sarænoi, as they muſt have been call'd, if their Name had been deriv'd from Sarah; and therefore the learned Scaliger ſuppoſes the Word to come from the Arabick Word, Sarack, which ſignifies to ſteal or plunder.

CHAP. XVII.

God renews his Covenant with Abram, whoſe Name he changes into Abraham, in Token of a greater Bleſſing. Circumciſion is inſtituted. Sarai's Name is changed to Sarah; ſhe is bleſſed, and a Son promiſed to her. Abraham and Iſhmael are circumciſed.

Ver. 1. AND when Abram was ninety years old and nine, the Lord appeared to Abram, and ſaid unto him, I am the Almighty God; walk before me, and be thou perfect. 2 And I will make my covenant between me and thee, and will multiply thee exceedingly. 3 And Abram fell on his face: and God talked with him, ſaying, 4 As for me, behold, my covenant is with thee, and thou ſhalt be a father of many nations. 5 Neither ſhall thy name any more be called Abram; but thy name ſhall be Abraham, for a father of many nations have I made thee. 6 And I will make thee exceeding fruitful, and I will make nations of thee; and kings ſhall come out of thee. 7 And I will eſtabliſh my covenant between me and thee, and thy ſeed after thee, in their generations, for an everlaſting covenant; to be a God unto thee, and to thy ſeed after thee. 8 And I will give unto thee, and to thy ſeed after thee, the land wherein thou art a ſtranger, all the land of Canaan, for an everlaſting poſſeſſion; and I will be their God. 9 And God ſaid unto Abraham, Thou ſhalt keep my covenant therefore, thou, and thy ſeed after thee, in their generations. 10 This is my covenant, which ye ſhall keep between me and you, and thy ſeed after thee; Every man-child among you ſhall be circumciſed. 11 And ye ſhall circumciſe the fleſh of your fore-ſkin, and it ſhall be a token of the covenant betwixt me and you. 12 And he that is eight days old ſhall be circumciſed among you, every man-child in your generations, he that is born in thy houſe, or bought with money of any ſtranger, which is not of thy ſeed. 13 He that is born in thy houſe, and he that is bought with thy money, muſt needs be circumciſed: and my covenant ſhall be in your fleſh for an everlaſting covenant. 14 And the uncircumciſed man-child, whoſe fleſh of his fore-ſkin is not circumciſed, that ſoul ſhall be cut off from his people: he hath broken my covenant.

Neither ſhall thy Name any more be called Abram, but thy Name ſhall be Abraham] Abram is compounded of two Hebrew Words, Ab, and Ram, which ſignify high Father; and Abraham is commonly derived from three, namely, Ab-Ram-Hamon, the Father of a great Multitude. But this, ſays a certain Author, is forced and ungrammatical, having nothing to ſupport it, but only the Reaſon which God gives in the Text, for changing Abram into Abraham, viz. Becauſe he was to make of him a Father of many Nations, as indeed he was; for not only the Twelve Tribes, but the Iſhmaelites, the Edomites, and all the Poſterity of Keturah, deſcended from his Loins.

The changing of Names, as appears from the Scripture Hiſtory itſelf, was a Cuſtom frequent in the Eaſt, upon notable Occaſions; and, as the Orientals are more conſtant in their Manners, than the European Nations, ſo late Accounts inform us, that this Practice is not totally in Diſuſe at this Day. Sir John Chardin, in his Travels, gives us a very full Relation of a Perſian Emperor's changing his Name, after ſome Misfortunes, in Hopes that he ſhould be more happy under that which he aſſumed.

This is my Covenant which ye ſhall keep between me and you, and thy Seed after thee: Every male Child among you ſhall be circumciſed] Whoever looks into the Life of Abraham, will ſoon perceive, ſays Stackhouſe, that God did all along deſign him for a Pattern of Faith and perfect Obedience, to all ſucceeding Generations. The more his Faith was try'd, the more illuſtrious it became, and the more Obſtacles were rais'd in the Accompliſhment of the divine Promiſes, the more the good Patriarch ſhewed (in ſurmounting theſe Obſtacles) the high Conception he had entertain'd of him from whom theſe Promiſes came. For, after a Promiſe of a numerous Poſterity, why was it ſo long before he gave him any Son at all? After the Birth of Iſhmael, why ſo long before the Promiſe of an Heir by his Wife Sarah? And after that Promiſe was given, why ſo long, even till the Thing was impoſſible, in an ordinary Courſe of Nature, before the Promiſe was accompliſh'd, and the Child ſent? All this was to exerciſe his Faith, and to give him an Opportunity of ſhewing to the World, how fully he was convinc'd, that, notwithſtanding all theſe Impediments and Delays, God would certainly, by one Means or other, effectually make good his Promiſes. The like may be ſaid of the Command of Circumciſion. God did not only defer, for the Space of twenty four Years, the Birth of that Son who was ſo ſolemnly promiſed, and ſo impatiently deſir'd, but even, when that Time was expired, and Abraham might now juſtly hope to ſee the Promiſe accompliſh'd, and his Faith crown'd; God was pleas'd to croſs it again, by requiring of him the Performance of an Act, which, in all Appearance, would be a total Defeat to all his Hopes. For this Injunction, My Covenant ſhall be in your Fleſh, to a Man of advanc'd Age, ſeems as oppoſite to the Promiſe of having a Son, as that other of taking his Son, his only Son Iſaac, and offering him up for a Burnt-Sacrifice, was to his being the Father of a numerous Poſterity.

But Abraham's Faith triumph'd over this, as well as all other Obſtacles. He immediately perform'd the Operation, notwithſtanding its Oddneſs, its Danger, its ſeeming Indecency, and the apparent Oppoſition it had to the divine Promiſes: And, 'tis to preſerve the Remembrance of the Faith of their great Anceſtor, who, in ſo many diſcouraging Circumſtances, waited patiently patiently on God, and againſt Hope believed in Hope (as the Apoſtle expreſſes it) that God preſcrib'd to the Jewiſh Nation the Sacrament of Circumciſion. For this was a farther End of its Inſtitution, not only to be a Mark of Diſtinction between the Poſterity of Abraham, and all other Nations, but a Token likewiſe of God's Covenant made with him and his Poſterity, and a Note of Commemoration to put thoſe, who bore it, continually in Mind, whoſe Offſpring they were, and what Advantages entitled to upon that Account, provided they took Care not to degenerate from the Glories of that Stock, from whence they ſprang.

And indeed, conſidering that Abraham was the firſt, we read of, whom God reſcued from the general Corruption of Faith and Manners, which the World had now, a ſecond Time, relaps'd into; and conſidering withal, that this Perſon and his Poſterity were ſingled out for a choſen Generation, the Repoſitory of Truth, and the Receptacle of God incarnate; there was Reaſon in Abundance, why this Remembrance ſhould be very grateful to them: And apt enough, 'tis plain, upon all Occaſions they were, to value themſelves, and deſpiſe others, upon the Account of ſo particular an Honour. But the Misfortune was, as Dr. Stanhope obſerves, viz. the eminent Faith, and ready Obedience of ſo renown'd an Anceſtor, and the noble Emulation of his Virtues, which ſuch a Pattern ought to have inſpired; this they were too apt to overlook, tho' any conſidering Man (as the Apoſtle excellently argues) could not but perceive, that the only valuable Relation to Abraham, is not that of Conſanguinity, and natural Deſcent, but the Reſemblance of his Virtues, and claiming under him as the Father of the Faithful.

And this ſuggeſts another, and indeed none of the leaſt conſiderable Ends, for which Circumciſion was inſtituted, viz. to be a Sign of inward Virtue, and to figure out to us ſome particular Diſpoſitions of Mind, which bore Reſemblance to the outward Ceremony, and were required to render it effectual; for which Reaſon it is, that we read ſo much in the old Law, of circumciſing the Fore ſkin of the Heart, and hear the Apoſtle ſo frequently telling us, in the new, of putting off the Body of the Sins of the Fleſh by the Circumciſion of Chriſt, Col. ii. 11. for he is not a Jew, who is one outwardly, neither is that Circumciſion, which is outward in the Fleſh; but he is a Jew who is one inwardly, and Circumciſion is that of the Heart, in the Spirit, and not in the Letter, whoſe Praiſe is not of Men, but of God.

Circumciſion, ſays another Author, was certainly a very proper Mark, or Seal, of that Covenant, or League which God entered into with this Patriarch; but whether it was before in Uſe among the Egyptians, or obtained among them from the Practice of the Iſraelites, while they were under their Dominion, has been Matter of Diſpute among the Learned. But it is neceſſary to remark here, that conſidering the Pain and Danger of this Operation, it is highly improbable, that any People ſhou'd execute it upon their Children, from other than a religious Motive; and the plain Senſe of the Moſaic Relation of God's Command here, is, that without receiving this Mark, Perſons were incapable of being Heirs to the Covenant made with Abraham. That it was cuſtomary in the Eaſt, to confirm Contracts ſolemnly made, by the Blood of the contracting Parties, is certain, from the Authority of the moſt credible Authors; but whether it were in uſe ſo early as the Days of Abraham, is impoſſible to determine.

15 And God ſaid unto Abraham, As for Sarai thy wife, Thou ſhalt not call her name Sarai, but Sarah ſhall her name be. 16 And I will bleſs her, and give thee a ſon alſo of her: yea, I will bleſs her, and ſhe ſhall be a mother of nations; kings of people ſhall be of her. 17 Then Abraham fell upon his face and laughed, and ſaid in his heart, Shall a child be born unto him that is an hundred years old? and ſhall Sarah that is ninety years old, bear? 18 And Abraham ſaid unto God, O that Iſhmael might live before thee! 19 And God ſaid, Sarah thy wife ſhall bear thee a ſon indeed; and thou ſhalt call his name Iſaac; and I will eſtabliſh my covenant with him for an everlaſting covenant, and with his ſeed after him. 20 And as for Iſhmael, I have heard thee: Behold, I have bleſſed him, and I will make him fruitful, and will multiply him exceedingly: twelve princes ſhall he beget, and I will make him a great nation. 21 But my covenant will I eſtabliſh with Iſaac, whom Sarah ſhall bear unto thee at this ſet time in the next year. 22 And he left off talking with him, and God went up from Abraham. 23 And Abraham took Iſhmael his ſon, and all that were born in his houſe and all that were bought with his money, every male among the men of Abrahams houſe; and circumciſed the fleſh of their fore-ſkin, in the ſelf-ſame day, as God had ſaid unto him. 24 And Abraham was ninety years old and nine, when he was circumciſed in the fleſh of his fore-ſkin, 25 And Iſhmael his ſon was thirteen years old when he was circumciſed in the fleſh of his fore-ſkin. 26 In the ſelf-ſame day was Abraham circumciſed, and Iſhmael his ſon. 27 And all the men of his houſe, born in the houſe, and bought with money of the ſtranger, were circumciſed with him.

Thou ſhalt not call her Name Sarai, but Sarah ſhall her Name be] Sarai, ſignifies my Princeſs, or Princeſs of my Family only; but Sarah, the Name now given her, denotes a Princeſs indefinitely, and at large, according to the Prediction concerning her, a Mother (or Princeſs) of many Nations ſhall ſhe be, and Kings of People ſhall come of her; Ver. 16.

Then Abraham fell upon his Face, and laughed] It is apparent that Abraham laughed merely out of Joy, and not from any Contempt of that Promiſe which he had received: For, if it had been otherwiſe, the Spirit of the Lord wou'd have reproved him; inſtead of which, the Promiſe is here again repeated, in ſtronger Terms, and the Name alſo of this Son of Sarah, declared before his Birth, that it ſhould be Iſaac, which ſignifies Laughter; which evidently ſhews, that God was not diſpleaſed at this Expreſſion of Abraham's Joy.

And thou ſhalt call his Name Iſaac] Iſaac, according to the Hebrew, ſays Calmet, which is Iſchack, ſignifies he or ſhe has, or ſhall laugh; and this Name Sarah gave him, becauſe, when the Angel promis'd ſhe ſhould become a Mother, tho' ſhe was not of an Age to have Children, ſhe privately laugh'd at the Prediction, and when the Child was born, ſhe ſaid, God hath made me to laugh, ſo that all that hear will laugh with me, Gen. xxi. 6.

And Abraham took Iſhmael his Son, and all that were born in his Houſe, and all that were bought with his Money, --- and circumciſed the Fleſh of their Fore-ſkin] It is generally agreed, that it was with their own Conſent; for tho' the Hebrews require, by their Laws, that Servants born in the Houſe be circumciſed; yet, thoſe who were bought with Money, at full Age, were not conſtrained, in this Point, or, at leaſt, not in theſe early Ages, according to the Obſervation of Maimonides.

CHAP. XVIII.

Abraham, ſitting in the Door of his Tent, invites three Angels, in the Habit and Appearance of Travellers, to take a Repaſt with him; while Sarah is preparing it, one of his angelick Gueſts aſſures him that Sarah ſhould have a Child; which ſhe over-hearing, laughed, and is reproved. They acquaint Abraham with their Intent of deſtroying Sodom;

Sodom; his modeſt Interceſſion for its Inhabitants.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord appeared unto him in the plains of Mamre: and he ſat in the tent-door in the heat of the day. 2 And he lift up his eyes and looked, and lo, three men ſtood by him: and when he ſaw them, he ran to meet them from the tent-door, and bowed himſelf toward the ground, 3 And ſaid, My Lord, if now I have found favour in thy ſight, paſs not away, I pray thee, from thy ſervant. 4 Let a little water, I pray you, be fetched, and waſh your feet, and reſt yourſelves under the tree. 5 And I will fetch a morſel of bread, and comfort ye your hearts; after that ye ſhall paſs on: for therefore are ye come to your ſervant. And they ſaid, So do as thou haſt ſaid. 6 And Abraham haſtened into the tent unto Sarah, and ſaid, Make ready quickly three meaſures of fine meal, knead it, and make cakes upon the hearth. 7 And Abraham ran unto the herd, and fetcht a calf tender and good, and gave it unto a young man; and he haſted to dreſs it. 8 And he took butter and milk, and the calf which he had dreſſed, and ſet it before them; and he ſtood by them under the tree, and they did eat.

And the Lord appeared unto him in the Plains of Mamre] What we tranſlate the Plain, ſays Calmet, ſhould be rendered the Oak of Mamre; becauſe the Word Elon, ſignifies an Oak, or Tree of long Duration. Sozomen tells us, that this Tree was ſtill extant, and famous for Pilgrimages, and annual Feaſts, even in Conſtantine's Time; that it was about ſix Miles diſtant from Hebron; that ſome of the Cottages, which Abraham built, were ſtill ſtanding near it; and that there was a Well likewiſe of his digging, whereunto both Jews, Chriſtians, and Heathens, did, at certain Seaſons, reſort, either out of Devotion, or for Trade; becauſe there was held a great Mart. As for Hebron, or Chebron, it was accounted one of the moſt antient Cities in the World; having been built ſeven Years before Tanis, the Capital of Lower Egypt. It was ſituated upon an Eminence, twenty Miles Southward from Jeruſalem, and twenty Miles North from Beerſheba, and had its Name, very probably, from the Word Chavar, to couple, or join; becauſe theſe married Couples, Abraham and Sarah, Iſaac and Rebecca, Jacob and Leah were buried there.

And he ſat in the Tent-door, in the Heat of the Day] It is a Tradition univerſally received among the Jews, and not without Probability, that Abraham, being a Perſon of great Hoſpitality, was wont, ſometimes, to ſit in the Door of his Tent, about the Time which Travellers were moſt likely to paſs by, in order to ſalute them, and offer them ſuch Refreſhments as might ſupport their Spirits under the Fatigue of their Journey.

And he took Butter and Milk, and the Calf, and ſet it before them, and they did eat] Here, ſays Pool, the Eating of theſe Angels muſt be underſtood, according to the Nature of the Bodies, we may ſuppoſe them to have aſſum'd. If their Bodies were aerial, their Eating muſt have been in Appearance only; if ſubſtantial, their Eating might have been real, i. e. they might have receiv'd the Meat into their Bodies, which, afterwards, by a divine Power, was conſum'd there.

9 And they ſaid unto him, Where is Sarah thy wife? And he ſaid Behold, in the tent. 10 And he ſaid, I will certainly return unto thee according to the time of life; and lo, Sarah thy wife ſhall have a ſon. And Sarah heard it in the tent-door, which was behind him. 11 Now Abraham and Sarah were old, and well ſtricken in age: and it ceaſed to be with Sarah after the manner of women. 12 Therefore Sarah laughed within herſelf, ſaying, After I am waxed old, ſhall I have pleaſure, my lord being old alſo? 13 And the Lord ſaid unto Abraham, wherefore did Sarah laugh, ſaying, Shall I of a ſurety bear a child, which am old? 14 Is any thing too hard for the Lord? At the time appointed will I return unto thee, according to the time of life, and Sarah ſhall have a ſon. 15 Then Sarah denied, ſaying, I laughed not: for ſhe was afraid. And he ſaid, Nay, but thou didſt laugh.

And they ſaid unto him, Where is Sarah thy Wife] It is very obſervable, that one of theſe Angels (as the Apoſtle to the Hebrews calls them, Ch. xiii. 2.) appear'd more honourable, and ſuperior to the other two, and therefore Abraham makes his Addreſs to him as the Chief, and the Hiſtorian ſtiles him Jehovah, which the Generality both of Jews and Chriſtians do look upon as the imcommunicable Name of God; and therefore it is believed by the far greateſt Part of the latter, that it was the Son of God who appear'd in that Form. There are others however (particularly ſome modern ones) who maintain, that it was no more than an Angel, who ſpoke to him in the Perſon of God; tho' it hardly ſeems probable, either that Moſes ſhould call an Angel by that Name, or that Abraham ſhould intercede with him, as he does, when he ſaith, That be far from thee to deſtroy the Good with the Wicked; ſhall not the Judge of all the Earth do Right? Or that an Angel ſhould peremptorily ſay, If I find forty righteous Men in the Place, for their Sake, I will not deſtroy it. So that the moſt probable Opinion is, that it was Chriſt himſelf, who is emphatically called the Judge of all the Earth. See Univerſal Hiſtory. --- The Jews however have a Maxim, that no Angel performs two Miniſteries, or is ſent upon two Meſſages at once; and therefore they think, that theſe three Angels (as they ſuppoſe them) were diſpatch'd for different Purpoſes; one of them, who was the Chief, to bring a Confirmation of the Birth of Iſaac; another, to conduct Lot ſafe out of Sodom; and the third, to overthrow the Cities of the Plain: And therefore, when one of them had deliver'd his Meſſage to Abraham, there were but two, who held on their Courſe to Sodom. See Patrick's Comment.

Wherefore did Sarah laugh] In the preceding Chapter (Ver. 17.) we read that Abraham laughed upon the ſame Occaſion, and yet was not reprov'd; but, ſays Pool, the Difference of their Conduct might be this, --- That Abraham laughed for Joy upon hearing the glad Tidings of a Son, but Sarah's Laughter proceeded from a Spirit of Diſtruſt and Infidelity.

It appears, from this, and the ſubſequent Reproof given her, ſays another Author, that Sarah was incredulous, as to the Promiſe of returning according to the Time of Life, and of her bringing forth, then, a Son, which occaſioned her ſmiling at the Credulity of her Huſband, in a Point which, from natural Cauſes ſeemed to her impoſſible to come to paſs; for which ſhe was ſeverely chid, as having been guilty of the greateſt Offence, in deriding the Meſſage brought from Heaven, and ſlighting the Power of the Almighty.

16 And the men roſe up from thence, and looked toward Sodom: and Abraham went with them to bring them on the way. 17 And the Lord ſaid, Shall I hide from Abraham that thing which I do; 18 Seeing that Abraham ſhall ſurely become a great and mighty nation, and all the nations of the earth ſhall be bleſſed in him. 19 For I know him, that he will command his children and his houſhold after him, and they ſhall keep the way of the Lord, to do juſtice and judgment; that the Lord may bring upon Abraham that which he hath ſpoken of him. 20 And the Lord ſaid; Becauſe the crie of Sodom and Gomorrah is great, and becauſe their ſin is very grievous; 21 I will go down now, and ſee whether they have done altogether according to the crie of it, which is come unto me; and if not, I will know. 22 And the men turned their faces from thence, and went toward Sodom: but Abraham ſtood yet before the Lord. 23 And Abraham drew near, and ſaid, Wilt thou alſo deſtroy the righteous with the wicked? 24 Peradventure there be fifty righteous within the city: wilt thou alſo deſtroy, and not ſpare the place for the fifty righteous that are therein? 25 That be far from thee to do after this manner, to ſlay the righteous with the wicked: and that the righteous ſhould be as the wicked, that be far from thee: ſhall not the judge of all the earth do right? 26 And the Lord ſaid, if I find in Sodom fifty righteous within the city, then I will ſpare all the place for their ſakes. 27 And Abraham anſwered and ſaid, Behold now, I have taken upon me to ſpeak unto the Lord, which am but duſt and aſhes. 28 Peradventure there ſhall lack five of the fifty righteous: wilt thou deſtroy all the city for lack of five? And he ſaid, If I find there forty and five, I will not deſtroy it. 29 And he ſpake unto him yet again, and ſaid, Peradventure there ſhall be forty found there. And he ſaid, I will not do it for forties ſake. 30 And he ſaid unto him, Oh let not the Lord be angry, and I will ſpeak: Peradventure there ſhall thirty be found there. And he ſaid, I will not do it, if I find thirty there. 31 And he ſaid, Behold now, I have taken upon me to ſpeak unto the Lord: Peradventure there ſhall be twenty found there. And he ſaid, I will not deſtroy it for twenties ſake. 32 And he ſaid, Oh let not the Lord be angry, and I will ſpeak yet but this once: Peradventure ten ſhall be found there. And he ſaid, I will not deſtroy it for tens ſake. 33 And the Lord went his way, as ſoon as he had left communing with Abraham: and Abraham returned unto his place.

And the Lord ſaid, ſhall I hide from Abraham that Thing which I do] It is generally thought, that the Perſon here ſpeaking, is the Word, the Son of God, the ſecond Perſon in the Trinity. St. Hilary was of the ſame Opinion. Some have even ſuppoſed, that the three Strangers, entertained by Abraham, were the three Perſons in the Trinity: But, ſurely, nothing can be found, to juſtify this Opinion, in the ſacred Text. One of the three is plainly diſtinguiſhed, as ſuperior to the other two: Him, therefore, we take to be the Son of God, whoſe Day Abraham ſaw, and was glad; and who revealed the Will of the Father to Mankind in all Ages.

Our Saviour ſpeaks, after the ſame Manner, to his Diſciples: Henceforth I call you not Servants, for the Servant knoweth not what his Lord doeth; but I have called you Friends; for all Things that I have heard of my Father, I have made known unto you, John xv. 15.

I will go down now, and ſee whether they have done altogether according to the Cry of it, which is come unto me; and if not, I will know] Here is a wonderful Inſtance of God's Patience and Goodneſs, who, tho' he knew all without Enquiry, yet would not condemn even the moſt flagitious, without good Examination and Trial. Before the Flood, God proceeded againſt the old World upon ocular Evidence; God ſaw that the Wickedneſs of Man was great, Gen. vi. 5, 12. At the Building of Babel it is ſaid, that the Lord came down to ſee the City and the Tower, which the Children of Men had built, Gen. xi. 5. And now again, before the Deſtruction of Sodom and Gomorrah, tho' the Cry againſt them was great, becauſe of the Grievouſneſs of their Sin, yet the Lord would not proceed againſt them upon common Fame; But I will go down, ſaith he, and ſee, whether they have done according to the Cry of it; and if not, I will know. And hereupon we may obſerve, that the appearing of Gods, in the Manner of Strangers, to puniſh or reward Men, was a common Tradition among the Heathens.

Peradventure there be fifty righteous within the City, wilt thou alſo deſtroy, and not ſpare the Place for the fifty righteous that are therein? Far be it from thee, &c.] It is hardly poſſible, ſays Pool, to uſe more pathetick Words, or a more moving Tenderneſs of Expreſſion than Abraham uſes in this ſhort and fervent Prayer. He appears greatly concerned for the wretched Inhabitants of Sodom, through the extenſive Humanity of his Temper; and at the ſame Time gives a ſignal Inſtance of his exalted Piety, in the Zeal which he teſtifies for the Honour of God; unto whom, from the Title he gives him, of Judge of all the Earth, it is evident he now knew he was ſpeaking.

And the Lord went his Way, as ſoon as he had left communing with Abraham, and Abraham went to his Place] Abraham being ſenſible he could not proceed any farther, without the higheſt Preſumption, deſiſted from making any farther Interceſſion for them; beſides, he thought, that including Lot's Family, there could not fail of being ſo ſmall a Number in that populous City.

CHAP. XIX.

Two Angels coming to Sodom, are entertained by Lot; which the Inhabitants hearing of, ſurround his Houſe, and order him to bring them out; Lot, willing to ſave his Gueſts, offers to deliver up his own Daughters; but not ſatisfied with that, they endeavour to force into the Houſe; the Angels ſave Lot, and ſtrike the Inhabitants with Blindneſs. Lot is order'd to depart with his Family, but lingering, the Angels lay hold of him, and lead him forth, with his Wife and two Daughters. God rains down Fire and Brimſtone upon Sodom and Gomorrah. Lot's Wife, looking back, is turned into a Pillar of Salt; his Daughters, fearing the Extinction of their Family, agree to make their Father drunk, and lie with him; the Offſpring of that inceſtuous Copulation.

Ver. 1. AND there came two angels to Sodom at even; and Lot ſat in the gate of Sodom: and Lot ſeeing them, roſe up to meet them: and he bowed himſelf with his face toward the ground; 2 And he ſaid, Behold now my lords, turn in, I pray you, into your ſervants houſe, and tarry all night, and waſh your feet, and ye ſhall riſe up early, and go on your ways. And they ſaid, Nay, we will abide in the ſtreet all night. 3 And he preſſed upon them greatly; and they turned in unto him, and entred into his houſe: and he made them a feaſt and did bake unleavened bread, and they did eat. 4 But before they lay down, the men of the city, even the men of Sodom, compaſſed the houſe round, both old and young, all the people from every quarter. 5 And they called unto Lot, and ſaid unto him, Where are the men which came in to thee this night? bring them out unto us, that we may know them. 6 And Lot went out at the door unto them, and ſhut the door after him, 7 And ſaid, I pray you brethren, do not ſo wickedly. 8 Behold now, I have two daughters which have not known man; let me, I pray you, bring them out unto you, and do ye to them as is good in your eyes: only unto theſe men do nothing; for therefore came they under the ſhadow of my roof. 9 And they ſaid, Stand back. And they ſaid again, This one fellow came in to ſojourn, and he will needs be a judge: Now will we deal worſe with thee, then with them. And they preſſed ſore upon the man, even Lot, and came near to break the door. 10 But the men put forth their hand, and pulled Lot into the houſe to them, and ſhut to the door. 11 And they ſmote the men that were at the door of the houſe with blindneſs, both ſmall and great: ſo that they wearied themſelves to find the door. 12 And the men ſaid unto Lot, Haſt thou here any beſides ſon in law, and thy ſons and thy daughters; and whatſoever thou haſt in the city, bring them out of this place. 13 For we will deſtroy this place: becauſe the cry of them is waxen great before the face of the Lord, and the Lord hath ſent us to deſtroy it. 14 And Lot went out, and ſpake unto his ſons in law, which married his daughters, and ſaid, Up, get ye out of this place; for the Lord will deſtroy this city: but he ſeemed as one that mocked unto his ſons in law. 15 And when the morning aroſe, then the angels haſtened Lot, ſaying, Ariſe, take thy wife, and thy two daughters which are here; leſt thou be conſumed in the iniquity of the city. 16 And while he lingred, the men laid hold upon his hand, and upon the hand of his wife, and upon the hand of his two daughters; the Lord being merciful unto him; and they brought him forth, and ſet him without the city. 17 And it came to paſs, when they had brought them forth abroad, that he ſaid, Eſcape for thy life; look not behind thee, neither ſtay thou in all the plain: eſcape to the mountain, leſt thou be conſumed. 18 And Lot ſaid unto them, Oh not ſo, my Lord. 19 Behold, now, thy ſervant hath found grace in thy ſight, and thou haſt magnified thy mercy, which thou haſt ſhewed unto me in ſaving my life: and I cannot eſcape to the mountain, leſt ſome evil take me, and I die. 20 Behold now, this city is near to flee unto, and it is a little one: Oh let me eſcape thither, (is it not a little one?) and my ſoul ſhall live. 21 And he ſaid unto him, See, I have accepted thee concerning this thing alſo, that I will not overthrow this city, for the which thou haſt ſpoken. 22 Haſte thee, eſcape thither; for I cannot do any thing till thou be come thither; therefore the name of the city was called Zoar. 23 The ſun was riſen upon the earth when Lot entered into Zoar. 24 Then the Lord rained upon Sodom and upon Gomorrah brimſtone and fire from the Lord out of heaven. 25 And he overthrew thoſe cities, and all the plain, and all the inhabitants of the cities, and that which grew upon the ground. 26 But his wife looked back from behind him, and ſhe became a pillar of ſalt. 27 And Abraham gat up early in the morning, to the place where he ſtood before the Lord. 28 And he looked toward Sodom and Gomorrah, and toward all the land of the plain, and beheld, and lo, the ſmoke of the country went up as the ſmoke of a furnace. 29 And it came to paſs, when God deſtroyed the cities of the plain, that God remembered Abraham, and ſent Lot out of the midſt of the overthrow, when he overthrew the cities in the which Lot dwelt. 30 And Lot[3] went up out of Zoar and dwelt in the mountain, and his two daughters with him; for he feared to dwell in Zoar: and he dwelt in a cave, he and his two daughters. 31 And the firſt-born ſaid unto the younger, Our Father is old, and there is not a man in the earth to come in unto us after the manner of all the earth. 32 Come, let us make our father drink wine, and we will lie with him, that we may preſerve ſeed of our father. 33 And they made their father drink wine that night: and the firſt-born went in, and lay with her father, and he perceived not when ſhe lay down, nor when ſhe aroſe. 34 And it came to paſs on the morrow, that the firſt-born ſaid unto the younger, Behold, I lay yeſternight with my father: let us make him drink wine this night alſo; and go thou in, and lie with him, that we may preſerve ſeed of our father. 35 And they made their father drink wine that night alſo; and the younger aroſe, and lay with him; and he perceived not when ſhe lay down, nor when ſhe aroſe. 36 Thus were both the daughters of Lot with child by their father. 37 And the firſt-born bare a ſon, and called his name Moab: the ſame is the father of the Moabites unto this day. 38 And the younger, ſhe alſo bare a ſon, and called his name Ben-ammi: the ſame is the father of the children of Ammon unto this day.

And there came two Angels to Sodom at Even, and Lot ſat in the Gate of Sodom] Pool obſerves, that the Gates of the City were the Places where they adminiſter'd Juſtice in former Ages, and Lot was ſitting there; from whence the Jews, who are fond of Fables, eſpecially ſuch as contribute to the Honour of Abraham and his Relations, have a Tradition, that he was Chief Juſtice of the Place; a Fiction, which is not only deſtitute of the leaſt Probability, but which is expreſly contradicted by the Words of the Sodomites, Ver. 9. where it is ſaid, that this one Fellow came in to ſojourn, and he will needs be a Judge, upon which they threaten him, which they would not have dared to do, had they made him ſo great a Magiſtrate over them. Probably therefore, he only ſat there, as being the uſual Place of Reſort for the better Sort of Citizens; and through a hoſpitable Temper, that he might be in the Way to invite Strangers Home, thereby to ſecure them from the ill Uſage, it is likely he might know, they met with elſewhere.

And he ſaid, Behold now my Lord, turn in, I pray you, into your Servants Houſe, and tarry all Night] In the Eaſtern Countries, ſays Le Clerc, there have of late, indeed, been ſome few Caravanſaries ſet up, but in the Time we are now ſpeaking of, there was no ſuch Thing as Inns, for the Accommodation of Strangers; and therefore all Travellers, when they came to a Town, if they were not entertain'd in a private Houſe, were forc'd to abide all Night in the Streets. It was therefore a cuſtomary Thing for thoſe of the better Sort to receive ſuch Wayfaring Men (whether they knew them, or knew them not) into their Houſes, and there entertain them with great Civility. And this is the Reaſon, why both in ſacred and prophane Authors, we meet with ſuch large Commendations of this Act of Hoſpitality, and particularly, in the Epiſtle to the Hebrews (Ch. xiii. 2.) have a Precept to this Effect, alluding to the very hiſtorical Paſſage now before us, Be not forgetful to entertain Strangers, for thereby ſome have entertained Angels unawares.

And they called unto Lot, and ſaid unto him, Where are the Men which came in to thee this Night? Bring them out unto us that we may know them] That is, in an unnatural and prepoſterous Manner, ſays Howell, which was afterwards expreſly forbidden in the Law, Levit.

Levit. xviii. 22. and thereby made capital, Chap. xx. 13. which vile Sin continued among the Gentiles, even in the Apoſtle's Time (as may be gather'd from Rom. i. 25. and 1 Cor vi. 9.) and was ſo generally practiſed among the People of Sodom, that from thence it took the Name of Sodomy, and the Practicers of it are called Sodomites, both in the Holy Scriptures, and our Engliſh Laws, which (as did the Law of God of old) do ſtill make the Puniſhment of it to be Death.

The Expreſſion of the Men of Sodom, that we may know them, had certainly this Meaning, viz. that they might abuſe them; for Lot, otherwiſe, would not have offered them his Daughters; in doing which, he makes uſe of the ſame Phraſe they did, to expreſs that Senſe which we have put on their Words. Behold now, I have two Daughters, which have not known Man, i. e. carnally, as the Sodomites would have known thoſe beautiful young Men, whom Lot had received into his Houſe. And ſo notorious were the Inhabitants of this Place, for the Commiſſion of that unnatural Vice, as to beſtow the Name of their City thereon, and thereby perpetuate the Memory of their Guilt, tho' all Tracts of them, and of their Dwellings, be now loſt in the Dead-Sea.

Behold now, I have two Daughsers, which have not known Man; let me I pray you, bring them out unto you, and do ye to them as is good in your Eyes] This Offer of Lot's, to give up his two Daughters to their Luſts, ſeems, ſays Stackhouſe, to be a ſtrange one; but then we are to conſider, that, as it was made in the utmoſt Perplexity of Mind, and out of a vehement Deſire to ſecure his Gueſts, ſo may it, after all, imply no more than this, — 'God forbid, my Friends, that you 'ſhould make yourſelves guilty of a Crime of ſo high a 'Nature, as to offer the leaſt Indignity to theſe noble 'Strangers, whom I have receiv'd into my Houſe; 'and whom therefore I cannot put in your Power upon 'any Terms whatever. Much rather had I part even 'with my own dear Daughters, who are in my Power, 'and who are alſo marriageable, than with theſe, whom 'I am not authoriz'd to diſpoſe of. Wherefore, I be-'ſeech you, Brethren, deal not ſo fooliſhly in this 'Matter, but conſider what ye are now going to do; 'and ſince, of two Evils, 'tis better to commit the leſs 'than the greater, are there not Women among you, 'whom ye may chuſe for the ſatisfying the Deſires of 'your Fleſh, and not ſin againſt the Order of Nature? 'But if there are none found that can pleaſe you, and 'you will nevertheleſs perſiſt, I proteſt to you, Sirs, 'I will ſooner loſe my own Children, with all that I 'have in the World, than even once conſent to depart 'from my Word, which I have given to theſe worthy 'Perſons. Therefore do as you pleaſe with me, and 'mine, ſeeing that I am in your Hand; only touch not 'theſe.' This ſeems to be, in a great Meaſure, the Purport of Lot's Propoſal to the Men of Sodom; and yet with all this Mollification, it has not unjuſtly incurr'd the Cenſure of St. Auſtin, 'We muſt not conſider, ſays 'he, the Offer, which Lot made to the Inhabitants of 'Sodom, as proceeding from a wiſe, ſober, and preme-'ditated Deſign, but rather as a Speech which dropp'd 'from a Man, ſtruck with Horror at the Thoughts of 'the abominable Sin they were going to commit, and 'who, by the Surprize and Trouble that he was in, had 'loſt the Uſe of his Reaſon and Diſcretion. For, if once 'we lay it down for a Rule, that there may be a Com-'penſation of Sin (as he calls it) i. e. that we may com-'mit leſs, in order to prevent others from running into 'greater, we ſhall, in a ſhort Time, lay waſte all 'Bounds, and ſee every Manner of Wickedneſs come 'ruſhing in upon us without Controul.'

Le Clerc, in his Commentaries upon this Place, aſſigns another Reaſon, why Lot might, with better Courage, make an Offer of his Daughters to the Sodomites. For, ſuppoſing him to be a conſiderable Man in the City, and his Daughters both betroth'd (as we find they were betroth'd, Gen. xix. 14.) to two young Gentlemen of Eminence, he might ſafely propoſe the Thing, as knowing very well, that they neither durſt, nor wou'd accept of it. That they durſt not, for Fear of Puniſhment from Perſons of their Rank and Authority; and that they wou'd not, becauſe Brothers in Iniquity (however outrageous they may be againſt others) affect always to maintain ſome Form of Decency between themſelves. But it is hard to ſay, what Perſons of their Complexion wou'd either been afraid or aſham'd to do, had the Bent of their Inclination tended that Way.

And they ſmote the Men that were at the Door of the Houſe with Blindneſs — ſo that they wearied themſelves to find the Door] Pool and Le Clerc obſerve, that it is a probable Opinion, that theſe Men were ſtruck, not with actual Blindneſs, but with a Dizzineſs, which diſturbed their Sight, and repreſented Objects falſely and in Confuſion, in the ſame Manner as the Syrians were, when ſent to take Eliſha, 2 Kings vi. 18. And this was no hard Matter for the Angels to do, by making a ſmall Alteration, either in the Sight, or in the Air, whereby either the Door might appear to them like the ſolid Wall, or the ſeveral Parts of the Wall like ſo many Doors.

And Lot went out to his Sons-in-law, which married his Daughters] Several Tranſlators, as well as Rabbins, ſuppoſe, that theſe were the Huſbands of ſome other of Lot's Daughters, who were actually married, and had left their Father's Houſe; which ſeems to be confirm'd, by the Angels ordering him to take his Wife, and his two Daughters, that were there preſent: But the original Words, which in our Verſion are render'd, his Sons-in-law, which married his Daughters, may be tranſlated, according to the Interpretation of Onkelos, his Sons-in-law, which were to marry, &c. the Contract having been paſſed, but the Marriage not conſummated by Cohabitation. See Univerſ. Hiſt. L. 1. C. 4.

Haſte thee, eſcape thither; for I cannot do any Thing till thou be come thither] Whoever reads this Paſſage over, either in our Hiſtory, or in the Bible itſelf, will, I dare ſay, ſays Campbel, find it no hard Matter to comprehend the Meaning thereof; and yet Mr. Howel is for having us read will not, inſtead of cannot; upon which he reaſons thus: 'Tranſlators often give Occaſion, eſpecially to 'the Unlearned, for whom they are chiefly deſigned, 'to imagine, that Jeſus had not Power enough to work 'Miracles in Nazareth, Mark vi. 5. John xii. 39, &c. 'And here, in this Text (not to mention many others) 'where 'tis ſaid, That God could not do any Thing to 'Sodom, till Lot had left it. Tho' Commentators 'and Preachers have not failed to obſerve, that this 'Expreſſion does not always denote an abſolute Impoſ-'ſibility to do any Thing, but only a Deſign or Will 'not to do it, or a Repugnancy to the doing of it. But 'yet it is certain, that Chriſt, if he had pleaſed, could 'have wrought Miracles in Nazareth; and that God 'too could have deſtroyed Sodom independently of Lot; 'and all this Impotency is attributed to the want of 'Will, and therefore, ſince People are ſo apt to take 'theſe Places literally, it is proper they ſhould be 'rendred, They would not, and not, They could not, 'the laſt of which is an ambiguous Expreſſion, and na-'turally gives us an Idea which is contrary to the De-'ſign of the ſacred Writers.' The Subſtance of this Note, and, in a great Meaſure, the Expreſſion of it likewiſe is borrowed from the 136th Page of An Eſſay for a new Tranſlation of the Bible; the Author of which hath put many upon cavilling againſt the preſent Verſion of the Scriptures, who are totally ignorant in thoſe Tongues from whence they are tranſlated; Men who affect Learning, and would fain be thought Criticks, without having any Skill, or taking any Pains. As to the Phraſe in Diſpute, our Bible has certainly render'd the Hebrew Expreſſion exactly, and has placed it in a ſtronger Light than it would ſtand in, according to this Emendation. If in our Tranſlation it had been put will not, for cannot, it is highly probable, ſome other Critick would have found Fault with this, and called (indeed with ſome Colour of Juſtice) an unwarrantable Liberty taken with the ſacred Writings.

Therefore the Name of the City is called Zoar] From this extraordinary Mercy, vouchſafed to a whole City, for the Sake of one righteous Perſon, the Name thereof was changed, and inſtead of Bela, under which Appellation it is mentioned before, as one of the five Cities revolting from Chedorlaomer, it was now called Zoar, or rather Toar, which in Hebrew signifies small; becauſe Lot, in his Interceſſion, calls it twice, a little one.

Then the Lord rained upon Sodom, and upon Gomorrah, Brimſtone and Fire from the Lord out of Heaven. And he overthrew thoſe Cities, and all the Plain, and all the Inhabitants of the Cities, and that which grew upon the Ground] Mr. Stackhouſe obſerves, that, of all God's Judgments upon the Wicked, next to that of the univerſal Deluge, the Deſtruction of Sodom, and the neighbouring Cities in the Plain of Jordan, ſeems to have been one of the moſt remarkable, and the moſt dreadful Interpoſitions of Providence.

That this Cataſtrophe (as the Apoſtle calls it, 2 Pet. ii. 6.) did really happen, according to the Account which Moſes gives us of it, we have the concurring Teſtimony of all Hiſtorians, both antient and modern, to convince us. Diodorus Siculus, after having given us a Deſcription of the Lake Aſphaltites (which now fills the Place where theſe Cities once ſtood) acquaints us, that the adjacent Country was then on Fire, and ſent forth a grievous Smell, to which he imputes the ſickly and ſhort Lives of the neighbouring Inhabitants. Strabo, having made mention of the ſame Lake, purſues his Account, and tells us, that the craggy and burnt Rocks, the Caverns broken in, and the Soil all about it aduſt, and turn'd to Aſhes, give Credit to a Report among the People, that formerly ſeveral Cities ſtood there, (whereof Sodom was the chief) but that by Earthquakes and Fire breaking out, there were ſome of them entirely ſwallow'd up, and others forſaken by the Inhabitants that cou'd make their Eſcape. Tacitus deſcribes the Lake in much the ſame Manner with theſe other Hiſtorians, and then adds, that not far from it are the Fields, now barren, which were reported formerly to have been very fruitful, and adorn'd with large Cities, which were burnt by Lightning, and do ſtill retain the Traces of their Deſtruction. Solinus is clearly of Opinion, that the Blackneſs of the Soil, and its being turn'd into Duſt and Aſhes, is a ſure Token of its having ſuffer'd by Fire from Heaven; and, if we may believe the Report of a late Traveller, Mr. Maundrell, according to the Account which he had from the Inhabitants themſelves, ſome of the Ruins of theſe antient Cities do ſtill appear, whenever the Water is low and ſhallow.

What the Number of theſe Cities were, is a Matter wherein we have no abſolute Certainty. Moſes, in the Text, makes mention of but two, Sodom and Gomorrah, but in another Place, he enumerates four, and gives this Deſcription of their dreadful Puniſhment. When the Generations to come ſhall ſee the Plague of that Land and the Sickneſſes, which the Lord hath laid upon it, and that the whole Land thereof is Brimſtone, and Salt, and Burning like the Overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrah, Admah and Zeboim, (which the Lord overthrew in his Anger, and in his Wrath) even all the Nations ſhall ſay, Wherefore hath the Lord done this unto the Land? Deut. xxix. 22, 23, 24. Nay, if we will believe Strabo, and who perhaps might have an Account of the Thing from ſome Phenician Writer, the Number of the Cities, which at this Time, were deſtroyed, were thirteen; and to this, there is a Paſſage in the Prophet, which ſeems to give ſome Countenance, tho' not as to the preciſe Number of them: As I live, ſaith the Lord God to Jeruſalem, Sodom thy Siſter, has not done, ſhe nor her Daughters, (i. e. the Cities which were built round it, and were tributary to it) have not done, as thou and thy Daughters have done.

The abominable Enormities of the Inhabitants, provok'd the divine Ruler of the World to deſtroy their Cities, whoſe Cry was now grown great for Vengeance; and the Manner wherein it was effected, Moſes has recorded in the Words recited, Ver. 24, 25. For the better underſtanding of which, we are to obſerve, 1*ſt*, That in the Vale of Siddim, (the Tract of Ground which was now deſtroy'd) there were a great many Pits of Bitumen, which, being a very combuſtible Matter, is, in ſome Places liquid, in others ſolid; and not only found near the Surface of the Earth, but lies ſometimes very deep, and is dug from the very Bowels of it. 2*dly*, That the Brimſtone and Fire, which the Lord is ſaid to rain upon Sodom and Gomorrah, means Brimſtone inflam'd; that in the Hebrew Stile, Brimſtone inflam'd ſignifies Lightning; and that the Reaſon, why Lightning is thus deſcribed, no one can be ignorant of, that has either ſmelt the Places which have been ſtruck with Thunder, or have read what learned Men have wrote upon the Subject. 3*dly*, That God is not only ſaid to have rained down Brimſtone and Fire, but Brimſtone and Fire FROM THE LORD; where the Addition of from the Lord, which, at firſt, may appear to be ſuperfluous, or a Plurality of Perſons in the Deity (as moſt Chriſtian Interpreters would have it) does more particularly deſcribe the Thunderbolt, which, by the Hebrews, as well as other Nations, is frequently call'd the Fire of God, the Fire from God, &c. And the Reaſon is, --- Becauſe Men having no Power over this Kind of Meteor, and it being impoſſible for them, by any Kind of Contrivance, to aſcend up to the Clouds, God is therefore ſuppos'd to dwell there, and to caſt down his Bolts from thence.

Now, from theſe Obſervations put together, we may, in ſome Meaſure, form a Notion to ourſelves, how this Deſtruction came to be effected. For, tho' Moſes does not inform us, after what Manner the Lightning and Thunder-bolts from above ſubverted theſe Cities, and their adjacent Territories; yet, ſince he plainly makes Mention of them, we cannot comprehend how it could happen otherwiſe, than that the Lightning and Thunder-bolts, falling, in great Abundance, upon ſome Pits of Bitumen, the Veins of that combuſtible Matter took Fire immediately, and as the Fire penetrated into the lowermoſt Bowels of the bituminous Soil, theſe wicked Cities were ſubverted by a dreadful Earthquake, which was follow'd with a ſubſiding of the Ground; and that, as ſoon as the Earth was ſunk, it would unavoidably fall out, that the Waters, running to this Place in ſo great an Abundance, and mixing with the Bitumen, which they found in great Plenty, would make a Lake of what was a Valley before, and a Lake of the ſame Quality, with what the Scripture calls the Salt-Sea.

This Lake, according to the Account we have of it, is encloſed, to the Eaſt and Weſt, with exceeding high Mountains; on the North it is bounded by the Plain of Jericho, on which Side it receives the Waters of Jordan; on the South it is open, and extends beyond the Reach of the Eye, being twenty four Leagues long, and ſix or ſeven broad. Its Water is exceeding deep and heavy; ſo heavy, that a Man cannot, without Difficulty, ſink into it; but of ſo nauſeous a Taſte, and noiſome Smell, that neither Fiſh, nor Fowl accuſtom'd to the Water, can live in it. It is full of Bitumen, which, at uncertain Seaſons, boils up from the Bottom in Bubbles; at which Time the Superficies of the Lake ſwells, and reſembles the Riſing of an Hill. Adjoining to the Lake and Fields, which formerly, as Tacitus ſays, were fruitful, but are now ſo parch'd and burnt up, that they have loſt their Fertility, inſomuch that every Thing, whether it grows ſpontaneouſly, or be planted by Man, whether it be Herb, Fruit, or Flower, as ſoon as it is compreſs'd, moulders away immediately into Duſt; and to this the Author of the Book of Wiſdom ſeems to allude, when he tells us, that, of the Wickedneſs of thoſe Cities, the waſte Land, that ſmoaketh to this Day, is a Teſtimony, and the Plants bearing Fruit, that never come to Ripeneſs.

Whether there be any Truth in this Part of the Account of Tacitus, 'tis hard to tell. As for the Apples of Sodom (to which he ſeems to allude) Mr. Maundrell tells us, that he never ſaw, nor heard of any thereabouts, nor was there any Tree to be ſeen near the Lake, from which one might expect ſuch Kind of Fruit; and therefore he ſuppoſes the Being, as well as the Beauty, of that Fruit a mere Fiction, and only kept up, becauſe it ſerv'd for a good Alluſion, and now and then helped Poets to a pat Similitude.

'The Cinders, Brimſtone, and ſmoke, ſays Philo, 'and a certain obſcure Flame, as it were, of a Fire 'burning, ſtill perceivable in ſome Parts of the Coun-'try, are Memorials of the perpetual Evil which hap-'pen'd to it;' and, as Joſephus adds, 'the Things that 'are ſaid of Sodom, are confirmed by ocular Inſpection, 'there being ſome Relicts of the Fire, which came 'down from Heaven, and ſome Reſemblance of the 'five Cities, ſtill to be ſeen.' And 'tis the Duration of theſe Monuments of divine Wrath perhaps, which gave Occaſion to St. Jude to ſay, that the wicked Inhabitants of theſe Cities were ſet forth for an Example, ſuffering the Vengeance of eternal Fire, i. e. of a Fire, whoſe Marks were to be perpetuated to the End of the World: For it is a common Thing in Scripture, to expreſs a great and irreparable Vaſtation, whoſe Effects or Signs ſhall be permanent to the lateſt Ages, by the Greek Word Aionios, which we here render eternal.

Thus, in all Probability, were the Cities of the Plain of Jordan overthrown: Nor is there any Doubt to be made, but that the miraculous Hand of God was employed in ſending down this heavy Judgment. For, tho' in a Soil, impregnated with Bitumen, the Cities, which are built thereon, may be ſhaken with an Earthquake, and ſwallow'd up by a ſudden Hiatus; tho' Thunder-bolts may fall, and ſet the Veins of Sulphur and Bitumen on Fire, which, afterwards breaking out, and mingling with the Water, may, in a low Valley, eaſily cauſe a Lake full of Aſphaltus: Tho' theſe Things, I ſay, in Proceſs of Time, might have come to paſs in an ordinary Courſe of Nature; yet, if they were done before their natural Cauſes were in a Diſpoſition to produce them; if they would not have been done that Inſtant, unleſs it had been for ſome extraordinary Interpoſition of God, or his bleſſed Angels; it ought to be reputed no leſs a Miracle, than if every Particular in the Tranſaction had plainly ſurpaſſed the uſual Operations of Nature. And, that the Judgment now before us, happened in this Manner, the two Angels, diſpatch'd by Almighty God upon this important Occaſion, God's foretelling Abraham his Deſign, the Angels acquainting Lot with the Errand about which they came, and then urging and inſtigating him to be gone, to make Haſte, and eſcape to Zoar, becauſe they could do nothing until he was come thither, are Arguments ſufficiently convincing, that the Thunder and Lightning, or (as others will have it) the Showers of liquid Fire, or rather Storms of Nitre and Sulphur mingled with Fire, which fell upon theſe wicked Places, were immediately ſent down by the Appointment of God, and by the Miniſtry of his Angels, who, knowing all the Meteors of the Air, and their repugnant Qualities, did collect, commix, and employ them, as they thought fit, in the Execution of God's juſt Judgment upon a People devoted to Deſtruction.

But his Wife looked back from behind him, and became a Pillar of Salt] It is not agreed by Commentators what was the Crime, for which Lot's Wife was ſo ſeverely puniſh'd. Some are of Opinion, that ſhe deſerv'd it, merely for diſobeying the Command of the Angel, and expreſſing too much Concern for a People that deſerved no Compaſſion. Others ſay, that, being anxiouſly ſollicitous for her Daughters that were married there, and turning about to ſee, whether they followed her, ſhe ſaw the Divine Shechinah, or Majeſtick Appearance of God, deſcending to deſtroy the Place, which was the Occaſion of her Metamorphoſis. Others ſuppoſe, that, ſhe being in the Confederacy with the Sodomites, ſhe told them that her Huſband was diſtracted, and gave them Notice, when any Strangers came to lodge with him, by a Sign of Smoak by Day, and of Fire by Night; whilſt others again imagine, that the Scripture does not repreſent the Fate, which ſhe met with, as a Puniſhment for any Crime, but as a Thing merely accidental. See Univerſ. Hiſt. L. I. C. 4. There is one Circumſtance however in the Text, ſays Pool, viz. that ſhe looked from behind her Huſband, whom ſhe follow'd, which ſeems to be mention'd as the Reaſon of this her Preſumption, becauſe ſhe could do it without her Huſband's Obſervation or Reproof; to which ſhe ſeems to have had a greater Regard, than to the all-ſeeing Eye of God.

The ingenious Mr. Stackhouſe has treated this Subject in a very learned and rational Manner: He ſays, that the Metamorphoſis of Lot's Wife is one of the moſt wonderful Events in Scripture, and therefore thoſe, who are unwilling, as they ſay, to multiply Miracles without a Cauſe, from the different Senſes, which the Words in the Text are capable of, have endeavour'd to fix another Interpretation to them. Thus the Word, which we render Pillar, or Statue, beſides its obvious Signification, may, in a metaphorical Senſe, be applied to denote any Thing, that like a Pillar or Stone, is immoveable and hard; and according to this Acceptation, theſe Interpreters ſuppoſe, that Moſes might intend no more, than that Lot's Wife was ſtruck dead with Fear, or Surprize, or any other Cauſe, and ſo remain'd motionleſs, like a Stone.

In like Manner, the Word, which we render Salt, beſides its common Signification, does ſometimes denote a dry and barren Soil, ſuch as is found about the Aſphaltic Lake: And thus the Senſe of the Words, applied to Lot's Wife, intimates, that the Place of her Death was in a barren Country, or in the Land of Salt. At other Times it ſignifies a long Space, or Continuance of Time, becauſe we find an everlaſting Covenant, called a Covenant of Salt, (Salt being therefore an Emblem of Eternity, becauſe the Things that are ſeaſon'd therewith, continue incorrupt for many Years) and in this Senſe Lot's Wife may be ſaid to become an everlaſting Monument of the divine Diſpleaſure, without any Conſideration either of the Form or Matter whereinto ſhe was changed: And from theſe Significations of the Words, they draw this Explication of the Paſſage. ---- 'That Lot's Wife, either looking back upon the City, 'when ſhe ſaw it all on a Smoak, and Fire from Hea-'ven pouring down upon it, was ſtruck dead with the 'frightful Sight, in a Country, that was afterwards 'barren and unfruitful: Or that, not only ſtopping, 'but returning towards the City (when the Angel was 'gone) ſhe was ſuffocated by ſome poiſonous Vapour, 'and periſh'd in the common Conflagration.' And this, as they ſay, ſaves a Miracle, and anſwers the End of Providence full as well, as if the Woman had been actually turn'd into a Pillar of Salt, which never was, and never will be prov'd by any authentick Teſtimony.

All this is plauſible enough; and yet thoſe, who adhere to the literal Senſe of the Words, have this to ſay in their Vindication, --- That the Vale of Siddim, where Sodom, and the other Cities ſtood, was originally a very fruitful Soil (as moſt bituminous Countries are) which induc'd Lot to make Uſe of it for the Paſturage of his Cattle, but is, at preſent, the very Reverſe, a poor barren Land, full of Sulphur and Salt-pits: And hence they infer, that all the ſulphurous and ſaline Matter, which is found in this Tract of Ground now, was the Effect of divine Vengeance, and ſhower'd down upon it when God deſtroyed Sodom, and its neighbouring Cities. They therefore ſuppoſe, that the Woman, ſtanding ſtill too long to behold the Deſtruction of her Country, ſome of that dreadful Shower, in the Manner of great Fleaks of Snow, fell upon her, and, clinging to her Body, wrapp'd it all over, as it were in a Sheet of nitroſulphurous Matter, which congeal'd into a Cruſt as hard as a Stone, and made her appear like a Statue or Pillar of metallick Salt, having her Body enclos'd, and, as it were, candied all over with it. And to maintain this their Hypotheſis, they aſſert, That all indurated Bodies (as Chymiſts well know) are (as they ſpeak) highly ſaturated with a ſaline Principle, and that all Coagulations and Concretions, in the Mixture of Bodies, are effected by this Means: So that it was not poſſible to expreſs ſuch a Tranſmutation as Lot's Wife underwent, whether it was ſimply by Incruſtation, or by total Penetration, more properly than Moſes has done. They produce Inſtances from the beſt Hiſtorians of ſeveral Petrefactions both of Men and Cattle (almoſt as wonderful as this of Lot's Wife) ſtanding in the very ſame Poſture wherein they were found at the Inſtant of their Tranſmutation, for ſeveral Generations afterwards; and, for the Confirmation of this in particular, they vouch the Teſtimony of the Author of the Book of Wiſdom, who makes Mention of a ſtanding Pillar of Salt, as a Monument of an unbelieving Soul, and the Authority of the LXX Interpreters, who expreſly render it ſo. Among Jewiſh Writers, they cite the Words of Joſephus, who tells us, that 'Lot's Wife, caſting 'her Eye perpetually back upon the City, and being 'too much concern'd about it, contrary to what God 'had forbid her, was turn'd into a Pillar of Salt, which 'I myſelf, as he tells us, have ſeen.' They cite the Words of Philo, who frequently takes Notice of this Metamorphoſis, and, in his Allegories of the Law, more particularly declares, that, for the Love of Sodom, Lot's Wife was turn'd into a Stone: And, among Chriſtian Writers, they produce that Paſſage of Clemens, in his Epiſtle to the Corinthians; 'Lot's Wife went along 'with him, but being of a different Spirit, and not 'perſiſting in Concord with him, ſhe was therefore 'placed for a Sign, and continues a Statue of Salt to 'this very Day;' together with the Teſtimony of Irenæus, and ſeveral other Fathers of the Church.

The Accounts, which modern Hiſtorians and Travellers give us of this Matter, are ſo very different and uncertain, that we cannot ſo well tell where to fix our Belief. Bochart, in his Deſcription of the Holy Land, tells us, that he gave himſelf the Fatigue of a very troubleſome Journey, to behold this Statue, but was not ſo happy as to ſatisfy his Curioſity; for the Inhabitants aſſur'd him the Place was inacceſſible, and could not be viſited without apparent Danger of Death, becauſe of the prodigious Beaſts and Serpents that abounded there, but more eſpecially, becauſe of the Biduini, a very ſavage and inhuman Sort of People, that dwelt near it: And yet, if we will believe other Writers of this Kind, they will tell us expreſly, that there is ſtill ſome Part of it remaining, and to be ſeen, between Engaddi and the Dead Sea.

We will ſuppoſe however for once, that the long Duration of this Monument is an Impoſition of the Inhabitants upon the Credulity of Strangers; yet it will not therefore follow, that there never was any ſuch Thing in being, unleſs we can think it inconſiſtent with the Nature of God to work a Miracle for the Puniſhment of a wicked Woman. Miracles indeed are not to be multiplied, unleſs there be Occaſion for them: But, when the plain Senſe of the Words leads us to ſuch a Conſtruction, 'tis a Niceneſs, no way commendable, to endeavour to find out another, merely for the Sake of avoiding the Miraculouſneſs of the Fact; as if the Scriptures were more valuable, for containing nothing but obvious Matters, and the Majeſty of God any way magnified, by ſeeming to exert as little of its omnipotent Power as poſſible.

The ſhort of the Matter is this, — We have a clear Account, in a Book full of Wonders, of a Woman, confeſſedly guilty of Diſobedience and Ingratitude, ſtruck dead by the Hand of God, and turn'd into a Statue of Salt, for a Monument of Terror to future Generations. And, is there any Thing in this, ſo repugnant to Reaſon, or ſo incongruous for God to do, that we muſt immediately flee to another Interpretation, and, to make the Matter eaſy, reſolutely maintain, that the whole Purport of the Thing is only this, — That the poor Woman either ſuddenly died of a Fright, or indiſcreetly fell into the Fire? God certainly may work a Miracle when he pleaſes, and puniſh any wicked Perſon in what Manner he thinks fit; nor is there any more Wonder in the Metamorphoſis of Lot's Wife, than there was in the changing the Rod of Moſes into a Serpent. The ſame Power might do both; and ſince the ſame Hiſtory has recorded both, there is the ſame Reaſon for the Credibility of both. Nay, of the two, the Tranſformation of Lot's Wife ſeems more familiar to our Conceptions, ſince we want not Inſtances of Perſons ſtruck with Lightning, and kill'd with cold Vapours, that have immediately petrified in the ſame Manner.

But, why God exacted ſo ſevere a Penalty for an Offence ſo ſeemingly ſmall, is not ſo hard to be reſolv'd; becauſe, according to the Light wherein we are to conſider this Woman, her Diſobedience to the Divine Command had in it all the Malignity of an obſtinate and perverſe Mind, unthankful to God for his Preſervation of her, and too cloſely attach'd, if not to the wicked Cuſtoms, at leaſt to the Perſons and Things, which ſhe had left behind her in that Sink of Sin and Senſuality.

But there is another Obſervation, which we may draw from our Saviour's Application of this Story, as well as the Angel's Expreſſions to Lot, viz. that ſhe loiter'd by the Way, if not return'd to the City; and if ſo, 'tis no Wonder that ſhe ſuffer'd, when ſhe was found within the Compaſs of the ſulphureous Steams from Heaven; nor can God be blam'd for his exemplary Puniſhment of her, unleſs we think it reaſonable for his Providence, in this Caſe, to have interpos'd, and wrought a Miracle for her Preſervation, who had ſo little deſerv'd it, and had run herſelf voluntarily into the Jaws of Deſtruction.

Come, let us make our Father drink Wine, and we will lie with him, that we may preſerve Seed of our Father] It was, at that Time, ſays Stackhouſe, an univerſal Law, which afterwards became a particular one of the Jews, that Marriages ſhould be contracted within the Family, to preſerve Inheritances, and to avoid the Mixture of Seeds: So that the two Siſters here argu'd very juſtly upon the Principles then univerſally admitted, i. e. upon the general Law of Nations. For, ſeeing they had no Brother to keep up their Name and Family, and their Father had loſt their Mother, by whom he might have had other Children, and they themſelves, their Huſbands, before Conſummation, in the common Deſtruction; there was no apparent Poſſibility of preſerving their Father's Family from utter Extinction after their three Lives, or averting the ſaid Curſe of Extinction, but by the very Method, which, at laſt, they concerted between them. So that they had the Plea of Neceſſity on their Sides to excuſe, if not to juſtify them: And, that they were not led by any Spirit of Uncleanneſs to this Action, we have theſe Preſumptions to believe: — That, in the Midſt of all the Impurities of the moſt wicked City under Heaven, they had preſerv'd their Innocence and Virginity; that they unanimouſly joined together in the ſame Contrivance, whereas vicious Intrigues are ſeldom communicated, and, whenever they are, always occaſion Quarrels; that, what they did once, they never repeated, and ſo cannot be ſuſpected of having been incited by brutal Luſt; and laſtly, that they were ſo far from being conſcious to themſelves of having acted upon any baſe and ſinful Inducement, that, in the Names of their Children, they took Care to perpetuate the Memory of it to Poſterity; which they never would have done, had they thought it a Reproach to their Father's Name.

Their Father too, in the Matter of Inceſt, may in ſome Meaſure be excus'd, for as much as he offer'd no Violence to his Daughters, but was altogether paſſive, and impos'd upon by them; but then, it muſt be conſider'd, that had he not allowed himſelf to drink to Exceſs, it had not been in the Power of his Daughters to deceive him. The Daughters indeed, without this Expedient, could not have attain'd their End; but then the Unjuſtifiableneſs of the Means diſſecrates the Means, even tho' it were good and laudable before. The ſhort is, both Father and Daughters, in this whole Tranſaction, were not without Sin: And therefore, whatever may be ſaid in Mitigation of their Faults, we miſtake the Matter widely, if we think the ſacred Hiſtory, in barely relating them, means either to approve or commend them.

And the firſt bore a Son, and called his Name Moab] Moab ſetled himſelf in the Parts adjoining Eaſtward to the Salt-Sea, or Lacus Aſphaltites, and in the neighbouring Tract, on the River Jordan Eaſtward: For we plainly learn, that great Part of the Kingdom of Sihon, King of the Amorites, did formerly belong to the Moabites, Numb. xxi. 21. Ammon ſeated himſelf in in the Parts adjoining to Moab: For it is evident from Scripture, that the Ammonites were formerly poſſeſs'd of the Parts on the Eaſt of Jordan about the River Jabbok, or of the Northern Part of that which was afterwards the Kingdom of Sihon, Num. xxi. 13. Joſh. xiii. 25. and Judg. xi. 13, 23. But theſe Things we ſhall have Occaſion to illuſtrate more fully, when we come to deſcribe the Courſe of the Travels of the Iſraelites out of Egypt, into the Land of Canaan. CHAP. XX.

Abraham ſojourns in Gerar, where he denies his Wife, and by that means loſes her. Abimelech, who had taken her, is reproved for it in a Dream; pleads his Ignorance in Excuſe; rebukes Abraham; reſtores Sarah, and reproves her. Abraham prays for Abimelech and his Family, and God heals them.

Ver. 1. AND Abraham journeyed from thence toward the ſouth country, and dwelled between Kadeſh and Shur, and ſojourned in Gerar. 2 And Abraham ſaid of Sarah his wife, She is my ſiſter: and Abimelech king of Gerar ſent, and took Sarah. 3 But God came to Abimelech in a dream by night, and ſaid to him, Behold, thou art but a dead man, for the woman which thou haſt taken: for ſhe is a mans wife. 4 But Abimelech had not come near her: and he ſaid, Lord, wilt thou ſlay alſo a righteous nation? 5 Said he not unto me, She is my ſiſter? and ſhe, even ſhe herſelf ſaid, He is my brother: in the integrity of my heart, and innocency of my hands have I done this. 6 And God ſaid unto him in a dream, Yea, I know that thou didſt this in the integrity of thy heart; for I alſo with-held thee from ſinning againſt me: therefore ſuffered I thee not to touch her. 7 Now therefore reſtore the man his wife, for he is a prophet, and he ſhall pray for thee, and thou ſhalt live: and if thou reſtore her not, know thou that thou ſhalt ſurely die, thou, and all that are thine. 8 Therefore Abimelech roſe early in the morning, and called all his ſervants, and told all theſe things in their ears: and the men were ſore afraid. 9 Then Abimelech called Abraham, and ſaid unto him, What haſt thou done unto us? and what have I offended thee, that thou haſt brought on me and on my kingdom a great ſin? thou haſt done deeds unto me that ought not to be done. 10 And Abimelech ſaid unto Abraham, What ſaweſt thou, that thou haſt done this thing? 11 And Abraham ſaid, becauſe I thought, Surely the fear of God is not in this place; and they will ſlay me for my wives ſake. 12 And yet indeed ſhe is my ſiſter; ſhe is the daughter of my father, but not the daughter of my mother: and ſhe became my wife. 13 And it came to paſs, when God cauſed me to wander from my fathers houſe, that I ſaid unto her, This is thy kindneſs which thou ſhalt ſhew unto me; At every place whither we ſhall come, ſay of me, He is my brother. 14 And Abimelech took ſheep, and oxen, and men-ſervants, and women-ſervants, and gave them unto Abraham, and reſtored him Sarah his wife. 15 And Abimelech ſaid, Behold, my land is before thee: dwell where it pleaſeth thee. 16 And unto Sarah he ſaid, Behold, I have given thy brother a thouſand pieces of ſilver: behold, he is to thee a covering of the eyes, unto all that are with thee, and with all other: thus ſhe was reproved. 17 So Abraham prayed unto God: and God healed Abimelech, and his wife, and his maid-ſervants; and they bare children. 18 For the Lord had faſt cloſed up all the wombs of the houſe of Abimelech, becauſe of Sarah Abrahams wife.

And ſojourned in Gerar] Gerar was a regal City, ſituate not far from the Angle where the South and Weſt Sides of Paleſtine meet; and the Country to which it gave the Name, extended itſelf pretty far into Arabia Petræa. Beerſheba ſignifies the Well of the Oath, becauſe here Abraham made a Covenant with Abimelech King of Gerar, concerning a Well which he had digg'd hard by. Here likewiſe he planted a Grove, and inſtituted an Oratory, or Place of divine Worſhip; and, in proceſs of Time, here was a City, or conſiderable Town built, which is taken Notice of by heathen Authors under the Name of Berzimma, or Berſabe. Kadeſh was a City lying on the Edge of the Land of Canaan, to the South of Hebron; Shur was the Name of that Part of Arabia Petræa, which joins Egypt and the Red-Sea; and ſomewhere between theſe two, was that Well, near to which Abraham, when he left Mamre, fix'd his Habitation. See Well's Geogr. of the O. T. Vol. 1.

And Abimelech King of Gerar ſent, and took Sarah] Sarah was now ninety Years old, when Abimelech took her into his Family; whence, ſays Howell, it may ſeem very ſtrange, that a Woman of her Age ſhould look ſo very well, as to be deſired by a King, who, in thoſe Days might have commanded the moſt youthful Beauties in his whole Dominions. But, according to ſome Interpreters, People of ninety then were as freſh and vigorous as thoſe of forty now; and Sarah might, even in that Reſpect, excel her Co-evals, by Reaſon of her Sterility, which is a great Preſerver of Beauty: Tho' others are of Opinion, that God, having taking away her Sterility, her Beauty returned with her Fruitfulneſs, for, by this Time, it is computed, that ſhe had conceived her Son.

Therefore Abimelech aroſe early in the Morning, and called all his Servants, and told all theſe Things in their Ears; and the Men were ſore afraid] From what we are told in Scripture, this Affair muſt have been attended with no ſmall Terror and Confuſion. Abimelech was much concerned at the Threats which had been denounced againſt him in his Dream; he was amazed, to find Sarah the Wife, and not the Siſter of Abraham, and to hear at the ſame Time that this Stranger was in ſo high Favour with God, as to be able to cure him by his Interceſſion; his Courtiers were no leſs ſurprized, on his relating what had befallen him; they were ſenſible of their own ſudden Maladies, and in great Fear of worſe Conſequences, unleſs the Woman was ſent back. Joſephus ſays, Abimelech, from the Time he took away Sarah, continued ſo ill of a violent Diſeaſe, that his Phyſicians deſpair'd of his Recovery, ſo that he was in no Condition to have cohabited with any Woman whatſoever. Some of the Rabbins go yet farther; they tell us, that an Angel attended Sarah both here and in Egypt, and ſuffered none to touch her. But theſe are Fables which deſerve no Regard, eſpecially where the Story is clear and evident in the Sacred Writings. We from thence learn, that her Chaſtity was preſerved by the Interpoſition of the Divine Power, and therefore, curious Enquiries into the Method obſerved, in this Reſpect, by Providence, are needleſs and perhaps ſinful.

And unto Sarah he ſaid, Behold I have given thy Brother a thouſand Pieces of Silver] Bedford obſerves, that the original Word does not ſo properly mean Pieces, as Weight, becauſe Money was then paid by Weight, and may therefore be interpreted a thouſand Shekels of Silver, i. e. about 57 Pounds in the Value of our preſent Money.

Behold he is to thee a Covering of the Eyes unto all, that are with thee, and to all others; thus ſhe was reproved] proved] Where we muſt obſerve, in the firſt Place, that the Word, which we render reprove, does more properly ſignify to inſtruct, which muſt certainly be the right Senſe of the Word here, conſidering that Abimelech had already accepted of Abraham's Apology, and was ſo far from irritating either him, or Sarah by Reproaches, that, on the contrary, he was endeavouring to win their Friendſhip by conſiderable Preſents. But then as to the Covering of Sarah's Eyes, this may be variouſly expounded according as the Words refer, either to Abraham, or to the Pieces of Silver. If they refer to Abraham, then the Meaning of the King's Words will be, 'Thou needeſt no other Defence of 'thy Chaſtity, than he; nor haſt thou any Reaſon 'hereafter to ſay, he is my Brother; for ſo dear is he to 'God, that God will defend him, and he will defend 'thee; and not only him, but all that are with thee, 'and that even among Strangers, without any ſuch 'Shifts and Equivocations, as you have hitherto 'thought fit to make uſe of.' This Senſe indeed is countenanc'd by the LXX: But others have thought, that it might better be render'd thus, — 'This Money, 'which I have paid thy Huſband, as a Mulct, for my 'having endeavour'd to take thee from him, will be a 'Means to deter all others from having any Concern 'with thee, when once they ſhall hear, how much I 'have ſuffered upon that Account.' The Reader is left to his own Option; but we ſhould rather think, that the laſt of theſe Interpretations is preferable. See Patrick's and Le Clerc's Com.

For the Lord had faſt cloſed up all the Wombs of the Houſe of Abimelech] This Phraſe, had faſt cloſed up the Wombs, does, in Scripture frequently denote Barrenneſs; but that it cannot do ſo here, is pretty plain from hence, — That the Hiſtory of this Tranſaction is of too ſhort a Continuance, to give Space for a Diſcovery of this Kind, viz. whether the Women, by God's Infliction, were become actually barren or no: And therefore the other Opinion is more probable, viz. that it was ſuch an Indiſpoſition, or Sore, or Swelling in the ſecret Parts, that the Men could neither enjoy their Wives, nor the Women who were with Child, could be delivered. See Pool and Patrick.

CHAP. XXI.

Iſaac is born, circumciſed and weaned. Sarah takes Offence at the Behaviour of Iſhmael, and prevails on Abraham to turn him and his Mother out of Doors. Hagar wanders with her Son in the Wilderneſs; and being both in great Diſtreſs, ſhe is comforted by an Angel. The Covenant between Abraham and Abimelech at Beerſheba.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord viſited Sarah as he had ſaid, and the Lord did unto Sarah as he had ſpoken. 2 For Sarah conceived and bare Abraham a ſon in his old age; at the ſet time of which God had ſpoken to him. 3 And Abraham called the name of his ſon that was born unto him, whom Sarah bare to him, Iſaac. 4 And Abraham circumciſed his ſon Iſaac, being eight days old, as God had commanded him. 5 And Abraham was an hundred years old, when his ſon Iſaac was born unto him. 6 And Sarah ſaid, God hath made me to laugh, ſo that all that hear will laugh with me. 7 And ſhe ſaid, Who would have ſaid unto Abraham, that Sarah ſhould have given children ſuck? for I have borne him a ſon in his old age. 8 And the child grew and was weaned: and Abraham made a great feaſt the ſame day that Iſaac was weaned.

And Abraham circumciſed his Son Iſaac, being eight Days old] Calmet tells us, that the Manner of this Ceremony's being perform'd, whether in the publick Synagogue, or in private Houſes, is this, — The Perſon, who is appointed to be the Godfather, ſets down upon a Seat, with a Silk-cuſhion provided for that Purpoſe, and ſettles the Child in a proper Poſture on his Knees, when he, who is to circumciſe him (which, by the bye, is accounted a great Honour among the Jews) opens the Blankets. Some make uſe of Silver-Tweezers, to take up ſo much of the Prepuce, as they deſign to cut off, but others take it up with their Fingers. Then he, who circumciſes the Child, holding the Razor in his Hand, ſays, Bleſſed be thou, O Lord, who haſt commanded us to be circumciſed; and, while he is ſaying this, cuts off the thick Skin of the Prepuce, and then with his Thumb-nails, tears off a finer Skin ſtill remaining. After this he ſucks the Blood, which flows plentifully upon this Occaſion, and ſpits it out into a Cup full of Wine: Then he puts ſome Dragons Blood upon the Wound, ſome Coral Powder, and other Things to ſtop the Bleeding, and ſo covers up the Part affected. When this is done, he takes the Cup, wherein he had ſpit the Blood, and then, bleſſing both that and the Child, gives him the Name which his Father had appointed, and, at the ſame Time pronounces theſe Words of Ezekiel, I ſaid unto thee, when thou waſt in thy Blood, live, Ch. xvi. 6. after which, the whole Congregation repeats the cxxviiith Pſalm, Bleſſed is every Man that feareth the Lord, &c. and ſo the Ceremony concludes. Only we muſt obſerve, that beſides the Seat appointed for the Godfather, there is always another left empty, and is deſign'd, ſome ſay, for the Prophet Elias, who, as they imagine, is inviſibly preſent at all Circumciſions.

And the Child grew, and was weaned] It is not eaſy to gueſs, ſays Patrick, how long it was that Women gave ſuck in thoſe Days, becauſe the antient Hebrews are divided about it, ſome affirming that Iſaac was weaned when he was two, ſome five, and others not till he was twelve Years old. If however we will judge by what the young Maccabee's Mother ſaid to him, My Son remember I have ſuckled thee three Years, 2 Macc. vii. 27. that Time will appear the moſt probable. For there is no Reaſon to believe, that Iſaac was weaned before the uſual Term, for Want of Care, and Affection in his Mother.

And Abraham made a great Feaſt the ſame Day that Iſaac was weaned] What the Manner of celebrating this Weaning-feaſt, or Feaſt of Initiation, was, ſays Stackhouſe, we can only conjecture from certain Circumſtances, and ſome parallel Paſſages and Cuſtoms. There are no more than the Weaning of Iſaac, and the Weaning of Samuel, (two very extraordinary Perſons, both foretold by the Spirit of Prophecy, and both miraculouſly born) which are taken Notice of in the ſacred Hiſtory. And (if we may be allow'd to ſuppoſe a Parallel between them) as the Feaſt at the weaning of Samuel, was a ſacred Feaſt, and kept before the Lord, 1 Sam. i. 24. (for the Child was brought by his Mother to the Sanctuary, there preſented, and there initiated, or dedicated by the High-Prieſt, whereupon a Sacrifice firſt, and then a Feaſt did enſue) ſo we may ſuppoſe, 1. That, at the Weaning-feaſt of Iſaac, there was a Burnt-Sacrifice, which Abraham, as Prieſt and Prophet, might early in the Morning offer, in order to ſanctify both the Feaſt, and thoſe that were to communicate in it. 2. That there were Changes of Raiment given to all the Gueſts, and to all the Servants, to keep the Feaſt in, and that, without theſe Feſtival Robes, no one was allow'd to ſit down at the Table. 3. That a new Sort of Veſture was given to Iſaac, as an Habit of Diſtinction, by which he was declar'd Heir of the Family, and the moſt honourable, next to his Father. 4. That there was a Dedication of the Child, or an holy Initiation of him, in a very religious and ſolemn Manner, perform'd by both the Parents. 5. That there was probably a Commemoration of the Entertainment of Angels in Pilgrims Habit, and of the joyful Meſſage then brought, together with the killing of the fatted Calf, and other Proviſions made for them: And, 6. That, upon this Occaſion, there was certainly a ſumptuous Entertainment made for their Gueſts.

Gueſts, ſuitable to the Character of the Maſter of the Feaſt, who was a Prince, as well as a Prophet, and anſwerable to the End and Deſign of it, which was to commemorate the higheſt Bleſſing that could be given, not to one Family only, but to all the Generations of the World.

9 And Sarah ſaw the ſon of Hagar the Egyptian, which ſhe had borne unto Abraham, mocking. 10 Wherefore ſhe ſaid unto braham, Caſt out this bond-woman, and her ſon: for the ſon of this bond-woman ſhall not be heir with my ſon, even with Iſaac. 11 And the thing was very grievous in Abrahams ſight, becauſe of his ſon. 12 And God ſaid unto Abraham, Let it not be grievous in thy ſight, becauſe of the lad, and becauſe of thy bond-woman; in all that Sarah hath ſaid unto thee, hearken unto her voice; for in Iſaac ſhall thy ſeed be called. 13 And alſo of the ſon of the bond-woman will I make a nation, becauſe he is thy ſeed. 14 And Abraham roſe up early in the morning, and took bread, and a bottle of water, and gave it unto Hagar (putting it on her ſhoulder) and the child and ſent her away: and ſhe departed, and wandred in the wilderneſs of Beer-ſheba. 15 And the water was ſpent in the bottle, and ſhe caſt the child under one of the ſhrubs. 16 And ſhe went, and ſat her down over againſt him a good way off, as it were a bow ſhot: for ſhe ſaid, Let me not ſee the death of the child. And ſhe ſat over againſt him, and lift up her voice, and wept. 17 And God heard the voice of the lad: and the angel of God called to Hagar out of heaven, and ſaid unto her, What aileth thee, Hagar? fear not; for God hath heard the voice of the lad where he is. 18 Ariſe, lift up the lad, and hold him in thine hand for I will make him a great nation. 19 And God opened her eyes, and ſhe ſaw a well of water; and ſhe went and filled the bottle with water, and gave the lad drink. 20 And God was with the lad, and he grew, and dwelt in the wilderneſs, and became an archer. 21 And he dwelt in the wilderneſs of Paran; and his mother took him a wife out of the land of Egypt.

And Sarah ſaw the Son of Hagar the Egyptian — mocking] At the Weaning-Feaſt of Iſaac, it is very probable, ſays Stackhouſe, that Sarah perceiv'd Iſhmael treating her Son with Contempt and Deriſion. The Initiation of Iſaac, and his Father's Declaration concerning him, which Iſhmael who thought he had a prior Right, was not able to bear, was enough to exaſperate his rough Nature to commit ſuch Rudeneſs, as could not but break the Merriment of the Feaſt, and thereupon provoke Sarah to exert her Authority, by ſhewing the Difference between the ſon of a Bond-woman, and the Heir apparent of the Family. I ſay, to exert her Authority; for as Hagar was Sarah's Dotal Maid-Servant, ſhe was entirely at her Diſpoſal. Abraham had no Cognizance of her; from his Juriſdiction, ſhe was exempt; and by Marriage-Articles (as we call it) reſerv'd to her Miſtreſs in Property; and therefore we find God interpoſing in the Affair, and adviſing Abraham, in all that Sarah ſhou'd ſay unto him, to hearken to her Voice.

And Abraham roſe up early in the Morning, and took Bread and a Bottle of Water, and gave it unto Hagar and the Child, and ſent her away] The Expulſion of Hagar and her ſon, ſays the ſame Author, is repreſented by our Tranſlation, under Circumſtances ſomewhat dolorous; but if we enquire into Particulars, we ſhall find them not near ſo full of Diſtreſs, as this Repreſentation ſeems to make them. Abraham is ſaid to have ſent them away early in the Morning; but this might be done on purpoſe to prevent what might paſs between them at ſo ſorrowful a Parting, from being obſerv'd by too many Eyes. He is ſaid to have given them Bread and a Bottle of Water; but as Bread and Water include Eatables and Drinkables of all Kinds, ſo there is no doubt to be made but that Iſhmael was able enough to carry a handſome Competency of Proviſion for a few Days, or that his Mother might very well carry a large Bottle of Water, or other Liquor to ſupport them for a Week, or ſo, while they were travelling through the Wilderneſs. Their whole Misfortune was, in miſtaking their Way, and wandering about in the Deſart, until their Water was conſum'd; but this was a mere Accident, wherein Abraham had not the leaſt Concern.

Iſhmael indeed is, in ſeveral Places, call'd a Child, and from thence we may ſuppoſe, that he was a Burden and Incumbrance to his Mother: But, if we look into his Age, we ſhall find, that, when Iſaac was born he was fourteen; and therefore allowing two Years between Iſaac's Birth, and his Weaning, he could not be leſs than ſixteen, when Abraham ſent him and his Mother away, and was, conſequently, a Youth capable of being a Support and Aſſiſtance to her. For the Circumſtances of the World, we may obſerve, at this Time, were ſuch, that it was an eaſy Matter for any Perſon to find a ſufficient and comfortable Livelihood in it. Mankind were ſo few, that there was, in every Country, Ground to ſpare; ſo that any one, who had Flocks, or a Family, might be permitted to ſettle any where, to feed and maintain them, and ſo grow, and increaſe, and become wealthy; or Creatures in the World were ſo numerous, that a Perſon, who had no Flocks or Herds, might in the Wilderneſs, and uncultivated Grounds, (as Iſhmael we find became an Archer) find Game enough of all Sorts whereby to maintain himſelf, and his Dependants without doing any Injury, or being moleſted for ſo doing.

Iſhmael indeed had for ſixteen Years continued in Abraham's Family, and at firſt perhaps it might be diſputed, whether he or his Brother Iſaac, ſhou'd ſucceed to their Father's Inheritance: But, after that this Point was determin'd, and God himſelf had declar'd in the Favour of Iſaac, he muſt of Courſe have became Iſaac's Bond-man or Servant, had he continued in Abraham's Family. So that, it was both kindly, and prudently done of his Father, to take Occaſion from Sarah's Diſguſt againſt him, to emancipate, and ſet him free, by ſending him abroad to acquire an independent Settlement, which was all the Proviſion that Parents, in thoſe Days, cou'd make for their younger Children. 'Twas the ſame Proviſion, that his Father Abraham made for the Sons whom he afterwards had by his Wife Keturah; for ſo we are told, that he gave all that he had unto Iſaac, but unto the Sons of his Concubines he gave Gifts, and ſent them away from Iſaac his Son, Eaſtward, unto the Eaſt Country. Nay, 'twas the ſame Proviſion which Iſaac made for his Son Jacob, tho' he was the Heir of the Bleſſing. When he went from his Father's Houſe to Padan-Aran, we read of no Servants or Equipage attending him, nor any Accommodations prepar'd for his Journey. He was ſent (as we call it now a Days) to ſeek his Fortune, only inſtructed to ſeek it among his Kinsfolks and Relations; and he went to ſeek it on ſo uncertain a Foundation, that we find him moſt earneſtly praying to God to be with him in the Way he was to go, not to ſuffer him to want the Neceſſaries of Life, but to give him Bread to eat, and Raiment to put on: And yet we ſee, that, by becoming an hired Servant to Laban, he both married his Daughters, and, in a few Years became Maſter of a very conſiderable Subſtance.

It is our Miſtake in the Cuſtoms of the Times therefore, that makes us imagine, that Hagar and Iſhmael had any hard Uſage in their Ejectment. Whatever the Nature of their Offence might be, or whatever Grounds Sarah might have for her Indignation againſt them, there is no Reaſon to accuſe Abraham's Conduct in this Affair, ſince what he did was purſuant to a divine Direction, which he durſt not diſobey; was agreeable to the Practice of the Times wherein he lived; and no more than what all other Fathers, in thoſe Days, impos'd upon their younger Sons: Since the Hardſhips they ſuffer'd, were accidental, but the Benefits which accrued to them, were deſign'd: Since Abraham, by this Means, reſcued them from a State of Servitude for ever; and, according to the divine Prediction, was perſuaded, that this would be the only Expedient to make of Iſhmael a flouriſhing Nation.

And he dwelt in the Wilderneſs of Paran; and his Mother took him a Wife out of the Land of Egypt] It is very probable, ſays Pool, that Abraham did not ſuffer this his eldeſt Son, to remain long deſtitute of his Aſſiſtance; but that, on the contrary, he found him out, and afforded him ſuch Supplies, as enabled him to ſetle comfortably, wherever the Conveniency of the Soil, the Climate, and the Water, incited him to fix his Habitation. We may obſerve alſo, from his Mother's taking him a Wife out of Egypt, how natural it is for every one to love his own Country; not but there might be another Reaſon for Hagar's chuſing an Egyptian for him, rather than a Canaanite; which is, that ſhe might have learnt, whilſt in Abraham's Family, the accurſed State, and future Deſtruction of that People. We may likewiſe obſerve from hence, both the Obligation that lies upon Parents, and the Right inveſted in them, to diſpoſe of their Children in Marriage in a convenient Time; that is, unleſs the Children themſelves are not inclined to a married State; in which Caſe, we think, they ought not to oblige them to it by Compulſion.

22 And it came to paſs at that time, that Abimelech and Phichol the chief captain of his hoſt ſpake unto Abraham, ſaying, God is with thee in all that thou doeſt. 23 Now therefore ſwear unto me here by God, that thou wilt not deal falſly with me, nor with my ſon, nor with my ſons ſon: but according to the kindneſs that I have done unto thee, thou ſhalt do unto me, and to the land wherein thou haſt ſojourned. 24 And Abraham ſaid, I will ſwear. 25 And Abraham reproved Abimelech becauſe of a well of water, which Abimelechs ſervants had violently taken away. 26 And Abimelech ſaid, I wot not who hath done this thing: neither didſt thou tell me, neither yet heard I of it but to day. 27 And Abraham took ſheep, and oxen, and gave them unto Abimelech: and both of them made a covenant. 28 And Abraham ſet ſeven ew-lambs of the flock by themſelves. 29 And Abimelech ſaid unto Abraham, What mean theſe ſeven ew-lambs, which thou haſt ſet by themſelves. 30 And he ſaid, For theſe ſeven ew-lambs ſhalt thou take of my hand, that they may be a witneſs unto me, that I have digged this well. 31 Wherefore he called that place Beerſheba: becauſe there they ſware both of them. 32 Thus they made a covenant at Beer-ſheba: then Abimelech roſe up, and Phichol the chief captain of his hoſt, and they returned into the land of the Philiſtines. 33 And Abraham planted a grove in Beerſheba, and called there on the name of the Lord, the everlaſting God. 34 And Abraham ſojourned in the Philiſtines land many days.

And Abraham ſaid, I will ſwear] But how could Abraham lawfully do this, when Canaan was given to him by God, and to his Seed after him for ever? The Anſwer, given by Pool, is, that neither Abraham, nor his Seed after him, had any actual Right to the Poſſeſſion of that Land, till 350 Years after this Tranſaction; in which Time he might reaſonably ſuppoſe both Abimelech, his Son, and Grandſon, would be dead, and this Covenant was to extend no farther. It is evident, therefore, that Abraham did not hereby give away any of that Right conferred on him by God: Beſides, we find David entering into Covenant by Oath with Jonathan, ſome Time after the Lord had promiſed him the Kingdom; he took Care however, that he did not vacate by this Covenant, any of the Right to the Crown, transferred to him by God.

And Abraham reproved Abimelech, becauſe of a Well of Water, which Abimelech's Servants had violently taken away] It will not ſeem ſtrange, that Abraham ſhould look upon the loſing of a Well as a Matter of ſuch Conſequence, conſidering how ill-furniſhed theſe Eaſtern Countries were with Water; and 'twas highly prudent of him to complain of Grievances now, before he enter'd into Covenant with Abimelech, that, they being once redreſſed, there might remain no Occaſion of Quarrels afterwards.

What is here called reproving, ſeems only to have been a civil Expoſtulation, in order to ſet Things upon a right Footing; that no Diſpute might ariſe between them, upon that Head for the future.

And Abraham took Sheep and Oxen, and gave them to Abimelech; and both of them made a Covenant] This was done, partly, as an Acknowledgment of his former Favour and Friendſhip; partly, as an Aſſurance of his own ſincere Friendſhip, both at preſent, and for the future; and of his Acquieſcence in his Anſwer about the Well; and partly, for Sacrifice, and for the uſual Rite in making Covenants; which was, that the Perſons covenanting might paſs between the Pieces of the ſlain Beaſts.

And Abraham planted a Grove in Beerſheba, and called there on the Name of the Lord] Elwood has obſerved upon this Paſſage, how apt the Cuſtoms of the Places they live in, and the People they converſe with, are to ſteal, and prevail even upon good Men. Abraham had been drawn in juſt before, by a Heathen King, to ſwear; and from the Practice of the Heathens, he now plants a Grove, wherein to perform his Devotions. For that it was the Cuſtom of the Heathens to plant Groves, and therein to ſet up their Idols and Altars, will appear from the Command afterwards given to the Iſraelites, to deſtroy their Altars, break down their Images, and cut down their Groves, Exod. xxxiv. 13. to burn their Groves with Fire, Deut. xii. 3. as alſo not to plant any Groves for that Purpoſe by themſelves, Deut. xvi. 21. And when the Kings of Iſrael departed from God, they ſet up Groves; and it was one of Ahab's provoking Sins, that he made a Grove, 1 Kings xvi. 33. But, continues he, in Mitigation hereof, tho' Abraham herein follow'd the Cuſtom of the Philiſtines, amongſt whom he lived, yet the Object of his Worſhip was Jehovah, the everlaſting and true God. Thus far Mr. Elwood, and, ſays Pool, we would have allowed of his Arguments, had Abraham lived after the Promulgation of the Law; but, as the Caſe then ſtood, it was an indifferent Point; unleſs it could be proved, that, any Traditional Law forbidding it, had been tranſmitted down, from Father to Son, among the Worſhippers of the true God: But this is not to be ſuppos'd; becauſe, had any ſuch Prohibition been known, ſo excellent a Man as Abraham would not have contravened it: Nay, it is even doubtful, whether this Cuſtom had as yet prevailed amongſt the Heathens themſelves; tho' it muſt be acknowledged that it did afterwards, to a great Degree; which occaſioned the above-mentioned Prohibition.

Genesis Chap: XXII. Verse 12.

Lay not thine Hand upon the Lad, neither do thou any thing unto him: for now I know that thou fearest God seeing thou hast not withheld thy Son thine only Son from me.

Genesis Chap: XXIII. Verses 1, 19.

And Sarah was an hundred and seven and twenty Years old: and she died. And Abraham buried Sarah his Wife in the Cave of the field of Machpelah, before Mamre: the same is Hebron in the Land of Canaan.

Genesis Chap: XXIV. Verses 15, 16, 17, 18.

Behold Rebecca came out & she went down to the Well & fill'd her Pitcher and came up. And the Servant ran to meet her and said Let me I pray thee drink a little Water of thy Pitcher. And she said Drink, my Lord. I will draw Water for thy Camels also.

his Hand to give the fatal Stroke, God ſtops him ſhort by a Voice from Heaven; Abraham turning about to ſee whence it came, ſpies a Ram caught in a Thicket, which he offers inſtead of Iſaac; God renews his Covenant with Abraham; the Poſterity of his Brother Nahor.

Ver. 1. AND it came to paſs after theſe things, that God did tempt Abraham and ſaid unto him, Abraham. And he ſaid, Behold, here I am. 2 And he ſaid, Take now thy ſon, thine only ſon Iſaac, whom thou loveſt, and get thee into the land of Moriah; and offer him there for a burnt-offering upon one of the mountains which I will tell thee of. 3 And Abraham roſe up early in the morning, and ſadled his aſs, and took two of his young men with him, and Iſaac his ſon; and clave the wood for the burnt-offering, and roſe up, and went unto the place of which God had told him. 4 Then on the third day Abraham lift up his eyes, and ſaw the place afar off. 5 And Abraham ſaid unto his young men, Abide you here with the aſs; and I and the lad will go yonder and worſhip, and come again to you. 6 And Abraham took the wood of the burnt-offering, and laid it upon Iſaac his ſon; and he took the fire in his hand, and a knife; and they went both of them together. 7 And Iſaac ſpake unto Abraham his father, and ſaid, My father: and he ſaid, Here am I, my ſon. And he ſaid, Behold the fire and the wood: but where is the lamb for a burnt-offering? 8 And Abraham ſaid, My ſon, God will provide himſelf a lamb for a burnt-offering: ſo they went both of them together. 9 And they came to the place which God had told him of, and Abraham built an altar there, and laid the wood in order, and bound Iſaac his ſon, and laid him on the altar upon the wood. 10 And Abraham ſtretched forth his hand, and took the knife to ſlay his ſon. 11 And the angel of the Lord called unto him out of heaven, and ſaid, Abraham, Abraham. And he ſaid, Here am I. 12 And he ſaid, Lay not thine hand upon the lad, neither do thou any thing unto him: for now I know that thou feareſt God, ſeeing thou haſt not withheld thy ſon, thine only ſon from me. 13 And Abraham lifted up his eyes, and looked, and behold, behind him a ram caught in a thicket by his horns: and Abraham went and took the ram, and offered him up for a burnt-offering, in the ſtead of his ſon. 14 And Abraham called the name of that place Jehovah jireh: as it is ſaid to this day, In the mount of the Lord it ſhall be ſeen. 15 And the angel of the Lord called unto Abraham out of heaven the ſecond time. 16 And ſaid, By myſelf have I ſworn, ſaith the Lord, for becauſe thou haſt done this thing, and hath not withheld thy ſon, thine only ſon: 17 That in bleſſing I will bleſs thee, and in multiplying I will multiply thy ſeed as the ſtars of the heaven, and as the ſand which is upon the ſea ſhore; and thy ſeed ſhall poſſeſs the gate of his enemies. 18 And in thy ſeed ſhall all the nations of the earth be bleſſed: becauſe thou haſt obeyed my voice. 19 So Abraham returned unto his young men, and they roſe up, and went together to Beer-ſheba, and Abraham dwelt at Beer-ſheba. 20 And it came to paſs after theſe things, that it was told Abraham, ſaying, Behold Milcah, ſhe hath alſo borne children unto thy brother Nahor; 21 Huz his firſt-born, and Buz his brother, and Kemuel the father of Aram, 22 And Cheſed, and Hazo, and Pildaſh, and Jidlaph, and Bethuel. 23 And Bethuel begat Rebekah: theſe eight Milcah did bear to Nahor Abrahams bother. 24 And his concubine whoſe name was Reumah, ſhe bare alſo Tebah, and Gaham, and Thahaſh, and Maachah.

And it came to paſs after theſe Things, that God did tempt Abraham] Theſe are the Words in the Text, but God is ſaid to tempt no Man; and therefore all he could be ſuppoſed to do in this Caſe, was only to make Trial of him; and that too, not to inform himſelf of the Sincerity and Steadineſs of his Faith, but in order to the holy Patriarch's own Juſtification, and to make him an illuſtrious Pattern of an entire Dependance on the Almighty, to future Saints and Confeſſors. The Jews reckon up ten Trials of Abraham, of which the laſt was the greateſt. 1. God's Command to him to leave his Country. 2. The Famine, which forced him to go into Egypt. 3. Pharaoh's taking his Wife from him. 4. His War with the four Kings. 5. His Deſpair of having Iſaac by Sarah, and marrying Hagar on that Account. 6. His Circumciſion in his old Age. 7. His Wife's being again taken from him by Abimelech. 8. The Expulſion of Hagar, when ſhe was with Child by him. 9. His Expulſion of her, and Iſhmael. And, 10. His Oblation of his only Son Iſaac. See Biblioth. Bibl. Vol. I.

And he ſaid, Take now thy Son, thine only Son Iſaac, whom thou loveſt, and get thee into the Land of Moriah; and offer him there for a Burnt-offering, upon one of the Mountains which I will tell thee of] The better to explain, how Abraham came to know the Place, which God had appointed, the Jews have a Tradition, that when God bad him go thither, and offer his Son, he aſked how he ſhould know it? To which the Anſwer was, That wherefoever he ſhould ſee the Glory of God, that ſhould be the Place; and that, accordingly, when he came within Sight of Mount Moriah, he beheld a Pillar of Fire, reaching from the Earth to the Heavens, whereby he know that that was the Place. See Hottinger's Hiſt. Orient. P. 36.

This Mountain, whereon Abraham was order'd to offer his Son Iſaac, was certainly the ſame on which the Temple was afterwards built by Solomon, and on Part of which, viz. Mount Calvary, Chriſt did afterwards actually offer himſelf up unto God for the Redemption of Mankind: Which Offering of his, as it ſeems to have been deſignedly prefigured by the intentional Offering of Iſaac; ſo it might ſeem good to divine Reaſon to aſſign the ſame, for the typical Offering of Iſaac, where in due Time, the Antitype, our Redeemer, was to be offered. But, inſtead of Moriah, the Samaritans read Moreh, and pretend that God ſent Abraham towards Sechem, where certainly was Moreh, (Gen. xii. 6. and Deut. xi. 30.) and that it was upon Mount Gerizim, that Iſaac was brought, in order to be ſacrificed. But this, in all Probability, is no more than a Contrivance in order to inhance the Glory of their Temple. See Wells's Geogr. and Calmet's Hiſt.

Lay not thine Hand on the Lad, neither do any Thing unto him] Yet, in Heb. xi. 17. we are told, that Abraham offer'd up Iſaac, when he was tried. But this is eaſily reconcil'd, if we do but remember, that God always takes that for done, (whether in the Commiſſion of Sin, or Performance of Duty) where there is a Will and Intention to do it, ſuppoſing the Perſon to have an Opportunity. In the Beginning of the Chapter we are told, that God tempted Abraham, bidding him to go and ſacrifice his Son: But Ver. 11, 12. it is ſaid, that the Angel of the Lord forbad him to do it: From whence ſome may infer, that Abraham obey'd the Angel, who bad him ſpare his Son, againſt the Command of God, who bad him ſlay him. But, ſays Patrick, to ſolve this Difficulty (if it be thought any) we muſt obſerve that, that, whenever the Holy Scriptures tells us, that God ſaid any Thing, or that an Angel ſpake, we are always to underſtand both of them to have been preſent; for the Angels ever attend upon the Divine Majeſty, and, being his Miniſters, do nothing but by his Orders: So that when he is ſaid to ſpeak, it is by them; and when they are ſaid to ſpeak, it is from him. It is the Lord therefore that ſpeaks, whoſoever be the Miniſter. And the Speech, which God makes to Abraham upon this weighty Occaſion, the Jewiſh Hiſtorian comments upon in this Manner: 'Hold thy Hand, 'and ſpare thy Son; for I did not require it of thee, 'out of any Delight I take in human blood, or that I 'would make the Father, the Aſſaſſin of the very 'Child, whom I myſelf have given him; but to ſee 'how far thou wouldeſt ſubmit to thy God, in a 'Self-denial to thy own Inclination and Nature. But 'now, ſince I find thy Piety to be Proof againſt all 'Temptation, I do here confirm over-again to thee all 'my former Promiſes.

This Procedure of Abraham with his Son Iſaac, having in ſome Particulars been objected to, it ſeems neceſſary to vindicate his Conduct, and do Juſtice to his Character. It has been aſk'd, How Abraham was convinc'd, that the Command of ſacrificing his Son, came from God? This, ſays Stackhouſe in anſwer to the Queſtion, will beſt appear by enquiring a little into the ſeveral Ways, wherein we find God revealing himſelf to this beloved Patriarch. And, to this Purpoſe we muſt obſerve, that, at firſt, he left his own Country and Kindred, by the expreſs Command of God, and went into a ſtrange Land, which God had promis'd to give his Poſterity. We are not told, indeed, in what Manner God appear'd to him, when he gave him this Command; but we can hardly think, that a Perſon of his Gravity and Years wou'd incline to ſeek unneceſſary Adventures; nor can we imagine, why his aged Father ſhould accompany him in them, unleſs there was a manifeſt Conviction that the Call was from God.

After he had ſometime ſetled in Haran, long enough to have his Family and Fortune increas'd in it, and probably long enough to like it, God commands him thence into another ſtrange Country, in all appearance no better than that where he then was, and conſequently none of his own Option; and there appear'd to him the ſecond Time, and renewed his former Promiſe of giving him the Land, whereinto he had thus conducted him.

After this, when he was driven by Famine into Egypt, God ſufficiently manifeſted his Protection of him, by plaguing Pharaoh and his Houſe upon his Account. Upon his Return to Canaan, he renew'd his Aſſurance of giving him the promis'd Land; and then it is ſaid, that the Word of the Lord came to him in a Viſion, wherein the Promiſe of an Heir, and a numerous Poſterity, is added to that of Canaan; and, as Abraham requeſted a Sign in Confirmation of all this, ſo God was pleaſed amply to comply with his Requeſt, and, accordingly, again, he appears to him in a Viſion, repeats again the Promiſe to him, ſupports the Promiſe by a Miracle, and confirms a Covenant by Fire from Heaven, to conſume the Sacrifice which he had commanded him to offer.

Again, when Abraham was ninety Years old, God appear'd to him, and, that his Appearance was in ſome glorious viſible Form or Figure, is ſufficiently clear from the Text, which tells us, that Abraham fell upon his Face, while God convers'd with him. Here Iſaac is promis'd, and Circumciſion inſtituted, a painful hazardous Rite, which the Patriarch wou'd never have comply'd with, but from a full Conviction of a divine Command.

After this, he appear'd unto him under the Tree of Mamre, in the ſhape of a Pilgrim, and, by his whole Converſation with him, concerning the Fate and Iniquity of Sodom, diſcover'd himſelf to be God, or (to ſpeak more properly) the Meſſias in human Shape. Soon after this, he appear'd to Abimelech in Abraham's Behalf, and inflicted a Diſtemper upon his whole Houſe, which was remov'd by Abraham's Prayer; and ſoon after this, God's Promiſe of an Heir was fulfill'd in the Birth of a Son from a barren Woman, which was a Proof equivalent to a thouſand Miracles.

Once more, God commanded Abraham to comply with his Wife's Requeſt, in caſting out Hagar and her Son, tho' the Text implies, that he lov'd them both very tenderly. This was a Command ſo ſeemingly cruel and ſevere, that nothing but a full Conviction of its coming from God cou'd have exacted Abraham's Submiſſion to it: And now, after all theſe Manifeſtations of himſelf to the Patriarch, God commands him to offer up his Son Iſaac; and will any one ſay, that Abraham, by this Time, had not ſufficient Evidence that this Command was not of the ſame Original with the reſt? God had, ſome way or other, appear'd and manifeſted himſelf to him, nine Times before this Command. Twice in Viſion, twice in Miracle, twice under ſome ſenſible Appearance, and thrice in ſome Manner, not explain'd. He had given him three preceding Commands, which no Man in his Senſes cou'd obey, without full Aſſurance that they were enjoin'd from above. He had often, before this Time, call'd to him, ſpoke to him, convers'd with him, and, one Occaſion, very familiarly and long; and, as we may reaſonably ſuppoſe, that he always ſpoke with the ſame Voice, there is no Doubt to be made, but that he certainly knew that it was God, who ſpoke to him upon this Occaſion. For why ſhou'd Abraham ſuſpect that God Almighty wou'd ſuffer any evil Spirit to delude him into the greateſt and moſt irretrievable Calamity, acting in the Honeſty and Sincerity of his Heart, and from a Principle of the moſt exalted Obedience to the divine Will? In ſo long a Succeſſion of Miracles, Diſcourſes, and Appearances, he muſt have acquired as certain and perfect Knowledge of the Deity, whenever he vouchſafed to reveal himſelf to him, as another Man had of his Friend, when he hears his Voice, and converſes in his Preſence: And if Abraham was fully ſatisfied in this, his Obedience could not fail of being built upon a good Foundation.

'Tis allow'd indeed, that there is ſomething ſhocking at firſt Sight, in the Idea of a Parent's taking away the Life of his own Child; but then an expreſs Command, from a competent Authority, alters the Caſe, and makes that, which would otherwiſe be a Sin, become a Duty. It may juſtly be ſaid, that he is a barbarous Parent, who commands his Children to be beat to Death with Rods before his Eyes. — This Poſition is undoubtedly true in the general; but does it follow from hence, that the firſt Brutus was a bad Man, or a bad Parent, for commanding his Sons to be ſerv'd in this Manner, when the Duty he ow'd to his Country required it? And did Abraham owe leſs Duty to God, than Brutus owed to his Country? A Captain, who ſhould command his valiant and victorious Son to be put to Death, for exerting his Proweſs upon the Enemies of his Country, muſt ſurely be a Monſter among Men. This Poſition, laid down without any Limitation, is undoubtedly true: But will it therefore follow, that Manlius was a Monſter, tho' he put his own Son to Death for killing Geminius, General of the Latins, contrary to the Diſcipline of War? And yet it would badly become us to ſay, that the Diſcipline of War is a ſtronger Obligation, than an expreſs, poſitive, unerring Command, from the great Ruler of the World, the ſovereign Arbiter of Life and Death.

So good a Man, as Abraham is repreſented, cou'd not but antecedently be ſatisfied; that a Being of infinite Wiſdom and Goodneſs cou'd give no Command, that wou'd ultimately terminate in Calamity upon Innocence and Obedience; and therefore, when a Command of an intricate and myſterious Nature was given him, what had he to do, but to obey? He knew this Son, whom God now demanded, was given him in an extraordinary Manner, and why might he not be taken away in a Manner as extraordinary? And when he was taken away, he very well knew, that God cou'd again reſtore him in a Manner yet more extraordinary, and that raiſing him from the Grave had no more Difficulty with infinite Power, than raiſing him from the Womb of a Woman, barren at firſt, and now, by the Courſe of Nature, long paſt the Power of Conception, which makes St. Paul's Reflection a lively Comment upon the Principles of Abraham's Obedience on this Occaſion: By Faith Abraham, when he was tried, offer'd up Iſaac, and he, that had received the Promiſes, offer'd up his only begotten Son, of whom it was ſaid, that in Iſaac ſhall thy Seed be called, accounting that God was able to raiſe him up, even from the Dead, from whence alſo he receiv'd him in a Figure, Heb. xi. 17.

And this, by the Bye, ſuggeſts a Reaſon, why the holy Patriarch, who, in other Caſes, was charitable enough to intercede for the Wicked, does not ſo much as offer up one Petition for the Life of his innocent Son. He had that true Senſe of the Power and Veracity of God, that he was fully perſuaded, that the Fate of his Child, and the Tenour of God's Promiſes would, one Way or other, be made conſiſtent, and therefore he left it upon his infinite Wiſdom to find out the Means of unravelling this intricate Affair, without ever once murmuring, or making the leaſt Remonſtrance. But ſuppoſing that Abraham had taken upon him to expoſtulate with God upon this hard Injunction; yet, what could he have urged, but that the Perſon, whom he order'd him to ſlay, was his Son, his only Son, his Son whom he tenderly loved, and that he could not, without the greateſt Force upon paternal Affection, lay violent Hands upon him: But now all Pleas of this Kind were fully anticipated by the divine Command: Take now thy Son, thine only Son Iſaac, whom thou loveſt, and get thee into the Land of Moriah, and offer him there for a Burnt-offering, upon one of the Mountains, which I will tell thee of; i. e. 'notwithſtanding he is thy Son, thine only Son, and a Son 'thou haſt ſet thine Heart upon, yet muſt thou ſacrifice him unto me.'

In the Caſe of Sodom, Almighty God is repreſented as deliberating, and undetermin'd, and there Abraham's Humanity, and the Rectitude of his Mind were at Liberty, nay, were engag'd to interpoſe; but in the Caſe of his own Son, God appear'd fix'd and determin'd, and there his Humility, and the Deference due to his God, forbad him to expoſtulate. Not to ſay, that if he erred in the firſt Caſe, he knew it was the Error of an upright, a humane, and a generous Spirit; but an Error in the latter would be the Effect of Partiality and Self-intereſt; and Abraham's Heart was too honeſt, and too enlarged, to allow him in a Conduct, that could any Way fall under a Suſpicion of ſuch mean and ſordid Principles. This ſeems to vindicate the Conduct of Abraham in paying a ready Obedience to the divine Command; but then, what ſhall we ſay to the Goodneſs and Juſtice of God in impoſing it?

God indeed governs himſelf by the eternal Rules of Reaſon, and can give no Command in Contradiction to them; but then common Senſe tells us, that theſe are Rules, not of human Reaſon, but divine, and conſequently, ſuch Rules as muſt reſult from the Relation which the whole Univerſe, and all the Parts thereof, have to one another; an immenſe Compaſs and Variety of Things, which nothing, but infinite Wiſdom can comprehend! And therefore we take quite wrong Meaſures, when we eſtimate the Nature and Perfections of God from what we find in ourſelves; for as the Heavens are higher than the Earth, ſo are his Ways higher than our Ways, and his Thoughts higher than our Thoughts.

Upon the Suppoſition however, that God really intended that Abraham ſhould have taken away his Son's Life, there could have been no Injuſtice in the Injunction, ſince God, who is the Author and Giver of Life, has an undoubted Right to reſume it, when, and in what Manner he thinks fit, and his infinite Wiſdom and Goodneſs ſecure us from all Suſpicion of his taking it away arbitrarily or unlawfully: So that had the Command been actually executed, we muſt have ſuppos'd it to have been wiſe, juſt, and good, becauſe a divine Command neceſſarily implies Wiſdom, and Juſtice, and Goodneſs, in the higheſt Degree, tho' the Reaſon of that Command ſhould not appear to ſuch limited, ſhort-ſighted Creatures as we are.

But this was not the Caſe: God never intended that this Command ſhould be put in Execution. His only Purpoſe was, to make a Trial of Abraham's Obedience, not to inform himſelf in any Thing, who was omniſcient, and knew before-hand, both what was in Abraham's Heart, and how he would acquit himſelf in this important Juncture; but to make him more perfect by ſuffering, and his Example more conſpicuous, that the Trial of his Faith (as the Apoſtle words it) being much more precious than of Gold, that periſheth (tho' it be tried by Fire) might be found unto Praiſe, and Honour, and Glory; and that all future Generations, reading the Hiſtory of his Patience and Perſeverance, his Courage and Conſtancy, his Faith, and Hope, and Magnanimity, might glorify God in him, and look upon his Example as a ſhining Light, which the Hand of Providence has ſet up in the Firmament of his Church, to guide ſucceeding Saints in the intricate and arduous Paths of their Duty.

CHAP. XXIII.

The Age and Death of Sarah. Abraham purchaſes the Field and Cave of Machpelah, where he buries Sarah.

Ver. 1. AND Sarah was an hundred and ſeven and twenty years old, theſe were the years of the life of Sarah. 2 And Sarah died in Kirjath-arba; the ſame is Hebron in the land of Canaan: and Abraham came to mourn for Sarah, and to weep for her. 3 And Abraham ſtood up from before his dead, and ſpake unto the ſons of Heth, ſaying, 4 I am a ſtranger and a ſojourner with you: give me a poſſeſſion of a burying-place with you, that I may bury my dead out of my ſight. 5 And the children of Heth anſwered Abraham, ſaying unto him, 6 Hear us, my lord; thou art a mighty prince amongſt us; in the choice of our ſepulchres bury thy dead: none of us ſhall withhold from thee his ſepulchre but that thou mayeſt bury thy dead. 7 And Abraham ſtood up, and bowed himſelf to the people of the land, even to the children of Heth. 8 And he communed with them, ſaying, If it be your mind that I ſhould bury my dead out of my ſight, hear me, and intreat for me to Ephron the ſon of Zohar: 9 That he may give me the cave of Machpelah, which he hath, which is in the end of his field; for as much money as it is worth he ſhall give it me, for a poſſeſſion of a burying-place amongſt you. 10 And Ephron dwelt among the children of Heth. And Ephron the Hittite anſwered Abraham in the audience of the children of Heth, even of all that went in at the gates of his city, ſaying, 11 Nay, my lord, hear me: the field give I thee, and the cave that is therein, I give it thee: in the preſence of the ſons of my people give I it thee: bury thy dead. 12 And Abraham bowed down himſelf before the people of the land. 13 And he ſpake unto Ephron in the audience of the people of the land, ſaying, But if thou wilt give it, I pray thee hear me: I will give thee money for the field; take it of me, and I will bury my dead there. 14 And Ephron anſwered Abraham, ſaying unto him. 15 My lord, hearken unto me: the land is worth four hundred ſhekels of ſilver; what is that betwixt me and thee? bury therefore thy dead. 16 And Abraham hearkened unto Ephron, and Abraham weighed to Ephron the ſilver, which he had named in the audience of the ſons of Heth, four hundred ſhekels of ſilver, current money with the merchant. 17 And the field of Ephron, which was in Machpelah, which was before Mamre, the field and the cave which was therein, and all the trees that were in the field, that were in all the borders round about, were made ſure 18 Unto Abraham for a poſſeſſion in the preſence of the children of Heth, before all that went in at the gates of his city. 19 And after this, Abraham buried Sarah his wife in the cave of the field of Machpelah, before Mamre: the ſame is Hebron in the land of Canaan. 20 And the field and the cave that is therein were made ſure unto Abraham for a poſſeſſion of a burying-place, by the ſons of Heth.

And Sarah died in Kirjath-arba, the ſame is Hebron in the Land of Canaan] Some of the Arabian Writers tell us, ſays Calmet, that, when Sarah heard that Abraham had taken her only Son into the Mountain, to ſacrifice to God, ſhe fell into a very great Agony, which brought on a Fit of Sickneſs, whereof ſhe died. Eutychii Annal. P. 74. Joſephus indeed informs us, that ſhe died ſoon after this Event; but if (he ſays) Iſaac was five and twenty Years old, when his Father would have ſacrificed him, Sarah was ninety Years old when ſhe bore him, and 125 when ſhe died, ſhe muſt (according to his own Calculation) have lived eleven or twelve Years after it; and this our learned Uſher, makes the Difference betwixt his Sacrifice and her Death.

There is ſome Obſcurity in this Paſſage of the Hiſtory. Sarah is ſaid to have died at Hebron, and yet we have no Notice of Abraham removing from Beerſheba to that Place; ſo that, upon ſome Occaſion or other, we muſt ſuppoſe them to have been parted, and that Sarah went to Hebron, while Abraham kept ſtill in his own Habitation: For to ſay that Abraham came from his own Tent to that of his Wife's, to make Lamentation for her, is not conſiſtent with the Sequel of the Text.

And Abraham came to mourn for Sarah, and to weep for her] What the Rites of Mourning for the Dead, in thoſe Days, were, 'tis hard to determine, becauſe we have no Particulars of it recorded in Scripture. From the ſubſequent Practice however we may infer, that they ſhut themſelves up from Company, neglected the Care of their Bodies, and abſtained from their ordinary Food. They faſted, and lay upon the Ground; they wept, tore their Cloaths, ſmote their Breaſts, went barefoot, and pull'd off their Hair and Beards. The Time of Mourning was uſually for ſeven Days; but it was commonly lengthen'd or ſhorten'd, according to the State or Circumſtances wherein they found themſelves: And, during this Period, they did not dreſs themſelves, or make their Beds, nor cover their Heads, nor ſhave themſelves, nor cut their Nails, nor go into the Bath, nor ſalute any Body, nay, nor ſo much as read the Book of the Law, or ſay their uſual Prayers. See Patrick's Com. and Calmet on the Word Mourning.

In the Choice of our Sepulchres bury thy Dead] Here, ſays Pool, we may obſerve the great Humanity of the Children of Heth, tho' they were Heathens, and the Offſpring of the curſed Canaan, in offering Abraham the Choice of their Sepulchres; whereas, amongſt us, who call ourſelves Chriſtians, there is not a Grave to be had, without paying for it before-hand, and that, in many Places, unreaſonably too.

Entreat for me to Ephron, the Son of Zoar, that he may give me the Cave of Machpelah, — for as much Money as it is worth] Obſerve, ſays the ſame Author, that, notwithſtanding God had given Abraham a Right to the Land of Canaan, he did not think that ſufficient to authorize his taking Poſſeſſion of the leaſt Part thereof at the preſent; neither would he accept of ſo much as a Burying-place, without giving the full Worth thereof, and having it made ſure to him, according to the Form then in Uſe amongſt that People: So cautious was he of giving any Umbrage, or bringing any Scandal upon the true Religion. An Example, well worthy the Imitation of many Chriſtians, who ſcruple no Injuſtice, to get Poſſeſſion of Eſtates, to which they have no manner of Title!

The Cave of Machpelah, the LXX, and the vulgar Latin tranſlate a double Cave, and it muſt be owned the Hebrew Word may be ſo underſtood; but then no ſmall Difficulty has occurred as to the Meaning of this; whether it were one Cave through which Men paſſed into another, or, as it is generally acknowledged, that Cave is to be taken in this Place for a Vault, whether we are not to underſtand thereby one Vault over another. Our Tranſlation renders the Hebrew Word itſelf, as if it were a proper Name; and indeed there are ſome good Reaſons for ſo underſtanding it; for the Field ſpoken of afterwards, is called the Field of Machpelah, and certainly it would be ſtraining the Text, to ſuppoſe it was a Field with a double Cave.

And Ephron the Hittite anſwered Abraham, in the Audience of the Children of Heth, even all that went in at the Gates of his City] The Gates of Cities, in thoſe Days, and for many Ages after, were the Places of Judicature, and common Reſort. Here the Governors and Elders of the City met to hear Complaints, adminiſter Juſtice, make Conveyances of Titles and Eſtates, and, in ſhort, to tranſact all the publick Affairs of the Place: And from hence is that Paſſage in the Pſalmiſt, They ſhall not be aſhamed, when they ſpeak to the Enemies in the Gate, Pſ. cxxvii. ult. i. e. when they are accuſed by them before a Court of Magiſtrates. It is probable that the Room, or Hall, where the Magiſtrates ſat, was over the Gate, becauſe Boaz is ſaid to go up to the Gate; and the Reaſon of having it built there, ſeems to have been for the Conveniency of the Inhabitants, who, being all Huſbandmen, and forced to paſs and repaſs every Morning and Evening, as they went, and came from their Labour, might be more eaſily call'd, as they went by, whenever they were wanted to appear in any Buſineſs. So that, from the Whole it appears, that Abraham could not have made this Purchaſe from Ephron, without his having Recourſe to the City Gates. See Univerſ. Hiſt. L. 1. C. 7.

Even in the moſt early Ages, Funerals and Interments were managed with much Ceremony, and great Care was taken of the Sepulchres of the Dead. We cannot ſuppoſe that Ephron, the Hittite, had buried any Corpſe of his Family in this Cave or Vault, which the Patriarch bought, ſince it is highly improbable, a Man ſhould refuſe to make Uſe of any Sepulchre which he might have choſen, and, at the ſame Time, purchaſe one which had Bodies in it already. The whole of this Narration clearly proves, that uſeful Policy, and neceſſary Aſſurance in Mens Properties, were then well eſtabliſhed in the World; as to the Value of the Land, it was, it ſeems, four hundred Shekels of Silver, which, according to Bp Cumberland's Computation, amounted to forty two Pounds, ſeven Shillings, and eleven Pence of our Money; and, according to the late Dean Prideaux's Calculation, juſt ſixty Pounds.

Abraham buried Sarah his Wife in the Cave of the Field of Machpelah] It is an Obſervation of all thoſe who have written about the Sepulchres of the Antients, that their Dormitories, or Burying-places, were never in Cities, much leſs in Temples or Churches, but always in the Fields or Gardens. The Uſe of Grottos or Vaults is certainly very antient. See Biblioth. Bibl. Vol. I.

Abraham being grown old, thinks of providing a Wife for his Son Iſaac; to which Purpoſe he firſt exacts an Oath of, and then inſtructs his Servant Eliezer, what to do. Eliezer goes to the City of Nahor, and is directed by Providence to Rebekah, the Daughter of Bethuel, Abraham's Abraham's Kinſman; his Succeſs, and Return; the firſt Meeting of Iſaac and Rebekah, after which he marries her.

Ver. 1. AND Abraham was old and well ſtricken in age: and the Lord had bleſſed Abraham in all things. 2 And Abraham ſaid unto his eldeſt ſervant of his houſe, that ruled over all that he had, Put I pray thee, thy hand under my thigh. 3 And I will make thee ſwear by the Lord, the God of heaven and the God of the earth, that thou ſhalt not take a wife unto my ſon of the daughters of the Canaanites amongſt whom I dwell: 4 But thou ſhalt go unto my country, and to my kindred, and take a wife unto my ſon Iſaac. 5 And the ſervant ſaid unto him, Peradventure the woman will not be willing to follow me unto this land: muſt I needs bring thy ſon again unto the land from whence thou cameſt? 6 And Abraham ſaid unto him, Beware thou, that thou bring not my ſon thither again. 7 The Lord God of heaven which took from me my fathers houſe, and from the land of my kindred, and which ſpake unto me, and that ſware unto me, ſaying, Unto thy ſeed will I give this land; he ſhall ſend his angel before thee, and thou ſhalt take a wife unto my ſon from thence. 8 And if the woman will not be willing to follow thee, then thou ſhalt be clear from this my oath: only bring not my ſon thither again. 9 And his ſervant put his hand under the thigh of Abraham his maſter, and ſware to him concerning that matter. 10 And the ſervant took ten camels, of the camels of his maſter, and departed (for all the goods of his maſter were in his hand:) and he aroſe, and went to Meſopotamia, unto the city of Nahor. 11 And he made his camels to kneel down without the city, by a well of water, at the time of the evening, even the time that women go out to draw water. 12 And he ſaid, O Lord God of my maſter Abraham, I pray thee ſend me good ſpeed this day, and ſhew kindneſs unto my maſter Abraham. 13 Behold, I ſtand here by the well of water, and the daughters of the men of the city come out to draw water: 14 And let it come to paſs, that the damſel to whom I ſhall ſay, Let down thy pitcher, I pray thee, that I may drink; and ſhe ſhall ſay, Drink, and I will give thy camels drink alſo: let the ſame be ſhe that thou haſt appointed for thy ſervant Iſaac; and thereby ſhall I know that thou haſt ſhewed kindneſs unto my maſter. 15 And it came to paſs before he had done ſpeaking, that behold, Rebekah came out, who was born to Bethuel ſon of Milcah the wife of Nahor Abrahams brother, with her pitcher upon her ſhoulder. 16 And the damſel was very fair to look upon, a virgin, neither had any man known her: and ſhe went down to the well, and filled her pitcher, and came up. 17 And the ſervant ran to meet her, and ſaid, Let me, (I pray thee) drink a little water of thy pitcher. 18 And ſhe ſaid, Drink, my lord: and ſhe haſted, and let down her pitcher upon her hand, and gave him drink. 19 And when ſhe had done giving him drink, ſhe ſaid, I will draw water for thy camels alſo, until they have done drinking. 20 And ſhe haſted, and emptied her pitcher into the trough, and ran again unto the well to draw water, and drew for all his camels. 21 And the man wondring at her, held his peace, to wit whether the Lord had made his journey proſperous, or not. 22 And it came to paſs as the camels had done drinking, that the man took a golden ear-ring, of half a ſhekel weight, and two bracelets for her hands, of ten ſhekels weight of gold: 23 And ſaid, Whoſe daughter art thou? tell me, I pray thee: is there room in thy fathers houſe for us to lodge in? 24 And ſhe ſaid unto him, I am the daughter of Bethuel the ſon of Milcah, which ſhe bare unto Nahor. 25 She ſaid moreover unto him, We have both ſtraw and provender enough, and room to lodge in. 26 And the man bowed down his head, and worſhipped the Lord. 27 And he ſaid, Bleſſed be the Lord God of my maſter Abraham, who hath not left deſtitute my maſter of his mercy and his truth: I being in the way, the Lord led me to the houſe of my maſters brethren. 28 And the damſel ran, and told them of her mothers houſe theſe things. 29 And Rebekah had a brother, and his name was Laban: and Laban ran out unto the man, unto the well. 30 And it came to paſs when he ſaw the ear-ring and bracelets upon his ſiſters hands, and when he heard the words of Rebekah his ſiſter, ſaying, Thus ſpake the man unto me; that he came unto the man, and behold, he ſtood by the camels at the well. 31 And he ſaid, Come in, thou bleſſed of the Lord, wherefore ſtandeth thou without? for I have prepared the houſe, and room for the camels. 32 And the man came into the houſe: and he ungirded his camels, and gave ſtraw and provender for the camels and water to waſh his feet, and the mens feet that were with him. 33 And there was ſet meat before him to eat: but he ſaid, I will not eat, until I have told mine errand. And he ſaid, ſpeak on. 34 And he ſaid, I am Abrahams ſervant. 35 And the Lord hath bleſſed my maſter greatly, and he is become great: and he hath given him flocks, and herds, and ſilver, and gold, and man-ſervants, and maid-ſervants, and camels, and aſſes. 36 And Sarah my maſters wife bare a ſon to my maſter when ſhe was old: and unto him hath he given all that he hath. 37 And my maſter made me ſwear, ſaying, Thou ſhalt not take a wife to my ſon of the daughters of the Canaanites in whoſe land I dwell: 38 But thou ſhalt go unto my fathers houſe, and to my kindred, and take a wife unto my ſon. 39 And I ſaid unto my maſter, Peradventure the woman will not follow me. 40 And he ſaid unto me, The Lord before whom I walk, will ſend his angel with thee, and proſper thy way; and thou ſhalt take a wife for my ſon of my kindred, and of my fathers houſe. 41 Then ſhalt thou be clear from this my oath, when thou cometh to my kindred; and if they give not thee one, thou ſhalt be clear from my oath. 42 And I came this day unto the well, and ſaid, O Lord God of my maſter Abraham, if now thou do proſper my way which I go: 43 Behold, I ſtand by the well of water, and it ſhall come to paſs, that when the virgin cometh forth to draw water, and I ſay to her, Give me, I pray thee, a little water of thy pitcher to drink; 44 And ſhe ſay to me, Both drink thou, and I will alſo draw for thy camels: let the ſame be the woman whom the Lord hath appointed out for my maſters ſon. 45 And before I had done ſpeaking in mine heart, Behold, Rebekah came forth with her pitcher on her ſhoulder; and ſhe went down into the well, and drew water: and I ſaid unto her, Let me drink, I pray thee. 46 And ſhe made haſte, and let down her pitcher from her ſhoulder, and ſaid, Drink, and I will give thy camels drink alſo: ſo I drank, and ſhe made the camels drink alſo. 47 And I aſked her, and ſaid, Whoſe daughter art thou? And ſhe ſaid, The daughter of Bethuel, Nahors ſon, whom Milcah bare unto him: and I put the ear-ring upon her face, and the bracelets upon her hands. 48 And I bowed down my head, and worſhipped the Lord, and bleſſed the Lord God of my maſter Abraham, which had led me in the right way to take my maſters brothers daughter unto his ſon. 49 And now if ye will deal kindly and truly with my maſter, tell me: and if not, tell me; that I may turn to the right hand, or to the left. 50 Then Laban and Bethuel anſwered and ſaid, the thing proceedeth from the Lord: we cannot ſpeak unto thee bad or good. 51 Behold, Rebekah is before thee, take her, and go, and let her be thy maſters ſons wife, as the Lord hath ſpoken. 52 And it came to paſs, that when Abrahams ſervant heard their words, he worſhipped the Lord, bowing himſelf to the earth. 53 And the ſervant brought forth jewels of ſilver, and jewels of gold, and raiment, and gave them to Rebekah: He gave alſo to her brother and to her mother precious things. 54 And they did eat and drink, he and the men that were with him, and tarried all night: and they roſe up in the morning, and he ſaid, Send me away unto my maſter. 55 And her brother and her mother ſaid, Let the damſel abide with us a few days, at the leaſt ten; after that ſhe ſhall go. 56 And he ſaid unto them, Hinder me not, ſeeing the Lord hath proſpered my way: ſend me away that I may go to my maſter. 57 And they ſaid, We will call the damſel, and enquire at her mouth. 58 And they called Rebekah, and ſaid unto her, Wilt thou go with this man? And ſhe ſaid, I will go. 59 And they ſent away Rebekah their ſiſter, and her nurſe, and Abrahams ſervant, and his men. 60 And they bleſſed Rebekah, and ſaid unto her, Thou art our ſiſter, be thou the mother of thouſands of millions, and let thy ſeed poſſeſs the gate of thoſe which hate them. 61 And Rebekah aroſe, and her damſels, and they rode upon the camels, and followed the man: and the ſervant took Rebekah, and went his way. 62 And Iſaac came from the way of the well Lahai-roi; for he dwelt in the ſouth country. 63 And Iſaac went out to meditate in the field at the even-tide: and he lift up his eyes, and ſaw, and behold the camels were coming. 64 And Rebekah lift up her eyes, and when ſhe ſaw Iſaac, ſhe lighted off the camel. 65 For ſhe had ſaid unto the ſervant, What man is this that walketh in the field to meet us? And the ſervant had ſaid, It is my maſter: therefore ſhe took a vail and covered herſelf. 66 And the ſervant told Iſaac all things that he had done. 67 And Iſaac brought her into his mother Sarahs tent, and took Rebekah, and ſhe became his wife; and he loved her: and Iſaac was comforted after his mothers death.

And Abraham ſaid unto his eldeſt Servant — Put, I pray thee, thy Hand under my Thigh, and I will make thee ſwear by the Lord, the God of Heaven —] The Form, in which Eliezer took his Oath, ſays Ainſworth, was, we are told, by putting his Hand under his Maſter's Thigh. This is the firſt Time we read of that Ceremony, which was afterwards uſed by Jacob and Joſeph, when they were a dying; and the Oddneſs of it has inclined ſome judicious Authors to think, that it implies a more ſolemn Myſtery than Men are aware of. Some ſuppoſe that it was ſwearing by the Meſſias, (who was to come out of Abraham's Loins or Thigh, Gen. xlvi. 26.) others, by the Covenant of Circumciſion, the Part circumciſed being near the Thigh: But the moſt probable Conjecture is, — That, as it could not well be done, but in a kneeling Poſture, ſo it was a Token of Subjection and Homage from a Servant to his Lord, he ſitting, and his Servant putting his Hand under him; and thereby implicitly declaring, I am under your Power, and ready to do whatever you ſhall think fit to command me. The Cuſtom however afterwards in Swearing was, to lift up the Hand to Heaven, (Gen. xiv. 22.) and upon account of both theſe Ceremonies, the Greek Word Orkos, which ſignifies an Oath, is ſuppos'd to be deriv'd from the Hebrew Jereck, a Thigh; as the Word omnuo, to ſwear, is ſuppos'd to come from the Hebrew Word Jamin, which is the Right Hand.

Thou ſhalt not take a Wife unto my Son of the Daughters of the Canaanites amongſt whom I live; but thou ſhalt go unto my Country, and to my Kindred] Not, ſays Grotius, but that Laban and his Family were Idolaters, as well as the Canaanites, but then he was much better than they, becauſe he ſtill retain'd the Worſhip of the true God, as appears from the Sequel of the Hiſtory, tho' blended and corrupted with very groſs Mixtures and Additions of his own, whereas the Canaanites had utterly revolted from it.

And the Servant put his Hand under the Thigh of Abraham, his Maſter, and ſwore, &c.] Here, ſays Pool, we may obſerve the ready and punctual Obedience of the good Servant, as ſoon as he had learned that the Conditions of the Oath were no more than he might eaſily perform; as alſo his great Fidelity, which is evident from the entire Confidence repoſed in him by his Lord, and from his whole Behaviour on this Occaſion.

Rebekah came out with her Pitcher upon her Shoulder] Great was the Simplicity and Humility of theſe early Days, ſays Howell, when Perſons of the beſt Rank, and of the Female-Sex too, did not diſdain to be employ'd in ſuch ſervile Offices: Thus, in the following Age, Jacob found his Couſin Rachel watering her Father's Sheep; and, ſeveral Ages after that, the ſeven Daughters of Jethro, who was a Prince, as well as a Prieſt of Midian, kept their Father's Flocks, and uſed to draw Water for the Cattle. So well has our Author expreſs'd that Simplicity of Manners, which we may obſerve in Homer, or Heſiod, or any of the moſt antient Writers.

The Man took a golden Ear-ring of half a Shekel Weight, and two Bracelets for her Hands, of ten Shekels Weight of Gold] Commentators do not agree as to the Jewel here mentioned; ſome, following the Greek Tranſlation, ſuppoſe, that he gave her Ear-rings; but the Hebrew Word Nezem, here made uſe of, is in the Singular, and therefore cannot properly be ſo rendered; wherefore, others have been of Opinion, that it was a Female Ornament which hung upon the Forehead, between the Eyes, which is not only a more exact Tranſlation of the Word, but alſo agrees better with what is ſaid afterwards, Ver. 47. And I put the Jewel on her Face, and the Bracelets on her Hands. As to the Weight of this Ornament, it is expreſly ſaid to have been a Bekah, or half a Shekel, which, according to Bp Cumberland's Calculation, was about a quarter of an Ounce Averdupoize, or 109, 5 Grains, Troy Weight. In Value, by Dr. Arbuthnot's Tables, Eighteen Shillings and three-pence of our Money. The Bracelets are ſaid, by the ſacred Writer, to have been ten Shekels Weight, and, according to the forementioned Authorities, amounted amounted to eighteen Pounds five Shillings, the Proportion of Gold to Silver being esteemed as sixteen to one, and Silver being valued at five Shillings an Ounce.

Whose Daughter art thou] We may observe, says Pool, that the Servant, after having diligently observed her, and finding in her all the Accomplishments he could wish for, in her whom he was to chuse as a Wife for his Master's Son, proceeds next to enquire who she is; and hearing she was of the very Family from whence he was to take Isaac's destin'd Spouse, he makes her suitable Presents: For we are not to imagine, notwithstanding the making her these Presents is mentioned before his enquiring who she is, but that the Enquiry was first made, as we find, Ver. 47. the Value of these Things being about nineteen Pounds: A Sum in those Days equal to two hundred now.

And he said, Come in thou blessed of the Lord] By Laban's calling the Servant, thou blessed of the Lord, it is evident his Family worshipped the true God, tho' not with that Purity which the Lord requires of his Servants; since they either worshipped Idols together with him, or worshipped him under the Form of an Idol, as we shall see hereafter.

And the Lord hath blessed my Master greatly] Note, that Riches were then, as they are now, a great Inducement to Mankind to grant their Alliance; accordingly we find Abraham's Servant giving an Account of his Master's great Wealth, before he communicates the Demand he had to make, as thinking that would induce Rebecca's Relations the more easily to grant their Consent.

And Sarah, my Master's Wife, bore a Son to my Master when he was old; and unto him he hath given all that he hath] But how can Abraham be said to give Isaac all he had, when he married afterwards, and had several Children, to whom he gave Portions? Undoubtedly, says Pool, it is to be understood in a limited Sense, in two Respects; as that he intended to give him, in a Manner, all he had at his Decease; for it is not to be supposed but he reserved to himself the Use and Enjoyment thereof during his own Life, as also the Power of giving away what Part thereof he thought proper, as we find he did afterwards to his other Sons.

Then Laban and Bethuel answered] This Bethuel cou'd not be her Father, because, had he been so, it wou'd have been improper to have had Laban, either nam'd before him, or giving Answer to Abraham's Messenger, when his Father was by; and therefore, since Josephus makes the Damsel tell Eliezar, that her Father had been dead long ago, and that she was left to the Care of her Brother Laban, this Bethuel, who is here nam'd after Laban, and is never more taken Notice of during the whole Transaction, must have been some younger Brother of the Family. See Univers. Hist. L. 1. C. 7.

The Mention made in the Text of Bethuel's giving his Consent unto the Marriage, has created no small Perplexity to the Hebrew Expositors; some have not scrupled to accuse Laban of Disrespect to his Father, for presuming to interfere so much in his Presence. Others incline to think, this Bethuel the Brother, not the Father, of Rebecca; in which Conjecture there is not wanting some Degree of Probability. A third Party are of Opinion, that, in those Days, the Consent of Brothers was rather asked than of Parents; perhaps, because if any Inconveniencies follow'd from an injudicious Match, they would rather affect Brethren, who were Cotemporaries, than Parents, who according to the Course of Nature, were not likely to live so long. In support of this Notion, the 7th Verse of the xxxivth Chapter of Genesis has been quoted, together with some other Texts. To speak plainly, little can be with any Certainty advanced from the Method wherein Things are mentioned in Scripture; and this Dispute does not appear of Moment enough to engage us in a long Detail of Arguments and Proofs, on the several Explanations offered. Josephus is express on this Head: He asserts Bethuel the Father to have been dead, long before the coming of Eliezar into that Country; but then it must be owned, that this Author has, in other Points of this History, deviated so far from Scripture, out of an overweening Fondness of adapting his Writings to the Taste of the Age wherein he lived, that less Regard is due to what he says in this Respect. Wherefore this Verse will remain, not a little, obscure, notwithstanding all that can be said about it.

And her Brother and her Mother said, Let the Damsel abide with us a few Days, at the least ten] It is certain there was such a Custom, in the more early Ages of the World, as retaining a Woman in her Parents House, for some Time after her being espoused, in order that she might be the better provided in Garments, and, perhaps, be thoroughly instructed in the Duties incident to the married State; but the Time assigned for this Purpose by Commentators, viz. an whole Year, seems a great deal too much, and cannot be, in any Degree, supported by this Passage, as it stands in the sacred Text. Our Version of the Bible has it thus, Gen. xxiv. 55. Let the Damsel abide with us a few Days, (in the Margin, a full Year) at the least ten; (in the Margin, ten Months) after that she shall go. The Heberew, literally translated, would stand thus; Let the Damsel abide with us Days, at least ten; after that she shall go. It is probable, indeed, that ten Days was much less than the Time allowed in such Cases; but then it is as probable also, that the Relations of Rebecca would ask but a small Time, and not insist on such a Space as a Year, or ten Months, considering the Circumstances of Things. In fine, the Difficulty chiefly lies in the Word Jamim, which sometimes is understood to signify a Year; but it is also used in Scripture to express Days only, as in Nehem. i. 4. where it cannot be taken in any other Sense. Since, then, its Meaning is so ambiguous as to be determined only by the Context, we ought certainly to understand it here of Days only; which makes the whole Narration clear and uniform, and is not liable to any material Objection.

And they sent away Rebekah their Sister, and her Nurse] We are told hereafter, that her Nurse's Name was Deborah, and in all Probability she was a Dry-Nurse, who took Care of Rebekah in her Infancy; and therefore, accordingly to a very humane and rational Practice, common in antient Times, was maintained and respected by her Mistress throughout the rest of her Life. This Deborah lived many Years in Isaac's Family, as we shall see in the Course of the History. The Maidens, that went with her, were in the Nature of a Dowry, and are a manifest Proof that the Family of Nahor was rich, according to what was esteemed Riches in those Days; and therefore Rebekah's fetching Water was the Effect of Education, and agreeable to the Simplicity of Manners which then reigned, not the Result of any Necessity or Want of Servants.

And Isaac came from the Way of the Well Lahai-roi, for he dwelt in the South Country. And Isaac went out to meditate in the Field, at the Even-Tide] The Jerusalem Targum has a very extraordinary Gloss upon this Passage, viz. 'Isaac came from the School of Shem the 'Great, unto the Well where the Majesty of the 'Lord was seen'. It is very true, that Shem, the Son of Noah, was then alive; but that he was the same Person with Melchisedeck and the Schoolmaster of Isaac, we think highly improbable. The plain natural Sense of this Passage seems to be, that Isaac, after the Time of Evening-Sacrifice, was wont to walk out and contemplate in the Fields; and that, as he was thus employed, he cast his Eyes upwards, and beheld Rebekah and her Company, when they were at some Distance.

Therefore she took a Veil and covered herself] The Use of the Veil was the universal Practice among all Nations, as far as History can inform us, except the Spartans, who are reported to have been singular, in that their Virgins were permitted to appear without a Veil, but, after they were married, they were never seen in Publick without it. It was from this Practice of veiling the Bride, when she was brought to the Bridegroom, in Token both of Modesty and Subjection, that the Presents, which he made her upon this Occasion were, by the Greeks called the Wife's Jointure, or Settlement: And thus the Poets, in celebrating the Marriage of Proſerpine to Pluto, have this Fiction — That upon unveiling his Bride he preſented her with the Iſland of Sicily. See Biblioth Bibl. Vol. 1.

Modeſty, ſays another Author upon this Paſſage, has, in all Ages, been eſteemed the chief Ornament of the Female-Sex; but the Appearance of it has ever been kept up more ſtrictly in the Eaſt than elſewhere; and the very Thing, here related of Rebecca, is to this Day practiſed not only in the Countries mentioned in Scripture, but alſo in Barbary, where Women ſtir not out without Veils or Cloaks, which cover them totally, and have only a Hole left in them, for an Eye to ſee out of.

And Iſaac brought her into his Mother Sarah's Tent] As Abraham ſeems to have declared Iſaac, not only his Heir, but alſo to have transferred to him his Authority, even in his Life-time, we need not wonder at the young Man's leading his Wife into the Tent of his Mother, and thereby ſharing with her his Riches and Poſſeſſions, as Sarah had formerly ſhared them with Abraham. As to Iſaac's ceaſing, after his Marriage, to mourn longer for his Mother, ſome refer it to his wearing a Mourning Habit, which from this Time, they ſay, he threw aſide. Another of the Hebrew Doctors reaſons thus: 'From hence thou mayeſt learn, that, until a 'Man take a Wife, his Affection follows his Parents. But, 'when he hath taken a Wife, his Love is transferred 'unto her; as it is ſaid, Therefore ſhall a Man leave 'his Father and his Mother, and cleave unto his Wife.'

It may ſeem a little ſtrange, that upon ſo ſingular an Occaſion, (as that of Iſaac's bringing home his Wife) no Mention ſhould be made of Abraham, who was a principal Party concern'd herein; but for this ſome account by ſuppoſing that Abraham, before this, had married Keturah, tho', (not to break in with his Son's Marriage, the Hiſtory relates it later) and reſign'd his Eſtate, and the Government of his Family into the Hands of Iſaac, chuſing to live the Remainder of his Days in Retirement with his new Conſort.

Ver. 1. THEN again Abraham took a wife, and her name was Keturah. 2 And ſhe bare him Zimran, and Jokſhan, and Medan, and Midian, and Iſhbak, and Shuah. 3 And Jokſhan begat Sheba, and Dedan. And the ſons of Dedan were Aſſhurim, and Letuſhim, and Leummim. 4 And the ſons of Midian; Ephah, and Epher, and Hanoch, and Abidah, and Eldaah. All theſe were the children of Keturah. 5 And Abraham gave all that he had unto Iſaac. 6 But unto the ſons of the concubines which Abraham had, Abraham gave gifts, and ſent them away from Iſaac his ſon (while he yet lived) eaſtward, unto the eaſt-country. 7 And theſe are the days of the years of Abrahams life which he lived, an hundred threeſcore and fifteen years. 8 Then Abraham gave up the ghoſt, and died in a good old age, an old man, and full of years; and was gathered to his people. 9 And his ſons, Iſaac and Iſhmael, buried him in the cave of Machpelah, in the field of Ephron the ſon of Zohar, the Hittite, which is before Mamre; 10 The field which Abraham purchaſed of the ſons of Heth: there was Abraham buried, and Sarah his wife.

Then again Abraham took a Wife, and her Name was Keturah] Keturah, is ſuppos'd, by ſome Jewiſh Interpreters, to be the ſame with Hagar, whom Abraham, after his Wife's Death, ſent for again, and by her had all the ſix Sons here mention'd: But, beſides that Hagar muſt, by this Time, have been above 80 Years of Age, and, conſequently, too old to bear ſo many Children, the Text itſelf ſeems to be againſt this Suppoſition; for it informs us, that Abraham added, or proceeded to take another Wife, which is a different Thing to his recalling his old one. The more probable Opinion therefore is, that this Keturah was a Domeſtick of his own, a Canaanite perhaps whom he had converted to the true Religion: But then the Difficulty is, how Abraham cou'd diſpoſe of ſo many Sons, in ſo ſhort a Space, as that which interven'd between his Wife's and his own Death. To ſolve this, ſome have ſuppos'd, that this Keturah became his Wife, i. e. Wife of the ſecond Order, long before the Death of Sarah, even immediately after he parted with Hagar; but then this Suppoſition is contrary to the Senſe of the Original; and therefore, if we have a Mind to adhere to that, we muſt ſay, that Abraham's living almoſt forty Years after Sarah's Death, gave him Time enough to diſpoſe of the Sons begotten of Keturah, as the Renovation of his Strength, which was certainly miraculous, (for forty Years before, he is ſaid to have been dead to all ſuch Purpoſes, Rom. vi. 19.) enabled him to beget them. See Calmet, Ainſworth, and Univerſ. Hiſt.

And ſhe bare him Zimran, &c.] The Footſteps we find of theſe in Hiſtory (according to the beſt Conjectures) are ſuch as follw. From Zimran, in all Probability, were deſcended the Zamarenes, a People mentioned by Pliny. From Sheba, the Sabeans, mentioned in Job i. 15. From Dedan, the Dedanim, mentioned in Iſaiah xx. 13. From Midian, the Midianites, mentioned in ſeveral Places. From Shuah, the Shuites, mentioned in Job ii. 11. From Ephah, was a Town of the ſame Name, mentioned by Iſaiah lx. 6. From Hanock, a Country call'd Cananna, mentioned by Pliny. And (to name no more) from Medan, a Country call'd Mediana, in which is the famous City of Mecca, where Mahomet was born. See Bedford's Chron. and Wells's Geogr. of the O. T.

Then Abraham gave up the Ghoſt] This Account of Abraham's Death, ſays Lightfoot, is given by Way of Anticipation; for when the Text has recited his Sons, and their Settlements, it brings him, and Iſhmael, to their Graves; not that they died before the Birth of his two Grandſons, Jacob and Eſau, as the Text has plac'd Things, (for Abraham lived till they were fifteen Years old, and Iſhmael till they were ſixty-three) but, having no more to ſay of the Father and Son, Moſes here concludes their Hiſtory at once.

And his Sons Iſaac and Iſhmael buried him] Hence it is very probable, that Iſhmael was at laſt reſtored to Abraham's Favour, and that he ſhared now, at leaſt, in the Portions which that Patriarch diſtributed to his Sons.

11 And it came to paſs after the death of Abraham, that God bleſſed his ſon Iſaac: and Iſaac dwelt by the well Lahai-roi. 12 Now theſe are the generations of Iſhmael, Abrahams ſon, whom Hagar the Egyptian, Sarahs handmaid, bare unto Abraham. 13 And theſe are the names of the ſons of Iſhmael by their names, according to their generations: The firſt-born of Iſhmael, Nebajoth; and Kedar, and Abdeel, and Mibſam, 14 And Miſhma, and Dumah, and Maſſa, 15 Hadar, and Tema, Jetur, Naphiſh, and Kedemah. 16 Theſe are the ſons of Iſhmael, and theſe are their names, by their towns, and by their caſtles; twelve princes according to their nations. 17 And theſe are the years of the the life of Iſhmael, an hundred and thirty and ſeven years; and he gave up the ghoſt and died, and was gathered unto his people. 18 And they dwelt from Havilah unto Shur, that is before Egypt, as thou goeſt towards Aſſyria: and he died in the preſence of all his brethren.

And theſe are the Names of the Sons of Iſhmael — Nebajoth, &c.] And as theſe Deſcendants were, from their Father, denominated by the common Name of Iſhmaelites; ſo, from Hagar, the Mother of Iſhmael, they are alſo called Hagarens, or Hagarites, under which Name we find ſome Footſteps of them in Heathen Authors; but certain it is, that the Arabians do, to this very Day, value themſelves upon their being deſcended from Iſhmael.

And theſe are the Years of the Life of Iſhmael, an hundred and thirty and ſeven Years; and he gave up the Ghoſt] The Jews have obſerved from hence, ſays Pool, that the Manner, in which his Death is recorded in Scripture, is a ſtrong Teſtimony that he died in the true Faith; and are fully perſuaded, that he was accordingly accepted of God; ſince the ſame Expreſſion is made Uſe of in the Relation thereof, as had been before uſed of the Deceaſe of Abraham, which Expreſſion they likewiſe obſerve is never uſed, but of good Men.

And he died in the Preſence of all his Brethren] The Words here tranſlated, and he died, may, ſays Pool, as well be tranſlated, and he fell, in the Preſence of all his Brethren; this Verb in the Hebrew being moſt commonly uſed concerning a Lot, whereby Mens Portions are deſigned and divided; and we think it ought to have been ſo render'd here, becauſe his Death is mention'd but the Verſe before, which makes the repeating it here ſomething odd: We judge, therefore, Moſes's Intent to have been to inform us, that Iſhmael's Lot fell in the Preſence of all his Brethren; as it did, ſince his Country lay between the Children of Keturah on the Eaſt, and the Children of Iſaac, that is, the Iſraelites and Edomites on the Weſt.

This Year, ſays Campbel, the great Patriarch Shem, the Son of Noah, who had ſeen the beautiful State of the old World, and ſurvived the Ruin thereof by the Deluge, departed this Life. As the principal Intent of the inſpired Writer was, to purſue the Hiſtory of the Jewiſh Nation, nothing farther, with reſpect to this righteous Perſon, is recorded in the Holy Scriptures, than what we have heretofore related. The Jewiſh Traditions, if they could be relied on, ſufficiently ſupply this Deficiency, by a large Collection of his Acts, both before and after the Diſperſion of Mankind. In the firſt Place they obſerve, that Shem was, from his Youth, zealouſly addicted to the Worſhip of the true God; that, the better to be inſtructed in the Principles of Religion, and, at the ſame Time to acquire the moſt uſeful Parts of the Antediluvian Learning, he aſſiduouſly ſtudied in the School of Methuſelah, which enabled him, when the World began again to be, in ſome Degree, peopled, to ſettle himſelf on Mount Thabor, and there, both as a Prophet and Preceptor, to inſtruct ſuch as reſorted to him, both in divine and human Knowledge. From theſe Lectures of his, the Hebrews aſſert, that what was known of the antient Rites and Sacrifices, &c. was totally derived. Many of the Doctors confound him with Melchiſedeck, and conſequently place his Dwelling at Salem, which, according to them alſo, is Mount Moriah. To this Patriarch they attribute the Invention, or rather the Revival, of moſt Branches of Science that were, in any Degree, in Uſe, near the Ages in which he lived: For Example, they ſay, that he inſtituted a Calendar, and taught the Uſe of intercalary Months; that he inſtructed his Diſciples in Aſtronomy and Phyſick, as alſo in Politicks, or the Art of forming and governing regular Societies. Whether any, or how much of all this, may ſeem credible, we leave to the Opinion of our Readers, obſerving only, that his Deceaſe happened when he was ſix hundred, in the one hundred and fiftieth Year of Abraham, the fiftieth of Iſaac, and one thouſand, eight hundred, and forty ſix Years before the Beginning of the Chriſtian Æra.

19 And theſe are the generations of Iſaac Abrahams ſon: Abraham begat Iſaac. 20 And Iſaac was forty years old when he took Rebekah to wife, the daughter of Bethuel the Syrian of Padan-aram, the ſiſter to Laban the Syrian. 21 And Iſaac intreated the Lord for his wife, becauſe ſhe was barren: and the Lord was intreated of him, and Rebekah his wife conceived. 22 And the children ſtrugled together within her: and ſhe ſaid, If it be ſo, why am I thus? And ſhe went to enquire of the Lord. 23 And the Lord ſaid unto her, Two nations are in thy womb, and two manner of people ſhall be ſeparated from thy bowels: and the one people ſhall be ſtronger than the other people; and the elder ſhall ſerve the younger. 24 And when her days to be delivered were fulfilled, behold, there were twins in her womb. 25 And the firſt came out red, all over like an hairy garment: and they called his name Eſau. 26 And after that came his brother out, and his hand took hold on Eſau's heel; and his name was called Jacob: and Iſaac was threeſcore years old when ſhe bare them. 27 And the boys grew: and Eſau was a cunning hunter, a man of the field; and Jacob was a plain man dwelling in tents. 28 And Iſaac loved Eſau, becauſe he did eat of his veniſon: but Rebekah loved Jacob. 29 And Jacob ſod pottage: and Eſau came from the field, and he was faint. 30 And Eſau ſaid to Jacob, Feed me, I pray thee, with that ſame red pottage; for I am faint: therefore was his name called Edom. 31 And Jacob ſaid, Sell me this day thy birth-right. 32 And Eſau ſaid, Behold, I am at the point to die: and what profit ſhall this birth-right do to me? 33 And Jacob ſaid, Swear to me this day; and he ſware unto him: and he ſold his birth-right unto Jacob. 34 Then Jacob gave Eſau bread and pottage of lentiles; and he did eat and drink, and roſe up, and went his way: thus Eſau deſpiſed his birth-right.

And Iſaac was forty Years old when he took Rebekah to wife] How old Rebekah was, when ſhe was married to Iſaac, the Scripture no where informs us; but the Conjectures of moſt of the Jewiſh Commentators make her to be extremely young. The oldeſt, that they will allow her to be, is not above 14, which was a Thing hardly cuſtomary in thoſe Days: And yet, conſidering her abſolute Management of all Affairs, even when Iſaac was alive, we cannot, but ſuppoſe, that altho' ſhe liv'd not ſo long, ſhe was a conſiderable deal younger than he. See Heidegger's Hiſt. Patriarch.

And Iſaac intreated the Lord for his Wife, becauſe ſhe was barren] The Word in the Original ſignifies to pray with Conſtancy, Vehemence, and Importunity: And the Jews hereupon have a traditional Explication, which is preſerv'd in Jonathan's Targum, viz. that he carried his Wife, to the Place of the Altar, upon Mount Moriah, where he himſelf was once bound to be ſacrific'd, and there made a moſt ſolemn Invocation, by the Faith of his Father Abraham, and by the Oath of God, that ſhe, tho' barren by Nature, might conceive by Virtue of the Covenant, and ſuper-natural Bleſſing; and accordingly he prevail'd with God to grant him his Requeſt. What we render for his Wife, may likewiſe ſignify in the Preſence of his Wife; and ſo the Import of the Words will be, that, beſides their more private Devotions, they did often-times, in a more ſolemn Manner, Manner, and with united Force, pray for the Mercy wherein they were equally concern'd; nor could there be any Presumption in their thus petitioning, what, at present, was denied them; because they knew very well, that God's Purpose and Promise did not exclude, but rather require, the Use of all convenient Means, for their Accomplishment. See Pool's Annot. and Biblioth. Bibl.

And she went to enquire of the Lord] The most easy and common Method of enquiring of the Lord, was, by going to some one of his Prophets, and consulting him; but then the Question is, who that Prophet was, whom Rebekah, upon this Occasion, consulted? Some of the Jewish Doctors are of Opinion, that she went to the School, or Oratory of Shem, (whom they suppose then alive) or to some other Person, constituted by him, and call'd by God to that Ministration. Some Christian Commentators imagine, it was Melchisedeck, the Priest of the most high God, whom she consulted; but if it were any Priest, or Prophet, that then she applied to, her Father-in-law Abraham, who was certainly then alive, and is expresly call'd a Prophet, Gen. xx. 7. seems to have been the most proper Person, not only because he was highly interested in her Concerns; but had likewise the Schechinah, or divine Appearance (as most imagine) continually resident with him. But, as there was another Manner, besides that of answering by Prophets, customary in those Days, viz. by Dreams, and Visions, their Opinion seems to be most probable, who suppose, that Rebekah retired into some secret Place, and there, having pour'd out her Soul before God in fervent Prayers, receiv'd an Answer, not long after, either in a Dream, or Vision, by a Voice from Heaven, or by the Information of an Angel, sent for that Purpose. See Le Clerc's Com. Biblioth. Bibl. and Heidegger's Hist. Patriarch.

And they called his Name Esau] The Meaning of the Word Esau is somewhat obscure, unless we derive it from Hassah, to make, or be perfect; because he was of a stronger Constitution than ordinary Infants, as having Hair all over him, which is an Indication of Manhood; whereas other Children are born with Hair only on their Heads: And, as for Jacob, it is deriv'd from an Hebrew Word, which signifieth to supplant, and, by the Addition of the Letter Jod, one of the Formatives of Nouns, it denotes a Supplanter, or one that taketh hold of, and trippeth up his Brother's Heels. See Pool's Annot. and Univers. Hist.

Then Jacob gave Esau Bread and Pottage of Lentils] Lentils were a Kind of Pulse, somewhat like our Vetches, or coarser Sort of Pease. St. Austin, upon Ps. lxvi. says, that these were Egyptian Lentiles, which were in great Esteem, and very probably gave the Pottage a red Tincture.

Some imagine, that Esau did not know what this Lentil-soop was, and therefore he only call'd it by its Colour, give me of that red, that same red, as it is in the Hebrew; for which Reason he was likewise call'd Edom, which signifies red: But there is no Occasion to suppose, that he was ignorant of what Lentils were, only his repeating the Word red, without adding the Name of a Thing, denoted his great Hunger, and Eagerness of Appetite, which was probably still more irritated by the Colour of the Soop. See Biblioth. Bibl.

Thus Esau despised his Birthright] The Birthright, or Right of Primogeniture, had many Privileges annex'd to it. The First-born was consecrated to the Lord, Exod. xxii. 29. had a double Portion of the Estate allotted him, Deut. xxi. 17. had a Dignity and Authority over his Brethren, Gen. xlix. 5. succeeded in the Government of the Family, or Kingdom, 2 Chron. xxi. 5. and (as some, with good Reason, imagine) succeeded to the Priesthood, or chief Government in Matters Ecclesiastical. He had a Right to challenge the particular Blessing of his dying Parent: He had the Covenant, which God made with Abraham, that from his Loins Christ should come, consign'd to him: And (what is more) these Prerogatives were not confin'd to his Person only, but descended to his latest Posterity, in Case they comported themselves so, as to deserve them. See Pool and Le Clerc.

Some are of Opinion, says Stackhouse, that the chief Prerogative of the Primogeniture was nothing else, but a double Portion of the Father's Estate, and that this was all that Esau parted with to his Brother. But had this been so, we cannot see wherein he was so mightily to blame, or why the Apostle, who certainly understood the Meaning of the Birth-right, as well as any modern Commentator, should give him the hard Name of a profane Person, merely for selling the Reversion of a temporal Estate, to save his Life, in a Time of the greatest Exigence. Had the Birth-right, I say, consisted chiefly in this, we cannot see how Jacob could have been reduced to the Straits, we afterwards find him in; or Esau, as to his outward Fortune, have flourish'd more prosperously than his Brother did. When his Father Isaac died, and he came from Mount Seir, to assist in his Funeral, upon his Departure from his Brother, he is said to have carried away with him all the Substance which he had got in the Land of Canaan, Gen. xxxvi. 6. Now it is plain, that he had no Substance in the Land of Canaan of his own getting, for he liv'd at Seir, in the Land of Edom, beyond the Borders of Canaan; and therefore the Substance which was gotten in the Land of Canaan, must be the Substance which Isaac died possessed of, and which Esau, as his Heir, took along with him. So that, after the Birth-right was sold, he was still Heir to his Father's Substance; and therefore a Right to this was not the Thing which Jacob purchas'd of him. Others are of Opinion, that the Birth-right was the Blessing, promised to the Seed of Abraham, and this the Author of the Epistle to the Hebrews seems, in some measure, to favour; Lest there be any Fornicator, or prophane Person, as Esau, who for a Morsel of Meat sold his Birth-right. For ye know how that afterwards, when he would have inherited the Blessing, he was rejected; Where the not inheriting the Blessing, seems to be connected with his having sold his Birth-right; as if having parted with the one, he could not possibly obtain the other: But it is much to be question'd, whether this be the true Sense of the Passage. Esau himself, when he sold his Birth-right, did not imagine that he had sold, at the same Time, his Right to the Blessing; for when his Father told him, that his Brother had come with Subtilty, and taken away the Blessing, his Answer is, Is he not rightly named Jacob, for he hath supplanted me these two Times, he took away my Birth-right, and behold now he hath taken away my Blessing? Had he apprehended that the Blessing, and Birth-right, were Things inseparable, having sold the one, he would never have laid any Claim to the other; whereas the defrauding him of his Blessing is another Hardship he complains of, distinct, and different, and independent on the former; and therefore Esau's Birth-right was most probably his Right of being Priest, or Sacrificer for his Brethren; and for parting with this, he is justly termed prophane, because he hereby shew'd himself not to have a due Value and Esteem for the religious Employment that belong'd to him.

But tho' this Employment might better comport with Jacob, yet we cannot pretend to justify him in his Method of obtaining it. Moses, who records the Story, does not commend him for it; and therefore we are left at our Liberty to pass what Censure upon it we think reasonable. God indeed, before he was born, design'd and promis'd this Privilege to him; but then he should have waited until the divine Wisdom had found out the Means of executing his Promise, in his own Way, as David did, till God gave him Possession of Saul's Kingdom, and not have anticipated God, and snatched it by an irregular Act of his own. In the whole Affair indeed, Jacob acted with a Subtilty, not at all becoming an honest Man. He knew that Delays were dangerous, and that his Brother's Consideration, or second Thoughts, might possibly spoil his Bargain, and therefore he required Haste, both in the Sale, and in Oath, and thereby incurr'd another Sin, in hurrying his Brother into an Oath by Precipitation, which he neither should have taken, nor Jacob advis'd him to take, take, without mature Advice and Deliberation.

And, in like Manner, as to his Interception of the Bleſſing which his Father deſign'd for his Brother Eſau; it is in vain to have Recourſe to forc'd Conſtructions, or to plead the Lawfulneſs of mental Reſervations, in order to excuſe him in the Lying and Diſſimulation, wherein he was certainly culpable: The beſt Way is, upon this Occaſion, to lament the Infirmity of human Nature, which cannot always ſtand upright, and to admire the Impartiality of the ſacred Writers, in which the very Blemiſhes and Tranſgreſſions of ſuch, as are deſign'd to make the top Figure therein, are not forgotten to be recorded.

It cannot be denied indeed, but that both Jacob and his Mother were juſtly to be prais'd, for having a due Eſteem of the paternal Benediction, and for their endeavouring to attain it; ſince this cou'd proceed from no other Motive than a full Perſuaſion of the Truth of God's Promiſes and Covenant with Abraham. For, as the paternal Bleſſing was thought to be a Means inſtituted by God, for the Conveyance of this Covenant, it cou'd not but deſerve their Care and Aſſiduity. It cannot be denied farther, but that, if this Bleſſing was (as ſome imagine) an Appendage to the Birth-right, Jacob, in purchaſing the one, had acquired a lawful Title to the other, a Title eſtabliſh'd not only upon the expreſs Deſignation of God, but by a Deed of Sale likewiſe, executed and ratified by a moſt ſolemn and ſacred Oath. It cannot be denied likewiſe, but that, purſuant to this divine Deſignation, Iſaac was oblig'd to have conferr'd his Bleſſing upon Jacob, and therefore his Wife, perceiving that he was going to promiſe the Bleſſing of Abraham, where his Affection led him to wiſh it, and not where ſhe knew God had deſign'd to beſtow it, laid a Scheme, which induced her Huſband to do that unwittingly, which God had pre-ordained was to be done, but what ſhe knew, her Huſband would not do knowingly without ſome Uneaſineſs. Nay, it cannot be denied, once more, but that, when her Artifice had ſucceeded, and Jacob was accordingly bleſſed, Iſaac was ſo far from being diſpleaſed with his Wife, or angry with Jacob for impoſing upon him, that we him find fully ſatisfied in what he had done: I have bleſſed him, ſays he, yea, and he ſhall be bleſſed: Which ſudden Change of Mind can be imputed to nothing elſe, but ſome divine Inſpiration, which, at that Time, open'd his Underſtanding, and convinced him, that he had given the Bleſſing to the right Perſon.

Thus from the Conſideration of Jacob's Right, and Iſaac's Duty, the Goodneſs of the End, the Pre-ordination of God, and his Approbation of the Thing, when done, may be drawn ſome Arguments to alleviate their Crime, but ſtill we muſt ingenuouſly own, that Rebekah was guilty of a Fault, in ſuggeſting ſuch dangerous Advice to her Son; that Jacob committed another, in ſuffering himſelf to be ſeduced by ſo bad a Guide; and that both of them preſum'd to limit the Power of God, by thinking that a Complication of Frauds was neceſſary for the Accompliſhment of a divine Prophecy. Had Rebekah indeed put her Huſband in Remembrance of this Prophecy, and ſhewn how Eſau had forfeited the Bleſſing by ſelling his Birth-right, and by marrying ſtrange Wives, this had been a much more honourable Proceeding; but therefore ſhe was left to purſue her own indiſcreet Method, that God might have the Honour of ſerving his own Purpoſes by the Follies of Men.

Ver. 1. AND there was a famine in the land, beſides the firſt famine that was in days of Abraham. And Iſaac went unto Abimelech king of the Philiſtines unto Gerar. 2 And the Lord appeared unto him, and ſaid, Go not down into Egypt: dwell in the land, which I ſhall tell thee of. 3 Sojourn in this land, and I will be with thee, and will bleſs thee: for unto thee and unto thy ſeed I will give all theſe countries, and I will perform the oath which I ſware unto Abraham thy father. 4 And I will make thy ſeed to multiply as the ſtars of heaven, and will give unto thy ſeed all theſe countries: and in thy ſeed ſhall all the nations of the earth be bleſſed: 5 Becauſe that Abraham obeyed my voice, and kept my charge, my commandments, my ſtatutes, and my laws. 6 And Iſaac dwelt in Gerar. 7 And the men of the place aſked him of his wife; and he ſaid She is my ſiſter: for he feared to ſay, She is my wife; leſt, ſaid he, the men of the place ſhould kill me for Rebekah, becauſe ſhe was fair to look upon. 8 And it came to paſs, when he had been there a long time, that Abimelech king of the Philiſtines looked out at a window, and ſaw, and behold, Iſaac was ſporting with Rebekah his wife. 9 And Abimelech called Iſaac, and ſaid, Behold, of a ſurety ſhe is thy wife, and how ſaidſt thou, She is my ſiſter? And Iſaac ſaid unto him, Becauſe I ſaid, Leſt I die for her. 10 And Abimelech ſaid, What is this thou haſt done unto us? one of the people might lightly have lien with thy wife, and thou ſhouldeſt have brought guiltineſs upon us. 11 And Abimelech charged all his people, ſaying, He that toucheth this man or his wife, ſhall ſurely be put to death. 12 Then Iſaac ſowed in that land, and received in the ſame year, an hundred fold, and the Lord bleſſed him. 13 And the man waxed great, and went forward, and grew until he became very great. 14 For he had poſſeſſion of flocks, and poſſeſſion of herds, and great ſtore of ſervants. And the Philiſtines envied him. 15 For all the wells which his fathers ſervants, had digged in the days of Abraham his father, the Philiſtines had ſtopped them, and filled them with earth. 16 And Abimelech ſaid unto Iſaac, Go from us; for thou art much mightier than we. 17 And Iſaac departed thence, and pitched his tent in the valley of Gerar, and dwelt there. 18 And Iſaac digged again the wells of water, which they had digged in the days of Abraham his father; for the Philiſtines had ſtopped them after the death of Abraham: and he called their names after the names by which his father had called them. 19 And Iſaacs ſervants digged in the valley, and found there a well of ſpringing water. 20 And the herdmen of Gerar did ſtrive with Iſaacs herdmen, ſaying, The water is ours: and he called the name of the well Eſek, becauſe they ſtrove with him. 21 And they digged another well, and ſtrove for that alſo: and he called the name of it Sitnah. 22 And he removed from thence, and digged another well; and for that they ſtrove not:

not: and he called the name of it Rehoboth; and he ſaid, For now the Lord hath made room for us, and we ſhall be fruitful in the land. 23 And he went up from thence to Beerſheba. 24 And the Lord appeared unto him the ſame night, and ſaid, I am the God of Abraham thy father: fear not, for I am with thee, and will bleſs thee, and multiply thy ſeed for my ſervant Abrahams ſake. 25 And he builded an altar there, and called upon the name of the Lord, and pitched his tent there: and there Iſaacs ſervants digged a well. 26 Then Abimelech went to him from Gerar, and Ahuzzath one of his friends, and Phicol the chief captain of his army. 27 And Iſaac ſaid unto them, Wherefore come ye to me, ſeeing ye hate me, and have ſent me away from you? 28 And they ſaid, We ſaw certainly that the Lord was with thee: and we ſaid, Let there be now an oath betwixt us, even betwixt us and thee, and let us make a covenant with thee; 29 That thou wilt do us no hurt, as we have not touched thee, and as we have done nothing unto thee but good, and have ſent thee away in peace: thou art now the bleſſed of the Lord. 30 And he made them a feaſt, and they did eat and drink. 31 And they roſe up betimes in the morning, and ſware one to another: and Iſaac ſent them away, and they departed from him in peace. 32 And it came to paſs the ſame day, that Iſaacs ſervants came, and told him concerning the well which they had digged, and ſaid unto him, We have found water. 33 And he called it Sheba: therefore the name of the city is Beerſheba unto this day. 34 And Eſau was forty years old when he took to wife Judith the daughter of Beeri the Hittite, and Baſhemath the daughter of Elon the Hittite: 35 Which were a grief of mind unto Iſaac and to Rebekah.

And Iſaac went unto Abimelech King of the Philiſtines unto Gerar] It is not unlikely, that this Abimelech might be the Son of that Abimelech, King of Gerar, with whom Abraham had formerly made a Covenant, ſuppoſing Abimelech here to be the proper Name of a Man: But it is much more probable, that, at this Time, it was a common Name for the Kings of the Philiſtines, as Cæſar was for the Roman Emperors, and Pharaoh for the Kings of Egypt.

And Abimelech ſaid, What is this that thou haſt done unto us? one of the People might lightly have lien with thy Wife, and thou ſhouldeſt have brought Guiltineſs upon us] Obſerve, ſays Pool, that tho' Fornication was eſteemed no Sin, or elſe a very little one, amongſt the Heathens, Adultery was reckon'd a very heinous one; and that Abimelech here takes it for granted, that had any of his Subjects committed it with Iſaac's Wife, their Ignorance of her being ſo, would not have been a ſufficient Excuſe for them.

Then Iſaac ſowed in that Land, and received in the ſame Year an hundred-fold] This hundred-fold Increaſe in one Year, was given by God to Iſaac for a Sign of his Purpoſe to fulfil the Covenant made with his Father, and lately renew'd to him; particularly, for the Confirmation of the Truth and Reaſon of the Warning againſt his going down into Egypt, as he was inclin'd, according to the natural Proſpect of Things. Such an Increaſe was, at this Time, a ſingular Bleſſing of God, after there had been a conſiderable Dearth, and the Soil perhaps, that afforded ſo large a Crop, not ſo rich; otherwiſe, we may learn from Varro, that in Syria, near Gadera, and in Africa, about Bizantium, they reaped an hundred Buſhels from one; nay, Bochart ſhews, from ſeveral good Authors, that ſome Places in Africa are ſo very fruitful, that they produce two or three hundred-fold, which makes this Account of Moſes far from being incredible. See Biblioth. Bib. and Patrick's Com.

And Abimelech ſaid unto Iſaac, Go from us; for thou art much mightier than us] The Words of Abimelech, according to our Tranſlation, ſays Shuckford, are theſe. Thou art much mightier than we; but certainly he could not mean that Iſaac was more powerful than the whole People of Paleſtine, or that he had a larger Family, or more numerous Attendance, than himſelf had, and conſequently was in a Condition, if he had been ſo minded, to diſturb the Government. This we can by no Means conceive to be poſſible; and therefore the Words in the Original do not mean, becauſe thou art mightier than we, but becauſe thou art increaſed, and multiplied from us, or by us, i. e. thou haſt got a great deal by us; whilſt thou haſt continued amongſt us, thou haſt made a great Acceſſion to thy Subſtance, and we do not care to let thee get any more; ſo that the Philiſtines did not fear him, but envy him, they grudged that he ſhould get ſo much among them, and therefore deſired him to abſent their Country.

And Iſaac digged again the Wells of Water, which they had digged in the Days of Abraham his Father] The Reaſons that induced Iſaac to open the old Wells, rather than dig new ones, might be, 1. Becauſe he was ſure to find a Spring there, which he could not be certain of in other Places; 2. Becauſe it was eaſier, and leſs liable to Cenſure and Envy; 3. Becauſe he had a Right to them, as they were his Father's Purchaſe and Property; and, 4. Becauſe he was minded to preſerve, and do Honour to his Father's Memory, for which Reaſon he call'd them by the ſame Names, that his Father had done before him.

Some have made it a Matter of Wonder, why the Patriarch ſhould make ſuch a Buſtle about a Well or two, and fancy, from thence, that he was not Maſter of ſuch Opulency as he is generally repreſented to be. But, ſays Stackhouſe, it is our Ignorance of the patriarchal Manner of living, which makes us think it unaccountable to hear, in thoſe early Days, of ſo many Conteſts about Wells. For, were we to take a nearer Inſpection into the Thing, we ſhould ſoon find, that in thoſe hot Countries, where Water was ſo very ſcarce, a Well, or Fountain of living Water, was a Poſſeſſion of ineſtimable Value; and for this Reaſon we find Moſes, in magnifying the divine Bounty to the Children of Iſrael, among other Parts of the Inventory, reckoning up, not only, great and goodly Cities, which they built not, but WELLS likewiſe digged, which they digged not, Deut. vi. 11.

Nor was it only for the Benefit of the Water, that theſe Wells were held in ſo high Eſteem, but for the Memory of the Events and Tranſactions likewiſe, which were known to have happened near them. For at theſe Wells Angels had appeared, Miracles had been wrought, religious Aſſemblies held, Treaties tranſacted, Marriages celebrated, and Towns and Cities built; and therefore no Wonder, that the Antients, looking upon them as ſacred, as well as profitable Places, ſhould be ſo ready to conteſt their Right to them, or that frequent Notice ſhould be taken of them in ſo compendious an Hiſtory as that of the Patriarchs.

Then Abimelech went to him from Gerar, and Ahazzah one of his Friends, and Phicol the chief Captain of his Army] Phicol is of the ſame Name, and bore the ſame Office, which he had, who is mentioned Ch. xxi. 22. but we muſt not ſuppoſe, that he was the ſame Man, any more, than Abimelech was the ſame King. The Word properly ſignifies Face or Head, and as the Captain-General is Head of the Forces he commands, ſo ſome have imagin'd, that it is the appellative Name, (like that of Tribunus or Dictator among the Romans) for every one among them that were advanced to that Dignity: And in like Manner, tho' the Septuagint ſeem to make Ahazzah a proper Name, and call him the Para-nymph, or Bride-man, to Abimelech, which was always accounted a Poſt of the firſt Honour; yet I ſhould rather chuſe, with Onkelos, to make the Word ſignify ſignify a Train, or great Number of Nobility, who came in Attendance on Abimelech, and to do the Patriarch the greater Honour upou this Occaſion. See Le Clerc and Howel.

And they roſe up betimes in the Morning, and ſware unto one another] The Articles were agreed upon overnight, and, by a mutual Oath, ratified in the Morning: And the Reaſon, why Men took publick Oaths in the Morning faſting, ſeems to have been ob Reverentiam Juramenti, as the Jews call it, becauſe they looked upon them as very ſolemn and ſacred Things.

And Eſau was forty Years old, when he took to Wife Judith — and Baſhemath — which were a Grief of Mind unto Iſaac and to Rebekah] The Hebrew, literally rendered, is Bitterneſs of Spirit; the Jeruſalem Targum gloſſeth it thus: 'They were obſtinate, ſtrongly addicted to the Superſtitions of their Country, in no Sort liſtening to the Inſtructions of Iſaac or Rebekah.' The Jews have propagated an Opinion, that Eſau, till he was forty Years old, lived licentiouſly with the Canaaniti∫h Women, but at that Age thought fit to marry, in Imitation of his Father: But as there is no Foundation for this Story, ſo it ought to be regarded only as a Fable, invented by a Nation, who, without Scruple, raiſe the falſeſt Reports againſt ſuch as are not of their Faith, and ſpread them with amazing Boldneſs and Aſſiduity; as, at the Beginning, they did of Chriſt and his Diſciples.

CHAP. XXVII.

Iſaac being grown old, and his Eyes dim, deſires to confer his Bleſſing before he dies; accordingly he ſends his eldeſt Son Eſau to the Field to get Veniſon, and to make him a Diſh of it, that, when his Nature was refreſhed, he might give him his laſt paternal Bleſſing. Rebekah, over-hearing what paſt, adviſes Jacob to counterfeit his Brother's Perſon, and ſo procure the Bleſſing to himſelf; Jacob follows her Advice, and gets the Bleſſing. Eſau, on his Return, finding how his Brother had ſupplanted him, weeps bitterly, and implores a Bleſſing likewiſe, and obtains one; but is ſo enraged with Jacob, that he threatens his Life; but to prevent ill Conſequences, his Mother ſends him to her Brother at Haran; and to induce Iſaac to comply therewith, complains to him of Eſau's Wives.

Ver. 1. AND it came to paſs that when Iſaac was old, and his eyes were dim, ſo that he could not ſee, he called Eſau his eldeſt ſon, and ſaid unto him, My ſon: And he ſaid unto him, Behold, here am I. 2 And he ſaid, Behold now, I am old, I know not the day of my death. 3 Now therefore take, I pray thee, thy weapons, thy quiver, and thy bow, and go out to the field, and take me ſome veniſon; 4 And make me ſavoury meat, ſuch as I love, and bring it to me, that I may eat; that my ſoul may bleſs thee before I die. 5 And Rebekah heard when Iſaac ſpake to Eſau his ſon: and Eſau went to the field to hunt for veniſon, and to bring it. 6 And Rebekah ſpake unto Jacob her ſon, ſaying, Behold, I heard thy father ſpeak unto Eſau thy brother, ſaying, 7 Bring me veniſon, and make me ſavoury meat, that I may eat, and bleſs thee before the Lord before my death. 8 Now therefore my ſon, obey my voice, according to that which I command thee. 9 Go now to the flock, and fetch me from thence two good kids of the goats; and I will make them ſavoury meat for thy father, ſuch as he loveth. 10 And thou ſhalt bring it to thy father, that he may eat, and that he may bleſs thee before his death. 11 And Jacob ſaid to Rebekah his mother, Behold, Eſau my brother is a hairy man, and I am a ſmooth man. 12 My father peradventure will feel me, and I ſhall ſeem to him as a deceiver; and I ſhall bring a curſe upon me, and not a bleſſing. 13 And his mother ſaid unto him, Upon me be thy curſe, my ſon: only obey my voice, and go fetch me them. 14 And he went and fetched, and brought them to his mother: and his mother made ſavoury meat, ſuch as his father loved. 15 And Rebekah took goodly raiment of her eldeſt ſon Eſau, which were with her in the houſe, and put them upon Jacob her younger ſon. 16 And ſhe put the ſkins of the kids of the goats upon his hands, and upon the ſmooth of his neck. 17 And ſhe gave the ſavoury meat, and the bread which ſhe had prepared, into the hand of her ſon Jacob. 18 And he came unto his father, and ſaid, My father: and he ſaid, Here am I; who art thou, my ſon? 19 And Jacob ſaid unto his father, I am Eſau thy firſt-born; I have done according as thou badeſt me: ariſe, I pray thee, ſit and eat of my veniſon, that thy ſoul may bleſs me. 20 And Iſaac ſaid unto his ſon, How is it that thou haſt found it ſo quickly, my ſon? And he ſaid, Becauſe the Lord thy God brought it to me. 21 And Iſaac ſaid unto Jacob, Come near, I pray thee, that I may feel thee, my ſon, whether thou be my very ſon Eſau, or not. 22 And Jacob went near unto Iſaac his father, and he felt him; and ſaid, The voice is Jacobs voice, but the hands are the hands of Eſau. 23 And he diſcerned him not, becauſe his hands were hairy, as his brother Eſaus hands: So he bleſſed him. 24 And he ſaid, Art thou my very ſon Eſau? And he ſaid, I am. 25 And he ſaid, Bring it near to me, and I will eat of my ſons veniſon, that my ſoul may bleſs thee. And he brought it near to him, and he did eat: and he brought him wine, and he drank. 26 And his father Iſaac ſaid unto him, Come near now, and kiſs me, my ſon. 27 And he came near, and kiſſed him: and he ſmelled the ſmell of his raiment, and bleſſed him, and ſaid, See, the ſmell of my ſon is as the ſmell of a field, which the Lord hath bleſſed. 28 Therefore God give thee of the dew of heaven, and the fatneſs of the earth, and plenty of corn and wine. 29 Let people ſerve thee, and nations bow down to thee; be lord over thy brethren, and let thy mothers ſons bow down to thee: Curſed be every one that curſeth thee, and bleſſed be he that bleſſeth thee. 30 And it came to paſs, aſſoon as Iſaac had made an end of bleſſing Jacob, and Jacob was yet ſcarce gone out from the preſence of Iſaac his father, that Eſau his brother came in from his hunting. 31 And he alſo had made ſavoury meat, and brought it unto his father; and ſaid unto his father, Let my father ariſe, and eat of his ſons veniſon, that thy ſoul may bleſs me. 32 And Iſaac his father ſaid unto him, Who art thou? and he ſaid, I am thy ſon, thy firſt-born Eſau. 33 And Iſaac trembled very exceedingly, and ſaid, Who, where is he that hath taken veniſon, and brought it me, and I have eaten of all before thou cameſt, and have bleſſed him? yea, and he ſhall be bleſſed. 34 And when Eſau heard the words of his father, he cried with a great great and exceeding bitter cry, and ſaid unto his father, Bleſs me, even me alſo, O my father. 35 And he ſaid, Thy brother came with ſubtilty, and hath taken away thy bleſſing. 36 And he ſaid, Is not he rightly named Jacob? for he hath ſupplanted me theſe two times: he took away my birth-right; and behold, now he hath taken away my bleſſing. And he ſaid, Haſt thou not reſerved a bleſſing for me? 37 And Iſaac anſwered and ſaid unto Eſau, Behold I have made him thy lord, and all his brethren have I given to him for ſervants; and with corn and wine have I ſuſtained him: and what ſhall I do now unto thee my ſon? 38 And Eſau ſaid unto his father, Haſt thou but one bleſſing, my father; bleſs me, even me alſo, O my father. And Eſau lift up his voice, and wept. 39 And Iſaac his father, anſwered, and ſaid unto him, Behold, thy dwelling ſhall be the fatneſs of the earth, and of the dew of heaven from above. 40 And by thy ſword ſhalt thou live, and ſhalt ſerve thy brother: and it ſhall come to paſs when thou ſhalt have the dominion, that thou ſhalt break his yoke from off thy neck. 41 And Eſau hated Jacob, becauſe of the bleſſing wherewith his father bleſſed him: and Eſau ſaid in his heart, The days of mourning for my father are at hand, then will I ſlay my brother Jacob. 42 And theſe words of Eſau her elder ſon were told to Rebekah: And ſhe ſent and called Jacob her younger ſon, and ſaid unto him, Behold, thy brother Eſau, as touching thee, doth comfort himſelf, purpoſing to kill thee. 43 Now therefore, my ſon, obey my voice: and ariſe, flee thou to Laban my brother to Haran. 44 And tarry with him a few days, until thy brothers fury turn away; 45 Until thy brothers anger turn away from thee, and he forget that which thou haſt done to him: then I will ſend, and fetch thee from thence. Why ſhould I be deprived alſo of you both in one day? 46 And Rebekah ſaid to Iſaac, I am weary of my life, becauſe of the daughters of Heth: if Jacob take a wife of the daughters of Heth, ſuch as theſe which are of the daughters of the land, what good ſhall my life do me.

And he ſaid, Behold now, I am old, I know not the Day of my Death. Now therefore, take I pray thee, thy Weapon, thy Quiver, and thy Bow, and go out to the Field, and take me ſome Veniſon, and make me ſome ſavoury Meat, ſuch as I love, and bring it to me, that I may eat; that my Soul may bleſs thee before I die] But why did he require this? Could he not have bleſſed him without all this Trouble? He might require it, ſays Pool, for ſeveral Reaſons, either that, being refreſhed and delighted therewith, his Spirits might be more chearful, and conſequently, the fitter for giving this propheſtical Benediction; for which Reaſon alſo, the Prophet Eliſha called for a Minſtrel, before he could utter his Prophecy, 2 Kings iii. 15. or he might do it by the over-ruling Direction of divine Providence, that Eſau's Abſence might give Jacob the Opportunity and Advantage of getting the Bleſſing. Beſides, Iſaac ſpeaks not here of a common and cuſtomary Bleſſing, which Parents may beſtow upon their Children, when, and as often as they pleaſe, but of the laſt, ſolemn and extraordinary Bleſſing, whereby theſe Holy Patriarchs, by God's Appointment, and with his Concurrence, did conſtitute one of their Sons Heir, not ſo much of the Inheritance, as of Abraham's Covenant, and all the Promiſes, both temporal and ſpiritual thereunto belonging.

Whoever, ſays Stackhouſe, conſiders the Chronology of this Tranſaction, will find, that Iſaac lived above forty Years after his parting with his prophetical Bleſſing; and conſequently, that it was not old Age, but ſome Sickneſs and Indiſpoſition of Body, that, at this Time, had ſeized him, and made him apprehenſive of his approaching Death. In this Condition, it is no uncommon Thing, we know, for Mens Thoughts to run upon one Kind of Meat rather than another; and when the Stomach is deprav'd, or any Ways out of Order, generally to long for ſuch Things as are of a ſavoury Taſte: And, if Veniſon, in thoſe Countries, was more particularly adapted to that Purpoſe, wherein, I pray, is Iſaac to be blam'd, for loving a Son who took ſuch Pains, and expos'd himſelf to ſuch Dangers, that he might ſhew his Reſpect to his aged Father, and procure him now and then ſome little Thing, to pleaſe his Palate, and humour his ſickly Appetite? Thoſe, who think proper to blame the Patriarch's kind Reſentment of ſuch Aſſiduity, ſeem to have forgot the Workings of human Nature, and how apt the very wiſeſt of Parents are to have their Affections won, every Day more and more, by the Sedulity and Officiouſneſs of their Children.

The dreſſing this Veniſon is repreſented indeed as a Province, which Eſau himſelf took upon him; and to have the eldeſt Son and Heir of a Family ſtand Cook (as we call it) ſeems to portend no great Wealth or Magnificence in it; but when we urge this, we forget the Simplicity of the Times wherein Moſes wrote, and wherein it was cuſtomary for Men of the firſt Rank to ſubmit to Offices much meaner than this. Herein then do the Truth and Authority of the ſacred Hiſtory moſt eminently appear, that all its Accounts and Deſcriptions of Things do agree with the Senſe of the moſt antient Writers, and are found conformable to the Manners and Cuſtoms that then prevailed.

And Rebekah took goodly Raiment of her eldeſt Son Eſau, which were with her in the Houſe, and put them upon Jacob her youngeſt Son] The Jews have a Fancy, that it was the Robe of Adam, which had been tranſmitted down, from Father to Son, in the Line of Bleſſing (as they call it) till it came to Abraham, who left it to Iſaac, and he, deſigning Eſau, as his eldeſt, for his Succeſſor, gave it to him. Some of them imagine, that this was a ſacerdotal Habit, wherein Eſau, in his Father's Illneſs, was ſuppos'd to officiate, and for this Reaſon it might be kept in Iſaac's Tent, near to which, very likely, was the Place of religious Worſhip. In all Probability it was a Veſtment of ſome Diſtinction, which the Heir of the Family, upon ſome ſolemn Occaſion, was uſed to put on, and Jacob, at this Time, being to perſonate his Brother, there was a Neceſſity for him to have it: But how his Mother ſhould come by it, or why ſhe ſhould have the keeping of it, when Eſau had Wives of his own, is a Queſtion that Muſculus raiſes, and then anſwers it by ſaying, — That, becauſe Eſau had married theſe Wives without the Conſent of his Parents, eſpecially his Mother, ſhe, for this Reaſon, refus'd to give it him, and perhaps reſerv'd it for this very Occaſion. But, in my Opinion, there ſeems to be no Neceſſity for this Suppoſition, ſince it was ſufficient for her Purpoſe, that ſhe knew where it was in Eſau's Apartment, See Biblioth. Bibl.

And Jacob ſaid unto his Father, I am Eſau, thy Firſt-born] Heidigger obſerves, that upon Jacob's anſwering his Father, that he was Eſau his Firſt-born, the Rabbins are put to great Perplexity, how to aſſoil the Patriarch from the Sin of Lying; and therefore ſome of them paraphraſe the Words thus,—I am, i. e. he, who brings thee ſomething to eat, but Eſau is thy eldeſt Son; while others underſtand them in this Manner rather; I am Eſau, i. e. I am in his Stead, becauſe he has ſold me his Birth-right: For, by this Sale, as they tell us, a proper Permutation being made of Perſons and Titles, the firſt became really laſt, and the laſt firſt, the Elder became the Younger, and the Younger the Elder, as to the Stile, and all the Privileges of Elderſhip; ſo that Jacob was, in Reality, as much the Heir, and Succeſſor of Iſaac, as if Eſau had been actually dead. And, tho' Eſau was ſtill alive, and had the Name of Eſau, yet Jacob was properly (what his Brother had been) his Firſt-

Firſt-born Eſau, ſince Eſau was reduc'd to the Station of a younger Brother only. St. Auſtin pretends, that Jacob's Words have a Figure in them, much in the ſame Nature with that in the Goſpel, where John the Baptiſt is called the Elias that ſhall come; but the Misfortune is, that there was a great Similitude between Elias and the Baptiſt, as to their Spirit and Office, but between Jacob and Eſau there was none at all; and therefore ſome other Fathers, ſeeing the Impoſſibility of explaining the Words, by any of theſe Subterfuges, have boldly aſſerted, that there was no Iniquity in the Lies which Jacob told, becauſe they did not proceed from any malevolent Intent, but from a Deſign of promoting the greateſt Good; for which End it was as lawful for a wiſe Man to employ officious Lies, as it is to make uſe of Phyſick for the Preſervation of Health: And, from ſuch dangerous Poſitions as theſe, the Jeſuitical Doctrine of Equivocation, and mental Reſervation, has, in a great Meaſure, proceeded.

And he brought him Wine, and he drank] There is a Tradition among the Jews, that Jacob having omitted to bring Wine to his Father, an Angel prepar'd it, and brought it into his Apartment; that he gave it into Jacob's Hands, and pour'd it out for his Father; that the Wine was the ſame as the Wine of Paradiſe, which had been laid up from the Beginning; and that his Father, having drank of it, kiſſed him, and bleſſed him, as one now filled with the Spirit, even with the Spirit of Prophecy and Bleſſing: But the Cuſtom of the Jewiſh Doctors is to magnify every little Matter.

The Prayer, which Joſephus makes Iſaac offer up to God upon this Occaſion, is in Words to this Effect: 'Eternal God, the Creator of all things that are made: 'thou, that haſt been ſo gracious and bountiful to my 'Father, to myſelf, and to our Offſpring, promiſing, 'and poſſeſſing us of all Things, and giving us Aſſuran-'ces of greater Bleſſings to come: Lord, make thy 'Words good to us by Effects, and do not deſpiſe thy 'Servant for his great Infirmities, which makes him the 'more ſenſible of his Need of thy Support. Preſerve 'this Child from all Evil, in thy Mercy and infinite 'Goodneſs: Give him a long and an happy Life; bleſs 'him with all worldly Enjoyments, that may be for his 'Good; and make him a Terror to his Enemies, and 'an Honour and Comfort to his Friends.

Behold thy Dwelling ſhall be the Fatneſs of the Earth, and of the Dew of Heaven from above, and by thy Sword ſhalt thou live] That is, ſays Calmet, 'That, tho' 'thy Poſterity ſhall not enjoy a very plentiful Country, 'yet they ſhall become a great People, and mighty 'Warriors who ſhall live by the Dint of their Sword.' The Words in our Tranſlation carry a Senſe quite different to what we have here ſuggeſted; Behold thy Dwelling ſhall be of the Fatneſs of the Earth and of the Dew of Heaven. But, beſides that this makes the Bleſſing the ſame with that which was given to Jacob, Ver. 28. which Iſaac profeſſes himſelf incapable of doing; 'tis manifeſt that Idumæa, where the Deſcendants of Eſau dwelt, was far from being a fat and fruitful Country. Had it been ſo, there had not been that Reaſon for the ſubſequent Words, by thy Sword ſhalt thou live; for a rich and plentiful Country would have ſecured them from living by Spoil and Plunder, as it is manifeſt the People of that Country did, if we can credit the Character which Joſephus, both in his Hiſtory of the Antiquities, L. 13. and of the Wars of the Jews, L. 4. gives us of them.

And it ſhall come to paſs, when thou ſhalt have the Dominion, that thou ſhalt break his Yoke from thy Neck] The Edomites, or Idumæans, who were the Poſterity of Eſau, for a conſiderable Time, were a People of much more Power and Authority than the Iſraelites, till, in the Days of David, they were entirely conquered, 2 Sam. viii 14. they were thereupon govern'd by Deputies or Viceroys, appointed by the Kings of Judah; and, whenever they attempted to rebel, were, for a long Time, cruſhed, and kept under by the Jews. In the Days of Jehoram, the Son of Jehoſaphat, they expell'd the Viceroy, and ſet up a King of their own, 2 Kings viii. 20. and tho' they were reduc'd at that Time, yet, for ſome Generations after this, they ſeem to have liv'd independent of the Jews, and when the Babylonians invaded Judea, they not only took Part with them, but violently oppreſſed them, even when the Enemy was withdrawn; ſo that, remembring what they had ſuffered under Joab, in the Days of David, they entered into the like cruel Meaſures againſt the Jews, and threatened to lay Jeruſalem level with the Ground. Their Animoſity againſt the Poſterity of Jacob ſeems indeed to be hereditary; nor did they ever ceaſe, for any conſiderable Time, from Broils and Contentions, until they were conquered by Hircanus, and reduced to the Neceſſity of embracing the Jewiſh Religion, or quitting their Country: Hereupon, conſenting to the former, they were incorporated with the Jews, and became one Nation, ſo that, in the firſt Century after Chriſt, the Name of Idumæan was loſt, and quite diſus'd. See Le Clerc, and Univerſ. Hiſt.

And Rebekah ſaid to Iſaac, I am weary of my Life, becauſe of the Daughters of Heth] This ſhe ſays to induce Iſaac to let her Son Jacob go to her Kindred at Padan-Aran; tho' her real Deſign was to ſend him out of the Way of his Brother's Anger and threaten'd Vengeance; But how ſhall we acquit her of Prevarication in this Affair? It is certainly, ſays Stackhouſe, a Point of great Prudence to conceal the Truth, when the Diſcovery of it will occaſion more Harm than Good; and therefore, that ſhe might not afflict her Huſband's old Age with the unwelcome News of his Son Eſau's wicked Intent againſt his Brother, and thereby provoke his Indignation againſt him; ſhe cover'd the Diſmiſſion of Jacob with a Reaſon, that was true indeed, but not that chief and latent one which gave her the moſt Uneaſineſs, and which, if communicated to her Huſband, might have been a Means of bringing his grey Hairs with Sorrow to the Grave. So that, in the Whole, and according to the Proverbs of the wiſe Man, ſhe acted the Part both of a careful Wife, and a prudent Woman, for the Tongue of the Wiſe uſeth Knowledge aright, Prov. xv. 2. And ſhe, that is of a faithful Spirit, conceaſeth the Matter, Ch. xi. 13.

We have in our Notes upon the latter Part of the xxvth Chapter treated of the Manner in which Jacob got his Brother Eſau's Birthright, and likewiſe of the Deception which he and his Mother put upon Iſaac, in order to procure the paternal Bleſſing; we have alſo accounted for ſome Paſſages which ſeem'd to indicate the Patriarch's Poverty; but which in reality, ſays Stackhouſe, are exactly agreeable to that Temperance and Simplicity of Living, which, in his Days, were in Vogue. He, who, in a Manner, was ſole Heir of Abraham, (who was a King, in the Opinion of ſome, but, in all Accounts, a Perſon of great Affluence of Fortune) and who himſelf had made Additions to it, enough to be envied even by neighbouring Princes, could not poſſibly want any neceſſary Accommodation of Life, nor wou'd he concern himſelf with Things of a trifling Conſideration: But what we call Trifles, might, in thoſe Times, be Matters of the laſt Importance; and, what we account Indications of Poverty, might proceed from no other Cauſe, but that Frugality and Parſimony, which, in the primitive Ages, were in high Repute, before they came to be diſcountenanc'd by the preſent Schemes of Expence, and ſtudied Luxury. And therefore, when we find in antient Hiſtory, the Arcadians, feeding upon Acorns; the Argives, upon Apples; the Athenians, upon Figs; &c. when we find a Set of the moſt renowned Heroes in the Grecian Army, even in the great Achilles's Tent, dining upon a Loin of Mutton, and an Hock of Bacon; and the godlike Man Patroclus lighting the Fire, while the Maſter of the Feaſt was ſpitting the Meat; our Wonder may ceaſe, if, in Ages before this, we meet with ſuch an homely Diſh, as Lentil-pottage in a Patriarch's Houſe, and the two Sons of the Family condeſcending to cook their own Victuals. This we muſt own is not the Practice among us; but it is a much more conſiſtent and credible Account of Things, than if Moſes had repreſented Iſaac's Tent like a royal Palace, and every Thing ſerved up there in the ſame ſplendid Manner as when the King and his Family dine in Publick.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Iſaac bleſſeth Jacob, and ſends him to Padan-Aran. Eſau, to pleaſe his Father, marries a Daughter of Iſhmael. Jacob's Viſion of a Ladder, that reach'd from Earth to Heaven. Bethel, ſo named by Jacob; his Vow.

Ver. 1. AND Iſaac called Jacob, and bleſſed him, and charged him, and ſaid unto him, Thou ſhalt not take a wife of the daughters of Canaan. 2 Ariſe, go to Padan-aram, to the houſe of Bethuel thy mothers father; and take thee a wife from thence of the daughters of Laban thy mothers brother. 3 And God Almighty bleſs thee, and make thee fruitful, and multiply thee, that thou mayeſt be a multitude of people: 4 And give thee the bleſſing of Abraham, to thee, and to thy ſeed with thee; that thou mayeſt inherit the land wherein thou art a ſtranger, which God gave unto Abraham. 5 And Iſaac ſent away Jacob, and he went to Padan-aram unto Laban, ſon of Bethuel the Syrian, the brother of Rebekah, Jacobs and Eſaus mother. 6 When Eſau ſaw that Iſaac had bleſſed Jacob, and ſent him away to Padan-aram, to take him a wife from thence; and that as he bleſſed him, he gave him a charge, ſaying, Thou ſhalt not take a wife of the daughters of Canaan; 7 And that Jacob obeyed his father, and his mother, and was gone to Padan-aram; 8 And Eſau ſeeing that the daughters of Canaan pleaſed not Iſaac his father: 9 Then went Eſau unto Iſhmael, and took unto the wives which he had, Mahalath the daughter of Iſhmael Abrahams ſon, the ſiſter of Nebajoth to be his wife. 10 And Jacob went out from Beer-ſheba, and went toward Haran. 11 And he lighted upon a certain place, and tarried there all night becauſe the ſun was ſet: and he took of the ſtones of that place, and put them for his pillows, and lay down in that place to ſleep. 12 And he dreamed, and behold a ladder ſet upon the earth, and the top of it reached to heaven; and behold the angels of God aſcending and deſcending on it. 13 And behold, the Lord ſtood above it, and ſaid, I am the Lord God of Abraham thy father, and the God of Iſaac: the land whereon thou lieſt, to thee will I give it, and to thy ſeed. 14 And thy ſeed ſhall be as the duſt of the earth; and thou ſhalt ſpread abroad to the weſt, and to the eaſt, and to the north, and to the ſouth: and in thee, and in thy ſeed ſhall all the families of the earth be bleſſed. 15 And behold, I am with thee, and will keep thee in all places whither thou goeſt, and will bring thee again into this land: for I will not leave thee, until I have done that which I have ſpoken to thee of. 16 And Jacob awaked out of his ſleep, and he ſaid, Surely the Lord is in this place; and I knew it not. 17 And he was afraid, and ſaid, How dreadful is this place! this is none other but the houſe of God, and this is the gate of heaven. 18 And Jacob roſe up early in the morning, and took the ſtone that he had put for his pillows, and ſet it up for a pillar, and poured oyl upon the top of it. 19 And he called the name of that place Beth-el: but the name of that city was called Luz at the firſt. 20 And Jacob vowed a vow, ſaying, If God will be with me, and will keep me in this way that I go, and will give me bread to eat, and raiment to put on; 21 So that I come again to my fathers houſe in peace: then ſhall the Lord be my God. 22 And this ſtone which I have ſet for a pillar ſhall be Gods houſe; and of all that thou ſhalt give me, I will ſurely give the tenth unto thee.

And God Almighty bleſs thee] The Hebrew Word is Schaddai, which is derived from a Verb, ſignifying Power or Might. God revealed himſelf to Abraham by this Name, when he entered into a Covenant with him, Gen. xvii. 1. Wherefore it is uſed with great Elegance and Propriety in this Place, where Iſaac, who was the Heir of that Covenant, transfers the Benefits and Advantages belonging thereto, to his Son Jacob, and thoſe who were to deſcend from him.

And Iſaac ſent away Jacob, and he went to Padan-Aram] The Jews tell of ſeveral Miracles, which they ſuppoſe to have been wrought on the very Day that Jacob ſet out from Beerſheba; but one more eſpecially, viz. that God ſhortened the Hours, by cauſing the Sun to go down before its Time; and yet we are told, that from Beer-ſheba to Luz, where he lodged the firſt Night, were about 48 Engliſh Miles, which was no inconſiderable Days Journey. If there be therefore any Meaning of this Fiction of theirs, it muſt conſiſt in this, — That Jacob was ſent away with his Father's Bleſſing, and, in Virtue of that was filled with a certain divine Power, which ſupported and carried him on with Pleaſure, ſo that the Day might thence ſeem ſhorter to him; and, tho' his Father ſent no Friend or Domeſtick along with him, yet there is no Doubt to be made, but that there was a Companion and Guardian of a far nobler Order, aſſigned him, who led him by the Hand, as it were, and kept him in all his Ways. See Biblioth. Bibl.

Jacob, after his firſt Days Journey, being benighted, was forced to take up his Lodging in the open Air, near Luz, which ſignifies an Almond, and might very likely have its Name from the many Groves of Almond Trees, which were thereabouts; and under ſome of which, 'tis not unlikely that Jacob might take up his Lodging, becauſe the Largeneſs of their Leaves, in that Country, wou'd afford no incommodious Shelter from the Weather. Jacob, upon Account of the Viſion, which he had in this Place, called it Bethel; and the Iſraelites, when they conquered Canaan, in Remembrance of the ſame, continued the Name. It lay to the Weſt of Hai, about eight Miles to the North of Jeruſalem, in the Confines of Ephraim and Benjamin. So that, upon the Revolt of the Ten Tribes, it belonged to the Kingdom of Iſrael, and was therefore one of the Cities, where Jeroboam ſet up his golden Calves, whence the Prophet Hoſea, Ch. iv. 15. alluding to the Name given it by Jacob, calls it Beth-aven, inſtead of Bethel, i. e. the Houſe of Vanity, or Idols, inſtead of the Houſe of God. See Patrick's Com. and Wells's Geogr.

And he took of the Stones of that Place, and put them for his Pillows, aud lay down in that Place to ſleep. And he dreamed, and behold, a Ladder — And Jacob roſe up early in the Morning, and took the Stone that he had put for his Pillow, and ſet it up for a Pillar, and poured Oil upon the Top of it] To judge of the Occaſion of Jacob's Viſion, wherein this emblematical Ladder was repreſented to him, we muſt imagine, ſays Stackhouſe, that we ſaw the Heir of a powerful Family taking his Leave of his aged Parents, and, for fear of an angry Brorher, departing from his Father's Houſe; beginning a Journey of 450 Miles, into a ſtrange Country, all alone, on Foot, and without any Servant to attend him; travelling all the Day with a penſive Heart, and forc'd at Night to take up his Lodging in the open Air, and with nothing better than an hard Stone for a Pillow: If we ſuppoſe Jacob in this Condition, we ſhall ſoon perceive the Reaſon, why God thought it convenient, at this Time, to give him Comfort and Conſolation in the Way of a Dream.

That Dreams, or nocturnal Viſions, were a common Way

Way of God's revealing himſelf to Mankind of old, is evident from Inſtances almoſt innumerable; and the Reaſon of his making Choice of this Method might be, either to convince them of his Omnipreſence, that he was about their Bed, and about their Paths, and ſpied out all their Ways; or to convince them of his conſtant Care, and that he was not unmindful of them, even when they little thought of him, and were moſt abſent from themſelves, or to convince them of his unlimited Power over their Souls, when even Sleep itſelf could not hinder his Acceſs to them; or becauſe that the Mind, in the Dead and Silence of the Night, was fitter to receive divine Impreſſions, when Nature was huſh, and the Paſſions aſleep, and no Variety of Thoughts to diſtract its Attention.

But whatever God's Reaſons might be for conveying Things by Dreams, 'tis certain, that the Viſion of the Ladder, and the comfortable Words which he ſpake from the Top of it, made ſuch a lively Impreſſion upon Jacob, that he proceeded in his Journey with Chearfulneſs and Alacrity. Behold I am with thee, and I will keep thee in all Places, whither thou goeſt, and will bring thee again into this Land; for I will not leave thee, until I have done that which I have ſpoken to thee of: Theſe are the verbal Aſſurances which God gives Jacob; and therefore we may preſume that the Repreſentation of the Ladder had ſomething analogous in it.

This Ladder (according to the Senſe of the beſt Interpreters) is an Emblem of the divine Providence, which governs all Things. Its being ſet upon the Earth, denotes the Steadineſs of Providence, which nothing is able to unſettle; its reaching up to Heaven ſignifies its Univerſality, or that it extends to all Things; the ſeveral Steps of the Ladder are the Motions and Actions of Providence; the Angels going up and down ſhew, that they are the great Miniſters of Providence, never idle, but always employ'd in the Preſervation of the Juſt; their Aſcending means their going up to receive the divine Orders and Commands; and their Deſcending their coming down upon Earth to put them in Execution. So that, in this Hieroglyphick, God ſignified to Jacob, now full of Care and uneaſy Apprehenſions, that the Man, who was under the Cuſtody and Protection of divine Providence, wanted not Company, in a Wilderneſs; wanted not Security, in the midſt of Dangers; wanted not Direction, in the moſt difficult Undertakings; ſince there were ſo many miniſtring Spirits, holding Correſpondence between Earth and Heaven, and daily and hourly ſent forth from God's Preſence to miniſter unto them, who ſhall be Heirs of Salvation.

Other Interpretations there are in great Numbers, but too full of Fancies and Conceits to be here taken Notice of: One however ſeems a little more ſolid, and may not undeſerve our Obſervation. The Promiſe (we may remember, ſays Heidigger) which God, introduc'd as making to Jacob from the Top of the Ladder, does chiefly relate to his Covenant with Abraham, which was principally founded in Chriſt, that choſen Seed, in whom all the Families of the Earth were to be bleſſed: And, the Analogy of the Thing may induce us to believe, that this Ladder was deſigned for a Type and Emblem of the Covenant of Grace, which was in Force from the Time of Man's firſt Apoſtaſy; but began to be put in Execution at the Incarnation of our Saviour Chriſt, that only Mediator, who open'd an Intercourſe between Earth and Heaven; by whoſe Interceſſion Plenty of all ſpiritual Bleſſings deſcend to us, and by whoſe Merits and Doctrines our Natures are ſanctified, and ſo become meet to become Partakers with the Saints in Light, or to aſcend into Heaven. And to this myſtical Meaning of the Ladder, our Saviour himſelf may be thought to allude, when he tells us, that Hereafter ye ſhall ſee Heaven open, and the Angels of God aſcending and deſcending upon the Son of Man, John i. 51. which Bullinger, a learned Commentator, has, in this Manner paraphraſed. 'Ye have heard, no doubt, of 'thoſe of old, that ſeveral Things, relating to the 'Meſſias, have been repreſented by Jacob's Ladder; 'and ye are to know, that they are all now to be ac-'compliſh'd in me, until the Time of my Aſſumption 'into Heaven. Ye ſhall know, that Heaven, which 'by the Sin and Corruption of Mankind was ſhut in 'Adam, ſhall, by my Diſpenſation and Doctrine, be 'opened again; and that God, being reconciled to the 'World by me, ſhall continue in Covenant with them 'for ever. Ye ſhall know that I am that Ladder, and 'Way to Heaven, by which ye may gain Admittance to 'the Father; for I am he, that unites Heaven and 'Earth together, ſo that from hence-forward the 'Angels ſhall be continually paſſing from one to the 'other. In ſhort, ye ſhall know, that I am the Lord 'not only of the viſible Creation, but the Prince like-'wiſe of Angels, and all inviſible Spirits, even the true 'God. This, I ſay, ye ſhall henceforth more fully 'know by my Doctrine, my Miracles, my Death, my 'glorious Reſurrection, and triumphant Aſcenſion into 'Heaven.'

Thus, according to the Declaration which God makes from the Top of the Ladder, it ſeems reaſonable to imagine, that he might have a twofold Deſign in making this Repreſentation to Jacob, viz. by a proper Type, to prefigure the Incarnation of his Son, which, like this Ladder, joined Heaven and Earth, the divine and human Nature together; and, by a proper Emblem of the Angels aſcending and deſcending upon it, to give him an Evidence of the watchful Providence of God that attended him. The former of theſe Deſigns might perhaps be a little too abſtruſe for Jacob's Comprehenſion at preſent, but the latter he immediately underſtood; and therefore we find him, as ſoon as he aroſe, (out of a grateful Senſe of the divine Goodneſs in ſending him a Viſion ſo full of Conſolation) erecting and conſecrating a Pillar, in order to perpetuate the Memory of ſo momentous an Event.

It is the Opinion of ſome Commentators indeed, that, to preſerve the Memory of his heavenly Viſion, Jacob took the Stone, whereon his Head lay, and wherein they diſcern nothing extraordinary, and ſet it up for a Monument, or Pillar, upon the Top of ſome other Stones, which he had gather'd, and heap'd together: But, beſides that the Fancy of an Heap of Stones ſeems unworthy of the holy Scriptures, and betrays us into a low and trifling Idea of this great Affair; there is not the leaſt Ground, from the Text itſelf, nor from this ſymbolical Way of tranſmitting Facts to future Generations, to ſuppoſe, that there was any more than one ſingle Stone.

The Word Matzeba, which our Interpreters render a Pillar, is by the Septuagint, tranſlated Spelè, by the vulgar Latin, Titulus; and from hence ſeveral, both Antients and Moderns, have ſuppos'd, that there was an Inſcriptian upon this Pillar. The Manner of conſecrating this Pillar was, by pouring Oil upon it, which Jacob might have by him, without a Miracle, (conſidering how common the Uſe of Oil was in thoſe hot Countries) to refreſh the Limbs, when weary with travelling, and how neceſſary upon that Account it was to carry ſome with him in his Journey. Nor is there any Reaſon to ſuppoſe, that Jacob made uſe of this Form of Conſecration, in Compliance with the Cuſtom of the Country where he then was. It is uncertain whether this Cuſtom was eſtabliſh'd in Jacob's Time; but, if it was, it is hardly credible, that a pious Man, as he is repreſented, would have adopted a ſuperſtitious Ceremony into the Worſhip of the true God. The much more probable Opinion therefore is, that as the Rites of ſacrificing and Circumciſion were inſtituted before the Promulgation of the Law, ſo this Manner of conſecrating Things, by Way of Unction or Libation, was firſt enjoin'd the Patriarchs Abraham and Iſaac by God, and, either by Precept or Tradition from them, came afterwards to be practis'd by Jacob. Nor is it unlikely, but that Jacob's Practice in this Particular, and the great Veneration, which was afterwards paid to his Monumental Pillar, might give Occaſion to the worſhipping ſuch erected Stones in future Ages, and (upon ſuch Abuſe) of God's ſo ſtrictly prohibiting any to be ſet up: Ye ſhall not make ye any Idols or graven Image, neither ſhall ye rear up any Matzeba (Statue or Pillar) to bow down unto it, for I am the Lord your God, Levit xxvi. 1.

In the religious Senſe of the Word then, Matzeba may properly ſignify a large conſecrated Stone, erected Pillar-wiſe, before which Proſtrations and Adorations were made, and upon which Oblations and Libations, but not any bloody Sacrifices, were preſented: But then the Queſtion is, how Jacob could think to ſecure this Monument from being thrown down by the Natives, or Paſſengers, or how he could impoſe a-new Name upon it, and eſtabliſh that Name in future Ages, when the Place had a Name before, and no Perſon was preſent to bear Teſtimony of what he did. This indeed the Scripture gives us no manner of Account of, and therefore (if we do it but modeſtly) we are left at Liberty to make our own Conjectures.

According to the antient Verſions of the Word, we may ſuppoſe, that there was upon this Stone ſome legible and intelligible Title, or Inſcription; nor is it improbable, that the Title ſhould be, what the Patriarch, in a ſort of Extaſy, called it, Bethel, or the Houſe of God. How Jacob might be provided with an Iron Pen, or Stile, for the Purpoſe of engraving this Title, can be no difficult Thing to imagine, if we do but conſider, that the Stile was the common Inſtrument of writing in thoſe Days, which every Scholar uſed to carry about with him, and which Jacob, having led a ſtudious and contemplative Life under his Father and Grandfather, and (as ſome ſuppoſe) under Melchiſedech likewiſe, was not unqualified to make uſe of; and that the very antient, if not univerſal Cuſtom of erecting, anointing, and conſecrating ſuch-like Stones, with an Inſcription, either literal or hieroglyphical, and ſometimes both, could hardly have any other Foundation than this Practice of his.

But, beſides the bare Inſcription of the Name, and Title of the Stone, there might probably be yet ſomething more, to attract the Eyes of the Traveller, and to raiſe a Veneration for the Place. And therefore, admitting the Stone to be ſquare, we find that there were two Oaths, as it were, taken upon it, by the covenanting Parties, i. e. the Oath of God to Jacob, repeating the Subſtance of what he had ſworn to his Fathers, and limiting it to him, and his Seed; and the Oath of Jacob to God, obliging himſelf and his Poſterity, to ſuch a conſtant Homage, as is therein ſpecified; and hereupon we may infer, that for the better Preſervation of the Memory of this great League, there might be written, on one Side, the Obligation of God, exactly in the Terms of the 13th, 14th, and 15th Verſes, and on the oppoſite, the Obligation of Jacob, as expreſs'd by him in the three laſt Verſes of this Chapter. And, becauſe it was neceſſary, that the Name of the Perſon who erected, and conſecrated the Stone, ſhould be preſerved, we may farther ſuppoſe, that, as God's ſigning this Covenant on his Part might be in this Form, ANI JEHOVAH, ELOHE ABRAHAM, ELOHE ISAAC, I the Lord, the God of Abraham, the God of Iſaac; by Parity of Reaſon, Jacob's ſigning might run thus; ANI JACOB, BEN ISAAC, BEN ABRAHAM, I Jacob, the Son of Iſaac, the Son of Abraham.

On the vacant Sides of the Stone, we may ſuppoſe again, that the other awful Sentences, which Jacob, upon this Occaſion, pronounced, How dreadful is this Place; this is the Gate of Heaven, and verily the Lord is in this Place! Ver. 16, 17. were engraven: And, becauſe a very early Cuſtom of crowning ſuch publick Pillars with Garlands, might very likely take its Riſe from Jacob's Practice at this Time, we may therefore be allow'd to make one Conjecture more, viz. that as Luz, near which this Tranſaction happen'd, had its Name from a Grove of Almond-trees, not far diſtant from it; ſo Jacob might think it very decent, in Memory of the divine Favours there receiv'd, to crown and adorn the Top of this titular Stone, with a Garland of Almond-Branches taken from thence. All this, we allow, is no more than Suppoſition and Conjecture: But, without ſome ſuch Contrivance as this, how could this Stone have been an Inſtrument to perpetuate the Memory of any Event? How, a Means of Jacob's impoſing a new Name upon a Place that was entirely in the Poſſeſſion of others? Well might the Natives, or Proprietors aſk, by what Authority this was done; and, ſince Jacob was not there to give them an Anſwer, his only Way would be to leave the Hiſtory, and Occaſion of it, engraven upon the very Stone.

And indeed, without ſome ſuch Suppoſition, why ſhould this Stone, even by different Nations, be accounted ſuch a valuable Piece of Antiquity? Why ſhould the Jews be ſo fond to have it thought, that they had it in the Sanctuary of their ſecond Temple, and that upon it the Ark of the Covenant was placed? Since the Deſtruction of their Temple, why ſhould it be their Cuſtom, one Day in a Year, with great Lamentation, to go, and anoint this Stone, in Remembrance of their Father Jacob, and the Covenant made with him? And why ſhould the Mahometans pretend, that they have this Stone (tho' by Miſtake of one Patriarch for another, they call it the Stone of Abraham) ſet up at their Temple at Mecca, which they make their common Kibla, or Point of Worſhip, and before which the Pilgrims pay their ſolemn Devotions?

Theſe, we allow, may be no more than falſe Pretences; but ſtill they are an Evidence, that this Pillar was once held in high Veneration, which it could hardly have been, but muſt very ſoon have been buried in Oblivion and Rubbiſh, had it been no more than a large ragged Stone, without any Thing to diſtinguiſh it, i. e. without any Sculpture, or Inſcription on it. And therefore, (notwithſtanding the Silence of Scripture) we have ſufficient Reaſon to conclude, that this Pillar was erected in order to preſerve the Memory of the heavenly Viſion, which God, in this Place, vouchſafed Jacob; that to this purpoſe it was engraven with ſuch Inſcriptions, as might give Poſterity ſufficient Intelligence upon what Occaſion it was erected; that, by Means of ſuch Inſcriptions, it came to be recogniz'd as Jacob's Pillar, and held in great Eſteem in future Generations; that this Pillar thus engraved, (as it is the firſt of its Kind that we have upon Record, gave probably the Origin to the Invention of Stelography, or the antient Manner of writing upon Stone, ever after; and that the Conſecration of this Stone, and the Impoſition of a new Name upon the Place where it ſtood, is enough to juſtify the Practice of ſanctifying Places, appointed for religious Worſhip, by ſome ſolemn Form of Separation; of calling them the Houſe of God, and imputing to them a relative Holineſs; in Chriſtian Countries, of dedicating them to the Memory of departed Saints and Martyrs; and every where, of obſerving that wholeſome and devout Advice of the Preacher: Keep thy Foot, when thou goeſt into the Houſe of God, and be more ready to hear, than to give the Sacrifice of Fools. Be not raſh with thy Mouth, and let not thine Heart be haſty to utter any Thing before God, for he is in Heaven, and thou upon Earth, therefore let thy Words be few, Eccleſ. v. 1, 2.

And poured Oil upon the Top of it] Hence it ſeems evident, that Jacob did not leave his Father's Houſe, without being firſt provided for his Journey; for it cannot be thought, that if he wanted other Neceſſaries, he would have carried Oil along with him, and that in ſuch Plenty, as to pour it out, in ſuch a ſeemingly profuſe Manner, upon an inanimate Subject.

And Jacob vowed a Vow] Several Annotators have obſerv'd, that this is the firſt Vow that we read of in Scripture; but this is no Reaſon for ſuppoſing, that Jacob was the firſt who worſhipped in this Manner, but rather that in this he did no more than what his Fathers, Abraham and Iſaac, had done before him, and as they had inſtructed him, both by Example and Precept. As for Abraham, tho' there be no Mention made expreſly of a Vow, yet very certain it is, that in effect he did the ſame Thing. For when the Lord is ſaid to have made a Covenant with him, Abraham, on his Part, muſt be ſuppoſed to expreſs his Conſent and Acceptation of it; and not only ſo, but to vow and promiſe to perform the Conditions, in order to attain the Benefit of it. And in like Manner, when Iſaac is ſaid to have entreated the Lord for his Wife, 'tis highly probable that he vowed a Vow to God, that upon his Performance of the Promiſe of multiplying his Seed, &c. he would, on his Part, as an Acknowledgment of it, make ſome or other ſuitable Return; for the Word, which we render entreat, in its Original, has a much ſtronger Signification, and denotes a ſolliciting of Favours, whether from God or Man, by Gifts, Vows, or Promiſes. So that we may juſtly conclude, that his Son did not do this of his own Head, or upon an immediate Revelation commanding him ſo to do, but that he was before taught, and inſtructed by his Father in this Solemnity, as a Part both of natural and poſitive Religion. See Biblioth. Bibl.

If God will give me Bread to eat, and Raiment to put on] Which two Articles comprize all the Neceſſaries of Life, and therefore we find them, in the Writings of the Philoſophers, always put together. For theſe are the Bounds, ſays Seneca, which Nature has ſet us, that we ſhould not hunger, nor thirſt, nor be cold: For our Diet and Dreſs, ſays Tully, ſhould contribute to our Health and Strength, not to Luxury or Pleaſure. We may obſerve however farther, that, by the Patriarch's covenanting here with God only for Food and Raiment, does appear the groſs Miſtake of thoſe, who pretend, that he ſupplanted his Brother for covetous Ends, as if his Father's Eſtate, and the Poſſeſſion of a rich Country for himſelf, and his Heirs, were the Things which he had only in View. See Le Clerc. and Biblioth. Bibl.

And of all that thou ſhalt give me, I will ſurely give the Tenth unto thee] This, ſays Patrick, is the ſecond Mention of Tythes or Tenths, and the firſt Dedication of them to God; and, from this Place we may fairly conclude, that Jacob, the Grand-child of Abraham, vowing the Tenth of all (as Abraham had given the Tenth of the Spoil) was induced to do it by the Cuſtom which then prevailed among religious People. How they came to pitch upon this Portion, rather than a fifth, a ſixth, or any other Quantity, is not ſo eaſy to be reſolved; but they ſeem to ſpeak with much Reaſon, who obſerve, that in this Number ten, all Nations in a Manner do end their Account, and then begin again with compound Numbers, or (as others phraſe it) that this is the End of leſs Numbers, and the Beginning of the greater; for which Reaſon it was looked upon as the moſt perfect of all other, and accordingly had in great Regard. But, after all, it ſeems moſt likely, that they had ſome divine Precept and Direction for it. At this Time, 'tis certain, that the Order of Prieſthood was not inſtituted; and therefore the only Purpoſes, to which Jacob could appropriate the Tythes, he gave, were either, for the Maintenance of Burnt-ſacrifices, and other pious Uſes, or perhaps for the Relief of the Poor. But how, and when he actually performed his Vow, does no where appear in Scripture, unleſs it was on his Return from Padan-Aran (Gen. xxxv. 17.) when he built an Altar at El Bethel, and ſet up a Pillar in the Place, where God had talked with him, and poured a Drink-offering, and Oil thereon.

CHAP. XXIX.

Jacob comes to the Well of Haran, and enquires of the Shepherds about Laban, whoſe Daughter Rachel ſoon appears with her Sheep, which Jacob waters; he makes himſelf known to her, ſhe runs and acquaints her Father with it; they meet and embrace. Jacob agrees to ſerve him ſeven Years for his Daughter Rachel, but on the Wedding Night, her Father cheats him by ſubſtituting Leah in her Room, and obliges him to ſerve ſeven Years more for Rachel; Leah is fruitful, but her Siſter barren.

Ver. 1. THen Jacob went on his journey, and came into the land of the people of the eaſt. 2 And he looked, and behold, a well in the field, and lo, there were three flocks of ſheep lying by it; for out of that well they watered the flocks: and a great ſtone was upon the wells mouth. 3 And thither were all the flocks gathered: and they rolled the ſtone from the wells mouth, and watered the ſheep, and put the ſtone again upon the wells mouth in his place. 4 And Jacob ſaid unto them, My brethren, whence be ye? And they ſaid, of Haran are we. 5 And he ſaid unto them, Know ye Laban the ſon of Nahor? And they ſaid, We know him. 6 And he ſaid unto them, Is he well? And they ſaid, He is well: and behold, Rachel his daughter cometh with the ſheep. 7 And he ſaid, Lo, it is yet high day, neither is it time that the cattel ſhould be gathered together: water ye the ſheep, and go and feed them. 8 And they ſaid, We cannot, until all the flocks be gathered together, and till they roll the ſtone from the wells mouth; then we water the ſheep. 9 And while he yet ſpake with them, Rachel came with her fathers ſheep: for ſhe kept them. 10 And it came to paſs, when Jacob ſaw Rachel the daughter of Laban his mothers brother, and the ſheep of Laban his mothers brother; that Jacob went near, and rolled the ſtone from the wells mouth, and watered the flock of Laban his mothers brother. 11 And Jacob kiſſed Rachel, and lifted up his voice, and wept. 12 And Jacob told Rachel that he was her fathers brother, and that he was Rebekahs ſon: and ſhe ran and told her father. 13 And it came to paſs, when Laban heard the tidings of Jacob his ſiſters ſon, that he ran to meet him, and embraced him, and kiſſed him, and brought him to his houſe. And he told Laban all theſe things. 14 And Laban ſaid to him, Surely thou art my bone and my fleſh: and he abode with him the ſpace of a month. 15 And Laban ſaid unto Jacob, Becauſe thou art my brother, ſhouldeſt thou therefore ſerve me for nought? tell me, what ſhall thy wages be? 16 And Laban had two daughters: the name of the elder was Leah, and the name of the younger was Rachel. 17 Leah was tender-eyed, but Rachel was beautiful and well-favoured. 18 And Jacob loved Rachel; and ſaid, I will ſerve thee ſeven years for Rachel thy younger daughter. 19 And Laban ſaid, It is better that I give her to thee, than that I ſhould give her to another man: abide with me. 20 And Jacob ſerved ſeven years for Rachel: and they ſeemed unto him but a few days, for the love he had unto her. 21 And Jacob ſaid unto Laban, Give me my wife (for my days are fulfilled) that I may go in unto her. 22 And Laban gathered together all the men of the place, and made a feaſt. 23 And it came to paſs in the evening, that he took Leah his daughter, and brought her to him: and he went in unto her. 24 And Laban gave unto his daughter Leah, Zilpah his maid, for an handmaid. 25 And it came to paſs, that in the morning, behold it was Leah: and he ſaid to Laban, What is this thou haſt done unto me? did not I ſerve with thee for Rachel? Wherefore then haſt thou beguiled me? 26 And Laban ſaid, It muſt not be ſo done in our country, to give the younger before the firſt-born. 27 Fulfil her week, and we will give thee this alſo, for the ſervice which thou ſhalt ſerve with me yet ſeven other years. 28 And Jacob did ſo, and fulfilled her week: and he gave him Rachel his daughter to wife alſo. 29 And Laban gave to Rachel his daughter Bilhah his handmaid, to be her maid. 30 And he went in alſo unto Rachel, and he loved alſo Rachel more than Leah, and ſerved with him yet ſeven other years. 31 And when the Lord ſaw that Leah was hated, he opened her womb: but Rachel was barren. 32 And Leah conceived and bare a ſon; and ſhe called his name Reuben: for ſhe ſaid, Surely the Lord hath looked upon my affliction; now therefore my huſband will love me. 33 And ſhe conceived again, and bare a ſon; and ſaid, Becauſe the Lord hath heard that I was hated, he hath therefore given me this ſon alſo: and ſhe called his name Simeon. 34 And ſhe conceived again, and bare a ſon; and ſaid, Now this time will my huſband be joyned unto me, becauſe I have borne him three ſons: therefore was his name called Levi. 35 And ſhe conceived again, and bare a ſon; and ſhe ſaid, Now will I praiſe the Lord: therefore ſhe called his name Judah, and left bearing.

Then Jacob went on his Journey, and came to the Land of the People in the Eaſt] From this Paſſage ſome have imagined, ſays Bedford, that he travelled Eaſtward. But this is a Miſtake, becauſe Meſopotamia, and particularly Haran, lay Northward from Bethel. Babylon however lay Eaſtward from both Places; and therefore Meſopotamia being Part of the Babyloniſh Dominions, the Babylonians might well be called the People of the Eaſt, and Jacob is only ſaid to have gone into a Country, of which they were Lords and Maſters.

And behold, Rachel—] Rachel, ſays Patrick, in the Hebrew Tongue, ſignifies a Sheep: Nor need we wonder at her being called ſo, ſince it was a common Thing among the Antients, to give Names, not only to particular Perſons, but even to conſiderable Families (as the Words Porcius, Ovilius, Caprilius, Equilius, &c. mentioned by Varro, ſufficiently ſhews) from Cattle, both great and ſmall. Much leſs Reaſon have we to wonder, that we find her keeping her Father's Sheep, ſince that Employment, in thoſe early Days, was accounted very honourable, as from Homer, and other antient Writings, is ſufficiently evident. We need not ſuppoſe however, that the whole Drudgery of the Work lay upon her; ſhe had thoſe under her, who took this off her Hands, and her Buſineſs was only, as the chief Shepherdeſs, to inſpect over them.

And they ſaid, we cannot, until all the Flocks be gathered together, and till they roll the Stone from the Wells Mouth; then we water the Sheep] The Jews, ſays Pool, who have invented a hundred abſurd Stories, to the Memory of this their great Founder, do not ſcruple to affirm this to have been by the Means of a miraculous Strength then conferred upon Jacob; whereas it is obvious to any Man of common Senſe, that the Meaning of the Shepherds is no more than we cannot, becauſe we may not; that is, becauſe it is not the Cuſtom of this Place: The Eaſtern Nations being very exact in obſerving ſettled Cuſtoms in theſe Reſpects; as a Well is of great Value with them, by Reaſon of the Scarcity of Water, eſpecially good Water, in thoſe hot Countries; and hence it is, we read in Scripture, of ſo many Diſputes about Wells.

And he told Laban all theſe Things] The Things which Jacob inform'd his Uncle Laban of at this Time, may be ſuppoſed to be ſuch as related to the Occaſion of his Journey; as, particularly, all that had paſſed between his Brother and him, as to the Right of Primogeniture; the Purchaſe which he had made of it, and what enſued; their two different Manners of living; the Deſign of his Father, with reſpect to them; the Management of the Mother, to procure him the Bleſſing; the Reſentment of his Brother at this Diſappointment; the prudent Diſmiſſion of himſelf thereupon, both by Father and Mother; the Diſpleaſure they had conceived at his Brother's matching himſelf into ſtrange Families; and the ſtrict Orders they had therefore given him, to take a Wife out of his own Kindred, and of the Houſe of his Mother's Father, which was the Reaſon of his coming thither; and, laſtly, the wonderful Occurrences he had met with on his Journey, more eſpecially, as to the whole Affair of Bethel, and the happy Meeting of his Daughter at the Well, to his great and ſurprizing Satisfaction. See Biblioth. Bibl.

And Jacob loved Rachel, and ſaid I will ſerve thee ſeven Years for Rachel thy younger Daughter] It was a Cuſtom, which had prevailed almoſt in all Ages, that, in contracting Marriages, as the Wife brought a Portion to the Huſband, ſo likewiſe the Huſband ſhould likewiſe be obliged to give her, or her Parents, Money or Preſents, (which ſometimes in Scripture are called the Dowry) in lieu of this Portion: But Jacob, being deſtitute of Money, offers his Uncle ſeven Years Service which muſt needs have been equivalent to a large Sum; and being ſo, it is more to be wondered at, that he did not ſend over to his Parents, for a Supply, upon this Occaſion, rather than bind himſelf a Servant for ſo long a Term. But, from the Cuſtom in Uſe among us, there is no Judgment to be made what the Cuſtom and Practice was then. See Bibl. Bib. and Le Clerc's Com.

And it came to paſs in the Evening, that he took Leah his Daughter, and brought her to him, and he went in unto her] The Modeſty of thoſe Times, ſays Howell, made them bring the Bride to the Huſband's Bed veiled, and without Lights, which gave Laban an Opportunity to impoſe upon Jacob, and made it a Thing almoſt impoſſible for him to diſcern the Deception, until next Morning.

And he gave him Rachel his Daughter to Wife alſo] Jacob has been charged with the complicated Sin of Polygamy and Inceſt in marrying two Siſters. Stackhouſe in diſcourſing upon this Paſſage, ſays, that, in the Matter of Leah, he was perfectly impoſed upon; that he had no Deſign of having any Communion with her; was contracted to her Siſter; and, in all Probability, had he enjoy'd her firſt, would never had Concern with any other. But the Misfortune was, that, in the others nuptial Night, he had carnal Knowledge of her, and thereupon was induced to think, that he could not honeſtly leave her. Her Siſter Rachel was all this while (bating Conſummation) his lawful Wife, to whom he was contracted, to whom he was ſolemnly married; and therefore he could not in Juſtice relinquiſh her neither. In this Dilemma he was, in a Manner, under a Neceſſity of adhering to both; and, as Polygamy was not at that Time interdicted, he thought, he might do it without any Violation of the Laws of God. The only Queſtion is, whether he did not incur the Sin of Inceſt in ſo doing? and to this ſome Jewiſh Doctors anſwer, that the Prohibition of Marriages, within ſuch Degrees of Conſanguinity, was reſtrain'd to the Land of Canaan only; and that therefore it was not unlawful for Jacob, in Haran, to take two Siſters, nor for Amram in Egypt, to take his Father's Siſter: And to this Purpoſe they obſerve farther, that in the Moſaic Law itſelf, and particularly in the xxth Chapter of Leviticus, where the Sentence of Exciſion is pronounced againſt inceſtuous Marriages, there is no Puniſhment aſſign'd to him, who ſhall marry two Siſters, which as they will have it, was, for the Honour of Jacob, omitted. However this be, 'tis certain that there is no ſuch Toleration under the Chriſtian Diſpenſation; and therefore he, who pretends to pronounce any Thing upon a Caſe ſo ſingular as this of our Patriarch's is, ſhould conſider the different State of Things, before the Promulgation of the Law; during the Obligation of it; and ſince the Commencement of the Goſpel; which undoubtedly prohibits both a Plurality in Wives, and Conſanguinity in Marriages, and requires of its Votaries the ſtricteſt Chaſtity, from a Conſideration and Motive, which neither the Law of Nature, nor the Law of Moſes, knew any Thing of: Ye are not your own, for ye are bought with a Price, therefore glorify God in your Body, and in your Spirit, which are God's, 1 Cor. vi. 19, 20.

Fulfil her Week, and we will give thee this alſo, for the Service which thou ſhalt ſerve with me yet ſeven other Years] Some are of Opinion, that by her Week (as it is in the Text) we are to underſtand, a Week of Years, or ſeven Years, and conſequently, that to fulfil her Week was as much as to ſay. that Jacob was to ſerve other ſeven Years for Rachel, before he was to marry her. Some old Engliſh Verſions, render it thus: But the Order of the Story ſeems to gainſay it. For, tho' Jacob liv'd with Laban twenty Years, it is plain, that at the End of the fourteenth Year, he propoſed to part, and return home, and yet we may obſerve, that Rachel (tho' ſhe had been a good while barren) had borne Joſeph before that Time, which could not have been, had ſhe not have been married before the End of his ſecond ſeven Years Service. Since Laban then (as we read Ver. 22.) had invited a great deal of Company, and the Cuſtom, in thoſe Days, was, to devote a whole Week to the nuptial Solemnities, the plain Senſe of his Words to Jacob (according to Selden's ſhort Comment on them) is this; — Since Marriages are to be celebrated, 'according to Cuſtom, by a ſeven Days Feaſt; com-'pleat this Marriage, thou haſt begun with Leah, and, 'then, upon Condition of another ſeven Years Service, 'thou ſhalt marry Rachel alſo, and keep her wedding 'Feaſt ſeven Days.' And the Reaſon why Laban was ſo deſirous of this, was, that a Week's Cohabitation with Leah might be a Means, either to knit Jacob's Affection to her, or, at leaſt, to confirm the Marriage ſo, that it ſhould not be in his Power to diſannul it. See Le Clerc, Patrick, Howel, and Pool.

or

And ſhe conceived again, and bare a Son; and ſhe ſaid, now will I praiſe the Lord] Leah, ſays Pool, had good Reaſon to rejoice, and hope to gain her Huſband's Affection, conſidering how great a Bleſſing a numerous Offſpring was accounted throughout the Eaſt; from whence ſhe believed that Jacob would eſteem her on her becoming fruitful, rather than her Siſter, who brought him no Children. Beſides, Fruitfulneſs was, on good Grounds, to be reckoned a greater Bleſſing in Jacob's Family than any other, and conſequently Barrenneſs a great Reproach; becauſe the bleſſed Seed was to proceed from his Loins; all which made Leah conclude, and that not without great Probability, that ſhe ſhould now become the beſt beloved, tho' we do not find that Jacob's Affection to Rachel abated in the leaſt, by Reaſon of her having no Children.

CHAP. XXX.

Rachel, envying her Siſter for her Fruitfulneſs, paſſionately demands Children of her Huſband, who reproves her for her raſh Speech; ſhe gives him her Maid Bilhah, who bears him Dan and Napthali. Leah, ceaſing to bear, gives him alſo her Maid Zilpah, who brings him Gad and Aſher. The two Siſters differ about Reuben's Mandrakes, but at laſt come to an Agreement. God remembers Rachel, who conceives, and bears Joſeph. Jacob deſires to return into his own Country with his Family; Laban entreats him to ſtay; upon which they make a new Contract. Jacob's Policy, and the Succeſs thereof.

Ver. 1. AND when Rachel ſaw that ſhe bare Jacob no children, Rachel envied her ſiſter; and ſaid unto Jacob, Give me children, or elſe I die. 2 And Jacobs anger was kindled againſt Rachel; and he ſaid, Am I in Gods ſtead; who hath withheld from thee the fruit of the womb? 3 And ſhe ſaid, Behold, my maid Bilhah, go in unto her; and ſhe ſhall bear upon my knees, that I may alſo have children by her. 4 And ſhe gave him Bilhah her handmaid to wife, and Jacob went in unto her. 5 And Bilhah conceived and bare Jacob a ſon. 6 And Rachel ſaid, God hath judged me, and hath alſo heard my voice, and hath given me a ſon: therefore called ſhe his name Dan. 7 And Bilhah Rachels maid conceived again, and bare Jacob a ſecond ſon. 8 And Rachel ſaid, With great wreſtlings have I wreſtled with my ſiſter, and I have prevailed: and ſhe called his name Naphtali. 9 When Leah ſaw that ſhe had left bearing, ſhe took Zilpah her maid, and gave her Jacob to wife. 10 And Zilpah Leahs maid bare Jacob a ſon. 11 And Leah ſaid, A troop cometh: and ſhe called his name Gad. 12 And Zilpah Leahs maid bare Jacob a ſecond ſon. 13 And Leah ſaid, Happy am I, for the daughters will call me bleſſed: and ſhe called his name Aſher. 14 And Reuben went in the days of wheat harveſt, and found mandrakes in the field, and brought them unto his mother Leah. Then Rachel ſaid to Leah, Give me, I pray thee, of thy ſons mandrakes. 15 And ſhe ſaid unto her, Is it a ſmall matter that thou haſt taken my huſband? and wouldſt thou take away my ſons mandrakes alſo? and Rachel ſaid, Therefore he ſhall lie with thee to night for thy ſons mandrakes. 16 And Jacob came out of the field in the evening, and Leah went out to meet him, and ſaid, Thou muſt come in unto me, for ſurely I have hired thee with my ſons mandrakes. And he lay with her that night. 17 And God hearkened unto Leah, and ſhe conceived, and bare Jacob the fifth ſon. 18 And Leah ſaid, God hath given me mine hire, becauſe I have given my maiden to my huſband: and ſhe called his name Iſſachar. 19 And Leah conceived again, and bare Jacob the ſixth ſon. 20 And Leah ſaid, God hath endued me with a good dowry; now will my huſband dwell with me, becauſe I have borne him ſix ſons: and ſhe called his name Zebulun. 21 And afterwards ſhe bare a daughter, and called her name Dinah. 22 And God remembered Rachel, and God hearkened to her, and opened her womb. 23 And ſhe conceived and bare a ſon; and ſaid, God hath taken away my reproach. 24 And ſhe called his name Joſeph; and ſaid, The Lord ſhall add to me another ſon.

And ſhe ſaid, behold my Maid Bilhah: go in unto her] We may obſerve, ſays Pool, in Rachel, the Image of her Grandmother Sarah, both in the Beauty of her Perſon, in her Actions, and her Succeſs. She, alſo, will ſubſtitute her Handmaid, to make her a Mother, and at laſt, beyond all Hope, herſelf conceives. It is a weak Greedineſs and Impatience in us to acquire God's Bleſſings by unlawful Means. What a Proof and Praiſe had it been of her Faith, if ſhe had waited God's appointed Time, and would rather have endured her Barrenneſs, than her Huſband's Polygamy? now ſhe ſhews herſelf the true Daughter of Laban; and as he through Covetouſneſs, ſo ſhe and her Siſter, through Emulation, drew Sin into Jacob's Bed: He offended in yielding, but they more ſo in ſolliciting him; and therefore the Fact is not imputed to him, but to them. In thoſe Sins which Satan draws us into, the Blame is his, and the greateſt Part and Puniſhment is due to the Tempter; but in thoſe which we draw each other into the Blame is ours. None of the Patriarchs divided his Seed into ſo many Wombs as Jacob; nor was ever any one of them ſo much croſs'd in his Seed.

And ſhe ſhall bear upon my Knees] That it was a very antient Cuſtom, ſays Stackhouſe, not only among the Hebrews, but with many other Nations, and particularly the Grecks and Romans, in the Marriages both of their Sons and Daughters, and eſpecially of the latter, for the Parents to give with the Bride or Bridegroom, as Part of the Portion or Dowry, a Servant to abide in their Power and Property, is a Matter ſo plain, from ſundry Examples, that it needs no conteſting. 'The great great Difficulty is, — For what Reaſon it was, that thoſe Matrons of old were ſo very deſirous, that their Huſbands ſhould have Commerce with theſe their dotal Maids, in Caſe they had no Children of their own: And for the Solution of this we muſt obſerve, that, according to the principles of the oldeſt Philoſophy, SPIRIT is the univerſal efficient Cauſe in Nature, but eſpecially in Generation, and in human Generation moſt of all; ſo that a ſpiritual Conception muſt neceſſarily precede, and direct every bodily one, in ſo much that there can be no corporeal Conception without a ſpiritual one, but a ſpiritual there may be, without a corporeal one, i. e. when the Matter, or Medium, is not adapted to that Purpoſe. Now this Poſition being laid down, it may be obſerved farther, that theſe Matrons very probably were not ignorant, that the Mother contributes nothing, of herſelf, towards the Formation of the Fœtus, and, much leſs, to its Inſpiration with Life, but merely the Bearing it in her womb; and hence they might infer, that the Bearing it in the Womb was not ſufficient of itſelf to confer a Right to the Fruit of it, which came thither they knew not how, which they had no Hand in the Faſhioning of, and which they were no more able to quicken, than they were to enliven a dead Body. It being therefore no ſtrange Thing, in thoſe Days, for one Man to raiſe up Seed for another, or to propagate by another; by Parity of Reaſon, they might conclude, that one Woman might do the ſame for another, or bear in her ſtead, under ſuch and ſuch Circumſtances, by the Union and Co-operation of their Wills, a ſtrong Attraction of the Imagination in two conſociating into one. And this was the Conſideration which moved them to preſs this Matter ſo very earneſtly as they did: When finding, that, after they had ſpiritually conceived of their Huſbands, by taking into them an ideal Image for Elaboration, there was wanting Strength in them to bear, and to work out what they had received; they could afterwards have no greater Pleaſure, than to appoint one, who ſhould faithfully ſupply that Part, (wherein they themſelves were defective) and thereby be able not only to remedy the Reproach of their Barrenneſs, but to eſtabliſh a ſtronger Intereſt in the Family for themſelves, and for all that they could call their own.

The bearing upon the Knees therefore (as the Expreſſion is in Moſes) muſt certainly denote ſomething more, than that Rachel deſign'd to make herſelf a Nurſe to her Maid, or ſet a Child upon her Knees, as her own, in which ſhe had no Part or Portion; but that her Servant ſhould conceive, and become with Child through her as in her Preſence, and as it were upon her Knees, to the End that her Miſtreſs might be made a Mother by her Inſtrumentality, and might have Children, whom ſhe cou'd call her own, tho' not born of her Body. And, accordingly, we may obſerve, that Rachel herſelf had this Notion of the Matter; for, upon the Birth of her firſt Son, born to her by her Subſtitute, ſhe expreſly declares that God had given her a Son, and (as the Cuſtom for Mothers then was) herſelf impoſed on him a Name, as a Mark of her thinking him really to be her's.

And Reuben went in the Days of Wheat-harveſt, and found Mandrakes in the Field] Calmet, in his Dictionary, gives us a Deſciption of this Plant, as it is found in the French King's Gardens. — Its Root is white, and ſomewhat rough; is two or three Times as big again as its Stem, and always grows taper. Generally, at ſome Diſtance from its upper Part, it divides into two Branches, which is the Reaſon that this Root has ſomething of the Figure of a Man, whoſe two Thighs are repreſented by the two Branches. From the Sides of the Root proceeded a great Number of ſmall Fibres in ſeveral Places, which ſerve to imbibe the Juice of the Earth for the Nouriſhment of the Plant. From the Root there ariſes a round and ſmooth Stem, of a pretty deep Red; and, at the Top of the Stem, grow four Branches, which ſpread at equal Diſtances, from each other. Every Branch has five Leaves, which are indented, of a dark Green, and terminate in a Point. From the Center of theſe Branches proceeds a very ſtrait and ſmooth Stem, at the Extremity of which grows a Knob of about twenty-four Fruits, round, and of a beautiful Red; and within this Fruit is a Kind of Nut, much of the Figure with a Lentil. This Nut includes in it the Seed of the Plant, which dies and grows again every Year, and has nothing valuable in it but the Root, whoſe Virtues are wonderful. Of this Plant (as Dioſcorides informs us) there are two Sorts: One is black, and called the female Mandrake, having Leaves not unlike Lettuce, tho' leſs, and narrower, which ſpread upon the Ground, and are of a very diſagreeable Scent. It bears ſomething like Services, which are pale, and of a ſtrong Smell, with Kernels within, like thoſe of a Pea. It has two or three very large Roots, twiſted together, black without, but white within, and cover'd with a thick Rind. The other Sort, or the male Mandrake, produces Berries, as big as thoſe of the Female, of a good Scent, and a Colour not much unlike that of Saffron. Its Leaves are large, white, broad, and ſmooth, like the Leaves of a Beach Tree, and its Root reſembles that of a Female, but is much thicker and bigger, and the Quality of them both is to ſtupify and make ſleepy thoſe that take it.

The Word Dudaim, which we render Mandrakes, is one of thoſe Terms, ſays Stackhouſe, whoſe true Signification the Jews, at this Time, pretend not to underſtand. There is but one Place more in Scripture, wherein it occurs, and that is in the viith Chapter of Canticles, wherein the Bridegroom invites his Spouſe to go with him into the Fields. Come, my Beloved, let us get up early to the Vineyards, let us ſee if the Vine flouriſh, whether the tender Grapes appear, and the Pomegranates bud forth. The Mandrakes give a Smell; at our Gates are all Manner of Fruits, which I have laid up for thee, O my beloved. Here we find it plac'd among the moſt delicious and pleaſant Fruits, the Grape, Pomegranate, &c. and are repreſented as very fragrant and odoriferous in its Smell; but the Mandrake, ſay ſome, is a ſtinking and ill-ſcented Fruit, of a bad Taſte, and of a cold, narcotick Quality; and therefore they have render'd the Word fine and lovely Flowers; and ſome will have it to be the Violet or Jeſſamin, (which ſuit very well with the Seaſon of the Year here mentioned) whilſt others contend very ſtrongly for the Lilly, which, in Syria, grew in the Fields, and was of a moſt agreeable Beauty and Smell.

That Paſſage in Solomon's Song however will not ſuffer us to doubt, but that it was a Fruit (of ſome Kind or other) and Ludolff, in his Hiſtory of Ethiopia, will needs have it to be what the Syrians call Mauz, a Fruit much about as big as a ſmall Cucumber, that hangs in Cluſters, ſometimes to the Number of Forty upon the ſame Stalk, and is in Figure and Taſte, not unlike the Indian Fig.

It is not to be doubted indeed, but that the Mandrake in Paleſtine, is of a different Kind to what we have in theſe Climates. St. Auſtin, who thought it a great Curioſity to ſee one, tells us, that it was very beautiful to the Eye, and of a fragrant Smell, but utterly inſipid; ſo that he wonders what ſhould make Rachel ſet ſo high a Value upon it, unleſs it were its Scarceneſs and rich Scent. In the Province of Peking in China, we are inform'd that there is a Kind of Mandrake ſo valuable, and, when mixed in any Liquor, makes ſo rich a Cordial, that a Pound of its Root (for in the Root lies all the Virtue) is worth thrice its Weight in Silver.

It was a general Opinion among the Antients, that there was a certain Quality in the Juice of Mandrakes to excite amorous Inclinations, and therefore they call them the Apples of Love, as the Hebrew Word Dod (from whence comes Dodaim) is frequently ſet to ſignify Love. Thus whether we conſider this Fruit as pleaſant to the Eye, Smell, or Taſte, or as a Reſtorative to Nature, and helpful to Conception, any of theſe Reaſons are ſufficient, why Rachel ſhould take ſuch a Fancy to them: And, why ſhe purchaſed them at ſo ſtrange a Rate, was chiefly occaſion'd by Leah's ſullen Reply, that ſhe had taken away her Huſband's Affections from her, which provok'd the other, who (according to the eſtabliſh'd Order of ſucceeding to his Bed) had certainly the Property in him that Night, to reſign him to her.

Pro-

Moſes however only mentions this Circumſtance, to let his Reader know, upon what Occaſion it was that Leah, after ſhe had done Child-bearing, (as ſhe thought) came to conceive again. It had beeen below the Dignity of ſuch a ſacred Hiſtory, as his is, to take Notice of ſuch trivial Matters, had there not been ſomething of great Conſideration in them; and what could that be, but chiefly the Birth of the bleſſed Seed, which was the Object of the Hopes of all pious People in thoſe Days? It is evident from the Conduct both of Rachel and her Siſter, that it was Children they deſired, and not merely the Company of their Huſband; nor would their Huſband ever have been determined by their blind Bargains, had it not been Matter of pure Indifference to him, whether of their Embraces he went to, ſo long as his Family was but increaſed and multiplied.

And ſhe called his Name Joſeph] Joſeph, ſays Pool, ſignifies Increaſe; and the Reaſon why Rachel named him ſo, is ſaid to be, becauſe God had taken away her Reproach; for to be barren was formerly reckoned a Diſgrace, for theſe three Reaſons; 1. Becauſe Fruitfulneſs proceeded from the Bleſſing of God, who ſaid, increaſe and multiply; 2 Becauſe barren People ſeem to be excluded from the Promiſes of God made to Abraham, concerning the vaſt Multiplication of his Seed; and, 3. Becauſe the Meſſias could not proceed from them.

25 And it came to paſs, when Rachel had borne Joſeph, that Jacob ſaid unto Laban, ſend me away, that I may go unto mine own place, and to my country. 26 Give me my wives and my children, for whom I have ſerved thee, and let me go: for thou knoweſt my ſervice which I have done thee. 27 And Laban ſaid unto him, I pray thee, if I have found favour in thine eyes, tarry: for I have learned by experience, that the Lord hath bleſſed me for thy ſake. 28 And he ſaid, Appoint me thy wages, and I will give it. 29 And he ſaid unto him, Thou kuoweſt how I have ſerved thee, and how thy cattle was with me. 30 For it was little which thou hadſt before I came, and it is now increaſed unto a multitude; and the Lord hath bleſſed thee ſince my coming: and now when ſhall I provide for mine own houſe alſo? 31 And he ſaid, What ſhall I give thee? And Jacob ſaid, Thou ſhalt not give me any thing; if thou wilt do this thing for me, I will again feed and keep thy flock: 32 I will paſs through all thy flock to day, removing from thence all the ſpeckled and ſpotted cattle, and all the brown cattle among the ſheep, and the ſpotted and ſpeckled among the goats; and of ſuch ſhall be my hire. 33 So ſhall my righteouſneſs anſwer for me in time to come, when it ſhall come for my hire before thy face; every one that is not ſpeckled and ſpotted amongſt the goats, and brown amongſt the ſheep, that ſhall be accounted ſtolen with me. 34 And Laban ſaid, Behold, I would it might be according to thy word. 35 And he removed that day the he-goats that were ring-ſtraked, and ſpotted, and all the ſhe-goats that were ſpeckled and ſpotted, and every one that had ſome white in it, and all the brown among the ſheep, and gave them into the hands of his ſons. 36 And he ſet three days journey betwixt himſelf and Jacob: and Jacob fed the reſt of Labans flocks. 37 And Jacob took him rods of green poplar, and of the hazel and cheſnut-tree; and pilled white ſtrakes in them, and made the white appear which was in the rods. 38 And he ſet the rods which he had pilled before the flocks in the gutters in the watering-troughs, when the flocks came to drink: that they ſhould conceive when they came to drink. 39 And the flocks conceived before the rods, and brought forth cattle ring-ſtraked, ſpeckled and ſpotted. 40 And Jacob did ſeparate the lambs, and ſet the faces of the flocks towards the ring-ſtraked, and all the brown in the flock of Laban: and he put his own flocks by themſelves; and put them not unto Labans cattel. 41 And it came to paſs whenſoever the ſtronger cattel did conceive, that Jacob laid the rods before the eyes of the cattel in the gutters, that they might conceive among the rods. 42 But when the cattel were feeble, he put them not in: ſo the feebler were Labans, and the ſtronger Jacobs. 43 And the man increaſed exceedingly, and had much cattel, and maidſervants, and men-ſervants, and camels, and aſſes.

I will paſs through all thy Flock to day, removing from thence all the ſpeckled and ſpotted Cattle; and all the brown Cattle among the Sheep, and the ſpotted and ſpeckled among the Goats; and of ſuch ſhall be my Hire] Patrick obſerves, that the ſacred Hiſtorian makes uſe of four Words to denote the Cattle which ſhould properly belong to Jacob: The firſt is naked, which we tranſlate ſpeckled; for the Word ſignifies little Points, or Pricks, which the Greeks call Stigmata. The ſecond is talu, which ſignifies ſuch broader and larger Spots, as we frequently ſee in Cattle. The next is akod, which ſignifies ſpotted with divers Colours, or rather with Rings, or Circles about the Feet or Legs; and the laſt is barud, which ſignifies whitiſh Spots, like Hail; which ſeems to take in all the Kinds of Variegation.

Even Laban's Covetouſneſs, ſays Pool, is made the Means to enrich Jacob; behold, his worldly-minded Maſter courts him to accept of that Recompence which made his Nephew wealthy, and his own Family envious: The Almighty conſidering his hard Service and Uſage, pays him ample Wages out of Laban's Fold, whoſe Herds and Flocks, probably, had but few ſpotted and ſpeckled Goats, or brown Sheep amongſt them, before Jacob made this Covenant; but after that, as if the Faſhion had been altered, they generally ran into various Colours, the moſt and beſt, as if they had been weary of their former Owner, changed the Colours of their Young, that they might change their Maſter. In the very Shape and Colour of brute Creatures, there is a divine Hand which diſpoſes them to his own Ends; ſmall and unlikely Means will prevail, when God intends they ſhall take Effect: Little peel'd Rods of green Poplar, Hazel, and Cheſnut Trees, ſhall enrich Jacob with an Increaſe of his ſpotted Flocks. Laban's Sons might have tried the ſame Means, and have failed; God was reſolved to let Laban know, that he made a great Difference between Jacob and him; and that, as for fourteen Years, he had multiplied Jacob's Charge of Cattle to Laban, ſo now, for the laſt ſix Years, he would multiply Laban's Flocks to Jacob, and if Laban had the moſt, yet Jacob ſhould have the beſt: Even in theſe outward Things, God's Children have many Time Taſtes of his Favour above the Wicked; and ſo it happen'd now with righteous Jacob.

And Laban ſaid, Behold, I would it might be according to thy Word] Laban, truſting to the Courſe of Nature, according to which, Cattle uſually bring forth their Young of their own Colour, thought he had an excellent Bargain, and therefore was very willing and ready to take Jacob at his Word: On the other Hand, Jacob rely'd firmly on the Providence of an Almighty God, and his gracious and merciful Father for his Wages; for he had found ſo much Fraud in his Father-in-law's Dealing, that he had little Reaſon to truſt to his Honeſty; and Jacob ſoon found, that he had no Reaſon to repent his Dependance upon Providence.

And he ſet the Rods which he had pilled, before the Flock] Several antient Commentators are of Opinion, that Jacob laid theſe ſtreaked Rods before the Cattle, only in Spring-time, when the ſun was aſcending, and the Cattle luſty and vigorous, but let them alone, when the Cattle came to couple in September, or the Decline of the Year: But as there is no Certainty in this, our Moderns have thought it more reaſonable to ſuppoſe, that he laid the Rods only before the young and luſty Sheep and Goats, but left the old and weak to take their Chance, by which Means the beſt Lambs and Kids came to his Share, and the worſt to Laban's. See Univ. Hiſt. and Patrick's Com.

But ſome have imputed it as a Crime to Jacob, that as there was a fair Bargain between him and Laban, that he made uſe of this Artifice to get his Uncle's Cattle from him. The worſt Accuſation againſt our Patriarch, is, ſays Stackhouſe, that of his purloining (as ſome call it) or appropriating to himſelf a conſiderable Part of Laban's Subſtance; and Shame light on him, who pretends to apologize for this, in order to give Countenance to any Trick or Colluſion in Matters of Commerce. The Scripture only relates the Fact, without either Cenſure or Approbation; and we read it to wrong Purpoſe, if, becauſe we find a Thing recorded of a Patriarch, and yet not cenſur'd by the holy Penman, we therefore immediately conclude it to be right. Men will be Men, full of Imperfections, and governed by their Paſſions, ſo long as they live in this World; nor are the Examples, propounded in Scripture to beget in us Humility and Watchfulneſs upon every Remembrance of human Frailty, but the Laws contain'd therein, which are true and righteous altogether, to be the Rule and Meaſure of our Conduct. We readily grant therefore, that this Action of Jacob's, conſidered in itſelf, and acccording to the Rules of ſtrict Juſtice, can hardly be vindicated; but then we are to remember, that there was a much ſuperior Agent, even the great Proprietor of the World, and who has an undoubted Right to transfer Poſſeſſions where he pleaſes, by whoſe Directions it was done.

For ſuppoſe we allow (what ſome great Men, both Phyſicians and Philoſophers, are wont to maintain) that the Fancy of the Dam, in the Time of Conception, is of Power ſufficient to influence the Form, and Shape, and Colour of the Young, and to produce the Effect, which it had upon Laban's Cattle; yet we cannot imagine that Jacob knew any Thing of this Secret. Men had not at yet enquired into the Powers of Nature, and Obſervations of this Kind were not much regarded. Religion, and the Worſhip of God, ſays Shuckford, was, in theſe Days, the Wiſdom of the World; and Simplicity of Life, and Integrity of Manners, more ſtudied, than any curious and Philoſophical Speculations. If Study and Philoſophy had help'd Men to this Knowledge, how came Laban and his Sons to be utter Strangers to it? And yet, had they not been Strangers, they could not but apprehend, that Jacob might by Art variegate the Cattle, as he pleaſed, and would not therefore have made ſo weak a Bargain with him. They certainly therefore had no Notion that any ſuch Thing could be done; neither had Jacob any Intelligence of it, when he made the Contract with Laban; but, being reſolv'd to be contented with what the Divine Providence ſhould allot him, he made Choice of the ſpeckled Cattle, merely to put an End to all Cavils about Wages, as not doubting but that God would ſo order Matters, that, in the Event, he ſhou'd have enough: And therefore his Words, So ſhall my Righteouſneſs anſwer for me in Time to come, are juſt as if he had ſaid; 'I may be 'thought to have acted imprudently in naming this 'Hire, as if it were impoſſible for Cattle, that are all 'white, to bring forth any, but ſuch as are like them-'ſelves; but, in the Sequel, it will appear, that God 'had reſpect to my juſt Dealing, and this you will 'plainly ſee, when you come to pay me my Wages.'

But tho' Jacob, at firſt, might be ignorant of the Secret, yet we cannot deny, but that, after the Bargain was made, God might give him ſome Intimation of it, and perhaps might enjoin him to put it in Execution; and yet, after all, he might not apprehend any natural Efficacy in the Thing. Inſtances there are more than enough in Scripture, of God's requiring Perſons to perform ſuch Actions, as might teſtify their Faith, and Reliance on his Promiſes, in order to receive ſuch Bleſſings as he intended for them. Thus Naaman the Syrian, when he came to beg of God a Cure of his Leproſy, was directed to waſh ſeven Times in Jordan, 2 Kings v. 10. waſhing in Jordan was to be an Evidence of his believing that God would heal him, and, upon his giving this Evidence he was cur'd; which was the Caſe of Jacob here before us. God had told him, that he had ſeen all that Laban had done unto him, but that he would take Care that he ſhould not hurt him; that all Laban's Contrivances to defraud him of his Wages he would turn ſo much to his Advantage, as that they ſhould tend to the Increaſe of his Proſperity, and then very probably (as a Token of his Belief and Dependance on him) he commanded him to take peeled Rods, and uſe them as he directed. Jacob believed, and did as he was commanded: But, all this while he might no more think, that the peeling of Rods in green Boughs, and laying them in the watering Places where the Flocks were to drink, was a natural Way to cauſe them to bring forth ſpotted and ſpeckled young ones, than Naaman did, that waſhing in a River was a Cure for a Leproſy. But, even ſuppoſe the Caſe, that Jacob had the Notion, that party-coloured Rods might be a natural Means to produce party-coloured Cattle; yet, if he uſed them in Obedience to the divine Command, and not merely as a Means to enrich himſelf at the Expence of another, we cannot perceive wherein he was culpable. God Almighty determined to puniſh Laban for his Injuſtice, and to reward Jacob for his Fidelity. He revealed to Jacob the Manner in which he deſign'd to bleſs him, and order'd him to do an Action, as a Token of his Reliance on him, for the Performance of his Promiſe. Jacob faithfully obſerved the Orders that were given him, and the Event prov'd accordingly.

Here was no Trick nor Circumvention in the Matter, tho' it muſt be allow'd, that, had it been lawful for any private Perſon to make Repriſals, the injurious Treatment he had receiv'd from Laban, both in impoſing a Wife upon him, and prolonging his Servitude without Wages, was enough to give Jacob both the Provocation and Privilege ſo to do. God Almighty however was pleaſed to take the Determination of the whole Matter into his own Hands; and therefore the true Concluſion is, what Jacob himſelf expreſſes in his Speech to his two Wives. Ye know, that with all my Power, I have ſerved your Father, &c. Ch. xxxi. Ver. 6, 7, 8, 9.

Ver. 1. AND he heard the words of Labans ſons, ſaying, Jacob hath taken away all that was our fathers; and of that which was our fathers hath he gotten all this glory. 2 And Jacob beheld the countenance of Laban, and behold, it was not toward him as before. 3 And the Lord ſaid unto Jacob, Return unto the land of thy fathers, and to thy kindred; and I will be with thee. 4 And Jacob ſent and called Rachel and Leah to the field unto his flock. 5 And he ſaid unto them, I ſee your fathers countenance, that it is not toward me as before: but the God of my father hath been with me. 6 And

6 And ye know that with all my power I have ſerved your father. 7 And your father hath deceived me, and changed my wages ten times: but God ſuffered him not to hurt me. 8 If he ſaid thus, The ſpeckled ſhall be thy wages; then all the cattle bare ſpeckled: and if he ſaid thus, The ring-ſtraked ſhall be thy hire; then bare all the cattle ring-ſtraked. 9 Thus God hath taken away the cattle of your father, and given them to me. 10 And it came to paſs at the time, that the cattel conceived, that I lifted up mine eyes, and ſaw in a dream, and behold the rams which leaped upon the cattel were ring-ſtraked, ſpeckled, and griſled. 11 And the angel of God ſpake unto me in a dream, ſaying Jacob: And I ſaid, Here am I. 12 And he ſaid, Lift up now thine eyes, and ſee, all the rams which leap upon the cattel are ring-ſtraked, ſpeckled, and griſled: for I have ſeen all that Laban doeth unto thee. 13 I am the God of Beth-el, where thou anointedſt the pillar, and where thou vowedſt a vow unto me: now ariſe, get thee out from this land, and return unto the land of thy kindred. 14 And Rachel and Leah anſwered and ſaid unto him, Is there yet any portion or inheritance for us in our fathers houſe? 15 Are we not counted of him ſtrangers; for he hath ſold us, and hath quite devoured alſo our money. 16 For all the riches which God hath taken from our father, that is ours, and our childrens: now then whatſoever God hath ſaid unto thee, do. 17 Then Jacob roſe up, and ſet his ſons and his wives upon camels. 18 And he carried away all his cattel, and all his goods which he had gotten, the cattel of his getting, which he had gotten in Padan-aram; for to go to Iſaac his father in the land of Canaan. 19 And Laban went to ſhear his ſheep: and Rachel had ſtolen the images that were her fathers. 20 And Jacob ſtole away unawares to Laban the Syrian, in that he told him not that he fled. 21 So he fled with all that he had, and he roſe up, and paſſed over the river, and ſet his face toward the mount Gilead. 22 And it was told Laban on the third day that Jacob was fled. 23 And he took his brethren with him, and purſued after him ſeven days journey; and they overtook him in the mount Gilead. 24 And God came to Laban the Syrian in a dream by night, and ſaid unto him, Take heed that thou ſpeak not to Jacob either good or bad. 25 Then Laban overtook Jacob. Now Jacob had pitched his tent in the mount: and Laban with his brethren pitched in the mount of Gilead. 26 And Laban ſaid to Jacob, What haſt thou done, that thou haſt ſtolen away unawares to me, and carried away my daughters as captives taken with the ſword? 27 Wherefore didſt thou flee away ſecretly, and ſteal away from me? and didſt not tell me, that I might have ſent thee away with mirth, and with ſongs, with tabret, and with harp? And haſt not ſuffered me to kiſs my ſons and my daughters? thou haſt now done fooliſhly in ſo doing. 29 It is in the power of my hand to do you hurt: but the God of your father ſpake unto me yeſternight, ſaying, Take thou heed that thou ſpake not to Jacob either good or bad. 30 And now though thou wouldſt needs be gone, becauſe thou ſore longedſt after thy fathers houſe; yet wherefore haſt thou ſtolen my gods? 31 And Jacob anſwered and ſaid to Laban, becauſe I was afraid: for I ſaid, Peradventure thou wouldſt take by force thy daughters from me. 32 With whomſoever thou findeſt thy gods, let him not live: before our brethren diſcern thou what is thine with me, and take it to thee: for Jacob knew not that Rachel had ſtolen them. 33 And Laban went into Jacobs tent, and into Leahs tent, and into the two maidſervants tents; but he found them not. Then went he out of Leahs tent, and entered into Rachels tent. 34 Now Rachel had taken the images, and put them in the camels furniture, and ſat upon them: and Laban ſearched all the tent, but found them not. 35 And ſhe ſaid to her father, Let it not diſpleaſe my lord that I cannot riſe up before thee; for the cuſtom of women is upon me: and he ſearched, but found not the images. 36 And Jacob was wroth, and chode with Laban: and Jacob anſwered, and ſaid to Laban, What is my treſpaſs? What is my ſin that thou haſt ſo hotly purſued after me? 37 Whereas thou haſt ſearched all my ſtuff, what haſt thou found of all thy houſhold-ſtuff? ſet it here before my brethren and thy brethren: that they may judge betwixt us both. 38 Theſe twenty years have I been with thee; thy ews and thy ſhe-goats have not caſt their young, and the rams of thy flock have I not eaten. 39 That which was torn of beaſts, I brought not unto thee, I bare the loſs of it; of my hand didſt thou require it, whether ſtolen by day, or ſtolen by night. 40 Thus I was, in the day the drought conſumed me, and the froſt by night; and my ſleep departed from mine eyes. 41 Thus have I been twenty years in thy houſe; I ſerved thee fourteen years for thy two daughters, and ſix years for thy cattel: and thou haſt changed my wages ten times. 42 Except the God of my father, the God of Abraham, and the fear of Iſaac had been with me, ſurely thou hadſt ſent me away now empty: God hath ſeen mine affliction and the labour of my hands, and rebuked thee yeſternight. 43 And Laban anſwered and ſaid unto Jacob, Theſe daughters are my daughters, and theſe children are my children, and theſe cattel are my cattel, and all that thou ſeeſt is mine: and what can I do this day unto theſe my daughters, or unto their children which they have borne? 44 Now therefore come thou, let us make a covenant, I and thou; and let it be for a witneſs between me and thee. 45 And Jacob took a ſtone, and ſet it up for a pillar. 46 And Jacob ſaid unto his brethren, Gather ſtones; and they took ſtones, and made an heap: and they did eat there upon the heap. 47 And Laban called it Jegar-ſahadutha: but Jacob called it Galeed. 48 And Laban ſaid, This heap is a witneſs between me and thee this day. Therefore was the name of it called Galeed: 49 And Mizpah; for he ſaid, The Lord watch between me and thee, when we are abſent one from another. 50 If thou ſhalt afflict my daughters, or if thou ſhalt take other wives beſides my daughters, no man is with us; See, God is witneſs betwixt me and thee. 51 And Laban ſaid to Jacob, Behold this heap, and behold this pillar, which I have caſt betwixt me and thee; 52 This heap be witneſs, and this pillar be witneſs, that I will

I will not pass over this heap to thee, and that thou shalt not pass over this heap, and this pillar unto me, for harm. 53 The God of Abraham, and the God of Nahor, the God of their father, judge betwixt us. And Jacob sware by the fear of his father Isaac. 54 Then Jacob offered sacrifice upon the mount, and called his brethren to eat bread: and they did eat bread, and tarried all night in the mount. 55 And early in the morning Laban rose up, and kissed his sons and his daughters, and blessed them: and Laban departed, and returned unto his place.

And he heard the Words of Laban's Sons, saying, Jacob hath taken away all that was our Father's; and of that which was was our Father's hath he gotten all this Glory] Observe, says Pool, both their unjust Envy, and the Falsity of their Accusation; for Jacob had not taken away any Thing that, strictly speaking, could be call'd Laban's; he did not take so much as one single Goat or Sheep of his; on the contrary he proposed a Contract, upon such very equitable Terms, and (as Laban then thought) so very advantageous to himself, that he greedily catch'd at it, and desired no better than for Jacob to stand to his Bargain, as he did. Had Jacob turned the Tables upon Laban, and proposed taking those which came according to the Course of Nature, of the same Colour as their Dams, for his own Share, and the leaving Laban to trust to Providence, we make no Doubt but Laban would have refused the Terms, as very disadvantageous, and far from being equitable; and yet now, when he does the Reverse thereof, his Sons complain and murmur, which, in Effect, was little better than murmuring against Heaven.

In the Complaint, which Jacob makes to his two Wives, there is one particular Article against their Father, viz. that he had changed his Wages ten Times, Ver. 7. And yet he lived in Contract with him only six Years. But to solve this Difficulty, we are to observe, that the Cattle in Mesopotamia bred twice every Year, and therefore, supposing that, for the first Year, Laban stood to his Bargain, but seeing his Son-in-law thrive exceedingly, alter'd the Form of it the next, and so continued to do every half Year, till the sixth Year came about, when Jacob thought proper to leave him; the several Times, wherein he changed his Wages, will be exactly ten; tho' there is no Necessity for this exact Calculation, when it is so common a Figure of Speech, to put a certain for an uncertain Number. See Le Clerc.

Where thou vowedst a Vow unto me] Which Vow, some have objected, was altogether mercenary, and which, for many Years, he neglected to perform, tho' God had abundantly made good the Covenant on his Part, and brought him in Triumph, as it were, into the Country, and within the very Confines of the Place where the Vow was made—But, says Stackhouse, a Man so highly favoured by God, and so sensible of his peculiar Goodness, can scarce be supposed capable of making any Vow with a mercenary View, or of neglecting to perform it, when made. The Vow, which the Patriarch made upon his Journey into Mesopotamia, is conceiv'd in these Terms: If God will be with me, and keep me in this Way that I go; and will give me Bread to eat and Raiment to put on, so that I come again to my Father's House in Peace, then shall the Lord be my God, Gen. xxviii. 20, &c. i. e. I will religiously worship and serve him: But it is an unfair Construction to say, that, unless God did bring him home in Peace, he wou'd not worship him. The Right which God has to the Service and Homage of his Creatures, is absolute and unalienable: His Dominion, his Power, his Goodness, Covenant, and Promises, do all require this of us; and, therefore the Words must mean, either that besides God's natural Property in him, he should also have a farther Demand of Duty upon him, in consequence of this Vow; or that he would perform some signal Service to him, and worship him with a more than ordinary Devotion, consecrating (as it follows) the Place where he then stood, to his Honour; offering him Sacrifices; and giving him the Tenth of all that he had, to maintain this Worship.

Such is the Sense of the Vow; and the Conditions relating to it, seem to denote the secret Wish and Desire of his Soul, and not any express Stipulation with God. Man cannot certainly insist on Terms with his Maker, but he may desire, and humbly hope for a Supply of his Wants. More than this the Patriarch does not expect; and less than this God never intended to give. Our heavenly Father knows that we have need of Food to eat, and Raiment to put on, and 'tis a Renunciation of our Dependance upon his Providential Goodness not to ask them. To serve God for no Consideration, but that of his own Glory, is a Notion that may well enough comport with our future exalted State, when we shall hunger no more, neither thirst any more, and where our Service will be always attended with Vision; but, while we are invested with these weak and frail Bodies, they, and their Concerns, will tenderly affect us, and God, who considers whereof we are made, expects no other than that they should.

Considering then the Circumstances that Jacob was in, leaving now his own, and going into a strange Country, we need not much wonder that we find him sollicitous for his daily Bread. With his Staff he passed over Jordan, and when he returned with a great Retinue, the grateful Acknowledgment which he makes upon that Occasion, he expresses in these Words; I am not worthy of the least of all the Mercies, and of all the Truth, which thou hast shewed unto thy Servant, Ch. xxxii. 10. and a Temper like this wou'd never have neglected to pay its Vows unto the most High, had not either the Patriarch met with Obstructions, that made it not safe for him to go, or waited, till God (who had all along conducted him hitherto) should direct him to go, to the Place appointed for such Oblation.

And Rachel had stolen her Father's Images] Various are the Reasons assigned by Commentators for Rachel's being guilty of this Theft, says Pool, (for so it certainly was) but the most probable are these: First, according to some, that these Images, or Idols, being either of Silver or Gold, Rachel might be induced from their Value to take them as Part of her Portion, which, she imagined, her Father, according to natural Equity, ought to have bestowed on her, when he gave her in Marriage. Secondly, according to others, she might carry them away, in order to hinder her Father from continuing any longer in Idolatry. But then, no Reason can be assigned, if this had been her Motive, why she might not as well have buried them, or destroyed them, as have hazarded their Safety, by carrying them away in her Baggage. Thirdly, others again imagine, that Rachel, knowing the bigotted Temper of her Father, stole them, as thinking she thereby retained in her Hands a certain Security for making Peace, in Case of Things coming to Extremity. But this seems to be very ill grounded, because she never attempted it, but carefully concealed them, both from her Father, and her Husband. Fourthly, it has been judged, that she stole them, to prevent her Father from enquiring, by them, which way they had taken their Flight. But then her destroying them, would as effectually have prevented that, and that with more Safety to herself. Fifthly, Some go yet farther, and are inclined to believe, that Rachel herself, notwithstanding she might worship the true God in Compliance with her Husband's Instructions and Commands, still retained some Veneration for those Rites and Idols, which she had been accustom'd to esteem sacred, whilst she was a Child. The Sequel of this History renders the last of these Suppositions the most probable.

And he rose up and passed over the River] Tho' the Text does not say what River he passed, yet it is plain, it could be no other than the Euphrates, which the Scripture sometimes calls the River Perah, sometimes the great River, and sometimes emphatically the River; either because that, and the Nile, were the only two considerable ones the Israelites knew; or because it was one of the four Rivers of Paradiſe; or, laſtly, becauſe it was the Boundary of the Promiſed Land. See Univ. Hiſt.

Take heed that thou ſpeak not to Jacob either good or bad] That is, ſays Pool, take Care that thou doeſt not attempt to bring him back by Perſuaſion, nor to compel him back by Violence; otherwiſe he would have offended in ſpeaking to him at all, which, we don't find, either he or Jacob imagined; on the contrary, he rebuked him very ſharply for his clandeſtine Departure.

Wherefore haſt thou ſtolen my Gods] Here, ſays Pool, we cannot but admire the amazing Folly and Stupidity of Laban, to call it no worſe; notwithſtanding the true God appeared to him in a Dream, yet he perſiſted in calling thoſe his Gods which might be ſtolen, but tacitly diſclaims the Almighty, and renounces him for his God, by calling him only the God of Jacob's Father: whereby at the ſame Time he ſeems to reproach Jacob for the Novelty of his Religion, juſt as the Papiſts now-a-days fondly do the Proteſtants, notwithſtanding it is evident, that his was the moſt antient Religion, and the others was only introduced by the Poſterity of the curſed Cain.

And they took Stones and made an Heap, and they did eat there upon the Heap] The Heap of Stones, ſays Wells, which Laban and Jacob raiſed in Memory of their Agreement and Covenant, was called Gilead, i. e. an Heap of Witneſſes; and in After-Ages, gave the Name to the whole Country thereabout, which lies on the Eaſt of the Sea of Galilee, being Part of that Ridge of Mountains, which ran from Mount Libanon Southward on the Eaſt of the Holy Land, and included the Mountainous Region, called in the New Teſtament, Trachonitis.

This Monument Jacob ſeems to have erected after the ſame Manner, as he did that at Bethel. It muſt not be ſuppoſed to have been an Heap of looſe Stones; for then it could not have continued long in the ſame Poſition, nor given a Name to the Country around it: It was doubtleſs a regular and permanent Building; but then, what the Form and Figure of it was is not ſo eaſy to determine. Had it been only for a Memorial to Poſterity, and not for ſome preſent Tranſaction alſo, the Figure either of a Column, or a Pyramid, would have been very proper: But we find, that the preſent Uſe of it was, to eat and ſacrifice upon, and therefore we may imagine, that it was made in the Figure of a Table, and have ſome Authority to think of a round Table, becauſe the Name, which Jacob calls it by, is taken from a Verb which ſignifies to turn round, as the Word Gilal is properly the Circumference of a Circle. See Biblioth. Bibl.

Then Jacob offered Sacrifice upon the Mount] Notwithſtanding it is here ſaid that Jacob offered Sacrifice, it is not very probable, ſays Pool, that he would chuſe that Time for performing ſuch an Action, when Laban was preſent, ſince he could neither admit him, who was an Idolater, to be preſent thereat, with any Decency or Honeſty, nor exclude him from it with any Civility, or Safety: Wherefore, as the ſame Word ſignifies killing, as well as ſacrificing, we think it ought rather to be underſtood of his killing Beaſts for a Feaſt, which he made for his Brethren, to expreſs his Joy for this Reconciliation between him and his Father-in-law. This is the more probable, becauſe we find it expreſly ſaid in the ſame Verſe, that he called his Brethren to eat Bread, under which Phraſe all Sorts of Victuals are uſually comprehended in Scripture.

It remains now to give ſome Account of Laban's Idols, and how Rachel came to ſteal them. Mr. Stackhouſe obſerves, that the Jewiſh Doctors are generally agreed, that the Word Teraphim, which we render Gods, is not of Hebrew Extraction. The Septuagint tranſlate it ſometimes an Oracle, and ſometimes vain Idols; and ſeveral Commentators will have it to be a Word borrow'd from the Egyptians, and to import the very ſame with their Serapis. The Jews indeed pretend that this Head was the Idol of a Firſt-born, pluck'd off from the Neck, and embalm'd; under the Tongue of which was faſten'd a golden Plate, with the Name of ſome falſe Deity engraven upon it, which, being plac'd in a Nitch, with lighted Candles before it, gave vocal Anſwers to ſuch as came to conſult it: But others rather think that it was the ſame with what the Perſians call Telephim, more generally known by the Name of Taliſmans; i. e. Images in human Form, of different Sizes and different Metals, caſt under certain Conſtellations, with the Figures of ſome Planets, and magical Characters, engraven upon them; whereas others again are of Opinion, that the Teraphim, which Rachel ſtole, were the Dii Penates, or Houſhold-Gods of her Father Laban, viz. the Images of Noah, the Reſtorer of Mankind, and of Shem, the Head of his Family; and therefore they obſerve, that Laban, by way of Diſtinction, calls them his Gods, i. e. the Gods of his Family. That theſe Teraphims were Statues, or Images of an human Shape and Figure, is manifeſt from Michal's putting one of them into her Huſband's Bed, when ſhe favour'd his Eſcape: That, at their firſt Inſtitution, their Intent was innocent, to be Emblems or Repreſentations, only of ſome renowned Anceſtor, whoſe Memory the Family was deſirous to perpetuate; but that, in Proceſs of Time, they came to be look'd upon, as the Lares, or Dii Titulares of the Houſe, were made Objects of religious Adoration, and at length perverted to all the vile Purpoſes of Necromancy, Jurieu, who has examin'd this Matter to the full, has prov'd beyond Exception.

But whatever Men, or fictitious Deities theſe Figures were made to repreſent, 'tis certain, that the Uſe they were chiefly applied to, was, to foretel future Events, and diſcover what was hid or loſt, and, for this Purpoſe, were conſulted, and prayed to as Oracles, at certain Times, and under ſome particular Aſpects of the Planets. Among other Reaſons therefore for Rachel's ſtealing away her Father's Teraphim, this is generally ſuppoſed to be one, — That he might not by enquiring of them gain Intelligence which way it was that Jacob had taken his Flight.

The Truth is, there ſeems to have been in Laban an odd Mixture of Religion. In his Converſation with Abraham's Steward, when he came to negociate a Match for Iſaac, he ſeems to expreſs a very devout Senſe of the Being and Providence of God; and yet, at his firſt coming up with Jacob, he ſeems to be chiefly ſollicitous for the Loſs of his Gods (as he calls them) which were but dumb and ſenſeleſs Idols. In the Treaty which he makes with Jacob, he invocates the God of Abraham, who is allow'd to be the great God of Heaven and Earth; and yet we can hardly forbear thinking, that he muſt have believ'd a Plurality of Gods in the Subordination to the Supreme, by Reaſon of his anxious Concern for theſe Images. Jacob, no doubt, during his Abode with him, uſed all the Intereſt he had in the Family to rectify his Notions, and convince him of his Error, but he was not able to prevail; and therefore ſome imagine, that Rachel ſtole away his Idols, that ſhe might remove the Occaſion of his ſuperſtitious Worſhip, and hinder him from going on in his Impiety.

Theſe Idols, we may preſume, were made of Gold, or ſome very valuable Subſtance; and therefore it may be ſuppoſed that ſhe took them along with her, not only to deſtroy them, but to make herſelf a Reparation likewiſe for the Wrongs ſhe had receiv'd from him; and whereof we find both the Siſters making this Complaint, Is there yet any Portion or Inheritance for us in our Father's Houſe? Are we not counted of him Strangers? For he hath ſold us, and hath quite devoured alſo our Money, Ver. 14, 15.

Ver. 1. AND Jacob went on his way, and the angels of God met him. 2 And when Jacob ſaw them, he ſaid, This is God's hoſt: and he called the name of that place Mahanaim. 3 And Jacob ſent meſſengers before him to Eſau his brother, unto the land of Seir, the country of Edom. 4 And he commanded them, ſaying, Thus ſhall ye ſpeak unto my lord Eſau; Thy ſervant Jacob ſaith thus, I have ſojourned with Laban, and ſtayed there until now. 5 And I have oxen, and aſſes, flocks, and men-ſervants, and women-ſervants: and I have ſent to tell my lord, that I may find grace in thy ſight. 6 And the meſſengers returned unto Jacob, ſaying, We came to thy brother Eſau, and alſo he cometh to meet thee, and four hundred men with him. 7 Then Jacob was greatly afraid, and diſtreſſed: and he divided the people that was with him, and the flocks, and herds, and the camels into two bands; 8 And ſaid, If Eſau come to the one company and ſmite it, then the other company which is left ſhall eſcape. 9 And Jacob ſaid, O God of my father Abraham, and God of my father Iſaac, the Lord which ſaidſt unto me, Return unto thy country, and to thy kindred, and I will deal well with thee: 10 I am not worthy of the leaſt of all the mercies, and of all the truth, which thou haſt ſhewed unto thy ſervant; for with my ſtaff I paſſed over this Jordan, and now I am become two bands. 11 Deliver me, I pray thee, from the hand of my brother, from the hand of Eſau: for I fear him, leſt he will come and ſmite me, and the mother with the children. 12 And thou ſaidſt, I will ſurely do thee good, and make thy ſeed as the ſand of the ſea, which cannot be numbered for multitude. 13 And he lodged there that ſame night; and took of that which came to his hand a preſent for Eſau his brother; 14 Two hundred ſhe-goats, and twenty he-goats, two hundred ewes, and twenty rams, 15 Thirty milch-camels with their colts, forty kine, and ten bulls, twenty ſhe-aſſes, and ten foles. 16 And he delivered them into the hand of his ſervants, every drove by themſelves; and ſaid unto his ſervants, Paſs over before me, and put a ſpace betwixt drove and drove. 17 And he commanded the foremoſt, ſaying, When Eſau my brother, meeteth thee, and asketh thee, ſaying, whoſe art thou? and whither goeſt thou? and whoſe are theſe before thee? 18 Then thou ſhalt ſay, They be thy ſervant Jacobs; it is a preſent ſent unto my lord Eſau: and behold alſo he is behind us. 19 And ſo commanded he the ſecond, and the third, and all that followed the droves, ſaying, On this manner ſhall you ſpeak unto Eſau, when you find him. 20 And ſay ye moreover, Behold, thy ſervant Jacob is behind us: For he ſaid, I will appeaſe him with the preſent that goeth before me, and afterward I will ſee his face; peradventure he will accept of me. 21 So went the preſent over before him: and himſelf lodged that night in the company. 22 And he roſe up that night, and took his two wives, and his two women-ſervants, and his eleven ſons, and paſſed over the ford Jabbok. 23 And he took them, and ſent them over the brook, and ſent over that he had. 24 And Jacob was left alone: and there wreſtled a man with him, until the breaking of the day. 25 And when he ſaw that he prevailed not againſt him, he touched the hollow of his thigh: and the hollow of Jacobs thigh was out of joynt, as he wreſtled with him. 26 And he ſaid, Let me go, for the day breaketh: And he ſaid, I will not let thee go, except thou bleſs me. 27 And he ſaid unto him, What is thy name? And he ſaid, Jacob. 28 And he ſaid, Thy name ſhall be called no more Jacob, but Iſrael: for as a prince haſt thou power with God, and with men, and haſt prevailed. 29 And Jacob aſked him, and ſaid, Tell me, I pray thee, thy name: And he ſaid, Wherefore is it, that thou doſt aſk after my name? And he bleſſed him there. 30 And Jacob called the name of the place Peniel: for I have ſeen God face to face, and my life is preſerved. 31 And as he paſſed over Penuel, the ſun roſe upon him, and he halted upon his thigh. 32 Therefore the children of Iſrael eat not of the ſinew which ſhrank, which is upon the hollow of the thigh, unto this day: becauſe he touched the hollow of Jacobs thigh, in the ſinew that ſhrank.

And when Jacob ſaw them, he ſaid, This is God's Hoſt; and he called the Place Mahanaim] Mahanaim, ſignifies two Hoſts; and therefore Interpreters are generally of Opinion, that theſe were two Hoſts, or Armies of Angels, whereof one was that of the guardian Angel of Meſopotamia, who, with his Company, conducted Jacob ſafely to the Confines of Canaan, where the guardian Angel of Canaan with his Company, received him into their Care; and this is inferr'd from the Neceſſity of ſuch Protection, by Jacob's being expoſed to the Treachery of Laban, and the Cruelty of Eſau, which made Providence more particularly careful of him, to whom the Promiſes were made. But it is ſufficient to the Purpoſe of giving the Patriarch Comfort and Encouragement under his uneaſy Apprehenſions, that, beſides his own Family (which was pitched here in Order, like a Camp) a certain Number of Angels were repreſented to him, as drawn up like another Army, ready and prepared for his Defence. See Patrick and Le Clerc.

This Place (Mahanaim) was ſituated between Mount Gilead, and the River Jabbok, not far from the Banks of the latter, and very near the Confines of Gad, and half Tribe of Manaſſeh, which was on the Eaſt of Jordan. It became in Time a City of great Strength, and for this Reaſon, was made Choice of by Abner for the Seat-royal of Iſhboſheth, the Son of Saul, when he made War againſt David, and for a retiring Place by David himſelf, during the Rebellion of his Son Abſalom. See Wells's Geogr. of the O. T.

And Jacob ſent Meſſengers before him, to Eſau his Brother, unto the Land of Seir] The Mountains of Seir, ſays Calmet, lay on the Eaſt and South of the Dead Sea, and the Country extended itſelf from thence to the Arabian Gulf. 'Tis certain from Gen. xxxvi. 21, 22. that, in Abraham's Days, the Horites who were the Deſcendants of Seir, had the Poſſeſſion of this Region; and therefore we may ſuppoſe, that, after the Departure of Jacob, Eſau, who (according to the Prediction concerning him) was to live by his Sword, expell'd the old Inhabitants, and made himſelf Prince thereof, before his Brother returned from Meſopotamia. From Gen. xxxii. 13. xxxiii. 4. xxxvi. 8, 9. and Deut. ii. 12. we may learn, that Eſau made War with theſe People with great Succeſs, tho' we have of it no Particulars in the Writings of Moſes.

Several Commentators have taken Notice of Jacob's great Wiſdom and Prudence, in the Order of this his Embaſſy to his Brother. He ſent his Servants, and not his Sons, tho' that would have been doing him a great great deal of Honour; but then it would have been running too great a Riſque. In the Preſent which he ſent, he put a Space between Drove and Drove, that the more Time was ſpent in their paſſing by Eſau, his Paſſion might ſtill grow cooler and cooler; that the Preſent itſelf might make ſo much the greater Appearance; and that, if the Droves which went firſt, were not well accepted by him, thoſe which came later, might be at Diſtance enough, to haſten back to their Maſter, and give him Intelligence of what he was to expect. In the Form of Addreſs, he ordered them all to make uſe of the ſame Words, 1ſt, That the Repetition of them might ſtrike the deeper, and make the ſtronger Impreſſion upon Eſau; 2dly, That they might not ſpoil the Complement, or not ſpeak ſo properly, if left to their own Expreſſion; and 3dly, That Eſau might know, by the very Turn and Elegancy of them, that the Words of the Meſſage came from Jacob. See Muſculus, Ainſworth, Patrick, &c.

Some Writers, ſays Stackhouſe, have made it a Queſtion, how Jacob, upon his Return Home, ſhould know where his Brother Eſau dwelt, and why he ſhould ſend him ſo humble and ſubmiſſive a Meſſage: But we can hardly imagine that Jacob ſhould be ſo imprudent, as to carry his Wives, Children, and Subſtance into Canaan, without knowing whether he might ſafely venture thither. 'Tis preſumable therefore, that while he reſted at Gilead, he ſent Meſſengers to enquire, whether his Father was alive; what Condition he was in; how the People of the Land were affected to him; and whether he might come, and live with Security near him. From theſe Meſſengers he might learn the Place of his Brother's Habitation; and, when he found that he ſhould meet with no Obſtruction, if he could but reconcile Eſau to him, he very prudently ſent to him likewiſe, with an Intent (if he found him inexorable) to bend his Courſe another Way. And indeed, if we conſider what had paſſed between Eſau and Jacob, before the latter went from Home, we ſhall ſoon find Reaſon enough why Jacob ſhould ſend to him, before he adventur'd to come, and ſit down with his Subſtance near his Father. Eſau ſtill expected to be his Father's Heir, eſpecially as to his Temporalities; and therefore if Jacob had returned home without Eſau's Knowledge, this, at their Father's Death, would have laid the Foundation of a greater Miſunderſtanding than ever: For Eſau would then have thought, that his Brother had been inveigling his Father, and drawing a great Part of his Subſtance from him. He could never have imagin'd, that any Perſon, in a State of Servitude, cou'd have acquir'd ſo large a Fortune; and therefore, when he came to ſee all that Wealth, (which he knew nothing of before) he muſt have concluded that he had defrauded him.

'Twas not from Pride or Vanity therefore, or to gratify an oſtentatious Humour, that Jacob ſent his Brother an Account of his proſperous Circumſtances; but, partly to recognize the Goodneſs of Providence, which had ſo proſper'd him, and partly to let him know, that he was not come to raiſe any Contributions, either upon him, or the Family; that he had brought his Subſtance with him from Haran, and was not going into Canaan to do him any Wrong.

The whole Deſign of this Interview with Eſau, was to procure a firm Reconciliation with him; and therefore it is no Wonder, that ſhould he make uſe of ſuch Terms, as were moſt likely to ingratiate. He knew his Brother's rugged and haughty Temper, and conſider'd him as a Perſon, who, by his Valour and Conduct, had rais'd himſelf to a Principality and Dominion, whilſt himſelf, for twenty Years together, had liv'd in no better a Capacity than that of a Servant; and therefore he might juſtly think, that this Difference of Appellations did not miſbecome their different Conditions of Life.

By the divine Direction indeed, he was conſtituted Eſau's Lord, nor did he forego that Prerogative by calling himſelf Eſau's Servant. Lord and Servant were no more then, than (what they are now) certain Modes of Civility, which between Perſons of good Breeding, without ever adhering to their ſtrict Acceptation; and therefore Jacob might make his Addreſſes to Eſau in this Manner, without any Derogation to his ſpiritual Pre-eminence, and, confining himſelf to the Bounds of Nature, might reverence him as his elder Brother.

But, how jealous ſoever we may be of Jacob's Honour, 'tis certain that the Almighty approv'd of his Conduct, by himſelf interpoſing to bring about the deſired Reconciliation. Before this Interview with his Brother, and while he lay under terrible Apprehenſions of his Diſpleaſure, the Angels, we are told, met him. They met him, i. e. they ſhewed themſelves to him, to aſſure him of their Cuſtody; and by and by we ſee what follow'd: His Brother Eſau, contrary to his natural Roughneſs, and avow'd Revenge, comes, and treats him in a moſt friendly Manner; which ſudden Change in Eſau, we may reaſonably ſuppoſe, was occaſion'd by one of thoſe Angels, who appear'd; and, who working upon his Humours and Fancy, ſweeten'd him into a particular Benignity of Temper, ſo that Jacob, by his humble and ſubmiſſive Behaviour gain'd his End.

And paſſed over the Ford Jabbok] This, ſays Wells, is a ſmall River, which is by all agreed to flow from the adjacent Mountains of Gilead; but ſome make it to run into the Sea of Galilee, others into the River Jordan, below, or South of that Sea.

And Jacob was left alone] Tho' the Reaſon, which made the Patriarch, after he had forded the River, to try if it was paſſable for his Family, return back again, and not go along with them, be not expreſſed by Moſes; yet it is very natural to ſuppoſe, that he ſtayed ſome Time behind his Family in this Place of Viſion, which he afterwards called Peniel, to recommend himſelf, and them in Prayer, (as the Danger approach'd nearer and nearer) to the Protection of Almighty God. See Patrick and Biblioth. Bibl.

And there wreſtled a Man with him] Of all the Adventures that happen'd to Jacob, that of his Wreſtling is reckon'd, ſays Stackhouſe, one of the ſtrangeſt, and has therefore been made Matter of Doubt, whether it was a real Event, or a Viſion only. Maimonides, and ſome other Hebrew, as well as Chriſtian Interpreters, are of Opinion, that all this was tranſacted only in Jacob's Imagination. They ſuppoſe, that the Patriarch, being ſtrongly poſſeſſed with the Senſe of the Danger he was going to encounter, ſaw in a Viſion, a Man coming to him, and who, after ſome Altercations, began to wreſtle with him; that the Conflict between them continued till break of Day, when his Antagoniſt, not able to get the better, deſired to be gone, &c. and that, as a Proof, that this Viſion was more than an ordinary Dream, it ſeem'd to him, that the Angel touch'd his Thigh, and, in effect, as ſoon as he awoke, he found himſelf lame, probably by the Force of his Imagination.

If this Explication be admitted, the whole Difficulty is at an End. 'Tis natural perhaps for a Man, under the Apprehenſions of a dreadful Foe, to dream of fighting; and to dream, at the ſame Time, that he comes off victorious, might be accounted a happy Omen. But it muſt be confeſs'd, that the Analogy of the Story, and more eſpecially Jacob's Lameneſs, which was conſequent upon his Conflict, will not ſuffer us to think that this was only in a Dream. The more general therefore, and indeed the more rational Opinion is, that this Wreſtling was real, and that Jacob was actually awake, when engag'd in it: But then the Queſtion is, Who the Perſon was, that did encounter him?

Origen, I think is a little ſingular, and no ways to be juſtified in his Conceit when he tells us, that the Perſon, with whom Jacob wreſtled, was an evil Angel, in Alluſion to which he thinks the Apoſtle grounds his Exhortation: Finally, my Brethren, be ſtrong in the Lord, and in the Power of his Might, for we wreſtle not againſt Principalities and Powers, againſt the Rulers of the Darkneſs of this World, againſt ſpiritual Wickedneſs in high Places, Epheſ. vi. 10, 11, 12. But that Jacob, who at this Time, was ſo immediately under the divine Pro-

Protection, ſhould be ſubmitted to the Aſſault of a wicked Angel; that he ſhould merit the Name of Iſrael, i. e. Conqueror of God, for overcoming ſuch an one, or call the Place of Combat Peniel, i. e. the Face of God, in Commemoration of his Conflict with ſuch an one, is very abſurd, if not an impious Suggeſtion. Thoſe, who eſpouſe this Opinion, may poſſibly be led into it from a Thought, that the Perſon, here contending with Jacob, was an Enemy, and come with a malevolent Intent againſt him, whereas nothing can be more evident, (eſpecially by his bleſſing him before they parted) that he came with a quite contrary Deſign. Among the People of the Eaſt, from whence the Grecians came, and brought along with them ſeveral of their Cuſtoms, Wreſtling was an Exerciſe in great Vogue, as highly conducive to the Health and Strength; and a common Thing it was, for two Friends when they met together, to amuſe and recreate themſelves in this Way. The Jewiſh Doctors therefore ſeem to be much in the right, when they maintain, that the Perſon, who contended with Jacob, was a good Angel; and, as their ſetled Notion is, that thoſe heavenly Spirits ſing, every Morning, the Praiſes of God, at the Approach of Day; ſo the Requeſt, which his Antagoniſt makes, Let me go, for the Day breaketh, ſhews him to be one of the angelick Hoſt, who had ſtayed his prefixed Time, and was now in haſte to be gone, in order to join the heavenly Choir: For the Prophet Hoſea, I think, has determin'd the Matter very plainly, when ſpeaking of Jacob, he tells us that he took his Brother by the Heel in the Womb, and by his Strength he had Power with God, yea, he had Power over the Angel, and prevail'd, Hoſ. xii. 3, 4.

Thy Name ſhall be called no more Jacob, but Iſrael] And yet it is certain, that this Patriarch was very frequently, nay in the very next Verſe but one, is called Jacob, and therefore this ſeeming Contradiction may be amended, by rendering the Words, inſtead of no more, not only; or, not ſo much Jacob, as Iſrael; becauſe it is certain, that, in his Poſterity at leaſt (who were called Iſraelites, but never Jacobites) the latter Name aboliſh'd the former. Iſrael is certainly derived from the Word Sar, which (as St. Jerom obſerves) ſignifies a Prince with the Jod, which is the common Note of a proper Name; but then there is ſome Obſcurity in our Tranſlation, as to the latter Part of the Verſe, as a Prince haſt thou Power with God, and with Men, and haſt prevailed; which ſhould rather be tranſlated, Thou haſt been a Prevailer with God, and with Men thou ſhalt always powerfully prevail. This is the literal Verſion of the Words; is conſonant to the Vulgar Latin, Onkelos, and the Septuagint; and very juſtly expreſſes the true Senſe of the Place. See Patrick's Com. and Shuckford's Con.

CHAP. XXXIII.

The Civilities that paſſed between Jacob and Eſau at their Meeting. Jacob journeys to Succoth, where he builds him a Houſe and Booths; comes to Salem, where he buys a Field, and erects an Altar.

Ver. 1. AND Jacob lifted up his eyes, and looked, and behold, Eſau came, and with him four hundred men. And he divided the children unto Leah, and unto Rachel, and unto the two hand-maids. 2 And he put the hand-maids and their children foremoſt, and Leah and her children after, and Rachel and Joſeph hindermoſt. 3 And he paſſed over before them, and bowed himſelf to the ground ſeven times, until he came near to his brother. 4 And Eſau ran to meet him, and embraced him, and fell on his neck, and kiſſed him: and they wept. 5 And he lift up his eyes, and ſaw the women and the children; and ſaid, Who are thoſe with thee? And he ſaid, The children which God hath graciouſly given thy ſervant. 6 Then the handmaidens came near, they and their children, and they bowed themſelves. 7 And Leah alſo with her children came near, and bowed themſelves: and after came Joſeph near and Rachel, and they bowed themſelves. 8 And he ſaid, What meaneſt thou by all this drove, which I met? And he ſaid, Theſe are to find grace in the ſight of my lord. 9 And Eſau ſaid, I have enough; my brother, keep that thou haſt unto thy ſelf. 10 And Jacob ſaid, Nay, I pray thee, if now I have found grace in thy ſight, then receive my preſent at my hand: for therefore I have ſeen thy face, as though I had ſeen the face of God, and thou waſt pleaſed with me. 11 Take, I pray thee, my bleſſing that is brought to thee; becauſe God hath dealt graciouſly with me, and becauſe I have enough: and he urged him, and he took it. 12 And he ſaid, Let us take our journey, and let us go, and I will go before thee. 13 And he ſaid unto him, My lord knoweth that the children are tender, and the flocks and herds with young are with me; and if men ſhould over drive them one day, all the flock will die. 14 Let my lord, I pray thee, paſs over before his ſervant: and I will lead on ſoftly, according as the cattle that goeth before me, and the children be able to endure; until I come unto my lord unto Seir. 15 And Eſau ſaid, Let me now leave with thee ſome of the folk that are with me: And he ſaid, What needeth it? Let me find grace in the ſight of my lord. 16 So Eſau returned that day on his way unto Seir. 17 And Jacob journeyed to Succoth, and built him an houſe, and made booths for his cattel: therefore the name of the place is called Succoth. 18 And Jacob came to Shalem a city of Sechem, which is in the land of Canaan, when he came from Padan-aram; and pitched his tent before the city. 19 And he bought a parcel of a field, where he had ſpread his tent, at the hand of the children of Hamor Sechems father, for an hundred pieces of money. 20 And he erected there an altar, and called it El-elohe-iſrael.

And he put the Handmaids and their Children foremoſt, and Leah and her Children after, and Rachel and Joſeph hindermoſt] How natural is it for us, ſays Pool, to take moſt Care of what we love beſt; and how natural it is even in the beſt Men, to let their Affections get the better of their Reaſon? For Leah having ſix Sons, and one Daughter, the Loſs of them certainly ought, in Reaſon, to be more dreaded by Jacob, than the Loſs of Rachel, who had only Joſeph; and conſequently, Leah and her Children ought to have been put in the laſt and ſafeſt Place, rather than Rachel; but we may find hereby, as we ſhall alſo afterwards by his Fondneſs of Joſeph, that Jacob was by no Means exempt from human Frailties; from whence we may aſſure ourſelves that there is no ſuch Thing as Perfection on this Side of the Grave.

For therefore have I ſeen thy Face, as though I had ſeen the Face of God, and thou waſt pleaſed with me] As Eſau had alledged, as a Reaſon for not accepting his Brother's Preſent, that he had already enough of his own, Jacob, to induce him the more eaſily to take it, compares him, ſays Pool, by a Licenſe frequent in the Oriental Tongues, to the Divine Being; hinting thereby, that as God accepted of Sacrifices, tho' he did not need them, from thoſe who ſerved him; and his Acceptance thereof, was a certain Sign of his Favour; ſo he begged his his Brother notwithſtanding his great Affluence, in the ſame Manner to accept of his Preſent, in Token of his good Will and Favour to him.

So Eſau returned that Day on his Way unto Seir] After this Moſes gives us no farther Account of Eſau, and his Family, only that he was aſſiſting at his Father's Funeral, and had three Wives whereof it is proper to take Notice, that, when he barely mentions theſe Wives (as in Gen. xxvi. 34. and Gen. xxviii. 9.) he gives them quite other Names, than what he does, when he comes to ſpeak of the Poſterity which Eſau had by them, Ch. xxxvi. which may lead an unwary Reader to think that he had more than three, eſpecially when the Fathers of the two firſt are likewiſe called by different Names. Thus his firſt Wife Judith, the Daughter of Beeri, is afterwards called Adah, the Daughter of Elon the Hittite; the Second, viz. Bathſhema, the Daughter of Elon; is again called Aholi-Bamah the Daughter of Anah, the Daughter of Zibeon, the Hivite; and the laſt, called in one Place Mahalah, is now Bathſhemah; but what ſhews, that theſe two latter Names mean the ſame Perſon, and that the ſame Thing may be ſuppoſed of the other two, is, that, in both Places, ſhe is called the Daughter of Iſhmael, the Siſter of Nabajoth. All the Account that can therefore be given for this Difference, is, that they had two Names, and that it was uſual to call them, ſometimes by one, and ſometimes by another; in the like Manner, as we find the Mother of Abijam, King of Judah, in one Place called Maacah, the Daughter of Abiſhalon, (1 Kings xv. 2.) and in another, Michaiah, the Daughter of Uriel of Gibeah, (2 Chron. xiii. 2.) with many other Inſtances of the like Nature. After having taken this Notice of Eſau's Wives, Moſes enumerates his Children, and ſome of their Deſcendants the Princes of the Tribes of the Edomites; the Kings that ſucceeded them; and the Chiefs, who governed after the Kings; but as to the Order of Succeſſion, wherein they are to be placed, there is ſome Diſpute among the Learned. One Remark more that we ſhall make before we part with Eſau, is, that, all Things conſidered, he was not that very bad Man, which ſome would make him. His generous and open Temper appears in his affectionate Deportment towards his Brother, and his ſpeedy and utter Oblivion of all the Slights and Perfidies he had receiv'd from him; and, tho' St. Paul calls him a prophane Perſon, and ſays, that he was hated by God; yet, all that he means by the Word Hatred, is no more than a bare Poſtponing. For the Apoſtle's Purpoſe is to ſhew, that God had all along, beſtow'd the Favours, which lead to the Meſſiah, on whom he pleas'd; on Abraham, and not on Lot; on Jacob, not on Eſau; on the Gentiles, not on the Jews: And he therefore calls him prophane, not becauſe he was more wicked than other Men of his Age, but becauſe he ſeems not to have been ſo mindful of the Promiſes made to his Family, as Jacob was, and conſequently was not ſo fit to be the Heir of the Mercies peculiar to it. See Univ. Hiſt. and Shuckford's Con.

And Jacob came to Shalem, a City of Shechem] There is great Reaſon to believe, ſays Pool, that theſe Words are wrong tranſlated in our Verſion, the Tranſlators having therein followed the Septuagint, and the Vulgar Latin. But Junius and Tremellius render it, Deinde venit Jahakob incolumis ad civitatem Schecemum; i. e. Then came Jacob in Safety to the City of Shechem; which we take to be the true Meaning of the Original, Shalem ſignifying in Safety; and this is far more agreeable to Probability, than either that the City, to which Jacob came, ſhould have two Names at once; or that Shalem ſhou'd be a City in the Neighbourhood of Shechem, of which no Footſteps now remain. There is yet another Reaſon of no ſmall Weight, which is this; as the Subjects of Hamor, the Prince of this Territory, could not be very numerous, ſince they were afterwards cut off by Simeon and Levi, it ſeems contrary, both to good Policy, and all Manner of Likelihood, that they ſhould dwell in two Cities; which is the Solution offered by thoſe, who think Shalem a proper Name, and yet ſay it was not the ſame with Schechem.

And he bought a Parcel of a Field — for an hundred Pieces of Money] The Word Keſhitah, which is here rendered a Piece of Money, ſignifies likewiſe a Lamb; from whence the Septuagint, Vulgate, Oleaſter, and others, have tranſlated it an hundred Lambs: But ſince, long before this, Money was in Uſe, and made the Inſtrument of Traffick, (Gen. xxiii. 16.) which muſt of Courſe deſtroy the Method of exchanging one Commodity for another, it is much more probable, that it was ſome Sort of Coin (tho' of what Value it is uncertain) which had a Lamb ſtamped upon it, and was called by that Name, as we do call an Angel, from the Stamp it bears of one. CHAP. XXXIV.

Dinah, going to viſit the Daughters of the Land, Schechem falls in Love with her, and defiles her, and afterwards deſires her in Marriage; Jacob's Sons ſeemingly agree to it, on Condition that the Schechemites would conſent to be circumciſed; which when they had agreed to and perform'd, Simeon and Levi, taking Advantage of their being ſore, fell upon them, maſſacred all the Males, plunder'd the City, and carried away the Women and Children Captives, which very much troubles Jacob.

Ver. 1. AND Dinah the daughter of Leah, which ſhe bare unto Jacob, went out to ſee the daughters of the land. 2 And when Shechem the ſon of Hamor the Hivite prince of the country ſaw her, he took her, and lay with her, and defiled her. 3 And his ſoul clave unto Dinah the daughter of Jacob, and he loved the damſel, and ſpake kindly unto the damſel. 4 And Shechem ſpake unto his father Hamor, ſaying, Get me this damſel to wife. 5 And Jacob heard that he had defiled Dinah his daughter, (now his ſons were with his cattel in the field:) and Jacob held his peace until they were come. 6 And Hamor the father of Shechem went out unto Jacob to commune with him. 7 And the ſons of Jacob came out of the field when they heard it, and the men were grieved, and they were very wroth: becauſe he had wrought folly in Iſrael, in lying with Jacobs daughter; which thing ought not to be done. 8 And Hamor communed with them, ſaying, The ſoul of my ſon Shechem longeth for your daughter: I pray you give her him to wife. 9 And make ye marriages with us, and give your daughters unto us, and take our daughters unto you. 10 And ye ſhall dwell with us: and the land ſhall be before you; dwell and trade you therein, and get you poſſeſſions therein. 11 And Shechem ſaid unto her father, and unto her brethren, Let me find grace in your eyes, and what ye ſhall ſay unto me, I will give. 12 Ask me never ſo much dowry and gift, and I will give according as ye ſhall ſay unto me: but give me the damſel unto wife. 13 And the ſons of Jacob anſwered Shechem and Hamor his father deceitfully, and ſaid, (becauſe he had defiled Dinah their ſiſter) 14 And they ſaid unto them, We cannot do this thing, to give our ſiſter to one that is uncircumciſed: for that were a reproach unto us. 15 But in this will we conſent unto you: If ye will be as we be, that every male of you be circumciſed; 16 Then will we give our daughters unto you, and we will take your daughters to us, and we will dwell with you, and we will become one people. 17 But if ye will not hearken unto us, to be circumciſed; then will we take our daughter, and we will be gone. 18 And their words pleaſed Hamor, and Shechem Hamors ſon. 19 And the young man deferred not to do the thing, becauſe he had delight in Jacobs daughter; and he was more honourable than all the houſe of his father. 20 And Hamor and Shechem his ſon came unto the gate of their city, and communed with the men of their city, ſaying, 21 Theſe men are peaceable with us, therefore let them dwell in the land, and trade therein; for the land, behold, it is large enough for them: let us take their daughters to us for wives, and let us give them our daughters. 22 Only herein will the men conſent unto us, for to dwell with us, to be one people, if every male among us be circumciſed, as they are circumciſed. 23 Shall not their cattel, and their ſubſtance, and every beaſt of theirs be ours; only let us conſent unto them, and they will dwell with us. 24 And unto Hamor and unto Shechem his ſon hearkened all that went out of the gate of his city: and every male was circumciſed, all that went out of the gate of his city. 25 And it came to paſs on the third day when they were ſore, that two of the ſons of Jacob, Simeon, and Levi, Dinahs brethren, took each man his ſword, and came upon the city boldly, and ſlew all the males, 26 And they ſlew Hamor and Shechem his ſon with the edge of the ſword, and took Dinah out of Shechems houſe, and went out. 27 The ſons of Jacob came upon the ſlain, and ſpoiled the city, becauſe they had defiled their ſiſter. 28 They took their ſheep, and their oxen, and their aſſes, and that which was in the city, and that which was in the field. 29 And all their wealth, and all their little ones, and their wives took they captives, and ſpoiled even all that was in the houſe. 30 And Jacob ſaid to Simeon and Levi, Ye have troubled me to make me to ſtink among the inhabitants of the land, amongſt the Canaanites, and the Perizzites: and I being few in number, they ſhall gather themſelves together againſt me and ſlay me, and I ſhall be deſtroyed, I and my houſe. 31 And they ſaid, Should he deal with our ſiſter, as with an harlot?

And when Schechem ſaw her, he took her and lay with and defiled her] At what Time this Misfortune happen'd to Dinah, the Scripture gives us no Account: It is preſum'd however, from the bold Exploits of the two Brothers to avenge her Honour, (which implies that they were Men grown) that ſhe could not be leſs than fifteen or ſixteen Years of Age; and the Occaſion of her running herſelf into this Premunire, Joſephus tells us, was a great Feſtival, then held at Shechem, which, ſhe deſirous to ſee the fine Sights, and Faſhions of the Place, adventur'd to go to.

Aſk me ever ſo much Dowry, and Gift, and I will give according as ye ſhall ſay] We have more than once, obſerved the prevailing Cuſtom of the Eaſt, for Men to make Preſents unto the Parents of their Wives; which is what is here intended by Schechem's mentioning a Dowry. As to the Gift, he propoſes it as a Thing diſtinct from the Dowry, it might be in Satisfaction for the Offence by him committed; or elſe, it might be a Cuſtom of preſenting unto the Relations, as well as Parents of the Bride, and, which was called a Gift, to diſtinguiſh it from the former. Taken in either Senſe, it accounts for Schechem's Offer, and is a Demonſtration of his Paſſion for Dinah, on whoſe Score all theſe extenſive Proffers were made.

And the Words pleaſed Hamor, and Shechem Hamor's Son] Notwithſtanding Jacob's Sons were guilty of a horrid Crime, in committing ſuch an inhuman Maſſacre upon the Inhabitants of Shechem, it is apparent, ſays Pool, that they were devoted to Deſtruction by the Almighty; otherwiſe they could never have been ſo infatuated, to agree ſo eaſily to ſo unreaſonable a Propoſal; ſince it is evident, they did it not out of any religious Motive; neither did they intend to embrace the true Religion, and to have renounced their Idolatry, notwithſtanding that they ſubmitted to this painful Operation; if they had, Moſes would never have omitted ſo material a Circumſtance; it is highly probable, therefore, that the Schechemites were notorious Sinners, and that the Meaſure of their Iniquity was full, otherwiſe the Lord would not have ſuffer'd them to fall under ſo ſtrange an Infatuation.

And it came to paſs on the third Day, when they were ſore] The third Day, as Phyſicians take Notice, was the Time, ſays Howell, when Fevers generally attended Circumciſion, occaſion'd by the Inflammation of the Wound, which was generally more painful then (as the Hebrews obſerve) than at any Time elſe; and for this Reaſon the Sons of Jacob took the Opportunity of falling upon the Shechemites, when they were leaſt of all in a Condition to defend themſelves.

O Lord God of my Father Simeon, to whom thou gaveſt a Sword to take Vengeance of the Strangers, who looſen'd the Girdle of a Maid to defile her, and polluted her Virginity to her Reproach: Therefore thou gaveſt her Rulers to be ſlain, ſo that they died in their Bed in Blood, being deceiv'd. Thou gaveſt their Wives for a Prey, and their Daughters to be Captives, and all their Spoils to be divided among their dear Children, who were moved with thy Zeal, and abhorred the Pollution of their Blood, and called upon thee for Aid. This, ſays Stackhouſe, is the Preface to the Prayer which Judith makes to God, in the apocryphal Book that goes under her Name, Jud. ix. 2, &c. And indeed, were there no other Arguments to prove this Book ſpurious, this one Paſſage is enough, where we find the moſt abominable Maſſacre called a divine Work, and Perfidy, Murder, and Rapine, gilded over with the ſpecious Names of Zeal for God, and Indignation againſt Vice. The Abhorrence, which Jacob expreſs'd of the Cruelty of his Sons, the Sharpneſs of the Reproaches utter'd againſt them, the Remembrance of it, even to the End of his Life, and the Care he took to recapitulate it upon his Death-bed, gives us a much juſter Idea of it, than the Writings of ſome Rabbins, who have undertaken not only to excuſe, but even to commend it. As to the Probability of the Fact, however, we are not to ſuppoſe, that, becauſe Simeon and Levi are only mention'd, they therefore were the only Perſons who had any Hand in this wicked Exploit. They indeed are only mention'd, becauſe being own Brothers to Dinah both by Father and Mother, and, conſequently more concerned to reſent the Injury done to her Honour, are made chief Contrivers and Conductors of it; but it is reaſonable to think, that the reſt of Jacob's Sons, who were old enough to bear Arms, as well as the greateſt Part of his Domeſticks, were engag'd in the Execution of it: Becauſe it is ſcarcely conceivable, how two Men alone ſhould be able to maſter a whole City, to ſlay all the Men in it, and take all the Women Captives, who, upon this Occaſion, may be ſuppoſed more than ſufficient to have over-power'd them.

Nothing is more known, or common in Hiſtory, than to aſcribe an Action (eſpecially in military Affairs) to the chief Commanders in it, how many Under-agents ſoever they may think proper to employ: And we ſhould deny Moſes the common Privilege of an Hiſtorian, if we ſhould account that a Fault and Omiſſion in him, which, in other Writers of the like Nature (eſpecially where they ſtudy Brevity) is reputed a great Beauty and Perfection. Moſes however is far from pleading his Privilege in this Reſpect; for, having made Mention of Simeon and Levi, as the principal Leaders in the Action, he then proceeds and tells us, that the Sons of Jacob, meaning the reſt of his Sons, who were of competent Age

Age (and with them very reasonably their Attendants) came upon the Slain, and spoiled the City, because they had defiled their Sister.

CHAP. XXXV.

God directs Jacob to go to Bethel, and build an Altar there. Jacob purges his House of Idols. Deborah, Rebekah's Nurse, dies. God appears again to Jacob, and renews his Promises, formerly made to him and his Forefathers. Rachel dies in Labour of Benjamin, is buried, and Jacob sets a Pillar upon her Grave; he removes from thence beyond the Tower of Edar, where Reuben commits Incest with his Concubine Bilhah. The Names of Jacob's Sons; he visits his Father; Isaac's Age, Death, and Burial.

Ver. 1. AND God said unto Jacob, Arise, go up to Bethel, and dwell there: and make there an altar unto God, that appeared unto thee when thou fleddest from the face of Esau thy brother. 2 Then Jacob said unto his household, and to all that were with him, Put away the strange gods that are among you, and be clean, and change your garments: 3 And let us arise, and go up to Bethel; and I will make there an altar unto God, who answered me in the day of my distress, and was with me in the way which I went. 4 And they gave unto Jacob all the strange gods, which were in their hand, and all their ear-rings which were in their ears; and Jacob hid them under the oak which was by Shechem. 5 And they journeyed: and the terror of God was upon the cities that were round about them, and they did not pursue after the sons of Jacob. 6 So Jacob came to Luz, which is in the land of Canaan (that is Bethel) he and all the people that were with him. 7 And he built there an altar, and called the place El-bethel: because there God appeared unto him, when he fled from the face of his brother. 8 But Deborah Rebekahs nurse died, and she was buried beneath Bethel, under an oak: and the name of it was called Allon-Bachuth.

Then Jacob said unto his Household and to all that were with him, Put away the strange Gods that are among you] From hence it may be presum'd, says Stackhouse, that there were several of his Family (and possibly Rachel herself) addicted to Idolatry, which he might connive at; but this is a Mistake, which arises purely from the Faultiness of our Translation. There the Word strange is supposed to refer to Gods, and to be another Name for Idols: Whereas the Words, Elokei han-necar, do properly signify the Gods of the Stranger, that was among them; i. e. the Gods of the Shechemites, whom they had taken captive, and brought into Jacob's Family. This alters the Sense of the Words quite, and throws the Charge of Idolatry, not upon Jacob's Household, but upon the Strangers that were in it. The Captives of Shechem, whom his Sons had taken, were now to be incorporated into his Family, and put under new Restrictions. Whatever Singularities there were in their Dress or Ornaments, or in the Rites and Usages of Religion, they had been accustomed to, these he intended to abrogate, and to reduce them all to the same Purity of Worship, and Simplicity of Life and Manners, which he design'd to keep up among them. And this is so far from being a Stain upon his Conduct, (as if he were a tame Conniver at Impiety) that we find him undertaking even the Reformation of Strangers, as soon as they were come under his Roof, with a Spirit and Resolution, not unlike that of holy David, Mine Eyes look unto such, as are faithful in the Land, that they may dwell with me, and whoso leadeth a godly Life, he shall be my Servant, Ps. ci. 8, 9.

And be clean, and change your Garments] The Manner wherein Jacob required of his Domesticks to purify themselves, was, by washing their whole Bodies, and putting on clean and fresh Apparel: And, that this was a Custom among other Nations, as well as the Jews, when they set about any solemn and religious Office, is plain from that Passage in Euripides, where Alcestis, being to perform some holy Rites in behalf of her Children, orders them to be washed. But of all other Nations, the Egyptians (as Herodotus tells us) and more especially their Priests, were most remarkable for this Sort of Cleanness. 'They shav'd their Bodies all over 'every third Day; they bathed themselves in cold Wa-'ter twice a Day, and twice a Night; and wore con-'stantly nothing but Linen Vestments, and Shoes made 'of Papyrus, for this Reason, I suppose, because they 'were most proper to be washed.' Not that we are to suppose, that God respects a Worshipper for his spruce Appearance, so long as his Conscience is polluted within. In Sordidness indeed there is something distasteful, and 'tis unseemly to appear before a great Man in dirty Apparel: But the principal Design of God's appointing this outward Cleanliness, was to be a Sign, and Memorandum to the Person approaching his Presence, what the inward Temper and Complexion of his Mind should be; and therefore we find the Royal Psalmist, in Allusion to this very Custom, declaring his pious Purpose, I will wash my Hands in Innocency, and so will I go to thy Altar, Ps. xxvi. 6. See Le Clerc and Patrick.

And they gave unto Jacob all the strange Gods which were in their Hand, and all their Ear-rings] It was a Custom in several Countries, for the Men, as well as the Women, and for the meaner as well as the better Sort to wear Ear-rings; and therefore we find Plautus in his Play, called Pœnalum, Act 5. taking this Notice of some Carthaginian Slaves — That their Hands should be without Fingers, one would think, because they wore their Rings in their Ears. But, besides the Rings design'd for Ornament, it was a common Thing for idolatrous Nations to wear others for superstitious Uses. These (as some say) were made in Form of a Semicircle, and reached over the Forehead from Ear to Ear. They had astronomical Characters and Signatures engraven upon them, and to them they imputed a thousand supernatural Virtues. They were always dedicated to some false Deity; and therefore St. Austin, in several Places, exerts himself with a becoming Zeal, against such impious Fooleries, and tells his Countrymen, the Africans, (among whom this Custom had got some Footing) that, in this execrable Superstition, as he calls it, they did not design to dress themselves out to please Men, so much as to serve and please Devils. And therefore Jacob was highly to be commended for destroying these Relicks of Idolatry, which his Haste to be gone, both according to God's Command, and his own Apprehensions of Danger, made him bury under Ground, rather than stay to melt them down. See Le Clerc, Patrick, Heidegger, and Calmet.

But Deborah, Rebekah's Nurse, died; and she was buried beneath Bethel, under an Oak; and the Name of it was called Allon-Bachuth] In Gen. xxiv. 59. we read, that Deborah went along with her Mistress Rebekah, when Isaac's Steward was sent to conduct her out of Mesopotamia. But, how is it then, that we find her here in Jacob's Retinue so long afterwards, and when he was returning from the same Place? The Jewish Doctors tells us, that Rebekah, having promised her Son, at his Departure, that she would send for him again, as soon as she found him out of Danger, did now send Deborah to fetch him back. But, besides that a younger Messenger would have been much more proper, we do not find that Jacob was sent for, but that he left the Country, by God's Appointment, and upon the bad Usage of his Father-in-law. Some Christian Commentators are therefore of Opinion, that, after she had brought her Mistress Rebekah to her Marriage, and seen her well setled in her Family, she went back to Haran again, and there dwelt in Laban's House, till, upon Jacob's returning home, ſhe, having a Deſire to ſee her old Miſtreſs once more, put herſelf under his Convoy. Others again ſuppoſe, that Jacob had been at his Father's Houſe before this Time; or that, after Rebekah's Death, Deborah, hearing of his Return to Canaan, might be deſirous to ſpend the Remainder of her Life with his Wives, who were her Countrywomen. Any of theſe Conjectures may be ſufficient to ſolve the Difficulty of her being found in Jacob's Family; and the Reaſon why Moſes takes Notice of her Death, is, not becauſe it was a Circumſtance of Moment enough to be preſerv'd in Hiſtory, as that it was of uſe to aſſign the Reaſon, why the Oak, near which ſhe was buried, and which perhaps was ſtill ſtanding in his Days, came by its Name. But what will, in ſome Meaſure, ſerve, both to vindicate the ſacred Hiſtorian, and to ſhew, at the ſame Time, how much theſe Nurſes and Women, who had the Care and Education of Perſons of Birth and Quality, were honour'd and eſteem'd in thoſe early Days, is a Paſſage, upon the like Occaſion, in the Poet Virgil, Æneid. L. 7. where Æneas's Nurſe Cajeta, is commemorated, as giving Name to the Place where ſhe died. However, it is apparent, that Deborah was greatly reſpected by the Family, ſince they lamented her Loſs ſo much, that the Name of Allon-bachuth, that is, the Oak of Weeping, was given to the Oak under which ſhe was buried.

Jacob's

9 And God appeared unto Jacob again, when he came out of Padan-aram; and bleſſed him. 10 And God ſaid unto him, Thy name is Jacob: thy name ſhall not be called any more Jacob, but Iſrael ſhall be thy name; and he called his name Iſrael. 11 And God ſaid unto him, I am God Almighty; be fruitful and multiply, a nation and a company of nations ſhall be of thee: and kings ſhall come out of thy loins. 12 And the land which I gave Abraham and Iſaac, to thee I will give it, and to thy ſeed after thee will I give the land. 13 And God went up from him, in the place where he talked with him. 14 And Jacob ſet up a pillar in the place where he talked with him, even a pillar of ſtone; and he poured a drink-offering thereon, and he poured oil thereon. 15 And Jacob called the name of the place where God ſpake with him, Bethel. 16 And they journeyed from Bethel: and there was but a little way to come to Ephrath: and Rachel travailed, and ſhe had hard labour. 17 And it came to paſs when ſhe was in hard labour, that the midwife ſaid unto her, Fear not; thou ſhalt have this ſon alſo. 18 And it came to paſs as her ſoul was in departing (for ſhe died) that ſhe called his name Benoni: but his father called him Benjamin. 19 And Rachel died, and was buried in the way to Ephrath, which is Beth-lehem. 20 And Jacob ſet a pillar upon her grave: that is the pillar of Rachels grave unto this day. 21 And Iſrael journeyed and ſpread his tent beyond the tower of Edar. 22 And it came to paſs when Iſrael dwelt in that land, that Reuben went and lay with Bilhah his fathers concubine: and Iſrael heard it. Now the ſons of Jacob were twelve.

And Jacob called the Name of the Place, where God talked with him, Bethel] This Place was afterwards called Bethlehem, a City about two Leagues diſtant from Jeruſalem, famous for the Birth of David, King of Iſrael, but infinitely more ſo, for the Birth of Chriſt, the Son of God, and Saviour of the World.

She called his Name Benoni; but his Father called him Benjamin] From the different Names which the Father and Mother gave this Son of theirs, ſome have obſerv'd, ſays Patrick, that Names are oft-times ſtrangely adapted to Things, and the Preſages of Parents have antiently been obſerv'd to be fulfilled. — Heu nunquam vana Parentum auguria; i. e. the Auguries, or Predictions, of Parents, are never made in vain; which was certainly no where more, than in the Fate of Benjamin's Poſterity, ſince no Tribe in Iſrael was more valorous, and yet none more ſubject to Diſaſters than his; ſince it was almoſt quite extirpated in the Time of the Judges, Ch. xxi. and yet, before the Concluſion of that Age, became ſo powerful, as to have the firſt King of Iſrael choſen out of it.

And was buried in the Way to Ephrath, which is Bethlehem] Various Opinions have been ſtarted concerning the Name of this Place, and when it was impoſed, which many imagine to have happened later than the Time of Moſes; but as it may very well be derived from Pharaoh, which ſignifies to bear Fruit, and as it is called Bethlehem, i. e. the Houſe of Bread, we think, the Excellency of its Soil being always viſible, it might probably enough be ſo called, before the Time of Moſes's Writing. As to its Situation, it lay South of Bethel, between it and Hebron, and was the Place of Chriſt's Nativity.

And Jacob ſet a Pillar upon her Grave] The learned Bochart is of Opinion, that this Monument of Rachel's (which is the firſt that we read of in Scripture) was a Pyramid, curiouſly wrought, and raiſed upon a Baſis of twelve large Stones, whereby Jacob intended to intimate the Number of his Sons. It was certainly ſtanding in the Time when Moſes wrote, Ver. 20. and, juſt before Saul was anointed King, there is ſome Mention made of it, 1 Sam. x. 2. But that the preſent Monument cannot be the ſame, which Jacob erected, is manifeſt from its being a modern and Turkiſh Structure. Mr. Le Brun, who was at the Place, and took a Draught of it, ſays, that the Tomb is cut into the Cavity of a Rock, and cover'd with a Dome, ſupported by four Pillars, or Fragments of a Wall, which open to the Sepulchre. The Work is rude enough, and without any Ornament, but the whole is as entire, as if it had been but juſt made, which makes it hard to imagine that it has ſubſiſted ever ſince Jacob's Time.

Reuben went and lay with Bilhah, his Father's Concubine] It is very remarkable of the Jewiſh Hiſtorian Joſephus, ſays Stackhouſe, that he gives us no Manner Account of Reuben's Inceſt, for fear that his recording ſo vile an Action, might leave ſome Blot of Infamy upon that Patriarch, and his Poſterity. But Moſes has given us a better Proof of his Truth and Integrity, in that he not only mentions this Abomination once, but even, in the Benediction, which his Father gives Reuben, makes a Remembrance and Recital of it. And this he did, that he might give us a true Account, why the Right of Inheritance, which was originaliy in him, came to be conferred on Joſeph; and the Kingdom, or Right of Dominion, which was forfeited by his Tranſgreſſion, came to be tranſlated to the Tribe of Judah. This he did, that he might furniſh his Countrymen with Matter ſufficient for their Humiliation, who, by this, and many more Inſtances of the like Nature, are given to underſtand, that it was not their Merit, but purely God's Mercy, which advanced them to the Honour of being his peculiar People; and this he did, that he might acquaint us all, how God was pleaſed to make theſe great, theſe elect Heads and Fathers, Inſtances of human Frailty and Sin, in order to ſhew, that there is nothing, even nothing in Man, unleſs God by his Grace be with him; that of ourſelves we are not ſufficient to do any Thing, as of ourſelves, but all our Sufficiency is from God, 2 Cor. iii. 5.

23 The ſons of Leah; Reuben Jacobs firſtborn, and Simeon, and Levi, and Judah, and Iſſachar, and Zebulun. 24 The ſons of Rachel; Joſeph, and Benjamin. 25 And the ſons of Bilhah, Rachels handmaid; Dan and Naphtali. 26 And the ſons of Zilpah, Leahs handmaid; Gad, and Aſher. Jacob, which were born to him in Padan-aram. 27 And Jacob came unto Iſaac his father unto Mamre, unto the city of Arbah (which is Hebron) where Abraham and Iſaac ſojourned. 28 And the days of Iſaac were an hundred and fourſcore years. 29 And Iſaac gave up the ghoſt and died, and was gathered unto his people, being old and full of days: and his ſons Eſau and Jacob buried him.

And Jacob came unto Iſaac his Father, unto Mamre] It is reaſonable to ſuppoſe, ſays Pool, that Jacob had often, before this, viſited his Father, together with his Wives and Children; but that they could not live together, on Account of their numerous Flocks and Herds, as happened to Abraham and Lot; and that the Reaſon of this Viſit's being mentioned, rather than any of the reſt, is, that it immediately preceded Iſaac's Death and Burial, of which Moſes was now to give an Account. It is not at all improbable therefore, that Iſaac finding his Death approaching, ſent both for him and Eſau, to take his laſt Leave of them, having been before informed of their ſincere Reconciliation. We cannot help obſerving here alſo, that this Circumſtance of their Meeting at their Father's, makes it highly probable, that Jacob had before then performed his Promiſe, of viſiting Eſau at Mount Seir, tho' no Notice is taken thereof by Moſes; ſince, had it been otherwiſe, Jacob, in all Likelihood, would have been extremely cautious, of coming into his Power; and it is certain, a Man of Eſau's haughty Spirit, would hardly have forborne reproaching him ſeverely with his Breach of Promiſe, if he had ſtopt there, when he had nothing to dread from his Father; at whoſe Funeral they both aſſiſted. As no Mention, therefore, is made by Moſes, of Eſau's upbraiding Jacob therewith, after his Father's Deceaſe, no more than there is of Jacob's going to Mount Seir, or viſiting Iſaac, before this Time, they all ſtand upon the ſame Foot in that Point; and the Forbearance of Eſau, in not reproaching Jacob, makes it highly probable, that the Latter had both viſited his Father, who was, by that Means, informed of the Reconciliation of two Sons, and that he had performed his Promiſe in going to Mount Seir.

Ver. 1. NOW theſe are the generations of Eſau, who is Edom. 2 Eſau took his wives of the daughters of Canaan; Adah the daughter of Elon the Hittite, and Aholibamah the daughter of Anah, the daughter of Zibeon the Hivite: 3 And Baſhemath Iſhmaels daughter, ſiſter of Nebajoth. 4 And Adah bare to Eſau, Eliphaz: and Baſhemath bare Reuel. 5 And Aholibamah bare Jeuſh, and Jaalam, and Korah: theſe are the ſons of Eſau, which were born unto him in the land of Canaan. 6 And Eſau took his wives, and his ſons, and his daughters, and all the perſons of his houſe, and his cattel, and all his beaſts, and all his ſubſtance, which he had got in the land of Canaan; and went into the country, from the face of his brother Jacob. 7 For their riches were more than that they might dwell together: and the land wherein they were ſtrangers, could not bear them, becauſe of their cattel. 8 Thus dwelt Eſau in mount Seir: Eſau is Edom. 9 And theſe are the generations of Eſau the father of the Edomites, in mount Seir. 10 Theſe are the names of Eſaus ſons; Eliphaz the ſon of Adah the wife of Eſau, Reuel the ſon of Baſhemath the wife of Eſau. 11 And the ſons of Eliphaz were, Teman, Omar, Zepho, and Gatam, and Kenaz. 12 And Timna was concubine to Eliphaz Eſau's ſon; and ſhe bare to Eliphaz Amalek: theſe were the ſons of Adah Eſau's wife. 13 And theſe are the ſons of Reuel; Nahath, and Zerah, Shammah, and Mizzah: theſe were the ſons of Baſhemath, Eſaus wife. 14 And theſe were the ſons of Aholibamah, the daughter of Anah, the daughter of Zibeon Eſaus wife: and ſhe bare to Eſau Jeuſh, and Jaalam, and Korah. 15 Theſe were dukes of the ſons of Eſau: the ſons of Eliphaz the firſt-born ſon of Eſau; duke Teman, duke Omar, duke Zepho, duke Kenaz, 16 Duke Korah, duke Gatam, and duke Amalek. Theſe are the dukes that came of Eliphaz, in the land of Edom: theſe were the ſons of Adah. 17 And theſe are the ſons of Reuel Eſaus ſon; duke Nahath, duke Zerah, duke Shammah, duke Mizzah. Theſe are the dukes that came of Reuel, in the land of Edom: theſe are the ſons of Baſhemath Eſaus wife. 18 And theſe are the ſons of Aholibamah Eſaus wife; duke Jeuſh, duke Jaalam, duke Korah: theſe were the dukes that came of Aholibamah the daughter of Anah Eſaus wife. 19 Theſe are the ſons of Eſau (who is Edom) and theſe are their dukes. 20 Theſe are the ſons of Seir the Horite, who inhabited the land; Lotan, and Shobal, and Zibeon, and Anah, 21 And Diſhon, and Ezer, and Diſhan: theſe are the dukes of the Horites, the children of Seir in the land of Edom. 22 And the children of Lotan were, Hori, and Heman: and Lotans ſiſter was Timna. 23 And the children of Shobal were theſe; Alvan, and Manahath, and Ebal, Shepho, and Onam. 24 And theſe are the children of Zibeon; both Ajah, and Anah: this was that Anah, that found the mules in the wilderneſs, as he fed the aſſes of Zibeon his father. 25 And the children of Anah were theſe; Diſhon, and Aholibamah the daughter of Anah. 26 And theſe are the children of Diſhon: Hemdan, and Eſhban, and Ithran, and Cheran. 27 The children of Ezer are theſe; Bilhan, and Zaavan, and Achan. 28 The children of Diſhan are theſe; Uz, and Aran. 29 Theſe are the dukes that came of the Horites; duke Lotan, duke Shobal, duke Zibeon, duke Anah, 30 Duke Diſhon, duke Ezer, duke Diſhan: theſe are the dukes that came of Hori, among their dukes in the land of Seir. 31 And these are the kings that reigned in the land of Edom, before there reigned any king over the children of Israel. 32 And Bela the son of Beor reigned in Edom: and the name of his city was Dinhabah. 33 And Bela died, and Jobab the son of Zerah of Bozrah reigned in his stead. 34 And Jobab died, and Husham of the land of Temani reigned in his stead. 35 And Husham died, and Hadad the son of Bedad (who smote Midian in the field of Moab) reigned in his stead: and the name of his city was Avith. 36 And Hadad died, and Samlah of Masrekah reigned in his stead. 37 And Samlah died, and Saul of Rehoboth by the river reigned in his stead. 38 And Saul died, and Baal-hanan the son of Achbor reigned in his stead. 39 And Baal-hanan the son of Achbor died, and Hadar reigned in his stead: and the name of his city was Pau; and his wives name was Mehetabel, the daughter of Matred, the daughter of Mezahab. 40 And these are the names of the dukes that came of Esau, according to their families, after the places, by their names; duke Timnah, duke Alvah, duke Jetheth, 41 Duke Aholibamah, duke Elah, duke Pinon, 42 Duke Kenaz, duke Teman, duke Mibzar, 43 Duke Magdiel, duke Iram: these be the dukes of Edom, according to their habitations, in the land of their possession; he is Esau the father of the Edomites.

Concerning Esau's Wives, and their being called by different Names, see an Account in the Notes upon Ch. xxvi. and xxviii.

And Adah bare to Esau, Eliphaz; and Bathemath bare Reuel] Eliphaz, the Temanite, one of Job's Friends, mentioned Job ii. 11. is supposed to have descended from the former, and Reuel, the Father of Jethro, Father-in-law to Moses, from the latter.

Esau is Edom] This Repetition at the End of the Verse, Esau is Edom, seems to be added by the Holy Ghost, by Way of Contempt and Reproach; as if it had been said, This is he who stupidly and meanly sold his Birthright for a Mess of Red Pottage; and therefore was called Edom or Red.

These were the Dukes of the Sons of Esau] These Dukes, says Pool, were petty Princes, who ruled each their own Dominions, most probably independent of, but in strict Alliance with each other; and we may observe in the Division, that Eliphaz, as he was Esau's first-born, had more than a double Portion, his six Sons being made Dukes, as Esau's immediate Sons were. We must observe also, that this Duke Korah not being mentioned among the Sons of Eliphaz, was probably his Grandson; and must not confound him with Korah, the Son of Aholibamah, mentioned Ver. 5, 14, 18.

These are the Sons of Seir the Horite] These are mentioned here among the Posterity of Esau, partly, because of their Alliance with Esau's Family; and partly, because the Government was transferred from thence to Esau's Family; who growing powerful, seized thereon by Force, and thereby verified Isaac's Prophecy, By thy Sword shalt thou live, Gen. xxvii. 40.

And the Children of Lotan were Hori] It was probably from this Hori, that the People derived the Name of Horites; and that Lotan's Sister Timna, seems to be particularly mentioned, because she was Concubine to Eliphaz, which was then a Thing unusual in any but Slaves.

This is that Anah that found the Mules in the Wilderness] Commentators are divided about the Meaning of this Word Jemim, which is here render'd Mules, it being no where else used. Some understand it, that he found out the Generation of Mules, by the Conjunction of an Ass and a Mare. Others render it Waters, and think he found out some fine Springs, which in those hot Countries are very precious: But the Chaldee renders it Giants, and the Samaritan Edition Emims, a Sort of Giants, mentioned Deut. xxxvi. 11. who were also Neighbours to the Horites after mentioned, as appears from Gen. xiv. 5, 6, and therefore, according to the Manner of those Times, used to make Incursions into each others Territories. So Jemim is put for Emim, by the Change of the Hebrew Letter Jod to Aleph, which is frequent among the Hebrews. And then the Sense is, that Anah the Horite, found out the Emims, that is, fell in with them, or came upon them suddenly, and smote them; the Word finding being frequently used in this Sense, as Judg. i. 5. 1 Sam. xxxi. 3. Ps. xxi. 1. Isa. x. 10. See Pool's Annot.

And these are the Kings that reigned in the Land of Edom, before there reigned any King over the Children of Israel] The Kings here meant, are the Posterity of Esau, who, after they had subdued the Horites, erected a Kingdom there: And Libertines have objected to this Text, that Moses could not possibly write it, since there was no King in Israel till many Years after his Time. To which, says Pool, we answer, that the Word King here, may be taken for any chief Governor; in which Sense, this Title is given to Moses himself, Deut. xxxv. 5. and to the Judges after him, Judg. xvii. 6. as also to others who were not Kings properly so called, as Ps. cxix. 46. Luke xxii. 25. Acts ix. 15, &c. Besides, Moses might very well say this, because he foresaw by the Spirit of Prophecy, that the Israelites would demand a King, as is evident from Deut. xvii. 14, 15, &c. where, accordingly he lays down Rules to be observed by the King when he is chosen; wherefore this Objection falls to the Ground. We ought, however, to observe, that Esau's Posterity flourished, and were great Princes a long Time, whilst Jacob's Seed were Strangers in Canaan, Slaves in Egypt, and Wanderers in the Wilderness.

And these are the Kings that reigned in the Land of Edom] We may observe, that from the different Names of the Cities, which they either made their respective Capitals, or where they lived before they were Kings, it is highly probable, that these Princes did not come to the Crown by hereditary Right; but were either elected, or advanced themselves to the Throne by Force and Usurpation; according to Isaac's Prophecy before mentioned, By thy Sword thou shalt live.

And these are the Names of the Dukes that came of Esau] By the four last Verses, the State of Edom, between the Times of Esau and Moses, seems to have been this: It was first governed by Dukes, then by Kings, and then by Dukes again. If it should be objected to this, that the Time seems too short for a Succession of so many Persons; it may be replied, that what is confessed concerning the Dukes preceding the Kings, viz. that they were only petty Princes, who governed at one and the same Time, in different Parts of the Country, may be true also of these Dukes who succeeded the Kings; and the Edomites either having taken some Distaste at kingly Government, or differing about the Choice of a new King, may have divided themselves again into several Principalities. They seem, however, afterwards to have restored the kingly Government again; since we often find the Kings of Edom mentioned in the History of the Kings of Israel.

Ver. 1. AND Jacob dwelt in the land wherein his father was a ſtranger, in the land of Canaan. 2 Theſe are the generations of Jacob: Joſeph being ſeventeen years old, was feeding the flock with his brethren, and the lad was with the ſons of Bilhah, and with the ſons of Zilpah, his fathers wives: and Joſeph brought unto his father their evil report. 3 Now Iſrael loved Joſeph more than all his children, becauſe he was the ſon of his old age, and he made him a coat of many colours. 4 And when his brethren ſaw that their father loved him more than all his brethren, they hated him, and could not ſpeak peaceably unto him. 5 And Joſeph dreamed a dream, and he told it his brethren: and they hated him yet the more. 6 And he ſaid unto them, Hear, I pray you, this dream which I have dreamed. 7 For behold, we were binding ſheaves in the field, and lo, my ſheaf aroſe, and alſo ſtood upright; and behold, your ſheaves ſtood round about, and made obeiſance to my ſheaf. 8 And his brethren ſaid unto him, Shalt thou indeed reign over us? or ſhalt thou indeed have dominion over us? and they hated him yet the more for his dreams, and for his words. 9 And he dreamed yet another dream, and told it his brethren, and ſaid, Behold, I have dreamed a dream more, and behold the ſun and the moon, and the eleven ſtars made obeiſance to me. 10 And he told it to his father, and to his brethren: and his father rebuked him, and ſaid unto him, What is this dream that thou haſt dreamed? Shall I and thy mother and thy brethren indeed come to bow down ourſelves to thee to the earth? 11 And his brethren envied him: but his father obſerved the ſaying, 12 And his brethren went to feed their fathers flock in Shechem. 13 And Iſrael ſaid unto Joſeph, Do not thy brethren feed the flock in Shechem? Come, and I will ſend thee unto them. And he ſaid unto him, Here am I. 14 And he ſaid to him, Go, I pray thee, ſee whether it be well with thy brethren, and well with the flocks; and bring me word again. So he ſent him out of the vale of Hebron, and he came to Shechem. 15 And a certain man found him, and behold, he was wandering in the field: and the man aſked him, ſaying, What ſeekeſt thou? 16 And he ſaid, I ſeek my brethren: tell me, I pray thee, where they feed their flocks. 17 And the man ſaid, They are departed hence: for I heard them ſay, Let us go to Dothan. And Joſeph went after his brethren, and found them in Dothan. 18 And when they ſaw him afar off, even before he came near unto them, they conſpired againſt him, to ſlay him. 19 And they ſaid one to another, Behold, this dreamer cometh. 20 Come now therefore, and let us ſlay him, and caſt him into ſome pit; and we will ſay, Some evil beaſt hath devoured him: and we ſhall ſee what will become of his dreams. 21 And Reuben heard it, and he delivered him out of their hands; and ſaid, Let us not kill him. 22 And Reuben ſaid unto them, Shed no blood, but caſt him into this pit that is in the wilderneſs, and lay no hand upon him: that he might rid him out of their hands, to deliver him to his father again. 23 And it came to paſs when Joſeph was come unto his brethren, that they ſtript Joſeph out of his coat, his coat of many colours that was on him. 24 And they took him, and caſt him into a pit: and the pit was empty, there was no water in it. 25 And they ſat down to eat bread: and they lift up their eyes and looked, and behold, a company of Iſhmeelites came from Gilead, with their camels bearing ſpicery, and balm, and myrrhe, going to carry it down to Egypt. 26 And Judah ſaid unto his brethren, What profit is it if we ſlay our brother, and conceal his blood? 27 Come, and let us ſell him to the Iſhmeelites, and let not our hand be upon him; for he is our brother, and our fleſh: and his brethren were content. 28 Then there paſſed by Midianites merchantmen; and they drew and lift up Joſeph out of the pit, and ſold Joſeph to the Iſhmeelites for twenty pieces of ſilver: and they brought Joſeph into Egypt. 29 And Reuben returned unto the pit; and behold, Joſeph was not in the pit: and he rent his cloaths. 30 And he returned unto his brethren, and ſaid, The child is not; and I, whither ſhall I go? 31 And they took Joſephs coat, and killed a kid of the goats, and dipped the coat in the blood. 32 And they ſent the coat of many colours, and they brought it to their father; and ſaid, This have we found: know now whether it be thy ſons coat or not. 33 And he knew it, and ſaid, It is my ſons coat; an evil beaſt hath devoured him: Joſeph is without doubt rent in pieces. 34 And Jacob rent his cloaths, and put ſackcloth upon his loyns, and mourned for his ſon many days. 35 And all his ſons, and all his daughters roſe up to comfort him; but he refuſed to be comforted; and he ſaid, For I will go down into the grave unto my ſon mourning: Thus his father wept for him. 36 And the Midianites ſold him into Egypt, unto Potiphar, an officer of Pharaohs, and captain of the guard.

Two Reaſons, ſays Heidegger, are generally aſſign'd, why Moſes is more prolix in relating the Adventures of Joſeph than of any other of Jacob's Children; both becauſe his Life is a bright Example of Piety, Chaſtity, Meekneſs, and Prudence; and becauſe it was by the Means of Joſeph, that Jacob went down into Egypt: And, as his going down gave Occaſion to the wonderful Departure of the Children of Iſrael from thence, ſo the Hiſtory of the Jews would have been ſadly imperfect, and indeed altogether unintelligible, without a longer Account than ordinary, of Joſeph's Life, and the Tranſactions there.

Now Iſrael loved Joſeph more than all his Children, becauſe he was the Son of his old Age] Moſt Verſions, as well as ours, have made Jacob to love Joſeph, becauſe he was the Son of his old Age: Whereas, had this been the Cauſe of his Affection, he muſt have loved Zebulun as much as Joſeph, becauſe he was near the ſame Age; and Benjamin much more, becauſe he was above fifteen Years younger. It ſeems therefore as if they had confounded the Words, Ben-Zekenim, the Son of Senators or Elders (as he is called here) with Ben-Ziknah, the Son of old Age, whereas the former has a Signification quite different. According to the Hebrew Idiom, it ſignifies the Son or Diſciple of Senators, i. e. one endued with an extraordinary Wiſdom and Prudence; accordingly the Samaritan, Arabick, and Perſian Verſions have render'd it becauſe he was a wiſe and prudent Son; tho' even this comes ſhort of the Energy of the Idiom, and might more properly be render'd, becauſe he was as wiſe and prudent as a Senator. And this juſtifie fies the Reaſon of Jacob's extraordinary Love to Joſeph, becauſe 'tis natural for Parents, eſpecially for Fathers, to admire thoſe Children, who ſhew any Degree of Wiſdom above their Years; whereas to be fond of a Child, begotten in ones old Age, and for no other Reaſon, is no more than a Piece of Dotage, which Moſes would hardly have thought worthy recording. See Univ. Hiſt. and Howell's Hiſt.

And the Lad was with the Sons of Bilhah, and with the Sons of Zilpah] He choſe the Sons of his Fathers Concubines, rather than thoſe of his Wife Leah, to be his Companions, on purpoſe perhaps to avoid the ill Conſequences of the latters Envy and Emulation againſt him. For, 'tis not unlikely that Leah's Sons, conſidering the exceſſive Love which their Father had for him, might be ready to ſuſpect, that he deſign'd to bequeath the Right of Primogeniture to him, which each of them thinking he had a better Title to, might thereupon be tempted to malign, and mal-treat him; whereas among the Sons, deſcended from Concubines, (as having not the like Ambition) he might find better Quarter, and to their Company the rather reſort, out of a Principle of Humility and Condeſcenſion, and to diſcountenance the haughty Behaviour of the Sons of Leah towards the Sons of the Concubines. See Patrick and Bibl. Bib.

And Joſeph brought unto his Father their evil Report] The Hebrew, and the Alexandrian LXX. have it, they brought unto their Father an evil Report, or grievous Complaint againſt Joſeph, i. e. they begun their baſe and barbarous Treatment of him with Lies and Calumnies. However Aquila, Symmachus, and the Syriack make Joſeph the Accuſer; but of what Crime it was that he accuſed them to his Father, and whether it conſiſted in Deeds, or Words only, is a Subject that has occaſion'd a great Variety of Conjectures among Criticks and Commentators. Some will have it, that Joſeph told of their Unkindneſs and Aſperity to him; others, of their quarrelling, and contentious Way of living; ſome, of their committing Sodomy or Beſtiality; while thoſe, who confine it to Words only, ſuppoſe it to be paſſionate and undutiful Reflections they might make upon their Father, for loving Joſeph more than themſelves. But, whatever it was, it may be gathered from their propenſe Malice to him, that it was no ſmall Crime, becauſe, that for telling it (and which he might do with no other Intent, but only that his Father's Rebukes and Admonitions might reform them) they hated him even unto Death. See Bibl. Bib. and Howell's Hiſt.

And he made him a Coat of many Colours] The Coat, whereby Jacob diſtinguiſhed his Son Joſeph from the reſt of his Brothers, is generally thought to ſignify, ſays Patrick, a Garment that was wrought with Threads of divers Colours, or made up of Pieces of Silk or Stuff, which had much Variety in them; but the Word Paſſim, which is here made uſe of, according to ſome learned Annotators, does properly ſignify a long Garment, down to the Heels or Ancles, with long Sleeves down to the Wriſts, which had a Border at the Bottom, and a Facing (as we call it) at the Hands, of a Colour different to the Garment, which was accounted noble, as well as beautiful in antient Times.

And his Father rebuked him, and ſaid unto him, What is this Dream that thou haſt dreamed? Shall I, and thy Mother, and thy Brethren indeed come to bow down ourſelves to thee, to the Earth] St. Chryſoſtom, in his Homily upon the Place, writes thus: — 'Jacob might 'think it convenient to give this calm Check to a Spirit 'ſo much elated, as this young Man muſt be by thoſe 'great and certain Expectations, which God was pleaſed 'in ſo extraordinary a Manner, to ſet before him. 'The Foreknowledge of all that Greatneſs and Glory, 'which was one Day infallibly to be his Portion, might 'have put him upon a wrong Biaſs of Behaviour; might 'have tempted him to antedate his Superiority; and 'fail, or waver, more or leſs, in his Duty to his elder 'Brethren, if not to his Father himſelf: And this ſeems 'to be the Meaning of Jacob's mentioning his Mother 'who was dead, and did not ſo well comport with his 'Dream. But, at the ſame Time that in Prudence, 'he was willing to prevent any vain, aſpiring Conceits 'or Tumours in his Son, in Faith he was perſuaded, 'that the Fact would prove ſuch as it was foretold.'

Go I pray thee, ſee whether it be well with thy Brethren] The Reaſon of Jacob's Uneaſineſs, and of ſending his Son Joſeph upon this Errand, will be very obvious, if it be remembred that the Sons of Jacob had ſo incenſed the neighbouring Places by the Maſſacre of the Shechemites, that Jacob was obliged immediately to quit the Country, for fear of a general Inſurrection upon him, as we read, Gen. xxxiv. 30.

And found them at Dothan] It was a Town about twelve Miles to the North of the City Samaria, as Euſebius informs us.

And Reuben ſaid unto them, Shed no Blood, but caſt him into this Pit] He either thought himſelf moſt concerned to ſave his Brother, as being the Firſt-born, and therefore like to be the firſt in the Blame; or he might hope, by thus piouſly and compaſſionately preſerving the Favourite Joſeph, to recover that Place in his Father's Affections which he had loſt by his Inceſt with Bilhah, his concubinary Wife. The Speech, which Joſephus introduces him as making upon this Occaſion, is very moving, and very rhetorical. It were an abominable Wickedneſs, ſays he, to take away the Life, even of a Stranger, but to deſtroy a Kinſman and a Brother, and, in that Brother, a Father and Mother too, with Grief for the Loſs of ſo good, and ſo hopeful a Son. —

A Company of Iſhmaelites came from Gilead] Tho' we name the Iſhmaelites only, yet here ſeem to be two, if not three Sorts of Merchants mentioned in this Paſſage, the Iſhmaelites, the Midianites and the Medanites (as they are called in the Hebrew, Ver. 36.) who were a diſtinct People from the Midianites, as deſcended from Medan, one of Abraham's Sons by Keturah, and Brother to Midian, Gen. xxv. 2. But as they, and the Midianites lived near together in Arabia, not far from the Iſhmaelites, they all joined together in this Caravan, and one Society of Merchants, as it is the Cuſtom even to this Day, in thoſe Eaſtern Countries, for Merchants and others to travel through the Deſarts in large Companies, for fear of wild Beaſts or Robbers. See Patrick and Pool.

And they ſent the Coat of many Colours, and they brought it to their Father] It is here ſaid, that they ſent the Coat and they brought it: But this ſeeming Soleciſm is eaſily reſolved, only by ſaying, that they ſent it by the Hands of Perſons, who brought it to their Father; or that they ſent it by a Meſſenger, as being afraid to be preſent at the firſt Guſt of their Father's Paſſion, and afterwards brought, or produced it, when one of them (as Judah is ſuppoſed to have been their Spokeſman) related the Tale which follows: By which Artifice they ſeem to give themſelves an Air of Compaſſion, ſince it was no uncommon Thing afterwards, (as in the Caſe of Julius Cæſar, and Julia his Daughter, the Wife of Pompey) on mournful Occaſions, to produce ſuch affecting Relicks and Remains. See Bibl. Bib.

And Jacob rent his Cloaths, and put Sackcloth upon his Loins] Rending the Cloaths was an Eaſtern Way of expreſſing either Grief for Calamity, or Horror for Sin. Reuben was the firſt, we read of, who, to denote his exceeding Sorrow, rent his Cloaths; and, as Jacob, we find, does the like, we may well ſuppoſe that it was an uſual Manner of expreſſing all Grief and Uneaſineſs of Mind in thoſe Days; and, by putting on Sackcloth, (which Jacob is here the firſt Precedent of doing, but was afterwards commonly uſed upon all mournful Occaſions) he ſeem'd to ſignify, that, ſince he had loſt his beloved Son, he looked upon himſelf as reduced to the meaneſt and loweſt Condition of Life. See Bibl. Bib. and Howell's Hiſt.

I will go down into the Grave unto my Son] But if, ſays Calmet, by the Grave, we are here to underſtand a Place of Sepulture, how could Jacob ſay, that he would go down thither to his Son, when he preſumes here, that he was not buried, but torn to Pieces by wild Beaſts. To ſolve this Difficulty, ſome imagine, that the Particle El ſhould not in this Place, be render'd to, but (as it ſometimes means) for, or in the ſtead of; and ſo the Senſe Senſe is, I will go down to the Grave, INSTEAD OF my Son, who (unhappy Child as he was) had no Burial: But, ſince the Word Scholak, in Greek Hades, in Latin Infernum, ſignifies very frequently the State of the Dead in general, the much clearer Senſe of the Words will be, — I will not ceaſe mourning until I die, and be laid in my Grave.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

Judah marries a Canaanitiſh Woman, who bears him three Sons. Er, his eldeſt, he marries to Thamar, but for his Wickedneſs is deſtroy'd; as is likewiſe Onan, the ſecond Son. Judah promiſes to give her his third Son, but failing to perform it, ſhe, by a ſubtil Contrivance, draws him to commit Inceſt with her; he gives her a Pledge; ſhe proves with Child, which Judah hearing of, orders her to be burnt; but ſhe producing the Pledge, acquits her; ſhe is deliver'd of Twins.

Ver. 1. AND it came to paſs at that time, that Judah went down from his brethren, and turned in to a certain Adullamite, whoſe name was Hirah. 2 And Judah ſaw there a daughter of a certain Canaanite, whoſe name was Shuah, and he took her, and went in unto her. 3 And ſhe conceived and bare a ſon; and he called his name Er. 4 And ſhe conceived again, and bare a ſon; and ſhe called his name Onan. 5 And ſhe yet again conceived, and bare a ſon, and called his name Shelah: and he was at Chezib, when ſhe bare him. 6 And Judah took a wife for Er his firſt-born, whoſe name was Tamar. 7 And Er, Judahs firſt-born was wicked in the ſight of the Lord; and the Lord ſlew him. 8 And Judah ſaid unto Onan, Go in unto thy brothers wife, and marry her, and raiſe up ſeed to thy brother. 9 And Onan knew that the ſeed ſhould not be his: and it came to paſs, when he went in unto his brothers wife, that he ſpilled it on the ground, leſt that he ſhould give ſeed to his brother. 10 And the thing which he did, diſpleaſed the Lord: wherefore he ſlew him alſo. 11 Then ſaid Judah to Tamar his daughter in law, Remain a widow at thy fathers houſe, till Shelah my ſon be grown; (for he ſaid, Leſt peradventure he die alſo as his brethren did:) and Tamar went and dwelt in her fathers houſe. 12 And in proceſs of time, the daughter of Shuah Judahs wife died: and Judah was comforted, and went up unto his ſheep-ſhearers to Timnath, he and his friend Hirah the Adullamite. 13 And it was told Tamar, ſaying, Behold, thy father in law goeth up to Timnath, to ſhear his ſheep. 14 And ſhe put her widows garments off from her, and covered her with a vail, and wrapped herſelf, and ſat in an open place, which is by the way to Timnath: for ſhe ſaw that Shelah was grown, and ſhe was not given unto him to wife. 15 When Judah ſaw her, he thought her to be an harlot; becauſe ſhe had covered her face. 16 And he turned unto her by the way, and ſaid, Go to, I pray thee, let me come in unto thee (for he knew not that ſhe was his daughter in law) and ſhe ſaid, What wilt thou give me, that thou mayeſt come in unto me? 17 And he ſaid, I will ſend thee a kid from the flock: and ſhe ſaid, Wilt thou give me a pledge, till thou ſend it? 18 And he ſaid, What pledge ſhall I give thee? And ſhe ſaid, Thy ſignet, and thy bracelets, and thy ſtaff that is in thine hand: and he gave it her, and came in unto her, and ſhe conceived by him. 19 And ſhe aroſe and went away, and laid by her vail from her, and put on the garments of her widowhood. 20 and Judah ſent the kid by the hand of his friend the Adullamite, to receive his pledge from the womans hand: but he found her not. 21 Then he aſked the men of that place, ſaying, Where is the harlot, that was openly by the way ſide? And they ſaid, There was no harlot in this place. 22 And he returned to Judah, and ſaid, I cannot find her; and alſo the men of the place, ſaid, that there was no harlot in this place. 23 And Judah ſaid, Let her take it to her, leſt we be ſhamed: behold, I ſent this kid, and thou haſt not found her. 24 And it came to paſs about three months after, that it was told Judah, ſaying, Tamar thy daughter-in-law hath played the harlot; and alſo behold, ſhe is with child by whoredom: and Judah ſaid, Bring her forth, and let her be burnt. 25 When ſhe was brought forth, ſhe ſent to her father-in-law, ſaying, By the man whoſe theſe are, am I with child: and ſhe ſaid, Diſcern, I pray thee, whoſe are theſe, the ſignet and bracelets, and ſtaff. 26 And Judah acknowledged them, and ſaid, She hath been more righteous than I; becauſe that I gave her not to Shelah my ſon: and he knew her again no more. 27 And it came to paſs in the time of her travel, that behold, twins were in her womb. 28 And it came to paſs when ſhe travailed, that the one put out his hand; and the midwife took and bound upon his hand a ſcarlet thread, ſaying, This came out firſt. 29 And it came to paſs as he drew back his hand, that behold, his brother came out; and ſhe ſaid, How haſt thou broken forth? this breach be upon thee: therefore his name was called Pharez. 30 And afterward came out his brother that had the ſcarlet thread upon his hand; and his name was called Zarah.

And Judah ſaw there the Daughter of a certain Canaanite, whoſe Name was Shuah; and he took her and went in unto her] Tho' the latter Part of Judah's Story, relating to the Inceſt with his Daughter Thamar, was acted after Joſeph was ſold, and while he was in Egypt, yet the former Part of it, relating to his Marriage, and the Birth of his three Sons, muſt needs fall out before Joſeph was ſold. For, ſince there were but two and twenty, or, at the moſt, but three and twenty Years, between Joſeph's being ſold into Egypt, and Jacob's going down thither, it could no ways be, that, in ſo ſhort a Space of Time, Judah cou'd marry a Wife; have three ſons at three ſeveral Times by her; marry two of her ſons ſucceſſively to one Woman; defer the Marriage of the third Son, to the ſame Woman, beyond the due Time; afterwards, himſelf have Sons, by the ſame Woman his Daughter-in-law; and one of theſe Sons, Pharez, beget two Sons, Hezron and Hamul, Gen. xlvi. 12. It can no way be, I ſay, but that the Buſineſs of his being married, and having Children, was prior to Joſeph's being ſold; but that Moſes, not willing to intermingle the Story of the two Brothers too much, brings all he had to ſay concerning Judah into the Compaſs of one Chapter, and ſo concludes his Adventures, before he proceeds to that of Joſeph. See Howell's Hiſt. Univ. Hiſt. and Biblioth. Bibl.

With regard to Judah's marrying a Canaanitiſh Woman, it was not ſo bad, ſays Patrick, for a Man circumcis'd to marry the Daughter of one uncircumcis'd, as it was for an Iſraelite to give a Daughter in Marriage to an uncircumcis'd Huſband, Gen. xxxiv. 14. For an uncircumcis'd Man was accounted unclean, tho' he had renounc'd Idolatry; but a Woman, born of uncircumciſed Parents, if ſhe embrac'd the Worſhip of the true God, was not ſo accounted. And ſuch an one we may ſuppoſe Judah's Wife to have been; otherwiſe, he had offended his Father, as much as Eſau did Iſaac by marrying the Daughter of Heth.

And Onan knew that the Seed ſhould not be his] This is the firſt Mention we have of this Cuſtom, which nevertheleſs ſeems to have been a very common one, and well underſtood even by young Onan; for he knew that the firſt-born Child was not to be accounted his, but his deceas'd Brother's, was to be call'd by his Name, and inherit his Eſtate. For this, ſay the Hebrew Doctors, was an antient Cuſtom, in Force before the Law of Moſes, that, when a Man died without Iſſue, his Brother ſhould marry his Wife, and that the firſt Son, upon ſuch Marriage, was to be reputed her deceas'd Huſband's Heir. See Patrick's and Le Clerc's Com.

And Judah ſaid, Bring her forth, and let her be burnt] Among Eaſtern Nations, as well as elſewhere, Women, who were guilty of Adultery, were more ſeverely puniſh'd than the Men: Whether it was, that the Injury done the Huſband was reputed to be more heinous, or that the Men, having the Power of making Laws, took Care to enact them in Favour of themſelves. Thus God is ſaid, for the Hardneſs of their Hearts, to have indulg'd the Jews in the Matter of divorcing their Wives; but the Wives had not the like Privilege over their Huſbands. In many Places a Man might have as many Wives as he could maintain; but the Women were to be content with one Huſband: And in like Manner, here Judah, we find, condemns Thamar, tho' a Widow, for her Crime, to be burnt; whilſt himſelf in the ſame State of Widowhood, thought Fornication a very pardonable Crime. It is queſtion'd however, by what Right and Authority he could paſs this Sentence upon her. And, to anſwer this, it is ſuppos'd, that every Maſter was Judge and chief Magiſtrate in his own Family; and that therefore Thamar, tho' ſhe was a Canaanite, yet being married into Judah's Family, and having brought Diſgrace upon it, was properly under his Cognizance. His Cognizance however (according to the Opinion of ſome) did not extend ſo far, as to have her burnt at the Stake, (as we call it) but only branded in the Forehead for a Whore; tho' others deny, that his Authority extended even ſo far: For, being in a ſtrange Place, it can hardly be thought, that the Power of Life and Death, or indeed of any other Penalty, was lodg'd in him: And therefore they think, that the Words can mean no more than --- That ſhe ſhould be brought before a Court of Judicature, and ſentenc'd according to the Laws of the Country. See Selden, Le Clerc, Patrick, and Howell.

She hath been more righteous than I] Not more virtuous or chaſte, ſays Pool, for ſhe knowingly committed Adultery and Inceſt, when he, deſignedly, did neither; but more juſt; in that he, by with-holding Shelah from her, had provok'd her to lay this Trap for him. So that, tho' Thamar was wickeder in the Sight of God, yet ſhe may be ſaid to be juſter before Judah, or to have done no more, in drawing him into this Scrape, than what he juſtly deſerved.

CHAP. XXXIX.

Joſeph is purchaſed by Potiphar, who, obſerving his Piety, makes him Steward of his Houſe. His Miſtreſs falls in Love with him, and ſollicits him to lie with her, which he reſolutely refuſeth; ſhe ſeizes him by the Coat, and again urges him; but he leaves his Coat in her Hands, and eſcapes. She accuſes him to her Huſband of a Deſign to force her; he is caſt into Priſon; the Lord is with him; he finds Favour with the Keeper, and has the Care of the other Priſoners committed to him.

Ver. 1. AND Joſeph was brought down to Egypt: and Potiphar an officer of Pharaoh captain of the guard, an Egyptian, bought him of the hands of the Iſhmeelites, which had brought him down thither. 2 And the Lord was with Joſeph, and he was a proſperous man: and he was in the houſe of his maſter the Egyptian. 3 And his maſter ſaw that the Lord was with him, and that the Lord made all that he did to proſper in his hand. 4 And Joſeph found grace in his ſight, and he ſerved him: and he made him overſeer over his houſe, and all that he had he put into his hand. 5 And it came to paſs from the time that he had made him overſeer in his houſe, and over all that he had, that the Lord bleſſed the Egyptians houſe for Joſephs ſake: and the bleſſing of the Lord was upon all that he had, in the houſe, and in the field. 6 And he left all that he had in Joſephs hand; and he knew not ought he had, ſave the bread which he did eat: and Joſeph was a goodly perſon, and well-favoured. 7 And it came to paſs after theſe things, that his maſters wife caſt her eyes upon Joſeph; and ſhe ſaid, Lie with me. 8 But he refuſed, and ſaid unto his maſters wife, Behold, my maſter wotteth not what is with me in the houſe, and he hath committed all that he hath to my hand. 9 There is none greater in this houſe than I; neither hath he kept back any thing from me, but thee, becauſe thou art his wife: how then can I do this great wickedneſs, and ſin againſt God? 10 And it came to paſs as ſhe ſpake to Joſeph day by day, that he hearkened not unto her, to lie by her, or to be with her. 11 And it came to paſs about this time, that Joſeph went into the houſe to do his buſineſs; and there was none of the men of the houſe there within. 12 And ſhe caught him by his garment, ſaying, Lie with me: and he left his garment in her hand, and fled, and got him out. 13 And it came to paſs when ſhe ſaw that he had left his garment in her hand, and was fled forth. 14 That ſhe called unto the men of her houſe, and ſpake unto them, ſaying, See he hath brought in an Hebrew unto us to mock us: he came in unto me to lie with me, and I cried with a loud voice. 15 And it came to paſs, when he heard that I lifted up my voice and cried, that he left his garment with me, and fled, and got him out. 16 And ſhe laid up his garment by her, until his lord came home. 17 And ſhe ſpake unto him according to theſe words, ſaying, The Hebrew ſervant which thou haſt brought unto us, came in unto me to mock me. 18 And it came to paſs, as I lift up my voice and cried, that he left his garment with me, and fled out. 19 And it came to paſs, when his maſter heard the words of his wife, which ſhe ſpake unto him, ſaying, After this manner did thy ſervant to me; that his wrath was kindled. 20 And Joſephs maſter took him, and put him into the priſon, a place where the kings priſoners were bound: and he was there in the priſon. 21 But the Lord was with Joſeph, and ſhewed him mercy, and gave him favour in the ſight of the keeper of the priſon. 22 And the keeper of the priſon committed to Joſephs hand all the priſoners that were in the priſon; and whatſoever they did there, he was the doer of it. 23 The keeper of the priſon looked not to any thing that was under his hand; becauſe the Lord was with him: and that which he did, the Lord made it to proſper.

He

He knew not ought he had, ſave the Bread which he did eat] This, ſays Patrick, is one of the higheſt Expreſſions of Confidence that we can imagine: For it ſignifies, that he was utterly careleſs about any Thing that concern'd his Eſtate, not minding what his Expence or Receipts were; but, taking his Eaſe, left all to Joſeph's Honeſty. In ſhort, he thought of nothing but only to enjoy what he had, without Care or Trouble.

Some have objected, that it ſeems highly improbable, that Joſeph ſhou'd ſo ſoon be made Potiphar's Steward as he is here repreſented. To this, Stackhouſe anſwers, that Moſes's Method of writing, is very ſuccinct; and therefore when he tells us, that, upon Joſeph's coming into Egypt, and being ſold to Potiphar, Captain of the Guard, he commenc'd Steward of his Houſhold, we muſt not ſuppoſe, that there did not a ſufficient Space of Time intervene to qualify him for that Office. What therefore ſome of the Jewiſh Doctors tell us, ſeems not improbable, viz. that his Maſter, as ſoon as he bought him, ſent him to School, and had him inſtructed, not in the Language only, but in all the Learning of the Egyptians. However this be, 'tis certain, that there is no ſmall Affinity between the Hebrew and Egyptian Tongue; ſo that a Perſon of good natural Parts, and of an Age the fitteſt that could be for learning any Thing, might, with a little Diligence and Application, make himſelf Maſter of it, in a very ſhort Time; might ſoon be let into the Nature of their Accounts, and the Cuſtoms of the Country; and ſo become every way qualified to give the Content, we find he did, in the Place to which he was advanc'd.

And Joſeph was a goodly Perſon, and well favoured] Joſeph was, at this Time, about ſeven and twenty Years old. For he was ſeventeen when he was ſold to Potiphar, Gen. xxxvii. 2. and he was committed to Priſon immediately upon his Noncompliance with his Miſtreſs's Temptation; where (as far as it appears) he had not been long, before he interpreted the Dreams of the two disgrac'd Courtiers; and, two Years after that, he was releas'd and promoted, viz. when he was thirty Years old. So that we may reaſonably conclude, that this Temptation befel him about three Years before his Releaſment, i. e. in the twenty-ſeventh Year of his Age. At this Time, it is ſuppoſable, that he was a comely Perſon enough, and the Saying is, that honeſta Forma muta Commendatio eſt, i. e. a graceful Form is a ſilent Commendation. But the Stories, relating to his exceſſive Beauty, as they are recorded by the Talmudiſts, is ridiculous, and not much better than what Mahomet, in his Hiſtory of this Patriarch, tells us, viz. That his Miſtreſs, having invited the Ladies of the Town to a ſplendid Entertainment, order'd Joſeph to be call'd for, but that, as ſoon as he appear'd, they were amaz'd at his Beauty, and ſo confounded, that they knew not what they did, but inſtead of eating their Meat, they cut their Fingers, and ſaid among themſelves, this is not a Man, but an Angel. See Bibl. Bib. and Alchoran, Chap. of Joſeph.

And ſhe caught him by his Garment, ſaying, Lie with me] Joſephus tell us, that Potiphar's Wife took the Opportunity of a certain Feſtival when all the People were gone a merry-making, to tempt Joſeph; that, feigning herſelf Sick, ſhe decoy'd him, by that Means, into her Apartment, and then addreſs'd herſelf to him in Words to this Effect. 'It had been much better 'for you, ſays ſhe, had you complied with my firſt 'Requeſt; if, for no other Conſideration, in Regard 'at leaſt, to the Dignity of the Perſon who is become 'your Petitioner, and to the Exceſs of my Paſſion. 'Beſides, it wou'd have ſav'd me the Shame of condeſcending to ſome Words and Expreſſions, which I am 'ſtill out of Countenance, when I think of. --- You 'might perhaps make ſome Doubt before, whether I 'was in earneſt; but this is to ſatisfy you, that I mean 'no Ill by perſiſting in the ſame Mind. Take therefore your Choice now, whether you will improve 'this Opportunity of a preſent Satisfaction, in the Embraces of a Creature, that loves you dearly, and from 'whom you may expect ſtill greater Things; or ſtand 'the Shock of my Hatred and Revenge, if you will 'preſume to value yourſelf upon the vain Conceit of 'your Chaſtity, more than my Favour, &c.

Joſephus, however, brings in his Name-ſake expoſtulating the Matter with his Miſtreſs, and reminding her of her Duty to herſelf, and her Huſband, to Piety, and common Fame. 'What ſignifies, ſays he, a momen'tary Pleaſure, with a certain Repentance immediately 'to enſue; an Heavineſs of Heart for a Thing once 'done, and an utter Impoſſibility of recalling and un'doing it, together with perpetual Fears of Diſcovery 'and Diſgrace? What does all this ſignify, I ſay, in 'Ballance of the moſt ſubſtantial Comforts, and the 'moſt neceſſary Duties of human Life? Whereas in a 'conjugal State, the ſelf-ſame Delights are all free, 'ſafe, innocent, and warrantable both before God and 'Man. Conſider again, how it would leſſen your 'Authority, to make your Servant your Equal, by a 'ſhameful Participation in one common Crime; and, 'pray, is it not better to truſt to a good Conſcience, 'that fears no Light, than to commit Wickedneſs in 'the Dark, and then live all your Days in a reſtleſs 'Dread of being detected?

Upon Potiphar's coming home Joſephus makes his Wife break out into theſe Words: 'You'll never de'ſerve to live, Huſband, unleſs you make an Example 'of that perfidious Wretch, your Man. He has for'gotten what he was, when you took him into 'your Houſe, how kindly and reſpectfully he has been 'treated here, to a Degree beyond his very Hope, as well 'as his Deſert. The Charge of your whole Family is 'committed to him, the Command of the reſt of your 'Servants, and the Truſt of all you have: What will 'you think of this Fellow now, who, in Requital of 'all your Bounty and good Offices, could have the Im'pudence to attempt the Violation of your Bed, and to 'take the Opportunity of this Feſtival Day, when you 'were out of the Way, to break in upon my Privacy, 'and preſs the Enjoyment of his beaſtly Ends? You 'have made him, in effect, Maſter of all Things under 'your Roof, and would nothing ſerve him, but he muſt 'have your Wife likewiſe? Here's the ungrateful Vil'lain's Cloak, which, in his Fright, he left behind 'him, when I cried out, when he was going to force 'me.

But 'tis ſomewhat wonderful, that, if Potiphar believ'd his Wife's Story, he did not immediately put him to Death; but there is one Thing, which might check the Violence of his Paſſion, and that was, the great Opinion he had, for ſome Time, been confirm'd in, of Joſeph's Virtue and Integrity. Joſeph, he ſaw, was young and beautiful, and therefore he might think it a Thing not impoſſible for a Lady of Diſtinction to be in Love with him, and upon a Diſappointment to be exaſperated. As therefore he would not inflict any capital, or corporal Puniſhment on him, ſo he thought it prudent to hurry him away to Priſon unheard, leſt, being allow'd to ſpeak in his own Vindication, he might clear himſelf, and thereby bring Diſcredit upon his Family. It muſt not be denied however (what St. Chryſoſtom has obſerved) that here again was a ſpecial, and, as it were, a miraculous Intervention of the divine Power, which preſerv'd his Life, as it did before, when he was caſt into the Pit. The ſuperior Influence, which ſoften'd the Heart of Reuben, reſtrain'd the Hand of Potiphar; in order to make our Patriarch a more glorious Example, and to complete thoſe Events, in the Courſe of his Life, which God had pre-determin'd and foretold.

CHAP. XL.

Pharaoh's chief Butler and Baker being in the ſame Priſon, with Joſeph, each of them has a Dream, which Joſeph interprets; the Event verifies his Interpretation; yet Joſeph is forgotten.

Ver. 1. AND it came to paſs after theſe things, that the butler of the king of Egypt, and his baker had offended their lord, the king of Egypt. 2 And Pharaoh was wroth againſt two of his officers, againſt the chief of the butlers, and againſt the chief of the bakers. 3 And he put them in ward in the houſe of the captain of the guard, into the priſon, the place where Joſeph was bound. 4 And the captain of the guard charged Joſeph with them, and he ſerved them and they continued a ſeaſon in ward. 5 And they dreamed a dream both of them, each man his dream in one night, each man according to the interpretation of his dream; the butler and the baker of the king of Egypt, which were bound in the priſon. 6 And Joſeph came in unto them, in the morning, and looked upon them, and behold, they were ſad. 7 And he aſked Pharaohs officers that were with him in the ward of his lords houſe, ſaying, Wherefore look ye ſo ſadly to day? 8 And they ſaid unto him, We have dreamed a dream, and there is no interpreter of it. And Joſeph ſaid unto them, Do not interpretations belong to God; tell me them, I pray you. 9 And the chief butler told his dream to Joſeph, and ſaid unto him, In my dream, behold, a vine was before me. 10 And in the vine were three branches; and it was as though it budded, and her bloſſoms ſhot forth; and the cluſters thereof brought forth ripe grapes. 11 And Pharaohs cup was in my hand: and I took the grapes, and preſſed them into Pharaohs cup, and I gave the cup into Pharaohs hand. 12 And Joſeph ſaid unto him, This is the interpretation of it: the three branches are three days. 13 Yet within three days ſhall Pharaoh lift up thine head, and reſtore thee unto thy place: and thou ſhalt deliver Pharaohs cup into his hand, after the former manner when thou waſt his butler. 14 But think on me when it ſhall be well with thee, and ſhew kindneſs, I pray thee, unto me; and make mention of me unto Pharaoh, and bring me out of this houſe. 15 For indeed I was ſtolen away out of the land of the Hebrews: and here alſo have I done nothing that they ſhould put me into the dungeon. 16 When the chief baker ſaw that the interpretation was good; he ſaid unto Joſeph, I alſo was in my dream, and behold, I had three white baſkets on my head. 17 And in the uppermoſt baſket there was of all manner of bake-meats for Pharaoh; and the birds did eat them out of the baſket upon my head. 18 And Joſeph anſwered, and ſaid, This is the interpretation thereof: the three baſkets are three days. 19 Yet within three days ſhall Pharaoh lift up thy head from off thee, and ſhall hang thee on a tree; and the birds ſhall eat thy fleſh from off thee. 20 And it came to paſs the third day, which was Pharaohs birth-day, that he made a feaſt unto all his ſervants: and he lifted up the head of the chief butler, and of the chief baker among his ſervants. 21 And he reſtored the chief butler unto his butlerſhip again; and he gave the cup into Pharaohs hand. 22 But he hanged the chief baker: as Joſeph had interpreted to them. 23 Yet did not the chief butler remember Joſeph but forgat him.

And the Captain of the Guard charged Joſeph with them] Behold, ſays Pool, the wonderful Providence of God, in whoſe Hand are the Hearts of all Mankind, the Captain of the Guard, Potiphar, the very Perſon who had wrongfully caſt poor Joſeph into Priſon, beginning now to have a more favourable Opinion of him, tho' for his Wife's Reputation, and his own Quiet, he ſtill kept him in Priſon, committed theſe two State Priſoners to his Cuſtody; as being well aſſured from former Experience, of his great Care and Faithfulneſs, in whatever was entruſted to his Care.

Yet within three Days ſhall Pharoah lift up thine Head] The Expreſſion which Joſeph here makes uſe of concerning the King's Cup-bearer and Baker, Pharaoh ſhall lift up thy Head, ſeems ſomewhat too literally tranſlated, ſince the Original means no more, than that Pharaoh would have them brought forth and examin'd. The Antients, we are to know, in keeping their Reckonings or Accounts of Time, or the Liſt of their domeſtick Officers or Servants, made uſe of Tables with Holes bored in them, in which they put a Sort of Peg, or Nails with broad Heads, exhibiting the Particulars, either Number or Name, or whatever it was. Theſe Nails or Pegs the Jews call Heads, and the Sockets of the Heads they call Baſes. The Meaning therefore of Pharaoh's lifting up his Head is, that Pharaoh would take out the Peg which had the Cup-bearer's Name on the Top of it, to read it; i. e. would ſit in Judgment, and make Examination into his Accounts. For it ſeems very probable, that both he, and the Baker, had been either ſuſpected or accuſed of having cheated the King, and that, when their Accounts, were examin'd and caſt up, the one was acquitted, while the other was found guilty. And, tho' Joſeph, uſes the ſame Expreſſion in both Caſes, yet we may obſerve, that ſpeaking to the Baker, he adds, that Pharaoh ſhall lift up thy Head from off thee, i. e. ſhall order thy Name to be ſtruck out of the Liſt of his Servants, by taking thy Peg out of the Socket. See Bibl. Bib.

But think on me, when it ſhall be well with thee] There is nothing of a Diſtruſt of God's Goodneſs, Juſtice, or Power, in making uſe of human Means. The Releaſe of the King's Cup-bearer appear'd to Joſeph to be a good Opportunity pointed out by Providence, for him to lay hold on; and wanting he would have been to his own Preſervation, had he not employed it. Tho' therefore it may be thought, that his aſking this Court-Officer to repreſent his Caſe to the King, might be in Reward or Compenſation for his Prediction; yet even herein may he be juſtified by apoſtolical Authority, which, in Caſes of this Nature, inſtructs, (1 Cor. ix. 4. and Gal. vi. 6.) that temporal Advantages very lawfully may be both aſk'd and receiv'd. In the Cup-bearer's not remembering him however, we may obſerve ſomething, that ſeems providentially to have turn'd to his Advantage, ſince, had he been diſcharg'd before Pharaoh's Dream, he might many Ways have miſs'd of that prodigious Favour and Advancement, which, by this Means, he attain'd. See Bibl. Bib.

For indeed I was ſtolen away out of the Land of the Hebrews] Patrick obſerves, that the Words out of the Land of the Hebrews, ſome ſuppoſe were added by Joſhua, or ſome other Writer, after the Death of Moſes; becauſe, in Moſes's Days, and much more in Joſhua's, Canaan was not known by that Name. It is not the whole Land of Canaan however, that Joſeph here means, but only that Part of it, which lay about Hebron, where Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob had, for a long while liv'd, Gen. xxii. 1, 2. xxxv. 27. xxxvii. 14. 'Tis ſaid indeed, that they were Strangers and Sojourners in the Country, but then they were Strangers of great Note and high Renown, who were treated as Princes, liv'd by their own Laws, and made Leagues not only with private Men, but with Cities, and with Kings, Gen xxiii. 6. xxi. 22. xxvi. 28. xxxiv. 6. The Fame of whoſe Deeds could not but be ſpread abroad, both by the Victory, which Abraham got in a Battle over ſeveral Kings, and by the Sacking of Sechem, which their Neighbours durſt not revenge, all which might very well make that Part of the Country, wherein they, for three Generations, had reſided, not improperly be call'd the Land of the Hebrews.

good, he said unto Joseph, I also was in my Dream] As ſtuſh as the chief Baker was with his Hopes, ſays Patrick, there is this obvious Difference between his, and the Cup-bearer's Preſage, viz.. that he was not an Agent, but a Sufferer in his Dream; for he did not give a Cake, or a Confection to the King, as the other did the Cup, but the Fowls of the Air deſcended upon his Baſket, and fled off with the Dainties that were in it.

Pharaoh's two portentous Dreams, which none of his Magicians or wiſe Men could interpret. The chief Butler, in this Emergency, calls Joſeph to his Remembrance, and recommends him to Pharaoh, who ſends for him immediately, and tells him his Dreams which Joſeph interprets. Joſeph's Advancement thereupon.

Ver. 1. AND it came to paſs at the end of two full years, that Pharaoh dreamed, and behold, he ſtood by the river. 2 And behold, there came up out of the river, ſeven well-favoured kine, and fat-fleſhed; and they fed in a meadow. 3 And behold, ſeven other kine came up after them out of the river, ill-favoured, and lean-fleſhed; and ſtood by the other kine, upon the brink of the river. 4 And the ill favoured and lean-fleſhed kine, did eat up the ſeven well-favoured and fat kine. So Pharaoh awoke. 5 And he ſlept and dreamed the ſecond time: and behold, ſeven ears of corn, came up upon one ſtalk, rank and good. 6 And behold, ſeven thin ears and blaſted with the eaſt-wind ſprung up after them. 7 And the ſeven thin ears devoured the ſeven rank and full ears: and Pharaoh awoke, and behold, it was a dream. 8 And it came to paſs in the morning, that his ſpirit was troubled; and he ſent and called for all the magicians of Egypt, and all the wiſe-men thereof: and Pharaoh told them his dream; but there was none that could interpret them unto Pharaoh. 9 Then ſpake the chief butler unto Pharaoh, ſaying, I do remember my faults this day. 10 Pharaoh was wroth with his ſervants, and put me in ward in the captain of the guards houſe, both me, and the chief baker. 11 And we dreamed a dream in one night, I and he: we dreamed each man according to the interpretation of his dream. 12 And there was there with us a young man, an Hebrew, ſervant to the captain of the guard; and we told him, and he interpreted to us our dreams: to each man according to his dream he did interpret. 13 And it came to paſs, as he interpreted to us, ſo it was: me he reſtored unto mine office, and him he hanged. 14 Then Pharaoh ſent and called Joſeph, and they brought him haſtily out of the dungeon: and he ſhaved himſelf, and changed his raiment, and came in unto Pharaoh. 15 And Pharaoh ſaid unto Joſeph, I have dreamed a dream, and there is none that can interpret it: and I have heard ſay of thee, that thou canſt underſtand a dream, to interpret it. 16 And Joſeph anſwered Pharaoh, ſaying, It is not in me: God ſhall give Pharaoh an anſwer of peace. 17 And Pharaoh ſaid unto Joſeph, In my dream, behold, I ſtood upon the bank of the river. 18 And behold, there came up out of the river, ſeven kine, fat-fleſhed, and well favoured; and they fed in a meadow. 19 And behold, ſeven other kine, came up after them, poor and very ill-favoured, and lean-fleſhed, ſuch as I never ſaw in all the land of Egypt for badneſs. 20 And the lean and the ill-favoured kine did eat up the firſt ſeven fat kine. 21 And when they had eaten them up, it could not be known that they had eaten them; but they were ſtill ill-favoured, as at the beginning. So I awoke. 22 And I ſaw in my dream, and behold, ſeven ears came up in one ſtalk, full and good. 23 And behold, ſeven ears, withered, thin and blaſted with the eaſt-wind, ſprung up after them. 24 And the thin ears devoured the ſeven good ears: and I told this unto the magicians; but there was none that could declare it unto me. 25 And Joſeph ſaid unto Pharaoh, The dream of Pharaoh is one: God hath ſhewed Pharaoh what he is about to do. 26 The ſeven good kine are ſeven years; and the ſeven good ears are ſeven years: the dream is one. 27 And the ſeven thin and ill-favoured kine that came up after them, are ſeven years; and the ſeven empty ears blaſted with the eaſt-wind, ſhall be ſeven years of famine. 28 This is the thing which I have ſpoken unto Pharaoh: What God is about to do: he ſheweth unto Pharaoh. 29 Behold, there come ſeven years of great plenty, throughout all the land of Egypt. 30 And there ſhall ariſe after them ſeven years of famine, and all the plenty ſhall be forgotten in the land of Egypt: and the famine ſhall conſume the land. 31 And the plenty ſhall not be known in the land, by reaſon of that famine following: for it ſhall be very grievous. 32 And for that the dream was doubled unto Pharaoh twice; it is becauſe the thing is eſtabliſhed by God, and God will ſhortly bring it to paſs. 33 Now therefore let Pharaoh look out a man diſcreet and wiſe, and ſet him over the land of Egypt. 34 Let Pharaoh do this, and let him appoint officers over the land, and take up the fifth part of the land of Egypt in the ſeven plenteous years. 35 And let them gather all the food of thoſe good years that come, and lay up corn under the hand of Pharaoh, and let them keep food in the cities. 36 And that food ſhall be for ſtore to the land, againſt the ſeven years of famine, which ſhall be in the land of Egypt; that the land periſh not through the famine.

And he ſent and called all the Magicians of Egypt, and all the wiſe Men thereof] The Chaldeans of old were the moſt famous People in the World for Divination of all Kinds; and therefore 'tis very probable, that the Word Hhartoumim, which we render Magicians, is not of Hebrew, but Chaldee Origin. The Roots however, from whence it ſprings (if it be a compound Word, as probably it is) are not ſo viſible; and therefore Commentators are perplex'd to know by what Method, Men of this Profeſſion proceeded in their Enquiry into ſecret Things, whether they pretended to expound Dreams, and deſcry future Events, by natural Obſervations, by the Art of Aſtrology, (which came much in Requeſt in future Ages) by ſuch Rules as are found in the Books of Oneirocriticks, or by certain Characters, Images, Pictures, and Figures, which were engrav'd with magical Rites and Ceremonies. It is not to be doubted indeed, but that the Magicians, whom Pharaoh conſulted for the Interpretation of his Dreams, made uſe of ſome at leaſt, if not all theſe Arts; and the Jewiſh Doctors wou'd make us believe, that, after ſeveral Attempts of divers Kinds, they came at laſt to this Expoſition, that Pharaoh's Daughters (for they ſuppoſe him to have ſeven) ſhould die; and that he ſhould have ſeven others born to him in their Stead; but this being not at all ſatisfactory to their Maſter, put the Cup-bearer in Mind of Joſeph's great Abilities that Way. See Le Clerc and Patrick.

And Joſeph anſwered Pharaoh, ſaying, It is not in me; God ſhall give Pharaoh an Anſwer of Peace] The Words, wherein Joſeph prefaces his Interpretation of Pharaoh's Dreams, are much of the ſame Kind with what we find Daniel addreſſing Nebuchadnezzar upon the like Occaſion: The ſecret which the King hath demanded, cannot the wiſe Men, the Aſtrologers, the Megicians, the Sooth-ſayers, ſhew unto the King; but there is a God in Heaven who revealeth Secrets, and maketh known unto the King, what ſhall be in the latter Days, Dan. ii. 27, 28. Both theſe holy Men inſinuate, that the Intereſts of Princes, are more eſpecially the Care of divine Providence, and that therefore, for their Admonition, he frequently ſends Dreams and Viſions upon them. And this Declaration, previous to the Expoſition, was perfectly proper, and of mighty Force to beſpeak the King's Attention and Regard, at the ſame Time that Joſeph was aſſerting the Being and Interpoſition of Almighty God, in the Guidance of human Affairs. See Le Clerc and Bibl. Bib.

And for that the Dream was doubled unto Pharaoh twice, it is becauſe the Thing is eſtabliſhed by God; and God will ſhortly bring it to paſs. Now therefore, &c.] Here we may obſerve again, that Joſeph directs Pharaoh to look up to God as the Author of all theſe Events, and that not in an ordinary, but extraordinary Manner, ſince ſuch Fertility, and ſuch Famine, did not proceed from mere natural Cauſes, but from an over-ruling Providence, which made the River Nile overflow its Banks ſo largely for ſeven Years together, and ſo occaſion a great Plenty; and then, for the next ſeven Years, overflow very little, if at all; and ſo produce a very ſore and long Famine. Nor can it be objected to Joſeph, that he was guilty of Preſumption or Boldneſs, in giving his Advice to Pharaoh, concerning the Proviſion that was to be made againſt the enſuing Scarceneſs, ſince he was conſcious to himſelf, that he was beſt able to give ſuch Advice, and would have been guilty of the Sin of Omiſſion, had he neglected to do it, in ſo great and ſo general a Concern. See Bibl. Bib.

And take up the fifth Part of the Land of Egypt in the ſeven plenteous Years] Since there were to be as many Years of Scarceneſs, as Plenty, ſays Patrick, ſome have made it a Queſtion, why Joſeph adviſ'd no more than a fifth Part of the Corn, in plentiful Years, to be laid up? But to this it may be replied, that the greater and richer Sort were us'd, in Time of Plenty, to fill their Storehouſes with Proviſion, againſt a ſcarcer Year, which ſometimes happen'd; that, in the Times of Famine, Men were wont to live more frugally and parcimoniouſly, as the Egyptians, at this Time, according to Joſephus, were oblig'd to do by Pharaoh's ſpecial Command; that, even in the Year of Famine, Tillage went on, and the Harveſt might be ſomething, (tho' not mention'd, by Reaſon that the Product was comparatively inconſiderable) eſpecially in the Lands lying near the Nile; and that as the tenth Part was an ordinary Tribute due to the Kings of Egypt, in the Years of extraordinary Plenty (when the fifth was no more than the tenth in other Years) Pharaoh might think it proper to double this Charge, or (what is rather to be ſuppos'd from a good King and good Counſellor) to buy as much more, as was his Tribute, which he might do at an eaſy Rate, when ſuch a vaſt Plenty made Corn extremely cheap.

37 And the thing was good in the eyes of Pharaoh, and in the eyes of all his ſervants. 38 And Pharaoh ſaid unto his ſervants, Can we find ſuch a one as this is, a man in whom the Spirit of God is? 39 And Pharaoh ſaid unto Joſeph, Foraſmuch as God hath ſhewed thee all this, there is none ſo diſcreet and wiſe as thou art. 40 Thou ſhalt be over my houſe, and according unto thy word ſhall all my people be ruled: only in the throne will I be greater than thou. 41 And Pharaoh ſaid unto Joſeph, See, I have ſet thee over all the land of Egypt. 42 And Pharaoh took off his ring from his hand, and put it upon Joſephs hand, and arayed him in veſtures of fine linen, and put a gold chain about his neck. 43 And he made him to ride in the ſecond chariot which he had; and they cried before him, Bow the knee: and he made him ruler over all the land of Egypt. 44 And Pharaoh ſaid unto Joſeph, I am Pharaoh, and without thee ſhall no man lift up his hand or foot in all the land of Egypt. 45 And Pharaoh called Joſephs name Zaphnath paaneah; and he gave him to wife Aſenath the daughter of Poti-pherah prieſt of On: and Joſeph went out over all the land of Egypt. 46 And Joſeph was thirty years old when he ſtood before Pharaoh king of Egypt: And Joſeph went out from the preſence of Pharaoh; and went throughout all the land of Egypt. 47 And in the ſeven plenteous years the earth brought forth by handfulls. 48 And he gathered up all the food of the ſeven years, which were in the land of Egypt, and laid up the food in the cities: the food of the field which was round about every city, laid he up in the ſame. 49 And Joſeph gathered corn as the ſand of the ſea, very much, until he left numbring: for it was without number. 50 And unto Joſeph were born two ſons, before the years of famine came: which Aſenath, the daughter of Poti-pherah prieſt of On, bare unto him. 51 And Joſeph called the name of the firſt-born Manaſſeh: for God, ſaid he, hath made me forget all my toil, and all my fathers houſe. 52 And the name of the ſecond called he Ephraim: for God hath cauſed me to be fruitful in the land of my affliction. 53 And the ſeven years of plenteouſneſs that was in the land of Egypt, were ended. 54 And the ſeven years of dearth began to come, according as Joſeph had ſaid: and the dearth was in all lands; but in all the land of Egypt there was bread. 55 And when all the land of Egypt was famiſhed, the people cried to Pharaoh for bread: And Pharaoh ſaid unto all the Egyptians, Go unto Joſeph; what he ſaith to you, do. 56 And the famine was over all the face of the earth: and Joſeph opened all the ſtore-houſes, and ſold unto the Egyptians; and the famine waxed ſore in the land of Egypt. 57 And all countrys came into Egypt to Joſeph for to buy corn; becauſe that the famine was ſo ſore in all lands.

And they cried before him, Bow the Knee] Annotators are much at a loſs to determine of what Original the Word Abrech is, ſome pretending that it is altogether Hebrew, while others make it a Compound of Hebrew and Syriack, and others contend, at the ſame Time, that it is purely Egyptian. Thoſe, who pretend it is Hebrew, beſides the Signification of bowing the Knee, (which it very well bears) by dividing it into two Words, make it import a tender Father, and ſuppoſe that Joſeph might very properly be call'd a Father, in Point of his conſummate Wiſdom, young or tender, in regard to his Years. Thoſe, who make it a Mixture of Hebrew and Syriack, divide it in like Manner, into two Words, and ſuppoſe, that, as Ab, in the Hebrew, is Father, ſo rech or rach, in the Syrian Tongue, is King, in the ſame Senſe that Joſeph ſays of himſelf, (and perhaps in Alluſion to this very Name) God has made me a Father unto Pharaoh, Gen. xlv. 8.

i. e.

i. e. in giving him wholesome Counsel, even as a Father does his Children. But those, who contend for its being purely Egyptian, do freely confess, that, at this Distance of Time, and under such Obsoleteness of that Language, 'tis next to impossible to find out the genuine Signification of an honorary Term, (as this very probably was) and therefore they observe, that, as the Jewish Historian makes no Mention of this Circumstance in Joseph's Story, he might be induc'd to that Omission, by reason of his not understanding this Word of exotick Growth. In this Uncertainty of Opinions therefore, we have thought it the best Way to follow that Translation, which some of the best Hebrew Interpreters, the Septuagint, and vulgar Versions have approv'd. See Heidegger's Hist. Patriarch. Vol. 2.

But, say some, why did Joseph, who is represented as a Man strictly virtuous, accept of high Posts and Honours, since he could not but foresee, that, by living in a Court, he should expose his Virtue to abundance of Hazards? But, says Stackhouse, when he perceiv'd the Hand of Providence so visible in raising him, by Ways and Means so very extraordinary, to Eminence, and an Office wherein he would have it in his Power to be beneficial to so very many, he could not refuse the Offers which the King made him, without being rebellious to the Will and Destination of God. To him therefore, who had secur'd him hitherto, he might in this Case, commit the Custody of his Innocence, and accept the usual Ensigns of Honour, without incurring the Censure of Vanity or Ostentation.

And Pharaoh called Joseph's Name Zaphnath Paaneah] It was an antient Custom among Eastern Princes, upon their Promotion of any Favourite, to give him a new Name. Nebuchadnezzar, we read, Dan. i. 7. impos'd new Names upon Daniel, and his Companions in Babylon; and, to this very Day, the Mogul never advances a Man, but he gives him a new Name, and that significative of something belonging to him. But here the Question is, what the Meaning of the Name, which Pharaoh gave Joseph, is? In the Hebrew Text it is Zaphnath Paaneah, but in the Egyptian and Greek Pentateuch, it is Pson-thon-phanech. The oriental Versions, however, are pretty unanimous in rendring it, a Revealer of Secrets; but there are some Reasons why this should not be its true Signification. For, the Time when Pharaoh gave the Patriarch this Name, was when he advanc'd him, from the Condition of an imprison'd Slave, to that of a Ruler throughout all the Land of Egypt; and therefore it is reasonable to suppose, that he gave it in Commemoration of such Promotion, rather than of his expounding Dreams; because, to have call'd him an Interpreter of Dreams only, had been degrading him to the Level of Magicians. Now, if Pharaoh gave him this Name in Memory of his Promotion, it is very likely, that this Name was strictly and properly Egyptian, (otherwise the common People could not have understood it) tho' Moses, in his recording it, might endeavour to accommodate it to the Hebrew Idiom; and if it was Egyptian, the Word in that Language signifies, what we call a prime Minister; or, strictly, the first, or Prince of the Lords. See Biblioth. Bibl.

And he gave him to Wife Asenath, the Daughter of Poti-pherah, Priest of On] The Reader must remember not to confound this Name with Potiphar, who bought Joseph of the Ishmaelites, because their Names in Hebrew are not differently written. The one however, is call'd the Captain of the Guards, the other the Prince, or Priest of On; so that the former must have had his Residence in the Capital, to be always about the King; but the latter liv'd at On, or Heliopolis, about twenty Miles distant from Memphis, the Metropolis of the Kingdom: Nor can we suppose, that Joseph would ever have married his Master's Daughter, lest she should have prov'd not unlike her Mother, for whose Incontinence he had so severely smarted. See Univers. Hist. L. i. C. 7.

But was not Joseph blameable for marrying an Infidel? No, says Stackhouse: For, tho' in After Ages, all Marriages with Infidels was certainly prohibited; yet there seems to be, at this Time, a certain Dispensation current, for as much as Judah, to be sure, if not more of Joseph's Brethren, had done the same: Besides that, in Joseph's Case, there was something peculiar. For, (as Heidegger observes) as he was in a strange Country, he had not an Opportunity of making his Addresses to any of the Daughters of the Seed of Abraham; as the Match was of the King's making, he was not at Liberty to decline it, without forfeiting his pretensions to the Royal Favour, and consequently to the Means of doing so much Good; and, as it is not improbable, that he might be advis'd to it by a particular Revelation, so is it highly reasonable to believe, that he converted his Wife, at least, to the Worship of the true God, before he espous'd her: Even tho' there shou'd be nothing in that Opinion of the Rabbins, that he made a Proselite likewise of her Father, the Priest of On (who could not but be desirous to purchase at any Rate, so advantageous an Alliance) and took this Occasion to establish the Rite of Circumcision, if not in all Egypt, at least among Persons of the sacred Order, who (according to the Account of those who wrote the History of that Country) in very early Days, certainly were not without it.

And the Famine was over all the Face of the Earth; and Joseph opened all the Store-houses, and sold unto the Egyptians; and the Famine waxed sore in all the Land of Egypt] The Famine's being over all the Face of the Earth, says Pool, is an Hebrew Phrase, and means no more, than that it affected all the Countries bordering upon Egypt, insomuch that they were forced to send thither to buy Corn for Sustenance; which is not at all surprizing, considering they had not the same Warning the Egyptians had, to provide for themselves, and lay up against a Rainy Day: But as the Egyptians had such sufficient Warning, it is not a little amazing, that they should fall so soon as the second Year into the same necessitous Circumstances as their Neighbours. As it is not to be doubted, but that, being so forwarned, such as were in good Circumstances laid up great Quantities of Corn, for the Use of themselves, and their Families, in the same Manner as they saw done in the royal Granaries, by the Direction of Joseph, there is no Way to account for their being reduced to such Want, in so short a Time, but by ascribing it to their excessive Avarice, and Thirst of Gain; which fondly induced them to part with that precious Commodity, from the deluding Hope, that the Famine would either be less severe, or of shorter Duration than Joseph had foretold.

CHAP. XLII.

Jacob, hearing there was Corn in Egypt, sends Ten of his Sons down to buy some. They appear before Joseph, who treats them roughly, and calls them Spies; they vindicate themselves; however, Joseph imprisons them for three Days, and then releases all but Simeon, on Condition that the next Time they came, they should bring their younger Brother with them. Being prick'd in their Consciences, they mutually accuse each other with their Sin against Joseph, who hearing them, retires and weeps. He orders their Sacks to be fill'd with Corn, and their Money return'd, which on the Road they find, and are surpriz'd. They relate their Adventures to Jacob, and press him to let Benjamin go with them upon their next Journey, but cannot prevail with him to let him go.

Ver. 1. NOW when Jacob saw that there was corn in Egypt, Jacob said unto his sons, Why do ye look one upon another? 2. And he said, Behold, I have heard that there is corn in Egypt; get you down thither, buy buy for us from thence; that we may live and not die. 3 And Joſephs ten brethren went down to buy corn in Egypt. 4 But Benjamin, Joſephs brother, Jacob ſent not with his brethren: for he ſaid, Leſt peradventure miſchief befall him. 5 And the ſons of Iſrael came to buy corn among thoſe that came: for the famine was in the land of Canaan. 6 And Joſeph was the governor over the land, and he it was that ſold to all the people of the land: and Joſephs brethren came and bowed down themſelves before him, with their faces to the earth. 7 And Joſeph ſaw his brethren, and he knew them, but made himſelf ſtrange unto them, and ſpake roughly unto them; and he ſaid unto them, Whence come ye? And they ſaid, from the land of Canaan to buy food. 8 And Joſeph knew his brethren, but they knew not him. 9 And Joſeph remembred the dreams which he dreamed of them, and ſaid unto them, Ye are ſpies; to ſee the nakedneſs of the land you are come. 10 they ſaid unto him, Nay, my lord, But to buy food are thy ſervants come. 11 We are all one mans ſons: we are true men, thy ſervants are no ſpies. 12 And he ſaid unto them, Nay, but to ſee the nakedneſs of the land you are come. 12 And they ſaid, Thy ſervants are twelve brethren, the ſons of one man in the land of Canaan; and behold, the youngeſt is this day with our father, and one is not. 14 And Joſeph ſaid unto them, That is it that I ſpake unto you, ſaying, Ye are ſpies. 15 Hereby ye ſhall be proved: by the life of Pharaoh ye ſhall not go forth hence, except your youngeſt brother come hither. 16 Send one of you, and let him fetch your brother, and ye ſhall be kept in priſon, that your words may be proved, whether there be any truth in you: or elſe by the life of Pharaoh ſurely ye are ſpies. 17 And he put them altogether into ward three days. 18 And Joſeph ſaid unto them the third day, This do, and live; for I fear God. 19 If ye be true men, let one of your brethren be bound in the houſe of your priſon: go ye, carry corn for the famine of your houſes. 20 But bring your youngeſt brother unto me; ſo ſhall your words be verified, and ye ſhall not die. And they did ſo. 21 And they ſaid one to another, We are verily guilty concerning our brother, in that we ſaw the anguiſh of his ſoul, when he beſought us, and we would not hear: therefore is this diſtreſs come upon us. 22 And Reuben anſwered them, ſaying, Spake I not unto you, ſaying, Do not ſin againſt the child: and ye would not hear: therefore behold alſo, his blood is required. 23 And they knew not that Joſeph underſtood them; for he ſpake unto them by an interpreter. 24 And he turned himſelf about from them, and wept; and returned to them again, and communed with them, and took from them Simeon, and bound him before their eyes. 25 Then Joſeph commanded to fill their ſacks with corn, and to reſtore every mans money into his ſack, and to give them proviſion for the way: and thus did he unto them. 26 And they laded their aſſes with the corn, and departed thence. 27 And as one of them opened his ſack to give his aſs provender in the inn, he eſpied his money: for behold it was in his ſacks month. 28 And he ſaid unto his brethren, my money is reſtored; and lo, it is even in my ſack: and their heart failed them, and they were afraid, ſaying one to another, What is this that God hath done unto us? 29 And they came unto Jacob their father unto the land of Canaan, and told him all that befel unto them, ſaying, 30 The man who is the lord of the land, ſpake roughly to us, and took us for ſpies of the country. 31 And we ſaid unto him, We are true men; we are no ſpies. 32 We be twelve brethren, ſons of our father: one is not, and the youngeſt is this day with our father in the land of Canaan. 33 And the man, the lord of the country, ſaid unto us, Hereby ſhall I know that ye are true men; leave one of your brethren here with me, and take food for the famine of your houſholds, and be gone. 34 And bring your youngeſt brother unto me: then ſhall I know that you are no ſpies, but that you are true men: ſo will I deliver you your brother, and ye ſhall traffick in the land. 35 And it came to paſs as they emptied their ſacks, that behold, every mans bundle of money was in his ſack: and when both they and their father ſaw the bundles of money, they were afraid. 36 And Jacob their father ſaid unto them, Me have ye bereaved of my children: Joſeph is not, and Simeon is not, and ye will take Benjamin away: all theſe things are againſt me. 37 And Reuben ſpake unto his father, ſaying, Slay my two ſons, if I bring him not to thee: deliver him into my hand, and I will bring him to thee again. 38 And he ſaid, My ſon ſhall not go down with you: for his brother is dead, and he is left alone; if miſchief befall him by the way in the which ye go, then ſhall ye bring down my gray hairs with ſorrow to the grave.

And Joſeph — ſaid unto them, Ye are Spies] Theſe Words, Ye are Spies, are not to be look'd upon as a Lie, becauſe they are not ſpoken by Way of Affirmation, but of Probation only, in the Manner that Judges ſpeak, when they examine ſuſpected Perſons, or enquire into a Crime, of which Men are accus'd; and have therefore the Force of an Interrogation. Are ye not Spies? Or, I muſt take you to be ſuch, until you prove the contrary. This, tho' it was but a pretenſive Charge of Joſeph, had yet the better Colour, becauſe Egypt was defenceleſs, and liable to Incurſions only on that Side, from whence his Brethren came; for, what with the Interpoſition of large Deſarts, and ſhallow Seas, it was pretty well ſecur'd on all other Quarters. See Le Clerc and Patrick.

We are all one Man's Sons] By this, ſays Patrick, they ſuggeſted the Impoſſibility of their being Spies, ſince no Man, in his Wits, would ſend ſo many, and all his own Sons, upon ſo dangerous and capital an Enterprize: Nor was it probable, that one Man could have a Deſign upon Egypt, but all the great Men in Canaan muſt have join'd in it, and then they would have ſent Men of different Families, and not all of one only.

By the Life of Pharaoh ſurely ye are Spies] Some may imagine, ſays Stackhouſe, that, the better to perſonate an Egyptian Lord, and thereby conceal himſelf from his Brethren, or rather to comply with the Language of the Court in this Particular, Joſeph ſwore by the Life of Pharaoh, in the ſame Manner, as the Romans, in Adulation to their Emperor, were wont to ſwear by his Genius. It muſt be acknowledg'd indeed, that, as every Oath is a ſolemn Appeal to God, to ſwear by any Creature whatever muſt needs be an impious and idolatrous Act; and therefore the proper Solution of this Matter is, --- not that Oaths of this Kind were allowable before the Inſtitution of Chriſtianity, but that Joſeph, in making uſe of theſe Words, did not ſwear at all. For, ſince every Oath implies in it either an Invocation cation of ſome Witneſs, or a Poſtulation of ſome Re-venge (as our Saunderſon terms it) to ſay that Joſeph appeal'd to the Life of Pharaoh, as a Witneſs, is ridiculous, and, without a very forc'd Conſtruction indeed, the Words can never be ſuppos'd to include in them a Curſe; and therefore their moſt eaſy Signification muſt be, what we call indicative: By the Life of Pharaoh, i. e. as ſure and certain as Pharaoh liveth, Ye are Spies; juſt as we ſay, By the Sun that ſhines, I ſpeak Truth, i. e. as ſure as the Sun ſhines; neither of which can, with any Propriety, by call'd Oaths, but only vehement Aſſeverations.

And took from them Simeon, and bound him before their Eyes] It may be ſuppos'd perhaps, that, becauſe Reuben was the eldeſt, he, upon this Occaſion had been the propereſt Hoſtage: But Reuben, we may obſerve, had ſhew'd himſelf averſe to thoſe Lengths of Wickedneſs and Inhumanity (in which moſt of the other Brothers were agreed) againſt Joſeph. Reuben, in ſhort, reſolv'd to ſave him; and, as Judah was inclin'd to favour him, had Simeon join'd with him, their Authority might have prevail'd for his Deliverance: But Simeon was the Perſon, who was moſt exaſperated againſt him. He was the eldeſt of thoſe, who had propos'd to murder him, and was therefore a fit Proxy for the reſt; the Man (as the Hebrews ſay) who put Joſeph in the Pit, and was now very juſtly to be ſerv'd in his Kind: Tho' they who tell us this, have a Tradition, that, as ſoon as his Brothers were gone, Joſeph had him unbound, and order'd him what Proviſions and Conveniencies he pleaſed, during his Confinement. See Patrick and Bibl. Bib.

Then Joſeph commanded to fill their Sacks with Corn, and to reſtore every Man's Money into his Sack] This might Joſeph do, ſays Muſculus, without defrauding Pharaoh: For, he might either ſupply them out of that Stock of Proviſions, which belong'd properly to himſelf; or, if the Proviſions were the King's, he might pay for them out of his own Purſe. Nor is there any Occaſion to conceive, that a Perſon ſo entirely in Favour and Confidence with his Prince, as Joſeph was, had his Hands tied up from diſpoſing, at his own Diſcretion and Pleaſure, of ſo ſmall a Boon, as this to his Friends, for their Relief and Comfort.

And as one of them opened his Sack, to give his Aſs Provender in the Inn] If it ſhould be made a Queſtion, ſays Muſculus, why Joſeph's Brethren made uſe of their own Stocks, and eſpecially in a Time of ſo great Scarcity, in a publick Inn; the Anſwer is obvious: — That the Inns or Reſting-places, in thoſe Parts of the World, neither were, nor are as yet, ſuch as we meet with in England, and ſome other Parts of Europe. They afforded no Accommodation, of any Kind, but barely Houſe-room. The Paſſengers, who travell'd in thoſe Countries, carried moſt, if not all, of their Proviſions with them; nor did they make any other uſe of theſe publick Houſes, but only to repoſe themſelves in at the End of their Stages.

CHAP. XLIII.

Jacob, after a great deal of Perſuaſion, is prevail'd upon to permit Benjamin to go with his Brethren into Egypt; their Reception by Joſeph on their Arrival there.

Ver. 1. AND the famine was ſore in the land. 2 And it came to paſs when they had eaten up the corn which they had brought out of Egypt, their father ſaid unto them, Go again, buy us a little food. 3 And Judah ſpake unto him, ſaying, The man did ſolemnly proteſt unto us, ſaying, ye ſhall not ſee my face, except your brother be with you. 4 If thou wilt ſend our brother with us, we will go down and buy thee food: 5 But if thou wilt not ſend him, we will not go down: for the man ſaid unto us, Ye ſhall not ſee my face, except your brother be with you. 6 And Iſrael ſaid, Wherefore dealt ye ſo ill with me, as to tell the man whether ye had yet a brother? 7 And they ſaid, The man aſked us ſtraitly of our ſtate, and of our kindred, ſaying, is your father yet alive? have ye another brother? and we told him according to the tenor of theſe words: could we certainly know that he would ſay, Bring your brother down? 8 And Judah ſaid unto Iſrael his father, Send the lad with me, and we will ariſe and go; that we may live and not die, both we, and thou, and alſo our little ones. 9 I will be ſurety for him; of my hand ſhalt thou require him: If I bring him not unto thee, and ſet him before thee, then let me bear the blame for ever. 10 For except we had lingred, ſurely now we had returned this ſecond time. 11 And their father Iſrael ſaid unto them, If it muſt be ſo now, do this; take of the beſt fruits in the land in your veſſels, and carry down the man a preſent, a little balm, and a little hony, ſpices and myrrh, nuts, and almonds. 12 And take double money in your hand: and the money that was brought again in the mouth of your ſacks, carry it again in your hand; peradventure it was an overſight. 13 Take alſo your brother, and ariſe, go again unto the man. 14 And God Almighty give you mercy before the man, that he may ſend away your other brother, and Benjamin: if I be bereaved of my children, I am bereaved. 15 And the men took that preſent, and they took double money in their hand, and Benjamin; and roſe up, and went down to Egypt, and ſtood before Joſeph. 16 And when Joſeph ſaw Benjamin with them he ſaid to the ruler of his houſe, Bring theſe men home, and ſlay, and make ready: for theſe men ſhall dine with me at noon. 17 And the man did as Joſeph bade: and the man brought the men into Joſephs houſe. 18 And the men were afraid, becauſe they were brought into Joſephs houſe, and they ſaid, Becauſe of the money that was returned in our ſacks at the firſt time, are we brought in; that he may ſeek occaſion againſt us, and fall upon us, and take us for bondmen, and our aſſes. 19 And they came near to the ſteward of Joſephs houſe, and they communed with him at the door of the houſe, 20 And ſaid, O ſir, we came indeed down at the firſt time to buy food. 21 And it came to paſs when we came to the inn, that we opened our ſacks, and behold every mans money was in the mouth of his ſack, our money in full weight: and we have brought it again in our hand. 22 And other money have we brought down in our hands to buy food: we cannot tell who put our money in our ſacks. 23 And he ſaid, Peace be to you, fear not: your God and the God of your father hath given you treaſure in your ſacks: I had your money. And he brought Simeon out unto them. 24 And the man brought the men into Joſephs houſe, and gave them water, and they waſhed their feet, and he gave their aſſes provender. 25 And they made ready the preſent againſt Joſeph came at noon: for they heard that they ſhould eat bread there. 26 And when Joſeph came home, they brought him the preſent which was in their hand into the houſe, and bowed themſelves to him to the earth. 27 And he aſked them of their welfare, and ſaid, Is your father well, the old man of whom ye ſpake? Is he yet alive? 28 And they anſwered, Thy ſervant our father is in good health, he is yet alive: and they bowed down their heads, and made obeiſance. 29 And he lift up his eyes, and ſaw his brother Benjamin, his mothers ſon, and ſaid, Is this your younger brother, of whom ye ſpake unto me? And he ſaid, God be gracious unto thee my ſon. 30 And Joſeph made haſte; for his bowels did yern upon his brother: and he ſought where to weep, and he entered into his chamber, and wept there. 31 And he waſhed his face, and went out and refrained himſelf, and ſaid, Set on bread. 32 And they ſet on for him by himſelf, and for them by themſelves, and for the Egyptians, which did eat with him, by themſelves: becauſe the Egyptians might not eat bread with the Hebrews; for that is an abomination unto the Egyptians. 33 And they ſat before him, the firſt-born according to his birth-right, and the youngeſt according to his youth: and the men marvelled one at another. 34 And he took and ſent meſſes unto them from before him: but Benjamins meſs was five times ſo much as any of theirs. And they drank, and were merry with him.

If thou wilt ſend our Brother with us, we will go down, but if thou wilt not ſend him, we will not go down] Theſe Words, at firſt View, ſeem to have an Air of Undutifulneſs in them, but, upon a nearer Inſpection, will admit of this Apology, viz. That this was not the firſt Propoſal made to Jacob by his Sons, to have Benjamin go into Egypt with them. Reuben had once before offer'd his two Sons for Pledges, and receiv'd a Repulſe. Upon Jacob's renewing his Orders therefore for them to go, Judah only had Courage to engage in this freſh Remonſtrance. He reminds his Father, firſt of the Solemnity and Earneſtneſs with which Joſeph had pretended, that, without Benjamin, they ſhould not ſee his Face: Then he offers to go very willingly in Obedience to his Father's Commands, but deſires to inſiſt upon the Condition of Benjamin's going with them, as finally, indiſpenſibly, and abſolutely neceſſary. For the Words, compar'd with thoſe of Ch. xliv. 26. do plainly denote as much, we will not go down, i. e. it is impoſſible, impracticable, unallowable for us to go. For the future Tenſe according to the Hebrew Idiom, will bear this Signification, and conſequently will acquit Judah from all Suſpicion, of Rebellion or Undutifulneſs towards his Father. See Bibl. Bib.

Carry down the Man a Preſent, a little Balm, and a little Honey, Spices and Myrrh, Nuts and Almonds] Thus it is in our Tranſlation; but there is Reaſon to ſuſpect that ſome of theſe are not the real Things which the original Words intend. Balm indeed (which we may ſuppoſe was that of Gilead) was of a great Price all the World over, and a ſmall Quantity of it was a Price worth Acceptance, but unleſs the Honey in Canaan was better than ordinary, there doubtleſs was no Want of it in Egypt: And therefore it is much more likely, that this Part of the Preſent conſiſted of Dates, ſince the Hebrew expreſſes both by the ſame Name, and, in Judea, eſpecially about Jericho, (as both Joſephus and Pliny tells us) there was great Plenty of them, the Word Nekoth, which is render'd Spices, ſhould rather ſignify Storax, which in an Aromatick Gum, put into all precious ſpicy Ointments: And the Word Loth, which is tranſlated Myrrh, would come nearer the Original, if it were call'd Laudanum. Botnim, which we read Nuts, are what we call Piſtachioes, which were highly eſteem'd by the Antients, as a delicious Food; and with theſe Almonds might not perhaps improperly be join'd together. See Univ. Hiſt. and Patrick's Com.

Becauſe the Egyptians might not eat Bread with the Hebrews, for that is an Abomination unto the Egyptians] The Reaſon which ſome aſſign for the Egyptians refuſing to eat with the Hebrews, was their ſacrificing ſome Creatures, which the Egyptians worſhipped: But, tho', in after Ages, they certainly did worſhip ſeveral Kinds of Animals, yet there appears nothing from the Story that they did ſo in Joſeph's Days; for their Worſhip of the famous Ox, call'd Apis, was a much later Invention, as many learned Men have demonſtrated. It is much more likely therefore, that this great Abhorrence ſhould be reſolv'd into the different Manner, both of dreſſing, and eating their Victuals. No People, as Herodotus tells us, (even where he treats of their Manner of Feaſting) were more tenacious of their old Cuſtoms, than the Egyptians. They would not uſe thoſe of any other Nation whatever; and therefore the Hebrews were not the only People they had an Averſion to. For (as the ſame Hiſtorian informs us) an Egyptian Man or Woman, would not kiſs the Mouth of a Greek; would not make uſe of a Spit, or Pot belonging to them; nor eat any Meat, that was cut with any of their Knives. See Patrick and Le Clerc.

And he took, and ſent Meſſes unto them from before him; but Benjamin's Meſs was five Times ſo much as any of theirs] The Manner of eating among the Antients, was not for all the Company to eat out of one and the ſame Diſh, but for every one to have one or more Diſhes to himſelf. The whole of theſe Diſhes were ſet before the Maſter of the Feaſt, and he diſtributed to every one his Portion. As Joſeph however is here ſaid to have had a Table to himſelf, we may ſuppoſe, that he had a great Variety of little Diſhes, or Plates ſet before him; and, as it was a Cuſtom for great Men to honour thoſe who were in their Favour, by ſending ſuch Diſhes to them, as were firſt ſerv'd up to themſelves, Joſeph ſhew'd that Token of Reſpect to his Brethren: But, to expreſs a particular Value for Benjamin, he ſent him five Diſhes to their one, which Diſproportion cou'd not but be marvellous and aſtoniſhing to them, if what Herodotus tells us be true, 'that the Diſtinction in this 'Caſe, even to Egyptian Kings themſelves, in all pub-'lick Feaſts and Banquets, was no more than a double 'Meſs.' See Patrick's Com. and Bibl. Bib.

CHAP. XLIV.

Joſeph's Policy to ſtay his Brethren. Judah's ſupplicatory Speech in Behalf of Benjamin.

Ver. 1. AND he commanded the ſteward of his houſe, ſaying, Fill the mens ſacks with food, as much as they can carry, and put every mans money in his ſacks mouth. 2 And put my cup, the ſilver cup, in the ſacks mouth of the youngeſt, and his corn-money: and he did according to the word that Joſeph had ſpoken. 3 As ſoon as the morning was light, the men were ſent away, they and their aſſes. 4 And when they were gone out of the city, and not yet far off, Joſeph ſaid unto his ſteward, Up, follow after the men; and when thou doſt overtake them, ſay unto them, Wherefore have ye rewarded evil for good? 5 Is not this it, in which my lord drinketh? and whereby indeed he divineth? ye have done evil in ſo doing. 6 And he overtook them, and ſpake unto them theſe ſame words. 7 And they ſaid unto him, Wherefore ſaith my lord theſe words? God forbid that thy ſervants ſhould do according to this thing. 8 Behold, the money which we found in our ſacks mouths, we brought again unto thee out of the land of Canaan: how then ſhould we ſteal out of my lords houſe ſilver or gold? 9 With whom ſoever of thy ſervants it be found, both let him die, and we alſo will be my lords bond-men. 10 And he ſaid, Now alſo let it be according unto your words: he with whom it is found ſhall be my ſervant; and ye ſhall shall be blameless. 11 Then they speedily took down every man his sack to the ground, and opened every man his sack. 12 And he searched, and began at the eldest, and left at the youngest: and the cup was found in Benjamins sack. 13 Then they rent their cloaths, and laded every man his ass, and returned to the city. 14 And Judah and his brethren came to Josephs house (for he was yet there) and they fell before him on the ground. 15 And Joseph said unto them, What deed is this that ye have done? wot ye not, that such a man as I can certainly divine? 16 And Judah said, What shall we say unto my lord? what shall we speak? or how shall we clear our selves? God hath found out the iniquity of thy servants: behold, we are my lords servants, both we, and he also with whom the cup is found. 17 And he said, God forbid that I should do so: but the man in whose hand the cup is found, he shall be my servant; and as for you, get you up in peace unto your father, 18 Then Judah came near unto him, and said, Oh my lord, let thy servant, I pray thee, speak a word in my lords ears, and let not thine anger burn against thy servant: for thou art even as Pharaoh. 19 My lord asked his servants, saying, Have ye a father, or a brother? 20 And we said unto my lord, We have a father, an old man, and a child of his old age, a little one: and his brother is dead, and he alone is left of his mother, and his father loveth him. 21 And thou saidest unto thy servants, Bring him down unto me, that I may set mine eyes upon him. 22 And we said unto my lord, The lad cannot leave his father: for if he should leave his father, his father would die. 23 And thou saidest unto thy servants, Except your youngest brother come down with you, you shall see my face no more. 24 And it came to pass, when we came up unto thy servant my father, we told him the words of my lord. 25 And our father said, Go again, and buy us a little food. 26 And we said, We cannot go down: if our youngest brother be with us, then will we go down; for we may not see the mans face, except our youngest brother be with us. 27 And thy servant my father said unto us, Ye know that my wife bare me two sons. 28 And the one went out from me, and I said, Surely he is torn in pieces; and I saw him not since. 29 And if ye take this also from me, and mischief befall him, ye shall bring down my gray hairs with sorrow to the grave. 30 Now therefore when I come to thy servant my father, and the lad be not with us; (seeing that his life is bound up in the lads life) 31 It shall come to pass, when he seeth that the lad is not with us, that he will die: and thy servants shall bring down the gray hairs of thy servant our father with sorrow to the grave. 32 For thy servant became surety for the lad unto my father, saying, If I bring him not unto thee, then I shall bear the blame to my father for ever. 33 Now therefore I pray thee, let thy servant abide in stead of the lad, a bondman to my lord; and let the lad go up with his brethren. 34 For how shall I go up to my father, and the lad be not with me? left peradventure I see the evil that shall come on my father.

Is not this it in which my Lord drinketh? and whereby indeed he divineth] These are the Words, and the Words wherein Joseph accosts them, when they are brought before him, are, What Deed is this that ye have done? Wot ye not that such a Man, as I, can certainly divine? And from hence some have imagin'd, that Joseph was a Person addicted to magical Arts, and, by Virtue of this single Cup, could discover strange and wonderful Things. But, in answer to this, others have observ'd, that the Word Nashah, which we render to divine, was formerly of an indefinite Sense, and meant in general, to discover or make a Trial of; and, accordingly, they have devised a double Acceptation of the Steward's Words, as if he should say, — By this Cup (viz. left in a careless and negligent Manner) my Master was minded to make an Experiment, whether you were Thieves or honest Men; or say, — By this Cup, wherein he drinketh, my Master discovers and finds out the Temper and Dispositions of Men, when they are in Liquor. But both of these Senses seem a little too much forc'd, and are far from agreeing with the other Words of Joseph.

It must be acknowledg'd therefore, that, as magical Arts of divers Kinds were in use among the Egyptians, many Years before Joseph's Time of coming thither; and that, as Joseph, by his wonderful Skill of interpreting Dreams, had gain'd a great Reputation for Knowledge, and, perhaps, among the Populace, might pass for a Diviner; he took an Occasion from hence, in order to carry on his Design, to assume a Character that did not belong to him. There is no Reason however to infer from the Words, that the Art of divining by the Cup (as it came afterwards to be practis'd) was then in use in Egypt; because the Words before us (according to the Sense of the best Interpreters) do not relate to this Cup, as the Instrument, but as the Subject of Divination; not as the Thing, with which, but as the Thing, concerning which this magical Enquiry was to be made. And so the Sense of the Steward's Words will be, 'How could you think, but that my Lord, 'who is so great a Man at Divination, would use the 'best of his Skill to find out the Persons who had robb'd 'him of the Cup which he so much prizes?' And this tallies exactly with the subsequent Words of Joseph, Wot ye not that such a Man, as I, 'I, who have rais'd 'myself to this Eminence by my Interpretation of 'Dreams, and may therefore well be accounted an 'Adept in all other Sciences, should long be at a Loss 'to know, who the Persons were, that had taken away 'my Cup?' This seems to be the natural Sense of the Words; the only one indeed that they will fairly bear: And tho' they do not imply, that Joseph, was actually a Magician, yet they seem to justify the Notions of those Men who think, that he carried his Dissimulation to his Brethren so far, as to make them believe that he really had some Knowledge that Way.

The learned Ainsworth, who was exceedingly well versed in the Hebrew, and other oriental Tongues, translates it, Is not this it in which my Lord drinketh, and he would searching, search diligently for it? Many learned Jews concurring in this Notion, I confess, says Campbel, that it seems the more probable Version of the two.

But, say some, how will you justify Joseph's cruel Usage of his Brethren, and putting his aged Father into so many Frights? In Answer to which, Stackhouse observes, that, the Royal Psalmist, in his Description of the Sufferings of Joseph, tells us, that he was not only sold to be a Bond-servant, but that his Feet were hurt in the Stocks, and Iron entered into his Soul, Ps. cv. 17, 18. which signifies, at least, that he endur'd very hard Usage, before the Time came that his Cause was known, and his Innocence discover'd; and of all this his Brethren, when they sold him into Slavery, were properly the Occasions. So that, could we conceive, that any angry Resentments could harbour in a Breast, so fully satisfied of a divine Providence in all this Dispensation, we might have imagin'd, that Joseph took this Opportunity to retaliate the Injuries, which were formerly done to him; but this he did not. He defired indeed to be inform'd in the Circumſtances of their Family, without aſking any direct Queſtion; and therefore he mentions the Suſpicion of their being Spies, merely to fiſh out of them (as we call it) whether his aged Father, and his younger Brother were yet alive. For, upon their Return, we may perceive (eſpecially conſidering that it is the firſt Miniſter of a mighty State, that ſpeaks to a Company of poor indigent Shepherds) a wonderful Tenderneſs in his Expreſſions: Is your Father well; the old Man of whom ye ſpake, is he ſtill alive? beſides the Inſtructions, which he plainly gave his Steward to bid them be of good Cheer. When he underſtood that his Father and Brother were both alive, and, as yet, had not Matters prepar'd for the Removal of his Father and Family, the Eagerneſs of his Affections may perhaps be thought to have carried him a little too far, in demanding his Brother to be brought to him; but we are not to doubt, but that Joſeph, by the Divine Spirit, wherewith he was endow'd, did certainly foreſee what would happen, and that his Father's grieving a little Time for Benjamin, would be ſo far from endangering his Health, that it would only increaſe his Joy, when he ſaw him again, and diſpoſe him the better for the Reception of the welcome News of his own Advancement in Egypt; which, had it come all upon him at once, and on a ſudden, might have been enough to have bereav'd him of his Senſes, if not of his Life itſelf, by a Surfeit of Joy.

Upon their ſecond Diſmiſſion, after a very kind Entertainment, it may be thought perhaps a Piece of Cruelty in Joſeph, to have his Cup convey'd (of all others) into Benjamin's Sack, and thereupon to threaten to make him a Bondſlave, for a pretended Felony: But herein was Joſeph's great Policy and Nicety of Judgment. He himſelf had been ſeverely treated by the reſt, when he was young, and therefore was minded to make an Experiment, in what Manner they would now behave towards their Brother; whether they would forſake him in his Diſtreſs, and give him up to be a Bondſlave, as they had ſold him for one; or whether they would ſtand by him in all Events, make Interceſſion for his Releaſe, or adventure to ſhare his Fate.

This, perhaps, may be thought a carrying the Matter a little too far: But, without this Conduct, Joſeph could not have known, whether his Brethren rightly deſerv'd the Favour and Protection, which he might then deſign, and afterwards granted them. Without this Conduct we had not perhaps had the moſt lively Images, that are to be met with in Scripture, of injur'd Innocence, of Meekneſs and Forbearance, and the Triumphs of a good Conſcience, in him; and of the Fears and Terrors, the Convictions and Self-condemnations of long-concealed Guilt in them. Without this Conduct we had not had the lovely Portraiture of paternal Tenderneſs, as well as brotherly Affection; we had never had thoſe ſolemn, ſad, and melting Words of Jacob, If I am bereaved of my Children, I am bereaved, enough to pierce a tender Parent's Heart; or thoſe others, Joſeph is alive, I will ſee him before I die, enough to raiſe it into Joy and Exultation again. In a Word, without this Conduct, we had never had that courteous, that moving, that pleaſingly mournful Speech, wherein Moſes makes Judah addreſs Joſeph, in Behalf of his poor Brother Benjamin, which exceeds all the Compoſitions of human Invention, and flows indeed from ſuch natural Paſſions, as Art can never imitate. So that, upon a Review of his whole Conduct, Joſeph is ſo far from deſerving Blame, that all this ſeeming Rigour and Imperiouſneſs of his, did eventually produce a great deal of Good; and was, in reality, no more, than the heightening the Diſtreſs, or thickening the Plot (as we call it in a Play) to make the Diſcovery, or future Felicity, he intended his Family, more conſpicuous and agreeable.

CHAP. XLV.

Joſeph makes himſelf known to his Brethren; they are troubled at his Preſence; he comforts them, and aſcribes his being ſold into Egypt to the Providence of God. His dutiful Meſſage to his Father, and Kindneſs to his Brethren, eſpecially to Benjamin. Pharaoh hears of the News, is pleas'd, and orders Joſeph to ſend for his Father, and his Family into Egypt. Joſeph diſmiſſes his Brethren; their Arrival in Canaan; they acquaint their Father with all that had befel them; he hardly believes them, but at length believes them, and reſolves to go and ſee Joſeph before he dies.

Ver. 1. THEN Joſeph could not refrain himſelf before all them that ſtood by him; and he cried, Cauſe every man to go out from me: and there ſtood no man with him, while Joſeph made himſelf known unto his brethren. 2 And he wept aloud: and the Egyptians and the houſe of Pharaoh heard. 3 And Joſeph ſaid unto his brethren, I am Joſeph; Doth my father yet live? and his brethren could not anſwer him: for they were troubled at his preſence. 4 And Joſeph ſaid unto his brethren, Come near to me, I pray you; and they came near: and he ſaid, I am Joſeph your brother, whom ye ſold into Egypt. 5 Now therefore be not grieved, nor angry with yourſelves, that ye ſold me hither: for God did ſend me before you, to preſerve life. 6 For theſe two years hath the famine been in the land: and yet there are five years, in the which there ſhall neither be earing nor harveſt. 7 And God ſent me before you, to preſerve you a poſterity in the earth, and to ſave your lives by a great deliverance. 8 So now it was not you that ſent me hither, but God: and he hath made me a father to Pharaoh, and lord of all his houſe, and a ruler throughout all the land of Egypt. 9 Haſte you, and go up to my father, and ſay unto him, Thus ſaith thy ſon Joſeph, God hath made me lord of all Egypt; come down unto me, tarry not. 10 And thou ſhalt dwell in the land of Goſhen, and thou ſhalt be near unto me, thou, and thy children, and thy childrens children, and thy flocks, and thy herds, and all that thou haſt. 11 And there will I nouriſh thee (for yet there are five years of famine;) leſt thou, and thy houſhold, and all that thou haſt, come to poverty. 12 And behold, your eyes ſee, and the eyes of my brother Benjamin, that it is my mouth that ſpeaketh unto you. 13 And you ſhall tell my father of all my glory in Egypt, and of all that you have ſeen; and ye ſhall haſte, and bring down my father hither. 14 And he fell upon his brother Benjamins neck, and wept; and Benjamin wept upon his neck. 15 Moreover he kiſſed all his brethren, and wept upon them: and after that his brethren talked with him. 16 And the fame thereof was heard in Pharaohs houſe, ſaying, Joſephs brethren are come: and it pleaſed Pharaoh well, and his ſervants. 17 And Pharaoh ſaid unto Joſeph, Say unto thy brethren, This do ye; lade your beaſts, and go, get you unto the land of Canaan. 18 And take your father, and your houſholds, and come unto me: and I will give you the good of the land of Egypt, and ye ſhall eat the fat of the land. 19 Now thou art commanded, this do ye; take you waggons out of the land of Egypt for your little ones, and for your wives, and bring your father, and come. 20 Alſo regard not your ſtuff:

ſtuff: for the good of all the land of Egypt is yours. 21 And the children of Iſrael did ſo: and Joſeph gave them waggons, according to the commandment of Pharaoh, and gave them proviſion for the way. 22 To all of them he gave each man changes of raiment: but to Benjamin he gave three hundred pieces of ſilver, and five changes of raiment. 23 And to his father he ſent after this manner; ten aſſes laden with the good things of Egypt, and ten ſhe-aſſes laden with corn and bread and meat for his father by the way. 24 So he ſent his brethren away, and they departed: and he ſaid unto them, See that ye fall not out by the way. 25 And they went up out of Egypt and came into the land of Canaan unto Jacob their father, 26 And told him, ſaying, Joſeph is yet alive, and he is governor over all the land of Egypt. And Jacobs heart fainted, for he believed them not. 27 And they told him all the words of Joſeph, which he had ſaid unto them: and when he ſaw the waggons which Joſeph had ſent to carry him, the ſpirit of Jacob their father revived. 28 And Iſrael ſaid, It is enough; Joſeph my ſon is yet alive: I will go and ſee him before I die.

And thou ſhalt dwell in Goſhen] From hence it is manifeſt, that the Land of Goſhen lay but at an inconſiderable Diſtance from the Place where Joſeph dwelt, and conſequently from Pharaoh's Court, wherein Joſeph reſided conſtantly, as is apparent from the whole Current of the Hiſtory. Its exact Situation we ſhall ſpeedily have Occaſion to delineate; and therefore it is unneceſſary to ſay more of it at preſent, than that it lay on the Borders of Canaan, and was the Province of Egypt, into which Jacob entered on his going down thither.

To all of them he gave each Man Changes of Raiment] This Kind of Preſent is ſtill cuſtomary in the Eaſt. The Inhabitants of Canaan and Egypt looked on a Multitude of Garments as the chief Part of their Riches; and Joſeph, beſides his expreſſing his Affection to his Brethren by this Gift, ſent it as a Teſtimony alſo unto Jacob of his being alive, in Power, and in good Terms with his Brothers; Circumſtances neceſſary to engage an old Man, like Iſrael, to take ſo long a Journey into a ſtrange Country, where he had never been before.

But to Benjamin he gave three hundred Pieces of Silver, and five Changes of Raiment] The Jewiſh Commentators have diſcovered many Myſteries in this Sum, which are not worth repeating; the plain Matter of Fact is, that Joſeph, as a Mark of his Favour to Benjamin, preſented him with three hundred Shekels of Silver, or the Value of 34 l. 4 s. 4 d. ½ in our Money; ſo that this as well as the five Changes of Raiment, was to diſtinguiſh Joſeph's Affection for him over the reſt.

See that you fall not out by the Way] Joſeph was very well acquainted with the obſtreperous Tempers of ſome of them; and foreſeeing that they would commune together on what had paſſed, he was ſollicitous for the Safety of Benjamin; therefore he prudently warned them againſt Diſputes, which growing warm by Degrees, might be attended with evil Conſequences, and diſappoint all the Good he deſign'd them. Some Commentators have given this another Senſe; but it does not ſo well agree with the Words of the Text.

And Jacob's Heart fainted] The LXX call this Extaſy; the Vulgar Latin hath it, Jacob, quaſi de gravi ſomno evigilans; i. e. as if awaked out of a deep Sleep; the Rabbins have alſo differed very much as to the Manner in which this Alteration of Jacob's Diſpoſition happened. Some ſay, the Heart ſtopt its Motions, and continued no longer beating. Others take it in quite another Senſe, and ſuppoſe that in the Original no more was intended, than that Jacob did not incline his Mind to credit the Story they told him concerning Joſeph. But the literal and plain Meaning is, That the Surprize which his Sons put him in, though he believed not a Word they ſaid, threw Jacob into a Swoon, which is an Accident very common in ſuch Caſes. All Amaze is a Confuſion in the Spirits, which operates more or leſs, according as they are agitated; which is the Reaſon why Joy and Grief work alike on the Patient, and produce nearly the ſame Effects. Aul. Gellius gives us a remarkable Story to the ſame Purpoſe, viz. 'After the Defeat at Cannæ of the Roman Forces, 'News was brought to an old Woman, that her Son 'was there ſlain among the reſt, and the poor Creature 'was extremely troubled at this ill Adventure, tho' it 'ſeems the Meſſenger was miſtaken, and her Son ſoon 'ſoon after returned ſafe and ſound; but the old Woman no ſooner caſt her Eyes on him, than immediately falling into an exceſſive Agony, through the 'Combat in her Soul, between Joy and Sorrow, ſhe 'yielded up the Ghoſt.' Reaſon will eaſily enough lead us to the Cauſe of this; and therefore it is needleſs here to dwell longer upon it.

The Spirit of Jacob their Father revived] It is evident enough, that in the Original, this Phraſe is uſed, in direct Oppoſition to that which is explained in the former Note. The firſt points out the exceſſive Sorrow which threw Jacob into Faintings, by ſaying his Heart ſtopt, or ceaſed beating. This latter emphatically deſcribes his Recovery from that Sadneſs and Fainting, by ſaying his Heart revived or lived again. In order to conceive perfectly the Energy of ſuch Hebraiſms, we muſt obſerve, that Death is frequently put for grievous Anxiety, and by Life is underſtood, a Chearfulneſs of Soul, and Vivacity of Spirit. But before we part with this Paſſage, it is neceſſary to take Notice, that the Hebrews take this in a quite different Senſe. The Paraphraſe of Onkelos ſays, 'That the Spirit of the Lord returned unto 'Jacob'; and the Targum of Jonathan goes farther, for it is therein ſaid, 'That the Spirit of the Lord, 'which departed from Jacob, from the Time of Joſeph's Loſs, returned unto him again.' The Meaning of theſe Gloſſes, is explained by this Maxim of the Rabbins, 'That the Spirit of God reſideth not in Men 'of melancholy Diſpoſitions.'

CHAP. XLVI.

Jacob ſets out on his Way to Egypt; at Beerſheba offers Sacrifices to God. The Lord appears to him in a Viſion, and encourages him to go down into Egypt; he arrives there. The Number and Names of his Family that went with him into Egypt; his Interview with Joſeph. Joſeph inſtructs his Brothers what to ſay when they come before Pharaoh.

Ver. 1. AND Iſrael took his journey with all that he had, and came to Beerſheba, and offered ſacrifices unto the God of his father Iſaac. 2 And God ſpake unto Iſrael in the viſions of the night, and ſaid, Jacob, Jacob: And he ſaid, Here am I. 3 And he ſaid, I am God, the God of thy father: fear not to go down into Egypt; for I will there make of thee a great nation. 4 I will go down with thee into Egypt; and I will alſo ſurely bring thee up again: and Joſeph ſhall put his hand upon thine eyes. 5 And Jacob roſe up from Beerſheba: and the ſons of Iſrael carried Jacob their father, and their little ones, and their wives, in the waggons which Pharaoh had ſent to carry him. 6 And they took their cattle, and their goods which they had gotten in the land of Canaan, and came into Egypt, Jacob, and all his ſeed with him: 7 His ſons, and his ſons ſons with him, his daughters, and his ſons daughters, and all his ſeed brought he with him into Egypt. 8 And theſe are the names of the children of Iſrael, which came into Egypt, Jacob and his ſons: Reuben Jacob's firſt-born. 9 And the ſons of Reuben; Hanoch and Phallu, and Hezron, and Carmi. 10 And the ſons of Simeon; Jemuel, and Jamin, and Ohad, and Jachin, and Zohar, and Shaul the ſon of a Canaanitiſh woman. 11 And the ſons of Levi; Gerſhon, Kohath, and Merari. 12 And the ſons of Judah; Er, and Onan, and Shelah, and Pharez, and Zerah; but Er and Onan died in the land of Canaan. And the Sons of Pharez, were Hezron and Hamul. 13 And the ſons of Iſſachar; Tola, and Phuvah, and Job, and Shimron. 14 And the ſons of Zebulun; Sered, and Elon, and Jahleel. 15 Theſe be the ſons of Leah, which ſhe bare unto Jacob in Padan-aram, with his daughter Dinah: all the ſouls of his ſons and his daughters were thirty and three. 16 And the ſons of Gad; Ziphion, and Haggai, Shuni, and Ezbon, Eri, and Arodi, and Areli. 17 And the ſons of Aſher; Jimnah, and Iſhua, and Iſui, and Beriah, and Serah, their ſiſter: and the ſons of Beriah; Heber, and Malchiel. 18 Theſe are the ſons of Zilpah, whom Laban gave to Leah his daughter: and theſe ſhe bare unto Jacob, even ſixteen ſouls. 19 The ſons of Rachel Jacobs wife; Joſeph, and Benjamin. 20 And unto Joſeph in the land of Egypt were born Manaſſeh and Ephraim, which Aſenath the daughter of Poti-pherah prieſt of On bare unto him. 21 And the ſons of Benjamin were Belah, and Becher, and Aſhbel, Gera, and Naaman, Ehi, and Roſh, Muppim, and Huppim, and Ard. 22 Theſe are the ſons of Rachel, which were born to Jacob: all the ſouls were fourteen. 23 And the ſons of Dan; Huſhim. 24 And the ſons of Naphtali; Jahzeel, and Guni, and Jezer, and Shillem. 25 Theſe are the ſons of Bilhah, which Laban gave unto Rachel his daughter, and ſhe bare theſe unto Jacob: all the ſouls were ſeven. 26 All the ſouls that came with Jacob into Egypt, which came out of his loyns, beſides Jacobs ſons wives, all the ſouls were threeſcore and ſix; 27 And the ſons of Joſeph which were born him in Egypt, were two ſouls: all the ſouls of the houſe of Jacob which came into Egypt, were threeſcore and ten. 28 And he ſent Judah before him unto Joſeph, to direct his face unto Goſhen; and they came into the land of Goſhen. 29 And Joſeph made ready his chariot, and went up to meet Iſrael his father, to Goſhen; and preſented himſelf unto him: and he fell on his neck, and wept on his neck a good while. 30 And Iſrael ſaid unto Joſeph, now let me die, ſince I have ſeen thy face, becauſe thou art yet alive. 31 And Joſeph ſaid unto his brethren, and unto his fathers houſe, I will go up and ſhew Pharaoh, and ſay unto him, My brethren, and my fathers houſe, which were in the land of Canaan, are come unto me: 32 And the men are ſhepherds, for their trade hath been to feed cattel; and they have brought their flocks and their herds, and all that they have. 33 And it ſhall come to paſs when Pharaoh ſhall call you, and ſhall ſay, What is your occupation? 34 That ye ſhall ſay, Thy ſervants trade hath been about cattel, from our youth, even until now, both we and alſo our fathers: that ye may dwell in the land of Goſhen: for every ſhepherd is an abomination unto the Egyptians.

Fear not to go down into Egypt] It is not unlikely that the good old Man had promiſed himſelf the Comfort of ſpending the Remainder of his Days in the Land which God had been pleaſed to promiſe him; and therefore after ſo much Labour of Life, and Change of Place, when he thought himſelf at the End of his Pilgrimage, and perhaps depended upon the Patriarchal Line being put in Poſſeſſion before his Death, to be obliged to leave his Land, and to go into a foreign one, was not a little diſcouraging; eſpecially if he retain'd in his Mind the melancholy Prediction to his Grandfather, Gen. xv. 13. Know of a Surety, that thy Seed ſhall be a Stranger in a Land that is not theirs, four hundred Years, and ſhall ſerve them. See Bibl. Bib.

And Joſeph ſhall put his Hand upon thine Eyes] There ſeems to be ſomething of a Reaſon in Nature, why ſuch a particular Regard ſhould be had, at Death, to the Eyes, and that is, becauſe they are in Life ſo eminently ſerviceable both to Body and Mind. We cloſe the Eyes of the Dead, becauſe no Part of the Body looks ſo ghaſtly after Death, whereas nothing was ſo ſprightly and beautiful before: And the Reaſon why the neareſt in Blood or Friendſhip ſhould have this Office, is too obvious to need any Explication. Penelope writing to Ulyſſes concerning their Son Telemachus, according to Ovid, has theſe Words:

Dii precor hoc jubeant, ut, euntibus ordine fatis,
Ille meos oculos comprimat, ille tuos.

Thus engliſhed:

O grant, ye Gods, in your appointed Time,
That both our Eyes, at laſt, be clos'd by Him.

And theſe are the Names of the Children of Iſrael which came into Egypt] The whole Account of Jacob's Sons and Grandſons, who went along with him into Egypt, ſtands thus: --- By Leah 32; by Zilpah 16; by Rachel 11; by Bilhah 7: In all 66, excluſive of Jacob himſelf, and of Joſeph, and his two Sons, which make up the 70: And 'twas neceſſary indeed, that theſe Genealogies ſhould be exactly regiſter'd, not only to diſtinguiſh each Tribe, and thereby diſcover the Meſſias, when he came; but (as it is in the Caſe before us) to make it apparent, that the Increaſe of Iſrael, even under Oppreſſion, ſhould bear a fair Proportion to the Promiſe made to Abraham, viz. That his Seed ſhall be even as the Stars of Heaven, and as the Sand upon the Sea-ſhore for Multitude. See Univ. Hiſt. and Bibl. Bib.

All the Souls of the Houſe of Jacob which came into Egypt, were threeſcore and ten] There are are three different Accounts in Scripture of the Number of Jacob's Family, when they came down into Egypt. Here it is ſaid, Ver. 26. that they were threeſcore and ſix: In the very next Verſe, and in Deut. x. 22. it is ſaid, that they were threeſcore and ten; St. Stephen, in Acts vii. 14. tells us expreſly, that they were ſeventy-five. Now in order to reconcile theſe ſeeming Contradictions, we muſt obſerve, that in each Place there is a different Manner of Computation. In the firſt Catalogue Moſes ſpeaks of thoſe Perſons only, who came out of Jacob's Loins, i. e. his Children and Grand-children, that went into Egypt with him; and theſe, excluſive of Jacob himſelf, and Joſeph and his two Sons, who were in Egypt before, were exactly Sixty-ſix: Whereas, including Jacob himſelf, together with Joſeph and his two Sons Ephraim and Manaſſeh, (who, tho' they were in Egypt before, yet, living there as Strangers only, and having their Original from the Land of Canaan, may be reckon'd, as if they had come into Egypt with Jacob) the Number is exactly Seventy. The Difference between Moſes and St. Stephen is a little more difficult to reconcile; and yet, if we ſuppoſe, that St. Stephen follows the firſt Number of Moſes, viz. Sixty-ſix, out of which he excludes Jacob, Joſeph and his two Sons, and to which he adds only nine of his Sons Wives (for Judah's Wife, was already dead, and Benjamin is ſuppoſed to to be ſtill unmarried, and Joſeph's Wife out of the Caſe) theſe nine Wives, I ſay, who, tho' not of Jacob's Blood, yet belong'd to his Family, and to Joſeph's Kindred (which is the very Expreſſion St. Stephen makes uſe of) added to the Number of Sixty-ſix other Perſons will amount exactly to Seventy-five. See Patrick's Com. Univerſ. and Powell's Hiſt.

That ye may dwell in the Land of Goſhen] By the general Conſent of antient Geographers, the Land of Goſhen was ſituate, ſays Pool, in the Eaſtern Part of Egypt between the Red-Sea and the River Nile, upon the Borders of Canaan. It was a fruitful Spot of Ground, very fit for Paſturage, and therefore Joſephus tells us, that Pharaoh's own Cattle were kept there, and accordingly we find him ordering Joſeph to make one of his Brethren Inſpector-General over them. The Country was ſeparate from Egypt: And, for this Reaſon; the Iſraelites inhabiting it, might keep themſelves in a Body, without endangering their Religion or Manners, by intermixing with the Egyptians, and without incurring their Envy or Odium, as they would have done had they liv'd among them, and ſhar'd any Power or Profit in the Government. They came down into Egypt upon a particular Exigency, and were to return again, to take Poſſeſſion of the promis'd Land; and therefore a Country, that lay in a Manner contiguous to it, was the moſt convenient for their Abode, that they might be in Readineſs to remove, whenever God ſhould order them to leave it, which they would not have found ſo eaſy a Thing to do, had they been ſetled in the Heart of Egypt.

For every Shepherd is an Abomination to the Egyptians] The Country of Egypt (as Diodorus tells us) was divided into three Parts, whereof the Prieſts had one, the King a ſecond, and the Soldiery a third: But, under theſe, there were three other Ranks of Men, Shepherds, Huſbandmen, and Artificers. The Huſbandman ſerv'd the King, and the other two Orders, in tilling the Ground, for very ſmall Wages, and ſo did the Shepherds, in their Capacities, for the Egyptians we muſt remember, had Sheep and Oxen, as well as Horſes and Aſſes, which they ſold unto Joſeph in the Time of the Famine. It cannot be thought therefore, that they abominated all Shepherds in general, but only ſuch Shepherds as were Foreigners, and for what Reaſon it was they did this, is not ſo eaſy a Matter to reſolve. Some are of Opinion, that Shepherds were held in Deteſtation, becauſe they were a People in thoſe Days addicted to Robbery, which made them very odious to the Egyptians: But others imagine, that Theft, among the Egyptians, was not reputed ſo abominable a Crime; and therefore they think, that the moſt probable Reaſon of this Averſion to Shepherds, and to the Hebrews, as ſuch, was the great Oppreſſion, and Tyranny, under which they had lately groan'd, when the Phenician Shepherds penetrated Egypt, waſted their Cities, burnt their Temples, murther'd the Inhabitants, and ſeated themſelves, for a conſiderable while, in the Poſſeſſion of it. But, upon whatever Account it was, that the Egyptions had this Averſion to Shepherds, it certainly was an Inſtance of Joſeph's great Modeſty and Love of Truth, that he was not aſham'd of an Employment, ſo mean in itſelf, and ſo vile in the Eyes of the Egyptians. Had he been minded to make the moſt of the Matter, he might have inſtructed his Brothers to have conceal'd their Way, or Buſineſs of Life; or, if he was aware, that they would follow the ſame in Egypt, that they had done in Canaan, he might nevertheleſs have put into their Mouths the high Dignity of their Deſcent, and the wonderful Hiſtory of their Family, viz. that Abraham was their Great-Grandfather, a Prince renown'd for the Defeat of four confederated Monarchs; that Iſaac was their Grandfather, whoſe Amity and Alliance had been courted by Kings; and that Iſrael was their Father, who once gain'd a Victory even over a mighty Prince of the celeſtial Hoſt; all great Men in their Generations, and dignified with the Converſation of God himſelf. This, and a great deal more, had Joſeph been minded to ſerve the Purpoſes of Vanity, he might have ſuggeſted to his Brethren; but, by his open Declaration, we may perceive, that his Pleaſure and Ambition was, that the wonderful Chain of the divine Meaſures and Counſels, in bringing him, from an humble Condition of Life, to ſuch a Sublimity of Power and Figure, might be as conſpicuous as poſſible. See Pool's and Patrick's Com. and Biblioth. Bib.

Ver. 1. THEN Joſeph came and told Pharaoh, and ſaid, My father and my brethren, and their flocks and their herds, and all that they have, are come out of the land of Canaan: and behold, they are in the land of Goſhen. 2 And he took ſome of his brethren, even five men, and preſented them unto Pharaoh. 3 And Pharaoh ſaid unto his brethren, What is your occupation? And they ſaid unto Pharaoh, Thy ſervants are ſhepherds, both we and alſo our fathers. 4 They ſaid moreover unto Pharaoh, For to ſojourn in the land are we come: for thy ſervants have no paſture for their flocks, for the famine is ſore in the land of Canaan: now therefore we pray thee, let thy ſervants dwell in the land of Goſhen. 5 And Pharaoh ſpake unto Joſeph, ſaying, Thy father and thy brethren are come unto thee: 6 The land of Egypt is before thee; in the beſt of the land make thy father and brethren to dwell, in the land of Goſhen let them dwell: and if thou knoweſt any man of activity amongſt them, then make them ruler over my cattel. 7 And Joſeph brought in Jacob his father, and ſet him before Pharaoh: and Jacob bleſſed Pharaoh. 8 And Pharaoh ſaid unto Jacob, How old art thou? 9 And Jacob ſaid unto Pharaoh, The days of the years of my pilgrimage are an hundred and thirty years: few and evil have the days of the years of my life been, and have not attained unto the days of the years of the life of my fathers in the days of their pilgrimage. 10 And Jacob bleſſed Pharaoh, and went out from before Pharaoh. 11 And Joſeph placed his father and his brethren, and gave them a poſſeſſion in the land of Egypt, in the beſt of the land, in the land of Rameſes, as Pharaoh had commanded. 12 And Joſeph nouriſhed his father, and his brethren, and all his fathers houſhold with bread, according to their families.

And Jacob bleſſed Pharaoh] It is not neceſſary to underſtand any more thereby, ſays Pool, than that Jacob ſaluted him with great Reſpect: Accordingly, we find the ſame Verb which is tranſlated to bleſs, is render'd to ſalute, 1 Sam. xiii. 10. And in this Senſe Commentators take the Words above.

And Pharaoh ſaid unto Jacob, How old art thou] Pharaoh's Queſtion to Jacob, and Jacob's Anſwer, we may ſuppoſe, were not all the Diſcourſe that paſs'd between them, them, but only what moſt deſerves to be mention'd, becauſe (as the learned Pererius obſerves) this Anſwer of Jacob's is the very Hinge upon which which the whole Chronology of the Patriarchal Times turns. The ſame excellent Commentator remarks, that, tho' Jacob liv'd ſeventeen Years after this, yet even at laſt he did not attain to the Days of the Years of the Life of his Fathers: ſince his Father Iſaac lived an hundred and fourſcore Years, and his Grandfather Abraham to an hundred and ſeventy five.

In the beſt of the Land, in the Land of Rameſes] Rameſes was Part of the Land of Goſhen; and in all Probability, that Part where the Iſraelites afterwards built the City Rameſes for Pharaoh, wherefore it is now called ſo by Anticipation. The Reaſon why Moſes ſpecifies that it was in the Land of Rameſes, is, that the Iſraelites not being now numerous enough to poſſeſs the whole Land of Goſhen, which was given to them, contented themſelves with only a Part of it, and left the reſt to be inhabited by the Egyptians; wherefore, when they multiplied exceedingly, as they did afterwards, they were forced to ſpread their Habitations amongſt the Natives of the Land.

13 And there was no bread in all the land: for the famine was very ſore, ſo that the land of Egypt, and all the land of Canaan fainted by reaſon of the famine. 14 And Joſeph gathered up all the money that was found in the land of Egypt, and in the land of Canaan, for the corn which they bought: and Joſeph brought the money into Pharaohs houſe. 15 And when money failed in the land of Egypt, and in the land of Canaan, all the Egyptians came unto Joſeph, and ſaid, Give us bread: for why ſhould we die in thy preſence? for the money faileth. 16 And Joſeph ſaid, Give your cattel; and I will give you for your cattel, if money fail. 17 And they brought their cattle unto Joſeph: and Joſeph gave them bread in exchange for horſes, and for the flocks, and for the cattel of the herds, and for the aſſes; and he fed them with bread, for all their cattle for that year. 18 When that year was ended, they came unto him the ſecond year, and ſaid unto him, We will not hide it from my lord, how that our money is ſpent, my lord alſo hath our herds of cattel; there is not ought left in the ſight of my lord, but our bodies, and our lands. 19 Wherefore ſhall we die before thy eyes, both we and our land? Buy us and our land for bread, and we and our land will be ſervants unto Pharaoh: and give us ſeed, that we may live and not die, that the land be not deſolate. 20 And Joſeph bought all the land of Egypt for Pharaoh: for the Egyptians ſold every man his field, becauſe the famine prevailed over them: ſo the land became Pharaohs. 21 And as for the people, he removed them to cities from one end of the borders of Egypt, even to the other end thereof. 22 Only the land of the prieſts bought he not: for the prieſts had a portion aſſigned them of Pharaoh, and did eat their portion which Pharaoh gave them; wherefore they ſold not their lands. 23 Then Joſeph ſaid unto the people, Behold, I have bought you this day, and your land for Pharaoh: lo, here is ſeed for you, and ye ſhall ſow the land. 24 And it ſhall come to paſs in the increaſe, that you ſhall give the fifth part unto Pharaoh, and four parts ſhall be your own, for ſeed of the field, and for your food, and for them of your houſholds, and for food for your little ones. 25 And they ſaid, Thou haſt ſaved our lives: let us find grace in the ſight of my lord, and we will be Pharaoh's ſervants. 26 And Joſeph made it a law over the land of Egypt unto this day, that Pharaoh ſhould have the fifth part; except the land of the prieſts only, which became not Pharaohs.

When that Year was ended, they came unto him the ſecond Year] When the Egyptians were drove to this laſt Extremity, in our Tranſlation it is ſaid to be in the ſecond Year; but this, ſays Pool, muſt not be underſtood to be the ſecond Year of the ſeven Years of Famine, but the ſecond after that laſt mentioned, wherein they had ſold their Cattle, which was in Reality the laſt Year of the Famine; becauſe he now gave them Corn for Seed, as well as for Food; whereas, in the firſt Years, there was neither ſowing nor reaping.

Some have accuſed Joſeph of bad Policy, in adviſing the King to take the Advantage of a Famine in order to impoveriſh all his Subjects; except the Prieſts. To this Mr. Stackhouſe anſwers, That as ſoon as Joſeph had foretold the King the long Famine, that was to befal Egypt, he gave him Advice to have the fifth Part of the Produce of the Country laid up in Store againſt the enſuing Want. The tenth Part, (according to the Conſtitution of the Nation) belong'd to the King already, and to adviſe him to purchaſe as much more, for ſeven ſucceeding Years, was to conſider him as the publick Father of his People, for whoſe Support and Welfare he was concern'd to provide. When himſelf was appointed to gather in the Corn, he took Care, no doubt, to have his Granaries in fortified Places, and as the Scarceneſs increaſed, to have them ſecur'd by a Guard of the King's Forces, to prevent Inſurrections and Depredations. When he came to open his Storehouſes, he ſold to the Poor and to the Rich; and was it not highly reaſonable that he, who bought the Corn, ſhould likewiſe ſell it; or, that the Money, which by the King's Commiſſion and Order, had been laid out for ſuch a Stock of Proviſions againſt the approaching Neceſſities of his Subjects, ſhould return to the King's Coffers again, to anſwer his Occaſions? When their Money was gone, they brought him their Cattle; but this they did of their own Accord, without any Compulſion or Circumvention; and might he not as legally exchange Corn for Cattle, as he did it for Money before? His Corn he kept up perhaps at a high Rate; but, had he ſold it cheap, or given it gratis, the People, very likely, would have been profuſe, and wanton in the Conſumption of it; whereas his great Care and Concern was, to make it hold out the whole Time of the Famine. He oblig'd the Inhabitants of one City and Diſtrict to remove, or make Room for thoſe of another; but this he might do, not ſo much to ſhew their Subjection to Pharaoh, as to ſecure the publick Peace, by diſabling them, in this Way, from entering into any ſeditious Meaſures and Combinations.

It cannot be imagin'd indeed, but that in a Time of ſuch general Want and Calamity, Mens Minds would be ripe for Rapine, Violence, and Mutiny; and yet we meet with no Commotion, during the whole Period of this critical Miniſtry; which beſpeaks the Skill of the Mariner, when he is found able to ſteer ſteady in the midſt of ſo tumultuous a Sea. In fine, after he had a long while executed his high Truſt, and the Years of Famine were come to a Concluſion, he gave the People back their Liberties and Eſtates, reſerving to the King no more, than a double Tenth out of the Produce of their Lands, as a Tribute of their Vaſſalage; which, conſidering the Richneſs of the Soil, and the little Pains required in cultivating it, was an Impoſition, far from being burthenſome to the Subject, or vaſtly diſproportionate to the Benefit they had receiv'd.

Why Pharaoh, when he thought fit to leſſen the Property of his common Subjects, did not, at the ſame Time, attempt to reduce the exorbitant Riches of the Prieſts, we may, in ſome Meaſure, account for, if we conſider, that, according to the Conſtitution of the Kingdom, Kingdom, the Egyptian Prieſts were oblig'd to provide all Sacrifices, and to bear all the Charges of the national Religion, which in thoſe days, was not a little expenſive; ſo very expenſive, that we find, in Countries where the Soil was not fruitful, and conſequently the People poor, Men did not well know how to bear the Burden of Religion; and therefore Lycurgus, when he reform'd the Lacedemonian State, inſtituted Sacrifices, the meaneſt and cheapeſt that he could think of. But Egypt, we know, was a rich and fertile Country, and therefore, in all Probability, the King and People being deſirous that Religion ſhould appear with a ſuitable Splendor, made Settlements upon the Prieſts from the firſt Inſtitution of Government among them, anſwerable to the Charges of their Function. Add to this, that the Prieſts of Egypt were the whole Body of the Nobility of the Land; that they were the King's Counſellors and Aſſiſtants, in all the Affairs which concern'd the Publick; were joint Agents with him in ſome Things, and, in others, his Directors and Inſtructors. Add again, that they were the Profeſſors and Cultivators of Aſtronomy, Geometry, and other uſeful Sciences; that they were the Keepers of the publick Regiſters, Memoirs, and Chronicles of the Kingdom; and, in a Word, that, under the King, they were the ſupreme Magiſtrates, and fill'd all prime Offices of Honour and Truſt. And, conſidering them under theſe Views, we may poſſibly allow, that Pharaoh might think, that they had not too much to ſupport the Station they were to act in, and, for that Reaſon, order'd that no Tax ſhould be rais'd upon them.

27 And Iſrael dwelt in the land of Egypt in the country of Goſhen; and they had poſſeſſions therein, and grew, and multiplied exceedingly. 28 And Jacob lived in the land of Egypt ſeventeen years: ſo the whole age of Jacob was an hundred forty and ſeven years. 29 And the time drew nigh that Iſrael muſt die: and he called his ſon Joſeph, and ſaid unto him, If now I have found grace in thy ſight, put, I pray thee, thy hand under my thigh, and deal kindly and truly with me; bury me not, I pray thee, in Egypt. 30 But I will lie with my fathers, and thou ſhalt carry me out of Egypt, and bury me in their burying-place. And he ſaid, I will do as thou haſt ſaid, 31 And he ſaid, Swear unto me: And he ſware unto him. And Iſrael bowed himſelf upon the beds head.

Bury me not, I pray thee, in Egypt; but I will lie with my Fathers] Tho' there be ſomething of a natural Deſire in moſt Men to be buried in the Places where their Anceſtors lie; yet Jacob's Averſion to have his Remains depoſited in Egypt ſeems to be more earneſt than ordinary, or otherwiſe he would never have impos'd an Oath on his Sons, and charg'd them all with his dying Breath, not to ſuffer it to be done. For he very well knew, that had his Body been buried in Egypt, his Poſterity, upon that very Account, would have been too much wedded to the Country, ever to attempt the Acquiſition of the promis'd Land; and therefore, to wean them from the Thoughts of continuing in Egypt, and to fix their Minds and Affections on Canaan, he order'd his Body to be carrried thither beforehand, in Teſtimony that he died in full Perſuaſion of the Truth of the Promiſes which were given to him and his Anceſtors: Nor was it inconvenient, that future Generations, after their Return into Canaan, ſhould have before their Eyes the Sepulcher of their Fore-fathers, for a Record of their Virtues, and an Incitement to the Imitation of them. But the ſtrongeſt Motive of all for Jacob's deſiring to be buried in Canaan (ſuppoſing that he fore-knew that our Saviour Chriſt was to live and die, and, with ſome others, riſe again in that Country) was, that he might be one of that bleſſed Number; as it was indeed an antient Tradition in the Church, that among thoſe who came out of their Graves after our Lord's Reſurrection, Matt. xxvii. 53. the Patriarch Jacob wa one. See Pool's Ann. and Bibl. Bib.

And Iſrael bowed himſelf upon the Beds-head] Theſe are the Words in our Tranſlation; where ſome Expoſitors, preſuming that his Bowing was a religious Action, will by no Means, have it directed to Joſeph, but to God only, for the Aſſurance which Joſeph had given him, that he ſhould be buried according to his Deſire. But if the Word muſt be tranſlated bowed, there is no Neceſſity to make it an Act of Adoration, but only a common Form of Civility, wherewith a Father might comply, without any Diminution to his Superiority over his Son. What led theſe Expoſitors into this Conception, was the Verſion of the Septuagint, and the Words of the Apoſtle to the Hebrews, where Jacob is ſaid (in Alluſion, as they ſuppoſe, to this Paſſage) to have worſhipped on the Top of his Staff, Heb. xi. 21. But the plain Truth is, that the Apoſtle here ſpeaks of another Thing; not of what Jacob did now, when Joſeph ſwore unto him, but of what he did, when he bleſs'd his other Children. In the former Caſe, he ſeems to have kept his Bed; but, in the latter, to have receiv'd freſh Spirits, and ſat upon it, tho' leaning perhaps upon his Staff. So that the Apoſtle's Words were not taken from theſe of Moſes, but are a Reflection of his own, whereby he ſignifies the Strength of Jacob's Faith, even when he was ſo weak, as not to be able to bow himſelf, and worſhip without the Help of his Staff. This clearly removes the Difficulty, and reconciles Moſes, and the Apoſtle very perfectly; but there ſeems to be a more compendious Way of doing this. For ſince the Word Schacah, which ſignifies to bow the Body, may in like Manner, be render'd to lie, or fall down, the moſt eaſy Tranſlation ſeems to be, he laid himſelf down upon his Pillow, as weak Men are wont to do, after they have ſet up a while to diſpatch ſome Buſineſs. CHAP. XLVIII.

Joſeph with his Sons viſit his Father. Jacob ſtrengthens himſelf, and recounts to him God's Promiſes; adopts his two Sons Ephraim and Manaſſeh; bleſſes them; and foretels the Return of the Iſraelites to the Land of Canaan, and gives Joſeph a double Portion.

Ver. 1. AND it came to paſs after theſe things, that one told Joſeph, Behold, thy father is ſick: and he took with him his two ſons Manaſſeh and Ephraim. 2 And one told Jacob, and ſaid, Behold, thy ſon Joſeph cometh unto thee: and Iſrael ſtrengthened himſelf, and ſat upon the bed. 3 And Jacob ſaid unto Joſeph, God Almighty appeared unto me at Luz in the land of Canaan, and bleſſed me. 4 And ſaid unto me, Behold, I will make thee fruitful, and multiply thee, and I will make of thee a multitude of people, and will give this land to thy ſeed after thee, for an everlaſting poſſeſſion. 5 And now thy two ſons, Ephraim and Manaſſeh, which were born unto thee in the land of Egypt, before I came unto thee into Egypt, are mine: as Reuben and Simeon they ſhall be mine. 6 And thy iſſue which thou begetteſt after them, ſhall be thine, and ſhall be called after the name of their brethren in their inheritance. 7 And as for me, when I came from Padan, Rachel died by me in the land of Canaan, in the way, went yet there was but a little way to come unto Ephrath: and I buried her there in the way of Ephrath, the ſame is Beth-lehem. 8 And Iſrael beheld Joſephs ſons, and ſaid, Who are theſe? 9 And Joſeph ſaid unto his father, They are my ſons, whom God hath given me in this place: And he ſaid, Bring them, I pray thee, unto me, and I will bleſs them. (10 Now the eyes of Iſrael were dim for age, ſo that he could not ſee:) and he brought them near unto him; and he kiſſed them, and embraced them. 11 And Iſrael ſaid unto Joſeph, I had not thought to ſee thy face: and lo, God hath ſhewed me alſo thy ſeed. 12 And Joſeph brought them out from between his knees, and he bowed himſelf with his face to the earth. 13 And Joſeph took them both, Ephraim in his right hand towards Iſraels left hand, and Manaſſeh in his left hand towards Iſraels right hand, and brought them near unto him. 14 And Iſrael ſtretched out his right hand, and laid it upon Ephraims head, who was the younger, and his left hand upon Manaſſehs head: guiding his hands wittingly; for Manaſſeh was the firſt-born. 15 And he bleſſed Joſeph, and ſaid, God, before whom my fathers Abraham and Iſaac did walk, the God which fed me all my life long unto this day, 16 The angel which redeemed me from all evil, bleſs the lads; and let my name be named on them, and the name of my fathers Abraham, and Iſaac: and let them grow into a multitude in the midſt of the earth. 17 And when Joſeph ſaw that his father laid his right hand on the head of Ephraim, it diſpleaſed him: and he held up his fathers hand, to remove it from Ephraims head, unto Manaſſehs head. 18 And Joſeph ſaid unto his father, Not ſo my father: for this is the firſt-born; put thy right hand upon his head. 19 And his father refuſed, and ſaid, I know it, my ſon, I know it; he alſo ſhall become a people, and he alſo ſhall be great: but truly his younger brother ſhall be greater than he, and his ſeed ſhall become a multitude of nations. 20 And he bleſſed them that day, ſaying, In thee ſhall Iſrael bleſs, ſaying, God make thee as Ephraim, and as Manaſſeh: and he ſet Ephraim before Manaſſeh. 21 And Iſrael ſaid unto Joſeph, Behold, I die; but God ſhall be with you, and bring you again unto the land of your fathers. 22 Moreover, I have given to thee one portion above thy brethren, which I took out of the hand of the Amorite with my ſword and with my bow.

Rachel died by me in the Land of Canaan, when yet there was but a little Way to come unto Ephrath; and I buried her there by the Way of Ephrath] Since Jacob had ſo ſtrictly inſiſted on his being buried with his Father, and bound Joſeph with an Oath to ſee it done, it was proper for him to explain and clear himſelf, as to what might be ſecretly objected to his not interring Rachel, (Jacob's own, and beſt beloved Conſort) in that Burying-place, where he ſo earneſtly deſired to lie himſelf; and for his Excuſe in this Requeſt, he had two Things to offer; 1*ſt*, That he was then upon his Journey, and in his Return from Padan; and, 2*dly*, That he had erected a Monumental Pillar upon her Grave, in a very publick and frequented Place: To which a Right Reverend Commentator has added a further Apology; — That, as ſhe died in Child-bed, and Jacob, in his Travels, might not have all Things neceſſary to preſerve her Body, he was conſtrain'd to bury her ſooner perhaps than otherwiſe he would have done. See Patrick's Com. and Bibl. Bib.

And Joſeph took them both, Ephraim in his right Hand, towards Iſrael's left Hand, and Manaſſeh in his left Hand, toward Iſrael's right Hand, and brought them near unto him] The Meaning of this Ceremony was, ſays Pool, that as the Patriarchs were inveſted by God with a Power of conferring a Bleſſing upon their Children, to which the Lord always gave a Sanction, ſo on whomſoever the right Hand was laid, that Perſon obtained the beſt Bleſſing; Joſeph was deſirous therefore, of obtaining the beſt Bleſſing for his eldeſt Son.

Moreover I have given to thee one Portion above thy Brethren which I took out of the Hand of the Amorite with my Sword and with my Bow] Commentators are very much divided about the Meaning of this; and nothing can be offered upon this Head but mere Conjectures; the moſt probable of which, we think, ſays Pool, is, that the Sons of Jacob having ſubdued the City of Sechem, their Father, tho' he highly diſapproved of their inhuman Cruelty, might defend it againſt the Attempts of the Amorites; who being the moſt powerful Nation in thoſe Parts, might endeavour to take it from him.

CHAP. XLIX.

Jacob ſummons his Sons together, bleſſes them, and propheſies of their future Allotments in the Land of their Inheritance; gives them a Charge concerning his Burial, and dies.

Ver. 1. AND Jacob called unto his ſons, and ſaid, Gather yourſelves together, that I may tell you that which ſhall befall you in the laſt days. 2 Gather yourſelves together, and hear ye ſons of Jacob; and hearken unto Iſrael your father. 3 Reuben, thou art my firſt-born, my might, and the beginning of my ſtrength, the excellency of dignity, and the excellency of power. 4 Unſtable as water, thou ſhalt not excel, becauſe thou wenteſt up to thy fathers bed: then defiledſt thou it; he went up to my couch. 5 Simeon and Levi are brethren: inſtruments of cruelty are in their habitations. 6 O my ſoul, come not thou into their ſecret; unto their aſſembly, mine honour, be not thou united: for in their anger they ſlew a man, and in their ſelf-will they digged down a wall. 7 Curſed be their anger, for it was fierce; and their wrath, for it was cruel: I will divide them in Jacob, and ſcatter them in Iſrael. 8 Judah, thou art he whom thy brethren ſhall praiſe; thy hand ſhall be in the neck of thine enemies: thy fathers children ſhall bow down before thee. 9 Judah is a lions whelp; from the prey, my ſon, thou art gone up: he ſtooped down, he couched as a lion, and as an old lion; who ſhall rouſe him up? 10 The ſcepter ſhall not depart from Judah, nor a law-giver from between his feet, until Shiloh come, and unto him ſhall the gathering of the people be. 11 Binding his fole unto the vine, and his aſſes colt unto the choice vine; he waſhed his garments in wine, and his cloaths in the blood of grapes. 12 His eyes ſhall be red with wine, and his teeth white with milk. 13 Zebulun ſhall dwell at the haven of the ſea: and he ſhall be for an haven of ſhips; and his border ſhall be unto Zidon. 14 Iſſachar is a ſtrong aſs, couching down between two burdens. 15 And he ſaw that reſt was good, and the land that it was pleaſant; and bowed his ſhoulder to bear, and became a ſervant unto tribute. 16 Dan ſhall judge his people, as one of the tribes of Iſrael. 17 Dan ſhall be a ſerpent by the way, an adder in the path; that biteth the horſe-heels, ſo that his rider ſhall fall backward. 18 I have waited for thy ſalvation, O Lord. 19 Gad, a troop ſhall overcome him: but he ſhall overcome at the the laſt. 20 Out of Aſher his bread ſhall be fat, and he ſhall yield royal dainties. 21 Naphtali is a hind let looſe: he giveth goodly words. 22 Joſeph is a fruitful bough, even a fruitful bough by a well; whoſe branches run over the wall. 23 The archers have ſorely grieved him, and ſhot at him, and hated him. 24 But his bow abode in ſtrength, and the arms of his hands were made ſtrong, by the hands of the mighty God of Jacob: from thence is the ſhepherd, the ſtone of Iſrael. 25 Even by the God of thy father who ſhall help thee, and by the Almighty, who ſhall bleſs thee with bleſſings of heaven above, bleſſings of the deep that lieth under, bleſſings of the breaſts, and of the womb. 26 The bleſſings of thy father have prevailed above the bleſſings of my progenitors, unto the utmoſt bound of the everlaſting hills; they ſhall be on the head of Joſeph, and on the crown of the head of him that was ſeparate from his brethren. 27 Benjamin ſhall ravin as a wolf: in the morning he ſhall devour the prey, and at night he ſhall divide the ſpoil. 28 All theſe are the twelve tribes of Iſrael: and this is it that their father ſpake unto them, and bleſſed them; every one according to his bleſſing he bleſſed them. 29 And he charged them and ſaid unto them, I am to be gathered unto my people: bury me with my fathers, in the cave that is in the field of Ephron the Hittite, 30 In the cave that is in the field of Machpelah, which is before Mamre, in the land of Canaan, which Abraham bought with the field of Ephron the Hittite, for a poſſeſſion of a burying-place. 31 (There they buried Abraham and Sarah his wife, there they buried Iſaac and Rebekah his wife, and there I buried Leah) 32 The purchaſe of the field and of the cave that is therein, was from the children of Heth. 33 And when Jacob had made an end of commanding his ſons, he gathered up his feet into the bed, and yielded up the ghoſt, and was gathered unto his people.

Thou ſhalt not excel, becauſe thou wenteſt up to thy Father's Bed] The Prerogatives of the Birthright, ſays Howell, conſiſted chiefly, in the Honour of the Prieſthood, in the Rule and Government of the Family, and in a double Portion of the Inheritance, which, at this Time, were all taken away from Reuben, and divided ſeverally; ſince it appears in the Sequel of the Hiſtory, that the Tribe of Reuben continued all along in Obſcurity, while the Prieſthood was conferred on Levi, the Government on Judah, and the double Portion on Joſeph, to deſcend to their reſpective Tribes.

I will divide them in Jacob, and ſcatter them in Iſrael] Jacob's Words, in this Place, may imply a double Diſperſion, viz. of the two Tribes from each other; and of their being interſpers'd among the reſt: And, accordingly, that of Levi had no Inheritance among his Brethren, in the Land of Canaan, but only a certain Number of Cities aſſigned to them in every Tribe. And, as for that of Simeon, they had properly no more than a Portion of Judah's Inheritance, Joſh. xix. 1. if we except ſome few Places, which they got upon Mount Seir, and in the Wilds of the Valley of Gedor, 1 Chron. vi. 39, &c. See Univ. Hiſt.

Binding his Foal unto the Vine, and his Aſs unto the choice Vine; he waſhed his Garments in Wine, and his Cloaths in the Blood of Grapes] Expreſſions which are ſomewhat hyperbolical: (For they imply, that Vines, in this Country, ſhould be as common as Thorns in other Places; and Wine as plentiful as Water) but were in a great Meaſure, anſwer'd in that fertile Land, which fell to the Tribe of Judah's Share. For here was the Valley of Eſcol, a Bunch of whoſe Grapes was brought by the Spies as a Specimen of the Fruitfulneſs of the Land, Numb. xiii. 23. Here was a Brook, or Torrent, of the ſame Name, along whoſe Banks were the moſt delicious Paſture-grounds for Cattle; and, as modern Travellers tell us, here are very large Grapes ſtill to be met with, eſpecially in the Valley of Hebron, which, in all Probability, is that, through which this Torrent runs. See Pool's Ann. Biblioth. Bibl. and Univerſ. Hiſt.

Zebulun ſhall dwell at the Haven of the Sea] Had Jacob been preſent at the Diviſion of the Land of Canaan, he could hardly have given a more exact Deſcription of Zebulun's Lot, than we find him doing 250 Years before it happen'd. For it extended to the Mediterranean Sea on the Weſt, to the Lake of Genezareth on the Eaſt, and lay therefore very commodiouſly for Trade and Navigation. The foretelling ſo preciſely and diſtinctly the Situation and Employment of this Tribe, tho', at firſt Appearance, it may ſeem a Matter of no great Moment, yet will be found to be quite otherwiſe, when it is conſider'd, that ſuch Particulars as theſe cou'd not but be very convincing to the Iſraelites, that it was not Chance, nor Power, nor Policy, that put them in Poſſeſſion of the Land of Canaan, but God's Right Hand, and his Arm, and the Light of his Countenance, becauſe he had a Favour unto them.

Iſſachar is a ſtrong Aſs, couching down between two Burdens] No leſs remarkable is the Deſcription of Iſſachar's Tribe, ſince, they were a very laborious People in all rural Employments, yet they had no great Inclination to War; and were therefore frequently infeſted, and ſubjected by Strangers, eſpecially in the Time of the Judges.

Dan ſhall be a Serpent by the Way] The Jews think, that the Prophecy of Dan's deſtroying his Enemies by Craft, was more particularly fulfill'd, when Samſon, who was of that Tribe, pull'd down the Temple, which cruſh'd himſelf and Philiſtines to Death.

Gad, a Troop ſhall overcome him; but he ſhall overcome at the laſt] Gad's Lot happened on the other Side of Jordan, where they were continually expos'd to the Incurſions of the bordering Arabs; but, by their Watchfulneſs and Bravery, they not only prevented them, but ſeveral Times caught and plunder'd them in their Turns, inſomuch that in one Battle, they took from them 50,000 Camels, 250,000 Sheep, beſides an 100,000 Men Priſoners, Deut. xxxiii. 20, &c.

Naphtali is a Hind let looſe; he giveth goodly Words] Theſe Words are very obſcure, and ſcarce intelligible. For, tho' the former Part of the Prediction is commonly applied to Barak's overcoming Siſera, and the latter to that noble Canticle, which Deborah made upon that Occaſion; yet the Expoſition, which the learned Bochart gives us of this Paſſage, He ſhall be like a Tree, which ſhooteth out pleaſant Branches, is both more agreeable to the Original, and more anſwerable to the Event; ſince no Tribe multiplied ſo wonderfully, as this of Naphtali, who had but four Sons, when he came into Egypt, and yet could muſter upwards of 53,000 Men fit to bear Arms, when he came out of it, i. e. in leſs than 220 Years. See Eſſay towards a new Tranſlation.

From thence is the Shepherd, the Stone of Iſrael] In Joſeph's Benediction, are two remarkable Titles: A Shepherd, which ſeems to be a thankful Recognition of Joſeph's Kindneſs to his Father and Family, in keeping, and feeding them, even as a Shepherd does his Sheep; by which Means he became the Stone of Iſrael, the Foundation, or Baſis, of the Houſe of Jacob, by preſerving them from periſhing by Famine, and continuing them ſetled in the beſt Part of the Egyptian Kingdom, for a conſiderable Time. Tho' ſome refer it rather to his virtuous reſiſting the Temptations of his Miſtreſs, and patiently enduring his Maſter's Severity, to both of which he remain'd as immoveable as a Stone. 2*dly*, The other Title is, that he was ſeparate from his Brethren: Where, tho' the Word nazir ſignifies to ſeparate (as Joſeph was certainly ſeparate from his his Brethren, when he was ſold into Egypt) yet, as it is hardly ſuppoſable, that Jacob would couch ſo cruel an Action into ſo ſoft a Term, 'tis rather to be thought, that he us'd the Word Nazir, which ſignifies crown'd, in Alluſion to the Superintendants of the King's Houſhold, in all the Eaſtern Countries, who were call'd Nazirs, and wore probably ſome Kind of Diadem about their Heads by way of Diſtinction and Grandeur. And, as for the Fruitfulneſs promis'd to Joſeph, this was exemplified in the large Extent of his twofold Tribe, Ephraim and Manaſſeh, which at their firſt numbering yielded 72,700, Numb. i. and at their Second, 85,200 Men, all able to go out to War, Numb. xxvi.

Benjamin ſhall raven as a Wolf] How brave and warlike a Body of Men, and how very expert in Feats of Arms, this Tribe became, we may conceive from what we are told of them, viz. that there were ſeven hundred choſen Men among them, left-handed, every one of whom could ſling Stones at an Hair's Breadth, and not miſs, Judg. xx. 16. And how pertinacious they were in Undertakings of this Kind, is manifeſt, both from the fierce Battles, which they fought againſt all the other Tribes, (tho' in a very bad Cauſe, Judg. xix.) wherein they twice came off Conquerors; and from the long Oppoſition, which the Houſe of Saul, deſcended from this Tribe, made againſt the Acceſſion of David to the Throne, and which could not be ſuppreſs'd, until Abner, the General of their Forces, had forſook them.

Beſides theſe Prophecies of Jacob, which were ſufficiently verified by their Events, the Jews aſcribe ſome other Works to him, viz. a Treatiſe entitled, The Ladder to Heaven, and another called Jacob's Teſtament, which Pope Gelaſius reckons among the Apocrypha; together with ſome Forms of Prayer, which the Jews uſe every Night, and pretend that they were compos'd by him. As to the Commendations, which they ſo plentifully beſtow upon this Patriarch, theſe are, in a great Meaſure, juſtified by the Character, which the Author of Eccleſiaſticus gives him, Ch. xliv. 23. And, as the Mahometans allow him not only to be a Prophet, but the Father likewiſe of all the Prophets, except Job, Jethro, and Mahomet; ſo they believe, that the Royal Dignity did not depart from his Poſterity, until the Times of John the Baptiſt, and Jeſus Chriſt; and that from him the twelve Tribes of the Jews did ſpring, even as their own Twelve did from Iſhmael. See Calmet's Dict.

Before we leave the Prophecies and Benedictions of Jacob, it may be proper to give ſome Explanation of that famous Prediction of his, that the Sceptre ſhould not depart from Judah, until Shiloh come, ſince, ſay ſome, the Jews had loſt all Government of their own, and were ſubject to other Nations, long before the Meſſias came.

In order to give this difficult Paſſage a clear Solution, it may not be improper, ſays Stackhouſe, to cite the Words, and then to explain the Terms, contain'd in it: The Sceptre ſhall not depart from Judah, nor a Lawgiver from between his Feet, until Shiloh come, and unto him ſhall the Gathering of the People be.

1. The Word Shevet, which we render Sceptre, has both a literal, and figurative Signification. In its literal, it denotes a Rod, a Wand, a Sceptre, a Shepherd's Crook, &c. and in its figurative, it either implies the Correction and Puniſhment, whereof the Rod, or the Authority and Power, whereof the Sceptre, is the Enſign. It cannot be doubted, I think, but that the Word is to be taken in a figurative Senſe here; and yet it cannot be ſuppos'd to ſignify Puniſhment, becauſe the Tribe of Judah was ſo far from being in a State of Affliction, that it always flouriſh'd exceedingly, and, even in the Time of its Captivity, enjoy'd its own Form of Government. The Word muſt therefore, in this Place, be put for that Power and Dominion, whereof the Sceptre, in antient Times, was thought a fitter Repreſentation, than either the Crown or Diadem.

2. The Word Mechokek, which we tranſlate Lawgiver, is not ſynonimous with the former, but has two diſtinct Significations. It ſometimes ſignifies, not a Perſon who has Power to make Laws himſelf, but only to teach and inſtruct others in thoſe Laws that are already made: And, in this Senſe, it differs very little from the Scribes, and Doctors, and Teachers of the Law, whereof there is ſo much Mention made in our Saviour's Days. At other Times it denotes a Perſon inveſted with Power and Authority even to make Laws, but then this Authority of his is inferior to that of a King; ſo that properly he may be call'd an inferior Magiſtrate, or Governor, ſet over a People, by the Licence of ſome Monarch, and, by his Commiſſion, appointed to be ruled: And in this Senſe the Word ſhould rather be taken here, becauſe there were ſuch Governors and Deputies ſet over the Jews, after their Return from the Babyloniſh Captivity.

3. The Phraſe, which we render between his Feet, (according to the Modeſty of the Scripture Expreſſion) means nothing elſe, but, of his Seed, or Poſterity; and ſo the Intendment of this Part of the Prediction muſt be, that the Tribe of Judah ſhould have Lawgivers of their own till the very laſt Times.

4. From whatever Radix it is, that the Word Shiloh is deriv'd, both Jews and Chriſtians are agreed in this, that, by the Perſon to whom this Title is applied, the Patriarch intended the great Saviour of the World, who is called the Meſſias, or Chriſt.

5. By Judah here, there is not an abſolute Neceſſity to underſtand the People of that Tribe only, but all thoſe likewiſe, who were afterwards call'd Jews. And, 6. Whether we refer the Gathering of the People to the Tribe of Judah (as they did in the Times of the Captivity) or to Shiloh, when he ſhould come, as to the main of the Prophecy, there is not a great deal of Difference; ſince the Main of the Prophecy is, —That the Meſſias ſhould come, before the Jewiſh Government ſhould totally ceaſe. And therefore the Queſtion is, whether there was any Form of Government, ſubſiſting among the Jews, and particularly in the Tribe of Judah, at the Time when Chriſt was born?

The Form of Government which Jacob, upon his Death-bed, inſtituted, was that of dividing his Family into Tribes, and making his own, and the two Sons of Joſeph, Heads over their reſpective Houſes. This Government was properly Ariſtocratical: But, in Times of ſome extraordinary Exigence, all Authority was devolved into the Hands of a Judge, who, when the End, for which he was appointed, was effected, (in the ſame Manner as the Roman Dictator did) reſign'd up his Power, and became no more than one of the Princes of the Tribes of his Fathers.

The Abuſe of this judicial Power however, in the Hands of Samuel's Sons, made the People deſirous of a regal Government; and in that Form it continued from the Time it came into David's Hand, (who was of the Tribe of Judah) for the Space of 470 Years. The Diviſion of the Kingdom made a great Alteration in the Fortunes of the People; for the Aſſyrian Captivity was the Ruin of the Ten Tribes. They loſt their Government, and from that Time never recover'd it; but it was not ſo with the Kingdom of Judah, in the Babyloniſh: For, if we conſider, that the Jews were carried to Babylon, not to be Slaves, but were tranſplanted as a Colony, to people that large City; that they were commanded therefore, by the Prophet, to build Houſes, and plant Gardens, and to ſeek the Peace of the City, in the which they were Captives; and, that upon the Expiration of their 70 Years Captivity, many of them were ſo well ſetled in Eaſe and Plenty, that they refuſed to return to their own Country again. If we conſider farther, that the Jews liv'd at Babylon as a diſtinct People, and were govern'd, in their own Affairs, by their own Elders; that they appointed Feaſts and Faſts, and order'd all other Matters relating to their Civil and Eccleſiaſtical State among themſelves; and that, upon their Return from Babylon, they were thought a People conſiderable enough to be complain'd of to Artaxerxes: We cannot but conclude, that they made all along a Figure, far from comporting with the the Condition of mere Slaves, ſubjected entirely to a forign Yoke, without any Law or Government of their own.

After the Time of this Captivity indeed, the Jews were never ſo free a People as they had been before. They liv'd under the Subjection of the Perſian Monarchs, and under the Empire of the Greeks and Romans, to their laſt Deſtruction; but ſtill they liv'd as a diſtinct People, govern'd by their own Laws; and the Authority of the Perſian, and other Kings, over them, deſtroy'd not that Rule, which, in all the Viciſſitudes that befel them, they ſtill poſſeſs'd.

How the Caſe ſtood in the Time of the Aſmonæan Princes, may be collected from ſeveral Paſſages in the Maccabees: And that the like Government ſubſiſted to the very Death of Chriſt, may, in like Manner, be evinc'd from many Inſtances in the Goſpel; but one or two of theſe will be enough to illuſtrate the Thing.

When our Saviour tells the Jews, John viii. 32, 33. The Truth ſhall make you free, and they reply, We are Abrahams Children, and were never in Bondage to any Man, ſurely they had not forgot their Captivity in Babylon, much leſs could they be ignorant of the Power of the Romans over them at that Time; and yet they accounted themſelves free, and ſo they were, becauſe they liv'd by their own Laws, and executed Judgment among themſelves. When our Saviour foretels his Diſciples, Matt. x. 71. that they ſhould be deliver'd up to Councils, and ſcourg'd in Synagogues, he ſhews at the ſame Time, what Power and Authority were exercis'd in the Councils and Synagogues of the Jews: And (to mention but one Inſtance more) when Pilate (John xix. 6.) willing to deliver Jeſus, ſays to the Jews, Take ye him and crucify him; and again, Take ye him, and judge him according to your own Law, (Ch. xviii. 13.) he likewiſe ſhews, that the Jews liv'd under their own Law, and had the Exerciſe of judicial Authority among themſelves.

By this Deduction it appears evidently, that the Scepter, plac'd in the Hand of Judah, by his Father Jacob, juſt before his Death, continued in his Poſterity till the very Death of Chriſt. From that Time all Things began to work towards the Deſtruction of the Jewiſh Polity, and within a few Years, their City, Temple, and Government were utterly ruin'd, and the Jews not carried into a gentle Captivity, to enjoy their Laws, and live as a diſtinct People, in a foreign Country; but were ſold, like Beaſts in a Market, became Slaves in the ſtricteſt Senſe, and, from that Day to this, have neither Prince, nor Lawgiver among them.

Ver. 1. AND Joſeph fell upon his fathers face, and wept upon him, and kiſſed him. 2 And Joſeph commanded his ſervants the phyſicians to embalm his father: and the phyſicians embalmed Iſrael. 3 And forty days were fulfilled for him (for ſo are fulfilled the days of thoſe which are embalmed) and the Egyptians mourned for him threeſcore and ten days. 4 And when the days of his mourning were paſt, Joſeph ſpake unto the houſe of Pharaoh, ſaying, If now I have found grace in your eyes, ſpeak, I pray you in the ears of Pharaoh, ſaying, 5 My father made me ſwear, ſaying, Lo, I die: in my grave which I have digged for me, in the land of Canaan, there ſhalt thou bury me: Now therefore let me go up, I pray thee, and bury my father, and I will come again. 6 And Pharaoh ſaid, Go up, and bury thy father, according as he made thee ſwear. 7 And Joſeph went up to bury his father: and with him went up all the ſervants of Pharaoh, the elders of his houſe, and all the elders of the land of Egypt, 8 And all the houſe of Joſeph and his brethren, and his fathers houſe: only their little ones, and their flocks, and their herds they left in the land of Goſhen. 9 And there went up with him both chariots and horſemen: and it was a very great company. 10 And they came to the threſhing-floor of Atad, which is beyond Jordan, and there they mourned with a great and very ſore lamentation: and he made a mourning for his father ſeven days. 11 And when the inhabitants of the land, the Canaanites, ſaw the mourning in the floor of Atad, they ſaid, This is a grievous mourning to the Egyptians: wherefore the name of it was called Abel-mizraim, which is beyond Jordan. 12 And his ſons did unto him according as he commanded them. 13 For his ſons carried him into the land of Canaan, and buried him in the cave of the field of Machpelah; which Abraham bought with the field for a poſſeſſion of a burying-place of Ephron the Hittite, before Mamre. 14 And Joſeph returned into Egypt, he and his brethren, and all that went up with him to bury his father, after he had buried his father. 15 And when Joſephs brethren ſaw that their father was dead, they ſaid, Joſeph will peradventure hate us, and will certainly requite us all the evil which we did unto him. 16 And they ſent meſſengers unto Joſeph, ſaying, Thy father did command before he died, ſaying, 17 So ſhall ye ſay unto Joſeph, Forgive I pray thee now, the treſpaſs of thy brethren, and their ſin; for they did unto thee evil: and now, we pray thee, forgive the treſpaſs of the ſervants of the God of thy father. And Joſeph wept when they ſpake unto him. 18 And his brethren alſo went and fell down before his face: and they ſaid, Behold, we be thy ſervants. 19 And Joſeph ſaid unto them, Fear not; for am I in the place of God? 20 But as for you, ye thought evil againſt me; but God meant it unto good, to bring to paſs, as it is this day, to ſave much people alive. 21 Now therefore fear ye not: I will nouriſh you, and your little ones. And he comforted them, and ſpake kindly unto them. 22 And Joſeph dwelt in Egypt, he, and his fathers houſe: and Joſeph lived an hundred and ten years. 23 And Joſeph ſaw Ephraims children of the third generation: the children alſo of Machir, the ſon of Manaſſeh, were brought up upon Joſephs knees. 24 And Joſeph ſaid unto his brethren, I die: and God will ſurely viſit you, and bring you out of this land, unto the land which he ſwear to Abraham, to Iſaac, and to Jacob. 25 And Joſeph took an oath of the children of Iſrael, ſaying, God will ſurely viſit you, and ye ſhall carry up my bones from hence. 26 So Joſeph died, being an hundred and ten years old: and they embalmed him, and he was put in a coffin in Egypt.

And Joseph commanded his Servants the Physicians to embalm his Father] It has been objected to this Passage, that there is Reason to presume, that the Science of Physick, properly so called, was not at this Time so much as profess'd in Egypt, as it certainly was not in Greece, until Hippocrates brought it into Request: And, consequently, that the Physicians, which Moses here mentions, in order to display Joseph's Magnificence, were no better than a Company of Dissectors and Embalmers, a Sort of People common in Egypt.

This Objection Mr. Stackhouse thus answers: That it must be acknowledg'd, that Moses has done Justice to the History of Joseph, and employ'd most of the tender Passions of human Nature to give it a better Grace; but we must not therefore infer, either that he hath transcended Truth, or committed an Error, in recording the Quality of the Persons employ'd to embalm his Father. What has led some into a great Mistake concerning the Origin of Physick, and that it was of no Vogue in the World until the Days of Hippocrates, was the great Superiority of Skill and Genius, which he demonstrated both in his Practice and Writings. The Truth is, the Divine old Man (as one expresses it) did so totally eclipse all who went before him, that, as Posterity esteem'd the Canon, so did it look upon him as the great Father of Medicine. But if we will credit the Testimony of Galen, (who, tho' a later Writer, was a very competent Judge) we shall find, that he was far from being the first of his Profession, even among the Greeks.

Homer indeed, in his Poem of the Trojan War, seems to have cut out more Work for the Surgeons than Physicians; and therefore we find the chief of the Faculty only employ'd in healing Wounds, extracting Arrows, preparing Anodynes, and other such like external Operations; but, if we look into his other Work, which is of a more pacifick Strain, we shall soon discern the Use of internal Applications, when we find Helen brought in, as giving Telemachus a Preparation of Opium, which (as the Poet informs us) she had from Polydamna, the Wife of Thon, an Egyptian Physician of great Note. And well might the Physicians of Egypt be held in great Esteem, 'when (as Herodotus 'relates the Matter) every distinct Distemper had its 'proper Physician, who confin'd himself to the Study 'and Cure of that only: So that, one Sort having the 'Cure of the Eyes, another of the Head, another of 'the Teeth, another of the Belly, and another of occult 'Diseases, we need not wonder, that all Places were 'crouded with Men of this Profession, or that the Phy'sicians of Joseph's Houshold, shou'd be represented as 'a large Number.' True it is indeed, that these Physicians (and the very best of them) were employ'd in embalming the Dead; but then there was a wise Designation in this, viz. not only to improve them in the Knowledge of Anatomy, but to enable them likewise to discover the Causes of such Disorders, as were a Baffle to their Art. And therefore, it was a Custom of the Kings of Egypt (as Pliny informs us) to cause dead Bodies to be dissected, on purpose to find out the Origin and Nature of all Diseases. Thus it appears from the concurring Testimony of other Historians, that the Practice of Physick was a common Thing in Egypt, as early as the Days of Joseph; that the Multitude of its Professors makes it no strange Thing, his having a Number of them in his Family; and that the Nature of the Thing, as well as the Order of the State, oblig'd the very best of them to become Dissectors and Embalmers.

And the Physicians embalmed Israel] The Manner of embalming among the Egyptians, according to Herodotus, Diodorus, and others, was as follows. When a Man died, his Body was carried to the Artificers, whose Business it was to make Coffins. The upper Part of the Coffin represented the Person who was to be put in it, whether Man or Woman; and (if a Person of Distinction) was generally adorn'd with such Paintings and Embellishments, as were suitable to his Quality. When the Body was brought home again, they agreed with the Embalmers; but, according to the Quality of the Person, the Prices were different. The highest was a Talent, i. e. about 300 l. Sterling; 20 Minæ was a moderate one; and the lowest a very small Matter. As the Body lay extended, one of them, whom they call'd the Designer, mark'd out the Place, on the left Side, where it was to be open'd, and then a Dissector, with a very sharp Egyptian Stone, made the Incision, through which they drew all the Intestines, except the Heart and Kidneys, and then wash'd them with Palm-Wines and other strong and binding Drugs. The Brains they drew through the Nostrils, with an hooked Piece of Iron, made particularly for that purpose, and fill'd the Skull with astringent Drugs. The whole Body they anointed with Oil of Cedar, with Myrrh, Cinnamon, and other Drugs for about thirty Days; by which Means it was preserv'd entire, without so much as losing its Hair, and sweet, without any Signs of Putrefaction. After this, it was put into Salt, about forty Days; and therefore, when Moses says, that forty Days were employ'd in embalming Jacob, Ver. 3. he must mean the forty Days of his continuing in the Salt of Nitre, without including the thirty Days, that were spent in the other Operations above-mentioned; so that, in the whole, they mourn'd seventy Days in Egypt, as Moses likewise observes. Last of all, the Body was taken out of this Salt, wash'd and wrapp'd up in Linnen Swaddling Bands dipp'd in Myrrh, and rubb'd with a certain Gum, which the Egyptians us'd instead of Glue, and so return'd to the Relations, who put it into the Coffin, and kept it in some Repository in their Houses, or in Tombs, made particularly for that Purpose. See Calmet's Dict. and Warburton's Divine Legat.

And when the Days of his Mourning were past, Joseph spake unto the House of Pharaoh] It was against Rule, says Musculus, for any Person, how great soever, in Mourning Apparel, to appear in Publick, and especially in the Royal Presence, because, in that State, they were look'd upon as defil'd; and therefore Joseph does not go himself, but desires some of the Courtiers to carry his Request to the King. And this Request he was the rather bound to make, because the Retinue and Guard, which the Pomp of the Funeral, and the Danger of Molestation from Enemies made necessary, could not be obtain'd without the King's Leave.

And Joseph went up to bury his Father, and with him went up all the Servants of Pharaoh] The Splendor and Magnificence of our Patriarch's Funeral seems to be without a Parallel in History. What hitherto seems to bear any Comparison, were indeed the noble Obsequies of Marcellus, as Virgil has describ'd them: But how do even these (with all the Parade of Poetry about them) fall short of the plain and simple Narrative before us? For what are the six hundred Beds, for which the Roman Solemnities, on this Occasion, were so famous, in Comparison of all that national itinerant Multitude, which swell'd like a Flood, and mov'd like a River; to all Pharaoh's Servants, to the Elders of his House, and all the Elders of the Land of Egypt, i. e. to the Officers of his Houshold, and Deputies of all his Provinces, with all the House of Joseph, and his Brethren, and his Father's House, conducting their solemn Sorrow for near three hundred Miles into a distant Country? See Biblioth. Bib.

And they came to the threshing-Floor of Atad, which is beyond Jordan] Where this Place was, we cannot determine from any Account in Scripture; but it is very probable, that it lay not very far from the Place where Jacob was buried, and so not far from Hebron. For, since it is absurd to suppose, that the Corps of Jacob was carried to the Cave of Machpelah, such a roundabout Way, as the Israelites went afterwards into the Land of Canaan, viz. through Arabia Petræa, quite on the Eastern Side of Jordan, it remains to suppose, that these Places are said to be beyond Jordan, not in respect of Egypt, from whence Jacob's Corps was brought, but in respect of the Place where Moses was when he wrote the History, i. e. in a Country in the East of Jordan; and consequently the Places beyond Jordan, must be such as lay on the West of Jordan: But why they made the Threshing-floor of Atad, rather than the Place of Interment, the Scene of their Lamentations, is not so easy to resolve. Perhaps it was a Place more convenient to stay in for seven Days, than the Field of Machpelah; or perhaps it might be the Custom, at the very Entrance of the Country, where they carried the Corps to be buried, to fall into Lamentations, which they might repeat at the Grave again, tho' no Mention be made of it here. See Well's Geogr. and Patrick's Com.

And buried him in the Cave of the Field of Machpelah] The Jewish Doctors have a Tradition of a bloody Fight, which Joseph had, at his Father's Funeral, with one Tzepho, the Son of Eliphaz, who would have oppos'd his burying him in the Cave of Machpelah, as disputing his Title to the Ground; but that Joseph, and his Men, having overcome him, carried him away with them into Egypt, and kept him there Prisoner, as long as Joseph liv'd; however, as soon as he was dead, Tzepho found Means to escape into Italy. See Univers. Hist.

The Author of Ecclesiasticus has given us an Encomium of the Patriarch Joseph in these Words: Of Jacob was this Man of Mercy born, who found Favour in the Eyes of all Flesh. He was born to be the Prince of his Brethren, and the Support of his Family; to be the Head of his Kinsmen, and the firm Support of his People. His Bones were visited, and prophesied after his Death, Ch. xlix. 15. His Meaning is, that his Bones were remov'd out of Egypt, and that this fell out as a Consequence of his Prophecy, that God would visit the Hebrews, and bring them into the promised Land. The Jewish Rabbins have taken a great Latitude in ascribing several Particulars to this great Man, which have not the least Foundation in Scripture. They make him the Inventor of all the Arts and Sciences, for which the Egyptians afterwards became so famous; and attribute to him the Composition of several Books, such as Joseph's Prayer, Joseph's Mirrour, &c. which do not so much redound to his Credit. Mahomet, in his Alcoran, relates his History at length, but blends it with many fabulous Circumstances, which have been much improv'd by the Eastern People; for they make him in a Manner, greater than the Jewish Doctors do. They tell us equally, that he taught the Egyptians the most sublime Sciences, and particularly Geometry, which was highly necessary in their Division of the Land. They suppose, that all the Wells, and Baths, and Granaries, which go under his Name, nay, that all the antient Pyramids and Obelisks, tho' they do not, were of his Erection; and they believe, that he had all along upon his Shoulder a Point of Light, like a Star, which was an indelible Mark of the Gift of Prophecy, with many other Fictions of the like Nature. See Calmet's Dict.

Ye shall carry up my Bones from hence] There are several Reasons which might induce Joseph not to have his dead Body immediately carried into Canaan, and buried, as his Father's was. 1st, Because his Brethren, after his Decease, might not have Interest enough at Court, to provide themselves with such Things as were necessary to set off the Pomp and Solemnity of a Funeral befitting so great a Personage. 2dly, Because he might foresee, that the Egyptians, in all Probability, as long as their Veneration for his Memory was warm, would hardly have suffer'd his Remains to have been carried into another Country. 3dly, Because the Continuance of his Remains among them, might be a Means of retaining the Memory of the Services he had done them, and thereby an Inducement to them to treat the Relations, he had left behind him, with more Kindness. 4thly, and chiefly, Because the Presence of his Body with the Israelites, might be a Pledge to assure them, and a Means to strengthen and confirm their Faith and Hope in God's Promises to their Progenitors, that he would infallibly put their Posterity in Possession of the Land of Canaan: And accordingly, when Moses deliver'd them out of Egypt, he carried Joseph's Body along with him, Exod. xiii. 19. and committed it to the Care of the Tribe of Ephraim, who buried it near Shechem, (Josh. xxiv. 32.) in the Field which Jacob, a little before his Death, gave to Joseph, as his peculiar Property. See Pererius and Patrick's Com. Pool's Ann. and Calmet's Dict.

It is reasonable to believe, that the Egyptians made a long and solemn Mourning for Joseph, as they had before done for his Father, notwithstanding there is no Mention thereof made by Moses in his History: For, as we read of his being embalmed, and put into a Coffin in Egypt, and as the Egyptians used to mourn, during all the Time the Body was preparing, this is a strong Presumption of what we have advanced on this Head. The Space allotted for the solemn Mourning at the Decease of Pharaoh, was seventy-two Days, or the fifth Part of a Year; which bore, perhaps, some Analogy to the fifth Part of their yearly Revenue, which they paid him whilst living. Now Joseph being next in Dignity to the King, there seems to be no Absurdity in supposing, that the highest Honours, next unto those belonging unto the regal Dignity, were paid him after his Decease, especially if we consider, that, purely to do him Honour, he mourned for his Father seventy Days. With this Event Moses closes his first Book, which we call Genesis, comprehending therein the History of the Church and People of God during the Space of 2369 Years.

The Second Book of Moſes called EXODUS.

The ARGUMENT.

As the firſt Book of Moſes is called Geneſis, from the Greek Word Geneſis, which ſignifies Generation, becauſe it contains the Hiſtory of the Creation and Generation of Mankind, and eſpecially of the People of God; ſo the ſecond Book, which commences from the Death of Joſeph, and reaches down to the rearing up the Tabernacle in the Wilderneſs, is called Exodus, from the Greek, Ex Hodòs, on the Way, becauſe it gives an Account of the Tranſactions of the Iſraelites, whilſt on the Way from Egypt to the Land of Canaan. It includes the Space of about an hundred and forty Years; and informs us of the wonderful Preſervation and raiſing up of Moſes, who, together with Aaron, was to be the Inſtrument under God, of the Deliverance of the Iſraelites from a moſt grievous and oppreſſive Bondage.

In order to introduce this, Moſes gives us previouſly an Account of all the Hardſhips the Iſraelites endured under two of the Egyptian Monarchs, with the Manner of his being called by God to be their Deliverer; his demanding their Liberty; Pharaoh's haughty and inſolent Refuſal; the ten Plagues inflicted by God upon him and his People, for perſiſting in his Refuſal; the Iſraelites going out from thence with a high Hand; Pharaoh's repenting that he had let them go, and purſuing them; their paſſing through the Red Sea dry ſhod, and Pharaoh's being drowned with all his Hoſt; Moſes's Song thereupon; together with their various Tranſactions and Adventures in the Wilderneſs.

CHAP. I.

The Names and Numbers of the Children of Iſrael who came into Egypt. The Iſraelites increaſe wonderfully, but, to prevent their Multiplication, a new King lays them under heavy Oppreſſions; but finding this Method ineffectual, he orders the Hebrew Midwives to kill all the Male Children, which they excuſe themſelves from doing, and God bleſſes them for their Honeſty and Humanity. The King commands all the Male Children to be drowned.

Ver. 1. NOW theſe are the names of the children of Iſrael which came into Egypt, every man and his houſhold came with Jacob. 2 Reuben, Simeon, Levi, and Judah, 3 Iſſachar, Zebulun, and Benjamin, 4 Dan, and Naphtali, Gad, and Aſher. 5 And all the ſouls that came out of the loins of Jacob, were ſeventy ſouls: for Joſeph was in Egypt already. 6 And Joſeph died, and all his brethren, and all that generation. 7 And the children of Iſrael was fruitful, and increaſed abundantly, and multiplied, and waxed exceeding mighty; and the land was filled with them. 8 Now there aroſe up a new king over Egypt, which knew not Joſeph. 9 And he ſaid unto his people, Behold, the people of the children of Iſrael are more and mightier than we. 10 Come on, let us deal wiſely with them: leſt they multiply, and it come to paſs, that when there falleth out any war, they join alſo unto our enemies, and fight againſt us, and ſo get them up out of the land. 11 Therefore they did ſet over them taſk-maſters, to afflict them with their burdens. And they built for Pharaoh treaſure cities, Pithom and Raamſes. 12 But the more they afflicted them, the more they multiplied and grew. And they were grieved becauſe of the children of Iſrael. 13 And the Egyptians made the children of Iſrael to ſerve with rigour. 14 And they made their lives bitter with hard bondage, in mortar, and in brick, and in all manner of ſervice in the field: all their ſervice wherein they made them ſerve, was with rigour. 15 And the king of Egypt ſpake to the Hebrew midwives (of which the name of one was Shiprah, and the name of the other Puah:) 16 And he ſaid, When ye do the office of a midwife to the Hebrew women, and ſee them upon the ſtools; if it be a ſon, then ye ſhall kill him, but if it be a daughter, then ſhe ſhall live. 17 But the midwives feared God, and did not as the king of Egypt commanded them, but ſaved the men children alive. 18 And the king of Egypt called for the midwives, and ſaid unto them, Why have ye done this thing, and have ſaved the men-children alive? 19 And the midwives ſaid unto Pharaoh, Becauſe the ters to afflict them with their bur-

the Hebrew women are not as the Egyptian women; for they are lively, and are delivered ere the midwives come in unto them. 20 Therefore God dealt well with the midwives: and the people multiplied, and waxed very mighty. 21 And it came to pass, because the midwives feared God, that he made them houses. 22 And Pharaoh charged all his people, saying, Every son that is born ye shall cast into the river, and every daughter ye shall save alive.

Behold, the Children of Israel are more and mightier than we] It is easy for one in Power to invent a Pretence to use those ill, whom he has in his Power. This was the Case between Pharaoh and the Israelites; for they were so far from being mightier than the Egyptians, that, according to the Computation of Moses, which makes them but 600,000 Men, the Egyptians must be, at least, ten Times as numerous. It is evident, therefore, that this was a false and invidious Representation, and Aggravation of the Matter, in order to bring the Egyptians over to his Sentiments; and justify the unreasonable Severities he design'd to exercise over them.

Therefore they did set over them Task-masters] The original Words, Sare Massim, which we translate Task-masters, do properly signify Tax-gatherers, and the Burthens are afterwards mentioned, as distinct Things, under another Name: So that the Resolution in Council was, both to lay heavy Tributes upon them to impoverish, and heavy Burthens, to weaken them. Philo, in his Life of Moses, tells us, that they were made to carry Burthens above their Strength, and to work Night and Day; that they were forc'd at the same Time, to be Workers and Servers both; that they were employ'd in Brick-making; and that if any of them dropp'd down dead under their Burthens, they were not suffer'd to be buried. Josephus in his Jewish Antiquities, tells us, in like Manner, that they were compell'd to learn to several laborious Trades, to build Walls round Cities, to dig Trenches and Ditches, to drain Rivers into Channels, and to cast up Dikes and Banks to prevent Inundations. And not only so, but that they were likewise put upon the Erection of fantastical Pyramids, which were vast Piles of Building, rais'd by the Kings of Egypt, in Testimony of their Splendor and Magnificence, and to be Repositories of their Bodies when dead. Thus, by three several Ways the Egyptians endeavour'd to bring the Israelites under: By exacting a Tribute of them, to lessen their Wealth; by laying heavy Burthens upon them, to weaken their Bodies; and by preventing, by this Means, as they imagin'd, their generating and increasing.

And they built for Pharaoh Treasure-cities, Pithom and Raamses] The two cities here mentioned, viz. Pithom and Raamses, are said, in our Translation, to be Treasure-cities, but not Places where the King reposited his Riches, but rather his Grain or Corn; for such Repositories seem to have been much in use among the Egyptians, ever since the first Introduction of them by Joseph. Considering however the Name and Situation of these two Cities, that Pithon, according to Sir John Marsham, was the same with Pelusium, the most antient fortified Place in Egypt, call'd by Ezekiel, Ch. xxx. 15. the Strength of Egypt, and by Suidas, long after him, the Key of Egypt, as being the Inlet from Syria; and that Raamses, in all Probability, was a Frontier Town, which lay in the Entrance of Egypt from Arabia, or some of the neighbouring Countries; it seems hardly consistent with good Policy to have Granaries, or Store-cities, in any other than the inland Parts of the Country; and therefore, as these were situated in the Out-Parts of Egypt, 'tis much more likely, that they were fortified Places, surrounded with Walls, and Towers, and deep Ditches, which wou'd cost the Hebrews an infinite deal of Labour in building, than that they were Repositories, either for Corn or Treasure. See Patrick's Com. and Wells's Geogr.

But the more they afflicted them, the more they multiplied and grew] Commentators observe, that, in this Passage of Scripture, where Moses describes the vast Increase of the Israelites, he employs a great Variety of Words in expressing it; and, because the Words he makes use of, are Six, in all, some of the Hebrew Expositors have thence concluded, that the Women brought forth six Children at a Birth. Aristotle indeed, in his History of Animals, tells us, that the Country of Egypt, where the Hebrew Women bred so plentifully, was so strangely prolifick, that some of their Women, at four Times, brought twenty Children. But, without having Recourse to such prodigious Births, as happen'd but seldom, we need but suppose, that the Israelites, both Men and Women, were very fruitful; that they began soon, and continued long in begetting, and then there will be no Impossibility for 70 Males, in the Compass of 215 Years, to have multiplied to the Number specified, even at the Rate of one Child every Year. For, according to Simber's Computation, 70 Persons, if they beget a Child every Year, will, in 30 Years Time have above 2000 Children; of which, admit that only one third Part of them did come to procreate, in 30 Years more, they will amount to 9000. The third Part of them will, in 30 Years more, be multiplied to 45000; and, according to this Calculation, in 210 Years, the whole Amount will be at least 2,760,000. So that if there was any Thing miraculous or extraordinary in all this, it was, that they should be able to multiply at that Rate, notwithstanding their hard Labour, and cruel Bondage. See Patrick's Com. and Univers. Hist.

If it be a Son, then ye shall kill him] Josephus tells us, that there was a certain Scribe (as they call'd him) a Man of great Credit for his Predictions, who told the King, that there was a Hebrew Child to be born about that Time, that would be a Scourge to the Egyptians, and advance the Glory of his own Nation, and if he liv'd to grow up, wou'd be a Man eminent for Virtue and Courage, and make his Name famous to Posterity; and that, by the Council and Instigation of this Scribe it was, that Pharaoh gave the Midwives Orders to put all the Male Children to Death.

But if it be a Daughter, then she shall live] For this Distinction in his Barbarity the King might have several Reasons. As, 1. To have destroy'd the Females with the Males wou'd have been an unnecessary Provocation and Cruelty, because there was no Fear of the Women's joining to the King's Enemies, and fighting against him. 2. The Daughters of Israel exceeded very much their own Women in Beauty, and all Advantages of Person; and therefore their Project might be, to have them preserv'd for the Gratification of their Lust. Philo tells us, that they were preserv'd to be married to the Slaves of the Egyptian Lords and Gentry, but the Children descended from them might be Slaves even by Birth: But suppose they were married to Freemen, they cou'd have no Children, but such as wou'd be half Egyptians, and in Time be wholly ingrafted into that Nation. But, 3. Admitting that they married not at all, yet, as the Female Sex, among the Hebrews, made a considerable Figure in Egypt for their Sense and Knowledge, the Care of their Families, and Application to Business, and for their Skill and Dexterity in many Accomplishments, that were much to be valued for the Use and Ornament of Life, such as the Distaff and the Loom, Dying, Painting, Embroidering, &c. Such Women as these wou'd make excellent Servants and Domesticks for the Egyptian Ladies, who had no Relish of spending their Time any other Way, than in Idleness and Pleasure. See Biblioth. Bibl.

For the Hebrew Women are not as the Egyptian Women; for they are lively and are deliver'd ere the Midwives come in unto them] It is generally suppos'd, says Lightfoot, that the Midwives, upon this Occasion, told a Lie; but there is no Reason for such a Supposition, tho' possibly they might conceal some Part of the Truth, which is not unlawful, but highly commendable when it is to preserve the Innocent; for many of the Hebrew Women might be such, as are here described, tho' not every one of them. The Answer therefore of the Midwives is so far from being a sneaking Lie to save their Lives, that it is a bold Confession of their Faith and Piety, to the Hazard of them, viz. that they ſaw ſo plain an Evidence of the wonderful Hand of God, in that extraordinary Vigour in the Travail of the Women, that, do what Pharaoh wou'd, they durſt not, wou'd not ſtrive againſt it, becauſe they wou'd not ſtrive againſt God.

And it came to paſs, becauſe the Midwives feared, that he made them Houſes] The making the Midwives Houſes, is, ſays Shuckford, by moſt Interpreters, aſcrib'd to God, and the Thing has been ſuppoſed to have been done in a metaphorical Senſe, i. e. God gave them a numerous Offſpring or Family, and a very laſting Succeſſion or Poſterity. For there are five Things, ſay they, which go to complete the Greatneſs or Eminence of a Family, as ſuch, its Largeneſs, its Wealth, its Honours, its Power, and its Duration. And therefore, ſince the Midwives hazarded their own Lives to ſave thoſe of the Hebrew Children, and to preſerve the Iſraelites a numerous Progeny and Poſterity, the God of Iſrael, in Return, not only made their own Lives long and proſperous, but gave them very numerous Families, and an enduring Poſterity, in whom they might be ſaid to live after Death, even from Generation to Generation. But all this is a very forc'd Conſtruction, and what the original Words will by no Means bear. We ſhould therefore rather think, that theſe Houſes were built, not for the Midwives, but for the Iſraelites, and that it was not God, but Pharaoh, who built them. The Caſe ſeems to be this: --- Pharaoh had charg'd the Midwives to kill the Male Children, that were born of the Hebrew Women; the Midwives feared God, and omitted to do what the King had commanded them, pretending, in Excuſe for their Omiſſion, that the Hebrew Women were generally deliver'd before they cou'd get to them. Pharaoh hereupon, reſolving to prevent their Increaſe, gave Charge to his People to have all the Male Children of the Hebrews thrown into the River; but his Command cou'd not be ſtrictly executed, whilſt the Iſraelites lived up and down in the Fields in Tents, which was their antient and cuſtomary Way of living; for they wou'd ſhift here and there, and lodge the Women in Child-bed out of the Way. Pharaoh therefore built them Houſes, and oblig'd them to a more ſetled Habitation; that the People whom he had ſet over them, might know where to find every Family, and to take Account of all the Children that ſhould be born. So that this was a very cunning Contrivance of Pharaoh, in order to have his Charge more ſtrictly and effectually executed, than it cou'd otherwiſe have been done; and was a Particular too remarkable not to be inſerted in Moſes's Account of this Affair. The only ſeeming Difficulty is to reconcile the Words in the Text to what has been here advanc'd; but this will be none at all, if the Words be rightly tranſlated, and the Verſes rightly diſtinguiſhed in this Manner. And God dealt well with the Midwives, and the People multiplied, and waxed very mighty, and this happened (or was ſo, or came to paſs) becauſe the Midwives feared God. And Pharaoh built them (i. e. the Iſraelites) Houſes, and charged all his People, ſaying, every Son that is born, ye ſhall caſt into the River, and every Daughter ye ſhall ſave alive.

CHAP. II.

Moſes is born, and expoſed in the River in an Ark of Bulruſhes; is found by Pharaoh's Daughter, who brings him up. He kills an Egyptian, is diſcover'd, and flies to Midian, where he marries Zipporah, who bears him Gerſhom. The Iſraelites cry to God, who mercifully regards their Affliction.

Ver. 1. AND there went up a man of the houſe of Levi, and took to wife a daughter of Levi. 2 And the woman conceived and bare a ſon; and when ſhe ſaw him that he was a goodly child, ſhe hid him three months. 3 And when ſhe could not longer hide him, ſhe took for him an ark of bulruſhes, and daubed it with ſlime and with pitch, and put the child therein; and ſhe laid it in the flags by the rivers brink. 4 And his ſiſter ſtood afar off, to wit, what would be done to him. 5 And the daughter of Pharaoh came down to waſh herſelf at the river, and her maidens walked along by the river ſide: and when ſhe ſaw the ark among the flags, ſhe ſent her maid to fetch it. 6 And when ſhe had opened it, ſhe ſaw the child: and behold the babe wept. And ſhe had compaſſion on him, and ſaid, This is one of the Hebrews children. 7 Then ſaid his ſiſter to Pharaohs daughter, Shall I go, and call to thee a nurſe of the Hebrew women, that ſhe may nurſe the child for thee? 8 And Pharaohs daughter ſaid unto her, Go, And the maid went and called the childs mother. 9 And Pharaohs daughter ſaid unto her, Take this child away, and nurſe it for me, and I will give thee thy wages. And the woman took the child, and nurſed it. 10 And the child grew, and ſhe brought him unto Pharaohs daughter, and he became her ſon. And ſhe called his name Moſes: and ſhe ſaid, Becauſe I drew him out of the water.

And when ſhe ſaw him that he was a goodly Child, ſhe hid him three Months] Joſephus tells us this Story — That Amram finding his Wife with Child, and being ſollicitous about the King's Edict, pray'd earneſtly to God to put an End to that dreadful Perſecution; and that God appear'd to him, and told him, that he wou'd in due Time free his People from it, and that the Son, who wou'd be ſhortly born unto him, ſhou'd prove the happy Inſtrument of their glorious Deliverance, and eternize his own Name thereby. That this made him conceal him as long as he cou'd, but fearing a Diſcovery, he reſolv'd to truſt him to the Care of Providence, arguing in this Manner: --- That if the Child cou'd be conceal'd (as it was very difficult to do it, and hazardous to attempt it) they muſt be in Danger every Moment, but, as to the Power and Veracity of God, he did not doubt it, but was aſſured, that whatever he had promis'd he wou'd certainly make good; and with this Truſt and Perſuaſion he was reſolv'd to expoſe him.

Then ſaid his Siſter to Pharaoh's Daughter] The Princeſs is call'd by Joſephus, Thermuthis; by Artophanes, as he is cited by Euſebius, Mercis; and, in the Alexandrian Chronicle, Myrrina. But Joſephus adds farther, that Thermuthis having ſent for ſeveral wet Nurſes, one after another, the Child turn'd its Head ſcornfully from their Breaſts, and wou'd not ſuck: Whereupon Miriam told the Princeſs, that, if the Nurſe and the Child were of different Nations, her Milk wou'd never agree with it, but that if an Hebrew Woman was fetch'd, he wou'd probably take the Breaſt from her; and that upon this, ſhe was bid to go for one, and immediately brought her own and the Child's Mother, whom he fell a ſucking very greedily, to the Admiration of all the By-ſtanders.

And ſhe brought him to Pharaoh's Daughter, and he became her Son] And well might the Princeſs be fond of the Child, (who according to Joſephus) had Charms enough to engage any one's Affections. 'For, as he 'grew up, he ſhew'd a Pregnancy of Underſtanding 'much above thoſe of his Years, and did every Thing 'with ſuch a Grace, as gave the World to underſtand, 'what they might in Time expect from him. After 'three Years of Age, he was ſuch a Miracle of a Child 'for Beauty and Comelineſs of Stature, that People 'wou'd ſtop, and ſtand gazing on him, with Delight 'and Admiration, whenever they ſaw him, and his 'Carriage and Behaviour was ſo very obliging, that he 'own

'won upon the moſt moroſe and unſociable Sort of Men. 'Thermuthis herſelf being as much delighted with him 'as any, wanting Iſſue of her own, and having reſolv'd 'to adopt him for her Son, brought him one Day to 'her Father, and, in Merriment, told him, that ſhe 'came to preſent him with a Succeſſor, in Caſe he 'wanted one. The King receiv'd him with an 'affectionate Tenderneſs, and, to gratify his Daughter, 'took off his Crown, and plac'd it upon the Child's 'Head; but ſo far was he from being pleas'd with it, 'that he threw it upon the Ground, and trampled 'upon it with his Feet. This Action was look'd upon 'as an ill Omen to the King and Government, inſo- 'much that the Scribe, we mention'd before, being 'then in Company, cry'd out to have the Child kill'd: 'For this is the Child, ſaid he to the King, which I 'foretold your Majeſty wou'd be the Deſtruction of Egypt, 'and he hath now confirm'd the Prophecy, by the Affront 'he hath put upon your Government, in treading the 'Crown under his Feet. In ſhort, this is he by whoſe 'Death alone you may promiſe yourſelf to be ſecure. For, 'take him out of the Way, the Hebrews ſhall have no- 'thing more to hope for, and the Egyptians, nothing 'more to fear. This Speech gave ſome Uneaſineſs to 'Thermuthis, and therefore ſhe immediately took the 'Child away, without any Oppoſition from the King, 'whoſe Heart God had diſpos'd not to take any Notice 'of what the Scribe had ſaid.'

And ſhe called his Name Moſes] Patrick obſerves, that both Philo, Joſephus, and Clemens Alexandrinus, will have the Word Moſes to be deriv'd from the Egyptian Mo, which, according to them, ſignifies Water, and Iſes, or Yſes, which means preſerv'd, as much as to ſay, ſav'd from the Waters, or preſerv'd from drowning. 'Tis very likely indeed, that the Princeſs ſhould give the Child a Name from no other Language than her own; but then it is to be conſider'd, that the Hebrew Word Maſhah (from whence the Name naturally flows, and to which the Princeſs herſelf owns that ſhe alludes) might have the ſame Signification in her Tongue, that it was in the Hebrew, where it always ſignifies a drawing out of the Water, 2 Sam. xxii. 17. Pſ. xviii. 16. and Iſa. xliii. 2. It cannot be doubted indeed, but that Moſes had another Name given him by his own Parents, at the Time of his Circumciſion, but what that Name was, we have no Certainty, nor can we tell from what Authority it is, that Clemens informs us, that it was Joachim.

How long this cruel Edict of the King, for the drowning of all the Hebrew Male Children, continued in Force, is no where intimated in Scripture, nor even ſo much as conjectur'd by any of the Commentators that I have read. I hope therefore, I ſhall be excus'd by the Learned, if I ſhould be wrong in the Judgment which I have form'd of this Matter. This Edict took Place a little before Moſes's Birth; Moſes was 40 Years old when he fled from Egypt; in Midian he liv'd 40 Years more; ſo that at his Return to Egypt, he was 80 Years of Age; during which Time it ſeems as if the Children of Iſrael were under one continued Perſecution and Oppreſſion: Yet we muſt not ſuppoſe that Pharaoh's inhuman Edict was rigorouſly executed all that while; for then there would have been ſo few of the People left, and thoſe ſo old and decrepid, at Moſes's coming to deliver them, that Pharaoh, inſtead of keeping them againſt their Inclination, might have been glad to get rid of ſuch a Parcel of poor helpleſs Wretches, that were like to be a Burden upon the Country. It is ſaid indeed that Moſes's Parents hid him three Months, when, no doubt, the Perſecution raged with the greateſt Fury: But, if common Humanity was, for Reaſons of State, loſt in the Breaſt of the King, ſurely his Subjects in general, the female Part of them eſpecially, cou'd not be long delighted with ſuch conſtant Scenes of Horror that were daily offer'd to their Eyes; the miſerable Lamentations of the Hebrews for the Deſtruction of their Children, muſt certainly make ſome Impreſſion upon, and, by Degrees ſoften the moſt ſtony Heart into Compaſſion, which, in Time, might induce their moſt inveterate Enemies to move the Government for a Remiſſion of their Severities. And who knows but Pharaoh's Daughter, who had taken Moſes into her Protection, might likewiſe intercede with her Father in Behalf of thoſe poor Innocents, who were incapable of doing him any Injury? Again; had this Perſecution been rigorouſly carried on for any conſiderable Time, it muſt have caus'd an Inſurrection among the Iſraelites, and perhaps have induc'd many of the Egyptians to have join'd with them, out of mere Pity and a juſt Reſentment of ſuch inhuman Barbarities. Upon the Whole; I cannot conceive that theſe Violences laſted for many Months; very probably, not a Year. This is my private Opinion; but how far it is conſiſtent with Truth and Reaſon, let the candid Reader judge for himſelf. J. M.

11 And it came to paſs in thoſe days, when Moſes was grown, that he went out unto his brethren, and looked on their burdens: and he ſpied an Egyptian ſmiting an Hebrew, one of his brethren. 12 And he looked this way, and that way, and when he ſaw that there was no man, he ſlew the Egyptian, and hid him in the ſand. 13 And when he went out the ſecond day, behold, two men of the Hebrews ſtrove together: and he ſaid to him that did the wrong, Wherefore ſmiteſt thou thy fellow? 14 And he ſaid, Who made thee a prince and a judge over us? intendeſt thou to kill me as thou killedſt the Egyptian? and Moſes feared and ſaid, Surely this thing is known. 15 Now when Pharaoh heard this thing, he ſought to ſlay Moſes. But Moſes fled from the face of Pharaoh, and dwelt in the land of Midian: and he ſat down by a well. 16 Now the Prieſt of Midian had ſeven daughters: and they came and drew water, and filled the troughs to water their fathers flock. 17 And the ſhepherds came and drove them away: but Moſes ſtood up and helped them, and watered their flock. 18 And when they came to Ruel their father, he ſaid, How is it that you are come ſo ſoon to day? 19 And they ſaid, An Egyptian delivered us out of the hand of the ſhepherds, and alſo drew water enough for us, and watered the flock. 20 And he ſaid unto his daughters, And where is he? Why is it that ye have left the man? Call him that he may eat bread. 21 And Moſes was content to dwell with the man: and he gave Moſes Zipporah his daughter. 22 And ſhe bare him a ſon, and he called his name Gerſhom: for he ſaid I have been a ſtranger in a ſtrange land. 23 And it came to paſs in proceſs of time, that the king of Egypt died, and the children of Iſrael ſighed by reaſon of the bondage, and they cried; and their cry came up unto God, by reaſon of the bondage. 24 And God heard their groaning, and God remembred his covenant with Abraham, with Iſaac, and with Jacob. 25 And God looked upon the children of Iſrael, and God had reſpect unto them.

And when he ſaw there was no Man, he ſlew the Egyptian] Diodorus Siculus tells us, ſays Stackhouſe, that there was a Law in Egypt, which, perhaps, was at this Time in Force, and obligatory upon all, viz. 'That, whoever ſaw his Fellow-creature, either kill'd by 'another, or violently aſſaulted, and did not either ap- 'prehend the Murtherer, or reſcue the Oppreſs'd, if he 'cou'd, or, if he cou'd not, made not an Informa- 'tion thereof to the Magiſtrate, himſelf ſhou'd be put 'to Death.' Now the Hiſtory tells us, that, when Moſes went out unto his Brethren, he looked on their Burthens, thens, and ſpied an Egyptian ſmiting an Hebrew. So that, it is but ſuppoſing, that this Egyptian was one of the Taſk-maſters (as the Burthens here mention'd ſeem'd to denote) who ſo barbarouſly treated the Hebrews, and was now going to beat one of them to Death; and, according to the Law of the Land (which ſeems indeed to be the Law of all Nations) then in being, he was oblig'd to interpoſe; and if, upon his Interpoſition, the Egyptian turn'd upon him, and aſſaulted him briſkly, (which is no hard Matter to imagine) he was oblig'd, in his own Defence, to ſlay him.

To complain to the Magiſtrate in this Caſe, and implore the Aſſiſtance of the Law, was to no Manner of Purpoſe. The whole Civil Power was lodg'd in ſuch Hands, as had ſecret Inſtruction from Court to vex and ill-treat the Iſraelites; and when Matters were come to this Criſis, that Oppreſſion rul'd, and the Government was turn'd into a mere Latrociny, private Force, upon any proper Occaſion, muſt be deem'd lawful in all, but in Moſes much more ſo, ſince he was either mov'd or animated thereunto by a divine Impulſe, or inveſted, before it happen'd, (as St. Stephen's Comment upon the Place gives us Reaſon to think he was ſo inveſted) with the Title, and Office of Deliverer of the People of God, Acts vii. 25.

Now the Prieſt of Midian had ſeven Daughters] The Word Cohen ſignifies indifferently either Prieſt or Prince, and accordingly, in theſe early Ages, both theſe Offices were frequently united in one and the ſame Perſon. It ſeems, however, that Jethro was ſcarce a Prince in that Country; for then one wou'd think, the Shepherds wou'd not have dar'd to have been ſo inſolent to his Daughters; and yet, if he was a Prieſt, it is a Matter of ſome Conteſt between two famous Rabbins, whether he was an Idolater, or a Worſhipper of the true God. Aben Ezra is of Opinion, that as he was deſcended from Midian, the Son of Abraham by Keturah, in all Probability, he profeſs'd the true Religion; nor can he ſuppoſe that Moſes wou'd have married his Daughter, had he been bred up in a falſe one: Whereas Moſes, 'tis plain, not only owns his Alliance with his Family, but upon his Arrival in the Camp of Iſrael, invites him to offer Sacrifices to the Lord (Exod. xviii. 11, 12) as one who ador'd the ſame God with the Iſraelites. Kimhi, however, on the other Hand, affirms, that, at firſt, he was an idolatrous Prieſt, but afterwards, when he came to Moſes in the Wilderneſs, and was particularly inform'd of all thoſe great and wonderful Things which God had wrought in Egypt, for the Deliverance of the Hebrews, he became a Convert to the Worſhip of the true God; and, for this he produces a Paſſage in the ſame Chapter, Ver. 11. Now I know that the Lord is greater than all Gods; for, in the Thing wherein they dealt proudly, he was above them. But beſides this, there is a farther Difficulty in relation to Jethro. In Exod. iii. 1. he is expreſly call'd the Father-in-law of Moſes, and yet the Father of the young Women, whom Moſes defended at the Well, and whereof he certainly married one, is ſaid to be Reuel, Ch. ii. 18. and not Jethro. Either therefore this Reuel muſt be their Grandfather, who, being Head of the Family, might, in a larger Senſe be call'd Father, as we find Inſtances of the like Nrture, in Gen. xxxi. 43. 2 Kings. xiii. 14, &c. or (as others will have it) this Reuel, or Jethro, was one and the ſame Perſon under different Denominations. Upon Suppoſition therefore, that he was deſcended from the Family of Cuſh, it is imagin'd, that, while he continued in Idumæa, his Name might be Reuel, but, upon his Removal into Midian, to avoid the Wars and Tumults in his own Country, he came to be call'd Jethro, as being the only Remainder (for ſo the Word ſignifies) of the Cuſhites in that Country. See Biblioth Bibl. and Bedford's Script. Chron.

And Moſes was content to dwell with the Man] It can hardly be ſuppos'd, ſays Patrick, but that a Perſon of Moſes's Education, wou'd in the Space of 40 Years, which he abode in Midian, find ſome other Employment for himſelf than keeping Sheep; and therefore ſome have imagin'd, that, in this Time, he wrote the Book of Job to comfort the Iſraelites, by the Example of his admirable Patience, under their heavy Oppreſſion in Egypt, and the Book of Geneſis likewiſe, that they might the better underſtand what Promiſes had been made to their Anceſtors, Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, and that the Time for their Accompliſhment was approaching. Nor can we ſuppoſe, but that the ſeveral Arts and Sciences which he had been taught in his Youth, he took Care, in this Place of happy Retirement, to cultivate and improve.

And he gave Moſes Zipporah his Daughter] It may be made a ſtanding Obſervation, that divine Authors do not relate all the Paſſages of a Story, (as other Authors delight to do) but ſuch only as are moſt material. We may therefore ſuppoſe, that a great many Things interven'd between Moſes's Entrance into Jethro's Family, and his Marriage to his Daughter; eſpecially conſidering, that his Children were ſo young, at the Time of his Return into Egypt. The Obſervation of Philo, however, is not to be neglected, viz. That Men of a great Genius quickly ſhew themſelves, and are not made known by Length of Time: And therefore he thinks, 'That Jethro being firſt ſtruck with Admira'tion of his goodly Aſpect, and then of his wiſe Diſ-
'courſe, immediately gave him the moſt beautiful of all
'his Daughters to be his Wife, not ſtaying to enquire
'of any Body, who he was, becauſe his own moſt ex'cellent Qualities ſufficiently recommended him to his 'Affection.'

CHAP. III.

Moſes, while he is feeding Jethro's Flock, comes to Mount Horeb, where an Angel appears to him in a flaming Buſh; and acquaints him with his Deſign of ſending him to deliver Iſrael from their Bondage. God declares his Name, and inſtructs Moſes what to ſay when he ſhou'd come to his Brethren.

Ver. 1. NOW Moſes kept the flock of Jethro his father-in-law, the prieſt of Midian: and he led the flock to the back-ſide of the deſart, and came to the mountain of God, even to Horeb. 2 And the angel of the Lord appeared unto him in a flame of fire out of the midſt of a buſh: and he looked, and behold, the buſh burned with fire, and the buſh was not conſumed. 3 And Moſes ſaid, I will now turn aſide, and ſee this great ſight, why the buſh is not burnt. 4 And when the Lord ſaw that he turned aſide to ſee, God called unto him out of the midſt of the buſh, and ſaid, Moſes, Moſes. And he ſaid, Here am I. 5 And he ſaid, Draw not nigh hither, put off thy ſhoes from off thy feet, for the place whereon thou ſtandeſt, is holy ground. 6 Moreover, he ſaid, I am the God of thy father, the God of Abraham, the God of Iſaac, and the God of Jacob. And Moſes hid his face: for he was afraid to look upon God. 7 And the Lord ſaid, I have ſurely ſeen the affliction of my people which are in Egypt, and have heard their cry, by reaſon of their taſk-maſters: for I know their ſorrows. 8 And I am come down to deliver them out of the hand of the Egyptians, and to bring them up out of that land, unto a good land, and a large, unto a land flowing with milk and honey; unto the place of the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebuſites. 9 Now therefore behold the cry of the children of Iſrael is come unto me: and I have alſo ſeen the oppreſſion wherewith the Egyptians oppreſs them. 10 Come Come now therefore, and I will ſend thee unto Pharaoh, that thou mayeſt bring forth my people the children of Iſrael out of Egypt. 11 And Moſes ſaid unto God, Who am I, that I ſhould go unto Pharaoh, and that I ſhould bring forth the children of Iſrael out of Egypt? 12 And he ſaid, Certainly, I will be with thee; and this ſhall be a token unto thee, that I have ſent thee: when thou haſt brought forth the people out of Egypt, ye ſhall ſerve God upon this mountain. 13 And Moſes ſaid unto God, Behold when I come unto the children of Iſrael, and ſhall ſay unto them, The God of your fathers hath ſent me unto you; and they ſhall ſay to me, What is his name? What ſhall I ſay unto them? 14 And God ſaid unto Moſes, I AM THAT I AM: And he ſaid, Thus ſhalt thou ſay unto the children of Iſrael, I AM hath ſent me unto you. 15 And God ſaid moreover unto Moſes, Thus ſhalt thou ſay unto the children of Iſrael, The Lord God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Iſaac, and the God of Jacob hath ſent me unto you: this is my name for ever, and this is my memorial unto all generations. 16 Go and gather the elders of Iſrael together, and ſay unto them, The Lord God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, of Iſaac, and of Jacob appeared unto me, ſaying, I have ſurely viſited you, and ſeen that which is done to you in Egypt. 17 And I have ſaid, I will bring you up out of the affliction of Egypt, unto the land of the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebuſites, unto a land flowing with milk and hony. 18 And they ſhall hearken to thy voice: and thou ſhalt come, thou and the elders of Iſrael, unto the king of Egypt, and you ſhall ſay unto him, The Lord God of the Hebrews hath met with us; and now let us go (we beſeech thee) three days journey into the wilderneſs, that we may ſacrifice to the Lord our God. 19 And I am ſure that the king of Egypt will not let you go, no not by a mighty hand. 20 And I will ſtretch out my hand, and will ſmite Egypt with all my wonders which I will do in the midſt thereof: and after that, he will let you go. 21 And I will give this people favour in the ſight of the Egyptians: and it ſhall come to paſs, that when ye go, ye ſhall not go empty: 22 But every woman ſhall borrow of her neighbour, and of her that ſojourneth in her houſe, jewels of ſilver, and jewels of gold, and raiment: and ye ſhall put them upon your ſons, and upon your daughters; and ye ſhall ſpoil the Egyptians.

And came to the Mountain of God, even to Horeb] Horeb is a Mountain in Arabia Petræa, at ſo ſmall a Diſtance from Mountain Sinai, that they ſeem to be no more than two Tops belonging to the ſame Mountain. Sinai; lies to the Eaſt, and Horeb to the Weſt; but we find them frequently in Scripture us'd promiſcuouſly. For, whereas the Author to the Hebrews ſeveral Times aſſerts, that God gave his Law to the Iſraelites at Horeb, tho' other Places expreſly ſay, that it was at Sinai; this is eaſily agreed, by obſerving, that they both made but, as it were, one Mountain with two Tops, whereof that of Sinai was much the higher, tho' that of Horeb exceeds it in Fruitfulneſs and Pleaſure. It is not for that Reaſon however, no, nor yet for its vaſt Height, that it obtain'd the Title of the Mount of God. Joſephus indeed tells us, that the People of the Country had a Tradition, that God in a more particular Manner, dwelt there, and that therefore, in Reverence to the Place, they always declin'd feeding their Flocks upon it: But the true Reaſon of its being ſo call'd is, that, in After-ages, it became famous for ſundry Events, and, at this Time, receiv'd its Name by Way of Anticipation. For here it was, 1. That God appear'd to Moſes in the Buſh; 2. That he manifeſted his Glory at the Delivery of the Law; 3. That Moſes, with his Rod, brought Water out of the Rock; 4. That, by lifting up his Hands, he made Joſhua prevail againſt the Amalekites; 5. That here he faſted twice forty Days and forty Nights; 6. That from hence he brought the two Tables of the Law; and, 7. That here Elijah was vouchſafed a noble Viſion; with ſome others of the like Nature. See Calmet's Dict. Univ. Hiſt. and Wells's Geogr.

And the Angel of the Lord appeared to him in a Flame of Fire out of the midſt of the Buſh] Whether it was a created Angel, ſpeaking in the Perſon of God, or God himſelf, or (as the moſt receiv'd Opinion is) Chriſt the Son of God, has been Matter of ſome Controverſy among the Learned. Thoſe, who ſuppoſe it no more than an Angel, ſeem to imply, that it would be a Diminution of the Majeſty of God to appear upon every Occaſion, eſpecially when he has ſuch a Number of celeſtial Miniſters, who may do the Buſineſs as well. But conſidering, that God is preſent every where, the Notification of his Preſence, by ſome outward Sign, in one determinate Place (which is all we mean by Appearance) is in our Conception leſs laborious (if any Thing laborious cou'd be conceiv'd of God) than a Delegation of Angels, upon every Turn, from Heaven, and ſeems, in the main, to illuſtrate rather than debaſe, the Glory of his Name and Exiſtence. But however this be, 'tis plain, that the Angel, here ſpoken of, was no created Being, from the whole Context, and eſpecially from his ſaying, I am the Lord God, the Jehovah, &c. ſince this is not the Language of Angels, who are always known to expreſs themſelves in ſuch humble Terms, as theſe, I am ſent from God, I am thy Fellow-ſervant, &c. 'Tis a vain Pretence to ſay, that an Angel, as God's Ambaſſador, may ſpeak in God's Name and Perſon; for what Ambaſſadors of any Prince ever yet ſaid, I am the King? Since therefore no Angel, without the Guilt of Blaſphemy, cou'd aſſume theſe Titles; and ſince neither God the Father, nor the Holy Ghoſt, are ever called by the Name of an Angel, i. e. a Meſſenger, or Perſon ſent, whereas God the Son is call'd by the Prophet Malachi, Ch. iii. 1. the Angel of the Covenant, it hence ſeems to follow, that this Angel of the Lord, was God the Son, who might properly be call'd an Angel, becauſe in the Fulneſs of Time, he was ſent into the World, in our Fleſh, as a Meſſenger from God, and might therefore make theſe his temporary Apparitions, Preſages, and Fore-runners, as it were, of his more ſolemn Miſſion. See Pool's Ann.

Put off thy Shoes from off thy Feet; for the Place whereon thou ſtandeſt, is holy Ground] Juſtin Martyr (in his ſecond Apology) is of Opinion, that the Cuſtom of putting off the Shoes, both among the Jews and Gentiles, before they began to officiate in holy Things, took its Riſe from this Precept given to Moſes; but our learned Mr. Mede ſeems to be of a different Opinion, viz. that Moſes did not give the firſt Occaſion to this Rite, but that it was deriv'd from the Patriarchs before him, and tranſmitted to future Ages from that antient general Tradition. It is certain that Pythagoras, who took his Inſtitutes chiefly from the Egyptians, delivers it as a Rule in his Rubrick, He who ſacrifices, ſhould put off his Shoes, and ſo approach to the holy Ordinance; and therefore God, in Compliance to an antient Cuſtom, then in Practice among the Egyptians, might ſpeak to Moſes, who was a Perſon well acquainted with their Ceremonies, to decalceate, as very well knowing, that it wou'd be a Means to create in him a greater Reverence to the divine Preſence, and a more awful Attention to what he was going to ſay. See Patrick and Le Clerc.

I am the God of thy Father, the God of Abraham, the God of Iſaac, and the God of Jacob] God, no doubt, ſays Patrick, was the God of Noah, and of all the holy Patriarchs, who liv'd before theſe three were born; but for a peculiar Reaſon he is called their God, becauſe of his Covenant, and the Promiſe made to each of them, that the bleſſed Seed ſhould ſpring from their Loins, in Oppoſition to the Pretenſions of other neighbouring People, who (as the learned Dr. Alix obſerves) were their Rivals in that Hope. And ſo the Words will denote, as much as if he had ſaid, the God of Abraham, and not of Lot, as the Ammonites and Moabites pretended; the God of Iſaac, and not of Iſhmael, as his Poſterity pretended; and the God of Jacob, and not of Eſau, as the Edomites boaſted.

I am that I am] When Moſes deſired to ſee God's Glory, he obtain'd, ſays Stackhouſe, that the Name of the Lord ſhould be proclaimed before him, and the Proclamation was, The Lord, the Lord God, merciful and gracious, long-ſuffering, and abundant in Goodneſs and Truth, keeping Mercy for Thouſands, forgiving Iniquity, Tranſgreſſion, and Sin, Exod. xxxiv. 6. And, in like Manner, Iſaiah, propheſying what the Meſſiah ſhould be, declares his Name to be, Wonderful, Counſellor, the mighty God, the everlaſting Father, the Prince of Peace. In both theſe Places, and many more that might be produc'd to the ſame Purpoſe, the Name denotes the Nature of God; and therefore the Deſign of Moſes, in aſking God's Name, was to obtain an Information of the divine Attributes, in order to carry a Report of them to his Brethren. And indeed, conſidering that Moſes was the firſt that ever carried a Meſſage from God to Man, it was natural for the Iſraelites to aſk him by what Name, or peculiar Attribute, he had made himſelf known unto him, ſo as to authorize him to ſpeak to them, in ſuch a Manner, as no Man before had ever done; which Queſtion he could not pretend to anſwer, unleſs God, by Revelation, thought fit to enable him, and therefore he deſired to be inform'd (as far as the divine Goodneſs would be pleas'd to diſcover) what Name he would be call'd by; as knowing very well, that, by obtaining this, he might form proper Notions of his Nature and Perfections.

And, accordingly, we may obſerve, that this great Appellation, which God is pleas'd to give here of himſelf, expreſſes his incomprehenſible Nature, in ſuch open and proper Characters, that St. Hilary (as he tells us of himſelf) lighting on theſe Words, before he was a Chriſtian, and as he was muſing about God and Religion, was ſtruck with Admiration, becauſe he could think of nothing ſo proper and eſſential to God, as to be. God himſelf, however, chuſes to expreſs the Word in the future Tenſe, on Purpoſe (as ſome imagine) to ſhew, that he is the only Being that can truly ſay, I ſhall, or will be, what I am; for as much as all other Beings derive their Exiſtence from him, and may be depriv'd of that Exiſtence, whenever he pleaſes.

What Knowledge the wiſeſt of the Heathen World might have of this incommunicable Name of God, without the Help of Revelation, is a Matter of great Uncertainty. It is more than probable, that Plato's Definition of a God, viz. A Being, that IS always, and had no Beginning, was taken from theſe Words of Moſes. But, there is a Paſſage in Plutarch, which mentions an Inſcription in the Temple of Delphos, conſiſting of theſe Letters EI, a Contraction as ſome imagine of EIMI, I am, which (according to Ammonius) was one of the moſt perfect Names and Titles of the Deity, ſeeing it imported, that, tho' our Being is uncertain, precarious, temporary, and ſubject to change, ſo that no Man can ſay of himſelf, in a ſtrict and abſolute Senſe, I am; yet we may with great Propriety, give the Deity this Appellation, becauſe God is independent, immutable, eternal, always, and every-where the ſame, Rev. i. 8, 11.

CHAP. IV.

Moſes's Excuſes for declining the Commiſſion on which God was about to ſend him; God anſwers his Objections, by empowering him to work Miracles; and appoints his Brother Aaron his Aſſiſtant. Moſes being ſatisfied, aſks Leave of Jethro to go and viſit his Brethren, which he grants. Moſes, with his Wife and Children, ſets out on his Journey, and, at an Inn, the Lord ſeeks to kill him, but is ſav'd by circumciſing his Son. Moſes and Aaron meet, and having ſummon'd the Iſraelites together, declare the Commiſſion with which God had entruſted them; the People believe, and worſhip.

Ver. 1. AND Moſes anſwered, and ſaid, But behold, they will not believe me, nor hearken unto my voice: for they will ſay, The Lord hath not appeared unto thee. 2 And the Lord ſaid unto him, What is that in thine hand? And he ſaid, A rod. 3 And he ſaid, Caſt it on the ground; and he caſt it on the ground, and it became a ſerpent: and Moſes fled from before it. 4 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Put forth thine hand, and take it by the tail. And he put forth his hand and caught it, and it became a rod in his hand. 5 That they may believe that the Lord God of their fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Iſaac, and the God of Jacob, hath appeared unto thee. 6 And the Lord ſaid furthermore unto him, Put now thine hand into thy boſom; and he put his hand into his boſom: and when he took it out, behold, his hand was leprous as ſnow. 7 And he ſaid, Put thine hand into thy boſom again: and he put his hand into his boſom again, and plucked it out of his boſom, and behold, it was turned again as his other fleſh. 8 And it ſhall come to paſs, if they will not believe thee, neither hearken to the voice of the firſt ſign, that they will believe the voice of the latter ſign. 9 And it ſhall come to paſs, if they will not believe alſo theſe two ſigns, neither hearken unto thy voice, that thou ſhalt take of the water of the river, and pour it upon the dry-land: and the water which thou takeſt out of the river, ſhall become blood upon the dry-land: 10 And Moſes ſaid unto the Lord, O my Lord, I am not eloquent, neither heretofore, nor ſince thou haſt ſpoken unto thy ſervant: but I am ſlow of ſpeech, and of a ſlow tongue. 11 And the Lord ſaid unto him, Who hath made mans mouth? or who maketh the dumb, or deaf, or the ſeeing, or the blind? have not I the Lord? 12 Now therefore go, and I will be with thy mouth, and teach thee what thou ſhalt ſay. 13 And he ſaid, O my Lord, ſend, I pray thee, by the hand of him whom thou wilt ſend. 14 And the anger of the Lord was kindled againſt Moſes, and he ſaid, Is not Aaron the Levite thy brother? I know that he can ſpeak well. And alſo behold, he cometh forth to meet thee: and when he ſeeth thee, he will be glad in his heart. 15 And thou ſhalt ſpeak unto him, and put words in his mouth: and I will be with thy mouth, and with his mouth, and will teach you what ye ſhall do. 16 And he ſhall be thy ſpokeſman unto the people: and he ſhall be, even he ſhall be to thee in ſtead of a mouth, and thou ſhalt be to him in ſtead of God. 17 And thou ſhalt take this rod in thine hand, wherewith thou ſhalt do ſigns.

And

And Moſes anſwered, and ſaid, But behold they will not believe me, nor hearken unto my Voice] As Moſes was now to aſſume the Character of the Deliverer of God's People, and of a Perſon inveſted with an extraordinary divine Commiſſion, this was by no Means an unreaſonable Objection; ſince the Iſraelites were not oblig'd to believe him upon his bare Affirmation; and the Improbability of the Thing made it very unlikely that they ſhould give any Credit to it. He ought to have remember'd, however, that the Lord had before aſſured him, they ſhould hearken to him; and that the God of Truth cannot lie; this was therefore, an Inſtance of human Frailty, and of the Weakneſs of his Faith; which, nevertheleſs, God was graciouſly pleaſed not only to overlook, but, in order to extort a Belief from them, that Moſes was inveſted with the Character, which he was to aſſume, he vouchſafed to endue him with the Power of working Miracles before them; a Power never before conferred upon any Man.

And he caſt it on the Ground, and it became a Serpent; and Moſes fled from before it] It is generally believed, that this Rod of Moſes, was his Shepherd's Crook, God chuſing ſo mean an Inſtrument, the more to ſignalize his Almighty Power: And the Serpent, into which it was changed, was of the largeſt Size, at leaſt, as long as the Crook, from which therefore, it is no Wonder that Moſes fled, the Sting of the Serpents in thoſe hot Countries being immediate Death.

And he put his Hand into his Boſom; and when he took it out, behold, his Hand was leprous as Snow] It is no improbable Conjecture, that, as God commanded Moſes to work all his Wonders before Pharaoh, this Miracle of the Leproſy gave Occaſion to the fabulous Story, which was invented in After-ages, viz. That Moſes was a Leper, and the Iſraelites a ſcabby Race, whom the Egyptians were forc'd to drive out of their Country, for fear of the Infection. This Defamation is firſt met with in Manetho's Egyptian Hiſtory; from Manetho it deſcended to Apion, the Greek Hiſtorian; and from him Juſtin and Tacitus, two noted Roman Authors, undoubtedly took it. But, as Manetho might not, at firſt, maliciouſly deviſe it of his own Head, ſo thoſe Writers, from whom he compiled his Hiſtory, might derive it from this Paſſage of Moſes's appearing with a leprous Hand before Pharaoh, which was preſently nois'd about the Country, without the other Part of his being immediately cur'd. For (according to the Argument of Joſephus) 'there needs no other Proof of 'his being no Leper, than what ariſes from his own 'Words, viz. that no Lepers ſhould be admitted into 'any Towns or Villages, but live apart, in a diſtinct 'Habit, by themſelves; that whoever touch'd a Leper, 'or lodg'd under the ſame Roof with him, ſhould be 'reputed unclean; and that, whoever ſhould come to 'be cur'd of that Diſeaſe, ſhould paſs through certain 'Purifications, waſh himſelf with Fountain-Water, 'ſhave off all his Hair, and offer ſuch and ſuch Sacri'fices, before he ſhould be receiv'd into the holy City. 'Now, if Moſes, ſays he, had been afflicted with this 'Diſtemper himſelf; 'tis incongruous to think, that he 'would ever have been ſo ſevere upon others for it.' The Leproſy indeed was a Diſtemper, in a Manner, peculiar to the Egyptians, as both Lucretius and Plutarch tell us: And, if it was ſo in Moſes's Time, he may be preſum'd to have made Laws more ſtrict againſt it, to excite the People's Carefulneſs to avoid a Diſtemper, which they had already ſeen ſo much of, but had now (together with the other Calamities of their Bondage) happily eſcap'd. For that the People, at this Time, were in good Health, is evident from the long Journey they undertook, and which, on all Hands, is agreed they perform'd: And that they were not expell'd by the Egyptians, but went away from them ſore againſt their Will, their Purſuit of them to the Red-Sea, and loſing all their Lives with a Purpoſe of retaking them (Facts that are atteſted by ſeveral Heathen Authors) are an abundant Demonſtration. See Biblioth. Bibl. and Patrick's Com.

I am ſlow of Speech, and of a ſlow Tongue] Moſes, ſays Patrick, here tells us of himſelf, that he was ſlow of Speech, which moſt interpret to be a Stammerer, or Stutterer; and yet St. Stephen (Acts vii. 22.) declares of him, that he was mighty in Words, as well as Deeds; but this admits of an eaſy Reconciliation, if we do but ſuppoſe, that the Senſe of what he ſpake was great and weighty, tho' his Pronunciation was not anſwerable to it. As God however tells him, Exod. iv. 11. that he it was, who made the Mouth, and could, conſequently, give to any Man what Faculties he thought convenient, or remove any Impediment he might have, it ſeems not improbable, that, either by Uſe and Exerciſe, or elſe by God's immediate Cure of his Defect, Moſes had acquired a better Facility in delivering his Mind, ſince we find him making ſeveral Speeches to the People, eſpecially that excellent Diſcourſe before his Death, in the Beginning of Deuteronomy; as he has likewiſe (where his Song occurs, towards the latter End) given an ample Demonſtration, that he wanted not eloquent Words, when he pleas'd to employ them.

18 And Moſes went and returned unto Jethro his father-in-law, and ſaid unto him, let me go, I pray thee, and return unto my brethren, which are in Egypt, and ſee whether they be yet alive. And Jethro ſaid to Moſes, Go in peace. 19 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes in Midian, Go, return into Egypt: for all the men are dead which ſought thy life. 20 And Moſes took his wife, and his ſons, and ſet them upon an aſs, and he returned to the land of Egypt. And Moſes took the rod of God in his hand. 21 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, When thou goeſt to return into Egypt, ſee that thou do all thoſe wonders before Pharaoh which I have put in thine hand: but I will harden his heart, that he ſhall not let the people go. 22 And thou ſhalt ſay unto Pharaoh, Thus ſaith the Lord, Iſrael is my ſon, even my firſt-born: 23 And I ſay unto thee, Let my ſon go, that he may ſerve me: and if thou refuſe to let him go, behold, I will ſlay thy ſon, even thy firſt-born. 24 And it came to paſs by the way in the inn, that the Lord met him, and ſought to kill him. 25 Then Zipporah took a ſharp ſtone, and cut off the foreſkin of her ſon, and caſt it at his feet, and ſaid, Surely a bloody huſband art thou to me. 26 So he let him go: then ſhe ſaid, A bloody huſband thou art, becauſe of the circumciſion. 27 And the Lord ſaid to Aaron, Go into the wilderneſs to meet Moſes. And he went and met him in the mount of God, and kiſſed him. 28 And Moſes told Aaron all the words of the Lord, who had ſent him, and all the ſigns which he had commanded him. 29 And Moſes and Aaron went and gathered together all the elders of the children of Iſrael. 30 And Aaron ſpake all the words which the Lord had ſpoken unto Moſes, and did the ſigns in the ſight of the people. 31 And the people believed: and when they heard that the Lord had viſited the children of Iſrael, and that he had looked upon their affliction, then they bowed their heads and worſhipped.

And Moſes went and returned to Jethro his Father-in-law, and ſaid unto him, Let me go] He was, ſays Pool, both in Juſtice, and Decency, oblig'd to acquaint his Father-in-law with his Intention to leave Midian, and go into Egypt, becauſe he had bound himſelf with an Oath to live with him, and was reſolv'd now to take his Wife and Children, as being well aſſur'd of a ſpeedy Return. But he thought fit to conceal from him the Errand, upon which God ſent him, leſt he ſhould endeavour to hinder, or diſcourage him from ſo difficult and dangerous an Enterprize. So that Moſes, in this Inſtance, Inſtance, has given us a rare Example of Piety and Prudence, in that he took Care to avoid all Occaſions and Temptations to Diſobedience to the divine Commands; as well as of a ſingular Modeſty and Humility, in that ſuch glorious and familiar Converſe with God, and the high Commiſſion, with which he had honour'd him, made him neither forget the Civility and Duty, which he ow'd to his Father, nor break out into any publick and vain-glorious Oſtentations of ſuch a Privilege.

And Moſes took the Rod of God] So call'd partly, becauſe it was appropriated to God's ſpecial Service, to be the Inſtrument of all his glorious Works; and, partly, to ſhew that whatever was done by that Rod, was not done by any Virtue in it, or in the Hand of Moſes, but merely by the Power of God, who was pleas'd, for the Confuſion of his Enemies, to uſe ſo mean an Inſtrument. Nor is it an improbable Conjecture, that the Wands, which great Miniſters are wont to carry in their Hands, in Token of their Power, and Office, were originally deriv'd from this of Moſes.

And Zipporah took a ſharp Stone, and cut off the Foreſkin of her Son] Whether it was required, that the Inſtrument, made Uſe of in the Circumciſion of Children, was to be of Stone or Flint, and whether the Hebrews never us'd any other, is a Queſtion very learnedly diſcuſs'd by Pererius, in his Diſputation on this Place. That the Heathens perform'd ſuch Sort of Abſciſſions with ſharp Flints or Stones, is evident from ſeveral Authors; and tho' Pererius determines againſt the conſtant Uſe of the Flint among the Hebrews in Circumciſion, and againſt its being preſcrib'd or enjoin'd in the Inſtitution, yet there is great Reaſon to preſume, that this Operation was never done with any other Kind of Inſtrument, before that of Joſhua's circumciſing the Iſraelites in the Wilderneſs. See Biblioth. Bibl.

I know of few Paſſages, ſays Stackhouſe, more difficult to be underſtood, than that which contains the Adventure of Moſes's Family in the Inn. Zipporah is commonly repreſented as a perverſe and froward Woman, who look'd upon Circumciſion as a cruel and unneceſſary Ordinance, and therefore prevail'd with her Huſband (who perhaps might be too indulgent to her in the Caſe of her younger Son) to omit it. But it ought to be conſider'd, that, as ſhe was a Midianitiſh Woman, and deſcended from Abraham by his Wife Keturah, ſhe cou'd not have any Averſion to the Rite of Circumciſion, in which ſhe acquieſc'd in the Caſe of her elder Son Gerſhom, and in which ſhe was ſo expert, that, upon her Huſband's Incapacity, ſhe herſelf perform'd the Operation upon the Younger.

The Midianites might perhaps in this Reſpect, imitate their Neighbours the Iſhmaelites, who did not circumciſe their Children until they were thirteen Years of Age; and, for this Reaſon, ſome have imagin'd, that Moſes's Son had not, as yet, undergone the Operation: But Moſes knew very well, that there was a Limitation of Time in the Inſtitution of the Ordinance, and therefore the more probable Reaſon for this Omiſſion ſeems to be, that they were now upon a Journey, Zipporah lately brought to-bed, and that therefore they might think, that the Danger of the Wound to the Infant might excuſe the deferring of his Circumciſion, as it excus'd the Iſraelites afterwards in the Wilderneſs.

But as it does not appear that Moſes lay under any Neceſſity of taking his Family, eſpecially his Wife and Child, along with him; ſo this Omiſſion of circumciſing his Son, might be imputed to him as a greater Fault than ordinary, becauſe he may be ſuppos'd to have underſtood the Will of God, concerning this Rite, more perfectly than any other Man; and was, but juſt before, reminded of the Benefit of that Covenant, whereof this Ordinance was a Seal, and ſome Part of which he was now going to take Poſſeſſion of.

But how abſurd would it have been, for Moſes to be made a Lawgiver to others, when himſelf liv'd in open Violation of God's Laws? Or to be appointed a chief Ruler and Inſtructor of the Iſraelites, to whom he was to inculcate the Obligation of this Ordinance, and on whom he was to inflict Pains and Penalties for their Neglect of it, when himſelf was guilty of the ſame Sin? Nor was this Omiſſion only a great Sin in itſelf, but a great Scandal likewiſe to the Iſraelites, who, by his Example, might very likely be led into the ſame Miſcarriage, and be tempted to ſuſpect the Call of a Perſon, who ſhew'd ſuch a viſible Contempt of God's Law. As Moſes therefore was a publick Perſon, and juſt inveſted with a Commiſſion from God, his Diſobedience to a known Law, was more enormous, his Example might have done more Miſchief, and therefore God's Severity againſt him, either in afflicting him with ſome ſudden Sickneſs, or affrightening him with ſome terrible Apparition, was neceſſary to remind him of his Duty. And, accordingly, whatever the Means was, we find that it brought to his Wife's Remembrance their Neglect of circumciſing the Child: But we injure her Character, if we think, that the Words, which ſhe is made to utter upon this Occaſion, were any angry Taunt, or Exprobation to her Huſband, ſince, (according to the Expoſition of Mr. Mede) they are not directed to him, but to her Son; and are not the Effect of any angry Reſentment, but a ſolemn Form of Speech, made uſe of at the Time of any Child's Circumciſion.

Several of the Jewiſh Doctors tell us, that it was a Cuſtom of the Hebrew Women to call their Children, when they were circumcis'd, by the Name of Chatan, i. e. Spouſe, as if they were now eſpouſed to God; and to this Cuſtom perhaps the Apoſtle might allude, when he tells his Corinthians, 2 Cor. xi. 2. I am jealous over you with an holy Jealouſy; for I have eſpouſed you to one Huſband, that I might preſent you as a chaſte Huſband to Chriſt. However this be, Zipporah, who was an Arabian Woman, might the rather make uſe of this Term, and apply it to her Son, becauſe the Arabians, (whoſe Language has a great Affinity to the Hebrew, and who themſelves, as Deſcendants from Abraham, did, all along, uſe the Rite of Circumciſion) make the Word Chatan ſignify to circumciſe, and Chiten, (as manifeſtly appears in their Tranſlation of the New Teſtament;) which can no otherwiſe be accounted for, than from this Cuſtom of calling a Child Chatan, when he is circumcis'd, even as we, becauſe a Child in Baptiſm is made a Chriſtian, uſe the Word chriſten for to baptize.

If Zipporah's Words then were directed, not to her Huſband, but the Child whom ſhe had juſt now circumcis'd, their proper Meaning muſt be, I, by this Circumciſion, pronounce thee to be a Member of the Church: For the Child on the Day of his Circumciſion, (ſays Aben Ezra upon this Text) was us'd to be call'd Chatan, becauſe he was then firſt join'd to the People of God, and, as it were, eſpous'd unto God. And if this be the Senſe of the Matter, Zipporah was ſo far from expreſſing any angry Reſentment of the Matter, or giving her Huſband any opprobrious Language upon this Occaſion, that ſhe only did the Office of circumciſing her Son, when ſhe perceiv'd that the Delay of it had given Offence to God, and, in doing that Office, pronounc'd the Words over him, which us'd to be pronounc'd, whenever the Ceremony was duly perform'd.

This is an Interpretation, which, not only the Septuagint, and Chaldee Paraphraſt ſeem to countenance, but what moſt modern Maſters of Jewiſh Learning have approv'd. And, as it ſeems to clear the Character of Zipporah, ſo may it receive ſome farther Confirmation from the ſubſequent Behaviour of the Angel, who, as ſoon as he ſaw the Ceremony perform'd, and heard the ſolemn Form pronounc'd over the Child, let Moſes go, and did not ſlay him; whereas had the Operation been done in the Manner that ſome pretend, grudgingly, and of Neceſſity, with inward Regret and Words of Reproach to her Huſband, this (one wou'd think) wou'd have incens'd the Angel, either to have continued the Puniſhment (be it what it will) upon Moſes, or rather have transferr'd it to his Wife, who, upon this Suppoſition, ſeems moſt juſtly to have deſerv'd it.

Upon the whole therefore it appears, that the Words of Zipporah were addreſs'd to her Son, and not her Huſband, and were the uſual Form of Admiſſion into the the Jewiſh Church; and that it was at the Child's Feet ſhe laid the Foreſkin, and not threw it at her Huſband in Anger, when ſhe ſpake the Words above-mention'd; and that, in this whole Affair, there was neither any Squabble between Moſes and his Wife, nor any indecent Behaviour, or opprobrious Language us'd by her.

Moſes and Aaron's firſt Petition to Pharaoh; his haughty and blaſphemous Refuſal, and Order to treat the Children of Iſrael with more Rigour, who, thereupon entreat Relief, but without Succeſs, and lay the whole Blame on Moſes and Aaron. Moſes expoſtulates the Caſe with the Almighty.

Ver. 1. AND afterwards Moſes and Aaron went in, and told Pharaoh, Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, Let my people go, that they may hold a feaſt unto me in the wilderneſs. 2 And Pharaoh ſaid, Who is the Lord that I ſhould obey his voice to let Iſrael go? I know not the Lord, neither will I let Iſrael go. 3 And they ſaid, The God of the Hebrews hath met with us: let us go, we pray thee, three days journey into the deſart, and ſacrifice unto the Lord our God; leſt he fall upon us with peſtilence, or with the ſword. 4 And the king of Egypt ſaid unto them, Wherefore do ye, Moſes and Aaron, let the people from their works; get you unto your burdens. 5 And Pharaoh ſaid, Behold, the people of the land now are many, and you make them reſt from their burdens. 6 And Pharaoh commanded the ſame day the taſk-maſters of the people, and their officers, ſaying, 7 Ye ſhall no more give the people ſtraw, to make brick, as heretofore: let them go and gather ſtraw for themſelves. 8 And the tale of the bricks which they did make heretofore, you ſhall lay upon them: you ſhall not diminiſh ought thereof: for they be idle; therefore they cry, ſaying, Let us go, and ſacrifice to our God. 9 Let there more work be laid upon the men that they may labour therein: and let them not regard vain words. 10 And the taſk-maſters of the people went out, and their officers, and they ſpake to the people, ſaying, Thus ſaith Pharaoh, I will not give you ſtraw. 11 Go ye, get you ſtraw where you can find it: yet not ought of your work ſhall be diminiſhed. 12 So the people were ſcattered abroad throughout all the land of Egypt, to gather ſtubble inſtead of ſtraw. 13 And the taſk-maſters haſted them, ſaying, Fulfil your works, your daily taſks, as when there was ſtraw. 14 And the officers of the children of Iſrael, which Pharaohs taſk-maſters had ſet over them, were beaten, and demanded, Wherefore have ye not fulfilled your taſk in making brick, both yeſterday and to day, as heretofore? 15 Then the officers of the children of Iſrael, came and cried unto Pharaoh, ſaying, Wherefore dealeſt thou thus with thy ſervants? 16 There is no ſtraw given unto thy ſervants, and they ſay to us, Make brick: and behold thy ſervants are beaten; but the fault is in thine own people. 17 But he ſaid, Ye are idle, ye are idle: therefore ye ſay, Let us go, and do ſacrifice to the Lord. 18 Go therefore now and work: for there ſhall no ſtraw be given you, yet ſhall ye deliver the tale of bricks. 19 And the officers of the children of Iſrael did ſee that they were in evil caſe, after it was ſaid, Ye ſhall not miniſh aught from your bricks of your daily taſk. 20 And they met Moſes and Aron, who ſtood in the way as they came forth from Pharaoh. 21 And they ſaid unto them, The Lord look upon you, and judge; becauſe ye have made our ſavour to be abhorred in the eyes of Pharaoh, and in the eyes of his ſervants, to put a ſword in their hands to ſlay us. 22 And Moſes returned unto the Lord, and ſaid, Lord, wherefore haſt thou ſo evil entreated this people; why is it that thou haſt ſent me? 23 For ſince I came to Pharaoh to ſpeak in thy name, he hath done evil to this people; neither haſt thou delivered thy people at all.

Let us go, we pray thee, three Days Journey into the Deſart, and ſacrifice unto the Lord our God] But were not the two Brothers chargeable with Diſingenuity in this their Petition to Pharaoh, for Leave of Abſence only for three Days, when they never deſign'd to return again? It cannot be denied, indeed, ſays Stackhouſe, but that God, from the very firſt Day that he appointed Moſes to go to Pharaoh, intended to deliver his People from their Captivity, and, when once they were departed out of Egypt, that they ſhou'd never return again; and yet they are directed to demand only to go three Days Journey into the Wilderneſs. This was not the Whole of what was intended; but Moſes lay under no Obligation to let ſo bitter an Enemy as Pharaoh, into his whole Deſign. It is ſufficient to abſolve him from any Imputation of Diſingenuity, that he acted according to the Inſtructions which God gave him; and God certainly was not oblig'd to acquaint Pharaoh with all his Mind, but only ſo far as he thought proper: And, for wiſe and good Reaſons, he thought proper to make the Demand no higher at firſt, than three Days Journey into the Wilderneſs, that, by his Denial of ſo modeſt a Requeſt, he might make his Tyranny more manifeſt, and the divine Vengeance upon him more juſt and remarkable.

Wherefore do ye Moſes and Aaron, let the People from their Works? Get you unto your Burdens] Which Words ſeem to be directed, not ſo much to the Elders of Iſrael, who might poſſibly go along with them, as to Moſes and Aaron themſelves; and ſo the Senſe of the Reproof will be, — 'So far am I from granting 'the Liberty which you deſire for the People, that, as 'a juſt Puniſhment upon you, for your ſeditious At-'tempt, I command you alſo to go with the reſt, to 'take your Share in their Burthens, and to perform the 'Taſk which ſhall be required of you.' And that ſo cruel a Tyrant did not proceed farther againſt them, muſt be aſcrib'd to the mighty Power of God, who governs the Spirits, and reſtrains the Hands of the greateſt Kings, when he pleaſes. This ſeems to be a better Account than what ſome of the Jewiſh Fictions give us of it; viz. that when Moſes and Aaron came into Pharaoh's Preſence, they were raiſed to a taller Stature than they had before, had a Splendor in their Countenance, like that of the Sun; and appear'd with ſuch Majeſty, as quite ſtruck him with Terror and Aſtoniſhment.

Ye ſhall no more give the People Straw to make Bricks, &c.] What the Uſe of Straw was in making Bricks, is variouſly conjectur'd. Some think it was of no other Uſe, than to heat the Kilns wherein they where burnt; others, who will have it that they were never burnt at all, imagine, that it ſerv'd only to cover them from the too intenſe Heat of the Sun, and that they might be baked gradually; but, as it is evident that they were burnt in Kilns, the moſt probable Opinion is, that Straw was mixed with the Clay, to make them more ſolid; for, according to a Paſſage in Lucilius, Straw was antiently employ'd to this Purpoſe.

And they ſaid unto them, The Lord look upon you, and judge] It deſerves our Obſervation, ſays Pool, that, notwithſtanding the Miracles, the two Prophets had wrought, to convince the Iſraelites of their divine Miſſion, which ought to have made them endure with Patience, the Tyranny of Pharaoh, in a reſigned Expectation of Deliverance, in God's due Time; theſe Officers are ſo far from ſubmitting to the divine Ambaſſadors, that they fall but little ſhort of curſing them; the Words, the Lord look upon you, and judge, being no leſs than an Imprecation of the divine Vengeance upon them.

And Moſes returned unto the Lord, and ſaid, Lord, wherefore haſt thou ſo evil-intreated this People, &c.] This is an Example which ought to keep all Mankind humble; ſince even the beſt of Men are liable to ſuch groſs Failings: For Moſes, in this Speech, ſeems not only to murmur againſt God, for giving him ſuch an ungrateful Commiſſion, but even to charge him with falſifying his Promiſe, and breaking his Word.

Ver. 1. THEN the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Now ſhalt thou ſee what I will do to Pharaoh: for with a ſtrong hand ſhall he let them go, and with a ſtrong hand ſhall he drive them out of his land. 2 And God ſpake unto Moſes, and ſaid unto him, I am the Lord: 3 And I appeared unto Abraham, unto Iſaac, and unto Jacob, by the name of God Almighty, but by my name JEHOVAH was I not known to them. 4 And I have alſo eſtabliſhed my covenant with them, to give them the land of Canaan, the land of their pilgrimage, wherein they were ſtrangers. 5 And I have alſo heard the groaning of the children of Iſrael, whom the Egyptians keep in bondage: and I have remembred my covenant. 6 Wherefore ſay unto the children of Iſrael, I am the Lord, and I will bring you out from under the burdens of the Egyptians, and I will rid you out of their bondage: and I will redeem you with a ſtretched out arm, and with great judgments. 7 And I will take you to me for a people, and I will be to you a God: and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord your God, which bringeth you out from under the burdens of the Egyptians. 8 And I will bring you in unto the land, concerning the which I did ſwear to give it, to Abraham, to Iſaac, and to Jacob; and I will give it you for an heritage: I am the Lord. 9 And Moſes ſpake ſo unto the children of Iſrael: but they hearkened not unto Moſes, for anguiſh of ſpirit, and for cruel bondage. 10 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 11 Go in, ſpeak unto Pharaoh king of Egypt, that he let the children of Iſrael go out of his land. 12 And Moſes ſpake before the Lord, ſaying, Behold, the children of Iſrael have not hearkened unto me; how then ſhall Pharaoh hear me, who am of uncircumciſed lips? 13 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, and unto Aaron, and gave them a charge unto the children of Iſrael, and unto Pharaoh king of Egypt; to bring the children of Iſrael out of the land of Egypt.

And I appeared unto Abraham, unto Iſaac, and unto Jacob, by the Name of God Almighty, but by my Name JEHOVAH was I not known unto them] But how can this be, when long before Moſes's Time, God is ſo frequently called by that Name? For, did not the Sons of Seth call themſelves by the Name of Jehovah, Gen. iv. 26? Did not Abraham ſwear, and lift up his Hands to Jehovah, Gen. xiv. 22? Did he not call the Place, where he went to offer Iſaac, Jehovah-jireh, Gen. xxii. 14? Did not the Lord ſay unto him, I am the God Jehovah, that brought thee out of Ur of the Chaldees, Gen. xv. 7? And when in a Viſion, Jacob ſaw him ſtand before him, did he not ſay, I am Jehovah, the God of Abraham, thy Father, and the God of Iſaac, Gen. xxviii. 13. Theſe Paſſages make it impoſſible for God not to be known to the Patriarchs under that Name: And therefore ſeveral learned Writers upon this Text have deprehended a Fault in our Tranſlation, and would have the latter Part of the Verſe to be taken interrogatively, thus, By my Name Jehovah was I not known unto them? If we take the Sentence interrogatively, ſay they, every one will ſee, that it plainly intimates, that the Lord had reveal'd himſelf unto them by his Name, which is agreeable to the Scripture Account of the Patriarch's Knowledge and Worſhip of him; but to take the Words without the Interrogation, and ſuppoſe them to intend, that the Lord, who appear'd to Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, was not known to them by his Name Jehovah, cannot be reconcil'd to ſome very expreſs Paſſages in the Book of Geneſis; unleſs we can ſuppoſe, that, as Geneſis was not written, when God reveal'd this his Name to Moſes, Moſes makes Uſe of it by way of Anticipation, becauſe at the Time when he wrote, the Jews commonly us'd it, tho' in the Days when the Patriarchs, whoſe Lives he was giving ſome Account of, liv'd, it was a Thing utterly unknown. There is another Way, however, of expounding theſe Words, if, by the Name Jehovah we underſtand not the Letters or Syllables, but what is properly the Import of it, viz. not only God's eternal Exiſtence, but his omnipotent Power likewiſe, and unchangeable Truth, which give Being, (as we may ſay) to his Promiſes by the actual Performance of them. That this is the Senſe of the Word Jehovah, is apparent from ſeveral Paſſages in this very Book of Exodus. Thus Ch. vii. 5. And the Egyptians ſhall know that I am Jehovah, when I ſtretch forth my Hand upon Egypt; and again, Ver. 17. Thou ſhalt know that I am Jehovah; for behold, I will ſtrike with the Rod, that is in thine Hand, upon the Rivers, and they ſhall be turn'd into Blood: So that the Meaning of the whole Paſſage will fairly be, — 'That, 'tho' God gave Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, ſuch 'Demonſtrations of his Power, as could not but con'vince them, that he would certainly perform his Pro'miſes; yet they did not live to ſee the Accompliſh'ment of them, which he was now going to ſet be'fore the Iſraelites. They believ'd in theſe Things, 'but they did not experimentally know them. They 'had Dreams and Viſions indeed, but Moſes was the 'firſt that wrought Miracles and Prodigies. By theſe 'he made the Name of the Lord known unto the 'World.' And therefore Maimonides well concludes from this Place, that the prophetick Spirit of Moſes was more excellent, than that which had been upon any before his Time. See Pool's, Le Clerc's, and Patrick's Com. and More Nevoch. Part ii. Cap. 35.

16 And these are the names of the sons of Levi, according to their generations; Gershon, and Kohath, and Merari: And the years of the life of Levi, were an hundred thirty and seven years. 17 The sons of Gershon; Libni, and Shimi, according to their families. 18 And the sons of Kohath; Amram, and Izhar, and Hebron, and Uzziel: And the years of the life of Kohath were an hundred thirty and three years. 19 And the sons of Merari; Mahali, and Mushi: these are the families of Levi, according to their generations. 20 And Amram took him Jochebed his fathers sister to wife; and she bare him Aaron and Moses: and the years of the life of Amram were an hundred and thirty and seven years. 21 And the sons of Izhar; Korah, and Nepheg, and Zichri. 22 And the sons of Uzziel; Mishael, and Elzaphan, and Zithri. 23 And Aaron took him Elisheba daughter of Aminadab, sister of Naashon, to wife; and she bare him Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar. 24 And the sons of Korah; Assur, and Elkanah, and Abiasaph: these are the families of the Korhites. 25 And Eleazar Aarons son took him one of the daughters of Putiel to wife; and she bare him Phinehas: these are the heads of the fathers of the Levites, according to their families. 26 These are that Aaron and Moses, to whom the Lord said, Bring out the children of Israel from the land of Egypt, according to their armies. 27 These are they which spake to Pharaoh king of Egypt, to bring out the children of Israel from Egypt: these are that Moses and Aaron. 28 And it came to pass, on the day when the Lord spake unto Moses in the land of Egypt. 29 That the Lord spake unto Moses, saying, I am the Lord: Speak thou unto Pharaoh king of Egypt all that I say unto thee. 30 And Moses said before the Lord, Behold, I am of uncircumcised lips, and how shall Pharaoh hearken unto me.

These are the Heads of their Fathers Houses] The Reason for inserting this Genealogy is, to specify the Lineage of Moses and Aaron, by whom the great Work of the Deliverance of the Children of Israel was to be accomplished. Moses, indeed, is entirely silent as to his own Progeny, but gives a particular Account of his Brother's; which is not only owing to his great Humility and Modesty, which is eminent in many other Passages, but because it was of more Importance, and the Honour of the Priesthood given to Aaron was hereditary, and peculiar to his Seed, and therefore it was necessary it should be exactly known; whereas Moses's Honour and Government was only personal, and did not descend to his Children.

And Amram took him Jochebed his Father's Sister to Wife] Saurin (Dissertation 43.) observes that Jochebed was not only of the same Tribe, but own Aunt likewise to Amram. For, tho' the Septuagint, Vulgate, and (after them) many learned Expositors, both Papists and Protestants, have thought that she was no more than his Uncle Kohath's Daughter, and consequently his Cousin-german, because the Marriage of an Aunt was afterwards forbidden in the Levitical Law; yet the plain Matter of Fact is repugnant to all this. Here it is said expressly, (Ver. 18.) that Kohath, the Father of Amram, was the Son of Levi. In Numb. xxvi. 59, it is said, that Jochebed was Levi's Daughter, and born in Egypt; and here again in Exod. vi. 20. it is said, that Amram took him Jochebed, his Father's Sister, to Wife: And therefore, without subverting the natural Sense of these Texts, we cannot but conclude, that the Nephew married the Aunt. For the Prohibition, made upon the Degrees of Consanguinity, do not flow from the Law of Nature, but only oblige by Virtue of the Command of God; and therefore, before this Command took Place, Relations of a nearer Affinity were allow'd to be join'd together. Nor can the suppos'd Difference of their Age be any Argument to the contrary, since Levi might have her when he was an hundred Years old, and she consequently be very little, if at all, older than her Nephew.

And Moses said before the Lord, Behold, I am of uncircumcised Lips] As among the Jews, Circumcision of any Part denoted its Perfection, so Uncircumcision was set to signify its Defectiveness, or Ineptitude to the Purposes for which it was design'd. Thus the Prophet says of the Jews, that their Ear was uncircumcised, and adds the Explanation of it, because they cannot hearken, Jer. vi. 10. Again he tells us, that the House of Israel were uncircumcised in the Heart, i. e. would not understand, and learn their Duty, Jer. ix. 26. And, in like Manner, here uncircumcised Lips must mean a Person that was a bad Speaker, and wanted Eloquence; and what possibly might induce Moses to make use of this Metaphor, rather than any other, might be the Consideration of his having so lately neglected to circumcise his Son. Some are of Opinion, that the Word Circumcision carries in it an Idea of something superfluous in the Part, and that therefore Moses's Tongue might be either too long, or too big for his Mouth, and that this might occasion either an Inelegance, or Hesitation in his Speech. But the more probable Opinion is, that he was what we call Tongue-tied, which his Parents, either in their Fright might not perceive, or in the general Hurry and Destruction of the Children, might not dare to send for a proper Person to remedy, until it was too late. However this be, 'tis certain, that as Circumcision was the first and greatest Sacrament among the Jews, so Uncircumcision was esteem'd by them the greatest Scandal and Disgrace; and therefore Moses perhaps thought it some Disparagement to him, that he was not able himself to deliver his Mind, in an handsome Manner, to Pharaoh, and therefore made Mention of this again, to engage the Divine Majesty to circumcise his Lips (as they term it) i. e. to remove this Impediment in his Speech, as we have some Reason to believe that he did. See Pererius, Patrick's, and Le Clerc's Com.

CHAP. VII.

Moses and Aaron, being encouraged by God, go to Pharaoh, whose Heart is hardened. Aaron's Rod turned into a Serpent; likewise those of the Magicians. The Waters turned into Blood; the Magicians do the same. Pharaoh still obstinate.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord said unto Moses, See, I have made thee a God to Pharaoh: and Aaron thy brother shall be thy prophet. 2 Thou shalt speak all that I command thee: and Aaron thy brother shall speak unto Pharaoh, that he send the children of Israel out of his land. 3 And I will harden Pharaohs heart, and multiply my signs and my wonders in the land of Egypt. 4 But Pharaoh shall not hearken unto you, that I may lay my hand upon Egypt, and bring forth mine armies, and my people the children of Israel, out of the land of Egypt, by great judgments. 5 And the Egyptians shall know, that I am the Lord, when I stretch forth mine hand upon Egypt, and bring out the children of Israel from among them. 6 And Moses and Aaron did as the Lord commanded them, so did they. 7 And Moses was fourscore years old, and Aaron fourscore and three years old, when they spake unto Pharaoh. 8 And the Lord spake unto Moses, and unto Aaron, ron, saying, 9 When Pharaoh shall speak unto you, saying, Shew a miracle for you: then thou shalt say unto Aaron, Take thy rod and cast it before Pharaoh, and it shall become a serpent. 10 And Moses and Aaron went in unto Pharaoh, and they did so as the Lord had commanded: and Aaron cast down his rod before Pharaoh, and before his servants, and it became a serpent. 11 Then Pharaoh also called the wise-men, and the sorcerers: now the magicians of Egypt, they also did in like manner with their inchantments. 12 For they cast down every man his rod, and they became serpents: but Aarons rod swallowed up their rods. 13 And he hardened Pharaohs heart, that he hearkened not unto them; as the Lord had said. 14 And the Lord said unto Moses, Pharaohs heart is hardened, he refuseth to let the people go. 15 Get thee unto Pharaoh in the morning, lo, he goeth out unto the water, and thou shalt stand by the rivers brink, against he come: and the rod which was turned to a serpent shalt thou take in thine hand. 16 And thou shalt say unto him, The Lord God of the Hebrews hath sent me unto thee, saying, Let my people go that they may serve me in the wilderness: and behold, hitherto thou wouldest not hear. 17 Thus saith the Lord, In this thou shalt know that I am the Lord: behold, I will smite with the rod that is in mine hand, upon the waters which are in the river, and they shall be turned to blood. 18 And the fish that is in the river shall die, and the river shall stink; and the Egyptians shall lothe to drink of the water of the river. 19 And the Lord spake unto Moses, Say unto Aaron, Take thy rod, and stretch out thine hand upon the waters of Egypt, upon their streams, upon their rivers, and upon their ponds, and upon all their pools of water, that they may become blood; and that there may be blood throughout all the land of Egypt, both in vessels of wood, and in vessels of stone. 20 And Moses and Aaron did so, as the Lord commanded: and he lift up the rod and smote the waters that were in the river, in the sight of Pharaoh, and in the sight of his servants: and all the waters that were in the river, were turned to blood. 21 And the fish that was in the river, died: and the river stunk, and the Egyptians could not drink of the water of the river: and there was blood throughout all the land of Egypt. 22 And the magicians of Egypt did so with their inchantments: and Pharaohs heart was hardened, neither did he hearken unto them; as the Lord had said. 23 And Pharaoh turned and went into his house, neither did he set his heart to this also. 24 And all the Egyptians digged round about the river for water to drink: for they could not drink of the water of the river. 25 And seven days were fulfilled, after that the Lord had smitten the river.

I have made thee a God to Pharaoh, and Aaron shall be thy Prophet] God, to silence the Objection, which Moses had more than once made, of his Defectiveness in his Speech, speaks to him these Words; by which he does not only mean, that he had invested him with an Authority to require of Pharaoh an Obedience to his Commands, and upon his Refusal, to inflict such Punishments on him, as none but God could inflict; but that, in executing the Commission he was putting him upon, there was no Occasion to speak to Pharaoh himself: That he had appointed Aaron to do; and therefore he might keep himself upon the Reserve, and Pharaoh at an awful Distance, just as God delivers his Oracles to the People by the Mediation of his Prophets. Only there is one Objection against the Passage itself, which some imagine cannot be genuine, because Moses makes use of the Word Nabi, for a Prophet, which, in his Days, must have been express'd by another. For, so in 1 Sam. ix. 9. it is said, that he, who was now called Nabi, a Prophet, was before that Time called Roeh, a Seer; which seems to imply, that Nabi was not a Word in use till Samuel's Days. But this is very far from Samuel's Meaning, whose plain Sense is this, — That he, who foretold Things to come, or discovered Secrets, was antiently called a Seer, not a Prophet, for a Prophet heretofore signified only an Interpreter of the divine Will; but that now (in Samuel's Days) they began to apply the Word Nabi, or Prophet, to those who could reveal any Secret, or foresee Things to come. See Pool, Le Clerc, and Patrick.

And I will harden Pharaoh's Heart] Several Things, says Stackhouse, are said in Scripture to be done by God, which are only permitted by him to come to pass, in their ordinary Course and Procedure: And thus God may be said to harden Pharaoh's Heart, only because he did not interpose, but suffer'd him to be carried by the Bent of his own Passions, to that inflexible Obstinacy, which prov'd his Ruin. That Moses, to whom God used these Expressions concerning Pharaoh, understood them in his Sense, is evident from many Parts of his Behaviour to him, and especially from his earnestly entreating him to be persuaded, and to let the People go. Had Moses known, or ever thought, that God had doom'd Pharaoh to unavoidable Ruin, it had been an unwarrantable Presumption in him to have persuaded him to have avoided it: But that Moses, with all possible Application, endeavour'd to make an Impression upon Pharaoh for his Good, is manifest from this Passage, glory over me, Exod. viii. 9. i. e. do me the Honour to believe me, when I shall entreat for thee, and for thy Servants; wherein he makes an earnest Address to Pharaoh, to induce him to be persuaded to part with the People, which he certainly never would have done, had he been satisfied that God himself had prevented his Compliance, on Purpose to bring him to Ruin.

And Aaron cast down his Rod before Pharaoh, and before his Servants, and it became a Serpent] But Pharaoh was so far from being satisfied thereby, that he was persuaded some of his own People could do as much; and to confront this Miracle, he sent for his Magicians and Sorcerers, and order'd them to try, if, by magical Art, they could cause the like Transmutation. They attempted, and succeeded; they changed their Rods into Serpents, as Moses had done, but with this remarkable Difference, that Aaron's Rod swallowed up all the Rods of the Magicians, which was enough to convince the proud Monarch of the superior Power of the God of Israel, had not his Heart been so averse to the Thoughts of parting with the Hebrews, that he did not let this Circumstance make a due Impression on his Mind.

Then Pharaoh also called the wise Men, and the Sorcerers] Who the Principal of these Magicians were, says Stackhouse, our sacred Historian makes no Mention. But several, both Jewish and Heathen Authors (from whom St. Paul, without doubt, borrow'd their Names) have inform'd us, that among the Egyptians they were called Jannes and Jambres, which, to give them a Latin Termination, would be Johannes and Ambrosius, of whom Numenius (as he is quoted by Eusebius) has given us this remarkable Account, viz. 'That they 'were the Scribes, in religious Matters, among the 'Egyptians; that they flourish'd in Egypt, at the Time 'when the Jews were driven from thence; that they 'did not give Place to any Body in the Science of magical Secrets; and, for this Reason, were chosen unanimously by all Egypt to oppose Museus (so he calls 'Moses) a Leader of the Jews, and whose Prayers 'were very prevalent with God.'

But

But what probable Account from Reaſon or Nature, in what Manner theſe Magicians were able ſo nearly to counterfeit the Miracles wrought by Maſes? There are two Ways, ſays Stackhouſe, wherein we may imagine it in the Power of the Devil to be aſſiſtant to ſuch Perſons as pretend to work Miracles. The firſt is, by raiſing falſe Images and Appearances of Things; which may be done, either by affecting the Brain, or confuſing the optick Nerves, or altering the Medium which is between us and the Object. That he did ſome ſuch Thing, as this, to our bleſſed Saviour, when, from the Top of an high Mountain, he pretended to ſhew him all the Kingdoms of the World, and the Glory of them, in a Moment of Time, Matt. iv. 8. is very plain from the Convexity of the Earth, which bounds the Horizon, and admits of no ſuch unlimited Proſpect; ſo that all he could be preſum'd capable of doing in this Caſe (as our Saviour was not inſenſible what he did do) was to make fictitious Repreſentations of gay and magnificent Things in the Air.

Secondly, The other Way, wherein the Devil may be ſuppos'd able to aſſiſt theſe Magicians, is, by making uſe of the Laws of Nature, in producing Effects which are not above the natural Power of Things, tho' they certainly exceed what Man can do. Thus, to tranſport a Body with inconceivable Rapidity, from one Place to another; to bring together different Productions of Nature, which, ſeparately, have no viſible Effect, but, when united, work Wonders; to make Images move, walk, ſpeak, and the like; theſe may come within the Compaſs of the Devil's Power, becauſe not tranſcending the Laws of Nature, tho' we cannot diſcern by what Means they are effected.

There is a farther Suppoſition of ſome learned Men, viz. that under the divine Permiſſion, wicked Spirits have a Power to work real Miracles, of which they perceive ſome Intimations given us in Scripture (Deut. xiii. 1. Matt. xxiv. 24. 2 Theſſ. ii. 9.) and, in the Nature of the Thing, no Reaſon to the contrary; and therefore, the Queſtion is, Whether, what the Magicians here perform'd, were real Miracles, or not? Now, no Art, or Study of occult Sciences, can enable a Man really to change a Rod into a living Serpent; yet Moſes ſays expreſly, that they flung down every Man his Rod, and they became Serpents. There are no Inchantments, no Rules in Sorcery ſufficient to make a living Frog, or to change Water into real Blood; and to ſuppoſe that the Magicians went about to impoſe upon Pharaoh, and the reſt of the Spectators, by mere Artifice, and Sleight of Hand, was giving Moſes and Aaron (whom we cannot but ſuppoſe inquiſitive on this Occaſion) the faireſt Opportunity imaginable to detect the Cheat, and expoſe them to the Contempt and Deriſion of the whole Company.

And the Fiſh that was in the River, died] Diodorus Siculus, in his Deſcription of Egypt, informs us, that the River Nile abounded with all Manner of Fiſh, tho' later Travellers tell us, that there are not, at preſent, many in it. Whether this may be attributed to the Muddineſs of its Waters, or to the Havock which the Crocodiles, and other Monſters of this River, may be ſuppos'd to make in it. But, whether antient or modern Geographers are right in this Particular, 'tis certain that this Putrefaction of the Water, and ſlaying the Fiſh, was a very heavy Judgment upon the Egyptians, who abſtain'd from the eating of moſt Animals, whoſe Liquor generally was Water, and whoſe conſtant Food was the Fruits of the Earth, and the Fiſh of the River. See Le Clerc's Com. and Well's Geogr.

CHAP. VIII.

The Plagues of Frogs, Lice and Flies; which, on Moſes's Prayer, are removed; but Pharaoh is ſtill hardened.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, Go unto Pharaoh, and ſay unto him, Thus ſaith the Lord, Let my people go, that they may ſerve me. 2 And if thou refuſe to let them go, behold, I will ſmite all thy borders with frogs. 3 And the river ſhall bring forth frogs abundantly, which ſhall go up and come into thine houſe, and into thy bed-chamber, and upon thy bed, and into the houſe of thy ſervants, and upon thy people, and into thine ovens, and into thy kneading-troughs. 4 And the frogs ſhall come up both on thee, and upon thy people, and upon all thy ſervants. 5 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, Say unto Aaron, Stretch forth thine hand with the rod over the ſtreams, over the rivers, and over the ponds, and cauſe frogs to come up upon the land of Egypt. 6 And Aaron ſtretched out his hand over the waters of Egypt; and the frogs came up, and covered the land of Egypt. 7 And the Magicians did ſo with their inchantments, and brought up frogs upon the land of Egypt. 8 Then Pharaoh called for Moſes and Aaron, and ſaid, Intreat the Lord that he may take away the frogs from me, and from my people: and I will let the people go, that they may do ſacrifice unto the Lord. 9 And Moſes ſaid unto Pharaoh, Glory over me: when ſhall I intreat for thee, and for thy ſervants, and for thy people, to deſtroy the frogs from thee, and thy houſes, that they may remain in the river only? 10 And he ſaid, Tomorrow. And he ſaid, Be it according to thy word: that thou mayeſt know, that there is none like unto the Lord our God. 11 And the frogs ſhall depart from thee, and from thy houſes, and from thy ſervants, and from thy people; they ſhall remain in the river only. 12 And Moſes and Aaron went out from Pharaoh: and Moſes cried unto the Lord, becauſe of the frogs which he had brought againſt Pharaoh. 13 And the Lord did according to the word of Moſes: and the frogs died out of the houſes, out of the villages, and out of the fields. 14 And they gathered them together upon heaps: and the land ſtank. 15 But when Pharaoh ſaw that there was reſpite, he hardened his heart, and hearkened not unto them; as the Lord had ſaid. 16 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Say unto Aaron, Stretch out thy rod, and ſmite the duſt of the land, that it may become lice throughout all the land of Egypt. 17 And they did ſo; for Aaron ſtretched out his hand with his rod, and ſmote the duſt of the earth, and it became lice, in man and in beaſt: all the duſt of the land became lice throughout all the land of Egypt. 18 And the magicians did ſo with their inchantments to bring forth lice, but they could not: ſo there were lice upon man, and upon beaſt. 19 Then the magicians ſaid unto Pharaoh, This is the finger of God: and Pharaohs heart was hardened, and he hearkned not unto them; as the Lord had ſaid. 20 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Riſe up early in the morning, and ſtand before Pharaoh, (lo, he cometh forth to the water) and ſay unto him, Thus ſaith the Lord, Let my people go, that they may ſerve me 21 Elſe if thou wilt not let my people go, behold, I will ſend ſwarms of flies upon thee, and upon thy ſervants, and upon thy people, and into thy houſes: and the houſes of the Egyptians ſhall be full of ſwarms of flies, and alſo the ground whereon they are. 22 And I will ſever in that day the land of Goſhen, in which my people dwell, that no ſwarms of flies ſhall be there;

there; to the end thou mayeſt know, that I am the Lord in the midſt of the earth. 23 And I will put a diviſion between my people and thy people: to-morrow ſhall this ſign be. 24 And the Lord did ſo: and there came a grievous ſwarm of flies into the houſe of Pharaoh, and into his ſervants houſes, and into all the land of Egypt: the land was corrupted by reaſon of the ſwarm of flies. 25 And Pharaoh called for Moſes, and for Aaron, and ſaid, Go ye, ſacrifice to your God in the land. 26 And Moſes ſaid, It is not meet ſo to do; for we ſhall ſacrifice the abomination of the Egyptians to the Lord our God: Lo, ſhall we ſacrifice the abomination of the Egyptians before their eyes, and will they not ſtone us? 27 We will go three days journey into the wilderneſs, and ſacrifice to the Lord our God, as he ſhall command us. 28 And Pharaoh ſaid, I will let you go, that ye may ſacrifice to the Lord your God, in the wilderneſs; only you ſhall not go very far away: intreat for me. 29 And Moſes ſaid, Behold, I go out from thee, and I will intreat the Lord, that the ſwarms of flies may depart from Pharaoh, from his ſervants, and from his people, to-morrow: but let not Pharaoh deal deceitfully any more, in not letting the people go to ſacrifice to the Lord. 30 And Moſes went out from Pharaoh, and intreated the Lord. 31 And the Lord did according to the word of Moſes; and he removed the ſwarms of flies from Pharaoh, from his ſervants, and from his people: there remained not one. 32 And Pharaoh hardened his heart at this time alſo; neither would he let the people go.

And the River ſhall bring forth Frogs abundantly] The River Nile naturally produces Frogs; but ſo great an Abundance, appearing on a ſudden, filling the Country, and leaving the Rivers and Fields, to go into the Cities and Houſes, was really miraculous. How they got into the Cities and Houſes, is not ſo hard a Matter to conceive: For if expert Generals, according to both antient and modern Hiſtory, have ſometimes ſurpriz'd an Enemy, by entering Cities through the Common-ſewers, with much leſs Difficulty might Frogs, theſe Armies of the divine Vengeance, find a Conveyance into the Cities, which all ſtood upon the Banks of the River, by Aqueducts and ſubterraneous Communications; and, being got into the Cities, they might find Apertures in the Walls of the Houſes, which the Inhabitants never perceiv'd before. See Biblioth. Bibl.

And Moſes ſaid unto Pharaoh, Glory over me] The Senſe of theſe Words is taken diverſly. Some interpret them thus: Since thou humbleſt thyſelf, and doſt acknowledge thy Subjection, and declareſt thy Obedience to God, thou haſt conquered me, and got the better of my Plagues, which thou wouldeſt never have done, hadſt thou remained hardened and impenitent. The French Annotators Comment upon it is this: Since thou do'ſt humble and diſpoſe thyſelf to God's Will, I alſo will frame myſelf to thy Will, and do this Service. Or, ſay others, he ſpeaks ironically; as if he had ſaid, Scorn me if thou wilt, and reject me according to thy uſual Cuſtom; yet muſt thou requeſt me to relieve, and be favourable to thee.

Smite the Duſt of the Land, that it may become Lice] Some would have the Word Cinnim, which we render Lice, to ſignify Gnats. The Septuagint call them Kenipes; but what Kind of Creatures theſe were, is not ſo well known. Others wou'd have them to be a new Species of Animals, call'd analogically by an old Name; or, if they were Lice, that they were ſuch as had Wings, and cruelly ſtung and ulcerated the Egyptians. But upon the Suppoſition, that they were no worſe than common Lice, this was Plague enough to the Egyptians, who affected Neatneſs to ſuch a Degree, that they bath'd themſelves every Day, and ſome of them frequently ſhav'd their Bodies all over, for fear of ſuch Vermin. Thoſe who pretend that theſe Lice were a new Species, make this a Reaſon why the Magicians could not counterfeit this Miracle, becauſe, tho' they could eaſily provide, the Serpents, the Blood, and the Frogs, yet this Sort of Animal was now no where to be had; and therefore, as the Organs of Sight are more liable to be impos'd upon, than thoſe of Feeling, the Magicians might impoſe upon the King, and the other Spectators, with fantaſtical Blood and Frogs, but viſionary Lice cou'd not vex and torment the Body: So that now it was Time for the Enchanters to deſiſt, and to own their Inability to mimick Moſes any farther: But ſuppoſing, that what the Magicians did, in the three former Miracles, was not Illuſion, and Impoſition upon the Senſes, but Reality, the true Reaſon why they could proceed no farther, was, that God Almighty had laid this Reſtraint and Prohibition upon the evil Spirits, who had hitherto been ſubſervient to them, that they might not aſſiſt them any longer. See Le Clerc's Com. and Bibl. Bib.

And I will ſend Swarms of Flies upon thee] The Word Arob, which we render Fly in general, is, by the Septuagint, call'd Kunomuia, i. e. Dog-fly, from its biting; for it faſtens its Teeth ſo deep in the Fleſh, and ſticks ſo very cloſe, that it oftentimes makes Cattle run mad; and the Congruity of this Plague ſeems to be greater, becauſe one of the Egyptian Deities, which they call'd Anubis, bore the Head of a Dog. The Pſalmiſt indeed tells us, that God ſent divers Sorts of Flies among them, which devour'd them, Pſ. lxxviii. 45. So that, according to him, it was not one particular Kind, but all Sorts of Flies mingled together in one prodigious Swarm or Conflux. Some tranſlate it a Mixture of Beaſts, which they ſuppoſe went into Egypt to infect and deſtroy the Country; but this is not ſo probable a Conſtruction, becauſe the Puniſhments, hitherto inflicted, were hitherto nauſeous and troubleſome, rather than mortal; tho' this Plague of infinite Numbers of ſmall Tormentors is ſo great a one, that God calls it his Army, Joel ii. 25. and that the Greeks thought fit (as Pliny tells us) to have a God to deliver them from it, under the Stile of Myiagros, or Myiodes, even as Beelzebub ſignifies the Lord or God of Flies. See Bochart, Hier. II.

THEN the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Go in unto Pharaoh, and tell him, Thus ſaith the Lord God of the Hebrews, Let my people go that they may ſerve me. 2 For if thou refuſe to let them go, and wilt hold them ſtill, 3 Behold, the hand of the Lord is upon thy cattle which is in the field, upon the horſes, upon the aſſes, upon the camels, upon the oxen, and upon the ſheep: there ſhall be a very grievous murrain. 4 And the Lord ſhall ſever between the cattle of Iſrael, and the cattle of Egypt: and there ſhall nothing die of all that is the childrens of Iſrael. 5 And the Lord appointed a ſet time, ſaying, To-morrow the Lord ſhall do this thing in the land. 6 And the Lord did that thing on the morrow, and all the cattel of Egypt died: but of the cattel of the children of Iſrael died not one. 7 And Pharaoh ſent, and behold, there was not one of the cattel of the Iſraelites dead. Exodus Chap. XIV. Ver. 27, 28.

And the Waters returned and covered the Chariots, and the Horsemen, and all the Host of Pharaoh that came into the Sea after them: there remained not so much as one of them.

people go. 8 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, and unto Aaron, Take to you handfuls of aſhes of the furnace, and let Moſes ſprinkle it towards the heaven in the ſight of Pharaoh. 9 And it ſhall become ſmall duſt in all the land of Egypt, and ſhall be a boyl breaking forth with blains upon man, and upon beaſt, throughout all the land of Egypt. 10 And they took aſhes of the furnace and ſtood before Pharaoh, and Moſes ſprinkled it up toward heaven: and it became a boil breaking forth with blains upon man and upon beaſt. 11 And the magicians could not ſtand before Moſes, becauſe of the boyl: for the boyl was upon the magicians, and upon all the Egyptians. 12 And the Lord hardened the heart of Pharaoh, and he hearkned not unto them; as the Lord had ſpoken unto Moſes. 13 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Riſe up early in the morning, and ſtand before Pharaoh, and ſay unto him, Thus ſaith the Lord God of the Hebrews, Let my people go, that they may ſerve me. 14 For I will at this time ſend all my plagues upon thine heart, and upon thy ſervants, and upon thy people: that thou mayeſt know that there is none like me in all the earth. 15 For now I will ſtretch out my hand, that I may ſmite thee and thy people with peſtilence; and thou ſhalt be cut off from the earth. 16 And in very deed for this cauſe have I raiſed thee up, for to ſhew in thee my power; and that my name may be declared throughout all the earth. 17 As yet exalteſt thou thyſelf againſt my people, that thou wilt not let them go? 18 Behold, to-morrow about this time, I will cauſe it to rain a very grievous hail, ſuch as hath not been in Egypt, ſince the foundation thereof even until now. 19 Send therefore now, and gather thy cattel, and all that thou haſt in the field: for upon every man and beaſt which ſhall be found in the field, and ſhall not be brought home, the hail ſhall come down upon them, and they ſhall die. 20 He that feared the word of the Lord amongſt the ſervants of Pharaoh, made his ſervants and his cattel flee into the houſes. 21 And he that regarded not the the word of the Lord, left his ſervants and his cattel in the field. 22 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Stretch forth thine hand toward heaven, that there may be hail in all the land of Egypt; upon man, and upon beaſt, and upon every herb of the field throughout the land of Egypt. 23 And Moſes ſtretched forth his rod toward heaven, and the Lord ſent thunder and hail, and the fire ran along upon the ground; and the Lord rained hail upon the land of Egypt. 24 So there was hail, and fire mingled with the hail, very grievous, ſuch as there was none like it in all the land of Egypt, ſince it became a nation. 25 And the hail ſmote throughout all the land of Egypt, all that was in the field, both man and beaſt: and the hail ſmote every herb of the field, and brake every tree of the field. 26 Only in the land of Goſhen, where the children of Iſrael were, was there no hail. 27 And Pharaoh ſent, and called for Moſes and Aaron, and ſaid unto them, I have ſinned this time: the Lord is righteous, and I and my people are wicked. 28 Intreat the Lord (for it is enough) that there be no more mighty thundrings, and hail; and I will let you go, and ye ſhall ſtay no longer. 29 And Moſes ſaid unto him, As ſoon as I am gone out of the city, I will ſpread abroad my hands unto the Lord: and the thunder ſhall ceaſe, neither ſhall there be any more hail; that thou mayeſt know how that the earth is the Lords. 30 But as for thee, and thy ſervants, I know that ye will not yet fear the Lord God. 31 And the flax, and the barley was ſmitten: for the barley was in the ear, and the flax was bolled. 32 But the wheat and the rye were not ſmitten: for they were not grown up. 33 And Moſes went out of the city from Pharaoh, and ſpread abroad his hands unto the Lord: and the thunders and the hail ceaſed, and the rain was not poured upon the earth. 34 And when Pharaoh ſaw that the rain and the hail, and the thunders were ceaſed, he ſinned yet more, and hardned his heart, he and his ſervants. 35 And the heart of Pharaoh was hardned, neither would he let the children of Iſrael go; as the Lord had ſpoken by Moſes.

In the 6th Verſe it is ſaid, all the Cattle of Egypt died; yet in Ver. 7, 19, and 25, we read of more Cattle that were not deſtroy'd: How is this reconcilable? The Meaning is, that the Mortality took hold of all Kinds of Cattle, and deſtroyed great Numbers of them, ſome of every Sort.

And ſhall be a Boil, breaking forth with Blains, upon Man, and upon Beaſt] The Hebrew Shechin, properly ſignifies an Inflammation, which firſt makes a Tumour or Boil (as we tranſlate it) and thence turns into a grievous Ulcer. Dr. Lightfoot indeed obſerves, that, in the Book of Job, Ch. ii. 7, 8. where the ſame Word occurs, it ſignifies only a burning Itch, or an inflam'd Scab; an intolerable dry Itch, which Job could not ſcratch off with his Nails, and was therefore forc'd to make uſe of a Potſherd: But then he confeſſes that this Shechin, here ſpoken of, was more rancorous than that, having Blains and Ulcers that broke out with it, which Job's had not. So that the Egyptians, according to this, muſt have been vexed with a treble Puniſhment at once (a Puniſhment fitly calculated for the Mortification of a delicate and voluptuous people) aking Boils, nauſeous Ulcers, and a burning Itch: And to this that Commination of Moſes to the People, in caſe they prov'd diſobedient, does without all peradventure, allude: The Lord will ſmite thee with the Botch of Egypt, and with the Emerods, and with the Scab, and with the Itch, whereof thou canſt not be healed. Deut. xxviii. 27.

And in very deed, for this Cauſe have I raiſed thee up] Theſe Words import no more, than that Pharaoh was deliver'd from the Boils that afflicted him and his People; and reſerved for thoſe future Chaſtiſements, which ſhould illuſtrate the Power and Majeſty of Almighty God.

I will cauſe it to rain a very grievous Hail] This Affliction was the more terrible in Egypt, becauſe, according to the Account of Herodotus, a very rare Thing it was, to ſee any Rain, and much more any Hail in that Climate: And, accordingly, he mentions it as a Kind of Prodigy, that, in the Reign of Pſammenitus, there happen'd to be a Shower in Thebes, which was never known before in the Memory of Man, nor ever after, to the Age wherein our Author wrote. The Pſalmiſt has given us a very poetick Deſcription of this Judgment: He deſtroy'd the Vines with Hail, and the Sycamore-trees with Froſt. He gave up the Cattle alſo to the Hail, and their Flocks to hot Thunder-bolts, Pſ. lxxvii. 47, 48. And from the plain Account of Moſes, where he mixes Thunder, Hail, and Fire together, Ver. 23. the Obſervation is obvious, that here were no leſs than three of the Elements in Confederacy againſt Pharaoh's Obſtinacy; the Air in the Thunder; the Water in the Hail; and the Fire in the Lightning, all jointly demonſtrating, monſtrating, and proclaiming, that the God of Iſrael was the God of Nature.

And Moſes went out of the City from Pharaoh, and ſpread abroad his Hands unto the Lord] The Jewiſh Writers ſay, that Moſes went out of the City to ſupplicate God for the Removal of this Plague, in Regard his Prayers would have been ineffectual within it, becauſe of the numerous Idols that were there worſhipped. Others, with more Reaſon, conjecture, that Moſes retired into a ſolitary Place, for the Conveniency of pouring out his Prayers undiſturb'd.

Pharaoh is threatned with Locuſts; upon which his Servants adviſe him to let Iſrael go. The Locuſts ſent. Pharaoh's Penitence, and Relapſe. The Judgment of Darkneſs. Moſes forbidden Pharaoh's Preſence.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Go in unto Pharaoh: for I have hardened his heart, and the heart of his ſervants; that I might ſhew theſe my ſigns before him: 2 And that thou mayeſt tell in the ears of thy ſon, and of thy ſons ſon: what things I have wrought in Egypt, and my ſigns which I have done amongſt them; that ye may know how that I am the Lord. 3 And Moſes and Aaron came in unto Pharaoh, and ſaid unto him, Thus ſaith the Lord God of the Hebrews; How long wilt thou refuſe to humble thyſelf before me? Let my people go that they may ſerve me. 4 Elſe if thou refuſe to let my people go, behold, to-morrow will I bring the locuſts into thy coaſt. 5 And they ſhall cover the face of the earth, that one cannot be able to ſee the earth: and they ſhall eat the reſidue of that which is eſcaped, which remaineth unto you from the hail, and ſhall eat every tree which groweth for you out of the field. 6 And they ſhall fill thy houſes, and the houſes of all thy ſervants, and the houſes of all the Egyptians; which neither thy fathers, nor thy fathers fathers have ſeen, ſince the day that they were upon the earth, unto this day. And he turned himſelf, and went out from Pharaoh. 7 And Pharaohs ſervants ſaid unto him, How long ſhall this man be a ſnare unto us? Let the men go, that they may ſerve the Lord their God: Knoweſt thou not yet, that Egypt is deſtroyed? 8 And Moſes and Aaron were brought again unto Pharaoh: and he ſaid unto them, Go, ſerve the Lord your God: but who are they that ſhall go? 9 And Moſes ſaid, We will go with our young, and with our old, with our ſons, and with our daughters; with our flocks, and with our herds will we go: for we muſt hold a feaſt unto the Lord. 10 And he ſaid unto them, Let the Lord be ſo with you, as I will let you go, and your little ones: look to it, for evil is before you. 11 Not ſo: go now ye that are men, and ſerve the Lord, for that you did deſire. And they were driven out from Pharaohs preſence. 12 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Stretch out thine hand over the land of Egypt for the locuſts, that they may come upon the land of Egypt, and eat every herb of the land, even all that the hail hath left. 13 And Moſes ſtretched forth his rod over the land of Egypt, and the Lord brought an eaſt-wind upon the land all that day, and all that night: and when it was morning, the eaſt-wind brought the locuſts. 14 And the locuſts went up over all the land of Egypt, and reſted in all the coaſts of Egypt: very grievous were they; before them there were no ſuch locuſts as they, neither after them ſhall be ſuch. 15 For they covered the face of the whole earth, ſo that the land was darkened, and they did eat every herb of the land, and all the fruit of the trees, which the hail had left: and there remained not any green thing in the trees, or in the herbs of the field, through all the land of Egypt. 16 Then Pharaoh called for Moſes and Aaron in haſte; and he ſaid, I have ſinned againſt the Lord your God, and againſt you. 17 Now therefore forgive, I pray thee, my ſin only this once, and intreat the Lord your God, that he may take away from me this death only. 18 And he went out from Pharaoh, and intreated the Lord. 19 And the Lord turned a mighty ſtrong weſt-wind, which took away the locuſts, and caſt them into the Red ſea: there remained not one locuſt in all the coaſts of Egypt. 20 But the Lord hardened Pharaohs heart, ſo that he would not let the children of Iſrael go. 21 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Stretch out thine hand toward heaven, that there may be darkneſs over the land of Egypt, even darkneſs which may be felt. 22 And Moſes ſtretched forth his hand toward heaven: and there was a thick darkneſs in all the land of Egypt three days. 23 They ſaw not one another, neither roſe any from his place for three days: but all the children of Iſrael had light in their dwellings. 24 And Pharaoh called unto Moſes, and ſaid, Go ye, ſerve the Lord; only let your flocks and your herds be ſtayed: let your little ones alſo go with you. 25 And Moſes ſaid, Thou muſt give us alſo ſacrifices, and burnt-offerings, that we may ſacrifice unto the Lord our God. 26 Our cattle alſo ſhall go with us; there ſhall not an hoof be left behind: for thereof muſt we take to ſerve the Lord our God; and we know not with what we muſt ſerve the Lord until we come thither. 27 But the Lord hardened Pharaohs heart, and he would not let them go. 28 And Pharaoh ſaid unto him, Get thee from me, take heed to thyſelf, ſee my face no more: for in that day thou ſeeſt my face, thou ſhalt die. 29 And Moſes ſaid, Thou haſt ſpoken well, I will ſee thy face again no more.

To-morrow will I bring the Locuſts into thy Coaſts] This is the Creature, which we properly call the Graſhopper; and wonderful is the Account which ſeveral Authors give of them. Thevenot, in his Travels, tells us, 'That in that Part of Scythia, which the Coſſacs 'now inhabit, there are infinite Numbers of them, '(eſpecially in dry Seaſons) which the North-East 'Wind brings over from Tartary, Circaſſia, and Mingrelia, which are ſeldom or never free from them; 'that they fly in the Air all compact together, like a 'vaſt Cloud, ſometimes 15 or 18 Miles long, and about '10 or 12 Miles broad, ſo that they quite darken the 'Sky, and make the brighteſt Day obſcure; and that 'wherever they light, they devour all the Corn in leſs 'than two Hours Time, and frequently make a Famine in the Country. Theſe Inſects, ſays he, live 'not above ſix Months; and when they are dead, the 'Stench of them ſo corrupts and infects the Air, that 'it very often breeds dreadful Peſtilences.' God calls the Locuſt, the Canker-worm, Caterpillar, and the Palmer-Worm, his great Army, which he ſends among a wicked and rebellious People, Joel ii. 25. And how proper the Expreſſion is, in relation to the Locuſt in particular, will appear from the Account which [illegible] vandus and Fincelius give us of these Animals, viz. ‘ That, in the Year of the Lord 852, an infinite Number of them was seen to fly over 20 Miles in Germany in one Day, in the Manner of a form'd Army, ‘ divided into several Squadrons, and having their Quarters apart, when they rested; that the Captains ‘ march'd a Day's Journey before the rest, and chose ‘ the most opportune Places for their Camp; that they ‘ never removed till Sun-rising, at which Time they ‘ went away in as much Order, as an Army of Men ‘ could do; that, at last, having done great Mischief ‘ wherever they pass'd (after Prayers made to God) ‘ they were driven by a violent Wind, in the Belgick ‘ Ocean, and there drown'd; but that, being cast by ‘ the Sea, upon the Shore, they cover'd 140 Acres of ‘ Land, and caus'd a great Pestilence in the Country.' Which is enough to shew how dreadful a Punishment this was, especially considering, that these Locusts were such, as were never known before, and yet the ordinary Locust (as Aristotle and Pliny have describ'd it) was an Animal so fierce and formidable, that one single one would kill a Serpent, by taking it fast by the Jaws, and biting it to Death.

And he said unto them, Let the Lord be so with you, as I will let you go, and your little ones. Look to it, for Evil is before you. Not so; go ye now that are Men, and serve the Lord, for that you did desire] This Passage has been variously interpreted, but on the Whole, the Sense of Pharaoh's Speech, is probably this: Let Jehovah deliver you, if he can, against my Will; for to your present Demand, I will not consent; look to the State ye are in, for Evil is before you, and remember, I am ready to let you, who are Men, go to worship Jehovah, and that is all that I understood that ye desired. As soon as the King had done speaking, his Officers perceiving that he was angry with the Prophets, drove them hastily out of his Presence.

That there may be Darkness over the Land of Egypt, even Darkness that may be felt] The Septuagint, and most Translations render it, a Darkness, which might be felt, i. e. consisting of black Vapours and Exhalations, so condens'd, that they might be perceiv'd by the Organs of Touch. But, some Commentators think, that this is carrying the Sense too far; since, in such a Medium as this, Mankind could not live an Hour, much less for the Space of three Days, as the Egyptians are said to have done: And therefore they imagine, that, instead of a Darkness that may be felt, the Hebrew Phrase may signify a Darkness, wherein Men went groping and feeling about for every Thing they wanted. And in this Sense the Author of the Life of Moses certainly takes it: ‘ For, in this Darkness, ‘ says he, they, who were in Bed, durst not get up, ‘ and such, as their natural Occasions compell'd to get ‘ up, went feeling about the Walls, or any other ‘ Thing they could lay hold on, as if they had been ‘ blind.' What it was that occasion'd this Darkness; whether it was in the Air, or in their Eyes; whether it was a Suspension of Light from the Sun in that Country, or a black and thick Vapour, which totally intercepted it; there is Reason to think, that the Description, which the Author of the Book of Wisdom gives us of their inward Terrors, and Consternation, is not altogether conjectural, viz. That they were not only Prisoners of Darkness, and fetter'd with the Bonds of a long Night, but were horribly astonish'd likewise, and troubled with strange Apparitions: For, while over them was spread a heavy Night, they were to themselves more grievous than Darkness, Wisd. xvii. 2, 3, 21. See Le Clerc's Com. and Philo's Life of Moses.

CHAP. XI.

Moses threatens Pharaoh with the Death of all the First-born of Egypt, while the Israelites should enjoy perfect Tranquility. The Israelites commanded to borrow their Egyptian Neighbours Goods, &c.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord said unto Moses, Yet will I bring one plague more upon Pharaoh, and upon Egypt; afterwards he will let you go hence: when he shall let you go, he shall surely thrust you out hence altogether. 2 Speak now in the ears of the people and let every man borrow of his neighbour, and every woman of her neighbour, jewels of silver, and jewels of gold. 3 And the Lord gave the people favour in the sight of the Egyptians. Moreover, the man Moses was very great in the land of Egypt, in the sight of Pharaohs servants, and in the sight of the people. 4 And Moses said, Thus saith the Lord, About midnight will I go out into the midst of Egypt. 5 And all the firstborn in the land of Egypt shall die, from the firstborn of Pharaoh, that sitteth upon his throne, even unto the firstborn of the maid-servant that is behind the mill; and all the firstborn of beasts. 6 And there shall be a great cry throughout all the land of Egypt, such as there was none like it, nor shall be like it any more. 7 But against any of the children of Israel shall not a dog move his tongue, against man or beast: that ye may know how that the Lord doth put a difference between the Egyptians and Israel. 8 And all these thy servants shall come down unto me, and bow down themselves unto me, saying, Get thee out, and all the people that follow thee; and after that I will go out: and he went out from Pharaoh in a great anger. 9 And the Lord said unto Moses, Pharaoh shall not hearken unto you; that my wonders may be multiplied in the land of Egypt. 10 And Moses and Aaron did all these wonders before Pharaoh: and the Lord hardened Pharaohs heart, so that he would not let the children of Israel go out of his land.

The last Chapter ended with Moses's Promise to see the Face of Pharaoh no more; yet in this we have another Conversation betwixt them: How is this reconcilable? In Answer to this, it must be observ'd, that Moses had not yet left his Presence; and as Pharaoh had forbad him, on Pain of Death, ever to see his Face again, Moses thought this the only Opportunity he should ever have of denouncing this final Judgment, the Death of their First-born, which God had told him he would bring upon the Egyptians.

Let every Man borrow of his Neighbour, and every Woman of her Neighbour, Jewels of Silver, and Jewels of Gold] But was not this an Act of Injustice, since that which they were commanded to borrow, was never design'd to be repaid? That this was not an unjust Proceeding, says Stackhouse, will appear from these Considerations, viz. That the Word, which our Translators render borrow, does more properly signify to ask of one; and what they render to lend, is as literally to give. For the Case stood thus between the two Nations. The Egyptians had been thoroughly terrified with what had passed, and especially with the last terrible Plague upon their First-born, and were now willing to give the Hebrews any Thing, or every Thing, only to get quit of them. They therefore brib'd them to be gone, and courted them with Presents, so very profusely, as even to impoverish themselves: But for this the Israelites were not at all culpable, because they only accepted of what the others gave them, and what was freely given, they doubtless had a Right to detain.

But suppose that the strict Sense of the Word was, that they really did borrow many valuable Things of the Egyptians; yet it is a Truth allow'd on all Hands, that God, who is the Supreme Lord of all Things, may, when he pleases, and in what Manner he pleases, transfer the Rights of Men from one another. Considering then, that God was now become the King of the Israelites, in a more proper and peculiar Manner; and considering farther, what insufferable Wrongs the King and People of Egypt had done to this People of God, who were become his peculiar Subjects, and Proprietary Lieges; this Act of ſpoiling the Egyptians (even in the harſheſt Sound of the Word) was, according to the Laws of Nations, more juſtifiable than Royal Grants of Letters of Mart, or other ſuch like Remedies, as Kings are accuſtom'd to make uſe of againſt other Powers that have wrong'd their Subjects, or ſuffer'd them to be wrong'd by thoſe that are under their Command, without making a proper Reſtitution. In ſhort, whatever the Hebrews took from the Egyptians, they took, and poſſeſs'd it, by the Law of Repriſals, i. e. by a ſpecial Warrant from the Lord himſelf, who was now become, not their God only, but their peculiar King.

That ſome Compenſation was due, in ſtrict Juſtice, from the Egyptians to the Hebrews, for the great Services they had done them, is what can hardly be denied: But ſuppoſing this Borrowing and Lending between them had been without any ſuch Regard, yet, if the Iſraelites acquir'd a Right to theſe Things afterwards, there was then no Obligation for making a Reſtitution. Now, that they acquired ſuch a Right, is manifeſt from the Egyptians purſuing them in an hoſtile Manner, and with a Purpoſe to deſtroy them, after they had given them free Liberty to depart; by which Hoſtility and Perfidiouſneſs they plainly forfeited their Right to what they had only lent before. For this hoſtile Attempt (which would have warranted the Iſraelites to have fallen upon the Egyptians, and ſpoil'd them of their Goods) did certainly warrant them to keep them, when they had them; ſo that now they became the rightful Poſſeſſors of what they had only upon Loan, and could not have detain'd, without Fraud and Injuſtice before.

Thus, in what View ſoever we contemplate this Fact, whether it be a voluntary Donation made by the Egyptians; or an Act of Repriſal, made by the Hebrews; or a Deed of Forfeiture, which the former incurr'd by an unjuſt Invaſion upon the latter; the Hebrews will be found not ſo culpable as ſome would make them; Nor can we ſee where the ill Tendency of ſuch a Precedent can be, ſince it is allow'd on all Hands, that it is, in no Caſe to be follow'd, unleſs it be evidently commanded by the ſame divine Authority.

CHAP. XII.

The Paſſover inſtituted. All the Firſt-born of Egypt are ſlain. The Iſraelites are driven out of the Land, but firſt ſpoil the Egyptians. Their firſt Journey. The Law of the Paſſover.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes and Aaron in the land of Egypt, ſaying, 2 This month ſhall be unto you the beginning of months: it ſhall be the firſt month of the year to you. 3 Speak ye unto all the congregation of Iſrael, ſaying, In the tenth day of this month they ſhall take to them every man a lamb, according to the houſe of their fathers, a lamb for an houſe. 4 And if the houſhold be too little for the lamb, let him and his neighbour next unto his houſe, take it according to the number of the ſouls; every man according to his eating, ſhall make you count for the lamb. 5 Your lamb ſhall be without blemiſh, a male of the firſt year: ye ſhall take it out from the ſheep or from the goats. 6 And ye ſhall keep it up until the fourteenth day of the ſame month: and the whole aſſembly of the congregation of Iſrael ſhall kill it in the evening. 7 And they ſhall take of the blood, and ſtrike it on the two ſide-poſts, and on the upper door-poſt of the houſes, wherein they ſhall eat it. 8 And they ſhall eat the fleſh in that night; roaſt with fire, and unleavened bread, and with bitter herbs they ſhall eat it. 9 Eat not of it raw, nor ſodden at all with water, but roaſt with fire: his head with his legs, and with the purtenance thereof. 10 And ye ſhall let nothing of it remain until the morning: and that which remaineth of it until the morning, ye ſhall burn with fire. 11 And thus ſhall ye eat it; with your loins girded, your ſhoes on your feet, and your ſtaff in your hand: and ye ſhall eat it in haſte; it is the Lords paſſover. 12 For I will paſs through the land of Egypt this night, and will ſmite all the firſt-born in the land of Egypt, both man and beaſt: and againſt all the gods of Egypt I will execute judgment; I am the Lord. 13 And the blood ſhall be to you for a token upon the houſes where you are: and when I ſee the blood, I will paſs over you, and the plague ſhall not be upon you to deſtroy you, when I ſmite the land of Egypt. 14 And this day ſhall be unto you for a memorial; and you ſhall keep it a feaſt to the Lord throughout your generations: you ſhall keep it a feaſt by an ordinance for ever. 15 Seven days ſhall ye eat unleavened bread, even the firſt day ye ſhall put away leaven out of your houſes: for whoſoever eateth leavened bread, from the firſt day until the ſeventh day, that ſoul ſhall be cut off from Iſrael. 16 And in the firſt day there ſhall be an holy convocation, and in the ſeventh day there ſhall be an holy convocation to you: no manner of work ſhall be done in them, ſave that which every man muſt eat, that only may be done of you. 17 And ye ſhall obſerve the feaſt of unleavened bread; for in this ſelf ſame day have I brought your armies out of the land of Egypt: therefore ſhall ye obſerve this day in your generations, by an ordinance for ever. 18 In the firſt month, on the fourteenth day of the month at even, ye ſhall eat unleavened bread, until the one and twentieth day of the month at even. 19 Seven days ſhall there be no leaven found in your houſes: for whoſoever eateth that which is leavened, even that ſoul ſhall be cut off from the congregation of Iſrael, whether he be a ſtranger, or born in the land. 20 Ye ſhall eat nothing leavened: in all your habitations ſhall ye eat unleavened bread. 21 Then Moſes called for all the elders of Iſrael, and ſaid unto them, Draw out and take you a lamb according to your families, and kill the paſſover. 22 And ye ſhall take a bunch of hyſſop, and dip it in the blood that is in the baſon, and ſtrike the lintel and the two ſide-poſts, with the blood that is in the baſon: and none of you ſhall go out at the door of his houſe until the morning. 23 For the Lord will paſs through to ſmite the Egyptians, and when he ſeeth the blood upon the lintel, and on the two ſide-poſts, the Lord will paſs over the door, and will not ſuffer the deſtroyer to come in unto your houſes to ſmite you. 24 And ye ſhall obſerve this thing for an ordinance to thee, and to thy ſons for ever. 25 And it ſhall come to paſs when ye be come to the land, which the Lord will give you, according as he hath promiſed, that ye ſhall keep this ſervice. 26 And it ſhall come to paſs, when your children ſhall ſay unto you, What mean you by this ſervice? 27 That ye ſhall ſay, It is the ſacrifice of the Lords paſſover, who paſſed over the houſes of the children of Iſrael in Egypt, when he ſmote the Egyptians, and delivered our houſes. And the people bowed the head and worſhipped. 28 And the the children of Iſrael went away, and did as the Lord had commanded Moſes and Aaron, ſo did they.

In the tenth Day of this Month they ſhall take to them every Man a Lamb, &c.] Some learned Men are of Opinion, that God, in the Inſtitution of the Paſſover, had Reſpect to thoſe impious Rites, which either then did prevail, or, in a ſhort Time, were to prevail among the Egyptians, and other Nations, where the Iſraelites were to dwell. Thus they tell us, 'That 'God appointed a Lamb to be ſlain, and eaten, and 'the Month Niſan, or March, to be the particular 'Time of eating it, in Contempt of the Egyptians, 'who, at that Time, when the Sun firſt enter'd into 'Aries, began their ſolemn Worſhip and Adoration of 'this Creature, and that Celeſtial Sign; that he forbad 'the People to eat the Fleſh of the Paſchal Lamb raw, 'or ſodden, to break its Bones, or leave any Fragments 'of it, becauſe, in the profane Feaſts of Bacchus, it 'was a Cuſtom to eat the raw Fleſh of the Victims, 'which they offer'd to that God, and to break all their 'Bones; and, in the Adoration of the Horai, whom 'the Egyptians, and, from them, the Athenians, re-'puted Goddeſſes, they boil'd all their Sacrifices, and 'carried conſtantly ſome Part of them home, as a good 'Preſervative againſt Misfortunes.' But there is no need, one would think, for ſuch elaborate Explications, when, conſidering the Situation the Iſraelites were in, ſorely oppreſs'd by the Egyptians, and ſhortly to be releas'd, and ſent away with all Speed, the Nature and Quality of the Paſchal Sacrifice, as well as the Manner of dreſſing, and Manner of eating it, may perfectly be accounted for. Thus it was to be a Male, becauſe a more excellent Species than the Female; without Blemiſh, to render it acceptable to God; under a Year old, otherwiſe it could not properly be called a Lamb; and ſet apart from the reſt of the Flock, that it might be in Readineſs, when the People came in haſte to offer it. Roaſted it was to be, and not boil'd, becauſe roaſting was the ſpeedier Way of dreſſing it; but roaſted thoroughly, becauſe the Whole was to be eaten; and the Whole was to be eaten, that none might be left for the Egyptians to profane. It was to be eaten ſtanding, and in haſte, and with other Circumſtances of Men every Moment expecting to begin their Journey; with bitter Herbs, to put them in Mind of their cruel Servitude; and unleavened Bread, in Memory of their Deliverance from it, ſo ſuddenly, that they had not even Time to leaven their Bread for their Journey; which is all that the Iſraelites underſtood, and perhaps that God, at that Time, intended they ſhould underſtand, by the Directions which he gave them concerning this remarkable Ordinance. See Spencer de Rit. Heb. Tom. 1. L. 2. C. 4.

29 And it came to paſs that at midnight the Lord ſmote all the firſt-born in the land of Egypt, from the firſt-born of Pharaoh, that ſat on his throne, unto the firſt-born of the captive that was in the dungeon; and all the firſt-born of cattel. 30 And Pharaoh roſe up in the night, he and all his ſervants, and all the Egyptians; and there was a great cry in Egypt: for there was not a houſe where there was not one dead. 31 And he called for Moſes and Aaron by night, and ſaid, Riſe up, and get you forth from amongſt my people, both you and the children of Iſrael: and go, ſerve the Lord, as ye have ſaid. 32 Alſo take your flocks, and your herds, as ye have ſaid, and be gone: and bleſs me alſo. 33 And the Egyptians were urgent upon the people, that they might ſend them out of the land in haſte: for they ſaid, We be all dead men. 34 And the people took their dough before it was leavened, their kneading-troughs being bound up in their cloths upon their ſhoulders. 35 And the children of Iſrael did according to the word of Moſes: and they borrowed of the Egyptians jewels of ſilver, and jewels of gold, and raiment. 36 And the Lord gave the people favour in the ſight of the Egyptians, ſo that they lent unto them ſuch things as they required: and they ſpoiled the Egyptians. 37 And the children of Iſrael journeyed from Rameſes to Succoth, about ſix hundred thouſand on foot that were men beſides children. 38 And a mixed multitude went up alſo with them; and flocks, and herds, even very much cattel. 39 And they baked unleavened cakes of the dough, which they brought forth out of Egypt, for it was not leavened: becauſe they were thruſt out of Egypt, and could not tarry, neither had they prepared for themſelves any victual. 40 Now the ſojourning of the children of Iſrael, who dwelt in Egypt, was four hundred and thirty years. 41 And it came to paſs, at the end of the four hundred and thirty years, even the ſelf ſame day it came to paſs, that all the hoſts of the Lord went out from the land of Egypt. 42 It is a night to be much obſerved unto the Lord, for bringing them out from the land of Egypt: this is that night of the Lord to be obſerved of all the children of Iſrael in their generations. 43 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes and Aaron, This is the ordinance of the paſſover: there ſhall no ſtranger eat thereof. 44 But every mans ſervant that is bought for money, when thou haſt circumciſed him, then ſhall he eat thereof. 45 A foreigner, and an hired ſervant ſhall not eat thereof. 46 In one houſe ſhall it be eaten, thou ſhalt not carry forth ought of the fleſh abroad out of thy houſe: neither ſhall ye break a bone thereof. 47 All the congregation of Iſrael ſhall keep it. 48 And when a ſtranger ſhall ſojourn with thee, and will keep the paſſover to the Lord, let all his males be circumciſed, and then let him come near and keep it; and he ſhall be as one that is born in the land: for no uncircumciſed perſon ſhall eat thereof. 49 One law ſhall be to him that is homeborn, and unto the ſtranger that ſojourneth among you. 50 Thus did all the children of Iſrael; as the Lord commanded Moſes and Aaron, ſo did they. 51 And it came to paſs the ſelf-ſame day, that the Lord did bring the children of Iſrael out of the land of Egypt, by their armies.

And it came to paſs at Midnight, that the Lord ſmote all the Firſt-born in the Land of Egypt] The Word Bekor ſignifies ſometimes a Perſon of ſome Eminence or Excellence, as well as the Firſt-born: And therefore it may not be an unreaſonable Suppoſition, that, where a Family had no Firſt-born, the principal, or moſt eminent Perſon, was ſmitten to Death: Which is certainly better, than to imagine, with ſome, both Jew and Chriſtian Interpreters, that the Words of Moſes are only applicable to an Houſe that had a Firſt-born, or with St. Auſtin, that Providence did ſo order it at this Time, that every Houſe had a Firſt-born. Since this however is the concluding Judgment, which God ſent upon the Egyptians, it may not be improper here to enquire a little how long Moſes was in working all theſe Miracles. According to Archbiſhop Uſher then, (who has included them all in the Space of one Month) we may ſuppoſe, that, about the 18th Day of the ſixth Month, was ſent the Plague of the Waters turn'd into Blood which ended ſeven Days after. On the 25th came the ſecond Plague of Frogs, which was remov'd the Day following, and on the 27th, that of the Lice. About the 28th Moſes threatned the fourth Plague of Flies, and inflicted inflicted them on the 29th. On the 1st of the next Month, (which was afterwards made the first Month of the Year) he foretold the fifth Plague of the Murrain, and inflicted it the next; and on the 3d, the sixth Plague of Boils, which fell upon the Magicians themselves. About the 4th Day, he foretold the seventh Plague of Thunder and Hail, and on the 5th inflicted it. On the 7th he threatned the eighth Plague of Locusts, and, having sent them the Day following, remov'd them on the 9th. On the 10th he instituted the Feast of the Passover, and brought upon Egypt the ninth Plague of Darkness, which lasted for three Days; and, on the 14th, he foretold the tenth, viz. the Destruction of all their First-born, which came to pass the Night following. This seems to be a reasonable Period of Time; and the gradual Increase of these Judgments is very remarkable. The four first Plagues were very loathsome, rather than fatal, to the Egyptians; but after that of the Flies, came the Murrain, which chiefly spent its Rage upon the Cattle; the Boils and Blains reach'd both Man and Beast, tho' there was still a Reserve for Life. The Hail and Locusts extended, in a great Measure, even to Life itself; the first by an immediate Stroke, and both consequently by destroying the Fruits of the Earth. That of Darkness added Consternation to their Minds, and Lashes to their Consciences; and when all this would not reclaim, at length came the decisive Blow; first the Excision of the First-born, and then the drowning the incorrigible Tyrant and all his Host: Great and marvellous are thy Works, O Lord, God Almighty! just and true are thy Ways, thou King of Saints! Rev. xv. 3.

Now the sojourning of the Children of Israel, who dwelt in Egypt, was four hundred and thirty Years] Mr. Stackhouse observes, that the Difference between the Hebrew, Samaritan, and Septuagint Computations, in this Period of Time is so small, that they seem almost unanimously to agree, that, from the Promise made to Abraham, to his Posterity's Exodus out of Egypt, are 430 Years, which (according to the learned Usher) may very properly be divided into two Halves.

1. From the Time of the Promise, when Abraham was in the 75th Year of his Age, to the Birth of Isaac, are 25 Years; from the Birth of Isaac, to the Birth of Jacob, 60 Years; from the Birth of Jacob, to his Descent into Egypt, 130 Years; so that the Whole of this Division amounts to 215 Years.

2. The other Part of the Division is thus reckon'd up. Joseph, the Son of Jacob, was 30 Years old, when he expounded Pharaoh's Dreams: The seven Years of Plenty were run out, and the third Year of Famine begun, when his Father came down into Egypt: So that, by this Time, Joseph was 39. Now 39 Years taken from 110, which Joseph liv'd, will make the Time which the Israelites continued in Egypt, before Joseph's Death, to be 71: And, as from the Death of Joseph, to the Birth of Moses, are precisely 64 Years; so, from his Birth, to the Time of the Israelites Departure, are 80 Years. The several Articles of this Division therefore, being put together, amount, in like Manner, to 215 Years; and the two gross Sums make exactly 430.

The History indeed tells us, that the Sojourning of the Children of Israel, who dwelt in Egypt, was four hundred and thirty Years; but it does not therefore follow, that they dwelt in Egypt all that Time. They came into Egypt with Jacob, A. M. 2298, and went out of Egypt, A. M. 2513; so that they lived in it just 215 Years. Their Sojourning therefore must not be limited to their living in Egypt, but be taken in a more general Sense, and extended equally to the Time of their living in Canaan, which being added to the Time of their Continuance in Egypt, makes exactly the Number of 430 Years.

That this is the Sense of the divine Historian, is manifest from the Authority of the Samaritan Text, which has the whole Verse thus: Now the inhabiting of the Children of Israel, and their Fathers, whereby they inhabited in the Land of Canaan, and in the Land of Egypt, were four hundred and thirty Years; whereupon the learned Dr. Prideaux has this Observation, 'That the 'Additions herein do manifestly mean the Text; they 'make it more clear and intelligible, and add nothing 'to the Hebrew Copy, but what must be understood 'by the Reader to make out its Sense:' And upon this Presumption it may very reasonably be suppos'd, that the antient Hebrew Text was, in this Verse, the same with the present Samaritan, and the Words, which the Samaritan has, in this Place, more than the Hebrew, have been dropp'd by the Negligence of some Transcribers.

Again, in the Promise which God makes to Abraham, he tells him, that his Seed should be a Stranger in a Land which was not theirs; that there they should serve the Inhabitants, and they afflict them for four hundred Years; but that, in the fourth Generation, they should return to Canaan again; whereas four hundred Years are not the Number specified in the Place just now examin'd, nor are four Generations equivalent to the Space of Time, wherein the Hebrews sojourn'd in strange Countries. It is to be observ'd however, that, both in sacred and prophane Authors, a common Thing it is to mention only the large Sum, and drop the less, especially when (to preserve the Exactness of Chronology) the precise Number is, in other Places, inserted: And that tho' a Generation does usually denote a Term of an hundred Years; yet taking the Words to relate to the whole Sojourning of the Hebrews, from their going into Canaan, to their going out of Egypt, the odd Number of 30 Years may here be suppos'd to be omitted, to make it a round Sum, as well as in the former Sense: But then, taking a Generation to mean no more than one Descent, the Matter of Fact is, that from the Israelites going down into Egypt, until the Time of their leaving it, in some of the Sons of Jacob (particularly in Levi, who begat Kohath, and Kohath Amram, and Amram Moses, who conducted the People out of Egypt) there were no more than four Descents.

Whether therefore we take the Word Generation an Age of Years, or a Succession of Lives, there is plainly no Incongruity in the Expression; because (bating the odd Number of thirty) Abraham, and his Posterity, sojourn'd in a strange Land for the Space of four hundred Years; and yet (allowing it to be meant of a Descent of Lives) at the Israelites Return towards Canaan, from the Time of their going down into Egypt, several Persons of the fourth Generation were not extinct.

Divers Ordinances appointed. The Way they took led them into the Wilderness. Moses carries Joseph's Bones out of Egypt. The Israelites encamp in Etham. The Lord conducteth them in a Pillar of a Cloud by Day, and in a Pillar of Fire by Night.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord spake unto Moses, saying, 2 Sanctify unto me all the first-born, whatsoever openeth the womb among the children of Israel, both of man and of beast: it is mine. 3 And Moses said unto the people, Remember this day, in which ye came out from Egypt, out of the house of bondage; for by strength of hand the Lord brought you out from this place: there shall no leavened bread be eaten. 4 This day came ye out, in the month Abib. 5 And it shall be when the Lord shall bring thee into the land of the Canaanites, and the Hittites, and the Amorites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites, which he sware unto thy fathers to give thee, a land flowing with milk and honey, that thou shalt keep this service in this month. 6 Seven days shalt thou eat unleavened bread, and in the seventh day shall be a feast to the Lord. 7 Unleavened bread shall be eaten seven days: and there shall no leavened bread be seen with thee, neither neither ſhall there be leaven ſeen with thee in all thy quarters. 8 And thou ſhalt ſhew thy ſon in that day, ſaying, This is done becauſe of that which the Lord did unto me, when I came forth out of Egypt. 9 And it ſhall be for a ſign unto thee upon thine hand, and for a memorial between thine eyes; that the Lords law may be in thy mouth: for with a ſtrong hand hath the Lord brought thee out of Egypt. 10 Thou ſhalt therefore keep this ordinance in his ſeaſon from year to year. 11 And it ſhall be when the Lord ſhall bring thee into the land of the Canaanites, as he ſware unto thee and to thy fathers, and ſhall give it thee, 12 That thou ſhalt ſet apart unto the Lord all that openeth the matrix: and every firſtling that cometh of a beaſt, which thou haſt, the males ſhall be the Lords. 13 And every firſtling of an aſs thou ſhalt redeem with a lamb; and if thou wilt not redeem it, then thou ſhalt break his neck: and all the firſt-born of man amongſt thy children ſhalt thou redeem. 14 And it ſhall be when thy ſon aſketh thee in time to come, ſaying, What is this? that thou ſhalt ſay unto him, By ſtrength of hand the Lord brought us out from Egypt, from the houſe of bondage. 15 And it came to paſs when Phaaroh would hardly let us go, that the Lord ſlew all the firſt-born in the land of Egypt, both the firſt-born of man, and the firſt-born of beaſt: therefore I ſacrifice to the Lord all that openeth the matrix, being males; but all the firſt-born of my children I redeem. 16 And it ſhall be for a token upon thine hand, and for frontlets between thine eyes: for by ſtrength of hand the Lord brought us forth out of Egypt. 17 And it came to paſs, when Pharaoh had let the people go, that God led them not through the way of the land of the Philiſtines, although that was near: for God ſaid, leſt peradventure the people repent when they ſee war, and they return to Egypt. 18 But God led the people about, through the way of the wilderneſs of the Red ſea: and the children of Iſrael went up harneſſed out of the land of Egypt. 19 And Moſes took the bones of Joſeph with him: for he had ſtraitly ſworn the children of Iſrael, ſaying; God will ſurely viſit you; and ye ſhall carry up my bones away hence with you. 20 And they took their journey from Succoth, and encamped in Etham, in the edge of the wilderneſs. 21 And the Lord went before them by day in a pillar of a cloud, to lead them the way; and by night in a pillar of fire, to give them light: to go by day and night. 22 He took not away the pillar of the cloud by day, nor the pillar of fire by night, from before the people.

Whatſoever openeth the Womb, among the Children, both of Man, and of Beaſt, it is mine] From hence it appears, that it was not only the eldeſt Son that was to be conſecrated unto the Lord; but if a Man had ſeveral Wives, the eldeſt Son by each Wife was to be ſanctified to God. The Firſtlings likewiſe of all Beaſts, whether clean or unclean, except a Dog, were to be ſanctified to the Lord, with this Exception, that the Firſtlings of clean Beaſts were to be ſacrificed, but the Firſtlings of ſuch as were unclean, were to be redeemed at a certain Price.

And every Firſtling of an Aſs thou ſhalt redeem with a Lamb; and if thou wilt not redeem it, then thou ſhalt break his Neck] It muſt be obſerved, that notwithſtanding the Aſs alone is here named, all other unclean Beaſts are here included; and the Aſs ſeems to be here mentioned, rather than any other, becauſe it was one of the moſt common, and moſt uſeful, but nevertheleſs was not to be ſpared or excepted; it was eaſy to infer from thence, that the ſame Rule was to be obſerved with reſpect to other Beaſts which were of leſs Uſe. The Reaſon why the Neck of the Aſs was to be broken, in caſe the Owner did not care to redeem it, was, becauſe it being conſecrated to God, it was not lawful to apply it to any profane or common Uſe.

For God ſaid, Leſt peradventure, the People repent when they ſee War, and they return to Egypt] We are not to underſtand this literally, ſince it is evident, that the great God of Egypt, who had wrought ſo many Miracles for the Deliverance of his People, and in whoſe Hands are the Hearts and Wills of all Mankind, could as eaſily have prevented their returning, or even wiſhing to return; he could likewiſe have endued them with a Courage ſuperior to all Danger; or have enabled them, like Samſon, to have encounter'd and defeated the Philiſtines with no better Weapon than the Jaw-bone of an Aſs, or even with no Weapon at all, or he could have fought for them, as he did againſt the Egyptians, and on ſeveral other Occaſions. Beſides, had this been the real Reaſon, why were not the Children of Iſrael as much diſheartned, and why did they not attempt to return to Egypt, when the Amalekites came out to oppoſe them, which was but a very ſmall Time afterwards? It is evident, therefore, that Moſes makes God ſpeak here like a Man, for nothing was unknown or uncertain to him; and the Meaning ſeems to be, that the Almighty did not think fit, on this Occaſion, to exert his Omnipotence againſt the Philiſtines, as he did afterwards againſt the Egyptians; and he knew, that if he left them to themſelves, and they ſhould be oppoſed by the Philiſtines, their Fears would induce them to be for returning to Egypt again.

And the Lord went before them by Day in a Pillar of a Cloud, to lead them the Way, and by Night in a Pillar of Fire to give them Light] It is not very well agreed, whether the Pillar of the Cloud appeared firſt to the Iſraelites on their Removal from Succoth, or at their Departure from Etham. The Text indeed leaves it doubtful; but we think it is more probable, that it appeared to them in their ſecond Day's Journey. The ingenious Mr. Toland, who was a Free-thinker in the largeſt Extent of that Word, has taken Abundance of Pains to prove, that theſe Pillars of a Cloud, and of Fire, were not miraculous; but, what is yet ſtranger, even than this Opinion, is, that he attempts to demonſtrate it, from ſome Paſſages of Scripture: Whereas nothing can be more evident, than that Moſes looked upon it as a great Miracle, and was convinced that God was in the Pillar, as is evident from Ver. 21. And the Lord went before them by Day in a Pillar of a Cloud, to lead them the Way; and by Night in a Pillar of Fire, to give them Light, to go by Day and by Night. The Prophet would never have ſaid this, had the Pillar been no more than an artificial Contrivance, as Mr. Toland repreſents it; neither would St. Paul have ſpoken as he does, in the two firſt Verſes of his tenth Chapter of his firſt Epiſtle to the Corinthians: Moreover, Brethren, I would not that ye ſhould be ignorant, how that all our Fathers were under a Cloud, and all paſſed through the Sea, and were all baptized unto Moſes in the Cloud, and in the Sea. The famous Servetus, who was burnt at Geneva, aſſerted that this Cloud was Chriſt. From its double Appearance ſome have been induced to doubt, whether there were two Pillars, or only one; but if we attend cloſely to the Text, it will be manifeſt, that the ſame Pillar which appeared as a Cloud, in the Day, ſhone out and gave a Light like Fire, in the Night. The Uſe of this ſignal Monument of the divine Favour was four-fold. 1ſt. To conduct the Iſraelites through a diſmal, gloomy, and barren Wilderneſs, when otherwiſe they might very well have been bewilder'd and loſt their Way. 2dly. To be a Protection and Defence to them againſt their Enemies, as appears in the following Inſtance of the Egyptians Purſuit after them. 3dly. To keep them from being ſcorched by Day, and ſupply them with Light by

And, 4thly. To direct them when they were to march, and when to pitch their Tents and continue encamped, as will be ſhewn hereafter in its proper Place.

CHAP. XIV.

Pharaoh purſues the Iſraelites; at which they are greatly troubled, but being comforted by Moſes, go forward. The Red Sea divides, and the Iſraelites paſs through on dry Ground, which the Egyptians attempting, are drowned.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, that they turn and encamp before Pi-hahiroth, between Migdol and the ſea, over againſt Baal-zephon: before it ſhall ye encamp by the ſea. 3 For Pharaoh will ſay of the children of Iſrael, they are entangled in the land, the wilderneſs hath ſhut them in. 4 And I will harden Pharaohs heart, that he ſhall follow after them, and I will be honoured upon Pharaoh, and upon all his hoſt; that the Egyptians may know that I am the Lord. And they did ſo. 5 And it was told the king of Egypt, that the people fled: and the heart of Pharaoh and of his ſervants was turned againſt the people, and they ſaid, Why have we done this, that we have let Iſrael go from ſerving us? 6 And he made ready his chariot, and took his people with him. 7 And he took ſix hundred choſen chariots, and all the chariots of Egypt, and captains over every one of them. 8 And the Lord hardened the heart of Pharaoh king of Egypt, and he purſued after the children of Iſrael: and the children of Iſrael went out with an high hand. 9 But the Egyptians purſued after them (all the horſes and chariots of Pharaoh, and his horſemen, and his army) and overtook them encamping by the ſea, beſide Pi-hahiroth before Baal-zephon. 10 And when Pharaoh drew nigh, the children of Iſrael lift up their eyes, and behold, the Egyptians marched after them, and they were ſore afraid: and the children of Iſrael cried out unto the Lord. 11 And they ſaid unto Moſes, Becauſe there were no graves in Egypt, haſt thou taken us away to die in the wilderneſs? Wherefore haſt thou dealt thus with us, to carry us forth out of Egypt? 12 Is not this the word that we did tell thee in Egypt, ſaying, Let us alone, that we may ſerve the Egyptians? For it had been better for us to ſerve the Egyptians, than that we ſhould die in the wilderneſs. 13 And Moſes ſaid unto the people, Fear ye not, ſtand ſtill, and ſee the ſalvation of the Lord, which he will ſhew to you to day: for the Egyptians whom ye have ſeen to day, ye ſhall ſee them again no more for ever. 14 The Lord ſhall fight for you, and ye ſhall hold your peace. 15 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Wherefore crieſt thou unto me? Speak unto the children of Iſrael, that they go forward. 16 But lift thou up thy rod, and ſtretch out thine hand over the ſea, and divide it: and the children of Iſrael ſhall go on dry-ground through the midſt of the ſea. 17 And I, behold I will harden the hearts of the Egyptians, and they ſhall follow them: and I will get me honour upon Pharaoh, and upon all his hoſt, upon his chariots, and upon his horſemen. 18 And the Egyptians ſhall know that I am the Lord, when I have gotten me honour upon Pharaoh, upon his chariots, and upon his horſemen. 19 And the angel of God which went before the camp of Iſrael, removed and went behind them; and the pillar of the cloud went from before their face, and ſtood behind them. 20 And it came between the camp of the Egyptians and the camp of Iſrael, and it was a cloud and darkneſs to them, but it gave light by night to theſe: ſo that the one came not near the other all the night. 21 And Moſes ſtretched out his hand over the ſea, and the Lord cauſed the ſea to go back by a ſtrong eaſt-wind all that night, and made the ſea dry-land, and the waters were divided. 22 And the children of Iſrael went into the midſt of the ſea upon the dry-ground, and the waters were a wall unto them on their right hand, and on the left. 23 And the Egyptians purſued, and went in after them, to the midſt of the ſea, even all Pharaohs horſes, his chariots, and his horſmen. 24 And it came to paſs, that in the morning-watch the Lord looked unto the hoſt of the Egyptians, through the pillar of fire and of the cloud, and troubled the hoſt of the Egyptians. 25 And took off their chariot-wheels, that they drave them heavily: ſo that the Egyptians ſaid, Let us flee from the face of Iſrael; for the Lord fighteth for them, againſt the Egyptians. 26 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Stretch out thine hand over the ſea, that the waters may come again upon the Egyptians, upon their chariots, and upon their horſmen. 27 And Moſes ſtretched forth his hand over the ſea, and the ſea returned to his ſtrength when the morning appeared, and the Egyptians fled againſt it: And the Lord overthrew the Egyptians in the midſt of the ſea. 28 And the waters returned and covered the chariots, and the horſmen, and all the hoſt of Pharaoh that came into the ſea after them: there remained not ſo much as one of them. 29 But the children of Iſrael walked upon dry-land in the midſt of the ſea: and the waters were a wall unto them on their right hand, and on their left. 30 Thus the Lord ſaved Iſrael that day out of the hand of the Egyptians: and Iſrael ſaw the Egyptians dead upon the ſea-ſhore. 31 And Iſrael ſaw that great work, which the Lord did upon the Egyptians: and the people feared the Lord, and believed the Lord and his ſervant Moſes.

Speak unto the Children of Iſrael, that they turn and encamp before Pi-hahiroth, between Migdol and the Sea, over againſt Baal-zephon] In the 20th Verſe of the laſt Chapter, it is ſaid, that they took their Journey from Succoth, and encamped in Etham. Now, Etham lay in the direct Way to Mount Horeb, and was ſituated South-Eaſt of it; and thither they were ſhaping their Courſe, but by the expreſs Command of God, marched to the South-Weſt, and encamped between Migdol and the Sea, over-againſt Baal-zephon: So that now they were on the wrong Side of the Red Sea, in the Territories of Egypt, out of which they might have paſſed immediately from Etham; but in the Road they were ordered to take, they had impaſſible Mountains on their Right, and the Dominions of Egypt on their Left, and at their Back.

But why were they led out of their ſtreight Courſe into this round-about dangerous Road? This was done to purſue them, from the Proſpect he might have of the Advantage of the Place, where they were incloſed on all Sides, without any Poſſibility of an Eſcape. This was the divine Stratagem, that the Almighty might have the more glorious Triumph over this Egyptian Tyrant, who ſoon forgets the Almighty Power, which by by a Succeſſion of Plagues, had ſo lately afflicted him and his People, and regardleſs of the Danger of providing againſt it, blindly purſued his own Fate, inſtead of the Iſraelites.

Before it ſhall ye encamp by the Sea] It is ſomewhat difficult to make out the Geography of the Places where the Hebrews encamp'd, between their parting from Rameſes, and their Arrival at the Red-Sea; but the Account of thoſe who have wrote upon the Subject is, — That tho' there are two Places named Rameſes, which are a little differently pointed; yet they are both one and the ſame, or, at the moſt, that they differ only in this, that the one was the Province, and the other the chief City of it: That Succoth, not far from Rameſes, in the Way to the Red-Sea, had its Name from the Tents (for ſo the Hebrew Word ſignifies) which the Iſraelites pitch'd there, as we find, upon the like Occaſion, another Place, between Jordan and the River Jabbok, ſo named: That Etham lay on the Confines of Egypt and Arabia Petræa, not far from the Red-Sea, and gave Denomination to the Wilderneſs adjacent: That Pi-habiroth, which in our Engliſh, and ſome other Tranſlations, is render'd as one proper Name, is by the Septuagint made Part of it, an Appellative, ſo as to ſignify a Mouth (for ſo the Word Pi may mean) or narrow Paſſage between two Mountains, lying not far from the Coaſt of the Red-Sea: That Migdol was probably a Tower or Caſtle (for the Word carries that Signification in it) upon the Top of one of theſe Mountains, which might give Denomination to the City, which (as Herodotus informs us) lay not far diſtant from it; and that Baal-zephon was by ſome learned Men thought to be an Idol ſet up to keep the Borders of the Country, and to hinder Slaves from making their Eſcape. Baal indeed, in the Hebrew, ſignifies Lord, and hence the Name is generally applied to the Eaſtern Idols; and the Word Zephon is thought to be deriv'd from the Radix Zapah, to watch, or ſpy; and from hence it is conjectur'd, that this Idol had its Temple on the Top of ſome adjacent Mountain, and that the ſacred Hiſtorian particularly takes Notice of it, to ſhew how unable it was (whatever Opinion the Egyptians might have of it) to hinder the Egyptians from going out of Egypt. There is but ſmall Certainty however to be gathered from the Etymology of Words; and therefore the Authority of Euſebius ſhould preponderate with us, who makes it not an Idol, but a Town, ſtanding upon the Northern Point of the Red-Sea, where the Antients, eſpecially the Jews, think that the Iſraelites paſs'd it, and where there ſtands, to this Day, a Chriſtian Monaſtery. See Patrick's and Calmet's Com. and Well's Geogr.

And it was told the King of Egypt, that the People fled] It is not unlikely, ſays Patrick, that ſome of the mixt Multitude (Ex. xii. 38.) which went along with the Iſraelites, obſerving this Alteration in their Route, and not being able to ſee the Reaſon of it, might forſake them, and, returning to Pharaoh, inform him, that they had loſt their Way, and were entangled among the Mountains: Or (what is more likely) ſome Spies, which Pharaoh had upon them, ſeeing them leave the Way to Horeb, where they deſired to go three Day's Journey, in order to offer Sacrifices, concluded, that they never intended to return to Egypt, but were running quite away, and might therefore bring Pharaoh the News thereof (as we may ſuppoſe) upon the 18th Day.

And overtook them encamping by the Sea] The Red-Sea, call'd by the Antients Sinus Arabicus, and now Gulfo de Mecca, as Mr. Wells obſerves, is that Part or Branch of the Southern Sea, which interpoſes itſelf between Egypt on the Weſt; Arabia Fælix, and ſome Part of Petræa on the Eaſt; while the northern Bounds of it touch upon Idumea, or the Coaſt of Edom. Edom, in the Hebrew Tongue, ſignifies Red, and was the Nick-name given Eſau for ſelling his Birthright for a Meſs of Pottage. The Country, which his Poſterity poſſeſs'd, was call'd after his Name, and ſo was the Sea, which adjoin'd to it; but the Greeks, not underſtanding the Reaſon of the Appellation, tranſlated into their Tongue, and called it eruthra Thalaſſe; thence the Latins Mare rubrum, and we, the Red-Sea. The Hebrews call it the Sea of Suph or Flags, by Reaſon of the great Abundance of that Kind of Weed, which grows at the Bottom of it; and the Arabs, at this Day, name it Buhr al Chalzem, i. e. the Sea of Clyſona, from a Town ſituate on its weſtern Coaſt, much about the Place, where the Iſraelites paſſed over from the Egyptian to the Arabian Shore. But, as the Word Clyſona may denote a drowning or overflowing with Water, it is not improbable that the Town built in this Place, as well as this Part of the Sea, might have ſuch a Name given it, in Memory of the Fate of the Egyptians, who were drown'd herein.

In the Morning Watch the Lord looked unto the Hoſt of the Egyptians, through the Pillar of Fire, and of the Cloud, and troubled the Hoſt of the Egyptians] To enforce the Strength of the Expreſſion, God troubled the Hoſt of the Egyptians, the Jewiſh Hiſtorian tells us, that, before God let looſe the Waves upon the Egyptians, fierce Winds and Tempeſts, Storms of Hail and Rain, terrible Thunderings and Lightnings, and whatever elſe could make their Condition horrible, were ſent down upon them from above; and therefore it is not without good Reaſon, that theſe Words of the Pſalmiſt have been apply'd to this Occaſion. The Waters ſaw thee, O God, the Waters ſaw thee, and were afraid; the Depths alſo were troubled: The Clouds poured out Water, the Air thundered, and thine Arrows went abroad. The Voice of thy Thunder was heard round about, the Lightning ſhone upon the Ground, the Earth was moved, and ſhook withal. Thy Way is in the Sea, and thy Paths in the great Waters, and thy Footſteps are not known: Whereupon it follows, thou leadeſt thy People, like Sheep, by the Hand of Moſes and Aaron.

But the Children of Iſrael walked upon dry Land in the midſt of the Sea] Some, objecting to the Reality of this Miracle, pretend, that there was no more in this Paſſage of the Iſraelites, than in that of Alexander the Great over the Sea of Pamphylia, as Joſephus himſelf ſeems to inſinuate. To this Mr. Stackhouſe anſwers, That the Paſſage of Alexander the Great over the Sea of Pamphylia, bears no Manner of Reſemblance to this of the Iſraelites. Alexander, as Arrian and others relate it, was to march from Phaſelis a Sea-port Town, to Perga an Inland City of Pamphylia. The Country near Phaſelis, upon the Shore of the Pamphylian Sea, was mountainous and rocky; ſo that he could not find a Paſſage for his Army, without either taking a great Compaſs round the Mountains, or attempting to go over the Strand, between the Rocks and the Sea. The Hiſtorian remarks, that there is no paſſing along this Place, unleſs when the Wind blows from the North; and therefore Alexander, when he came to Phaſelis, perceiving that the Wind blew from this Quarter, laid hold of the Opportunity, and, having ſent ſome of his Army over the Mountains, went himſelf with the reſt along the Shore. But now what Miracle was there in all this, unleſs we call the Wind's blowing opportunely for Alexander's Purpoſe a Miracle? It is certain, that, according to Plutarch's Account of the Thing, Alexander himſelf thought that there was nothing extraordinary in it; and therefore we may juſtly wonder at Joſephus's comparing this Paſſage with that of the Iſraelites, when there is ſo manifeſt a Diſparity between them. The Iſraelites croſs'd over a Sea, where no Hiſtorian makes Mention of any Perſon's, but they, that ever found a Paſſage; whereas Alexander only march'd upon the Shore of the Sea of Pamphylia, where the ſeveral Hiſtorians, who moſt magnify the divine Providence in protecting him, do all freely allow, that any one may, at any Time, go when the Tide retreats, and the ſame Wind blows that favour'd him.

This memorable Event is generally thought to have happened on the 21*ſt* of the Month Niſan, that is, on the ſeventh Day of unleavened Bread, and laſt Day of the Paſſover, on which an holy Convocation was to be held. According to our Account, it fell out on Saturday the 17*th* of April, in the Year of the World 2513.

The Song of Moſes and the Iſraelites on their happy Deliverance. The People diſtreſſed for Water, cannot drink of thoſe of Marah, becauſe of their Bitterneſs, which he cures. At Elim they find Wells and Palm trees.

Ver. 1. THEN ſang Moſes and the children of Iſrael this ſong unto the Lord, ſaying, I will ſing unto the Lord, for he hath triumphed glorioufly; the horſe and his rider hath he thrown into the ſea. 2 The Lord is my ſtrength and ſong, and he is become my ſalvation: he is my God, and I will prepare him an habitation, my fathers God, and I will exalt him. 3 The Lord is a man of war: the Lord is his name. 4 Pharaohs chariots and his hoſt hath he caſt into the ſea: his choſen captains alſo are drowned in the Red-ſea. 5 The depths have covered them: they ſank into the bottom as a ſtone. 6 Thy right hand, O Lord, is become glorious in power: thy right hand, O Lord, hath daſhed in pieces the enemy. 7 And in the greatneſs of thine excellency thou haſt overthrown them that roſe up againſt thee: thou ſenteſt forth thy wrath, which conſumed them as ſtubble. 8 And with the blaſt of thy noſtrils the waters were gathered together: the floods ſtood upright as an heap, and the depths were congealed in the heart of the ſea. 9 The enemy ſaid, I will purſue, I will overtake, I will divide the ſpoil: my luſt ſhall be ſatisfied upon them, I will draw my ſword, my hand ſhall deſtroy them. 10 Thou didſt blow with thy wind, the ſea covered them: they ſank as lead in the mighty waters. 11 Who is like unto thee, O Lord, amongſt the gods? who is like thee, glorious in holineſs, fearful in praiſes, doing wonders? 12 Thou ſtretchedſt out thy right hand, the earth ſwallowed them. 13 Thou in thy mercy haſt led forth the people which thou haſt redeemed: thou haſt guided them in thy ſtrength unto thy holy habitation. 14 The people ſhall hear, and be afraid: ſorrow ſhall take hold on the inhabitants of Paleſtina. 15 Then the dukes of Edom ſhall be amazed, the mighty men of Moab, trembling ſhall take hold upon them: all the inhabitants of Canaan ſhall melt away. 16 Fear and dread ſhall fall upon them, by the greatneſs of thine arm they ſhall be as ſtill as a ſtone: till thy people paſs over, O Lord, till the people paſs over, which thou haſt purchaſed. 17 Thou ſhalt bring them in, and plant them in the mountain of thine inheritance, in the place, O Lord, which thou haſt made for thee to dwell in: in the ſanctuary, O Lord, which thy hands have eſtabliſhed. 18 The Lord ſhall reign for ever and ever. 19 For the horſe of Pharaoh went in with his chariots, and with his horſmen into the ſea, and the Lord brought again the waters of the ſea upon them: but the children of Iſrael went on dry-land in the midſt of the ſea. 20 And Miriam the propheteſs, the ſiſter of Aaron, took a timbrel in her hand; and all the women went out after her, with timbrels, and with dances.

The Iſraelites were ſo wonderfully affected with the greatneſs and Strangeneſs of their Deliverance, that they unanimouſly joined in a ſolemn Thankſgiving to God for his Kindneſs and Protection. On this Occaſion Moſes compoſed a Song or Hymn, which, for Sublimity of Thought, and Dignity of Expreſſion, is not to be equalled by any poetical Compoſitions of the Antients.

The firſt Verſe ſeems to have been the Chorus of the Song; and, accordingly, we find it exactly and methodically ſung, at the Cloſe, by the Propheteſs, and her Choir of Women. To their Voices they joined the Sound of muſical Inſtruments, and accompanied theſe with proper Motions of the Body; by theſe outward Expreſſions diſcovering the inward Joy of their Hearts, and that ſincere Senſe they had of the divine Mercy and Goodneſs, ſo manifeſtly diſplayed, in their miraculous Paſſage through the Red-Sea.

21 And Miriam anſwered them, Sing ye to the Lord, for he hath triumphed glorioufly; the horſe and his rider hath he thrown into the ſea. 22 So Moſes brought Iſrael from the Red ſea, and they went out into the wilderneſs of Shur: and they went three days in the wilderneſs, and found no water. 23 And when they came to Marah, they could not drink of the waters of Marah, for they were bitter: therefore the name of it was called Marah. 24 And the people murmured againſt Moſes, ſaying, What ſhall we drink? 25 And he cried unto the Lord, and the Lord ſhewed him a tree, which when he had caſt into the waters, the waters were made ſweet: there he made for them a ſtatute and an ordinance, and there he proved them, 26 And ſaid, If thou wilt diligently hearken to the voice of the Lord thy God, and wilt do that which is right in his ſight, and wilt give ear to his commandments, and keep all his ſtatutes; I will put none of theſe diſeaſes upon thee, which I have brought upon the Egyptians: for I am the Lord that healeth thee. 27 And they came to Elim, where were twelve wells of water, and threeſcore and ten palm-trees: and they encamped there by the waters.

They could not drink the Waters of Marah, for they were bitter] The Word Marah, in the Hebrew Language, ſignifies Bitterneſs; and it was from the Taſte of the Waters, that the Place received its Name. That there are ſeveral Fountains of bitter Water not far from the Red-Sea, at ſome ſmall Diſtance from the City Arſinoë, is atteſted by Strabo, Diodorus, and moſt modern Travellers; but then the Queſtion is, whether it was by the miraculous Power of God, or by the natural Virtue of the Wood, to which Moſes was directed, that theſe bitter Waters were at this Time made ſweet? The Author of that excellent Book, called Eccleſiaſticus, ſeems to be of the latter Opinion: For, having treated of the Honour and Eſteem due to a Phyſician, he adds, the Lord has created Medicines out of the Earth, and he, that is wiſe, will not abhor them. Was not the Water made ſweet with Wood, that the Virtue thereof might be known? Eccleſ. xxxviii. 5. But, notwithſtanding the Authority of this Writer, we have Reaſon to think, that there was no Tree in theſe Parts of this Virtue, becauſe, had its Virtues once been known, there is no Queſtion to be made, but that others, as well as Moſes, would have made uſe of it to the ſame Purpoſe; but that the Writers, who make Mention of theſe bitter Waters, would have told us at the ſame Time, of a Tree, or Trees, growing hard by, which had a Medicinal Quality to correct the Taſte of them; but ſince we meet with nothing of this Kind, we may reaſonably ſuppoſe, that the Author of Eccleſiaſticus (a Book of modern Compoſition, in Compariſon of Moſes's Writings) ſpeculating in the Chapter upon the Medicines, which God had provided for Man's Uſe, offer'd this Hint purely from his own Fancy, and without any Authority for it; and conſequently quently we may conclude, that the Correction of the Quality of this Water is to be aſcrib'd, not ſo much to the Virtue of the Wood; as to the Power of God, who us'd it, rather as a Sign to the Iſraelites, than as an Inſtrument to himſelf in doing it. See Le Clerc, Pool, and Shuckford.

And they came to Elim] In remarking the ſeveral Stations of the Iſraelites, from the Red-Sea, until they came to the Mount Sinai, we muſt obſerve, that Moſes does not ſet down every Place where they encamp'd (as he does in Numbers, Ch. xxxiii.) but only thoſe, where ſome remarkable Thing was done; that Elim, where they were now encamp'd, was eſteem'd a pleaſant and fruitful Place, at leaſt in Compariſon of the deſart and barren Parts about it; and that the Deſart of Sin, which was their eighth Station, and Rephidim their tenth, lay at equal Diſtances, in their Way to the holy Mountain. See Wells's Geogr. of the O. T.

CHAP. XVI.

The Iſraelites come to the Wilderneſs of Sin; murmur for Want of Bread. Quails and Manna ſent; Manna deſcribed; an Omer of it ordered to be laid up in the Tabernacle.

Ver. 1. AND they took their journey from Elim, and all the congregation of the children of Iſrael came unto the wilderneſs of Sin, which is between Elim and Sinai, on the fifteenth day of the ſecond month, after their departing out of the land of Egypt. 2 And the whole congregation of the children of Iſrael murmured againſt Moſes and Aaron in the wilderneſs. 3 And the children of Iſrael ſaid unto them, Would to God we had died by the hand of the Lord in the land of Egypt, when we ſat by the fleſh-pots, and when we did eat bread to the full: for ye have brought us forth into this wilderneſs, to kill this whole aſſembly with hunger. 4 Then ſaid the Lord unto Moſes, Behold, I will rain bread from heaven for you; and the people ſhall go out and gather a certain rate every day, that I may prove them, whether they will walk in my law, or no. 5 And it ſhall come to paſs, that on the ſixth day, they ſhall prepare that which they bring in; and it ſhall be twice as much as they gather daily. 6 And Moſes and Aaron ſaid unto all the children of Iſrael, At even then ye ſhall know that the Lord hath brought you out from the land of Egypt. 7 And in the morning, then ye ſhall ſee the glory of the Lord; for that he heareth your murmurings againſt the Lord: And what are we, that ye murmur againſt us? 8 And Moſes ſaid, This ſhall be when the Lord ſhall give you in the evening fleſh to eat, and in the morning bread to the full; for that the Lord heareth your murmurings which ye murmur againſt him: And what are we? your murmurings are not againſt us, but againſt the Lord. 9 And Moſes ſpake unto Aaron, Say unto all the congregation of the children of Iſrael, Come near before the Lord: for he hath heard your murmurings. 10 And it came to paſs as Aaron ſpake unto the whole congregation of the children of Iſrael, that they looked toward the wilderneſs, and behold, the glory of the Lord appeared in the cloud. 11 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 12 I have heard the murmurings of the children of Iſrael; ſpeak unto them, ſaying, At even ye ſhall eat fleſh, and in the morning ye ſhall be filled with bread: and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord your God. 13 And it came to paſs, that at even the quails came up, and covered the camp: and in the morning the dew lay round about the hoſt. 14 And when the dew that lay was gone up, behold, upon the face of the wilderneſs there lay a ſmall round thing, as ſmall as the hoar-froſt on the ground. 15 And when the children of Iſrael ſaw it, they ſaid one to another, It is manna, for they wiſt not what it was. And Moſes ſaid unto them, This is the bread which the Lord hath given you to eat. 16 This is the thing which the Lord hath commanded, Gather of it every man according to his eating: an omer for every man, according to the number of your perſons, take ye every man for them which are in his tents. 17 And the children of Iſrael did ſo, and gathered, ſome more, ſome leſs. 18 And when they did mete it with an omer, he that gathered much, had nothing over, and he that gathered little, had no lack: they gathered every man according to his eating. 19 And Moſes ſaid, Let no man leave of it till the morning. 20 Notwithſtanding they hearkened not unto Moſes, but ſome of them left of it until the morning, and it bred worms and ſtank: And Moſes was wroth with them. 21 And they gathered it every morning, every man according to his eating: and when the ſun waxed hot, it melted. 22 And it came to paſs that on the ſixth day they gathered twice as much bread, two omers for one man: and all the rulers of the congregation came and told Moſes. 23 And he ſaid unto them, This is that which the Lord hath ſaid, To morrow is the reſt of the holy ſabbath unto the Lord: bake that which ye will bake, to day, and ſeethe that ye will ſeethe; and that which remaineth over, lay up for you to be kept until the morning. 24 And they laid it up till the morning, as Moſes bade: and it did not ſtink, neither was there any worm therein. 25 And Moſes ſaid, Eat that to day; for to day is a ſabbath unto the Lord: to day ye ſhall not find it in the field. 26 Six days ye ſhall gather it, but on the ſeventh day which is the ſabbath, in it there ſhall be none. 27 And it came to paſs, that there went out ſome of the people on the ſeventh day for to gather, and they found none. 28 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, How long refuſe ye to keep my commandments and my laws? 29 See, for that the Lord hath given you the ſabbath, therefore he giveth you on the ſixth day the bread of two days: abide ye every man in his place, let no man go out of his place on the ſeventh day. 30 So the people reſted on the ſeventh day. 31 And the houſe of Iſrael called the name thereof Manna: and it was like coriander-ſeed, white; and the taſte of it was like wafers made with honey. 32 And Moſes ſaid, This is the thing which the Lord commandeth, Fill an omer of it to be kept for your generations; that they may ſee the bread wherewith I have fed you in the wilderneſs, when I brought you forth from the land of Egypt. 33 And Moſes ſaid unto Aaron, Take a pot, and put an omer full of manna therein, and lay it up before the Lord, to be kept for your generations. 34 As the Lord commanded Moſes, ſo Aaron laid it up before the teſtimony, to be kept. 35 And the children of Iſrael did eat manna forty years, until they came to a land inhabited: they did eat manna, until they came unto the borders of the land of Canaan. 36 Now an omer is the tenth part of an ephah.

For ye have brought us into this Wilderneſs, to kill this whole Aſſembly with Hunger] But had they not Cattle with them, which might have ſupplied all their Wants of this Kind? They had, but were unwilling to kill them; or if they had ſlaughtered them, they ſuppoſed they ſhould want Bread to eat with their Fleſh.

And it came to paſs, that Even, the Quails came up, and covered the Camp] The Word, which we render Quail, according to the Confeſſion of the Jews themſelves, is of uncertain Signification, and may denote a Locuſt, as well as a Quail: But what ſhould rather incline us to the latter Signification, is that Paſſage of the Pſalmiſt (lxxviii. 7.) where he tells us, that God rained Fleſh upon them, as thick as Duſt, and feathered Fowls, like as the Sand of the Sea; which cannot, with any tolerable Propriety, be apply'd to Inſects. But here we muſt remember, that this was done in the Middle of April, when theſe Birds are known to fly out of Egypt croſs the Red-Sea, in vaſt Quantities; ſo that the Sum of this Miracle will conſiſt, not ſo much in the prodigious Number of them that fell in the Iſraelites Camp, as in God's directing them thither, and in that very Evening too, according to his Promiſe, and his Servant Moſes's Prediction. See Univ. Hiſt.

They ſaid; It is Manna; for they wiſt not what it was] Our Tranſlation, and ſome others, makes Moſes fall into a plain Contradiction, in relating this Story of the Manna, which they render thus: And when the Children of Iſrael ſaw it, they ſaid one to another, It is Manna; for they wiſt not what it was; whereas the Septuagint, and ſeveral Authors, both antient and modern, have tranſlated the Text according to the Original, The Iſraelites ſeeing this, they ſaid one to another, what is this? For they knew not what it was: For we muſt obſerve, that the Word, by which they aſk'd (what is this?) was, in their Language, Man, which ſignifies likewiſe Meat ready prepared; and therefore it was always afterwards called Mann, or Manna. Various are the Conceits which the Jewiſh Writers have entertain'd concerning the Taſte of this Manna, and ſome have not unlikely borrow'd from the Author of the Book of Wiſdom, where he tells us of Manna, that it was able to content every Man's Delight, agreeing to every Taſte, and attempering itſelf to every Man's Liking, Wiſd. xvi. 20, 21. Whereupon ſome have affirm'd, that it had the Taſte of any Sort of Fiſh or Fowl, according to the Wiſh of him that eat it; but theſe are idle Fancies; what we know of Certainty is this, — That, here in Exodus, Moſes tells us, that its Taſte was like Wafers made with Honey, and in Numbers, he ſays, that the Cakes made of it, had the Taſte of freſh Oil, Ch. xi. 8. So that we may conjecture, that it had a Sweetneſs when gather'd, which evaporated in the grinding, and baking. It taſted like Honey, when taken off the Ground, but the Cakes made of it were as Cakes of Bread kneaded with Oil. See Eſſay for a New Tranſlation, and Shuckford's Com.

And Omer for every Man] An Omer contain'd a ſmall Matter above five Pints of our Engliſh Meaſure; or, as Bp Cumberland ſays, ſix Wine Pints, and a very little over.

This is that which the Lord hath ſaid, To-morrow is the Reſt of the holy Sabbath] This ſeems to be the firſt Time, that the Reſt on the ſeventh Day was ſolemnly appointed. God indeed, from the very firſt, intended to preſerve the Memory of the Creation in ſix Days, by appointing the ſeventh Day to be kept holy; but when, before the Flood, Men grew ſo wicked, as to neglect the Thoughts of God, they very little regarded the Diſtinction between this Day and others; and, after the Flood, the Diſperſion of Mankind very much blotted it out of their Minds, as it did many other good Things. In the Family of Abraham we may preſume, the Remembrance of it was preſerv'd, tho' not with ſuch a ſtrict Abſtinence from all Labour, as was afterwards enjoin'd; and therefore we read nothing of their reſting from their Travels upon that Day, before their coming out of Egypt. The Truth is, they were kept under ſuch ſevere Servitude, and Day and Night ſo preſs'd by their Taſk-maſters to hard Labour without Intermiſſion, that all Obſervation of the Sabbath was, very likely, laid aſide; but when God brought them out of Slavery, he renewed his Commandment for it with this Addition (in Memory of the Egyptian Bondage) that they ſhould reſt from all Manner of Labour upon that Day. See Patrick's Com.

And the Children of Iſrael did eat Manna forty Years] Whether this Manna had thoſe extraordinary Qualities in it or no, which ſome imagine, it muſt be allow'd to be truly miraculous, upon the following Accounts: 1. That it fell but ſix Days in the Week. 2. That it fell in ſuch a prodigious Quantity, as ſuſtain'd almoſt three Millions of Souls. 3. That there fell a double Quantity of it every Friday, to ſerve them for the next Day, which was their Sabbath. 4. That what was gather'd on the firſt five Days ſtunk, and bred Worms, if kept above one Day, but that which was gather'd on Friday, kept ſweet for two Days. And, laſtly, that it continued falling while the Iſraelites abode in the Wilderneſs, but ceas'd as ſoon as they came out of it, and had got Corn to eat in the Land of Canaan. See Univ. Hiſt.

CHAP. XVII.

The People arrive at Rephidim, and murmur for Water; Moſes ſtrikes the Rock at Horeb, which gave Water in Abundance. Amalek fights with, and is beaten by the Iſraelites. Moſes builds an Altar to God, and calls it Jehovah Niſſi.

Ver. 1. AND all the congregation of the children of Iſrael journeyed from the wilderneſs of Sin, after their journeys, according to the commandment of the Lord, and pitched in Rephidim: and there was no water for the people to drink. 2 Wherefore the people did chide with Moſes, and ſaid, Give us water that we may drink. And Moſes ſaid unto them, Why chide you with me? wherefore do ye tempt the Lord? 3 And the people thirſted there for water; and the people murmured againſt Moſes, and ſaid, Wherefore is this that thou haſt brought us up out of Egypt, to kill us and our children, and our cattel with thirſt? 4 And Moſes cried unto the Lord, ſaying, What ſhall I do unto this people? they be almoſt ready to ſtone me. 5 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Go on before the people, and take with thee of the elders of Iſrael: and thy rod wherewith thou ſmoteſt the river, take in thine hand, and go. 6 Behold, I will ſtand before thee there upon the rock in Horeb, and thou ſhalt ſmite the rock, and there ſhall come water out of it, that the people may drink. And Moſes did ſo in the ſight of the elders of Iſrael. 7 And he called the name of the place, Maſſah, and Meribah, becauſe of the chiding of the children of Iſrael, and becauſe they tempted the Lord, ſaying, Is the Lord among us, or not?

And there ſhall come Water out of it, that the People may drink] It was this ſame Water which ſerv'd the Iſraelites, not only in this Encampment of Rephidim, and in that of Mount Sinai, but in their other Encampments likewiſe, perhaps as far as Cadeſh-Barnea. For the Jews have a Tradition, that, as theſe Waters were granted for the Sake of the Merits of Miriam, Moſes's Siſter; ſo they happen'd to fail as ſoon as ſhe died; and hence it is, that the Encampment of Cadeſh-Barnea, which was ſoon after the Death of Miriam, we find the People falling into Murmurings again for Want of Water. St. Paul, ſpeaking of this miraculous Rock, which he makes the Type of Jeſus Chriſt, tells us, that it follow'd them, 1 Cor. x. 4. And from hence ſome have inferr'd, either that the Streams, which guſh'd out of the Rock, form'd themſelves into a Kind of River, which follow'd them through all their Encampments, or that they carried the Rock itſelf in a Cart, like a great Tun always full, and always open to thoſe that had an Inclination to drink. But theſe are idle Fictions, drawn from Words, that are not to be underſtood in a literal Senſe; what we may learn of certain from modern Travellers is, — That at the Foot of the Mount Horeb, there is ſtill to be ſeen a Brook of Water, but as for the Rock itſelf, which is a vaſt large Stone ſtanding by itſelf, there is no Water that now runs from it, tho' there are at preſent, to be ſeen twelve Holes, or Mouths, as it were, from whence the Water did flow. See Calmet's Dict. and Moriman's Voyages.

8 Then came Amalek, and fought with Iſrael in Rephidim. 9 And Moſes ſaid unto Joſhua, Chooſe us out men, and go out, fight with Amalek: to morrow I will ſtand on the top of the hill, with the rod of God in mine hand. 10 So Joſhua did as Moſes had ſaid to him, and fought with Amalek: and Moſes, Aaron, and Hur, went up to the top of the hill. 11 And it came to paſs when Moſes held up his hand, that Iſrael prevailed: and when he let down his hand, Amalek prevailed. 12 But Moſes hands were heavy, and they took a ſtone and put it under him, and he ſat thereon: and Aaron and Hur ſtayed up his hands, the one on the one ſide, and the other on the other ſide; and his hands were ſteady until the going down of the ſun. 13 And Joſhua diſcomfited Amalek and his people with the edge of the ſword. 14 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Write this for a memorial in a book, and rehearſe it in the ears of Joſhua: for I will utterly put out the remembrance of Amalek from under heaven. 15 And Moſes built an altar, and called the name of it JEHOVAH-niſſi. 16 For he ſaid, Becauſe the Lord hath ſworn that the Lord will have war with Amalek from generation to generation.

Then came Amalek, and fought with Iſrael] The Amalekites were a People deſcended from Amalek, the Son of Eliphaz, the Son of Eſau, by a Concubine, Gen. xxxvi. 12. And the Ground of their Enmity againſt the Iſraelites is generally ſuppos'd to have been an innate Hatred, from the Remembrance of Jacob's depriving their Progenitor both of his Birthright and Bleſſing. Their falling upon them however, and that without any Provocation, when they ſaw them reduc'd to ſo low a Condition by the Fatigue of their March, and the exceſſive Drought they labour'd under, was an inhuman Action, and juſtly deſerv'd the Defeat which Joſhua gave them: But then the Reaſon, why God thought fit to denounce a perpetual War againſt them, is to be reſolv'd into this, — That knowing the Iſraelites were pre-ordain'd by God to be put in Poſſeſſion of the Land of Canaan, they came againſt them with an armed Force, in Hopes of fruſtrating the Deſigns of Providence concerning them. And this is the Reaſon, which Moſes himſelf aſſigns for this Declaration of War; becauſe his (i. e. Amalek's) Hand is againſt the Throne of God, (i. e. againſt God himſelf) therefore the Lord will wage War againſt him from one Generation to another, Ver. 16. The Injury done the Iſraelites was not ſo much, as the Affront offer'd to the Divine Majeſty, and therefore God threatens utterly to extirpate the Deſigners of it. See Univ. Hiſt. and Patrick's Com.

And it came to paſs when Moſes held up his Hand, that Iſrael prevailed; and when he let down his Hand, Amalek prevailed] Biſhop Patrick is of Opinion, that the lifting up his Hands is peculiarly noted in Scripture, becauſe he elevated in them the Rod of God, which was to be a Standard to the Hoſt of Iſrael. As to the Manner in which Moſes was ſupported by Aaron and Hur, the ſame learned Author has ſuggeſted a very reaſonable Conjecture, namely, That Moſes ſometimes held up his Rod in his Right-hand, and ſometimes in his Left (for he here ſpeaks only of one Hand being lift up and down) and Aaron ſtood on the one Side of him (ſuppoſe the Right-hand) and Hur ſtood on the other; who, by that Means, helped to uphold his Hands in that Poſture; for if they had done it both together, they might have been as weary as Moſes himſelf.

But who was this Hur here mentioned? Some think he was of the Tribe of Judah, the Son of Caleb, the Son of Eſrom; and that he was Grandfather to that celebrated Artiſt Bezaleel; but of this there is no Certainty. Joſephus tells us, that he was the Huſband of Miriam, Moſes's Siſter; and ſome Jews affirm, that he was her Son, and tell us many ſtrange Stories about him. But as nothing certain can be gather'd from Scripture about him relating to this Matter, I ſhall only obſerve, that he appears to have been a Perſon of great Prudence and Piety, and one highly eſteemed by, and in great Confidence with Moſes. Some of the Rabbins ſay, that Aaron and Hur were the Counſellors of Moſes, and Joſhua his Lieutenant.

As to Joſhua, Archbiſhop Uſher judges he might be about thirty two Years of Age, when he gained this Victory; for as Moſes was fourſcore when he led the Children of Iſrael out of Egypt, it was neceſſary for him to have a Coadjutor in his Labours; and accordingly we find Joſhua afterwards, appointed to the moſt difficult and important Services.

And Moſes built an Altar, and called the Name of it JEHOVAH Niſſi] Different are the Opinions concerning the Uſe of this Altar. Some ſay he offered Burnt-offerings upon it, which is not unlikely. Others again, imagine, that he erected it only as a Monument, to preſerve the Memory of the Defeat of the Amalekites. Commentators differ likewiſe, as to the Application of the Word Jehovah-Niſſi; namely, Whether it belongs to the Altar, by Way of Inſcription, or whether the Prophet ſacrificing thereon, called on Almighty God by that Name: Tho' theſe Difficulties are not eaſily reſolv'd, yet it is as certain, that the Knowledge of them is not very material.

CHAP. XVIII.

Jethro having heard of the great Things God had done for Iſrael, pays Moſes a Viſit, and brings with him Moſes's Wife and two Sons. Jethro's Advice, and Return to his own Country.

Ver. 1. WHEN Jethro, the prieſt of Midian, Moſes father-in-law, heard of all that God had done for Moſes, and for Iſrael his people, and that the Lord had brought Iſrael out of Egypt: 2 Then Jethro, Moſes father-in-law, took Zipporah Moſes wife, after he had ſent her back, 3 And her two ſons, of which the name of the one was Gerſhom, (for he ſaid, I have been an alien in a ſtrange land) 4 And the name of the other was Eliezer, (for the God of my father, ſaid he, was mine help, and delivered me from the ſword of Pharaoh) 5 And Jethro, Moſes father in law, came with his ſons and his wife unto Moſes in the wilderneſs, where he encamped at the mount of God. 6 And he ſaid unto Moſes, I thy father-in-law Jethro am come unto thee, and thy wife, and her two ſons with with her. 7 And Moſes went out to meet his father-in-law, and did obeiſance, and kiſſed him, and they aſked each other of their welfare: and they came into the tent. 8 And Moſes told his father in law all that the Lord had done unto Pharaoh, and to the Egyptians for Iſraels ſake, and all the travail that had come upon them by the way, and how the Lord delivered them. 9 And Jethro rejoyced for all the goodneſs which the Lord had done to Iſrael: whom he had delivered out of the hand of the Egyptians. 10 And Jethro ſaid, Bleſſed be the Lord, who hath delivered you out of the hand of the Egyptians, and out of the hand of Pharaoh, who hath delivered the people from under the hand of the Egyptians. 11 Now I know that the Lord is greater than all gods: for in the thing wherein they dealt proudly, he was above them. 12 And Jethro, Moſes father-in-law, took a burnt-offering, and ſacrifices for God: and Aaron came, and all the elders of Iſrael to eat bread with Moſes father-in-law before God. 13 And it came to paſs on the morrow, that Moſes ſat to judge the people: and the people ſtood by Moſes, from the morning until the evening. 14 And when Moſes father-in-law ſaw all that he did to the people, he ſaid, What is this thing that thou doeſt to the people? Why ſitteſt thou thy ſelf alone, and all the people ſtand by thee from morning unto even? 15 And Moſes ſaid unto his father-in-law, Becauſe the people come unto me to enquire of God. 16 When they have a matter, they come unto me, and I judge between one and another, and I do make them know the ſtatutes of God and his laws. 17 And Moſes father-in-law ſaid unto him, The thing that thou doſt is not good. 18 Thou wilt ſurely wear away, both thou, and this people that is with thee: for this thing is too heavy for thee; thou art not able to perform it thy ſelf alone. 19 Hearken now unto my voice, I will give thee counſel, and God ſhall be with thee: Be thou for the people to God-ward, that thou mayeſt bring the cauſes unto God: 20 And thou ſhalt teach them ordinances and laws, and ſhalt ſhew them the way wherein they muſt walk, and the work that they muſt do. 21 Moreover, thou ſhalt provide out of all the people, able men, ſuch as fear God, men of truth, hating covetouſneſs; and place ſuch over them, to be rulers of thouſands, and rulers of hundreds, rulers of fifties, and rulers of tens. 22 And let them judge the people at all ſeaſons: and it ſhall be, that every great matter they ſhall bring unto thee, but every ſmall matter they ſhall judge: So ſhall it be eaſier for thy ſelf, and they ſhall bear the burden with thee. 23 If thou ſhalt do this thing, and God command thee ſo, then thou ſhalt be able to endure, and all this people ſhall alſo go to their place in peace. 24 So Moſes hearkened to the voice of his father-in-law, and did all that he had ſaid. 25 And Moſes choſe able men out of all Iſrael, and made them heads over the people, rulers of thouſands, rulers of hundreds, rulers of fifties, and rulers of tens. 26 And they judged the people at all ſeaſons: the hard cauſes they brought unto Moſes, but every ſmall matter they judged themſelves. 27 And Moſes let his father-in-law depart; and he went his way into his own land.

And Jethro, Moſes Father-in-law came with his Sons, and his Wife unto Moſes] When it was, ſays Patrick, that Jethro came from Midian to viſit his Son-in-law Moſes, whether immediately after the Fight with the Amalekites, as it is here ſet down, or ſome Time after, when the Iſraelites were better ſetled, is a Matter much controverted amongſt Interpreters. The Jews are generally agreed, and to them do ſeveral other great Names (as well as the learned Uſher and Selden) aſſent, that this Viſit happen'd after the Promulgation of the Law, in the firſt Year of their coming from Egypt, and in the Month of Tiſri, (ſay the Jews) above three Months after God gave Moſes the ſecond Tables; tho' others will have it to have been in the ſecond Year. It ſeems reaſonable to think however, that Jethro would take the firſt Opportunity to viſit Moſes, and to bring him, and ſo near Relations together, when once he had heard of their Departure from Egypt, and paſſing the Red-Sea; which he (as a Borderer upon the Wilderneſs) could not long be a Stranger to. It is to be obſerv'd farther, that, had the Law been given before Jethro's Arrival in the Iſraelitiſh Camp, Moſes could hardly have eſcap'd ſaying ſomething of the moſt remarkable Paſſage of all others, God's glorious Appearance upon Mount Sinai, and the Decalogue which he pronounc'd from thence: Whereas, all that he relates at this Meeting, is, what God had done to Pharaoh and the Egyptians; in what Manner he had deliver'd his People; and what Travail had come upon them by the Way, which comprehend their Paſſage of the Red-Sea, their Want of Water and Bread, their Engagement with the Amalekites, and, in ſhort, whatever we read in the foregoing Chapters. But of the moſt momentous Thing of all, we find him making no Mention, nor Jethro; in the Congratulations which he gives him, taking any manner of Notice; which we can hardly ſuppoſe would, on either Side, have been omitted, had they been prior to this Interview; nor can we conceive for what Reaſon Moſes ſhould place the Account of this Interview in immediate Succeſſion, had it not follow'd the Fight with the Amalekites.

Every great Matter they ſhall bring unto thee, but every ſmall Matter they ſhall judge] From hence ſome have imagin'd, ſays Patrick, that there were ſeveral Sorts of Cauſes, that might not, at firſt, be brought before inferior Courts, and theſe they make to be four. 1. All ſacred Matters, or Things relating to God and Religion. 2. All Matters of Equity, where the Rigour of the Law was to be mitigated. 3. All capital Caſes: And, laſtly, all ſuch Caſes, as the Rulers of Thouſands referr'd to Moſes. What the other Rulers referr'd to him was indeed properly under his Cognizance, becauſe it ſuppos'd an Incapacity in them, either for the Want of ſome Law, or a Non-agreement among themſelves, to determine it; but, where nothing of this happened, they had a full Power to judge finally. Neither was it the People (when a Cauſe was thought intricate) that were to bring it primarily before Moſes, but, when any ſuch Difficulty aroſe, as they were not able to ſurmount, the Judges (as Moſes himſelf directs them, Deut. i. 17.) were the Perſons, that were to order the Appeal to him. Bring it to me, ſays he, and I will hear it; which ſhews that the Cauſe had been before the Bar of inferior Courts before, only they were not ſkilful enough to determine it. So that the Words in the Text do not intimate, that there were ſome Cauſes, which the other Judges might not try, if they were able; but only, where the Cauſes were hard, and they incompetent to decide them, theſe they were to refer to Moſes.

CHAP. XIX.

The Iſraelites come into the Deſart of Sinai, and encamp before the Mount. God's Meſſage by Moſes to the People, who prepare themſelves againſt the third Day. The dreadful Appearance of God in the Mount.

Ver.

Ver. 1. IN the third month, when the children of Iſrael were gone forth out of the land of Egypt, the ſame day came they into the wilderneſs of Sinai. 2 For they were departed from Rephidim, and were come to the deſart of Sinai, and had pitched in the wilderneſs, and there Iſrael camped before the mount. 3 And Moſes went up unto God, and the Lord called unto him out of the mountain, ſaying, Thus ſhalt thou ſay to the houſe of Jacob, and tell the children of Iſrael; 4 Ye have ſeen what I did unto the Egyptians, and how I bare you on eagles wings, and brought you unto myſelf. 5 Now therefore, if ye will obey my voice indeed, and keep my covenant, then ye ſhall be a peculiar treaſure unto me above all people: for all the earth is mine. 6 And ye ſhall be unto me a kingdom of prieſts, and an holy nation. Theſe are the words which thou ſhalt ſpeak unto the children of Iſrael. 7 And Moſes came and called for the elders of the people, and laid before their faces all theſe words which the Lord commanded him. 8 And all the people anſwered together, and ſaid, All that the Lord hath ſpoken, we will do. And Moſes returned the words of the people unto the Lord. 9 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Lo, I come unto thee in a thick cloud, that the people may hear when I ſpeak with thee, and believe thee for ever. And Moſes told the words of the people unto the Lord. 10 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Go unto the people, and ſanctify them to day and to morrow, and let them waſh their clothes. 11 And be ready againſt the third day: for the third day the Lord will come down in the ſight of all the people, upon mount Sinai. 12 And thou ſhalt ſet bounds unto the people round about, ſaying, Take heed to your ſelves, that ye go not up into the mount, or touch the border of it: whoſoever toucheth the mount, ſhall be ſurely put to death. 13 There ſhall not an hand touch it, but he ſhall ſurely be ſtoned or ſhot through; whether it be beaſt or man, it ſhall not live: when the trumpet ſoundeth long, they ſhall come up to the mount. 14 And Moſes went down from the mount unto the people, and ſanctified the people, and they waſhed their clothes. 15 And he ſaid unto the people, Be ready againſt the third day: come not at your wives. 16 And it came to paſs on the third day in the morning, that there were thunders and lightnings, and a thick cloud upon the mount, and the voice of the trumpet exceeding loud; ſo that all the people that was in the camp, trembled. 17 And Moſes brought forth the people out of the camp to meet with God, and they ſtood at the neither part of the mount. 18 And mount Sinai was altogether on a ſmoke, becauſe the Lord deſcended upon it in fire: and the ſmoke thereof aſcended as the ſmoke of a furnace, and the whole mount quaked greatly. 19 And when the voice of the trumpet ſounded long, and waxed louder and louder, Moſes ſpake, and God anſwered him by a voice. 20 And the Lord came down upon mount Sinai, on the top of the mountain: and the Lord called Moſes up to the top of the mount, and Moſes went up. 21 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Go down, charge the people, leſt they break through unto the Lord to gaze, and many of them periſh. 22 And let the prieſts alſo which come near to the Lord, ſanctify themſelves, leſt the Lord break forth upon them. 23 And Moſes ſaid unto the Lord, The people cannot come up to mount Sinai: for thou chargedſt us, ſaying, Set bounds about the mount, and ſanctify it. 24 And the Lord ſaid unto him, Away, get thee down, and thou ſhalt come up, thou, and Aaron with thee: but let not the prieſts and the people break through, to come up unto the Lord, leſt he break forth upon them. 25 So Moſes went down unto the people, and ſpake unto them.

And the Lord came down upon Mount Sinai] It muſt be obſerv'd here, as alſo in other Places of like Nature, ſuiting itſelf to Man's Way of Speaking, and Thinking, aſſigns ſuch Things to God, as are only proper to the Effects. Thus it is ſaid, that God deſcended on the Mountain, becauſe he made his Preſence more viſible there by ſenſible and ſurprizing Effects: And whereas it is ſaid by the Protomartyr St. Stephen (Acts vii. 53.) that the Jews received the Law by the Diſpoſition of Angels, and by St. Paul to the Galatians, iii. 19. that the Law was ordained by Angels in the Hand of a Mediator, there is, in theſe, and the like Paſſages, no Contradiction between the New and the Old Teſtament, which aſſigns all this Diſpenſation to God himſelf. For, tho' it was God, who deſcended (in the Senſe we have explain'd it) upon the Mount, yet the Angels, thoſe Courtiers of Heaven, attended him, and made up his Train; and tho' he himſelf pronounc'd the Law, yet the Thunder, and Lightning, and Noiſe reſembling the Sound of a Trumpet, which were preparatory to ſuch Pronunciation, may not improperly be aſcrib'd to the Miniſtry of Angels. The Intent, however, of theſe Paſſages in the New Teſtament, is only to oppoſe the Goſpel to the Law in this Reſpect, viz. that when God gave the Law, he was ſurrounded with an awful Hoſt of Angels, but when our Lord deliver'd the Goſpel, he was cloath'd in our Fleſh, and adapted himſelf to our Weakneſs. See Howell, and Millar's Church Hiſtory.

That Fire and Lightning ſhould attend the Preſence of God, is a Notion ſo frequent in the moſt antient and oriental Theology, that it might poſſibly give Occaſion to the Worſhip of Fire among the Chaldeans and Perſians; to the Magi among the Cappadocians, call'd Purrellii, which Strabo mentions; and to the Veſtal Fires among the Greeks and Romans, as well as antient Britons. And as for Earthquakes, or ſhaking of Mountains, this is no more, than what all Nations ſuppoſe have ever come to paſs, upon God's manifeſting himſelf at any Time; for it is not only the Pſalmiſt, who tells us, that the Earth ſhook, and the Heaven dropped at the Preſence of God; but in the Deſcription, which Virgil gives us of the Approach of Phœbus, he does, in a Manner, tranſlate the Words of Moſes, ——Tremere omnia viſa repente, &c.

But might not Moſes deviſe this terrible Scene, in order to give the greater Sanction to the Laws he was about to promulgate? And might not the Thunderings and Lightnings be an Irruption of Fire, or a Vulcano on the Top of the Mountain, whereof Moſes knowing the Cauſe, took the Advantage, and palmed it upon the People for the tremendous Preſence of God, attended with his Hoſts of Angels?

That there is no Ground, ſays Stackhouſe, to ſuſpect any Deceit in this wonderful Occurrence, is manifeſt from Moſes's dealing ſo openly with the People in this Matter, and ſuffering them to go up into the Mountain, after the Lord had departed from it. When the Trumpet ſoundeth long, they ſhall come to the Mount. This is the Signal which God himſelf gives them, whereas, had there been any Fallacy in the Phœnomenon, Moſes would have debarr'd them from going up for ever. And therefore, as we need not doubt, but that ſeveral, upon this Signal, went up; we cannot but think, that the Cheat would have been ſoon diſcover'd, had there been any Marks of a natural Irruption of Fire diſcernible on the Top of the Mountain.

Thoſe, who give us an Account of Vulcanos, or burning Mountains, do all agere in this (as the Nature of the Thing ſeems to require it) that, on their Tops they have always an open Mouth, (which the Antients called Crater) through which they belch out their Flames; and that, after the Fire is expended, it will ſtill appear in the Form of a monſtrous Gap, even unto the End of the World. And therefore, ſince all Travellers, both antient and modern, who have taken an accurate Survey of the Mount Sinai, could never diſcern the leaſt Appearance of any ſuch Gap, but, on the contrary, a continued Surface, whereon there ſtands at preſent, a little Chapel of St. Catherine; all this ſuppoſed Contrivance of Moſes, to make a natural Vulcano paſs upon the People for the majeſtick Preſence of God upon the ſacred Mount, can be deem'd no other than a crude, nonſenſical Fiction, wherein the Lovers of Infidelity are found to ſhew their Ignorance, as well as their Malice, when they pretend to tax this Relation of Moſes, repreſenting God's Appearance in a Flame of Fire, in Thunder and Lightning, &c. with any Incongruity, or invent any groundleſs Stories to account for it; ſince nothing can be more agreeable to the antient Divinity, or common Notions of the Heathen World, than that the Apparition of their Gods, whenever they deſcend upon the Earth, is uſually attended with ſuch like Harbingers.

CHAP. XX.

The Ten Commandments. The People are terrified, but comforted by Moſes. Worſhip of Idols forbidden. Directions for building an Altar.

Ver. 1. AND God ſpake all theſe words, ſaying, 2 I am the Lord thy God, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the houſe of bondage. 3 Thou ſhalt have no other gods before me. 4 Thou ſhalt not make unto thee any graven image; or any likeneſs of any thing, that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth. 5 Thou ſhalt not bow down thyſelf to them, nor ſerve them: for I the Lord thy God am a jealous God, viſiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me. 6 And ſhewing mercy unto thouſands of them that love me, and keep my commandments. 7 Thou ſhalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain: for the Lord will not hold him guiltleſs, that taketh his name in vain. 8 Remember the ſabbath-day, to keep it holy. 9 Six days ſhalt thou labour, and do all thy work. 10 But the ſeventh day is the ſabbath of the Lord thy God: in it thou ſhalt not do any work, thou, nor thy ſon, nor thy daughter, thy man-ſervant, nor thy maid-ſervant, nor thy cattel, nor thy ſtranger that is within thy gates. 11 For in ſix days the Lord made heaven and earth, the ſea, and all that in them is, and reſted the ſeventh day: wherefore the Lord bleſſed the ſabbath day, and hallowed it. 12 Honour thy father and thy mother: that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee. 13 Thou ſhalt not kill. 14 Thou ſhalt not commit adultery. 15 Thou ſhalt not ſteal. 16 Thou ſhalt not bear falſe witneſs againſt thy neighbour. 17 Thou ſhalt not covet thy neighbours houſe, thou ſhalt not covet thy neighbours wife, nor his man-ſervant, nor his maid-ſervant, nor his ox, nor his aſs, nor any thing that is thy neighbours.

Sundry Law-givers, no doubt, ſays Stackhouſe, have pretended to a Familiarity with their reſpective Deities, as well as Moſes did with the God of Iſrael; but, (beſides the Atteſtation of Miracles in his Favour, which none of them had any Claim to) we may venture to put his Character upon this Iſſue, viz. the Excellency of his Laws, above what Athens, or Lacedemon, even Rome itſelf, ever had to produce. For, what a compleat Syſtem of all Religions and ſocial Virtues do the Ten Commandments, deliver'd on the Mount, contain, taking them (as we ought to do) in their poſitive, as well as negative Senſe! In the ſecond of theſe indeed, there is a Paſſage, of God's viſiting the Sins of the Fathers upon the Children, which ſeems to bear a little hard upon his Mercy and Juſtice; but this is entirely owing to the Miſtake of our Tranſlation. For, if the Prepoſition Lamed, and Hal, which we there render upon, may, according to the Senſe of ſome Criticks, be render'd by, or in favour of, then may the Words, now under Conſideration, be properly tranſlated, God's puniſhing the Wickedneſs of the Father, BY, or IN FAVOUR of the Children. In the former of theſe Senſes, David's Murther and Adultery was juſtly puniſh'd by his favourite, but wicked Son Abſalom; and, in the latter, the Meaning will be, that God frequently inflicts remarkable Judgments upon a wicked Father, in order to deter his Children, even to the third and fourth Generation, from the like Provocations.

18 And all the people ſaw the thundrings, and the lightnings, and the noiſe of the trumpet, and the mountain ſmoaking: and when the people ſaw it, they removed, and ſtood afar off. 19 And they ſaid unto Moſes, Speak thou with us, and we will hear: but let not God ſpeak with us, leſt we die. 20 And Moſes ſaid unto the people, Fear not: for God is come to prove you, and that his fear may be before your faces, that ye ſin not. 21 And the people ſtood afar off, and Moſes drew near unto the thick darkneſs where God was. 22 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Thus thou ſhalt ſay unto the children of Iſrael, Ye have ſeen that I have talked with you from heaven. 23 Ye ſhall not make with me gods of ſilver, neither ſhall ye make unto you gods of gold. 24 An altar of earth thou ſhalt make unto me, and ſhalt ſacrifice thereon thy burnt-offerings, and thy peace-offerings, thy ſheep, and thine oxen: In all places where I record my name, I will come unto thee, and I will bleſs thee. 25 And if thou wilt make me an altar of ſtone, thou ſhalt not build it of hewen ſtone: for if thou lift up thy tool upon it, thou haſt polluted it. 26 Neither ſhalt thou go up by ſteps unto mine altar, that thy nakedneſs be not diſcovered thereon.

An Altar of Earth ſhalt thou make unto me] The Deſign of which was, no doubt, to obliterate thoſe groſs and carnal Conceptions of the Deity, and of the Worſhip which was to be paid to him, which, 'tis likely, the Iſraelites had contracted, from a Diſuſe of their religious Rites, and their Acquaintance with the People of Egypt. To the ſame Purpoſe they are cautioned againſt introducing Images of Gold and Silver, which by their ſubſequent Error, in relation to the Golden Calf, we find they were exceedingly prone to; and it ſeems alſo very rational to believe, that this Command was given them, that they might not be without an external Form of Worſhip until the Tabernacle was erected; which left them void of Excuſe in the Crime of framing the Golden Image, againſt which they they receiv'd ſuch expreſs Prohibitions from God himſelf, as well as from his Prophet. The whole Tenor of this Inſtruction plainly proves, that Sincerity, and not Magnificence, the Heart, and not the Hands, were required by Jehovah, in the publick Acts of Devotion paid to him.

Laws relating to Servants; and divers other Things.

Ver. 1. NOW theſe are the judgments which thou ſhalt ſet before them. 2 If thou buy an Hebrew ſervant, ſix years he ſhall ſerve: and in the ſeventh he ſhall go out free for nothing. 3 If he came in by himſelf, he ſhall go out by himſelf: if he were married, then his wife ſhall go out with him. 4 If his maſter have given him a wife, and ſhe have borne him ſons or daughters; the wife and her children ſhall be her maſters, and he ſhall go out by himſelf. 5 And if the ſervant ſhall plainly ſay, I love my maſter, my wife, and my children, I will not go out free: 6 Then his maſter ſhall bring him unto the judges: he ſhall alſo bring him to the door, or unto the door-poſt: and his maſter ſhall bore his ear through with an aul; and he ſhall ſerve him for ever. 7 And if a man ſell his daughter to be a maid-ſervant, ſhe ſhall not go out as the men-ſervants do. 8 If ſhe pleaſe not her maſter, who hath betrothed her to himſelf then ſhall he let her be redeemed: To ſell her unto a ſtrange nation he ſhall have no power, ſeeing he hath dealt deceitfully with her. 9 And if he have betrothed her unto his ſon, he ſhall deal with her after the manner of daughters. 10 If he take him another wife; her food, her raiment, and her duty of marriage ſhall he not diminiſh. 11 And if he do not theſe three unto her, then ſhall ſhe go out free without money. 12 He that ſmiteth a man, ſo that he die, ſhall be ſurely put to death. 13 And if a man lie not in wait, but God deliver him into his hand; then I will appoint thee a place whither he ſhall flee. 14 But if a man come preſumptuouſly upon his neighbour, to ſlay him with guile; thou ſhalt take him from mine altar, that he may die. 15 And he that ſmiteth his father, or his mother, ſhall be ſurely put to death. 16 And he that ſtealeth a man, and ſelleth him, or if he be found in his hand, he ſhall ſurely be put to death. 17 And he that curſeth his father, or his mother, ſhall ſurely be put to death. 18 And if men ſtrive together, and one ſmite another with a ſtone, or with his fiſt, and he die not, but keepeth his bed: 19 If he riſe again, and walk abroad upon his ſtaff, then ſhall he that ſmote him, be quit: only he ſhall pay for the loſs of his time, and ſhall cauſe him to be throughly healed. 20 And if a man ſmite his ſervant, or his maid with a rod, and he die under his hand; he ſhall be ſurely puniſhed. 21 Notwithſtanding, if he continue a day or two, he ſhall not be puniſhed: for he is his money. 22 If men ſtrive, and hurt a woman with child, ſo that her fruit depart from her, and yet no miſchief follow: he ſhall be ſurely puniſhed, according as the womans huſband will lay upon him; and he ſhall pay as the judges determine. 23 And if any miſchief follow, then thou ſhalt give life for life. 24 Eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot. 25 Burning for burning, wound for wound, ſtripe for ſtripe. 26 And if a man ſmite the eye of his ſervant, or the eye of his maid, that it periſh: he ſhall let him go free for his eyes ſake. 27 And if he ſmite out his man-ſervants tooth, or his maid-ſervants tooth; he ſhall let him go free for his tooths ſake. 28 If an ox gore a man or a woman, that they die: then the ox ſhall be ſurely ſtoned, and his fleſh ſhall not be eaten; but the owner of the ox ſhall be quit. 29 But if the ox were wont to puſh with his horn in time paſt, and it hath been teſtified to his owner, and he hath not kept him in, but that he hath killed a man or a woman; the ox ſhall be ſtoned, and his owner alſo ſhall be put to death. 30 If there be laid on him a ſum of money, then he ſhall give for the ranſome of his life, whatſoever is laid upon him. 31 Whether he have gored a ſon, or have gored a daughter, according to this judgment ſhall it be done unto him. 32 If the ox ſhall puſh a man-ſervant, or maid ſervant; he ſhall give unto their maſter thirty ſhekels of ſilver, and the ox ſhall be ſtoned. 33 And if a man ſhall open a pit, or if a man ſhall dig a pit, and not cover it, and an ox or an aſs fall therein; 34 The owner of the pit ſhall make it good, and give money unto the owner of them, and the dead beaſt ſhall be his. 35 And if one mans ox hurt anothers that he die, then they ſhall ſell the live ox, and divide the money of it, and the dead ox alſo they ſhall divide. 36 Or if it be known that the ox hath uſed to puſh in time paſt, and his owner hath not kept him in; he ſhall ſurely pay ox for ox, and the dead ſhall be his own.

While Moſes was in the Mount, he received from God (in Addition to the Decalogue) ſeveral other Laws, both ceremonial and political, which ſeem to have been calculated with a wiſe Deſign to preſerve the People in Obedience to God, to prevent their Intermixture with other Nations, and to advance the Welfare of their Common-wealth, by ſecuring to all the Members of it a quiet Enjoyment of their Lives and Properties.

Eye for Eye, Tooth for Tooth] This, to us, who live under a milder Diſpenſation, may ſeem a very rigid and ſevere Decree; but it is no more than what was thought reaſonable in other Nations; and obtained a Place among the celebrated Roman Laws of the Twelve Tables. It was, in ſome Meaſure, neceſſary to reſtrain quarrelſome and unruly Tempers from Violence; and, in Caſe that Death did not enſue, the Law was always mitigated, and the ſpecifick Puniſhment commuted for a pecuniary Mulct.

CHAP. XXII.

Laws concerning Theft; Damage done by Beaſts; Miſchief by Fire, and various other Matters.

Ver. 1. IF a man ſhall ſteal an ox or a ſheep, and kill it, or ſell it; he ſhall reſtore five oxen for an ox, and four ſheep for a ſheep. 2 If a thief be found breaking up, and be ſmitten that he die, there ſhall no blood be ſhed for him. 3 If the ſun be riſen upon him, there ſhall be blood ſhed for him: for he ſhould make full reſtitution; if he have nothing, then he ſhall be ſold for his theft. 4 If the theft be certainly found in his hand alive, whether it be ox, or aſs, or ſheep; he ſhall reſtore double. 5 If a man ſhall ſhall cauſe a field or vineyard to be eaten, and ſhall put in his beaſt, and ſhall feed in another mans field: of the beſt of his own field, and of the beſt of his own vineyard ſhall he make reſtitution. 6 If fire break out, and catch in thorns, ſo that the ſtacks of corn, or the ſtanding corn, or the field be conſumed therewith; he that kindled the fire ſhall ſurely make reſtitution. 7 If a man ſhall deliver unto his neighbour money or ſtuff to keep, and it be ſtolen out of the mans houſe; if the thief be found, let him pay double. 8 If the thief be not found, then the maſter of the houſe ſhall be brought unto the judges, to ſee whether he have put his hand unto his neighbours goods. 9 For all manner of treſpaſs, whether it be for ox, for aſs, for ſheep, for raiment, or for any manner of loſt thing, which another challengeth to be his: the cauſe of both parties ſhall come before the judges; and whom the judges ſhall condemn, he ſhall pay double unto his neighbour. 10 If a man deliver unto his neighbour an aſs, or an ox, or a ſheep, or any beaſt to keep; and it die, or be hurt, or driven away, no man ſeeing it: 11 Then ſhall an oath of the Lord be between them both, that he hath not put his hand unto his neighbours goods: and the owner of it ſhall accept thereof, and he ſhall not make it good. 12 And if it be ſtolen from him, he ſhall make reſtitution unto the owner thereof. 13 If it be torn in pieces; then let him bring it for witneſs, and he ſhall not make good that which was torn. 14 And if a man borrow ought of his neighbour, and it be hurt, or die, the owner thereof being not with it; he ſhall ſurely make it good. 15 But if the owner thereof be with it he ſhall not make it good: if it be an hired thing, it came for his hire. 16 And if a man entice a maid that is not betrothed, and lie with her; he ſhall ſurely endow her to be his wife. 17 If her father utterly refuſe to give her unto him, he ſhall pay money according to the dowry of virgins. 18 Thou ſhalt not ſuffer a witch to live. 19 Whoſoever lieth with a beaſt, ſhall ſurely be put to death. 20 He that ſacrificeth unto any god, ſave unto the Lord only, he ſhall be utterly deſtroyed. 21 Thou ſhalt neither vex a ſtranger nor oppreſs him: for ye were ſtrangers in the land of Egypt. 22 Ye ſhall not afflict any widow, or fatherleſs child. 23 If thou afflict them in any wiſe, and they cry at all unto me: I will ſurely hear their cry; 24 And my wrath ſhall wax hot, and I will kill you with the ſword; and your wives ſhall be widows, and your children fatherleſs. 25 If thou lend money to any of my people that is poor by thee, thou ſhalt not be to him as an uſurer, neither ſhalt thou lay upon him uſury. 26 If thou at all take thy neighbours raiment to pledge, thou ſhalt deliver it unto him by that the ſun goeth down: 27 For that is his covering only, it is his raiment for his ſkin: wherein ſhall he ſleep? And it ſhall come to paſs, when he crieth unto me, that I will hear: for I am gracious. 28 Thou ſhalt not revile the gods, nor curſe the ruler of thy people. 29 Thou ſhalt not delay to offer the firſt of thy ripe fruits and of thy liquors: the firſt born of thy ſons ſhalt thou give unto me. 30 Likewiſe ſhalt thou do with thine oxen, and with thy ſheep: ſeven days it ſhall be with his dam; on the eighth day thou ſhalt give it me. 31 And ye ſhall be holy men unto me: neither ſhall ye eat any fleſh that is torn of beaſts in the field: ye ſhall caſt it to the dogs.

He ſhall reſtore five Oxen for an Ox, and four Sheep for a Sheep] But why was the Puniſhment for ſtealing an Ox, more ſevere than that for ſtealing a Sheep? Becauſe the Loſs of an Ox is a greater Damage to the Owner, than the Loſs of a Sheep; for in loſing an Ox, a Man loſes his Service, together with his Carcaſs; but in a Sheep, he loſes only the Body.

If the Sun be riſen upon him, there ſhall Blood be ſhed] But why was not the killing of a Thief in the Night, puniſhable with Death, as it was if committed in the Day Time? Becauſe the Darkneſs, which the Thief had choſen to do evil Deeds in, render'd the Uſe of the Judgment impracticable, and hindered a Man from containing himſelf within the Moderation of a barely neceſſary Defence; and becauſe the publick Safety requires this Security, as againſt ſuch whom the Law has already condemned, by declaring them Enemies to civil Society. And the Law of Nature and Reaſon ſuffers one to oppoſe Violence with Violence, when the Aſſiſtance of publick Authority cannot be procured in Time, as it may well be ſuppoſed it cannot be in the Night. And, finally, as the worſt Extremities may be feared from a Thief, ſo one may oppoſe him without Reſtraint or Reſpect.

Thou ſhalt not delay to offer the firſt of thy ripe Fruits, and of thy Liquors] The Hebrew Word, tranſlated ripe Fruits, ſignifies Fulneſs; and it appears by Numb. xviii. 27. Deut. xxii. 9. that it here means the Vintage with which are filled the Veſſels, and the Liquor whereof runs plentifully out of the Wine-preſſes, or Fats. Now this is here particularly mentioned, becauſe the Offerings of the Firſt-fruits of Corn had their aſſigned Day at Pentecoſt, Exod. xxxiii. 16. and xxxiv. 22. Numb. xxviii. 26. but not thoſe of Liquors, which therefore, God commands, ſhould not maliciouſly, or negligently, be delayed.

CHAP. XXIII.

Divers other Laws. Of the Year of Reſt. Three principal Feaſts to be kept in the Year. Of Sacrifices. Bleſſings promiſed. Forbidden to covenant with the Heathen, or their Gods, or to let them dwell among them.

Ver. 1. THOU ſhalt not raiſe a falſe report: put not thine hand with the wicked to be an unrighteous witneſs. 2 Thou ſhalt not follow a multitude to do evil; neither ſhalt thou ſpeak in a cauſe, to decline after many, to wreſt judgment: 3 Neither ſhalt thou countenance a poor man in his cauſe. 4 If thou meet thine enemies ox or his aſs going aſtray, thou ſhalt ſurely bring it back to him again. 5 If thou ſee the aſs of him that hateth thee, lying under his burden, and wouldeſt forbear to help him; thou ſhalt ſurely help with him. 6 Thou ſhalt not wreſt the judgment of thy poor in his cauſe. 7 Keep thee far from a falſe matter: and the innocent and righteous ſlay thou not: for I will not juſtify the wicked. 8 And thou ſhalt take no gift: for the gift blindeth the wiſe, and perverteth the words of the righteous. 9 Alſo thou ſhalt not oppreſs a ſtranger: for ye know the heart of a ſtranger, ſeeing ye were ſtrangers in the land of Egypt. 10 And ſix years thou ſhalt ſow thy land, and ſhalt gather in the fruits thereof: 11 But the ſeventh year thou ſhalt let it reſt, and lie ſtill; that the poor of thy people may eat: and what they leave, the beaſts of the field ſhall eat. In like manner thou ſhalt deal with thy vineyard, and with thy oliveyard. 12 Six days thou thou ſhalt do thy work, and on the ſeventh day thou ſhalt reſt: that thine ox and thine aſs may reſt, and the ſon of thy hand-maid, and the ſtranger may be refreſhed. 13 And in all things that I have ſaid unto you, be circumſpect: and make no mention of the names of other gods, neither let it be heard out of thy mouth. 14 Three times thou ſhalt keep a feaſt unto me in the year. 15 Thou ſhalt keep the feaſt of unleaved bread: thou ſhalt eat unleavened bread ſeven days, as I commanded thee, in the time appointed of the month Abib: for in it thou cameſt out from Egypt: and none ſhall appear before me empty: 16 And the feaſt of harveſt, the firſt fruits of thy labours, which thou haſt ſown in the field: and the feaſt of in-gathering which is in the end of the year, when thou haſt gathered in thy labours out of the field. 17 Three times in the year all thy males ſhall appear before the Lord God. 18 Thou ſhalt not offer the blood of my ſacrifice with leavened bread, neither ſhall the fat of my ſacrifice remain until the morning. 19 The firſt of the firſt-fruits of thy land thou ſhalt bring into the houſe of the Lord thy God. Thou ſhalt not ſeethe a kid in his mothers milk. 20 Behold, I ſend an Angel before thee to keep thee in the way, and to bring thee into the place which I have prepared. 21 Beware of him, and obey his voice, provoke him not: for he will not pardon your tranſgreſſions: for my name is in him. 22 But if thou ſhalt indeed obey his voice, and do all that I ſpeak; then I will be an enemy unto thine enemies, and an adverſary unto thine adverſaries. 23 For mine Angel ſhall go before thee, and bring thee in unto the Amorites, and the Hittetes, and the Perizzites, and the Canaanites; and the Hivites, and the Jebuſites: and I will cut them off. 24 Thou ſhalt not bow down to their gods, nor ſerve them, nor do after their works: but thou ſhalt utterly overthrow them, and quite break down their images. 25 And ye ſhall ſerve the Lord your God, and he ſhall bleſs thy bread, and thy water: and I will take ſickneſs away from the midſt of thee. 26 There ſhall nothing caſt their young, nor be barren in thy land: the number of thy days I will fulfil. 27 I will ſend my fear before thee, and will deſtroy all the people to whom thou ſhalt come, and I will make all thine enemies turn their backs unto thee. 28 And I will ſend hornets before thee, which ſhall drive out the Hivite, the Canaanite, and the Hittite from before thee. 29 I will not drive them out from before thee in one year; leſt the land become deſolate; and the beaſt of the field multiply againſt thee. 30 By little and little I will drive them out from before thee, until thou be increaſed, and inherit the land. 31 And I will ſet thy bounds from the Red-ſea even unto the ſea of the Philiſtines, and from the deſart unto the river: for I will deliver the inhabitants of the land into your hand; and thou ſhalt drive them out before thee. 32 Thou ſhalt make no covenant with them, nor with their gods. 33 They ſhall not dwell in thy land, leſt they make thee ſin againſt me: for if thou ſerve their gods, it will ſurely be a ſnare unto thee.

Three Times ſhalt thou keep a Feaſt unto me in the Year] The firſt of theſe Feaſts, is that of unleavened Bread, which is the ſame with that of the Paſſover, on which the Paſchal Lamb was eaten; the other ſeven Days, were called the Days of unleavened Bread. At the Feaſt of Harveſt they were enjoined to offer two Loaves, for the Firſt-Fruits of Harveſt, Levit. xxiii. 17. This Feaſt was afterwards called Pentecoſt, it falling fifty Days after the Paſſover. During the Time of this Feaſt, God gave the Ten Commandments; and afterwards he ſent the Holy Ghoſt, at the ſame Time of the Year, upon the Apoſtles, Acts ii. The Feaſt of the Firſt-fruits came in the ſeventh Month of the Year, beginning the fifteenth, and laſting ſeven Days. This Feaſt was likewiſe called the Feaſt of Tabernacles, or Leaf-huts, Levit. xxiii. 34. Deut. xvi. 13. On theſe three ſolemn Feſtivals, every Male was to appear before the Lord, unleſs hindered by ſome Impediment, Infirmity, or Inability.

And I will ſend Hornets before thee] Some imagine that theſe Hornets were a large and fierce Kind of Waſps, mentioned by Pliny in his natural Hiſtory; who ſays, they ſeldom ſting without infuſing ſuch a Venom as creates a Fever. Others are of Opinion, that theſe were too weak Auxiliaries, to aſſiſt the Children of Iſrael in expelling the Canaanites, and therefore have Recourſe to Allegories and uncouth Derivations of the Hebrew Word; but the learned Bochart has fully refuted this Notion; and has, by various Quotations from Authors of unqueſtionable Credit, ſhewn that Waſps have really expelled a People from their Habitations; and Joſh. xxiv. 12. we are told, that Jehovah did actually ſend this Aid to his choſen People, and that they forced the Canaanites to fly before them.

And I will ſet thy Bounds from the Red-Sea, even unto the Sea of the Philiſtines, and from the Deſart unto the River] They were to extend from the Red-Sea, to the Sea of the Philiſtines, that is, the Mediterranean; and from the Deſart of Arabia, unto the River Euphrates. Now, tho' all this Tract of Country was never actually poſſeſſed, that is, divided among the Deſcendants of Jacob, yet, the Inhabitants were ſubdued and made Tributaries to them. Thus, tho' Moſes lived not to aſſign the Children of Iſrael their Poſſeſſions in the promiſed Land, yet he inform'd them exactly, as to the general Boundaries of Canaan, that they might not engage in unneceſſary Wars, or injure Nations, againſt whom God had not ſent them.

CHAP. XXIV.

The Elders ordered to go up into the Mount, where they ſee the Glory of the Lord. Moſes forty Days in the Mount.

Ver. 1. AND he ſaid unto Moſes, Come up unto the Lord, thou and Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, and ſeventy of the elders of Iſrael: and worſhip ye afar off. 2 And Moſes alone ſhall come near the Lord: but they ſhall not come nigh, neither ſhall the people go up with him. 3 And Moſes came and told the people all the words of the Lord, and all the judgments: and all the people anſwered with one voice, and ſaid, All the words, which the Lord hath ſaid, will we do. 4 And Moſes wrote all the words of the Lord, and roſe up early in the morning, and builded an altar under the hill, and twelve pillars, according to the twelve tribes of Iſrael. 5 And he ſent young men of the children of Iſrael, which offered burnt-offerings, and ſacrificed peace-offerings of oxen unto the Lord. 6 And Moſes took half of the blood, and put it in baſons; and half of the blood he ſprinkled on the altar. 7 And he took the book of the covenant, and read in the audience of the people: and they ſaid, All that the Lord hath ſaid, will we do, and be obedient. 8 And Moſes took the blood, and ſprinkled it on the people, and ſaid, Behold the blood of the covenant which the Lord hath made with you, concerning all theſe words. 9 Then went up Moſes and Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, and ſeventy of the elders of Iſrael. 10 And they ſaw the God of Iſrael: and there was under his feet, as it were a paved work of a ſapphire-ſtone, and as it were the body of heaven in his clearneſs. 11 And upon the nobles of the children of Iſrael he laid not his hand: alſo they ſaw God, and did eat and drink. 12 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Come up to me into the mount, and be there: and I will give thee tables of ſtone, and a law, and commandments which I have written; that thou mayeſt teach them. 13 And Moſes roſe up, and his miniſter Joſhua: and Moſes went up into the mount of God. 14 And he ſaid unto the elders, Tarry ye here for us, until we come again unto you: and behold, Aaron and Hur are with you: if any man have any matters to do, let him come unto them. 15 And Moſes went up into the mount, and a cloud covered the mount. 16 And the glory of the Lord abode upon mount Sinai, and the cloud covered it ſix days: and the ſeventh day he called unto Moſes out of the midſt of the cloud. 17 And the ſight of the glory of the Lord was like devouring fire on the top of the mount, in the eyes of the children of Iſrael. 18 And Moſes went into the midſt of the cloud, and gat him up into the mount: and Moſes was in the mount forty days, and forty nights.

And Moſes took the Blood, and ſprinkled it on the People, and ſaid, Behold the Blood of the Covenant] It was a very early and extenſive Cuſtom, as appears from the Hiſtory of all Nations, to ſacrifice upon the Concluſion and Ratification of a Covenant; and the ſprinkling of the Blood ſignified, that whoever of the contracting Parties was guilty of breaking that Covenant, ſhould have his Blood ſpilt in the ſame Manner.

And they ſaw the God of Iſrael; and there was under his Feet as it were a paved Work of a Sapphire-ſtone, and as it were the Body of Heaven in its Clearneſs] The beſt Jewiſh and Chriſtian Commentators are agreed, That he beheld that Brightneſs which accompanied the Preſence of God; For himſelf hath no Man ſeen.

And I will give thee Tables of Stone, and a Law, and Commandments which I have written] To perpetuate the Memory of any Thing, the Cuſtom of Writing on Stone, or Brick, was certainly very antient, and (as Joſephus, in the Caſe of Seth's Pillars, tells us) elder than the Time of the Flood. The Words of the Decalogue, ſpoken by God himſelf, were ſuch, as deſerv'd to be had in everlaſting Remembrance; and therefore God was willing to have them engrav'd upon durable Matter; but then the Queſtion is, Whether it was God himſelf, with his own Finger, as we ſay, or ſome other Perſon, from God's Mouth, who wrote them. In Exod. xxxiv. 27, 28. we are told, that the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, write thou theſe Words, for after the Tenour of theſe Words, have I made a Covenant with thee, and with Iſrael; and that, accordingly, he wrote upon the Tables the Words of the Covenant, even the Ten Commandments. Now ſince it is a common Form of Speech, that what a Superior commands to be done, that he does himſelf; the Meaning can be no more, than that the Words of the Decalogue were written by the Hand of Moſes, but by the Direction and Dictation of God. CHAP. XXV.

Moſes is commanded to collect from the People a free-will Offering for the Erection of a Sanctuary; the Form and Materials of it preſcribed.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, that they bring me an offering: of every man that giveth it willingly with his heart, ye ſhall take my offering. 3 And this is the offering which ye ſhall take of them; gold, and ſilver, and braſs. 4 And blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine linen, and goats hair, 5 And rams ſkins died red, and badgers-ſkins, and ſhittim-wood, 6 Oyl for the light, ſpices for anointing oyl and for ſweet incenſe, 7 Onyx-ſtones, and ſtones to be ſet in the ephod and in the breaſt-plate. 8 And let them make me a ſanctuary; that I may dwell amongſt them. 9 According to all that I ſhew thee, after the pattern of the tabernacle, and the pattern of all the inſtruments thereof, even ſo ſhall ye make it. 10 And they ſhall make an ark of ſhittim-wood: two cubits and an half ſhall be the length thereof, and a cubit and a half the breadth thereof, and a cubit and a half the height thereof. 11 And thou ſhalt overlay it with pure gold, within and without ſhalt thou overlay it: and ſhalt make upon it a crown of gold round about. 12 And thou ſhalt caſt four rings of gold for it, and put them in the four corners thereof; and two rings ſhall be in the one ſide of it, and two rings in the other ſide of it. 13 And thou ſhalt make ſtaves of ſhittim-wood, and overlay them with gold. 14 And thou ſhalt put the ſtaves into the rings, by the ſides of the ark, that the ark may be borne with them. 15 The ſtaves ſhall be in the rings of the ark: they ſhall not be taken from it. 16 And thou ſhalt put into the ark the teſtimony which I ſhall give thee. 17 And thou ſhalt make a mercy-ſeat of pure gold: two cubits and a half ſhall be the length thereof, and a cubit and a half the breadth thereof. 18 And thou ſhalt make two cherubims of gold: of beaten work ſhalt thou make them, in the two ends of the mercy ſeat. 19 And make one cherub on the one end, and the other cherub on the other end: even of the mercy-ſeat ſhall ye make the cherubims on the two ends thereof. 20 And the cherubims ſhall ſtretch forth their wings on high, covering the mercy-ſeat with their wings, and their faces ſhall look one to another: toward the mercy-ſeat ſhall the faces of the cherubims be. 21 And thou ſhalt put the mercy-ſeat above upon the ark, and in the ark thou ſhalt put the teſtimony that I ſhall give thee. 22 And there I will meet with thee, and I will commune with thee, from above the mercy-ſeat, from between the two cherubims which are upon the ark of the teſtimony, of all things which I will give thee in commandment unto the children of Iſrael. 23 Thou ſhalt alſo make a table of ſhittim-wood: two cubits ſhall be the length thereof, and a cubit the breadth thereof, and a cubit and a half the height thereof. 24 And thou ſhalt overlay it with pure gold, and make thereto a crown of gold round about. 25 And thou ſhalt make unto it a border of an hand-breadth round about, and thou ſhalt make a golden crown to the border thereof round about. 26 And 26 And thou ſhalt make for it four rings of gold, and put the rings in the four corners that are on the four feet thereof. 27 Over againſt the border ſhall the rings be for places of the ſtaves to bear the table. 28 And thou ſhalt make the ſtaves of ſhittim-wood, and overlay them with gold, that the table may be borne with them. 29 And thou ſhalt make the diſhes thereof, and ſpoons thereof, and covers thereof, and bowls thereof, to cover withall: of pure gold ſhalt thou make them. 30 And thou ſhalt ſet upon the table, ſhew-bread before me alway. 31 And thou ſhalt make a candleſtick of pure gold: of beaten work ſhall the candleſtick be made: his ſhaft, and his branches, his bowls, his knops, and his flowers ſhall be of the ſame. 32 And ſix branches ſhall come out of the ſides of it: three branches of the candleſtick out of the one ſide, and three branches of the candleſtick out of the other ſide. 33 Three bowls made like unto almonds, with a knop and a flower in one branch; and three bowls made like almonds in the other branch, with a knop and a flower: ſo in the ſix branches that come out of the candleſtick. 34 And in the candleſtick ſhall be four bowls made like unto almonds, with their knops and their flowers. 35 And there ſhall be a knop under two branches of the ſame, and a knop under two branches of the ſame, and a knop under two branches of the ſame, according to the ſix branches that proceed out of the candleſtick. 36 Their knops and their branches ſhall be of the ſame: all it ſhall be one beaten work of pure gold. 37 And thou ſhalt make the ſeven lamps thereof: and they ſhall light the lamps thereof, that they may give light over againſt it. 38 And the tongs thereof, and the ſnuff-diſhes thereof, ſhall be of pure gold. 39 Of a talent of pure gold ſhall he make it, with all theſe veſſels. 40 And look that thou make them after their pattern, which was ſhewed thee in the mount.

And let them make me a Sanctuary] The Sanctuary, or Tabernacle, which Moſes was order'd to build, was a Sort of moveable Temple, and deſigned as a peculiar Place of Worſhip, during their Peregrinations in the Wilderneſs, till they ſhould be ſettled in their promiſed Poſſeſſions; where a more ſpacious Building ſhould afterwards be erected for publick Service.

And they ſhall make an Ark of Shittim-wood] It was a Kind of Wood very little ſubject to corrupt or decay; the Tree of it has Leaves like a White-thorn, but grows as high and as thick as a Cedar.

And thou ſhalt make two Cherubims] What the particular Figure of theſe Cherubims was, is very difficult to deſcribe at this Diſtance. Grotius indeed, and ſome others, have ingeniouſly conjectur'd, from the Creatures ſeen by Ezekiel in his Viſion, Ch. i. 5. and x. 15. which he calls Cherubim, that they had the Face of a Man, the Wings of an Eagle, the Mane of a Lyon, and the Feet of an Ox; and by this they will have the Diſpenſations of divine Providence, by the Miniſtry of Angels, ſymbolically repreſented; the Lyon exhibiting the Severity of his Juſtice; the Eagle, the Celerity of his Bounty; the Man, his Goodneſs and Mercy; and the Ox, the Slowneſs of his Puniſhment, which comes (as the Greek Proverb ſays) with an Ox's Foot.

Moſes's Deſign in placing theſe Figures of imaginary Beings on the Mercy-ſeat, ſeems to have been, to ſet them in Oppoſition to the Egyptian Idolatry. For, whereas their Temples were generally filled with the Images of Monkeys, Calves, Serpents, &c. the Repreſentations of real Animals, which, according to the natural Deiſm of thoſe Times, they fancied to be Parts and Exhibitions of the Deity, Moſes here orders Figures to be made, which had little or no Reſemblance of any Thing in the World, and were expreſſive of the angelical Nature only, which every one knew was ſubordinate to God's.

Of a Talent of pure Gold ſhall he make it] A Talent was 3000 Shekels, and a Shekel half an Ounce, of twelve Ounces to the Pound; according to which, a Talent weighed 125 Pounds.

The myſtical and ſymbolical Meaning of many Things in this Chapter, is explained, and the Reference of them to Things ſpiritual, aptly applied, in the xith Chapter of the Epiſtle to the Hebrews.

CHAP. XXVI.

Directions for Moſes in making the Curtains to the Tabernacle, the Cover, the Veil for the Ark, and the Hanging-Door.

Ver. 1. MOreover, thou ſhalt make the tabernacle with ten curtains of fine twined linen, and blue, and purple, and ſcarlet: with cherubims of cunning work ſhalt thou make them. 2 The length of one curtain ſhall be eight and twenty cubits, and the breadth of one curtain, four cubits: and every one of the curtains ſhall have one meaſure. 3 The five curtains ſhall be coupled together one to another: and other five curtains ſhall be coupled one to another. 4 And thou ſhalt make loops of blue upon the edge of the one curtain, from the ſelvedge in the coupling: and likewiſe ſhalt thou make in the uttermoſt edge of another curtain, in the coupling of the ſecond. 5 Fifty loops ſhalt thou make in the one curtain, and fifty loops ſhalt thou make in the edge of the curtain that is in the coupling of the ſecond; that the loops may take hold one of another. 6 And thou ſhalt make fifty taches of gold, and couple the curtains together with the taches: and it ſhall be one tabernacle. 7 And thou ſhalt make curtains of goats hair to be a covering upon the tabernacle: eleven curtains ſhalt thou make. 8 The length of one curtain ſhall be thirty cubits, and the breadth of one curtain, four cubits: and the eleven curtains ſhall be all of one meaſure. 9 And thou ſhalt couple five curtains by themſelves, and ſix curtains by themſelves, and ſhalt double the ſixth curtain in the fore-front of the tabernacle. 10 And thou ſhalt make fifty loops on the edge of the one curtain that is outmoſt in the coupling, and fifty loops in the edge of the curtain which coupleth the ſecond. 11 And thou ſhalt make fifty taches of braſs, and put the taches into the loops, and couple the tent together that it may be one. 12 And the remnant that remaineth of the curtain of the tent, the half curtain that remaineth, ſhall hang over the back-ſide of the tabernacle. 13 And a cubit on the one ſide, and a cubit on the other ſide of that which remaineth in the length of the curtains of the tent, it ſhall hang over the ſides of the tabernacle, on this ſide, and on that ſide to cover it. 14 And thou ſhalt make a covering for the tent, of rams ſkins died red, and a covering above of badgers ſkins. 15 And thou ſhalt make boards for the tabernacle, of ſhittim-wood, ſtanding up. 16 Ten cubits ſhall be the length of a board, and a cubit and a half ſhall be the breadth of one board.

17 Two

17 Two tenons ſhall there be in one board, ſet in order one againſt another: thus ſhalt thou make for all the boards of the tabernacle. 18 And thou ſhalt make the boards for the tabernacle, twenty boards on the ſouth-ſide, ſouth-ward. 19 And thou ſhalt make forty ſockets of ſilver, under the twenty boards: two ſockets under one board for his two tenons, and two ſockets under another board for his two tenons. 20 And for the ſecond ſide of the tabernacle on the north-ſide, there ſhall be twenty boards, 21 And their forty ſockets of ſilver: two ſockets under one board, and two ſockets under another board. 22 And for the ſides of the tabernacle weſt-ward, thou ſhalt make ſix boards. 23 And two boards ſhalt thou make for the corners of the tabernacle in the two ſides. 24 And they ſhall be coupled together beneath, and they ſhall be coupled together above the head of it unto one ring; thus ſhall it be for them both; they ſhall be for the two corners. 25 And they ſhall be eight boards, and their ſockets of ſilver, ſixteen ſockets: two ſockets under one board, and two ſockets under another board. 26 And thou ſhalt make bars of ſhittim-wood: five for the boards of the one ſide of the tabernacle, 27 And five bars for the boards of the other ſide of the tabernacle, and five bars for the boards of the ſide of the tabernacle for the two ſides weſt-ward. 28 And the middle bar in the mids of the boards ſhall reach from end to end. 29 And thou ſhalt overlay the boards with gold, and make their rings of gold for places for the bars: and thou ſhalt overlay the bars with gold. 30 And thou ſhalt rear up the tabernacle according to the faſhion thereof, which was ſhewed thee in the mount. 31 And thou ſhalt make a vail of blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine twined linen of cunning work: with cherubims ſhall it be made. 32 And thou ſhalt hang it upon four pillars of ſhittim-wood, overlaid with gold: their hooks ſhall be of gold, upon the four ſockets of ſilver. 33 And thou ſhalt hang up the vail under the taches, that thou mayeſt bring in thither within the vail, the ark of the teſtimony: and the vail ſhall divide unto you, between the holy place and the moſt holy. 34 And thou ſhalt put the mercy-ſeat upon the ark of the teſtimony, in the moſt holy place. 35 And thou ſhalt ſet the table without the vail, and the candleſtick over againſt the table on the ſide of the tabernacle toward the ſouth: and thou ſhalt put the table on the north-ſide. 36 And thou ſhalt make an hanging for the door of the tent, of blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine twined linen, wrought with needlework. 37 And thou ſhalt make for the hanging, five pillars of ſhittim-wood, and overlay them with gold, and their hooks ſhall be of gold: and thou ſhalt caſt five ſockets of braſs for them.

As the Account of the ſeveral Parts and Utenſils of the Tabernacle and Ark, here given, can afford us but little Inſtruction, except in their figurative Meaning, an Explanation thereof, as taken in a typical Senſe, may be of ſome Uſe.

The Temple, then, was partly a Figure of our Saviour Chriſt, and partly of his Church; for when the Son of God ſuffered the Temple of his Body to be deſtroyed, and was riſen again from the Dead, then he raiſed up to us the Chriſtian Church, which is the true ſpiritual Houſe and Temple wherein God dwells.

The Gold and precious Stones ſignified the Deity of Chriſt. The Shittim-wood and Cedar, were not ſubject to Putrefaction, nor to be eaten by Worms; thus the human Nature of Chriſt was not ſubject to Corruption or Putrefaction.

The two Cherubims repreſented the Old and new Teſtament; for, as their Wings touch'd one another, ſo the Old and New Teſtament are joined togetehr; where the firſt ended the Second began; and both had Relation to Chriſt, to whom the Miniſtry of God was committed.

The Veil of the Temple ſignified the Son of God, Jeſus Chriſt, hanging upon the Altar of the Croſs, as the true Veil between God and us, ſhadowing with his Wounds and precious Blood, the Multitude of our Offences, that ſo we might be made acceptable to the Father.

Two Things were held out to us under the Figure of the Ark of the Covenant, viz. Our Saviour Chriſt, and the Hearts of the Faithful. The Tables of the Law move us to mutual Love and Obedience. The Myſtery of the Golden Altar compaſſed about with a Crown of Gold, repreſents the Union of the Humanity and Deity of Chriſt.

The Golden Candleſtick ſignified Chriſt and his Miniſters. Chriſt is the Foundation, and the Teachers are the Branches by whom Chriſt enlightens his Church with the ſound and incorruptible Doctrine of the Goſpel. As all the Branches are united into the Body of the Goſpel, ſo every Miniſter and faithful Servant of God ought to be united into the Body of Chriſt without Diſſenſion or Separation.

The Lights and Lamps admoniſh all godly Miniſters to a diligent Care, that the Light of God's divine Word ſhould not be diminiſhed or aboliſhed, but be purged and preſerved.

The Golden Table, whereon was the Shew-bread, intimate the Miniſtry of the Goſpel; and the Bread exhibited to us, is Chriſt, that Bread which deſcended from Heaven, and is myſtically offered to us in the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

The Oblations and Sacrifices were Types and Figures of our Saviour; that as they were ſlain for the Performance of the Ceremonial Law, ſo Chriſt, for the Salvation of Man was ſlain, and made a Free-will Offerings; by whoſe moſt precious Blood and Mediation the Sins of Man are pardoned, and he made capable of eternal Life.

All this demonſtrates to us, that the Temple of God, thoſe publick Places appointed for divine Worſhip, ſhould be decently kept with Dignity and Reſpect.

CHAP. XXVII.

The Appointment of the Brazen Altar; the Court of the Tabernacle; and the Oil for the Candleſtick.

Ver. 1. AND thou ſhalt make an altar of ſhittim-wood, five cubits long, and five cubits broad: the altar ſhall be four-ſquare, and the height thereof ſhall be three cubits. 2 And thou ſhalt make the horns of it upon the four corners thereof: his horns ſhall be of the ſame: and thou ſhalt overlay it with braſs. 3 And thou ſhalt make his pans to receive his aſhes, and his ſhovels, and his baſons, and his fleſh-hooks, and his fire-pans: all the veſſels thereof thou ſhalt make of braſs. 4 And thou ſhalt make for it a grate of net-work of braſs; and upon the net ſhalt thou make four braſen rings in the four corners thereof. 5 And thou ſhalt put it under the compaſs of the altar beneath, that the net may be even to the midſt of the altar. 6 And thou ſhalt make ſtaves for the altar, ſtaves of ſhittim-wood and overlay them with braſs.

brass. 7 And the staves shall be put into the rings, and the staves shall be upon the two sides of the altar to bear it. 8 Hollow with boards shalt thou make it: as it was shewed thee in the mount, so shall they make it. 9 And thou shalt make the court of the tabernacle for the south-side, southward: there shall be hangings for the court of fine twined linen of an hundred cubits long, for one side. 10 And the twenty pillars thereof, and their twenty sockets shall be of brass: the hooks of the pillars, and their fillets shall be of silver. 11 And likewise for the north-side in length, there shall be hangings of an hundred cubits long, and his twenty pillars, and their twenty sockets of brass: the hooks of the pillars, and their fillets of silver. 12 And for the breadth of the court, on the west-side, shall be hangings of fifty cubits: their pillars ten, and their sockets ten. 13 And the breadth of the court on the east-side, east-ward shall be fifty cubits. 14 The hangings of one side of the gate, shall be fifteen cubits: their pillars three, and their sockets three. 15 And on the other side shall be hangings, fifteen cubits: their pillars three, and their sockets three. 16 And for the gate of the court, shall be an hanging of twenty cubits, of blue, and purple, and scarlet, and fine twined linen, wrought with needle-work: and their pillars shall be four, and their sockets four. 17 All the pillars round about the court shall be filleted with silver: their hooks shall be of silver, and their sockets of brass. 18 The length of the court shall be an hundred cubits, and the breadth fifty every where, and the height five cubits, of fine twined linen, and their sockets of brass. 19 All the vessels of the tabernacle in all the service thereof, and all the pins thereof, and all the pins of the court shall be of brass. 20 And thou shalt command the children of Israel, that they bring thee pure oyl-olive beaten, for the light, to cause the lamp to burn always. 21 In the tabernacle of the congregation, without the vail, which is before the testimony, Aaron and his sons shall order it from evening to morning before the Lord: it shall be a statute for ever unto their generations, on the behalf of the children of Israel.

I see nothing in this Chapter that wants Explanation; so shall proceed to the next.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Aaron and his Sons called to the Priests Office; the Ephod; the curious Girdle; the two Stones on which the Names of the Twelve Tribes were to be engraved; the Breast-plate; Urim and Thummim; Robe of the Ephod; embroider'd Coat; and Garments for Aaron's Sons.

Ver. 1. AND take thou unto thee Aaron thy brother, and his sons with him, from among the children of Israel, that he may minister unto me in the priests office, even Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar, Aarons sons. 2 And thou shalt make holy garments for Aaron thy brother, for glory and for beauty. 3 And thou shalt speak unto all that are wise-hearted, whom I have filled with the spirit of wisdom, that they may make Aarons garments to consecrate him, that he may minister unto me in the priests office. 4 And these are the garments which they shall make; a breast-plate, and an ephod, and a robe, and a broider'd coat, a mitre, and a girdle: and they shall make holy garments for Aaron thy brother, and his sons, that he may minister unto me in the priests office. 5 And they shall take gold, and blue, and purple, and scarlet, and fine linen. 6 And they shall make the ephod of gold, of blue, and of purple, of scarlet, and fine twined linen, with cunning work. 7 It shall have the two shoulder pieces thereof joined at the two edges thereof; and so it shall be joined together. 8 And the curious girdle of the ephod which is upon it, shall be of the same, according to the work thereof; even of gold, of blue, and purple, and scarlet, and fine twined linen. 9 And thou shalt take two onyx-stones, and grave on them the names of the children of Israel: 10 Six of their names on one stone, and the other six names of the rest on the other stone according to their birth. 11 With the work of an engraver in stone, like the engravings of a signet, shalt thou engrave the two stones, with the names of the children of Israel: thou shalt make them to be set in ouches of gold. 12 And thou shalt put the two stones upon the shoulders of the ephod, for stones of memorial unto the children of Israel. And Aaron shall bear the names before the Lord, upon his two shoulders for a memorial. 13 And thou shalt make ouches of gold; 14 And two chains of pure gold at the ends: of wreathen work shalt thou make them, and fasten the wreathen chains to the ouches. 15 And thou shalt make the breast-plate of judgment, with cunning work after the work of the ephod thou shalt make it; of gold, of blue, and of purple, and of scarlet, and of fine twined linen shalt thou make it. 16 Four-square it shall be being doubled; a span shall be the length thereof, and a span shall be the breadth thereof. 17 And thou shalt set in it settings of stones, even four rows of stones: the first row shall be a sardius, a topaz, and a carbuncle: this shall be the first row. 18 And the second row shall be an emerald, a sapphire, and a diamond. 19 And the third row a ligure, an agate, and an amethyst. 20 And the fourth row, a beryl, and an onyx, and a jasper: they shall be set in gold in their enclosings. 21 And the stones shall be with the names of the children of Israel, twelve, according to their names; like the engravings of a signet, every one with his name shall they be according to the twelve tribes. 22 And thou shalt make upon the breast-plate chains at the ends, of wreathen work, of pure gold. 23 And thou shalt make upon the breast-plate two rings of gold, and shalt put the two rings on the two ends of the breast-plate. 24 And thou shalt put the two wreathen chains of gold in the two rings which are on the ends of the breast-plate. 25 And the other two ends of the two wreathen chains, thou shalt fasten in the two ouches, and put them on the shoulder-pieces of the ephod before it. 26 And thou shalt make two rings of gold, and thou shalt put them upon the two ends of the breast-plate, in the border thereof, which is in the side of the ephod inward. 27 And two other rings of gold thou shalt make, and shalt put them on the two sides of the ephod, underneath towards the fore-part thereof, over against the other coupling thereof, above the curious girdle of the ephod. 28 And they ſhall bind the breaſt-plate by the rings thereof, unto the rings of the ephod with a lace of blue, that it may be above the curious girdle of the ephod, and that the breaſt-plate be not looſed from the ephod. 29 And Aaron ſhall bear the names of the children of Iſrael in the breaſt-plate of judgment, upon his heart, when he goeth in unto the holy place, for a memorial before the Lord continually. 30 And thou ſhalt put in the breaſt-plate of judgment the Urim and the Thummim; and they ſhall be upon Aarons heart, when he goeth in before the Lord: and Aaron ſhall bear the judgment of the children of Iſrael upon his heart, before the Lord continually. 31 And thou ſhalt make the robe of the ephod all of blue. 32 And there ſhall be an hole in the top of it, in the mids thereof: it ſhall have a binding of woven work, round about the hole of it, as it were the hole of an habergeon, that it be not rent. 33 And beneath upon the hem of it thou ſhalt make pomegranates of blue, and of purple, and of ſcarlet round about the hem thereof; and bells of gold between them round about. 34 A golden bell and a pomegranate, a golden bell and a pomegranate, upon the hem of the robe round about. 35 And it ſhall be upon Aaron to miniſter: and his ſound ſhall be heard when he goeth in unto the holy place before the Lord, and when he cometh out; that he die not. 36 And thou ſhalt make a plate of pure gold, and grave upon it, like the engravings of a ſignet, HOLINESS TO THE LORD. 37 And thou ſhalt put it on a blue lace, that it might be upon the mitre: upon the fore-front of the mitre it ſhall be. 38 And it ſhall be upon Aarons forehead, that Aaron may bear the iniquity of the holy things, which the children of Iſrael ſhall hallow in all their holy gifts: and it ſhall be always upon his forehead, that they may be accepted before the Lord. 39 And thou ſhalt embroider the coat of fine linen, and thou ſhalt make the mitre of fine linen, and thou ſhalt make the girdle of needlework. 40 And for Aarons ſons thou ſhalt make coats, and thou ſhalt make for them girdles, and bonnets ſhalt thou make for them, for glory and for beauty. 41 And thou ſhalt put them upon Aaron thy brother, and his ſons with him; and ſhalt anoint them, and conſecrate them, and ſanctify them, that they may miniſter unto me in the prieſts office. 42 And thou ſhalt make them linen breeches to cover their nakedneſs: from the loins even unto the thighs they ſhall reach. 43 And they ſhall be upon Aaron, and upon his ſons, when they come in unto the tabernacle of the congregation, or when they come near unto the altar to miniſter in the holy place; that they bear not inquity, and die. It ſhall be a ſtatute for ever unto him, and his ſeed after him.

And they ſhall make the Ephod of Gold, &c.] The Ephod was a Kind of Garment girded or tied to the Body; a Sort of Surtout of about a Cubit long, made of two ſquare Pieces, the one before, the other behind, laced on the Shoulders, and on the Sides, without any Seams, and girded about the Waiſt. There were two Sorts of them, one of ſeveral Colours and Stuffs, which was peculiar to the High-Prieſt; the other, of pure Linnen, which was common for all Prieſts, or for other Perſons in any ſacred Solemnities; but to the High-Prieſt's Ephod there was to be a curious Girdle, brought twice round his Middle, and then falling down to his Feet.

And Aaron ſhall bear their Names before the Lord, upon his two Shoulders for a Memorial] This was an emblematical Repreſentation of Chriſt, who, after he had offered himſelf, went up into Heaven, and to carry and preſent his Church before the Face of God; which by God's Appointment is wholly comprehended in the two Jewels of his Prieſthood, which are his perfect Righteouſneſs and abſolute Satisfaction.

And thou ſhalt put in the Breaſt-plate of Judgment, the Urim and Thummim] Theſe two Hebrew Words ſignify Lights and Perfections. It's not certainly known what it was; but it's manifeſt it was not made by any of the Workmen, but put in by Moſes himſelf. Whatever it was, it repreſented the two chief Virtues of every Servant of God, and eſpecially Chriſt's moſt perfect Wiſdom and Righteouſneſs, who, by Virtue of them, preſents himſelf to God the Father, in behalf of his whole Church, 1 Cor. i. 30.

And Bells of Gold] The Uſe of theſe Bells, in all Probability, was, to give Notice that he was going into the Sanctuary; for, as in the King of Perſia's Court, no one was ſuffer'd to enter the Apartments, without giving Notice thereof by the Sound of ſomething; ſo the High-Prieſt, out of Reſpect to the Divine Preſence, reſiding in the Holy of Holies, did, by the Sound of little Bells, faſtened to the Bottom of his Robe, deſire as it were Permiſſion to enter, that the Sound of the Bells might be heard, and he not puniſhed with Death for an unmannerly Intruſion.

CHAP. XXIX.

Directions for conſecrating Aaron and the Prieſts; and the Offerings and Sacrifices appointed on that Occaſion.

Ver. 1. AND this is the thing that thou ſhalt do unto them to hallow them, to miniſter unto me in the prieſts office: Take one young bullock, and two rams without blemiſh, 2 And unleavened bread, and cakes unleavened tempered with oil, and wafers unleavened anointed with oil: of wheaten flour ſhalt thou make them. 3 And thou ſhalt put them in one baſket, and bring them in the baſket, with the bullock and the two rams. 4 And Aaron and his ſons thou ſhalt bring unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and ſhalt waſh them with water. 5 And thou ſhall take the garments, and put upon Aaron the coat, and the robe of the ephod, and the ephod, and the breaſt-plate, and gird him with the curious girdle of the ephod. 6 And thou ſhalt put the mitre upon his head, and put the holy crown upon the mitre. 7 Then ſhalt thou take the anointing oil, and pour it upon his head, and anoint him. 8 And thou ſhalt bring his ſons, and put coats upon them. 9 And thou ſhalt gird them with girdles (Aaron and his ſons) and put the bonnets on them: and the prieſts office ſhall be theirs for a perpetual ſtatute: and thou ſhalt conſecrate Aaron and his ſons. 10 And thou ſhalt cauſe a bullock to be brought before the tabernacle of the congregation: and Aaron and his ſons ſhall put their hands upon the head of the bullock. 11 And thou ſhalt kill the bullock before the Lord, by the door of the tabernacle of the congregation. 12 And thou ſhalt take of the blood of the bullock, and put it upon the horns of the altar with thy finger, and pour all the blood beſide the bottom of the altar. 13 And thou ſhalt take take all the fat that covereth the inwards, and the caul that is above the liver, and the two kidneys, and the fat that is upon them, and burn them upon the altar. 14 But the fleſh of the bullock, and his ſkin and his dung ſhalt thou burn with fire without the camp: it is a ſin-offering. 15 Thou ſhalt alſo take one ram, and Aaron and his ſons ſhall put their hands upon the head of the ram. 16 And thou ſhalt ſlay the ram, and thou ſhalt take his blood, and ſprinkle it round about upon the altar. 17 And thou ſhalt cut the ram in pieces, and waſh the inwards of him, and his legs, and put them unto his pieces, and unto his head. 18 And thou ſhalt burn the whole ram upon the altar: it is a burnt-offering unto the Lord: it is a ſweet ſavour, an offering made by fire unto the Lord. 19 And thou ſhalt take the other ram, and Aaron and his ſons ſhalt put their hands upon the head of the ram. 20 Then ſhalt thou kill the ram, and take of his blood, and put it upon the tip of the right ear of Aaron, and upon the tip of the right ear of his ſons, and upon the thumb of their right hand, and upon the great toe of their right foot, and ſprinkle the blood upon the altar round about. 21 And thou ſhalt take of the blood that is upon the altar, and of the anointing oil, and ſprinkle it upon Aaron, and upon his garments, and upon his ſons, and upon the garments of his ſons with him: and he ſhall be hallowed, and his garments, and his ſons, and his ſons garments with him. 22 Alſo thou ſhalt take of the ram, the fat and the rump, and the fat that covereth the inwards, and the caul above the liver, and the two kidneys, and the fat that is upon them, and the right ſhoulder; for it is a ram of conſecration: 23 And one loaf of bread, and one cake of oiled bread, and one wafer out of the baſket of the unleavened bread, that is before the Lord. 24 And thou ſhalt put all in the hands of Aaron, and in the hands of his ſons; and ſhalt wave them for a wave-offering before the Lord. 25 And thou ſhalt receive them of their hands, and burn them upon the altar for a burnt-offering, for a ſweet ſavour before the Lord: it is an offering made by fire unto the Lord. 26 And thou ſhalt take the breaſt of the ram, of Aarons conſecrations, and wave it for a wave offering, before the Lord: and it ſhall be thy part. 27 And thou ſhalt ſanctify the breaſt of the wave-offering, and the ſhoulder of the heave-offering, which is waved, and which is heaved up of the ram of the conſecration, even of that which is for Aaron, and of that which is for his ſons. 28 And it ſhall be Aarons and his ſons by a ſtatute for ever, from the children of Iſrael: for it is an heave-offering: and it ſhall be an heave-offering from the children of Iſrael of the ſacrifice of their peace-offerings, even their heave-offering unto the Lord. 29 And the holy garments of Aaron ſhall be his ſons after him, to be anointed therein, and to be conſecrated in them. 30 And that ſon that is prieſt in his ſtead ſhall put them on ſeven days, when he cometh into the tabernacle of the congregation to miniſter in the holy place. 31 And thou ſhalt take the ram of the conſecration, and ſeethe his fleſh in the holy place. 32 And Aaron and his ſons ſhall eat the fleſh of the ram, and the bread that is in the baſket, by the door of the tabernacle of the congregation. 33 And they ſhall eat thoſe things, wherewith the atonement was made, to conſecrate and to ſanctify them: but a ſtranger ſhall not eat thereof, becauſe they are holy. 34 And if ought of the fleſh of the conſecrations, or of the bread remain unto the morning: then thou ſhalt burn the remainder with fire: it ſhall not be eaten, becauſe it is holy. 35 And thus ſhalt thou do unto Aaron, and to his ſons, according to all things which I have commanded thee: ſeven days ſhalt thou conſecrate them. 36 And thou ſhalt offer every day a bullock for a ſin offering, for atonement: and thou ſhalt cleanſe the altar when thou haſt made an atonement for it, and thou ſhalt anoint it to ſanctify it. 37 Seven days thou ſhalt make an atonement for the altar, and ſanctify it: and it ſhall be an altar moſt holy: whatſoever toucheth the altar ſhall be holy. 38 Now this is that which thou ſhalt offer upon the altar; two lambs of the firſt year, day by day continually. 39 The one lamb thou ſhalt offer in the morning: and the other lamb thou ſhalt offer at even. 40 And with the one lamb a tenth-deal of flour mingled with the fourth part of an hin of beaten oil: and the fourth part of an hin of wine for a drink offering. 41 And the other lamb thou ſhalt offer at even, and ſhalt do thereto according to the meat-offering of the morning, and according to the drink-offering thereof, for a ſweet ſavour, an offering made by fire unto the Lord. 42 This ſhall be a continual burnt offering throughout your generations, at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, before the Lord: where I will meet you, to ſpeak there unto thee. 43 And there I will meet with the children of Iſrael, and the tabernacle ſhall be ſanctified by my glory. 44 And I will ſanctify the tabernacle of the congregation, and the altar: I will ſanctify alſo both Aaron and his ſons, to miniſter to me in the prieſts office. 45 And I will dwell amongſt the children of Iſrael, and will be their God. 46 And they ſhall know that I am the Lord their God, that brought them forth out of the land of Egypt, that I may dwell amongſt them: I am the Lord their God.

And thou ſhalt cauſe a Bullock to be brought before the Tabernacle of the Congregation; and Aaron and his Sons ſhall put their Hands on the Head of the Bullock] This Ceremony intimated, firſt, That the Beaſt was wholly dedicated and appropriated to God. Secondly, That the Prieſt did transfer to it his, and the Offerer's Sins: A Figure of Chriſt, whom the Father hath conſecrated, and who hath burdened himſelf with our Iniquities, Iſa. liii. 4, 6.

And take of his Blood, and put it upon the Tip of the right Ear of Aaron and his Sons, and upon the Thumb of their right Hand, and upon the great Toe of their right Foot] This ſignified, that every Miniſter in ſacred Things ought to be ſanctified by God's Spirit, to believe, work, and perſevere; to the firſt, the Ear hath Reference; to the ſecond, the Hand; and to the third, the Foot.

A tenth Deal of Flour] A Tenth Deal was an Omer, which contained about a Pottle of our Meaſure.

CHAP. XXX.

God commands the making the Incenſe Altar, with the Ceremonies about it. Half a Shekel required for the Ranſom of their Souls. The Brazen Laver, and anointing Oil, &c.

Ver. 1. AND thou ſhalt make an altar to burn incenſe upon: of ſhittim wood ſhalt thou make it. 2 A cubit ſhall be the length thereof, and a cubit the breadth thereof (four-ſquare ſhall it be) and two cubits ſhall be the height thereof: the horns thereof ſhall be of the ſame. 3 And thou ſhalt overlay it with pure gold, the top thereof, and the ſides thereof round about, and the horns thereof: and thou ſhalt make unto it a crown of gold round about. 4 And two golden rings ſhalt thou make to it under the crown of it, by the two corners thereof, upon the two ſides of it ſhalt thou make it: and they ſhall be for places for the ſtaves to bear it withal. 5 And thou ſhalt make the ſtaves of ſhittim wood, and overlay them with gold. 6 And thou ſhalt put it before the vail, that is by the ark of the teſtimony; before the mercy-ſeat, that is over the teſtimony, where I will meet with thee. 7 And Aaron ſhall burn thereon ſweet incenſe every morning: when he dreſſeth the lamps he ſhall burn incenſe upon it. 8 And when Aaron lighteth the lamps at even, he ſhall burn incenſe upon it; a perpetual incenſe before the Lord, throughout your generations. 9 Ye ſhall offer no ſtrange incenſe thereon, nor burnt-ſacrifices, nor meat-offering; neither ſhall ye pour drink-offering thereon. 10 And Aaron ſhall make an atonement upon the horns of it once in a year, with the blood of the ſin-offering of atonements: once in the year ſhall he make atonement upon it, throughout your generations: it is moſt holy unto the Lord. 11 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 12 When thou takeſt the ſum of the children of Iſrael, after their number; then ſhall they give every man a ranſom for his ſoul unto the Lord, when thou numbreſt them: that there be no plague amongſt them, when thou numbreſt them. 13 This they ſhall give, every one that paſſeth among them that are numbered; half a ſhekel after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary (A ſhekel is twenty gerahs) an half ſhekel ſhall be the offering of the Lord. 14 Every one that paſſeth among them that are numbred from twenty years old and above, ſhall give an offering unto the Lord. 15 The rich ſhall not give more, and the poor ſhall not give leſs than half a ſhekel, when they give an offering unto the Lord, to make an atonement for your ſouls. 16 And thou ſhalt take the atonement-money of the children of Iſrael, and ſhalt appoint it for the ſervice of the tabernacle of the congregation; that it may be a memorial unto the children of Iſrael before the Lord, to make an atonement for your ſouls. 17 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes ſaying, 18 Thou ſhalt alſo make a laver of braſs, and his foot alſo of braſs, to waſh withall: and thou ſhalt put it between the tabernacle of the congregation and the altar, and thou ſhalt put water therein. 19 For Aaron and his ſons ſhall waſh their hands and their feet thereat. 20 When they go into the tabernacle of the congregation, they ſhall waſh with water, that they die not: or when they come near to the altar to miniſter, to burn offering made by fire unto the Lord. 21 So they ſhall waſh their hands and their feet, that they die not: and it ſhall be a ſtatute for ever to them, even to him and to his ſeed throughout their generations. 22 Moreover the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 23 Take thou alſo unto thee principal ſpices, of pure myrrhe five hundred ſhekels, and of ſweet cinnamon half ſo much, even two hundred and fifty ſhekels, and of ſweet calamus two hundred and fifty ſhekels, 24 And of caſſia five hundred ſhekels, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, and of oil olive an hin. 25 And thou ſhalt make it an oil of holy ointment, an ointment compound after the art of the apothecary: it ſhall be an holy anointing oil. 26 And thou ſhalt anoint the tabernacle of the congregation therewith, and the ark of the teſtimony. 27 And the table and all his veſſels, and the candleſtick and all his veſſels, and the altar of incenſe. 28 And the altar of burnt-offering with all his veſſels, and the laver and his foot. 29 And thou ſhalt ſanctify them, that they may be moſt holy: whatſoever toucheth them, ſhall be holy. 30 And thou ſhalt anoint Aaron and his ſons, and conſecrate them, that they may miniſter unto me in the prieſts office. 31 And thou ſhalt ſpeak unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, This ſhall be an holy anointing oil unto me, throughout your generations. 32 Upon mans fleſh ſhall it not be poured, neither ſhall ye make any other like it, after the compoſition of it: it is holy, and it ſhall be holy unto you. 33 Whoſoever compoundeth any like it, or whoſoever putteth any of it upon a ſtranger, ſhall even be cut off from his people. 34 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Take unto thee ſweet ſpices, ſtacte, and onycha, and galbanum; theſe ſweet ſpices with pure frankincenſe: of each ſhall there be a like weight. 35 And thou ſhalt make it a perfume, a confection after the art of the apothecary, tempered together, pure and holy. 36 And thou ſhalt beat ſome of it very ſmall, and put of it before the teſtimony in the tabernacle of the congregation, where I will meet with thee: it ſhall be unto you moſt holy. 37 And as for the perfume which thou ſhalt make, you ſhall not make to yourſelves according to the compoſition thereof: it ſhall be unto thee holy for the Lord. 38 Whoſoever ſhall make like unto that, to ſmell thereto, ſhall even be cut off from his people.

This they ſhall give, every one that paſſeth among them that are numbered, half a Shekel after the Shekel of the Sanctuary] This was a Kind of Tribute paid to God their Sovereign Lord, to ranſom them from the Puniſhment deſerved, for not performing their Duty; or becauſe the Tabernacle was built with that Money, Exod. xxxviii. 25. and afterwards the daily Offerings were bought therewith, and thoſe for holy Days, and the other Offerings for the Atonement of all the People in general, 2 Chron. xxxi. 3. which was a Figure of the Redemption of Souls by Chriſt.

After the Shekel of the Sanctuary: A Shekel is twenty Gerahs] The Shekel of the Sanctuary was valued at two common Shekels; and the Gerah (20 of which made a Shekel) was worth Three Half-pence at the rate of five Shillings the Ounce of Silver; ſo that the Half-Shekel, which was ten Gerahs, was Two Shillings and Sixpence.

Whoſoever compoundeth any like it, or whoſoever putteth any of it upon a Stranger, ſhall even be cut off from his People] This intimates the Reverence that is due to ſacred Things; and to teach us, that it is not lawful for Man, according to his own Fancy, to frame to himſelf any other Means of Sanctification, than by the Spirit of God, nor any other Interceſſion with God, but through our bleſſed Saviour Jeſus Chriſt.

CHAP. XXXI.

Bezaleel and Aholiab nominated by God for making the Tabernacle and its Furniture. The Obſervation of the Sabbath again commanded. Moſes receives from God the two Tables of the Law.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 2 See, I have called by name, Bezaleel the ſon of Uri, the ſon of Hur, of the tribe of Judah: 3 And I have filled him with the ſpirit of God in wiſdom, and in underſtanding, and in knowledge, and in all manner of workmanſhip, 4 To deviſe cunning works, to work in gold, and in ſilver, and in braſs, 5 And in cutting of ſtones to ſet them, and in carving of timber, to work in all manner of workmanſhip. 6 And I, behold, I have given with him, Aholiab the ſon of Ahiſamach of the tribe of Dan; and in the hearts of all that are wiſe-hearted I have put wiſdom; that they may make all that I have commanded thee: 7 The tabernacle of the congregation, and the ark of the teſtimony, and the mercy-ſeat that is thereupon, and all the furniture of the tabernacle, 8 And the table and his furniture, and the pure candleſtick with all his furniture, and the altar of incenſe, 9 And the altar of burnt-offering with all his furniture, and the laver and his foot. 10 And the clothes of ſervice, and the holy garments for Aaron the prieſt, and the garments of his ſons, to miniſter in the prieſts office, 11 And the anointing oil, and ſweet incenſe for the holy place: according to all that I have commanded thee, ſhall they do. 12 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 13 Speak thou alſo unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, Verily my ſabbaths ye ſhall keep: for it is a ſign between me and you, throughout your generations; that ye may know that I am the Lord, that doth ſanctify you. 14 Ye ſhall keep the ſabbath therefore: for it is holy unto you. Every one that defileth it, ſhall ſurely be put to death: for whoſoever doth any work therein, that ſoul ſhall be cut off from amongſt his people. 15 Six days may work be done, but in the ſeventh is the ſabbath of reſt, holy to the Lord: whoſoever doth any work in the ſabbath-day, he ſhall ſurely be put to death. 16 Wherefore the children of Iſrael ſhall keep the ſabbath, to obſerve the ſabbath throughout their generations, for a perpetual covenant. 17 It is a ſign between me, and the children of Iſrael for ever: for in ſix days the Lord made heaven and earth, and on the ſeventh day he reſted, and was refreſhed. 18 And he gave unto Moſes, when he had made an end of communing with him upon mount Sinai, two tables of teſtimony, tables of ſtone, written with the finger of God.

The Sabbath is here again commanded to be kept holy: But what is the Reaſon that this Command is ſo frequently repeated? In anſwer to this it has been obſerv'd, that the Lord declares the Sabbath to be a Sign between himſelf and the Children of Iſrael; namely, a ſacred Document, which he ſet down for his Church, to put her continually in Mind of the Benefits which ſhe received from him, regenerating of her through his Spirit, that reſting from fleſhly Works, ſhe may apply herſelf to thoſe of the Spirit, which is the true ſpiritual Sabbath; and this Ceremony being moſt religiouſly obſerv'd by the Church, ſhews that, ſhe, on her Part, conſents thereto, and religiouſly obſerves it.

CHAP. XXXII.

While Moſes was abſent in the Mount, the People oblige Aaron to make them a golden Calf to worſhip. Moſes, returning from the Mount with the two Tables in his Hand, ſeeing the Idolatry of the People, throws the Tables on the Ground, and breaks them, reduces the Calf to Powder, throws it on the Water, and makes the People drink of it.

Ver. 1. AND when the people ſaw that Moſes delayed to come down out of the mount, the people gathered themſelves together unto Aaron and ſaid unto him, Up, make us gods which ſhall go before us: for as for this Moſes, the man that brought us up out of the land of Egypt, we wot not what is become of him. 2 And Aaron ſaid unto them, Break off the golden ear-rings which are in the ears of your wives, of your ſons, and of your daughters, and bring them unto me. 3 And all the people brake off the golden ear-rings which were in their ears, and brought them unto Aaron. 4 And he received them at their hand, and faſhioned it with a graving tool, after he had made it a molten calf: and they ſaid, Theſe be thy gods, O Iſrael, which brought thee up out of the land of Egypt. 5 And when Aaron ſaw it, he built an altar before it, and Aaron made proclamation and ſaid, To morrow is a feaſt to the Lord. 6 And they roſe up early on the morrow, and offered burnt-offerings, and brought peace-offerings: and the people ſat down to eat and to drink, and roſe up to play. 7 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Go, get thee down: for thy people which thou broughteſt out of the land of Egypt, have corrupted themſelves. 8 They have turned aſide quickly out of the way which I commanded them: they have made them a molten calf, and have worſhipped it, and have ſacrificed thereunto, and ſaid, Theſe be thy gods, O Iſrael, which have brought thee up out of the land of Egypt. 9 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, I have ſeen this people, and behold, it is a ſtiff-necked people. 10 Now therefore let me alone, that my wrath may wax hot againſt them, and that I may conſume them: and I will make of thee a great nation. 11 And Moſes beſought the Lord his God, and ſaid, Lord, why doth thy wrath wax hot againſt thy people, which thou haſt brought forth out of the land of Egypt, with great power, and with a mighty hand? 12 Wherefore ſhould the Egyptians ſpeak and ſay, For miſchief did he bring them out, to ſlay them in the mountains, and to conſume them from the face of the earth? Turn from thy fierce wrath, and repent of this evil againſt thy people. 13 Remember Abraham, Iſaac, and Iſrael thy ſervants, to whom thou ſwareſt by thine own ſelf, and ſaideſt unto them, I will multiply your ſeed as the ſtars of heaven, and all this land that I have ſpoken of, will I give unto your ſeed, and they ſhall inherit it for ever. 14 And the Lord repented of the evil which he thought to do unto his people. 15 And Moſes turned, and went down from the mount, and the two tables of the teſtimony were in his hand: the tables were written on both their on the one ſide and on the other were they written. 16 And the tables were the work of God, and the writing was the writing of God graven upon the tables. 17 And when Joſhua heard the noiſe of the people as they ſhouted he ſaid unto Moſes, There is a noiſe of war in the camp. 18 And he ſaid, It is not the voice of them that ſhout for maſtery, neither is it the voice of them that cry for being overcome: but the noiſe of them that ſing do I hear. 19 And it came to paſs aſſoon as he came nigh unto the camp, that he ſaw the calf, and the dancing: and Moſes anger waxed hot, and he caſt the tables out of his hands and brake them beneath the mount. 20 And he took the calf which they had made, and burnt it in the fire, and ground it to powder, and ſtrawed it upon the water, and made the children of Iſrael drink of it. 21 And Moſes ſaid unto Aaron, What did this people unto thee, that thou haſt brought ſo great a ſin upon them? 22 And Aaron ſaid, Let not the anger of my lord wax hot: thou knoweſt the people that they are ſet on miſchief. 23 For they ſaid unto me, Make us gods, which ſhall go before us: for as for this Moſes, the man that brought us up out of the land of Egypt, we wot not what is become of him. 24 And I ſaid unto them, Whoſoever hath any gold let them break it off: ſo they gave it me: then I caſt it into the fire, and there came out this calf. 25 And when Moſes ſaw that the people were naked (for Aaron had made them naked unto their ſhame, amongſt their enemies) 26 Then Moſes ſtood in the gate of the camp, and ſaid, Who is on the Lords ſide? let him come unto me. And all the ſons of Levi gathered themſelves together unto him. 27 And he ſaid unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, Put every man his ſword by his ſide, and go in and out from gate to gate throughout the camp, and ſlay every man his brother, and every man his companion, and every man his neighbour. 28 And the children of Levi did according to the word of Moſes: and there fell of the people that day about three thouſand men. 29 For Moſes had ſaid, Conſecrate yourſelves to day to the Lord, even every man upon his ſon, and upon his brother; that he may beſtow upon you a bleſſing this day. 30 And it came to paſs on the morrow, that Moſes ſaid unto the people, Ye have ſinned a great ſin: and now I will go up unto the Lord; peradventure I ſhall make an atonement for your ſin. 31 And Moſes returned unto the Lord, and ſaid, Oh, this people have ſinned a great ſin, and have made them gods of gold. 32 Yet now if thou wilt, forgive their ſin: and if not, blot me, I pray thee, out of thy book which thou haſt written. 33 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Whoſoever hath ſinned againſt me, him will I blot out of my book. 34 Therefore now go, lead the people unto the place of which I have ſpoken unto thee: Behold, mine angel ſhall go before thee: Nevertheleſs, in the day when I viſit, I will viſit their ſin upon them. 35 And the Lord plagued the people, becauſe they made the calf, which Aaron made.

And all the People brake off the golden Ear-rings which were in their Ears, and brought them unto Aaron; and he received them at their Hand, and faſhion'd it with a graving Tool, after he had made it a molten Calf.]

Here ſeems to be a great Miſtake in moſt Verſions, as well as our own, and what but few Criticks and Expoſitors have yet eſpied. For it may very well be aſk'd, who taught Aaron to engrave, or how could this Idol be engraven ſo ſoon, ſince it is ſaid, that Aaron preſented it to the People on the Morrow? If the Cuſtom of engraving molten Work was then known, how comes it, that we hear nothing of it even in Solomon's Time, ſince it may be preſum'd, that the Furniture of Solomon's Temple was wrought with much more Art, than the Figure of Aaron's Calf? The whole Foundation of this Miſtake ſeems to lie in the Ambiguity of the Hebrew Word Tſour, which ſometimes ſignifies to faſhion, and ſometimes to bind or tie, and of the Word Chereth, which ſignifies a Graving-tool, and ſometimes a Sack or Bag, 2 Kings v. 23. And therefore the Nature and Circumſtances of the Thing here ſpoken of, might have directed the Tranſlators to think of putting the great Quantity of Ear-rings, which were brought to Aaron, into a Bag; which would have prevented the Incongruity, that the Geneva Verſion has incurr'd, of engraving the Calf, before it was molted; for ſo it runs, he faſhion'd the Ear-rings with a Graving Tool, and made a molten Calf of them. See Eſſay for a new Tranſlation.

The Word, which we render Calf, does, in other Places of Scripture ſignify an Ox: And as an Ox's Head was, in ſome Countries, an Emblem of Strength, and the Horns a common Sign of kingly Power, ſo Bp Patrick, deſiring to apologize for Aaron, is willing to inſinuate, that his Deſign of making an Ox the Symbol of the Divine Preſence, was to remind the Iſraelites of the Power of God, and to expreſs the great Tokens, which they had ſeen of it, in their wonderful Deliverance: But how ingenious ſoever this Hypotheſis may be, it wants this Foundation for its Support, that this Hieroglyphick of the Divine Power was in Uſe in the Time of Moſes; for if it was, we cannot imagine, why Aaron, when called to an Account by his Brother, ſhould forget to plead it in Excuſe for himſelf; or why God ſhould be incenſed againſt him, had his Deſign been only to exhibit a Symbol of the divine Power and Authority.

Archbiſhop Tenniſon, equally inclined to excuſe this Action of Aaron's, ſuppoſes that he took his Pattern from Part of what he ſaw in the Holy Mount, when the Schechinah of God came down upon it, attended with Angels, ſome of which were Cherubims, or Angels appearing in the Form of Oxen: But this Opinion is inconſiſtent with the great Care that was taken on Mount Sinai, not to furniſh any Pretext for Idolatry, and the Caution which Moſes gives the People for that Purpoſe. Take ye therefore good heed to yourſelves (for ye ſaw no Manner of Similitude, on the Day that the Lord ſpake unto you in Horeb, out of the Midſt of the Fire) leſt ye corrupt yourſelves, and make you a graven Image, the Similitude of any Figure, &c. Deut. iv. 15, &c. where the Holy Spirit enumerates Animals of all Kinds, and poſitively aſſures, that none of their Forms or Figures appeared on Mount Sinai.

Why, then, did Aaron make Choice of the Figure of an Ox or Calf, on this Occaſion? It was, no doubt, in Compliance with the Prejudice of the People, and becauſe that Creature was worſhipped in Egypt. That the Iſraelites were ſorely infected with the Idolatry of the Egyptians, is demonſtrable from Scripture; that all Sorts of Animals were worſhipped by the Egyptians, and among the Terreſtrial, more eſpecially the Ox, is acknowledged by all Authors who have treated of the Affairs of Egypt; and that the Idolatry of Animals, and more eſpecially of the Ox, was eſtabliſhed in Egypt, during the Reſidence of the Iſraelites in that Land, is more than probable from theſe Words of Moſes to Pharaoh, If we ſacrifice the Abomination of the Egyptians before their Eyes; that is, if we ſacrifice to our God, Oxen, Sheep, and Goats, which the Egyptians worſhip, and conſequently make an Abomination to the Lord, will they not ſtone us? So that it ſeems moſt rational to ſuppoſe, that this Image was in Compliance with the giddy Humour of the People, who, upon the the ſuppoſed Death of Moſes, were probably all for returning back again, and, in Imitation of the Egyptians, who worſhipped their Idol Apis, or Serapis, not only in a living Ox, but in an Image made after the Similitude of an Ox, bethought themſelves of the like Repreſentation of a Deity, to go before them. The only Queſtion is, Whether the Worſhip of the Egyptian Apis, was prior to the Formation of the Golden Calf; which is a Point wherein the Learned are not agreed.

The People ſat down to eat, and to drink, and roſe up to play] Some have ſuppos'd the Senſe of theſe Words to be, ſays Patrick, that, after the Iſraelites had eaten of the Sacrifices offer'd to this new Idol, and drank very plentifully, they committed Fornication, after the Manner of Heathen Worſhippers, and, as in After-Ages, they were induc'd to do in the Caſe of Baal-Peor, Numb. xxv. 1, 2. It cannot be denied indeed, but that thoſe ſacrifical Feaſts, among the Heathens, were uſually attended with Drunkenneſs and Laſciviouſneſs, which generally go together; and that the Word, which we render Play, is the ſame which Potiphar's Wife makes uſe of, when ſhe tells her Huſband, that his Hebrew Slave came in to mock her, i. e. to violate her Chaſtity; but ſince there is no Intimation of this in the Story, but only of their Singing and Dancing, it is hardly preſumable, that they could become ſo very profligate the very firſt Day of their ſetting up Idol-Worſhip. Much more reaſonable is it therefore to ſuppoſe, that all this Merriment of theirs was in Imitation of the Egyptians, who, when they had found out their God Apis, (whereof this Golden Calf was deſign'd for an Emblem) were us'd to bring him, in ſolemn Pomp, to Memphis, the royal City, with Children going before in Proceſſion, and all the Company ſinging a Song of Praiſe to the Deity.

And he took the Calf which they had made, and burned it in the Fire, and ground it to Powder, and ſtrawed it upon the Water, and made the Children of Iſrael drink of it] This Action of Moſes, in melting, grinding, and pounding the golden Calf, in order to make the People drink it, is by ſome thought contrary to our preſent Philoſophy, and the Account which Alchymiſts give us of the Nature of Gold. Nothing is more commonly receiv'd, than the Notion, that Gold cannot be deſtroy'd; and yet the Royal Academy at Paris have a Burning-glaſs, that will vitrify it in an Inſtant, by evaporating all the Sulphur of it, which crackles, and flies up in a thick Smoak, whilſt the Glaſs, that remains, can never be reduced into any other Form. That Gold can be reduc'd into a fine Powder, every Gold-beater can inform us; and who can tell, but that Moſes might have ſome particular Secret for doing this, which we know nothing of? By the Help of a File, however, he might grate it into Duſt, as fine as Flour that is ground in a Mill. But the Rabbinical Reaſon, for his giving the People this Gold-powder to drink, viz. that he might diſtinguiſh the Idolaters from the reſt (becauſe as ſoon as they had drank, the Beards of the former turn'd red) is a little too whimſical to be regarded. See Univ. Hiſt.

When Moſes ſaw that the People were naked, for Aaron had made them naked] By being naked, is meant, either becauſe Aaron had ſtripped them of their Ornaments, or that by their Sin they had loſt the Preſence of God, expreſſed by a Cloud, wherewith they may be truly ſaid to be covered and protected; and this in a wild and deſolate Country, all around them Enemies, and ready on the firſt Opportunity to attack them, in the ſame Manner as the Amalekites had done.

And there fell of the People that Day about three thouſand Men] This may be thought too hazardous an Undertaking, and, for a few Levites to kill 3000 of the People, impracticable; but as they had God's Warrant for what they did, and knew, at the ſame Time, how timorous Guilt is apt to make Men, they might be confident, that none would have Courage to oppoſe them. Before that Moſes call'd any Avengers to his Aſſiſtance, the Text tells us, that he ſaw that the People were naked, for Aaron had made them naked to their Shame; where, if by Nakedneſs we are (with ſome Expoſitors) to underſtand their Want of Arms, which they had laid aſide, that they might be more light and nimble to dance about the Idol, it is plain that the Levites might have leſs Trouble in ſlaying ſuch a Number of People, loaded with Liquor perhaps, and (as it uſually happens in the Concluſion of a Feſtival) weary with Dancing and Sports, and without any Weapons about them, to make Reſiſtance.

Ye have ſinned a great Sin; and now I will go up unto the Lord, peradventure I ſhall make an Atonement for your Sin] Moſes, indeed, was by Lineage and Deſcent, of the Tribe of Levi, which, though it forfeited the Primogeniture and Regalia, by being concern'd in the Blood of the Shechemites, was nevertheleſs dignified with the Prieſthood, which gave him a Right of approaching God, as an Interceſſor for a rebellious and backſliding People. Aaron, in Strictneſs, was both the High-Prieſt and elder Brother, but, beſides that, he, by his imprudent Compliance in the Buſineſs of the Golden Calf, had, at this Time, not only forfeited the Honour of Mediation, but ſtood himſelf in Need of an Atonement: There ſeems to be ſomething in the Character, that is given of Moſes's ſingular Meekneſs, that might entitle him to the Spirit of Interceſſion, and make the younger in this Office, be preferr'd before the elder. See Biblioth. Bibl.

Yet now, if thou wilt, forgive their Sin, and if not, blot me, I pray thee, out of thy Book, which thou haſt written] Moſes, no doubt, ſays Stackhouſe, was a good Governor, and zealouſly affected for the Welfare of his People; but we injure his Memory much, if we think him either ſo ignorant of a future State, or ſo negligent of his own Salvation, as to wiſh himſelf damn'd, in his Deprecation of God's Judgments, for their Salvation. The Caſe is this — The Iſraelites, in making a golden Calf to worſhip, had highly offended God: God renounces all Relation to them, and, in his Diſpleaſure threatens, either to abandon, or deſtroy them, and among others, makes uſe of this in the Text above cited, where he deſires God to blot him out of his Book which he had written. Not that God ſtands in need of a Book, wherein to regiſter or record any of his Purpoſes; but the Scripture makes uſe of this Form of Expreſſion, in Alluſion to the Cuſtom of numbering the People, and ſetting down their Names in a Scroll, or Regiſter, as Moſes did, at their coming out of the Land of Egypt. The ſame Method was likewiſe obſerved at the Return from the Babyloniſh Captivity, as may be ſeen in the Books of Ezra and Nehemiah; and thoſe, who were inroll'd in this Book are ſaid, to be written for Life, or among the Living, Iſa. iv. 3. becauſe, every Year, they blotted out of this Catalogue the Names of thoſe that were dead.

According to this Conſtruction of the Phraſe, (and this is certainly the true Conſtruction) Moſes can by no Means be ſuppoſed to wiſh his own Damnation, which would look like an enthuſiaſtick Rant, rather than divine Inſpiration; which would be impious in him to aſk, and unrighteous for God to do; but only that, rather than live to ſee the Calamities, which would befal the People, in caſe God ſhould either deſert or deſtroy them, he deſires to be diſcharg'd from Life, that ſo he may eſcape the Shock of ſo terrible, ſo woful a Spectacle.

Bp Stillingfleet, after ſeveral others, has proved, that Moſes had not the leaſt Thought of Damnation. No ſuch Thing goes before, or after; and beſides, the whole Deſign of this Chapter is quite oppoſite to this Sentiment, and runs all on temporal Puniſhments. This may be gathered from a like Prayer of Moſes, on another Occaſion; If thou deal thus with me, kill me, I pray thee, out of Hand, Numb. xi. 15. The Hebrew Word alſo, which is render'd to blot out, ſignifies to kill or deſtroy. It is therefore evident, that to be written in the Book of Life, ſignifies to be under the Favour and Protection of God, and that to be blotted out of it, ſignifies, to loſe Life by a juſt Puniſhment, as moſt of the Learned allow.

CHAP. XXXIII.

The Lord refuſeth to go with the People; for which they mourn, and lay aſide their Ornaments. Moſes orders the Tabernacle to be ſet without the Camp; he goes into it, and God ſpeaks with him. He deſires to ſee the Glory of God; and is indulged ſo far, as to be ſhewn his Back parts.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, depart, and go up hence, thou and the people which thou haſt brought up out of the land of Egypt, unto the land which I ſware unto Abraham, to Iſaac, and to Jacob, ſaying, Unto thy ſeed will I give it: 2 And I will ſend an angel before thee; and I will drive out the Canaanite, the Amorite, and the Hittite, and the Perizzite, and the Hivite, and the Jebuſite: 3 Unto a land flowing with milk and honey: for I will not go up in the midſt of thee, for thou art a ſtiff-necked people: leſt I conſume thee in the way. 4 And when the people heard theſe evil tidings, they mourned: and no man did put on him his ornaments. 5 For the Lord had ſaid unto Moſes, Say unto the children of Iſrael, Ye are a ſtiff necked people: I will come up into the midſt of thee in a moment, and conſume thee: therefore now put off thy ornaments from thee, that I may know what to do unto thee. 6 And the children of Iſrael ſtript themſelves of their ornaments, by the mount Horeb. 7 And Moſes took the tabernacle, and pitched it without the camp, afar off from the camp, and called it the tabernacle of the congregation. And it came to paſs, that every one that ſought the Lord, went out unto the tabernacle of the congregation, which was without the camp. 8 And it came to paſs, when Moſes went unto the tabernacle, that all the people roſe up, and ſtood every man at his tent-door, and looked after Moſes until he was gone into the tabernacle. 9 And it came to paſs, as Moſes entred into the tabernacle, the cloudy pillar deſcended, and ſtood at the door of the tabernacle, and the LORD talked with Moſes. 10 And all the people ſaw the cloudy pillar ſtand at the tabernacle door: and all the people roſe up and worſhipped, every man in his tent door. 11 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes face to face, as a man ſpeaketh unto his friend. And he turned again into the camp; but his ſervant Joſhua the ſon of Nun, a young man, departed not out of the tabernacle. 12 And Moſes ſaid unto the Lord, See, thou ſayeſt unto me, Bring up this people: and thou haſt not let me know whom thou wilt ſend with me. Yet thou haſt ſaid, I know thee by name, and thou haſt alſo found grace in my ſight. 13 Now therefore, I pray thee, if I have found grace in thy ſight, ſhew me now thy way, that I may know thee, that I may find grace in thy ſight: and conſider that this nation is thy people. 14 And he ſaid, My preſence ſhall go with thee, and I will give thee reſt. 15 And he ſaid unto him, If thy preſence go not with me, carry us not up hence. 16 For wherein ſhall it be known here, that I and thy people have found grace in thy ſight? Is it not in that thou goeſt with us? So ſhall we be ſeparated, I and thy people, from all the people that are upon the face of the earth. 17 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, I will do this thing alſo that thou haſt ſpoken: for thou haſt found grace in my ſight, and I know thee by name. 18 And he ſaid, I beſeech thee, ſhew me thy glory. 19 And he ſaid, I will make all my goodneſs paſs before thee, and I will proclaim the name of the Lord before thee; and will be gracious to whom I will be gracious, and will ſhew mercy on whom I will ſhew mercy. 20 And he ſaid, Thou canſt not ſee my face: for there ſhall no man ſee me, and live. 21 And the Lord ſaid, Behold, there is a place by me, and thou ſhalt ſtand upon a rock. 22 And it ſhall come to paſs, while my glory paſſeth by, that I will put thee in a cliſt of the rock; and will cover thee with my hand while I paſs by. 23 And I will take away mine hand, and thou ſhalt ſee my back-parts: but my face ſhall not be ſeen.

And called it the Tabernacle of the Congregation] Moſt Writers on the Hebrew Republick inform us, that Moſes either in his own Tent, or in one contiguous thereto, adminiſter'd Juſtice, gave Audience, and diſpatched other weighty Affairs incident to his Office, from whence it derived the Name of the Tent of the Congregation. This was the Tent which Moſes removed out of the Camp, after he perceived that the Almighty had withdrawn his Preſence from them. By which Means, every one who ſought the Lord, was obliged to go to this Tabernacle without the Camp; and when Moſes enter'd it, the cloudy Pillar, in which the Lord uſed to appear, deſcended, and ſtood at the Door of the Tabernacle, while Jehovah converſed with his Servant; and all the People in the Camp beheld this marvellous Event, and were ſo ſtruck with the Sight thereof, that as often as they ſaw it deſcend, they bowed themſelves every Man as he ſtood in the Door of his Tent.

I will put thee in a Cleft of the Rock, and will cover thee with my Hand while I paſs by. And I will take away mine Hand, and thou ſhalt ſee my back Parts; but my Face ſhall not be ſeen] Moſes borrows Expreſſions, when ſpeaking of the divine Nature and Attributes, from corporeal Beings, the better to accommodate the Loftineſs of the Subject to the Comprehenſion of human Underſtanding: For, unleſs we could contrive an entire Sett of new Words, there is no ſpeaking at all of the Deity without uſing our old one in a figurative Senſe. Providence and Mercy, for Inſtance, are two known Attributes of God; but, if we reſpect their original Uſe, and do not take them in a metaphorical Meaning, they are altogether as abſurd when applied to God, as are his Eye, his Hand, his Back-parts, in their groſſeſt Senſe. For, how improper is it, literally ſpeaking, to ſay, that God looks before him like Men, when they act cautiouſly; or, that he has that relenting of Heart, or yearning of Bowels which merciful Men feel at the Sight of a miſerable Object. The Truth is, Languages were compoſed to maintain an Intercourſe with one another, and not to treat of the Nature of that Being, who dwelleth in Light that is inacceſſible. No Form of Words, be they never ſo exquiſite and well choſen, can reach thoſe tranſcendant Perfections, that are unutterable; and therefore, if we conſider the low Capacity of the People, to whom, the great Poverty of the Language in which, and the vaſt Sublimity of the Subject about which Moſes wrote, we ſhall have leſs Occaſion to blame his metaphorical Way of expreſſing the Divine Nature, which upon Experiment, he certainly found beſt adapted, both to inform the Underſtanding, and animate the Affections of the People.

Interpreters, indeed, are at ſome Variance what we are to underſtand by the Hand, Face, and hinder Parts of God. 'The Face of God, ſays an ingenious Gloſſary, ſignifies his Eſſence, before the Beginning of 'the World, and his hinder Parts, his Creation and 'Providence in the Government of the World.' But Maimonides is of Opinion, that theſe Words may be interpreted interpreted according to the Targums; thus: That God made his Majesty, that is, an exceedingly bright Representation of himself (tho' not in its full Glory) pass before Moses, in so much Splendor as human Nature could bear, which may be termed his Back-parts; but not in his unveiled Brightness, which may signify his Face, and, as the Apostle speaks, is inaccessible; and the Hand, wherewith God covered him, while he passed by, may probably denote a Cloud, which God cast about him, that he might not be struck dead by the inconceivable Brightness of those Rays, which came from the Face, or full Lustre of the Divine Majesty.

As far as Mortality could endure the dazling Brightness of God's Glory, the Hebrew Leader was indulged in his Demand; and all was to be shewn him, that was either necessary to fill his Soul with Joy or Admiration, to excite his Love, or to elevate his Reverence of the Deity, who is a pure Spirit, eternal, and omnipresent.

CHAP. XXXIV.

Moses is order'd to hew two new Tables of Stone, and to come up again into the Mount. The Name of the Lord proclaimed. God renews his Covenant with them. Moses, after forty Days Stay in the Mount, comes down with the Tables. His Face shines, and he covers it with a Veil.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord said unto Moses, Hew thee two tables of stone like unto the first: and I will write upon these tables the words that were in the first tables which thou brakest. 2 And be ready in the morning, and come up in the morning unto mount Sinai, and present thyself there to me, in the top of the mount. 3 And no man shall come up with thee, neither let any man be seen throughout all the mount: neither let the flocks nor herds feed before that mount. 4 And he hewed two tables of stone, like unto the first; and Moses rose up early in the morning, and went up unto mount Sinai, as the Lord had commanded him, and took in his hand the two tables of stone. 5 And the Lord descended in the cloud, and stood with him there, and proclaimed the name of the Lord. 6 And the Lord passed by before him, and proclaimed, The Lord, The Lord God, merciful and gracious, long-suffering, and abundant in goodness and truth, 7 Keeping mercy for thousands, forgiving iniquity and transgression and sin, and that will by no means clear the guilty; visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children, and upon the childrens children, unto the third and to the fourth generation. 8 And Moses made haste, and bowed his head toward the earth, and worshipped. 9 And he said, If now I have found grace in thy sight, O Lord, let my Lord, I pray thee, go amongst us (for it is a stiff-necked people) and pardon our iniquity and our sin, and take us for thine inheritance. 10 And he said, Behold, I make a covenant: before all thy people I will do marvels, such as have not been done in all the earth, nor in any nation: and all the people amongst which thou art, shall see the work of the Lord: for it is a terrible thing that I will do with thee. 11 Observe thou that which I command thee this day: Behold, I drive out before thee the Amorite, and the Canaanite, and the Hittite, and the Perizzite, and the Hivite, and the Jebusite. 12 Take heed to thyself, lest thou make a covenant with the inhabitants of the land whither thou goest, lest it be for a snare in the midst of thee. 13 But ye shall destroy their altars, break their images, and cut down their groves. 14 For thou shalt worship no other god: for the Lord, whose name is Jealous, is a jealous God: 15 Lest thou make a covenant with the inhabitants of the land, and they go a whoring after their gods, and do sacrifice unto their gods, and one call thee, and thou eat of his sacrifice, 16 And thou take of their daughters unto thy sons, and their daughters go a whoring after their gods, and make thy sons go a whoring after their gods. 17 Thou shalt make thee no molten gods. 18 The feast of unleavened bread shalt thou keep: Seven days shalt thou eat unleavened bread, as I commanded thee in the time of the month Abib: for in the month Abib thou camest out from Egypt. 19 All that openeth the matrix is mine: and every firstling among thy cattle, whether ox or sheep, that is male. 20 But the firstling of an ass thou shalt redeem with a lamb: and if thou redeem him not, then shalt thou break his neck. All the first-born of thy sons thou shalt redeem: and none shall appear before me empty. 21 Six days thou shalt work, but on the seventh day thou shalt rest: in earing time and in harvest thou shalt rest. 22 And thou shalt observe the feast of weeks, of the first-fruits of wheat-harvest, and the feast of in-gathering at the years end. 23 Thrice in the year shall all your men-children appear before the Lord God, the God of Israel. 24 For I will cast out the nations before thee, and enlarge thy borders: neither shall any man desire thy land, when thou shalt go up to appear before the Lord thy God, thrice in the year. 25 Thou shalt not offer the blood of my sacrifice with leaven, neither shall the sacrifice of the feast of passover be left unto the morning. 26 The first of the first-fruits of thy land thou shalt bring unto the house of the Lord thy God. Thou shalt not seethe a kid in his mothers milk. 27 And the Lord said unto Moses, Write thou these words: for after the tenour of these words I have made a covenant with thee and with Israel. 28 And he was there with the Lord forty days and forty nights; he did neither eat bread, nor drink water: and he wrote upon the tables the words of the covenant, the ten commandments. 29 And it came to pass when Moses came down from mount Sinai (with the two tables of testimony in Moses hand, when he came down from the mount) that Moses wist not that the skin of his face shone, while he talked with him. 30 And when Aaron and all the children of Israel saw Moses, behold, the skin of his face shone, and they were afraid to come nigh him. 31 And Moses called unto them; and Aaron, and all the rulers of the congregation returned unto him: and Moses talked with them. 32 And afterward all the children of Israel came nigh: and he gave them in commandment all that the Lord had spoken with him in mount Sinai. 33 And till Moses had done speaking with them, he put a vail on his face. 34 But when Moses went in before the Lord to speak with him, he took the vail off, until he came out. And he came out and spake unto the children of Israel, that which he was commanded. 35 And the children of Israel saw the face of Moses, that the skin of Moses face shone: and Moses put the vail vail upon his face again until he went in to speak with him.

And the Lord descended in a Cloud] That is, He shewed himself present in the Cloud, in a Manner as if he had descended down into it from Heaven the Place of his immediate Presence and Glory, Exod. xix. 11, 18, 20. Or else the Meaning is, that the Cloud itself descended; for ordinarily the Cloud was raised up high in the Air, and came lower down when God was pleased audibly to speak to Moses, Ch. xxxiii. 9.

And he was there with the Lord forty Days, and forty Nights] In this State of Infirmity indeed, says Stackhouse, we are oblig'd to repair the gradual Decays of our Bodies with a Supply of daily Food, but in that of a greater Perfection, there will be no Occasion for these weak Supports of human Nature. In the mean Time we are assured, that Man doth not live by Bread alone, but by every Word that proceedeth out of the Mouth of God, Matt. iv. 4. by whose Command our natural Perspiration may be so shut up, and the Instruments of our Digestion so retarded, as to make a small Quantity of Meat subsist us for a considerable Time. Elijah, we read, had but a Cake baked on the Coals, and a Cruse of Water for his whole Repast, even when he was going to undertake a long Journey; and yet we find, that both under the Fatigue of Body, and Expence of Spirits, which Travelling must necessarily occasion, he was enabled to go in the Strength of that Meat forty Days and forty Nights. And for the like Reasons we may suppose, that Moses being now receiv'd within the Cloud on Mount Sinai, might find no uneasy Cravings of Appetite, during his Stay, and long Conversation with God.

Moses wist not that the Skin of his Face shone] The Word Karan, which our Translators have made shining, is, says Stackhouse, by the Vulgat render'd cornutus, or horned; and, from this Misapplication of Ideas, Painters, very probably, have been induc'd to draw Moses with a Pair of Horns branching, as it were, out of his Forehead; whereas the proper Representation of him should be, with a Glory covering his Head, in the Manner that the Saints are painted in the Roman Church: For, it is not improbable, that the Hairs of the Head were interspers'd with Rays of Light, at the same Time that a certain beauteous Lustre proceeded from his Face, and dazled the Eyes of its Beholders.

Moses was certainly in this, as in many other Things, an eminent Type of our Saviour Christ, and the Change of his Countenance of our Lord's Transfiguration upon the Mount, when his Face (as the Evangelist relates the Matter) did shine as the Sun, and his Garment was white as Light. In both Cases, it was the glorious Being within the Cloud, that transfus'd this radiant Splendor around his Son and Servant. But the Reason, why Moses, at his first Time of his being upon the Mount, and conversing with God, did not contract this wonderful Brightness, seems to be this; — That he had not then seen the Divine Majesty in so great a Splendor, as he did now. He was oblig'd then to keep at a more awful Distance from the tremendous Throne of God, and not come within the Circle of its Refulgency, but now, upon his humble Petition, God was pleased to vouchsafe him such a Sight of Glory, as his human Nature could bear. So that, being permitted to come within the Circumference of it, he carried off (tho' unknown to himself) such a beamy Lustre from the divine Refulgency, as (like the lambent Fire, wherewith the Poets adorn the Temples of their Heroes) play'd about his Head and Face, and there was permanent for some considerable Time. For, Moses being now to bring down the Tables of the Covenant from the Mount, that the People might not suspect him of any Fallacy or Collusion, or think that his Pretence to a Correspondence with the Deity (as that of some subsequent Lawgivers prov'd) was vain and fictitious, God was pleas'd to send along with him this Testimony, as it were, of his having held Communion with God. For the miraculous Radiancy, wherewith he was adorn'd, shew'd in what Company he had been during his Absence; confirm'd his Message to the People; and, in every Respect, carried new Credentials in it.

He put a Veil on his Face] To shew, that it was sufficient that this Splendor added some Credit and Authority to his Ministry, being not willing, however, that the People thereby should be induced to any excessive or idolatrous Veneration. The Allegory which St. Paul draws from hence, See 2 Cor. iii. 13.

CHAP. XXXV.

The Sabbath again commanded to be observed. The Free-will Offering for the Tabernacle. Bezaleel, and Aholiab appointed to make the Ark.

Ver. 1. AND Moses gathered all the congregation of the children of Israel together, and said unto them, These are the words which the Lord hath commanded, that ye should do them. 2 Six days shall work be done, but on the seventh day there shall be to you an holy day, a sabbath of rest to the Lord: whosoever doth work therein, shall be put to death. 3 Ye shall kindle no fire throughout your habitations upon the sabbath-day. 4 And Moses spake unto all the congregation of the children of Israel, saying, This is the thing which the Lord commanded, saying, 5 Take ye from amongst you an offering unto the Lord: Whosoever is of a willing heart, let him bring it an offering of the Lord; gold, and silver, and brass, 6 And blue, and purple, and scarlet, and fine linen, and goats hair, 7 And rams skins died red, and badgers skins, and shittim-wood, 8 And oyl for the light, and spices for anointing oyl, and for the sweet incense, 9 And onyx-stones, and stones to be set for the ephod, and for the breast-plate. 10 And every wise-hearted among you, shall come and make all that the Lord hath commanded; 11 The tabernacle, his tent, and his covering, his taches, and his boards, his bars, his pillars, and his sockets, 12 The ark and the staves thereof, with the mercy-seat, and the vail of the covering, 13 The table and his staves, and all his vessels, and his shew-bread, 14 The candlestick also for the light, and his furniture, and his lamps, with the oyl for the light. 15 And the incense-altar, and his staves, and the anointing oyl, and the sweet incense, and the hanging for the door at the entring in of the tabernacle. 16 The altar of burnt-offering with his brasen grate, his staves, and all his vessels, the laver and his foot. 17 The hangings of the court, his pillars, and their sockets, and the hanging for the door of the court. 18 The pins of the tabernacle, and the pins of the court, and their cords, 19 The clothes of service, to do service in the holy place, the holy garments for Aaron the priest, and the garments of his sons to minister in the priests office. 20 And all the congregation of the children of Israel departed from the presence of Moses. 21 And they came, every one whose heart stirred him up, and every one whom his spirit made willing, and they brought the Lords offering to the work of the tabernacle of the congregation, and for all his service and for the holy garments. 22 And they came both men and women, as many as were willing-hearted, and brought bracelets, and earrings, and rings, and tablets, all jewels of gold: and every man that offered, offered an offering of gold unto the Lord. 23 And every man with whom

And all the Congregation of the Children of Israel departed from the presence of Moses.
And they brought the Lords Offering to the Work of the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

Exodus Chap: XXXVI. Verse 1.

Then wrought Bezaleel & Aholiab and every wise hearted Man in whom the Lord put Wisdom & understanding, to know how to work all manner of Work for the Service of the Sanctuary, according to all that the Lord hath commanded.

whom was found blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine linen, and goats hair, and red ſkins of rams, and badgers ſkins, brought them. 24 Every one that did offer an offering of ſilver and braſs, brought the Lords offering: and every man with whom was found ſhittim-wood for any work of the ſervice, brought it. 25 And all the women that were wiſe-hearted, did ſpin with their hands, and brought that which they had ſpun, both of blue, and of purple, and of ſcarlet, and of fine linen. 26 And all the women whoſe heart ſtirred them up in wiſdom, ſpun goats hair. 27 And the rulers brought onyx-ſtones, and ſtones to be ſet for the ephod, and for the breaſt-plate. 28 And ſpice, and oyl for the light, and for the anointing oil, and for the ſweet incenſe. 29 The children of Iſrael brought a willing offering unto the Lord, every man and woman whoſe heart made them willing to bring for all manner of work: which the Lord had commanded to be made, by the hand of Moſes. 30 And Moſes ſaid unto the children of Iſrael, See, the Lord hath called by name Bazaleel the ſon of Uri, the ſon of Hur, of the tribe of Judah: 31 And he hath filled him with the ſpirit of God, in wiſdom, in underſtanding, and in knowledge, and in all manner of workmanſhip; 32 And to deviſe curious works, to work in gold, and in ſilver, and in braſs, 33 And in the cutting of ſtones to ſet them, and in carving of wood to make any manner of cunning work. 34 And he hath put in his heart that he may teach, both he and Aholiab the ſon of Ahiſamach of the tribe of Dan. 35 Them hath he filled with wiſdom of heart, to work all manner of work, of the engraver, and of the cunning workman, and of the embroiderer, in blue, and in purple, in ſcarlet, and in fine linen, and of the weaver, even of them that do any work, and of thoſe that deviſe cunning work.

This Chapter conſiſts of two Parts; the firſt contains Directions for keeping the Sabbath; the ſecond, in what Manner, and with what Materials, and with what Workmen to build the Tabernacle. As to the Workmen, Bezaleel and Aholiab, it is ſaid, Ver. 35. Them hath he filled with Wiſdom of Heart, to work all Manner of Work. By which we are only to conceive, that the Almighty gave them a perfect Comprehenſion of all the Particulars committed to their Care, and enabled them thereby to make them to an exact Reſemblance with what the Prophet had ſeen in the Mount.

Bezaleel, ſay ſome of the Jewiſh Doctors, was the Son of Hur, by Miriam the Siſter of Moſes; but this is mere Conjecture. The Inhabitants of Sidon preſerve an high Eſteem for his Memory, and, without the Walls of their Town, ſhew a Tomb, under which they affirm him to be interred.

As to Aholiab, who was join'd in Commiſſion with Bezaleel, in the Province of overlooking the Materials for the Tabernacle, nothing more is ſaid of him (that we find any where related) than what is here recorded.

CHAP. XXXVI.

Bezaleel and Aholiab enter upon their Work. The People's Liberality reſtrained. The various Materials of which the Work conſiſted.

Ver. 1. THEN wrought Bezaleel and Aholiab, and every wiſe-hearted man, in whom the Lord put wiſdom and underſtanding, to know how to work all manner of work for the ſervice of the ſanctuary, according to all that the Lord had commanded. 2 And Moſes called Bezaleel and Aholiab, and every wiſe-hearted man, in whoſe heart the Lord had put wiſdom, even every one whoſe heart ſtirred him up to come unto the work to do it. 3 And they received of Moſes all the offering which the children of Iſrael had brought, for the work of the ſervice of the ſanctuary, to make it withall. And they brought yet unto him free offerings every morning. 4 And all the wiſe men that wrought all the work of the ſanctuary, came every man from his work which they made. 5 And they ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, The people bring much more then enough for the ſervice of the work which the Lord commanded to make. 6 And Moſes gave commandment, and they cauſed it to be proclaimed throughout the camp, ſaying, Let neither man nor woman make any more work for the offering of the ſanctuary. So the people were reſtrained from bringing. 7 For the ſtuff they had was ſufficient for all the work to make it, and too much. 8 And every wiſe-hearted man, among them that wrought the work of the tabernacle, made ten curtains of fine twined linen, and blue, and purple, and ſcarlet: with cherubims of cunning work made he them. 9 The length of one curtain was twenty and eight cubits, and the breadth of one curtain four cubits: the curtains were all of one ciſe. 10 And he coupled the five curtains one unto another: and the other five curtains he coupled one unto another. 11 And he made loops of blue on the edge of one curtain, from the ſelvedge in the coupling: likewiſe he made in the uttermoſt ſide of another curtain, in the coupling of the ſecond. 12 Fifty loops made he in one curtain, and fifty loops made he in the edge of the curtain which was in the coupling of the ſecond: the loops held one curtain to another. 13 And he made fifty taches of gold, and coupled the curtains one unto another with the taches. So it became one tabernacle. 14 And he made curtains of goats hair, for the tent over the tabernacle: eleven curtains he made them. 15 The length of one curtain was thirty cubits, and four cubits was the breadth of one curtain: the eleven curtains were of one ciſe. 16 And he coupled five curtains by themſelves, and ſix curtains by themſelves. 17 And he made fifty loops upon the uttermoſt edge of the curtain in the coupling, and fifty loops made he upon the edge of the curtain, which coupleth the ſecond. 18 And he made fifty taches of braſs to couple the tent together, that it might be one. 19 And he made a covering for the tent, of rams ſkins died red, and a covering of badgers ſkins above that. 20 And he made boards for the tabernacle, of ſhittim-wood, ſtanding up. 21 The length of a board was ten cubits, and the breadth of a board one cubit and a half. 22 One board had two tenons, equally diſtant one from another: thus did he make for all the boards of the tabernacle. 23 And he made boards for the tabernacle: twenty boards for the ſouth-ſide ſouth-ward. 24 And forty ſockets of ſilver he made under the twenty boards: two ſockets under one board for his two tenons, and two ſockets under another board for his two tenons. 25 And for the other ſide of the tabernacle which is toward the north-corner, he made twenty boards. 26 And their forty ſockets of ſilver: two ſockets under one board, and two ſockets under another board. 27 And for the ſides of the tabernacle weſt-ward, he made ſix boards. 28 And two boards made he for the corners of the tabernacle in the two ſides. 29 And they were coupled beneath, and coupled together at the head thereof, to one ring: thus he did to both of them in both the corners. 30 And there were eight boards, and their ſockets were ſixteen ſockets of ſilver, under every board two ſockets. 31 And he made bars of ſhittim-wood: five for the boards of the one ſide of the tabernacle. 32 And five bars for the boards of the other ſide of the tabernacle, and five bars for the boards of the tabernacle for the ſides weſtward. 33 And he made the middle bar to ſhoot through the boards from the one end to the other. 34 And he overlaid the boards with gold, and made their rings of gold to be places for the bars, and overlaid the bars with gold. 35 And he made a vail of blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine twined linen: with cherubims made he it of cunning work. 36 And he made thereunto four pillars of ſhittim-wood, and overlaid them with gold: their hooks were of gold, and he caſt for them four ſockets of ſilver. 37 And he made an hanging for the tabernacle-door, of blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine twined linen, of needle work. 38 And the five pillars of it with their hooks: and he overlaid their chapiters, and their fillets with gold: but their five ſockets were of braſs.

Every Morning the Free-will Offerings were preſented, and given by Moſes to the Workmen; and ſo zealous were the People in general on this Occaſion, that Moſes, when he found there was ſufficient, was oblig'd to iſſue a Proclamation to reſtrain them from bringing any more. This was a very ſtrong Inſtance of the Affection of the People, in general, for the exterior Rites of Religion, tho' without any juſt Senſe of its moral and eſſential Precepts; ſince we behold them, in a few Weeks, breaking through thoſe Laws which had been given by God himſelf, in the moſt conſpicuous, as well as the moſt tremendous Manner; and that in a Point which brought them no temporal Advantage whatever, and, in a very inconſiderable Space after this, haſtening with eager Obedience, to give up their moſt valuable Effects, to adorn the Tabernacle of that infinite Being, whoſe Commands they had deſpiſed.

As every Part of this ſacred Edifice was meaſured by the Cubit, it may be neceſſary to inform the Reader, that a Cubit was about twenty-two Inches of Engliſh Meaſure.

On this Table were twelve Cakes or Loaves to ſtand continually, from whence they were called Shew-bread, that is, Shewn, or ſet to View before the Lord. Theſe Loaves were new every Week, being ſet in two Rows, ſix in each Row, with Frankincenſe over them. The old Bread was taken away every Sabbath Day, and new Bread laid in the Room of it; and it was not lawful for any but the Prieſts to eat of that Bread.

The Altar for the Burnt-offering, with its Furniture. The Braxen Laver with his Foot. The People numbered and taxed.

Ver. 1. AND he made the altar of burnt-offering of ſhittim-wood: five cubits was the length thereof, and five cubits the breadth thereof (it was four-ſquare) and three cubits the height thereof. 2 And he made the horns thereof on the four corners of it: the horns thereof were of the ſame, and he overlaid it with braſs. 3 And he made all the veſſels of the altar, the pots, and the ſhovels, and the baſons, and the fleſh-hooks and the fire-pans: all the veſſels thereof made he of braſs. 4 And he made for the altar a braſen-grate of net-work, under the compaſs thereof, beneath unto the midſt of it. 5 And he caſt four rings for the four ends of the grate of braſs, to be places for the ſtaves. 6 And he made the ſtaves of ſhittim-wood, and overlaid them with braſs. 7 And he put the ſtaves into the rings on the ſides of the altar, to bear it withall; he made the altar hollow with boards. 8 And he made the laver of braſs, and the foot of it, of braſs, of the looking-glaſſes of the women aſſembling, which aſſembled at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation. 9 And he made the court: on the ſouth-ſide ſouthward, the hangings of the court were of fine twined linen, an hundred cubits. 10 Their pillars were twenty, and their braſen ſockets twenty: the hooks of the pillars and their fillets were of ſilver. 11 And for the north-ſide the hangings were an hundred cubits, their pillars were twenty, and their ſockets of braſs twenty: the hooks of the pillars, and their fillets of ſilver. 12 And for the weſt-ſide were hangings of fifty cubits, their pillars ten, and their ſockets ten: the hooks of the pillars, and their fillets, of ſilver. 13 And for the eaſt-ſide eaſt-ward fifty cubits. 14 The hangings of the one ſide of the gate were fifteen cubits, their pillars three, and their ſockets three. 15 And for the other ſide of the court-gate, on this hand and that hand, were hangings of fifteen cubits, their pillars three, and their ſockets three. 16 All the hangings of the court round about, were of fine twined linen. 17 And the ſockets for the pillars were of braſs; the hooks of the pillars, and their fillets, of ſilver; and the overlaying of their chapiters of ſilver; and all the pillars of the court were filleted with ſilver. 18 And the hanging for the gate of the court was needle-work, of blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine twined linen: and twenty cubits was the length, and the height in the breadth was five cubits, anſwerable to the hangings of the court. 19 And their pillars were four, and their ſockets of braſs four, their hooks of ſilver, and the overlaying of their chapiters, and their fillets, of ſilver. 20 And all the pins of the tabernacle, and of the court round about, were of braſs. 21 This is the ſum of the tabernacle, even of the tabernacle of teſtimony, as it was counted, according to the commandment of Moſes, for the ſervice of the Levites, by the hand of Ithamar, ſon to Aaron the prieſt. 22 And Bezaleel the ſon of Uri, the ſon of Hur, of the tribe of Judah, made all that the Lord commanded Moſes. 23 And with him was Aholiab, ſon of Ahiſamach, of the tribe of Dan, an engraver, and a cunning workman, and an embroiderer in blue, and in purple, and in ſcarlet, and fine linen. 24 All the gold that was occupied for the work, in all the work of the holy place, even the gold of the offering, was twenty and nine talents, and ſeven hundred and thirty ſhekels, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary. 25 And the ſilver of them that were numbred of the congregation, was an hundred talents, and a thouſand ſeven hundred and threeſcore and fifteen ſhekels, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary. 26 A bekah for every man, that is, half a ſhekel, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, for every one that went to be numbered, from twenty years old and upward, for ſix hundred thouſand and three thouſand and five hundred and fifty men. 27 And of the hundred talents of ſilver, were caſt the ſockets of the ſanctuary, and the ſockets of the vail; an hundred ſockets of the hundred talents, a talent for a ſocket. 28 And of the thouſand ſeven hundred ſeventy and five ſhekels, he made hooks for the pillars, and overlaid their chapiters, and filleted them. 29 And the braſs of the offering was ſeventy talents, and two thouſand and four hundred ſhekels. 30 And therewith he made the ſockets to the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and the braſen altar, and the braſen grate for it, and all the veſſels of the altar. 31 And the ſockets of the court round about, and the ſockets of the court-gate, and all the pins of the tabernacle, and all the pins of the court round about.

A Bekah of every Man, that is, half a Shekel, after the Shekel of the Sanctuary, for every one that went to be numbered, from twenty Years old and upwards, for ſix hundred thouſand, and three thouſand, and five hundred and fifty Men] The Total of this Tax, in Hebrew Money, amounted to 31,775 Shekels, which was equal to an hundred Talents, and 1775 Shekels over; from whence it appears, that a Talent contained 3000 Shekels, and the Produce of this Tax in our Money, came to 34,421 l. 4 s. 6 d.

CHAP. XXXIX.

The officiating and holy Garments of the Prieſts, with their various Ornaments, being all finiſh'd, are brought to Moſes, who approves the Work, and bleſſes the People.

Ver. 1. AND of the blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, they made clothes of ſervice, to do ſervice in the holy place, and made the holy garments for Aaron; as the Lord commanded Moſes. 2 And he made the ephod, of gold, blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine twined linen. 3 And they did beat the gold into thin plates, and cut it into wires, to work it in the blue, and in the purple, and in the ſcarlet, and in the fine linen, with cunning work. 4 They made made ſhoulder pieces for it, to couple it together: by the two edges was it coupled together. 5 And the curious girdle of his ephod that was upon it, was of the ſame, according to the work thereof; of gold, blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine twined linen; as the Lord commanded Moſes. 6 And they wrought onyx-ſtones encloſed in ouches of gold, graven as ſignets are graven, with the names of the children of Iſrael. 7 And he put them on the ſhoulders of the ephod, that they ſhould be ſtones for a memorial to the children of Iſrael; as the Lord commanded Moſes. 8 And he made the breaſt-plate of cunning work, like the work of the ephod; of gold, blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and fine twined linen. 9 It was four-ſquare, they made the breaſt-plate double: a ſpan was the length thereof, and a ſpan the breadth thereof being doubled. 10 And they ſet in it four rows of ſtones: the firſt row was a ſardius, a topaz and a carbuncle: this was the firſt row. 11 And the ſecond row an emeraud, a ſapphire, and a diamond. 12 And the third row, a ligure, an agate, an amethyſt. 13 And the fourth row, a beryll, an onyx, and a jaſper: they were incloſed in ouches of gold in their encloſings. 14 And the ſtones were according to the names of the children of Iſrael, twelve according to their names, like the engravings of a ſignet, every one with his name, according to the twelve tribes. 15 And they made upon the breaſt-plate chains, at the ends, of wreathen work of pure gold. 16 And they made two ouches of gold, and two gold rings: and put the two rings in the two ends of the breaſt-plate. 17 And they put the two wreathen chains of gold in the two rings on the ends of the breaſt-plate. 18 And the two ends of the two wreathen chains they faſtened in the two ouches, and put them on the ſhoulder-pieces of the ephod, before it. 19 And they made two rings of gold, and put them on the two ends of the breaſt-plate upon the border of it, which was on the ſide of the ephod inward. 20 And they made two other golden rings, and put them on the two ſides of the ephod underneath, toward the fore-part of it, over againſt the other coupling thereof, above the curious girdle of the ephod. 21 And they did bind the breaſt-plate by his rings unto the rings of the ephod, with a lace of blue, that it might be above the curious girdle of the ephod, and that the breaſt-plate might not be looſed from the ephod; as the Lord commanded Moſes. 22 And he made the robe of the ephod of woven work, all of blue. 23 And there was a hole in the midſt of the robe, as the hole of an habergeon, with a band round about the hole, that it ſhould not rent. 24 And they made upon the hems of the robe, pomegranates of blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, and twined linen. 25 And they made bells of pure gold, and put the bells between the pomegranates, upon the hem of the robe, round about between the pomegranates. 26 A bell and a pomegranate, a bell and a pomegranate round about the hem of the robe to miniſter in; as the Lord commanded Moſes. 27 And they made coats of fine linen, of woven work, for Aaron and for his ſons, 28 And a mitre of fine linen, and goodly bonnets of fine linen, and linen breeches of fine twined linen, 29 And a girdle of fine twined linen, and blue, and purple, and ſcarlet, of needle-work; as the Lord commanded Moſes. 30 And they made the plate of the holy crown of pure gold, and wrote upon it a writing, like to the engravings of a ſignet, HOLINESS TO THE LORD. 31 And they tied unto it a lace of blue, to faſten it on high upon the mitre; as the Lord commanded Moſes. 32 Thus was all the work of the tabernacle of the tent of the congregation finiſhed: and the children of Iſrael did according to all that the Lord commanded Moſes, ſo did they. 33 And they brought the tabernacle unto Moſes, the tent, and all his furniture, his taches, his boards, his bars, and his pillars, and his ſockets, 34 And the covering of rams ſkins died red, and the covering of badgers ſkins, and the vail of the covering, 35 The ark of the teſtimony, and the ſtaves thereof, and the mercy-ſeat, 36 The table, and all the veſſels thereof, and the ſhew-bread, 37 The pure candleſtick, with the lamps thereof, even with the lamps to be ſet in order, and all the veſſels thereof, and the oil for light. 38 And the golden altar, and the anointing oil, and the ſweet incenſe, and the hanging for the tabernacle-door, 39 The braſen altar, and his grate of braſs, his ſtaves, and all his veſſels, the laver and his foot, 40 The hangings of the court, his pillars, and his ſockets, and the hangings for the court-gate, his cords, and his pins, and all the veſſels of the ſervice of the tabernacle, for the tent of the congregation, 41 The clothes of ſervice to do ſervice in the holy place, and the holy garments for Aaron the prieſt, and his ſons garments to miniſter in the prieſts office. 42 According to all that the Lord commanded Moſes, ſo the children of Iſrael made all the work. 43 And Moſes did look upon all the work, and behold, they had done it as the Lord had commanded, even ſo had they done it: And Moſes bleſſed them.

Every Thing here mentioned, has been treated of in the foregoing Chapters; and therefore we proceed to the next.

CHAP. XL.

Moſes, as he is commanded, rears up the Tabernacle, and puts in it the Ark, and ſets up the Tables, Candleſtick, Golden and Brazen-Altar, and Laver. All Things being in order, the Glory of God fills the Place.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 2 On the firſt day of the firſt month, ſhalt thou ſet up the tabernacle of the tent of the congregation: 3 And thou ſhalt put therein the ark of the teſtimony, and cover the ark with the vail. 4 And thou ſhalt bring in the table, and ſet in order the things that are to be ſet in order upon it, and thou ſhalt bring in the candleſtick and light the lamps thereof. 5 And thou ſhalt ſet the altar of gold for the incenſe before the ark of the teſtimony, and put the hanging of the door to the tabernacle. 6 And thou ſhalt ſet the altar of the burnt-offering before the door of the tabernacle of the tent of the congregration. 7 And thou ſhalt ſet the laver between the tent of the congregation and the altar, and ſhalt put water therein. 8 And thou ſhalt ſet up the court round about, and hang up the hang-hanging at the court gate. 9 And thou ſhalt take the anointing-oyl, and anoint the tabernacle and all that is therein, and ſhalt hallow it, and all the veſſels thereof: and it ſhall be holy. 10 And thou ſhalt anoint the altar of the burnt-offering, and all his veſſels, and ſanctify the altar: and it ſhall be an altar moſt holy. 11 And thou ſhalt anoint the laver, and his foot, and ſanctify it. 12 And thou ſhalt bring Aaron and his ſons unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and waſh them with water. 13 And thou ſhalt put upon Aaron the holy garments, and anoint him, and ſanctify him; that he may miniſter unto me in the prieſts office. 14 And thou ſhalt bring his ſons, and cloath them with coats: 15 And thou ſhalt anoint them, as thou didſt anoint their father, that they may miniſter unto me in the prieſts office: for their anointing ſhall ſurely be an everlaſting prieſthood, throughout their generations: 16 Thus did Moſes: according to all that the Lord commanded him, ſo did he. 17 And it came to paſs, in the firſt month in the ſecond year, on the firſt day of the month, that the tabernacle was reared up. 18 And Moſes reared up the tabernacle, and faſtned his ſockets, and ſet up the boards thereof, and put in the bars thereof, and reared up his pillars. 19 And he ſpread abroad the tent over the tabernacle, and put the covering of the tent above upon it; as the Lord commanded Moſes. 20 And he took and put the teſtimony into the ark, and ſet the ſtaves on the ark, and put the mercy ſeat above upon the ark. 21 And he brought the ark into the tabernacle, and ſet up the vail of the covering, and covered the ark of the teſtimony; as the Lord commanded Moſes. 22 And he put the table in the tent of the congregation, upon the ſide of the tabernacle, north-ward, without the vail. 23 And he ſet the bread in order upon it, before the Lord; as the Lord had commanded Moſes. 24 And he put the candleſtick in the tent of the congregation, over againſt the table, on the ſide of the tabernacle ſouth-ward. 25 And he lighted the lamps before the Lord, as the Lord commanded Moſes. 26 And he put the golden altar in the tent of the congregation, before the vail. 27 And he burnt ſweet incenſe thereon, as the Lord commanded Moſes. 28 And he ſet up the hanging, at the door of the tabernacle. 29 And he put the altar of burnt offering by the door of the tabernacle of the tent of the congregation, and offered upon it the burnt-offering and the meat-offering; as the Lord commanded Moſes. 30 And he ſet the laver between the tent of the congregation, and the altar, and put water there to waſh withal. 31 And Moſes and Aaron and his ſons, waſhed their hands and their feet thereat. 32 When they went into the tent of the congregation, and when they came near unto the altar, they waſhed: as the Lord commanded Moſes. 33 And he reared up the court round about the tabernacle and the altar, and ſet up the hanging of the court gate: ſo Moſes finiſhed the work. 34 Then a cloud covered the tent of the congregation, and the glory of the Lord filled the tabernacle. 35 And Moſes was not able to enter into the tent of the congregation, becauſe the cloud abode thereon, and the glory of the Lord filled the tabernacle. 36 And when the cloud was taken up from over the tabernacle, the children of Iſrael went onward in all their journeys: 37 But if the cloud were not taken up, then they journeyed not, till the day that it was taken up. 38 For the cloud of the Lord was upon the tabernacle by day, and fire was on it by night, in the ſight of all the houſe of Iſrael, throughout all their journeys.

The Glory of the Lord filled the Tabernacle] The Glory of the Lord (what the Jews call'd Schechinah) was a particular Manifeſtation of the Divine Preſence, appearing uſually in the Shape of a Cloud, but ſometimes breaking out into a bright and refulgent Fire. For we muſt not ſuppoſe that the Cloud, and the Glory of God, were two different Things, but one and the ſame, even as the Pillar of Cloud and Fire were; for, outwardly, it was a Cloud, and, inwardly, a Fire. And, in like Manner here, the external Part of it cover'd the Tabernacle without, while the inward Part of it ſhone in full Glory within the Houſe; in which Senſe the Account of this Appearance (Exod. xvi. 10.) is to be underſtood: The Glory of the Lord abode upon Mount Sinai, and the Cloud cover'd it (i. e. cover'd the Glory of the Lord, and not the Mount) ſix Days; for, on the ſeventh Day this Glory broke through the Cloud, and appear'd like a devouring Fire in the Sight of all the People, Exod. xxiv. 17. This wonderful Appearance, whether occaſion'd by the Preſence of Angels, or (as others imagine) by the Reſidence of the ſecond Perſon in the ever bleſſed Trinity, took Poſſeſſion of the Tabernacle, on the Day of its Conſecration, and (as the Jews believe) paſs'd into the Sanctuary of Solomon's Temple, on its Dedication, where it continued to the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem and the Temple by the the Chaldeans; after which it was never more ſeen. See Calmet's Dict. and Patrick's Com.

Moſes has been very particular in his Deſcription of the Tabernacle: Upon which ſome have ſtarted a Queſtion, whether any Thing of this Kind was ever erected for the publick Worſhip of God before the Moſaic Inſtitution? To this it has been anſwered, That from the very firſt Beginning of Time, God had always ſome Place appropriated to the ſolemn Duties of religious Worſhip. Even during the ſmall Space of his Continuance in Paradiſe, Adam had where to preſent himſelf before the Lord; and after his Expulſion from thence, his Sons, in like Manner, had whither to bring their Oblations and Sacrifices. The Patriarchs, both before and after the Flood, uſed Altars, and Mountains, and Groves, for the ſelf-ſame Purpoſe. Here they had their Proſeuchæ, or Places for Prayer, which were certain Plats of Ground, encompaſſed with a Wall, or ſome other Encloſure, and opened above. But the firſt Place of this Kind, that made any conſiderable Figure, was the Tabernacle, which God ordered Moſes to erect in the Wilderneſs, as an Habitation for his majeſtick Preſence to reſide in.

As the High-prieſt was an Officer of the higheſt Rank and Authority under the Levitical-Law, ſome Account may be here expected of his peculiar Privileges and Authority. The High-prieſt was at the Head of all religious Affairs, and the ordinary Judge of all the Difficulties that related to them. He only had the Privilege of entering into the Sanctuary once in a Year, which was on the Day of ſolemn Expiation, to make Atonement for the Sins of the whole People.

The Buſineſs of the ordinary Prieſts was, to attend the Service of the Tabernacle: They kept up a perpetual Fire upon the Altar of Burnt-offering; lighted and extinguiſhed the Lamps of the Golden Candleſtick; made the Loaves of Shew-bread; offered them on the Golden Altar in the Sanctuary; changed them every Sabbath-day; and every Day at Night and Morning, carried in a ſmoaking Cenſer of Incenſe, and placed it on the Golden Table, which upon this Account, was likewiſe called the Altar of Incenſe.

As

As we ſhall ſoon have Occaſion to mention Sacrifices of various Kinds, it will not be impertinent, I think, here to give an Account of the ſeveral Sorts of Sacrifices under the Law.

The Jewiſh Sacrifices were of four Kinds. Firſt, the Burnt-offering, which was totally conſumed by Fire upon the Altar, after that the Feet and Entrails had been waſhed.

Secondly, the Peace-offering, whereof the inward Fat, or Tallow, made up with the Liver and Kidneys, was all burnt upon the Altar. The Breaſt and right Shoulder were the Perquiſite of the Prieſts, who were obliged to eat them in the Holy Place, and the Remainder belonged to the Perſon who offered the Sacrifice.

Thirdly, the Sacrifice for Sin, committed either wilfully or ignorantly; and in this the Prieſt took ſome of the Blood of the Victim, dipped his Finger in it, and ſprinkled it ſeven Times towards the Veil of the Sanctuary. The ſame Parts of the Victim were burnt on the Altar, in this, as in the former Sacrifice. The reſt (if the Sacrifice was offered for the Sins of the High-Prieſt, or the People) was carried without the Camp and there burnt; but, if it was for a private Perſon, the Victim was divided (as was ſaid before) between the Prieſt and the Offerer.

Fourthly, the Sacrifice of Oblation, which was either fine Flour, or Incenſe, Cakes of fine Flour and Oil baked, or the firſt Fruits of new Corn. Oil, Salt, Wine, and Frankincenſe went always along with every Thing that was offered. All the Frankincenſe was caſt into the Fire; but of the other Things, the Prieſt only burnt a Part, and the reſt he reſerved to himſelf.

Now what the Ends and Uſes were for which theſe Things were inſtituted, St. Paul informs us, when he ſays, that the Law was our School-maſter to bring us unto Chriſt, Gal. iii. 24. Having only a Shadow of good Things to come, and not the very Image of the Things, it could never, with thoſe Sacrifices which were offered, Year by Year continually, make the Comers thereunto perfect, Heb. x. 1.

The ſame Apoſtle, in his Epiſtle to the Hebrews, Ch. vii. 19. has inform'd us, that the Law made nothing perfect, but the bringing in of a better Hope, by which we draw nigh unto God. The Jewiſh High-Prieſt was a Type of our Saviour, and his Entrance into the Holy of Holies, of our Lord's Aſcenſion into Heaven, after his Reſurrection. The Sacrifices, which were offered under the Levitical Law, were previous Repreſentations of the Death of Chriſt; and the Redemption of Mankind by the Effuſion of his Blood was exhibited, every Day, in the ſeveral Obligations in the Tabernacle: For if the Blood of Bulls and of Goats, and the Aſhes of an Heifer, ſprinkling the Unclean, ſanctifieth to the purifying of the Fleſh; how much more ſhall the Blood of Chriſt, who, through the Eternal Spirit, offer'd himſelf without Spot to God, purge the Conſcience from dead Works, to ſerve the living God? Heb. ix. 13. Now, beſides the Arguments which might be drawn from the Groſſneſs of the Jews Underſtanding, and their Incapacity to receive a more ſpiritual Diſpenſation, God might have this farther Deſign in ſetting before them the Myſtery of Man's Redemption under ſuch typical Repreſentations, viz. that thereby he might excite their Induſtry, and give a fuller Scope to the Exerciſe of their Faith. For, that the Faith and Hope, and other Graces of the Patriarchs, and devout Jews, were more effectually prov'd by the Exhibition of Things ambiguous and obſcure, than if they had been altogether open'd in the fulleſt and plaineſt Propoſitions, is a Matter that can hardly be conteſted. To reſt aſſured, that God would bring to paſs what he had expreſly and circumſtantially foretold, ſhew'd indeed a ſincere and true Faith in general; but to be perſuaded, that faint Reſemblances, and the remoteſt Hints were pregnant with Certainty and Solidity, and would, in their proper Time, be glorioufly compleated (how unintelligible ſoever they might be at preſent) was (if we may ſo call it) a ſpecial Advance of heroic Faith, and render'd their Dependance and Reſignation as complete as poſſible. And, accordingly, the Apoſtle, having enumerated ſeveral antient Worthies, who, by Faith extended their Views, and look'd upon the Diſpenſation they were under, as no more than a Syſtem of Types and Shadows of the good Things to come, concludes their Character in the following Manner: And theſe all, having obtained a good Report through Faith, received not the Promiſe: God having provided ſome better Thing for us, that they without us, ſhould not be made perfect, Heb. xi. 39, 40. So that the Jewiſh Religion and Worſhip was, in ſome Reſpects, adapted to the Capacity and Genius both of the Learned and Ignorant: Of the Ignorant, as being made up of Pomp and Shew enough to attract their Attention; and of the Learned, as abounding with Shadows, and Emblems of higher Matters, enough to exerciſe their deepeſt Contemplation.

A N

AN EXPOSITION OF The Third Book of Moſes called LEVITICUS.

The ARGUMENT.

The Name of Leviticus, given by the Greek Interpreters to this Book, intimates the Subject-matter treated of therein; namely, the various Rules and Forms of ceremonial Worſhip, which God preſcribed to the People in the Deſart, after the Tabernacle was framed and erected; eſpecially about the Offerings and Sacrifices to be adminiſter'd by the Family of Levi. Offerings and Sacrifices had been eſtabliſhed by God from the Beginning after Man's Sin; and the Promiſe that he ſhould be reſtored to Grace by the Meſſias; and had been continually uſed in the Church; and were of two Sorts, and for two Ends. The one Sort was expiatory, or propitiatory; the other were euchariſtical, or of Thankſgiving, to make a publick Acknowledgment of God's Benefits, as well general, as particular. But after the Iſraelites were come out of Egypt, the Almighty, willing to give a firm and perpetual Form to his Service, and to baniſh all arbitrary Licence, and to ſhew that he is pleaſed with nothing but Obedience, by which alone he can and ought to be lawfully ſerved; both Kinds of Sacrifices were regulated by certain Laws and Circumſtances, of Rites, Times, and Places; and eſpecially by appointing certain Perſons conſecrated and pleaſing to God, according to his free Choice, by which he took the Tribe of Levi in general for his Service; and out of that Tribe, Aaron, and his Deſcendants, particularly, to offer Sacrifices, whereof the Elders, from Father to Son, ſhould ſucceſſively hold the Place of High-Prieſt.

Beſides this firſt and principal Part, this Book alſo contains the Ceremonial Laws concerning the Diſtinctions of Meats, clean and unclean, lawful and unlawful, which were given as well for an Exerciſe and abſolute Proof of ſincere Obedience to God, as for a Document of holy Diſcretion, which Believers ought to uſe in abſtaining from every Thing with which God is diſpleaſed, or which may ſtain the Conſcience.

Farther; Moſes, in this Book, deſcribes all ceremonial Uncleanneſſes, by Meats, corporal Infirmities, and Accidents; and the Purification required in every one of them particularly; together with the Appointment of a general Purgation or Atonement to be made once a Year, of all the People's Uncleanneſſes.

In this Book are alſo eſtabliſhed the Laws of Affinity and Conſanguinity, forbidden in Marriages, and divers other Precepts of Juſtice; Charity and Piety, the Purity required in Prieſts; of Feaſts; of the Reſting of the Earth after ſeven Years; of the Jubilee; Vows; Things conſecrated to God, and the Ranſom of them; Things which were uſed in antient Times, for an Order of Eccleſiaſtical Diſcipline, and have likewiſe ſome reaſonable Correſpondency with the Myſteries of the Goſpel; of which Things the Levites were the ordinary Teachers, ſacred Miniſters, and publick Expounders. Finally, all theſe Commandments were ſealed by God, with excellent Promiſes to them that ſhould keep them, and rigorous Threatnings to the Breakers of them.

CHAP. I.

Laws concerning the ſlaughtering the Burnt-offering in the Tabernacle; whether the Offering conſiſt of the Herd, Flock, or Fowl.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord called unto Moſes, and ſpake unto him out of the tabernacle of the congregation, ſaying, 2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, If any man of you bring an offering unto the Lord, ye ſhall bring your offering of the cattel, even of the herd, and of the flock. 3 If his offering be a burnt-ſacrifice of the herd, let him offer a male without blemiſh: he ſhall offer it of his own voluntary will, at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation before the Lord. 4 And he ſhall put his hand upon the head of the burnt-offering: and it ſhall be accepted for him to make atonement for him. 5 And he ſhall kill the bullock before the Lord: and the prieſts Aarons ſons ſhall bring the blood, and ſprinkle the blood round about upon the altar, that is by the door of the tabernacle of the congregation. 6 And he ſhall flay the burnt-offering, and cut it into his pieces. 7 And the ſons of Aaron the prieſt ſhall put fire upon the altar, and lay the wood in order upon the fire. 8 And the prieſts Aarons ſons ſhall lay the parts, the head, and the fat in order upon the wood that is on the fire which is upon the altar. 9 But his inwards and his legs ſhall he waſh in water: and the prieſt ſhall burn all on the altar, to be a burnt-ſacrifice, an offering made by fire, of a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord. 10 And if his offering be of the flocks, namely of the ſheep, or of the goats, for a burnt-ſacrifice; he ſhall bring it a male without blemiſh. 11 And he ſhall kill it on the ſide of the altar north-ward before the Lord: and the prieſts Aarons ſons ſhall ſprinkle his blood round about upon the altar. 12 And he ſhall cut it into his pieces, with his head and his fat: and the prieſt ſhall lay them in order on the wood that is on the fire which is upon the altar. 13 But he ſhall waſh the inwards and the legs with water: and the prieſt ſhall bring it all, and burn it upon the altar: it is a burnt-ſacrifice, an offering made by fire of a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord. 14 And if the burnt-ſacrifice for his offering to the Lord be of fowls, then he ſhall bring his offering of turtle doves, or of young pigeons. 15 And the prieſt ſhall bring it unto the altar, and wring off his head, and burn it on the altar: and the blood thereof ſhall be wrung out at the ſides of the altar. 16 And he ſhall pluck away his crop with his feathers, and caſt it beſide the altar on the eaſt-part, by the place of the aſhes. 17 And he ſhall cleave it, with the wings thereof, but ſhall not divide it aſunder: and the prieſt ſhall burn it upon the altar, upon the wood that is upon the fire: it is a burnt-ſacrifice, an offering made by fire, of a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord.

Some have made it a Queſtion, why the firſt Verſe of this Chapter, and Book, begins with the Word And, as if it was connected with Something foregoing? To this the Jewiſh Commentators, who are great Obſervers of Words, Letters, Phraſes, and ſuch like, have anſwer'd, That by the Word And beginning the Book, is intimated, that it is immediately connected with, and joined to, the latter End of Exodus; in which, as we apprehend, they are not miſtaken; for the Thread of the Narration does, indeed, paſs on from one Book to the other, as the Reader may eaſily perceive, by comparing the fortieth Chapter of Exodus with the firſt of Leviticus.

The Reſt of this Chapter wants no Explanation.

CHAP. II.

Laws concerning the Meat-offerings, which were of Flour; Leaven and Honey not to be mixed with it. All Offerings to be ſalted. Of the Firſt Fruits.

Ver. 1. AND when any will offer a meat-offering unto the Lord, his offering ſhall be of fine flour; and he ſhall pour oil upon it, and put frankincenſe thereon. 2 And he ſhall bring it to Aarons ſons the prieſts: and he ſhall take thereout his handful of the flour thereof, and of the oil thereof, with all the frankincenſe thereof; and the prieſt ſhall burn the memorial of it upon the altar, to be an offering made by fire, of a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord. 3 And the remnant of the meat-offering ſhall be Aarons and his ſons: it is a thing moſt holy of the offerings of the Lord made by fire. 4 And if thou bring an oblation of a meat-offering baken in the oven, it ſhall be unleavened cakes of fine flour mingled with oil, or unleavened wafers anointed with oil. 5 And if thy oblation be a meat-offering baken in a pan, it ſhall be of fine flour unleavened, mingled with oil. 6 Thou ſhalt part it in pieces, and pour oil thereon: it is a meat-offering. 7 And if thy oblation be a meat-offering baken in the frying-pan, it ſhall be made of fine flour with oil. 8 And thou ſhalt bring the meat-offering, that is made of theſe things, unto the Lord: and when it is preſented unto the prieſt, he ſhall bring it unto the altar. 9 And the prieſt ſhall take from the meat-offering a memorial thereof, and ſhall burn it upon the altar: it is an offering made by fire of a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord. 10 And that which is left of the meat-offering, ſhall be Aarons and his ſons: it is a thing moſt holy, of the offerings of the Lord made by fire. 11 No meat-offering, which ye ſhall bring unto the Lord, ſhall be made with leaven: for ye ſhall burn no leaven, nor any honey, in any offering of the Lord made by fire. 12 As for the oblation of the firſt fruits, ye ſhall offer them unto the Lord: but they ſhall not be burnt on the altar for a ſweet ſavour. 13 And every oblation of thy meat-offering ſhalt thou ſeaſon with ſalt; neither ſhalt thou ſuffer the ſalt of the covenant of thy God to be lacking from thy meat-offering: with all thine offerings thou ſhalt offer ſalt. 14 And if thou offer a meat-offering of thy firſt-fruits unto the Lord, thou ſhalt offer for the meat-offering of thy firſt-fruits, green ears of corn dried by the fire, even corn beaten out of full ears. 15 And thou ſhalt put oil upon it, and lay frankincenſe thereon: it is a meat-offering. 16 And the prieſt ſhall burn the memorial of it, part of the beaten corn thereof, and part of the oil thereof, with all the frankincenſe thereof: it is an offering made by fire unto the Lord.

No Meat-offering which ye ſhall bring unto the Lord, ſhall be made with Leaven] By which is ſignified, that all Leaven of Malice, Hypocriſy, and Pride, in all the ſpiritual Offerings, or good Works of the Faithful, Luke xii. 1. ſhall be laid aſide.

For ye ſhall burn no Leaven, nor any Honey, in any Offering of the Lord made by Fire] The Reaſon why Honey is forbidden, is, becauſe, notwithſtanding the Sweetneſs of it, it hath that Quality, that it will make the Dough, or Paſte it is mixed with, ſour, to riſe, and become puffy. Or, it may be, God would intimate, that the Sweets and Pleaſures of the Fleſh, ſpoil the Study of good Works.

And every Oblation of thy Meat-offering, ſhalt thou ſeaſon with Salt] Salt is a Sign of Confirmation of the Covenant with God; a Phraſe taken from the common Saying, that familiar Friends uſe the ſame Salt, that is, feed at one Table. Salt was likewiſe antiently a Sign or Token of Friendſhip; alſo of an Inferior's Duty whereby he was bound to his Superior, whence comes the Word Salary, or Wages, Ezra iv. 14. Now becauſe we have Maintenance from the King's Palace; or as it is in the Margin, we are ſalted with the Salt of the Palace. Salt was likewiſe to remind us to lead an uncorrupt and uncorrupt Life. Mark iv. 19.

CHAP. III.

Laws to regulate the Manner of offering the Peace-offerings of Bullocks, Sheep, and Goats. Eating of Fat and Blood expreſly forbidden, as the Statute made perpetual.

Ver. 1. AND if his oblation be a ſacrifice of peace-offering, if he offer it of the herd, whether it be a male or female; he ſhall offer it without blemiſh before the Lord. 2 And he ſhall lay his hand upon the head of his offering, and kill it at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation: and Aarons ſons the prieſts ſhall ſprinkle the blood upon the altar round about. 3 And he ſhall offer of the ſacrifice of the peace-offering, an offering made by fire unto the Lord; the fat that covereth the inwards, and all the fat that is upon the inwards. 4 And the two kidneys, and the fat that is on them, which is by the flanks, and the caul above the liver, with the kidneys, it ſhall he take away. 5 And Aarons ſons ſhall burn it on the altar upon the burnt ſacrifice, which is upon the wood that is on the fire: it is an offering made by fire of a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord. 6 And if his offering for a ſacrifice of peace-offering unto the Lord be of the flock, male or female; he ſhall offer it without blemiſh. 7 If he offer a lamb for his offering, then ſhall he offer it before the Lord. 8 And he ſhall lay his hand upon the head of his offering, and kill it before the tabernacle of the congregation: and Aarons ſons ſhall ſprinkle the blood thereof round about upon the altar. 9 And he ſhall offer of the ſacrifice of the peace-offering, an offering made by fire unto the Lord: the fat thereof and the whole rump, it ſhall he take off hard by the back-bone: and the fat that covereth the inwards, and all the fat that is upon the inwards. 10 And the two kidneys, and the fat that is upon them, which is by the flanks, and the caul above the liver, with the kidneys, it ſhall he take away. 11 And the prieſt ſhall burn it upon the altar: it is the food of the offering made by fire unto the Lord. 12 And if his offering be a goat, then he ſhall offer it before the Lord. 13 And he ſhall lay his hand upon the head of it, and kill it before the tabernacle of the congregation: and the ſons of Aaron ſhall ſprinkle the blood thereof upon the altar round about. 14 And he ſhall offer thereof his offering, even an offering made by fire unto the Lord; the fat that covereth the inwards, and all the fat that is upon the inwards. 15 And the two kidneys, and the fat that is upon them, which is by the flanks, and the caul above the liver, with the kidneys, it ſhall he take away. 16 And the prieſt ſhall burn them upon the altar: it is the food of the offering made by fire, for a ſweet ſavour. All the fat is the Lords. 17 It ſhall be a perpetual ſtatute for your generations throughout all your dwellings, that ye eat neither fat nor blood.

And if his Oblation be a Sacrifice of Peace-offering] The Word in the Hebrew for Peace-offering, ſignifies Welfare, Proſperity, or Requital; implying ſuch Sacrifice whereby Men requite God with Thankſgiving for all the Welfare and Proſperity, Peace and Bleſſings he beſtows upon them; in which Regard it might likewiſe be termed a Requite-offering.

The Difference between the Peace-offering and the Burnt-offering is this: The Burnt-offering might conſiſt of Doves or Pigeons, where the Circumſtances of the Offerer were narrow; but Peace-offerings were only to be made Bullocks, Sheep, or Goats; the Burnt-offering was to be a Male, the Peace-offering either Male or Female, ſo it was without Blemiſh; of the Burnt-offering the Prieſts had nothing but the Skins, whereas the Peace-offerings were divided into three Parts, namely, one, which was burnt on the Altar, conſiſting of the Fat covering the Inwards, and the Rumps of Sheep or Lambs; another belonged to the Prieſt, namely, the Shoulder and Breaſt; of the Remainder, the Offerer and his Friends made a Feaſt, and rejoiced together.

It is the Food of the Offering] To ſhew that God took Delight therein, and required them as his Part of the Sacrifices.

CHAP. IV.

Of Sacrifices for the Sins of Ignorance, committed either by the High-prieſt, the whole Congregation, by a Prince or Ruler, or by a private and ordinary Man.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, if a ſoul ſhall ſin through ignorance againſt any of the commandments of the Lord (concerning things which ought not to be done) and ſhall do againſt any of them: 3 If the prieſt that is anointed, do ſin according to the ſin of the people: then let him bring for his ſin which he hath ſinned, a young bullock without blemiſh, unto the Lord for a ſin-offering. 4 And he ſhall bring the bullock unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation before the Lord; and ſhall lay his hand upon the bullocks head, and kill the bullock before the Lord. 5 And the prieſt that is anointed, ſhall take of the bullocks blood, and bring it to the tabernacle of the congregation. 6 And the prieſt ſhall dip his finger in the blood, and ſprinkle of the blood ſeven times before the Lord, before the vail of the ſanctuary. 7 And the prieſt ſhall put ſome of the blood upon the horns of the altar of ſweet incenſe before the Lord, which is in the tabernacle of the congregation; and ſhall pour all the blood of the bullock at the bottom of the altar of the burnt-offering, which is at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation. 8 And he ſhall take off from it all the fat of the bullock for the ſin-offering; the fat that covereth the inwards, and all the fat that is upon the inwards. 9 And the two kidneys, and the fat that is upon them, which is by the flanks, and the caul above the liver, with the kidneys, it ſhall he take away. 10 As it was taken off from the bullock of the ſacrifice of peace-offerings: and the prieſt ſhall burn them upon the altar of the burnt-offering. 11 And the ſkin of the bullock, and all his fleſh, with his head, and with his legs, and his inwards, and his dung, 12 Even the whole bullock ſhall he carry forth without the camp, unto a clean place, where the aſhes are poured out, and burn him on the wood with fire: where the aſhes are poured out, ſhall he be burnt. 13 And if the whole congregation of Iſrael ſin through ignorance, and the thing be hid from the eyes of the aſſembly, and they have done ſomewhat againſt any of the commandments of the Lord, concerning things which ſhould not be done, and are guilty: 14 When the ſin which they have ſinned againſt it, is known, then the congregation ſhall offer a young bullock for the ſin, and bring him before the tabernacle of the congregation. 15 And the elders of the congregation ſhall lay their hands upon the head of the bullock before the Lord: and the bullock ſhall be killed before the Lord. 16 And the prieſt that is anointed, ſhall bring of the bullocks blood blood to the tabernacle of the congregation. 17 And the prieſt ſhall dip his finger in ſome of the blood, and ſprinkle it ſeven times before the Lord, even before the vail. 18 And he ſhall put ſome of the blood upon the horns of the altar, which is before the Lord, that is in the tabernacle of the congregation, and ſhall pour out all the blood at the bottom of the altar of the burnt-offering, which is at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation. 19 And he ſhall take all his fat from him, and burn it upon the altar. 20 And he ſhall do with the bullock as he did with the bullock for a ſin offering, ſo ſhall he do with this: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for them, and it ſhall be forgiven them. 21 And he ſhall carry forth the bullock without the camp, and burn him as he burned the firſt bullock: it is a ſin-offering for the congregation. 22 When a ruler hath ſinned, and done ſomewhat through ignorance againſt any of the commandments of the Lord his God, concerning things which ſhould not be done, and is guilty; 23 Or if his ſin, wherein he hath ſinned, come to his knowledge: he ſhall bring his offering, a kid of the goats, a male without blemiſh. 24 And he ſhall lay his hand upon the head of the goat, and kill it in the place where they kill the burnt-offering before the Lord: it is a ſin-offering. 25 And the prieſt ſhall take of the blood of the ſin-offering with his finger, and put it upon the horns of the altar of burnt-offering, and ſhall pour out his blood at the bottom of the altar of burnt-offering. 26 And he ſhall burn all his fat upon the altar, as the fat of the ſacrifice of peace-offerings: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him as concerning his ſin, and it ſhall be forgiven him. 27 And if any one of the common people ſin through ignorance, while he doth ſomewhat againſt any of the commandments of the Lord, concerning things which ought not to be done, and be guilty; 28 Or if his ſin, which he hath ſinned, come to his knowledge: then he ſhall bring his offering, a kid of the goat, a female without blemiſh, for his ſin which he hath ſinned. 29 And he ſhall lay his hand upon the head of the ſin-offering, and ſlay the ſin offering in the place of the burnt-offering. 30 And the prieſt ſhall take of the blood thereof with his finger, and put it upon the horns of the altar of burnt-offering, and ſhall pour out all the blood thereof at the bottom of the altar. 31 And he ſhall take away all the fat thereof, as the fat is taken away from off the ſacrifice of peace-offerings; and the prieſt ſhall burn it upon the altar, for a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him, and it ſhall be forgiven him. 32 And if he bring a lamb for a ſin-offering, he ſhall bring it a female without blemiſh. 33 And he ſhall lay his hand upon the head of the ſin-offering, and ſlay it for a ſin-offering, in the place where they kill the burnt-offering. 34 And the prieſt ſhall take of the blood of the ſin-offering with his finger, and put it upon the horns of the altar of burnt-offering, and ſhall pour out all the blood thereof at the bottom of the altar. 35 And he ſhall take away all the fat thereof, as the fat of the lamb is taken away from the ſacrifice of the peace-offerings: and the prieſt ſhall burn them upon the altar, according to the offerings made by fire unto the Lord: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for his ſin that he hath committed, and it ſhall be forgiven him.

If a Soul ſhall ſin through Ignorance] The Intent of an Offering for a Sin of Ignorance, was to make Atonement for ſome particular Sin, inadvertently committed, or ignorantly ſuppoſed to be no Sin, or falling into any Sin through Unadviſedneſs, unwarily, in Haſte, or Paſſion, not being ſenſible of the Sinfulneſs of it, till after the Treſpaſs committed; ſuch a Tranſgreſſor was to offer the Sacrifices here preſcribed.

And ſhall lay his Hand upon the Bullock's Head] This was a very proper Ceremony to put him in Mind, that he deſerved the Death that the Creature was a-going to ſuffer; and, at the ſame Time, to ſupport the Spirits of the Penitents, God, who had commanded ſuch a Service, promiſed he would moſt certainly accept of it for the Pardon of their Sins, until a more perfect Satisfaction ſhould be made.

From the Manner of Atonement made by theſe Sacrifices, may be inferr'd, that the Mercy and Goodneſs of God are exceeding great. Man by Sin had merited Death; God promiſed him, in his own Time, a Redeemer to ſatisfy his Juſtice; till that Redeemer ſhould come, he was pleaſed to accept of the Life of an Animal.

CHAP. V.

The different Kinds of Offering for the Sins of concealing of Swearing; touching unwarily any unclean Thing; vain Swearing; Treſpaſſes in holy Things.

Ver. 1. AND if a ſoul ſin, and hear the voice of ſwearing, and is a witneſs, whether he hath ſeen or known of it; if he do not utter it, then he ſhall bear his iniquity. 2 Or if a ſoul touch any unclean thing, whether it be a carcaſe of an unclean beaſt, or a carcaſe of unclean cattle, or the carcaſe of unclean creeping things, and if it be hidden from him; he alſo ſhall be unclean, and guilty. 3 Or if he touch the uncleanneſs of man, whatſoever uncleanneſs it be that a man ſhall be defiled withall, and it be hid from him; when he knoweth of it, then he ſhall be guilty. 4 Or if a ſoul ſwear, pronouncing with his lips to do evil, or to do good, whatſoever it be that a man ſhall pronounce with an oath, and it be hid from him; when he knoweth of it, then he ſhall be guilty in one of theſe. 5 And it ſhall be, when he ſhall be guilty in one of theſe things, that he ſhall confeſs that he hath ſinned in that thing. 6 And he ſhall bring his treſpaſs-offering unto the Lord for his ſin which he hath ſinned, a female from the flock, a lamb or a kid of the goats, for a ſin-offering: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him concerning his ſin. 7 And if he be not able to bring a lamb, then he ſhall bring for his treſpaſs which he hath committed, two turtle-doves or two young pigeons, unto the Lord; one for a ſin-offering, and the other for a burnt-offering. 8 And he ſhall bring them unto the prieſt, who ſhall offer that which is for the ſin-offering firſt, and wring off his head from his neck, but ſhall not divide it aſunder. 9 And he ſhall ſprinkle of the blood of the ſin-offering upon the ſide of the altar; and the reſt of the blood ſhall be wrung out at the bottom of the altar: it is a ſin-offering. 10 And he ſhall offer the ſecond for a burnt offering, according to the manner: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for for him, for his ſin which he had ſinned, and it ſhall be forgiven him. 11 But if he be not able to bring two turtle-doves, or two young pigeons; then he that ſinned, ſhall bring for his offering the tenth part of an ephah of fine flour for a ſin-offering: he ſhall put no oyl upon it, neither ſhall he put any frankincenſe thereon: for it is a ſin-offering. 12 Then ſhall he bring it to the prieſt, and the prieſt ſhall take his handful of it, even a memorial thereof, and burn it on the altar, according to the offerings made by fire unto the Lord: it is a ſin-offering. 13 And the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him, as touching his ſin that he hath ſinned in one of theſe, and it ſhall be forgiven him: and the remnant ſhall be the prieſts, as a meat-offering. 14 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 15 If a ſoul commit a treſpaſs, and ſin through ignorance, in the holy things of the Lord; then he ſhall bring for his treſpaſs unto the Lord, a ram without blemiſh out of the flocks, with thy eſtimation by ſhekels of ſilver, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, for a treſpaſs-offering. 16 And he ſhall make amends for the harm that he hath done in the holy thing, and ſhall add the fifth part thereto, and give it unto the prieſt: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him with the ram of the treſpaſs-offering, and it ſhall be forgiven him. 17 And if a ſoul ſin, and commit any of theſe things which are forbidden to be done by the commandments of the Lord; though he wiſt it not, yet is he guilty, and ſhall bear his iniquity. 18 And he ſhall bring a ram without blemiſh out of the flock, with thy eſtimation, for a treſpaſs-offering, unto the prieſt: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him concerning his ignorance wherein he erred and wiſt it not; and it ſhall be forgiven him. 19 It is a treſpaſs-offering: he hath certainly treſpaſſed againſt the Lord.

Shall bring for his Offering the tenth Part of an Ephah of fine Flour; he ſhall put no Oil upon it, neither ſhall he put any Frankincenſe thereon] The Reaſon of this Prohibition is declared Numb. v. 15. becauſe this Offering cauſed a Remembrance of Iniquity, before the Lord; and not the Sweetneſs and Pleaſantneſs of voluntary Service.

CHAP. VI.

Laws concerning thoſe who purloined any Thing from their Neighbours. The Law of the Burnt-offering. The Offering at the Conſecration of a Prieſt; and ſeveral other Offerings.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 2 If a ſoul ſin, and commit treſpaſs againſt the Lord, and lie unto his neighbour in that which was delivered him to keep, or in fellowſhip, or in a thing taken away by violence, or hath deceived his neighbour; 3 Or have found that which was loſt, and lieth concerning it, and ſweareth falſly; in any of all theſe that a man doeth, ſinning therein: 4 Then it ſhall be, becauſe he hath ſinned and is guilty, that he ſhall reſtore that which he took violently away, or the thing which he hath deceitfully gotten, or that which was delivered him to keep, or the loſt thing which he found, 5 Or all that about which he hath ſworn falſly; he ſhall even reſtore it in the principal, and ſhall add the fifth part more thereto, and give it unto him to whom it appertaineth, in the day of his treſpaſs-offering. 6 And he ſhall bring his treſpaſs-offering unto the Lord, a ram without blemiſh out of the flock, with thy eſtimation, for a treſpaſs-offering, unto the prieſt. 7 And the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him, before the Lord: and it ſhall be forgiven him, for any thing of all that he hath done, in treſpaſſing therein. 8 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 9 Command Aaron and his ſons, ſaying, This is the law of the burnt-offering: (It is the burnt-offering, becauſe of the burning upon the altar all night unto the morning, and the fire of the altar ſhall be burning in it) 10 And the prieſt ſhall put on his linen garment, and his linen breeches ſhall he put upon his fleſh, and take up the aſhes which the fire hath conſumed with the burnt-offering on the altar, and he ſhall put them beſides the altar. 11 And he ſhall put off his garments, and put on other garments, and carry forth the aſhes without the camp, unto a clean place. 12 And the fire upon the altar ſhall be burning in it, it ſhall not be put out: and the prieſt ſhall burn wood on it every morning, and lay the burnt-offering in order upon it, and he ſhall burn thereon the fat of the peace-offerings. 13 The fire ſhall ever be burning upon the altar: it ſhall never go out. 14 And this is the law of the meat offering: the ſons of Aaron ſhall offer it before the Lord, before the altar. 15 And he ſhall take of it his handful, of the flour of the meat-offering, and of the oil thereof, and all the frankincenſe which is upon the meat-offering, and ſhall burn it upon the altar, for a ſweet ſavour, even the memorial of it unto the Lord. 16 And the remainder thereof ſhall Aaron and his ſons eat: with unleavened bread ſhall it be eaten in the holy place: in the court of the tabernacle of the congregation they ſhall eat it. 17 It ſhall not be baken with leaven: I have given it unto them for their portion of my offerings made by fire: it is moſt holy, as is the ſin-offering, and as the treſpaſs-offering. 18 All the males among the children of Aaron ſhall eat of it: it ſhall be a ſtatute for ever in your generations concerning the offerings of the Lord made by fire: Every one that toucheth them ſhall be holy. 19 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 20 This is the offering of Aaron, and of his ſons, which they ſhall offer unto the Lord, in the day when he is anointed; the tenth part of an ephah of fine flour for a meat-offering perpetual, half of it in the morning, and half thereof at night. 21 In a pan it ſhall be made with oil, and when it is baken, thou ſhalt bring it in: and the baken pieces of the meat-offering ſhalt thou offer for a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord. 22 And the prieſt of his ſons that is anointed in his ſtead, ſhall offer it: It is a ſtatute for ever unto the Lord, it ſhall be wholly burnt. 23 For every meat-offering for the prieſt ſhall be wholly burnt: it ſhall not be eaten. 24 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 25 Speak unto Aaron and to his ſons, ſaying, This is the law of the ſin-offering: In the place where the burnt-offering is killed, ſhall the ſin-offering be killed before the Lord: it is moſt holy. 26 The prieſt that offereth it for ſin, ſhall eat it: in the holy place ſhall it be eaten, in the court of the tabernacle of the congregation. 27 Whatſoever ſhall touch the fleſh thereof ſhall be holy: and when there is ſprinkled of the blood thereof upon any garment, thou ſhalt waſh that whereon it was ſprinkled, in the holy place. 28 But the earthen veſſel wherein it is ſodden, ſhall be broken: and if it be ſodden in a braſen pot, it ſhall be both ſcoured, and rinſed in water. 29 All the males among the prieſts ſhall eat thereof: it is moſt holy. 30 And no ſin-offering whereof any of the blood is brought into the tabernacle of the congregation to reconcile withal in the holy place ſhall be eaten: it ſhall be burnt in the fire.

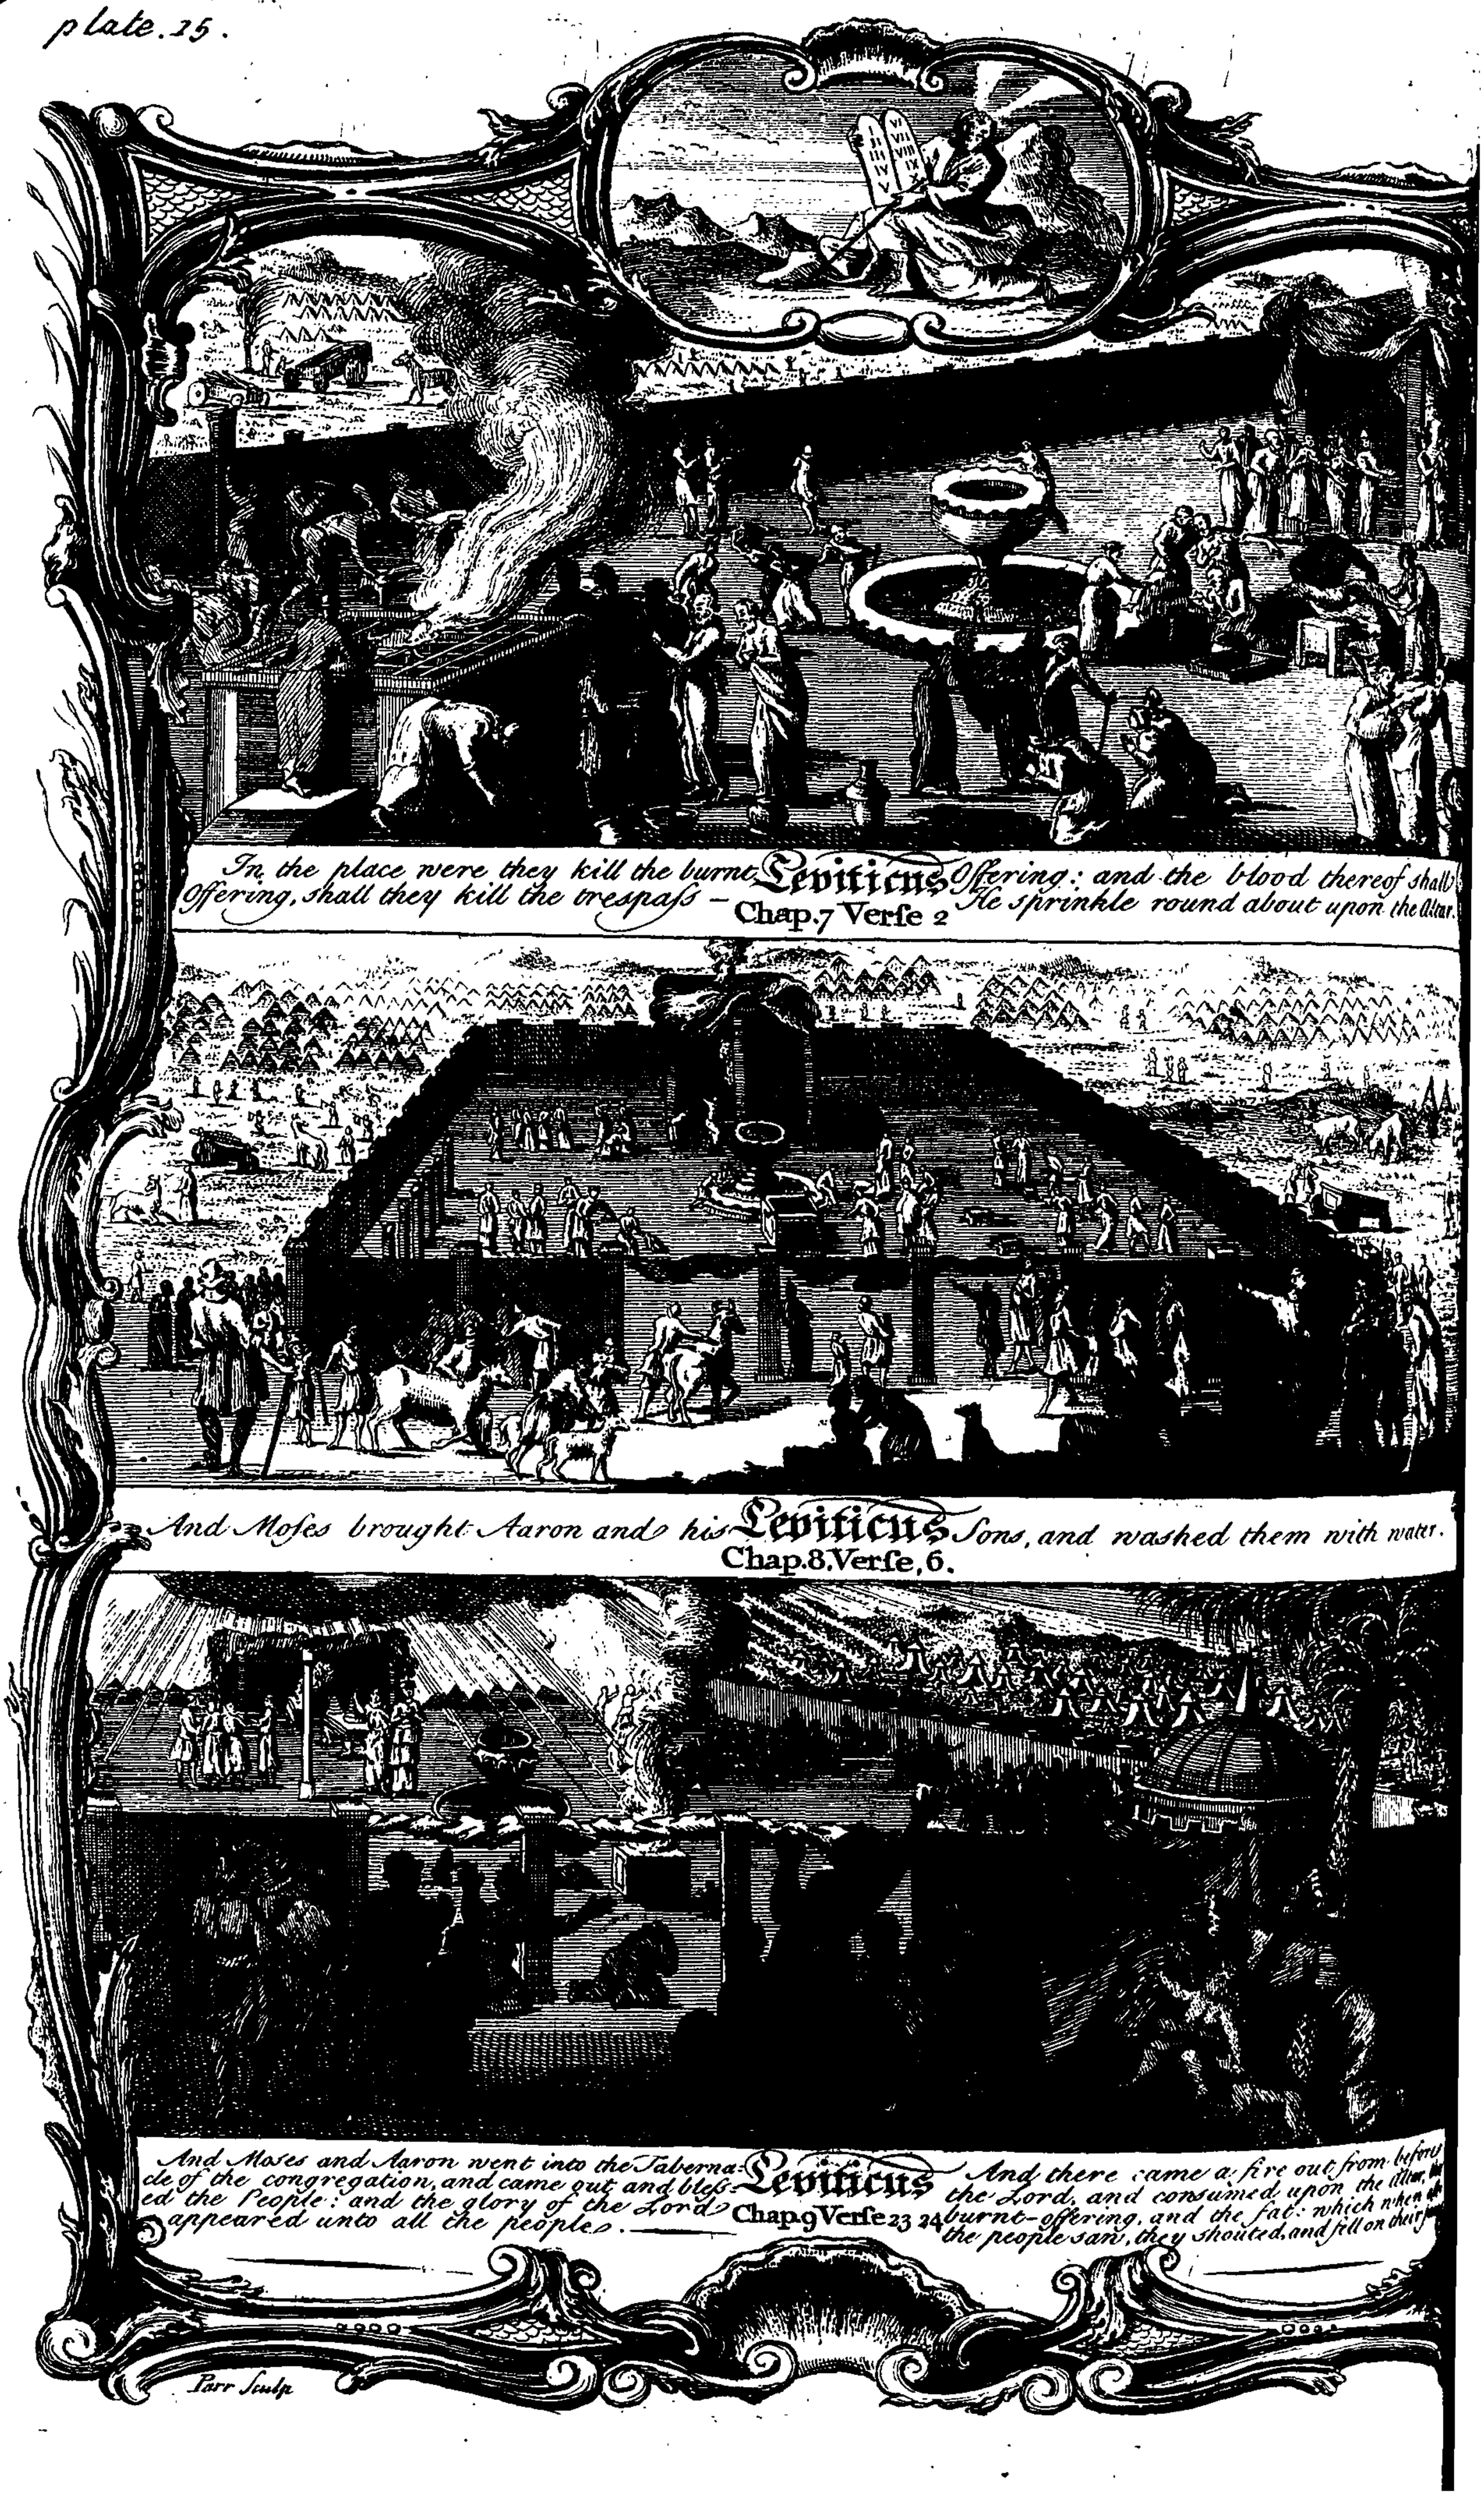
The ſeven firſt Verſes of this Chapter, are, by ſome, made to cohere with the preceding Chapter, according to the Partition in the Hebrew Text, and that not without Reaſon, ſince they treat of the Treſpaſs-offering.

Here we have ſeveral Injunctions in relation to our ſinning againſt our Neighbour; which may furniſh us with ſuch Reflections as theſe: That the Majeſty of God is violated by our treſpaſſing againſt our Neighbour, not only becauſe Man is his Creature, and belongs to him; but alſo, that God hath commanded us to love our Neighbour, and not to do him Hurt; beſides, the Name of the Lord is often abuſed in and about the Treſpaſſes which are committed againſt our Neighbour. In theſe Caſes the Offender was obliged to offer a Sacrifice for his Guilt, for his Expiation, and to make an Atonement with God, and alſo to make Satisfaction to his Neighbour.



In the Court of the Tabernacle of the Congregation they ſhall eat it] This Law was grounded on three Reaſons. 1. That the Things once hallowed might not be ſlighted through common Uſe. 2. That the ſame might not be abuſed afterwards by or among the People, for Pride, Shew, Gluttony, or any otherwiſe. 3. That the Prieſts who miniſter'd at the Altar, might live by the Altar, 1 Cor. ix. 13.

CHAP. VII.

The Law of the Treſpaſs offering; Thank-offering; Praiſe-Offering; Free-will Offering. The Fat and Blood forbid to be eaten. The Prieſts Portion in the Peace-offering.

Ver. 1. LIkewiſe this is the law of the treſpaſs-offering: it is moſt holy. 2 In the place where they kill the burnt-offering, ſhall they kill the treſpaſs-offering: and the blood thereof ſhall he ſprinkle round about upon the altar. 3 And he ſhall offer of it all the fat thereof; the rump and the fat that covereth the inwards. 4 And the two kidneys and the fat that is on them, which is by the flank, and the caul that is above the liver, with the kidneys, it ſhall he take away. 5 And the prieſt ſhall burn them upon the altar, for an offering made by fire unto the Lord: it is a treſpaſs-offering. 6 Every male among the prieſts ſhall eat thereof: it ſhall be eaten in the holy place: it is moſt holy. 7 As the ſin-offering is, ſo is the treſpaſs-offering: there is one law for them: the prieſt that maketh atonement therewith, ſhall have it. 8 And the prieſt that offereth any mans burnt-offering, even the prieſt ſhall have to himſelf the ſkin of the burnt-offering which he hath offered. 9 And all the meat-offering that is baken in the oven, and all that is dreſſed in the frying-pan, and in the pan, ſhall be the prieſts that offereth it. 10 And every meat-offering mingled with oil, and dry, ſhall all the ſons of Aaron have, one as much as another. 11 And this is the law of the ſacrifice of peace-offerings which he ſhall offer unto the Lord. 12 If he offer it for a thankſgiving, then he ſhall offer with the ſacrifice of thankſgiving, unleavened cakes mingled with oyl, and unleavened wafers anointe with oyl, and cakes mingled with oyl, of fine flour fried. 13 Beſides the cakes, he ſhall offer for his offering, leavened bread, with the ſacrifice of thankſgiving, of his peace-offerings. 14 And of it he ſhall offer one out of the whole oblation, for an heave-offering unto the Lord, and it ſhall be the prieſts that ſprinkleth the blood of the peace-offerings. 15 And the fleſh of the ſacrifice of his peace-offerings for thankſgiving, ſhall be eaten the ſame day that it is offered: he ſhall not leave any of it until the morning. 16 But if the ſacrifice of his offering be a vow or a voluntary offering, it ſhall be eaten the ſame day that he offereth his ſacrifice: and on the morrow alſo the remainder of it ſhall be eaten, 17 But the remainder of the fleſh of the ſacrifice on the third day, ſhall be burnt with fire. 18 And if any of the fleſh of the ſacrifice of his peace-offering be eaten at all on the third day, it ſhall not be accepted, neither ſhall it be imputed unto him that offereth it: it ſhall be an abomination, and the ſoul that eateth of it, ſhall bear his iniquity. 19 And the fleſh that toucheth any unclean things, ſhall not be eaten, it ſhall be burnt with fire: and as for the fleſh, all that be clean ſhall eat thereof. 20 But the ſoul that eateth of the fleſh of the ſacrifice of peace-offerings that pertain unto the Lord, having his uncleanneſs upon him, even that ſoul ſhall be cut off from his people. 21 Moreover, the ſoul that ſhall touch any unclean thing, as the uncleanneſs of man, or any unclean beaſt, or any abominable unclean thing, and eat of the fleſh of the ſacrifice of peace-offerings which pertain unto the Lord, even that ſoul ſhall be cut off from his people. 22 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes ſaying, 23 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, ye ſhall eat no manner fat, of ox, or of ſheep, or of goat. 24 And the fat of the beaſt that dieth of it ſelf, and the fat of that which is torn with beaſts, may be uſed in any other uſe: but ye ſhall in no wiſe eat of it. 25 For whoſoever eateth the fat of the beaſt of which men offer an offering made by fire unto the Lord, even the ſoul that eateth it, ſhall be cut off from his people. 26 Moreover, ye ſhall eat no manner of blood whether it be of fowl or of beaſt, in any of your dwellings. 27 Whatſoever ſoul it be that eateth any manner of blood, even that ſoul ſhall be cut off from his people. 28 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes ſaying, 29 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, He that offereth the ſacrifice of his peace-offerings unto the Lord, ſhall bring his oblation unto the Lord of the ſacrifice of his peace-offerings. 30 His own hand ſhall bring the offerings of the Lord made by fire, the fat with the breaſt, it ſhall he bring, that the breaſt may be waved for a wave-offering before the Lord. 31 And the prieſt ſhall burn the fat upon the altar: but the breaſt ſhall be Aarons and his ſons. 32 And the right ſhoulder ſhall ye give unto the prieſt for an heave-offering of the ſacrifices of your peace-offerings. 33 He among the ſons of Aaron, that offereth the blood of the peace-offerings, and the fat, ſhall have the right ſhoulder for his part. 34 For the wave breaſt, and the heave-ſhoulder have I taken of the children of Iſrael, from off the ſacrifices of their peace-offerings, and have given them unto Aaron the prieſt, and unto his ſons, by a ſtatute for ever from among the children of Iſrael. 35 This is the portion of the anointing of Aaron, and of the anointing of his ſons, out of the offerings of the Lord, made by fire, in the day when he preſented them, to miniſter unto the Lord in the prieſts office: 36 Which the Lord commanded to be given them of the children of Iſrael, in the day that he anointed them, by a ſtatute for ever, throughout their generations. 37 This is the law of the burnt-offering, of the meat-offering, and of the ſin-offering, and of the treſpaſs-offering, and of the conſecrations, and of the ſacrifice of the peace-offerings: 38 Which the Lord commanded Moſes in mount Sinai, in the day that he commanded the children of Iſrael to offer their oblations unto the Lord in the wilderneſs of Sinai.

Beſides the Cakes, he ſhall offer for his Offering, leavened Bread, with the Sacrifice of Thankſgiving of the Peace-offerings] Leaven, it has been obſerved, was only permitted in Thank-offerings; becauſe, that in thoſe Offerings, the Offerer was not queſtioned about the Purity and Sincerity required in him; but was only to acknowledge God's Benefits, among which that of convenient feeding a Man's Body with Leavened Bread was to be numbered.

Here are ſeveral Sorts of Sacrifices mentioned which were not for Expiation of Sin, but for a Kind of Homage to God, and an Acknowledgment for Benefits received at his Hands; and of theſe there were three Kinds. 1. Voluntary, for God's Benefits in general. 2. Of Praiſe, for ſome remarkable peculiar Favour. 3. Upon a Vow, when the Benefit was obtained after and by Means of ſome ſingular Vow made.

The Breaſt and the right Shoulder (Ver. 31, 32.) were allotted to the Prieſt; to intimate the two principal Parts of a ſacred Miniſter's Office; namely, ſignified by the Shoulder; and Diligence, Zeal, and Affection figured by the Breaſt: And therefore the High-Prieſt did, to the ſame End, wear the Names of the Tribes of Iſrael upon his Shoulders, and upon his Breaſt.

The Breaſt is called wave, and the Shoulder heave (Ver. 34.) becauſe the Breaſt was waved or moved by the Prieſts towards the four Quarters of the World, at the Time of its being offered; and the Shoulder heaved, or lifted up on high by the Prieſt in the offering it.

CHAP. VIII.

Moſes conſecrates Aaron and his Sons, cloaths them with the ſacred Garments, and anoints the Tabernacle and its Furniture, and the holy Garments. Sacrifices offered for them; other Ceremonies and Injunctions relating to them.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 2 Take Aaron and his ſons with him, and the garments, and the anointing oil, and a bullock for the ſin-offering, and two rams, and a baſket of unleavened bread. 3 And gather thou all the congregation together unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation. 4 And Moſes did as the Lord commanded him, and the aſſembly was gathered together unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation. 5 And Moſes ſaid unto the congregation, This is the thing which the Lord commanded to be done. 6 And Moſes brought Aaron and his ſons, and waſhed them with water. 7 And he put upon him the coat, and girded him with the girdle, and clothed him with the robe, and put the ephod upon him, and he girded him with the curious girdle of the ephod, and bound it unto him therewith. 8 And he put the breaſtplate upon him: alſo he put in the breaſt-plate the Urim and Thummim. 9 And he put the mitre upon his head; alſo upon the mitre, even upon his forefront did he put the golden plate, the holy crown; as the Lord commanded Moſes. 10 And Moſes took the anointing oil, and anointed the tabernacle and all that was therein, and ſanctified them. 11 And he ſprinkled thereof upon the altar ſeven times, and anointed the altar, and all his veſſels, both the laver and his foot, to ſanctify them. 12 And he poured of the anointing oil upon Aarons head, and anointed him to ſanctify him. 13 And Moſes brought Aarons ſons, and put coats upon them, and girded them with girdles, and put bonnets upon them; as the Lord commanded Moſes. 14 And he brought the bullock for the ſin-offering: and Aaron and his ſons laid their hands upon the head of the bullock for the ſin-offering. 15 And he ſlew it, and Moſes took the blood, and put it upon the horns of the altar round about with his finger, and purified the altar; and poured the blood at the bottom of the altar, and ſanctified it, to make reconciliation upon it. 16 And he took all the fat that was upon the inwards, and the caul above the liver, and the two kidneys, and their fat, and Moſes burned it upon the altar. 17 But the bullock and his hide, his fleſh and his dung, he burnt with fire without the camp; as the Lord commanded Moſes. 18 And he brought the ram for the burnt-offering: and Aaron and his ſons laid their hands upon the head of the ram. 19 And he killed it, and Moſes ſprinkled the blood upon the altar round about. 20 And he cut the ram into pieces, and Moſes burnt the head, and the pieces, and the fat. 21 And he waſhed the inwards and the legs in water; and Moſes burnt the whole ram upon the altar: it was a burnt-ſacrifice for a ſweet ſavour, and an offering made by fire unto the Lord; as the Lord commanded Moſes. 22 And he brought the other ram, the ram of conſecration: and Aaron and his ſons laid their hands upon the head of the ram. 23 And he ſlew it, and Moſes took of the blood of it, and put it upon the tip of Aarons right ear, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot. 24 And he brought Aarons ſons, and Moſes put of the blood upon the tip of their right ear, and upon the thumbs of their right hands, and upon the great toes of their right feet: and Moſes ſprinkled the blood upon the altar round about. 25 And he took the fat, and the rump, and all the fat that was upon the inwards, and the caul above the liver, and the two kidneys, and their fat, and the right ſhoulder. 26 And out of the baſket of unleavened bread, that was before the Lord, he took one unleavened cake, and a cake of oiled bread, and one wafer, and put them on the fat, and upon the right ſhoulder. 27 And he put all upon Aarons hands, and upon his ſons hands, and waved them for a wave-offering before the Lord. 28 And Moſes took them from off their hands, and burnt them on the altar, upon the burnt-offering: they were conſecrations for a ſweet ſavour: it is an offering made by fire unto the Lord. 29 And Moſes took the breaſt and waved it for a wave-offering before the Lord: for of the ram of conſecration it was Moſes part; as the Lord commanded Moſes. 30 And Moſes took of the anointing oil, and of the blood which was upon the altar, and ſprinkled it upon Aaron, and upon his garments, and upon his ſons, and upon his ſons garments with him: and ſanctified Aaron and his garments, and his ſons, and his ſons garments with him. 31 And Moſes ſaid unto Aaron, and to his ſons, Boyl the fleſh at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation: and there eat it with the bread that is in the baſket of conſecrations, as I commanded, ſaying, Aaron and his ſons ſhall eat it. 32 And that which remaineth of the fleſh and of the bread, ſhall ye burn with fire. 33 And ye ſhall not go out of the door of the tabernacle of the congregation in ſeven days, until the days of your conſecration be at an end: for ſeven days ſhall he conſecrate you. 34 As he hath done this day, ſo the Lord hath commanded to do, to make an atonement for you. 35 Therefore ſhall ye abide at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation day and night, ſeven days, and keep the charge of the Lord, that ye die not: for ſo I am commanded. 36 So Aaron and his ſons did all things which the Lord commanded by the hand of Moſes.

Every Thing in this Chapter, relating to the Conſecration of Aaron and his Sons, is ſo plain and intelligible, that there ſeems no Manner of Occaſion for an Explanation; let us therefore go on to the next.

CHAP. IX.

Aaron is charged to begin the Functions of his prieſtly Office; accordingly he offers for himſelf firſt, and then for the People. The Glory of the Lord appears, and a miraculous Fire deſcends upon the Altar, and conſumes the Burnt-offering, &c.

Ver. 1. AND it came to paſs on the eighth day, that Moſes called Aaron and his ſons, and the elders of Iſrael; 2 And he ſaid unto Aaron, Take thee a young calf for a ſin-offering, and a ram for a burnt-offering, without blemiſh, and offer them before the Lord. 3 And unto the children of Iſrael thou ſhalt ſpeak, ſaying, Take ye a kid of the goats for a ſin-offering: and a calf, and a lamb, both of the firſt year, without blemiſh, for a burnt-offering; 4 Alſo a bullock and a ram, for peace-offerings to ſacrifice before the Lord: and a meat-offering mingled with oil: for to day the Lord will appear unto you. 5 And they brought that which Moſes commanded before the tabernacle of the congregation: and all the congregation drew near and ſtood before the Lord. 6 And Moſes ſaid, This is the thing which the Lord commanded that ye ſhould do: and the glory of the Lord ſhall appear unto you. 7 And Moſes ſaid unto Aaron, Go unto the altar, and offer thy ſin-offering, and thy burnt-offering, and make an atonement for thy ſelf and for the people: and offer the offering of the people, and make an atonement for them; as the Lord commanded. 8 Aaron therefore went unto the altar, and ſlew the calf of the ſin-offering, which was for himſelf. 9 And the ſons of Aaron brought the blood unto him; and he dipt his finger in the blood, and put it upon the horns of the altar, and poured out the blood at the bottom of the altar. 10 But the fat and the kidneys, and the caul above the liver of the ſin-offering he burnt upon the altar; as the Lord commanded Moſes. 11 And the fleſh and the hide he burnt with fire, without the camp. 12 And he ſlew the burnt-offering; and Aarons ſons preſented unto him the blood, which he ſprinkled round about upon the altar. 13 And they preſented the burnt-offering unto him, with the pieces thereof, and the head: and he burnt them upon the altar. 14 And he did waſh the inwards and the legs, and burnt them upon the burnt-offering on the altar. 15 And he brought the peoples offering, and took the goat which was the ſin-offering for the people and ſlew it, and offered ir for ſin, as the firſt. 16 And he brought the burnt-offering, and offered it according to the manner. 17 And he brought the meat-offering, and took an handful thereof, and burnt it upon the altar, beſide the burnt-ſacrifice of the morning. 18 He ſlew alſo the bullock and the ram, for a ſacrifice of peace offering, which was for the people: and Aarons ſons preſented unto him the blood (which he ſprinkled upon the altar round about) 19 And the fat of the bullock, and of the ram, the rump, and that which covereth the inwards, and the kidneys, and the caul above the liver. 20 And they put the fat upon the breaſts, and he burnt the fat upon the altar: 21 And the breaſts and the right ſhoulder Aaron waved for a wave-offering before the Lord; as Moſes commanded. 22 And Aaron lift up his hand towards the people, and bleſſed them; and came down from offering of the ſin-offering, and the burnt offering and peace-offerings. 23 And Moſes and Aaron went into the tabernacle of the congregation, and came out, and bleſſed the people: and the glory of the Lord appeared unto all the people. 24 And there came a fire out from before the Lord and conſumed upon the altar the burnt-offering, and the fat: which when all the people ſaw, they ſhouted, and fell on their faces.

And there came a Fire out from before the Lord, and conſumed upon the Altar, the Burnt-offering and the Fat] The Fire, thus miraculouſly kindled, was, by the divine Command, (Levit. vi. 12, 13.) to be perpetually burning. But how could this Fire be preſerv'd, when both the Tabernacle and the Altar on which it burnt, were in Motion? (as they evidently were, when the Iſraelites journey'd in the Wilderneſs.) To which it is anſwered, that there ſeems no Reaſon, why we may not ſuppoſe, that, upon theſe Occaſions, there might be a certain portable Conſervatory of this ſacred Fire, diſtinct from the Altar: And that there was ſome ſuch Veſſel made uſe of, ſeems manifeſt from the injunction, that, at ſuch Times, the Aſhes ſhould be removed off the Altar, and a purple Cloth ſpread over it, Numb. iv. 8. CHAP. X.

Nadab and Abihu, for offering ſtrange Fire, are burnt by Fire. Aaron and his Sons are forbid to mourn for them, as alſo to drink Wine or ſtrong Drink, when they went into the Tabernacle of the Congregation. The Law about eating the holy holy Things; Aaron's Excuſe for tranſgreſſing it.

Ver. 1. AND Nadab and Abihu, the ſons of Aaron, took either of them his cenſer, and put fire therein, and put incenſe thereon, and offered ſtrange fire before the Lord, which he commanded them not. 2 And there went out fire from the Lord and devoured them, and they died before the Lord. 3 Then Moſes ſaid unto Aaron, This is it that the Lord ſpake, ſaying, I will be ſanctified in them that come nigh me, and before all the people I will be glorified. And Aaron held his peace. 4 And Moſes called Miſhael and Elzaphan, the ſons of Uzziel the uncle of Aaron, and ſaid unto them, Come near, carry your brethren from before the ſanctuary out of the camp. 5 So they went near, and carried them in their coats out of the camp; as Moſes had ſaid. 6 And Moſes ſaid unto Aaron, and unto Eleazar, and unto Ithamar his ſons, Uncover not your heads, neither rend your clothes; leſt you die, and leſt wrath come upon all the people: but let your brethren, the whole houſe of Iſrael, bewail the burning which the Lord hath kindled. 7 And ye ſhall not go out from the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, leſt you die: for the anointing oil of the Lord is upon you. And they did according to the word of Moſes. 8 And the Lord ſpake unto Aaron, ſaying, 9 Do not drink wine nor ſtrong drink, thou, nor thy ſons with thee, when ye go into the tabernacle of the congregation; leſt ye die: It ſhall be a ſtatute for ever throughout your generations: 10 And that ye may put difference between holy and unholy, and between unclean and clean: 11 And that ye may teach the children of Iſrael all the ſtatutes which the Lord hath ſpoken unto them by the hand of Moſes. 12 And Moſes ſpake unto Aaron, and unto Eleazar, and unto Ithamar his ſons that were left, Take the meat-offering that remaineth of the offerings of the Lord made by fire, and eat it without leaven beſide the altar: for it is moſt holy. 13 And ye ſhall eat it in the holy place, becauſe it is thy due and thy ſons due of the ſacrifices of the Lord made by fire: for ſo I am commanded. 14 And the wave-breaſt and heave-ſhoulder ſhall ye eat in a clean place; thou, and thy ſons, and thy daughters with thee; for they be thy due, and thy ſons due, which are given out of the ſacrifices of peace-offerings of the children of Iſrael. 15 The heave-ſhoulder, and the wave-breaſt ſhall they bring, with the offerings made by fire of the fat, to wave it for a wave-offering before the Lord, and it ſhall be thine, and thy ſons with thee, by a ſtatute for ever; as the Lord had commanded. 16 And Moſes diligently ſought the goat of the ſin-offering, and behold, it was burnt: and he was angry with Eleazar and Ithamar, the ſons of Aaron, which were left alive, ſaying, 17 Wherefore have ye not eaten the ſin-offering in the holy place, ſeeing it is moſt holy, and God hath given it you to bear the iniquity of the congregation, to make atonement for them before the Lord? 18 Behold, the blood of it was not brought in, within the holy place: ye ſhould indeed have eaten it in the holy place, as I commanded. 19 And Aaron ſaid unto Moſes, Behold, this day have they offered their ſin-offering, and their burnt-offering before the Lord; and ſuch things have befallen me: And if I had eaten the ſin-offering to day, ſhould it have been accepted in the ſight of the Lord? 20 And when Moſes heard that, he was content.

And Nadab and Abihu, the Sons of Aaron — offered ſtrange Fire before the Lord, which he commanded them not] What the Sin of offering ſtrange Fire before the Lord was, and upon what Account it raiſed the divine Indignation againſt Nadab and Abihu, the two Sons of Aaron, will beſt appear, ſays Stackhouſe, by attending a little to the Occaſion of it. After the Conſecration of Aaron and his Sons to the prieſtly Office, we are told, that a miraculous Fire from the Lord, i. e. a Fire, which either came immediately down from Heaven, or out of the Cloud, which cover'd the Tabernacle, conſum'd the firſt Victim which Aaron offered for a Burnt-offering; that God had expreſly commanded, that the Fire, which was upon the Altar, ſhould not be ſuffer'd to go out, Levit. vi. 12. which (according to the Conſent of moſt Interpreters) ſignifies, that the ſaid miraculous Fire, which had confirm'd the Inſtallation of Aaron and his Sons after ſo ſurprizing a Manner, ſhould be kept alive, and burning with the utmoſt Care; and that, as, at this very Time Aaron was required to light the Incenſe which he offered to God in the moſt holy Place, on the great Day of Expiation; ſo may we take it for granted, that the like Injunction was impos'd on the inferior Prieſts, with relation to the Incenſe which they were to offer every Day in the holy Place. We have indeed no Mention made of ſuch a Law, but the Hiſtory, we are commenting upon, gives us ſtrong Preſumption, that the Uſe of this Fire was only permitted; and therefore the Words in the Text, which he commanded them not, are thought to imply an expreſs Prohibition of any other.

The Crime then of Nadab and Abihu conſiſted in kindling the Incenſe, which their Office of Prieſts oblig'd them to offer every Morning and Evening, with Fire, different from that which was continually on the Altar of Burnt-offering, and conſequently, different from what God had ordered them to uſe. Other Offences indeed have been laid to their Charge. Shuckford ſuppoſes, that God, as yet, had given no Law for the offering of Incenſe in Cenſers; all that had been commanded about it, was, that Aaron ſhould burn it upon the Altar of Incenſe every Morning and every Evening, but theſe Men took upon them to begin, and introduce a Service in Religion, which was not appointed, and which, if it had been ſuffer'd, would have opened a Door to great Irregularities; and therefore, God, by an exemplary Judgment upon the firſt Offenders, put an effectual Stop to it. Some pretend, that they endeavour'd to intrude into the moſt holy Place, which was not permitted them to enter; becauſe, immediately after a Recital of the Manner of their Death, Moſes in another Place relates, that God commanded him to ſpeak unto Aaron, that he ſhould not come, at all Times, into the holy Place, within the Veil, before the Mercy-ſeat, that he died not, Levit. xvi. 2. But others inſinuate, that they were guilty of Intemperance, at the Entertainment at their Inſtallation, becauſe, after the Account of their fatal End, Moſes, by God's Order, gives this Injunction to Aaron, and the Remainder of his Sons: Do not drink Wine, nor ſtrong Drink, thou, nor thy Sons with thee, when ye go into the Tabernacle of the Congregation, leſt ye die. It ſhall be a Statute for ever through your Generations, that ye may put Difference between Holy and Unholy, between Unclean and Clean, Lev. x. 9, 10. But theſe are no more than bare Surmiſes, that have no proper Foundation in the foregoing Texts, nor is there Occaſion to hunt out for Paſſages to augment theſe Offenders Crime.

Nadab and Abihu had not only been admitted in common with the reſt of their Brethren, to the Honour of the Prieſthood, which, among the Jews was a Dignity of no ſmall Eſteem; but had particular Motives, which the others had not, to the Obſervance of all God's Commandments, as having had the Privilege of ſeeing the Symbols of the Divine Preſence, (on the formidable Mount, from whence his Laws were promulged) without being conſum'd. The higher therefore their Station was, and the more diſtinguiſhing the Favours they had receiv'd, the more provoking was their Affront, in attempting to adulterate an Ordinance of God's Inſtitution. Common Fire, they thought, might ſerve the Purpoſe of burning Incenſe, as well as that which was held more ſacred: At leaſt, in the Gaiety, or rather Naughtineſs of their Hearts, they were minded to make the Experiment, even in Oppoſition to the Divine Command; and therefore it was juſt and requiſite in God, ſays Le Clerc, (eſpecially in the Beginning of the Prieſthood, and when one Alteration of a divine Precept might, in Proceſs of Time, be productive of any more) to inflict an exemplary Puniſhment, that others might hear and fear, and not commit the like Abomination.

And for this Reaſon, viz. the Injection of Terror into others, Aaron is commanded to make no Lamentation or funeral Pomp for them; which, among the Jews, who, of all other Nations were ſo very ſumptuous in their Obſequies of their deceas'd Friends, was accounted a ſore Judgment. In the Caſe of Jehoiakim the King of Judah, the Commination of God is thought very terrible. They ſhall not lament for him, ſaying, ah my Brother, or ah my Siſter: They ſhall not lament for him, ſaying, ah Lord, or ah his Glory. He ſhall be buried with the Burial of an Aſs, drawn, and caſt forth beyond the Gates of Jeruſalem, Jer. xxii. 18, 19. Temporal Judgments however are not always ſure Indications of the final Condemnation of the Perſons on whom they fall, and therefore Aaron had no Occaſion utterly to deſpond: On the contrary, he might preſume, that the Juſtice of God being ſatisfied with the preſent Puniſhment of his Sons, might be appeas'd, with relation to their eternal State; and that, tho' their Fleſh was deſtroy'd, yet their Spirits might be ſaved in the Day of the Lord, 1 Cor. v. 5. He knew too, how much himſelf had offended in the Matter of the golden Calf, and might juſtly think, that God had call'd his Sin to Remembrance in the Deſtruction of his two Sons. He acknowledg'd therefore the Righteouſneſs of God, in all that he had brought upon him, and, in the Phraſe of Scripture, was dumb, and opened not his Mouth, becauſe it was the Lord's doing, Pſ. xxxix. 9.

CHAP. XI.

What Beaſts, Fiſh, Fowl, and creeping Things might, and might not be eaten.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, and to Aaron, ſaying unto them, 2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, Theſe are the beaſts which ye ſhall eat among all the beaſts that are on the earth. 3 Whatſoever parteth the hoof, and is cloven-footed, and cheweth the cud among the beaſts, that ſhall ye eat. 4 Nevertheleſs, theſe ſhall ye not eat, of them that chew the cud, or of them that divide the hoof: as the camel, becauſe he cheweth the cud, but divideth not the hoof; he is unclean unto you. 5 And the coney, becauſe he cheweth the cud, but divideth not the hoof: he is unclean unto you. 6 And the hare, becauſe he cheweth the cud, but divideth not the hoof: he is unclean unto you. 7 And the ſwine, though he divide the hoof, and be cloven-footed; yet he cheweth not the cud: he is unclean unto you. 8 Of their fleſh ſhall ye not eat, and their carcaſe ſhall ye not touch: they are unclean to you. 9 Theſe ſhall ye eat, of all that are in the waters: whatſoever hath fins and ſcales in the waters, in the ſeas, and in the rivers; them ſhall ye eat. 10 And all that have not fins nor ſcales in the ſeas, and in the rivers, of all that move in the waters, and of any living thing, which is in the waters; they ſhall be an abomination unto you. 11 They ſhall be even an abomination unto you: ye ſhall not eat of their fleſh, but you ſhall have their carcaſes in abomination. 12 Whatſoever hath no fins nor ſcales in the waters, that ſhall be an abomination unto you. 13 And theſe are they which ye ſhall have in abomination among the fowls, they ſhall not be eaten, they are an abomination: the eagle, and the oſſifrage, and the oſpray, 14 And the vulture, and the kite, after his kind: 15 Every raven after his kind: 16 And the oil, and the night-hawk, and the cuckcow, and the hawk after his kind, 17 And the little owl, and the cormorant, and the great owl, 18 And the ſwan, and the pelican, and the gier-eagle, 19 And the ſtork, the heron after her kind, and the lapwing, and the bat. 20 All fowls that creep, going upon all four, ſhall be an abomination unto you. 21 Yet theſe may ye eat of every flying creeping thing that goeth upon all four, which have legs above their feet, to leap withal upon the earth; 22 Even theſe of them ye may eat: the locuſt after his kind, and the bald-locuſt after his kind, and the beetle after his kind, and the graſs-hopper after his kind. 23 But all other flying creeping things, which have four feet, ſhall be an abomination unto you, 24 And for theſe ye ſhall be unclean: whoſoever toucheth the carcaſe of them, ſhall be unclean until the even. 25 And whoſoever beareth ought of the carcaſe of them, ſhall waſh his clothes, and be unclean until the even. 26 The carcaſes of every beaſt which divideth the hoof, and is not cloven-footed, nor cheweth the cud, are unclean unto you: every one that toucheth them, ſhall be unclean. 27 And whatſoever goeth upon his paws, among all manner of beaſts, that go on all four, thoſe are unclean unto you: whoſo toucheth their carcaſe, ſhall be unclean until the even. 28 And he that beareth the carcaſe of them ſhall waſh his clothes, and be unclean until the even: they are unclean unto you. 29 Theſe alſo ſhall be unclean unto you among the creeping things that creep upon the earth: the weaſel, and the mouſe, and the tortoiſe after his kind, 30 And the ferret, and the chameleon, and the lizard, and the ſnail, and the mole. 31 Theſe are unclean to you among all that creep: whoſoever doth touch them when they be dead, ſhall be unclean until the even. 32 And upon whatſoever any of them, when they are dead doth fall, it ſhall be unclean; whether it be any veſſel of wood, or raiment, or ſkin, or ſack, whatſoever veſſel it be, wherein any work is done, it muſt be put into water, and it ſhall be unclean until the even; ſo it ſhall be cleanſed. 33 And every earthen veſſel, whereinto any of them falleth, whatſoever is in it ſhall be unclean; and ye ſhall break it. 34 Of all meat which may be eaten, that on which ſuch water cometh, ſhall be unclean: and all drink that may be drunk in every ſuch veſſel, ſhall be unclean. 35 And every thing whereupon any part of their carcaſe falleth, ſhall be unclean; whether it be oven, or ranges for pots, they ſhall be broken down: for they are unclean, and ſhall be unclean unto you. 36 Nevertheleſs, a fountain or pit, wherein there is plenty of water, ſhall be clean: but that which toucheth their carcaſe, ſhall be unclean. 37 And if any part of their carcaſe

And there went forth a wind from the Lord, and brought quails from y^e sea, and let them fall by the camp, as it were a day's journey on this side & as it were a day's journey on y^e other side, round about y^e camp, & as it were two cubits high upon the face of the earth.

Nevertheless, the people be strong that dwell in y^e land, and y^e cities are walled, and very great: and moreover, we saw the children of Anak there.

carcaſe fall upon any ſowing-ſeed which is to be ſown; it ſhall be clean. 38 But if any water be put upon the ſeed, and any part of their carcaſe fall thereon; it ſhall be unclean unto you. 39 And if any beaſt of which ye may eat, die; he that toucheth the carcaſe thereof, ſhall be unclean until the even. 40 And he that eateth of the carcaſe of it, ſhall waſh his clothes, and be unclean until the even: he alſo that beareth the carcaſe of it, ſhall waſh his clothes, and be unclean until the even. 41 And every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth, ſhall be an abomination: it ſhall not be eaten. 42 Whatſoever goeth upon the belly, and whatſoever goeth upon all four, or whatſoever hath more feet among all creeping things that creep upon the earth; them ye ſhall not eat, for they are an abomination. 43 Ye ſhall not make your ſelves abominable with any creeping thing that creepeth, neither ſhall ye make your ſelves unclean with them, that ye ſhould be defiled thereby. 44 For I am the Lord your God: ye ſhall therefore ſanctify your ſelves, and ye ſhall be holy: for I am holy: neither ſhall ye defile your ſelves with any manner of creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth. 45 For I am the Lord that bringeth you up out of the land of Egypt, to be your God: ye ſhall therefore be holy, for I am holy. 46 This is the law of the beaſts, and of the fowl, and of every living creature that moveth in the waters, and of every creature that creepeth upon the earth: 47 To make a difference between the unclean and the clean, and between the beaſt that may be eaten, and the beaſt that may not be eaten.

Here we have a Catalogue of the Beaſts, Fiſhes and Fowls, which God either permitted, or prohibited the Iſraelites to eat. From his firſt having made Choice of them, God's Purpoſe was to diſtinguiſh them from other Nations, and more eſpecially from the Egyptians, among whom they had long liv'd, had contracted their Manners, and were too tenacious of their Cuſtoms: And therefore, ſays Stackhouſe, in Oppoſition to theſe, he enjoined them to eat ſuch Creatures, as were worſhipped in Egypt, which would be an effectual Means to render the Pretences of theſe ſham Deities contemptible; as, on the contrary, he ordered them to abſtain from thoſe that were held in the greateſt Delicacy among them. And, becauſe the Egyptians would have nothing to do with ſuch Animals as had Hoofs and Horns; the Jews were allowed to eat none, but what parted the Hoof, as well as chew'd the Cud.

It is to be obſerved farther, that in the very Make and Nature of ſome Animals, there are certain Qualities which prejudice Mankind againſt them, and ſeem, as it were, to defecrate their Uſe; that ſome, for Inſtance, are monſtrouſly big, others very ugly and deform'd; ſome come from heterogeneous Mixtures, others feed upon dead Bodies; and to others moſt Men have an in-bred Antipathy; ſo that, in the Main, what the Law forbad the Jews, in this Regard, was Nature's Averſion before: But then the Queſtion is — Why the Things which they were naturally averſe to, and would have refrained without it, were made the Matter of a divine Interdiction?

Now, if we trace the Hiſtory of theſe People, we ſhall find, that they had their Seaſons of Affliction and Scarcity, as well as of Proſperity and Plenty. At the very Time, when theſe Prohibitions were given them, they were travelling, and were to continue travelling many Years in a waſte and barren Deſart, which, being deſtitute of the Conveniencies and Neceſſaries of Life, might tempt them to make Experiment upon the Fleſh of ſome of thoſe Animals that they naturally abhorr'd; but, upon this Occaſion, as they thought, might innocently make uſe of: And therefore, to ſet a ſtronger Guard upon human Nature, God thought proper to confirm this their innate Averſion, by the Sanction and Eſtabliſhment of Laws, which were to laſt beyond the Term of their Continuance in the Wilderneſs.

But there is a farther Reaſon, ariſing from the Quality of Animals, why God might enact a Diſcrimination of Meats, and that is — to give his People therein a myſtical Syſtem of Morality. Thus the Birds, which were allow'd to be eaten, (the Pigeon, the Dove, the Partridge, for Inſtance) were either tame, or of gentle Nature, feeding on Grain, or Pulſe; whereas all the Species that liv'd on Prey, and ſuch as gorge themſelves with Fleſh and Blood, were utterly forbidden, thereby to bring into Reputation, Juſtice, and Mercy, and Moderation, and, at the ſame Time, to diſcountenance the contrary Diſpoſition to Rapine, Oppreſſion, and Cruelty. It is a noted Allegory, That in Homer, of Circe's changing Ulyſſes's Friends into Hogs. By Circe, the Poet intends we ſhould underſtand ſenſual Pleaſures; by Ulyſſes, Reaſon and Diſcretion; and by his Retinue, the inferior Faculties and Powers: And, in like Manner, the Prohibition of Swine's Fleſh was deſign'd to reſtrain the Jews from ſuch Luſts as war againſt the Spirit, as pollute and debaſe human Nature, like another Creature's wallowing in the Mire: For (as the learned Spencer obſerves) the Jewiſh Law was more remarkably ſtrict in its Prohibition of Things that were ſordid and ſlovenly; wherein it ſeems to have had an eſpecial Aim to the training and forming of a People that had liv'd uncultivated, by Reaſon of their long Slavery in Egypt, and their dirty Work in Clay and Bricks, to an Elegancy and Politeneſs of Manners, as well as a Deteſtation of all filthy and brutal Luſts, that being ſet free from Sin (as the Apoſtle expreſſes it) they might glorify God in Purity and Holineſs, both in their Bodies; and in their Spirits, which were his.

CHAP. XII.

Of the Uncleanneſs and Purification of a Woman after Child-birth; her Offerings thereupon, whether ſhe was rich or poor.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, If a woman have conceived ſeed, and borne a man-child: then ſhe ſhall be unclean ſeven days; according to the days of the ſeparation for her infirmity ſhall ſhe be unclean. 3 And in the eighth day, the fleſh of his fore-ſkin ſhall be circumciſed. 4 And ſhe ſhall then continue in the blood of her purifying three and thirty days: ſhe ſhall touch no hallowed thing, nor come into the ſanctuary, until the days of her purifying be fulfilled. 5 But if ſhe bear a maid-child, then ſhe ſhall be unclean two weeks, as in her ſeparation: and ſhe ſhall continue in the blood of her purifying threeſcore and ſix days. 6 And when the days of her purifying are fulfilled, for a ſon, or for a daughter; ſhe ſhall bring a lamb of the firſt year for a burnt-offering, and a young pigeon, or a turtle dove for a ſin-offering, unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, unto the prieſt: 7 Who ſhall offer it before the Lord, and make an atonement for her, and ſhe ſhall be cleanſed from the iſſue of her blood. This is the law for her that hath borne a male or a female. 8 And if ſhe be not able to bring a lamb, then ſhe ſhall bring two turtles, or two young pigeons; the one for the burnt-offering, and the other for a ſin-offering: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for her, and ſhe ſhall be clean.

She

She ſhall bring a Lamb of the firſt Year for a Burnt-offering, and a young Pigeon, or a Turtle Dove for a Sin-offering] The Burnt-offering was a Sacrifice for the Party's Sins in general; as the Sin-offering was for particular Sins of Ignorance or Error; and theſe are the two Sins of the Fathers, which may be imputed to the Children; and for which the Expiation of Chriſt by his Blood is required, to cleanſe Poſterity by the Gift of Juſtification and Regeneration; for the Sin-offering had a ſpecial Regard to original Sin, wherein as well the Mother, as the Fruit of her Womb, was conceived and born, none excepted, but only our Lord and Saviour Jeſus Chriſt. See Pool's Annot.

CHAP. XIII.

The Laws and Tokens which the Prieſt was to obſerve in diſcerning Leproſy, either in human Bodies, or in Garments, &c.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes and Aaron, ſaying, 2 When a man ſhall have in the ſkin of his fleſh, a riſing, a ſcab, or bright ſpot, and it be in the ſkin of his fleſh like the plague of leproſy; then he ſhall be brought unto Aaron the prieſt, or unto one of his ſons the prieſts. 3 And the prieſt ſhall look on the plague in the ſkin of the fleſh: and when the hair in the plague is turned white, and the plague in ſight be deeper than the ſkin of his fleſh; it is a plague of leproſy: and the prieſt ſhall look on him, and pronounce him unclean. 4 If the bright ſpot be white in the ſkin of his fleſh, and in ſight be not deeper than the ſkin, and the hair thereof be not turned white; then the prieſt ſhall ſhut up him that hath the plague ſeven days. 5 And the prieſt ſhall look on him the ſeventh day: and behold, if the plague in his ſight be at a ſtay, and the plague ſpread not in the ſkin; then the prieſt ſhall ſhut him up ſeven days more. 6 And the prieſt ſhall look on him again the ſeventh day: and behold, if the plague be ſomewhat dark, and the plague ſpread not in the ſkin; the prieſt ſhall pronounce him clean: it is but a ſcab: and he ſhall waſh his clothes, and be clean. 7 But if the ſcab ſpread much abroad in the ſkin, after that he hath been ſeen of the prieſt for his cleanſing; he ſhall be ſeen of the prieſt again. 8 And if the prieſt ſee, that behold, the ſcab ſpreadeth in the ſkin; then the prieſt ſhall pronounce him unclean: it is a leproſy. 9 When the plague of leproſy is in a man, then he ſhall be brought unto the prieſt: 10 And the prieſt ſhall ſee him: and behold, if the riſing be white in the ſkin, and it have turned the hair white, and there be quick raw fleſh in the riſing; 11 It is an old leproſy in the ſkin of his fleſh, and the prieſt ſhall pronounce him unclean, and ſhall not ſhut him up: for he is unclean. 12 And if a leproſy break out abroad in the ſkin, and the leproſy cover all the ſkin of him that hath the plague, from his head even to his foot, whereſoever the prieſt looketh; 13 Then the prieſt ſhall conſider: and behold, if the leproſy have covered all his fleſh, he ſhall pronounce him clean that hath the plague: it is all turned white, he is clean. 14 But when raw fleſh appeareth in him, he ſhall be unclean. 15 And the prieſt ſhall ſee the raw fleſh, and pronounce him to be unclean, for the raw fleſh is unclean: it is a leproſy. 16 Or if the raw fleſh turn again, and be changed into white; he ſhall come unto the prieſt: 17 And the prieſt ſhall ſee him: and behold, if the plague be turned into white; then the prieſt ſhall pronounce him clean that hath the plague; he is clean. 18 The fleſh alſo, in which even in the ſkin thereof, was a bile and is healed, 19 And in the place of the bile there be a white riſing, or a bright ſpot white, and ſomewhat reddiſh, and it be ſhewed to the prieſt; 20 And if when the prieſt ſeeth it, behold, it be in ſight lower than the ſkin, and the hair thereof be turned white; the prieſt ſhall pronounce him unclean: it is a plague of leproſy broken out of the bile. 21 But if the prieſt look on it, and behold, there be no white hairs therein, and if it be not lower than the ſkin, but be ſomewhat dark; then the prieſt ſhall ſhut him up ſeven days. 22 And if it ſpread much abroad in the ſkin, then the prieſt ſhall pronounce him unclean; it is a plague. 23 But if the bright ſpot ſtay in his place, and ſpread not, it is a burning bile: and the prieſt ſhall pronounce him clean. 24 Or if there be any fleſh, in the ſkin whereof there is a hot burning, and the quick fleſh that burneth have a white bright ſpot, ſomewhat reddiſh, or white; 25 Then the prieſt ſhall look upon it: and behold, if the hair in the bright ſpot be turned white, and it be in ſight deeper than the ſkin; it is a leproſy broken out of the burning: wherefore the prieſt ſhall pronounce him unclean: it is the plague of leproſy. 26 But if the prieſt look on it, and behold, there be no white hair on the bright ſpot, and it be no lower than the other ſkin, but be ſomewhat dark; then the prieſt ſhall ſhut him up ſeven days. 27 And the prieſt ſhall look upon him the ſeventh day: and if it be ſpread much abroad in the ſkin, then the prieſt ſhall pronounce him unclean: it is the plague of leproſy. 28 And if the bright ſpot ſtay in his place, and ſpread not in the ſkin, but it be ſomewhat dark; it is a riſing of the burning, and the prieſt ſhall pronounce him clean: for it is an inflammation of the burning. 29 If a man or woman hath a plague upon the head or the beard; 30 Then the prieſt ſhall ſee the plague: and behold, if it be in ſight deeper than the ſkin, and there be in it a yellow thin hair; then the prieſt ſhall pronounce him unclean: it is a dry ſcall, even a leproſy upon the head or beard. 31 And if the prieſt look on the plague of the ſcall, and behold, it be not in ſight deeper than the ſkin, and that there is no black hair in it; then the prieſt ſhall ſhut up him that hath the plague of the ſcall, ſeven days. 32 And in the ſeventh day the prieſt ſhall look on the plague: and behold, if the ſcall ſpread not, and there be in it no yellow hair, and the ſcall be not in ſight deeper than the ſkin; 33 He ſhall be ſhaven, but the ſcall ſhall he not ſhave: and the prieſt ſhall ſhut up him that hath the ſcall, ſeven days more. 34 And in the ſeventh day the prieſt ſhall look on the ſcall: and behold, if the ſcall be not ſpread in the ſkin, nor be in ſight deeper than the ſkin; then the prieſt ſhall pronounce him clean: and he ſhall waſh his clothes, and be clean. 35 But if the ſcall ſpread much in the ſkin after his cleanſing; 36 Then the prieſt ſhall look on him: and behold, if the ſcall be ſpread in his ſkin, the prieſt ſhall not ſeek for yellow hair; he is unclean. 37 But if the ſcall be in his ſight at a ſtay, and that there is black hair grown up therein; the ſcall is healed, he is clean: and the prieſt ſhall pronounce him him clean. 38 If a man alſo or a woman have in the ſkin of their fleſh bright ſpots, even white bright ſpots; 39 Then the prieſt ſhall look: and behold, if the bright ſpots in the ſkin of their fleſh be darkiſh white; it is a freckled ſpot that groweth in the ſkin; he is clean. 40 And the man whoſe hair is fallen off his head, he is bald: yet is he clean. 41 And he that hath his hair fallen off from the part of his head toward his face, he is forehead-bald: yet is he clean. 42 And if there be in the bald head, or bald forehead, a white reddiſh ſore; it is a leproſy ſprung up in his bald head, or his bald forehead. 43 Then the prieſt ſhall look upon it: and behold, if the riſing of the ſore be white reddiſh in his bald head, or in his bald forehead, as the leproſy appeareth in the ſkin of the fleſh; 44 He is a leprous man, he is unclean: the prieſt ſhall pronounce him utterly unclean, his plague is in his head. 45 And the leper in whom the plague is, his clothes ſhall be rent, and his head bare, and he ſhall put a covering upon his upper lip, and ſhall cry, Unclean, unclean. 46 All the days wherein the plague ſhall be in him, he ſhall be defiled; he is unclean: he ſhall dwell alone, without the camp ſhall his habitation be. 47 The garment alſo that the plague of leproſy is in, whether it be a woollen garment, or a linnen garment. 48 Whether it be in the warp, or woof, of linen or of woollen, whether in a ſkin, or in any thing made of ſkin: 49 And if the plague be greeniſh or reddiſh in the garment, or in the ſkin, either in the warp, or in the woof, or in any thing of ſkin; it is a plague of leproſy, and ſhall be ſhewed unto the prieſt. 50 And the prieſt ſhall look upon the plague, and ſhut up it that hath the plague, ſeven days. 51 And he ſhall look on the plague on the ſeventh day: if the plague be ſpread in the garment, either in the warp, or in the woof, or in a ſkin, or in any work that is made of ſkin; the plague is a fretting leproſy: it is unclean. 52 He ſhall therefore burn that garment, whether warp or woof, in woollen or in linen, or any thing of ſkin, wherein the plague is: for it is a fretting leproſy; it ſhall be burnt in the fire. 53 And if the prieſt ſhall look, and behold, the plague be not ſpread in the garment, either in the warp, or in the woof, or in any thing of ſkin; 54 Then the prieſt ſhall command that they waſh the thing wherein the plague is, and he ſhall ſhut it up ſeven days more. 55 And the prieſt ſhall look on the plague after that it is waſhed: and behold, if the plague have not changed his colour, and the plague be not ſpread; it is unclean, thou ſhalt burn it in the fire; it is fret inward, whether it be bare within or without. 56 And if the prieſt look, and behold, the plague be ſomewhat dark after the waſhing of it; then he ſhall rend it out of the garment, or out of the ſkin, or out of the warp, or out of the woof. 57 And if it appear ſtill in the garment, either in the warp, or in the woof, or in any thing of ſkin; it is a ſpreading plague: thou ſhalt burn that wherein the plague is, with fire. 58 And the garment, either warp, or woof, or whatſoever thing of ſkin it be, which thou ſhalt waſh, if the plague be departed from them, then it ſhall be waſhed the ſecond time, and ſhall be clean. 59 This is the law of the plague of leproſy in a garment of woollen or linen, either in the warp, or woof, or any thing of ſkins, to pronounce it clean, or to pronounce it unclean.

The Leproſy in Garments or Houſes, was not like the Infection of the Plague in Cloaths, Utenſils, or Houſes infected by ſome Exhalation of the Air, Breath, Sweat, or other Excrements, lying upon the Superficies of thoſe Things, which make an Impreſſion in the common Air, and may be purified and cleanſed divers Ways; but was a Corruption peculiar to thoſe Places and Times, grafted into the very Subſtance of thoſe Things, rotting and gnawing them; and ſpreading abroad as it were, in a living Body.

CHAP. XIV.

Rites and Sacrifices in cleanſing a Leper. Of Leproſy in Houſes, and the cleanſing of them.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 2 This ſhall be the law of the leper, in the day of his cleanſing: He ſhall be brought unto the prieſt: 3 And the prieſt ſhall go forth out of the camp: and the prieſt ſhall look, and behold, if the plague of leproſy be healed in the leper; 4 Then ſhall the prieſt command to take for him that is to be cleanſed, two birds alive, and clean, and cedar-wood, and ſcarlet, and hyſſop. 5 And the prieſt ſhall command that one of the birds be killed in an earthen veſſel, over running water. 6 As for the living bird, he ſhall take it, and the cedar-wood, and the ſcarlet, and the hyſſop, and ſhall dip them and the living bird, in the blood of the bird that was killed over the running water. 7 And he ſhall ſprinkle upon him that is to be cleanſed from the leproſy, ſeven times, and ſhall pronounce him clean, and ſhall let the living bird looſe into the open field. 8 And he that is to be cleanſed ſhall waſh his clothes, and ſhave off all his hair, and waſh himſelf in water, that he may be clean: and after that he ſhall come into the camp, and ſhall tarry abroad out of his tent ſeven days. 9 But it ſhall be on the ſeventh day, that he ſhall ſhave all his hair off his head and his beard, and his eye-brows, even all his hair he ſhall ſhave off: and he ſhall waſh his clothes, alſo he ſhall waſh his fleſh in water, and he ſhall be clean. 10 And on the eighth day he ſhall take two he-lambs without blemiſh, and one ew-lamb of the firſt year, without blemiſh, and three tenth-deals of fine flour for a meat-offering, mingled with oil, and one log of oil. 11 And the prieſt that maketh him clean, ſhall preſent the man that is to be made clean, and thoſe things before the Lord, at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation: 12 And the prieſt ſhall take one he-lamb, and offer him for a treſpaſs-offering, and the log of oil, and wave them for a wave-offering before the Lord. 13 And he ſhall ſlay the lamb in the place where he ſhall kill the ſin-offering, and the burnt-offering, in the holy place: for as the ſin-offering, is the prieſts, ſo is the treſpaſs-offering: it is moſt holy. 14 And the prieſt ſhall take ſome of the blood of the treſpaſs-offering, and the prieſt ſhall put it upon the tip of the right ear of him that is to be cleanſed, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot. 15 And the prieſt ſhall take ſome of the log of oil, and pour it into the palm of his own left hand: 16 And the prieſt ſhall dip his right finger in the oil that is in his left hand, and ſhall ſprinkle of the oil with his finger, ſeven times before the Lord. 17 And of the reſt of the oil that is in his hand, ſhall the prieſt put upon the tip of the right ear of him that is to be cleanſed, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot, upon the blood of the treſpaſs-offering. 18 And the remnant of the oil that is in the prieſts hand, he ſhall pour upon the head of him that is to be cleanſed: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him before the Lord. 19 And the prieſt ſhall offer the ſin-offering, and make an atonement for him that is to be cleanſed from his uncleanneſs, and afterward he ſhall kill the burnt-offering. 20 And the prieſt ſhall offer the burnt offering, and the meat-offering upon the altar: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him, and he ſhall be clean. 21 And if he be poor, and cannot get ſo much; then he ſhall take one lamb for a treſpaſs-offering to be waved, to make an atonement for him, and one tenth deal of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering, and a log of oil. 22 And two turtle-doves, or two young pigeons, ſuch as he is able to get; and the one ſhall be a ſin-offering, and the other a burnt-offering. 23 And he ſhall bring them on the eighth day, for his cleanſing, unto the prieſt, unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, before the Lord. 24 And the prieſt ſhall take the lamb of the treſpaſs-offering, and the log of oil, and the prieſt ſhall wave them for a wave-offering before the Lord. 25 And he ſhall kill the lamb of the treſpaſs-offering, and the prieſt ſhall take ſome of the blood of the treſpaſs-offering, and put it upon the tip of the right ear of him that is to be cleanſed, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot. 26 And the prieſt ſhall pour of the oil into the palm of his own left hand. 27 And the prieſt ſhall ſprinkle with his right finger, ſome of the oil that is in his left hand, ſeven times before the Lord. 28 And the prieſt ſhall put of the oil that is in his hand, upon the tip of the right ear of him that is to be cleanſed, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and upon the great toe of his right foot; upon the place of the blood of the treſpaſs-offering. 29 And the reſt of the oil that is in the prieſts hand, he ſhall put upon the head of him that is to be cleanſed, to make an atonement for him before the Lord. 30 And he ſhall offer the one of the turtle-doves, or of the young pigeons, ſuch as he can get: 31 Even ſuch as he is able to get, the one for a ſin-offering, and the other for a burnt-offering, with the meat-offering. And the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him that is to be cleanſed, before the Lord. 32 This is the law of him in whom is the plague of leproſy, whoſe hand is not able to get that which pertaineth to his cleanſing. 33 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, and unto Aaron, ſaying, 34 When ye be come into the land of Canaan, which I give to you for a poſſeſſion, and I put the plague of leproſy in a houſe of the land of your poſſeſſion; 35 And he that oweth the houſe ſhall come and tell the prieſt, ſaying, It ſeemeth to me there is as it were a plague in the houſe: 36 Then the prieſt ſhall command that they empty the houſe, before the prieſt go into it to ſee the plague; that all that is in the houſe be not made unclean: and afterward the prieſt ſhall go in to ſee the houſe. 37 And he ſhall look on the plague, and behold, if the plague be in the walls of the houſe, with hollow ſtrakes, greeniſh or reddiſh, which in ſight are lower than the wall; 38 Then the prieſt ſhall go out of the houſe to the door of the houſe, and ſhut up the houſe ſeven days. 39 And the prieſt ſhall come again the ſeventh day, and ſhall look: and behold, if the plague be ſpread in the walls of the houſe; 40 Then the prieſt ſhall command that they take away the ſtones, in which the plague is, and they ſhall caſt them into an unclean place without the city. 41 And he ſhall cauſe the houſe to be ſcraped within round about, and they ſhall pour out the duſt that they ſcrape off, without the city into an unclean place. 42 And they ſhall take other ſtones, and put them in the place of thoſe ſtones; and he ſhall take other mortar, and ſhall plaiſter the houſe. 43 And if the plague come again, and break out in the houſe, after that he hath taken away the ſtones, and after he hath ſcraped the houſe, and after it is plaiſtered; 44 Then the prieſt ſhall come, and look, and behold, if the plague be ſpread in the houſe, it is a fretting leproſy in the houſe: it is unclean. 45 And he ſhall break down the houſe, the ſtones of it, and the timber thereof, and all the mortar of the houſe: and he ſhall carry them forth out of the city into an unclean place. 46 Moreover, he that goeth into the houſe all the while that it is ſhut up, ſhall be unclean until the even. 47 And he that lieth in the houſe, ſhall waſh his clothes: and he that eateth in the houſe, ſhall waſh his clothes. 48 And if the prieſt ſhall come in, and look upon it, and behold, the plague hath not ſpread in the houſe, after the houſe was plaiſtered: then the prieſt ſhall pronounce the houſe clean, becauſe the plague is healed. 49 And he ſhall take to cleanſe the houſe two birds, and cedar-wood, and ſcarlet, and hyſſop. 50 And he ſhall kill the one of the birds in an earthen veſſel, over running water. 51 And he ſhall take the cedar-wood, and the hyſſop, and the ſcarlet, and the living bird, and dip them in the blood of the ſlain bird, and in the running water and ſprinkle the houſe ſeven times. 52 And he ſhall cleanſe the houſe with the blood of the bird, and with the running water, and with the living bird, and with the cedar-wood, and with the hyſſop, and with the ſcarlet, 53 But he ſhall let go the living bird out of the city into the open fields, and make an atonement for the houſe: and it ſhall be clean. 54 This is the law for all manner plague of leproſy, and ſcall, 55 And for the leproſy of a garment, and of an houſe, 56 And for a riſing, and for a ſcab, and for a bright ſpot: 57 To teach when it is unclean, and when it is clean: this is the law of leproſy.

The ceremonial Expiations and Cleanſings, in regard to the Leproſy, and treated of at large in this Chapter, to be done after the Diſeaſe was cured, in order to receive him that had been leprous into the Fellowſhip of the People, were Types and Figures of the Obſervations of the Eccleſiaſtical Diſcipline, in reſtoring ſuch as are penitent into the Peace of the Church, after they had been ſequeſter'd from it for ſome Sin.

And the Prieſt ſhall take one he Lamb, and offer him for a Treſpaſs-offering] Which ſhould ſeem to intimate, as if there was ſomething ſinful in the Diſeaſe. But, tho' tho' there was no Treſpaſs in the Diſeaſe itſelf, but rather a Miſery; yet, Sin being the Cauſe of all theſe Diſeaſes, God would have, together with the Cleanſing of the Body, the Purification of the Soul to be alſo ſought for by Means of this Sacrifice. Farther, theſe Diſeaſes being Figures of the Infections of the Soul, theſe ceremonial Sacrifices repreſented alſo the internal Expiation.

Then the Prieſt ſhall command that they empty the Houſe, before the Prieſt go into it to ſee the Plague, that all that is in the Houſe be not made unclean] The Reaſon of which Injunction ſeems to have been this: Before the Prieſt had judged of it, the Houſe could not pollute the Stuff, nor the Perſons; and therefore the Sore being yet uncertain, it was proper to enter the Houſe, for fear leſt the Houſhold-ſtuff ſhould alſo be comprehended within the Contamination of it, when the Prieſt ſhould pronounce the Sentence; a Law of Equity, and likewiſe a figurative Inſtruction, to teach us to prevent God's laſt Judgment, ſequeſtring ourſelves betimes from the Contagion of Sinners; and alſo to inſtruct us, that God will paſs over, and forgive the Sins and Faults of his Children, which they commit through mere Ignorance; but not thoſe Treſpaſſes which they commit rebelliouſly againſt their Conſcience, and the expreſs Manifeſtation of his Will. See Pool's Annot.

CHAP. XV.

The Uncleanneſs of Men and Women in their Iſſues, and their reſpective Cleanſings.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes and to Aaron, ſaying, 2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, When any man hath a running iſſue out of his fleſh, becauſe of his iſſue he is unclean. 3 And this ſhall be his uncleanneſs in his iſſue: whether his fleſh run with his iſſue, or his fleſh be ſtopped from his iſſue, it is his uncleanneſs. 4 Every bed whereon he lieth that hath the iſſue, is unclean: and every thing whereon he ſitteth, ſhall be unclean. 5 And whoſoever toucheth his bed, ſhall waſh his clothes, and bathe himſelf in water, and be unclean until the even. 6 And he that ſitteth on any thing whereon he ſat that hath the iſſue, ſhall waſh his clothes, and bathe himſelf in water, and be unclean until the even. 7 And he that toucheth the fleſh of him that hath the iſſue, ſhall waſh his clothes, and bathe himſelf in water, and be unclean until the even. 8 And if he that hath the iſſue ſpit upon him that is clean; then he ſhall waſh his clothes, and bathe himſelf in water, and be unclean until the even. 9 And what ſaddle ſoever he rideth upon, that hath the iſſue, ſhall be unclean. 10 And whoſoever toucheth any thing that was under him, ſhall be unclean until the even: and he that beareth any of thoſe things, ſhall waſh his clothes, and bathe himſelf in water, and be unclean until the even. 11 And whomſoever he toucheth that hath the iſſue, (and hath not rinſed his hands in water) he ſhall waſh his clothes, and bathe himſelf in water, and be unclean until the even. 12 And the veſſel of earth, that he toucheth which hath the iſſue, ſhall be broken: and every veſſel of wood ſhall be rinſed in water. 13 And when he that hath an iſſue, is cleanſed of his iſſue; then he ſhall number to himſelf ſeven days for his cleanſing, and waſh his clothes, and bathe his fleſh in running water, and ſhall be clean. 14 And on the eighth day he ſhall take to him two turtle-doves, or two young pigeons, and come before the Lord, unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and give them unto the prieſt. 15 And the prieſt ſhall offer them, the one for a ſin-offering, and the other for a burnt offering; and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him before the Lord, for his iſſue. 16 And if any mans ſeed of copulation go out from him, then he ſhall waſh all his fleſh in water, and be unclean until the even. 17 And every garment, and every ſkin whereon is the ſeed of copulation, ſhall be waſhed with water, and be unclean until the even. 18 The woman alſo with whom man ſhall lie with ſeed of copulation, they ſhall both bathe themſelves in water, and be unclean until the even. 19 And if a woman have an iſſue, and her iſſue in her fleſh be blood, ſhe ſhall be put apart ſeven days: and whoſoever toucheth her, ſhall be unclean until the even. 20 And every thing that ſhe lieth upon in her ſeparation, ſhall be unclean: every thing alſo that ſhe ſitteth upon, ſhall be unclean. 21 And whoſoever toucheth her bed, ſhall waſh his clothes, and bathe himſelf in water, and be unclean until the even. 22 And whoſoever toucheth any thing that ſhe ſat upon, ſhall waſh his clothes, and bathe himſelf in water, and be unclean until the even. 23 And if it be on her bed, or on any thing whereon ſhe ſitteth, when he toucheth it; he ſhall be unclean until the even. 24 And if any man lie with her at all, and her flowers be upon him, he ſhall be unclean ſeven days: and all the bed whereon he lieth, ſhall be unclean. 25 And if a woman have an iſſue of her blood many days out of the time of her ſeparation, or if it run beyond the time of her ſeparation; all the days of the iſſue of her uncleanneſs ſhall be as the days of her ſeparation: ſhe ſhall be unclean. 26 Every bed whereon ſhe lieth all the days of her iſſue, ſhall be unto her as the bed of her ſeparation: and whatſoever ſhe ſitteth upon, ſhall be unclean, as the uncleanneſs of her ſeparation. 27 And whoſoever toucheth thoſe things ſhall be unclean, and ſhall waſh his clothes, and bathe himſelf in water, and be unclean until the even. 28 But if ſhe be cleanſed of her iſſue, then ſhe ſhall number to her ſelf ſeven days, and after that ſhe ſhall be clean. 29 And on the eighth day ſhe ſhall take unto her two turtles, or two young pigeons, and bring them unto the prieſt, to the door of the tabernacle of the congregation. 30 And the prieſt ſhall offer the one for a ſin-offering, and the other for a burnt-offering: and the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for her before the Lord, for the iſſue of her uncleanneſs. 31 Thus ſhall ye ſeparate the children of Iſrael from their uncleanneſs; that they die not in their uncleanneſs, when they defile my tabernacle that is among them. 32 This is the law of him that hath an iſſue, and of him whoſe ſeed goeth from him, and is defiled therewith: 33 And of her that is ſick of her flowers, and of him that hath an iſſue, of the man, and of the woman, and of him that lieth with her which is unclean.

This Chapter is, in general, an Exhortation to Cleanlineſs, which is highly commendable in both Sexes; eſpecially as God requires of his People Purity and Cleanneſs; and as we cannot be his, except the Filth of Sin be purged with the Blood of that immaculate Lamb, Jeſus Chriſt, whoſe Doctrine teaches us to deteſt all Sin and Uncleanneſs.

CHAP. XVI.

Directions to Aaron in what Manner he muſt enter the Holy Place; the Sin offering for himſelf, and for the People. The Scape-goat. The yearly Feaſt of Expiations.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, after the death of the two ſons of Aaron, when they offered before the Lord, and died: 2 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Speak unto Aaron thy brother, that he come not at all times into the holy place within the vail, before the mercy-ſeat, which is upon the ark; that he die not: for I will appear in the cloud upon the mercy-ſeat. 3 Thus ſhall Aaron come into the holy place: with a young bullock for a ſin-offering, and a ram for a burnt-offering. 4 He ſhall put on the holy linen coat, and he ſhall have the linen breeches upon his fleſh, and ſhall be girded with the linen girdle, and with the linen mitre ſhall he be attired: theſe are holy garments, therefore ſhall he waſh his fleſh in water, and ſo put them on. 5 And he ſhall take of the congregation of the children of Iſrael, two kids of the goats for a ſin-offering, and one ram for a burnt-offering. 6 And Aaron ſhall offer his bullock of the ſin-offering, which is for himſelf, and make an atonement for himſelf, and for his houſe. 7 And he ſhall take the two goats, and preſent them before the Lord, at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation. 8 And Aaron ſhall caſt lots upon the two goats; one lot for the Lord, and the other lot for the ſcape-goat. 9 And Aaron ſhall bring the goat upon which the Lords lot fell, and offer him for a ſin-offering. 10 But the goat on which the lot fell to be the ſcape-goat, ſhall be preſented alive before the Lord, to make an atonement with him, and to let him go for a ſcape-goat into the wilderneſs. 11 And Aaron ſhall bring the bullock of the ſin-offering, which is for himſelf, and ſhall make an atonement for himſelf, and for his houſe, and ſhall kill the bullock of the ſin-offering, which is for himſelf. 12 And he ſhall take a cenſer full of burning coals of fire from off the altar before the Lord, and his hands full of ſweet incenſe beaten ſmall, and bring it within the vail. 13 And he ſhall put the incenſe upon the fire before the Lord, that the cloud of the incenſe may cover the mercy-ſeat that is upon the teſtimony, that he die not. 14 And he ſhall take of the blood of the bullock, and ſprinkle it with his finger upon the mercy-ſeat eaſt-ward: and before the mercy-ſeat ſhall he ſprinkle of the blood with his finger ſeven times. 15 Then ſhall he kill the goat of the ſin-offering that is for the people, and bring his blood within the vail, and do with that blood as he did with the blood of the bullock, and ſprinkle it upon the mercy-ſeat, and before the mercy-ſeat. 16 And he ſhall make an atonement for the holy place, becauſe of the uncleanneſs of the children of Iſrael, and becauſe of their tranſgreſſions in all their ſins: and ſo ſhall he do for the tabernacle of the congregation that remaineth among them, in the midſt of their uncleanneſs. 17 And there ſhall be no man in the tabernacle of the congregation, when he goeth in to make an atonement in the holy place, until he come out, and have made an atonement for himſelf, and for his houſhold, and for all the congregation of Iſrael. 18 And he ſhall go out unto the altar that is before the Lord, and make an atonement for it; and ſhall take of the blood of the bullock, and of the blood of the goat, and put it upon the horns of the altar round about. 19 And he ſhall ſprinkle of the blood upon it with his finger ſeven times, and cleanſe it, and hallow it from the uncleanneſs of the children of Iſrael. 20 And when he hath made an end of reconciling the holy place, and the tabernacle of the congregation, and the altar, he ſhall bring the live goat: 21 And Aaron ſhall lay both his hands upon the head of the live goat, and confeſs over him all the iniquities of the children of Iſrael, and all their tranſgreſſions in all their ſins, putting them upon the head of the goat, and ſhall ſend him away by the hand of a fit man into the wilderneſs. 22 And the goat ſhall bear upon him all their iniquities, unto a land not inhabited: and he ſhall let go the goat in the wilderneſs. 23 And Aaron ſhall come into the tabernacle of the congregation, and ſhall put off the linen garments, which he put on when he went into the holy place, and ſhall leave them there. 24 And he ſhall waſh his fleſh with water in the holy place, and put on his garments, and come forth, and offer his burnt-offering, and the burnt-offering of the people, and make an atonement for himſelf, and for the people. 25 And the fat of the ſin-offering ſhall he burn upon the altar. 26 And he that let go the goat for the ſcape goat, ſhall waſh his clothes, and bathe his fleſh in water, and afterward come into the camp. 27 And the bullock for the ſin-offering, and the goat for the ſin-offering, whoſe blood was brought in to make atonement in the holy place, ſhall one carry forth without the camp, and they ſhall burn in the fire their ſkins and their fleſh, and their dung. 28 And he that burneth them, ſhall waſh his clothes, and bathe his fleſh in water, and afterward he ſhall come into the camp. 29 And this ſhall be a ſtatute for ever unto you: that in the ſeventh month, on the tenth day of the month, ye ſhall afflict your ſouls, and do no work at all, whether it be one of your own country, or a ſtranger that ſojourneth among you. 30 For on that day ſhall the prieſt make an atonement for you, to cleanſe you, that ye may be clean from all your ſins before the Lord. 31 It ſhall be a ſabbath of reſt unto you, and ye ſhall afflict your ſouls by a ſtatute for ever. 32 And the prieſt whom he ſhall anoint, and whom he ſhall conſecrate to miniſter in the prieſts office in his fathers ſtead, ſhall make the atonement, and ſhall put on the linen clothes, even the holy garments. 33 And he ſhall make an atonement for the holy ſanctuary, and he ſhall make an atonement for the tabernacle of the congregation, and for the altar: and he ſhall make an atonement for the prieſts, and for all the people of the congregation. 34 And this ſhall be an everlaſting ſtatute unto you, to make an atonement for the children of Iſrael, for all their ſins, once a year. And he did as the Lord commanded Moſes.

But the Goat, on which the Lot fell to be the Scape-goat, ſhall be preſented alive before the Lord, to make an Atonement with him, and to let him go for a Scapegoat into the Wilderneſs] The Scape goat, was undoubtedly a Figure of Jeſus Chriſt, in that he bears the Sins of the People. Surely he hath borne our Griefs, and carried our Sorrows, yet we did eſteem him of God, and afflicted. But he was wounded for our Tranſgreſſions; the Chaſtiſement of our Peace was upon him, and with his Stripes we are healed. All we like Sheep have gone aſtray; we have turned every one to his own Way, and the Lord hath laid on him the Iniquity of us all, Iſa. liii. 4, 5, 6. and many other Places, both in the Old and New Teſtament, might be quoted to the ſame Purpoſe.

In the ſeventh Month, on the tenth Day of the Month, ye ſhall afflict yourſelves, &c.] This was the very Day, as learned Men have computed, on which Adam ſinned, and was turned out of Paradiſe.

The Blood of ſlain Beaſts to be offer'd only at the Door of the Tabernacle. Sacrifices to Devils forbidden; as alſo the Eating of Blood. That which dieth alone, or is torn, not to be eaten.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 2 Speak unto Aaron, and unto his ſons and unto all the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, This is the thing which the Lord hath commanded, ſaying, 3 What man ſoever there be of the houſe of Iſrael, that killeth an ox, or lamb, or goat, in the camp, or that killeth it out of the camp. 4 And bringeth it not unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, to offer an offering unto the Lord before the tabernacle of the Lord; blood ſhall be imputed unto that man, he hath ſhed blood; and that man ſhall be cut off from among his people: 5 To the end that the children of Iſrael may bring their ſacrifices, which they offer in the open field, even that they may bring them unto the Lord, unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation unto the prieſt, and offer them for peace-offerings unto the Lord. 6 And the prieſt ſhall ſprinkle the blood upon the altar of the Lord, at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and burn the fat for a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord. 7 And they ſhall no more offer their ſacrifices unto devils, after whom they have gone a whoring: This ſhall be a ſtatute for ever unto them throughout their generations. 8 And thou ſhalt ſay unto them, Whatſoever man there be of the houſe of Iſrael, or of the ſtrangers which ſojourn among you, that offereth a burnt-offering or ſacrifice. 9 And bringeth it not unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, to offer it unto the Lord; even that man ſhall be cut off from among his people. 10 And whatſoever man there be of the houſe of Iſrael, or of the ſtrangers that ſojourn among you, that eateth any manner of blood; I will even ſet my face againſt that ſoul that eateth blood, and will cut him off from among his people. 11 For the life of the fleſh is in the blood, and I have given it to you upon the altar, to make an atonement for your ſouls: for it is the blood that maketh an atonement for the ſoul. 12 Therefore I ſaid unto the children of Iſrael, No ſoul of you ſhall eat blood, neither ſhall any ſtranger that ſojourneth among you, eat blood. 13 And whatſoever man there be of the children of Iſrael, or of the ſtrangers that ſojourn among you, which hunteth and catcheth any beaſt or fowl that may be eaten; he ſhall even pour out the blood thereof, and cover it with duſt. 14 For it is the life of all fleſh, the blood of it is for the life thereof: therefore I ſaid unto the children of Iſrael, Ye ſhall eat the blood of no manner of fleſh: for the life of all fleſh is the blood thereof: whoſoever eateth it, ſhall be cut off. 15 And every ſoul that eateth that which died of it ſelf, or that which was torn with beaſts (whether it be one of your own country, or a ſtranger) he ſhall both waſh his clothes, and bathe himſelf in water, and be unclean until the even: then ſhall he be clean. 16 But if he waſh them not, nor bathe his fleſh; then he ſhall bear his iniquity.

In the 3d and 4th Verſes, Sacrifices are forbidden to be offered any where, but at the Door of the Tabernacle; the Reaſon of which was, that the Iſraelites might have no Opportunity to practiſe that Idolatry, which they had learnt of the Egyptians.

And they ſhall no more offer their Sacrifices unto Devils] By Devils are to be underſtood Idols; in which Kind of Worſhip, whether the Idolater had ſuch an Intent or no, the Devil was ſerved under divers Names and Reſemblances, he ſeconding and confirming them in their Error. Of this falſe Service by Apparitions, Oracles, and deluſive Miracles, ſee Deut. xxxii. 17. 2 Chron. xi. 15. Pſ. cvi. 37. 1 Cor. x. 20. Rev. ix. 20. The Hebrew Word ſignifies hairy, or briſtly, becauſe the Devil, as it was thought, ordinarily appear'd in ſuch ugly Shapes to them that ſerved him.

After whom they have gone a whoring] Idolatry is called Whoredom in a ſpiritual Senſe; becauſe thereby Faith towards God is broken.

I will even ſet my Face againſt that Soul] That is, I will declare myſelf to be his Adverſary, and will perſecute him in my Wrath, by the Hands of Men, by the Way of Juſtice, or by my own Judgments.

CHAP. XVIII.

Laws relating to Matrimony. Of unlawful Luſts, with which the Egyptians and Canaanites profaned themſelves.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael and ſay unto them, I am the Lord your God. 3 After the doings of the land of Egypt wherein ye dwelt, ſhall ye not do: and after the doings of the land of Canaan whither I bring you, ſhall ye not do: neither ſhall ye walk in their ordinances. 4 Ye ſhall do my judgments, and keep mine ordinances, to walk therein: I am the Lord your God. 5 Ye ſhall therefore keep my ſtatutes and my judgments: which if a man do, he ſhall live in them: I am the Lord. 6 None of you ſhall approach to any that is near of kin to him, to uncover their nakedneſs: I am the Lord. 7 The nakedneſs of thy father, or the nakedneſs of thy mother, ſhalt thou not uncover: ſhe is thy mother, thou ſhalt not uncover her nakedneſs. 8 The nakedneſs of thy fathers wife ſhalt thou not uncover: it is thy fathers nakedneſs. 9 The nakedneſs of thy ſiſter, the daughter of thy father, or daughter of thy mother, whether ſhe be born at home, or born abroad, even their nakedneſs thou ſhalt not uncover. 10 The nakedneſs of thy ſons daughter, or of thy daughters daughter, even their nakedneſs thou ſhalt not uncover: for theirs is thine own nakedneſs. 11 The nakedneſs of thy fathers wives daughter, begotten of thy father, (ſhe is thy ſiſter) thou ſhalt not uncover her nakedneſs. 12 Thou ſhalt not uncover the nakedneſs of thy fathers ſiſter: ſhe is thy fathers near kinſwoman. 13 Thou ſhalt not uncover the nakedneſs of thy mothers ſiſter: for ſhe is thy mothers near kinſwoman. 14 Thou ſhalt not uncover the nakedneſs of thy fathers brother, thou ſhalt not approach to his wife: ſhe is thine aunt. 15 Thou ſhalt not uncover the nakedneſs of thy daughter-in-law: ſhe is thy ſons wife, thou ſhalt not uncover her nakedneſs. 16 Thou ſhalt not uncover the nakedneſs of thy brothers wife: it is thy brothers nakedneſs. 17 Thou ſhalt not uncover the nakedneſs of a woman and her daughter, neither ſhalt thou take her ſons daughter, or her daughters daughter, to uncover her nakedneſs; for they are her near kinſwomen: it is wickedneſs. 18 Neither ſhalt thou take a wife to her ſiſter, to vex her, to uncover her nakedneſs beſides the other in her life-time. 19 Alſo thou ſhalt not approach unto a woman to uncover her nakedneſs, as long as ſhe is put apart for her uncleanneſs. 20 Moreover thou ſhalt not lie carnally with thy neighbours wife, to defile thy ſelf with her. 21 And thou ſhalt not let any of thy ſeed paſs through the fire to Molech, neither ſhalt thou profane the name of thy God: I am the Lord. 22 Thou ſhalt not lie with mankind, as with woman-kind: it is abomination. 23 Neither ſhalt thou lie with any beaſt to defile thy ſelf therewith: neither ſhall any woman ſtand before a beaſt to lie down thereto: it is confuſion. 24 Defile not you your ſelves in any of theſe things: for in all theſe the nations are defiled which I caſt out before you. 25 And the land is defiled: therefore I do viſit the iniquity thereof upon it, and the land it ſelf vomiteth out her inhabitants. 26 Ye ſhall therefore keep my ſtatutes and my judgments, and ſhall not commit any of theſe abominations; neither any of your own nation, nor any ſtranger that ſojourneth among you: 27 (For all theſe abominations have the men of the land done, which were before you, and the land is defiled) 28 That the land ſpue not you out alſo, when ye defile it, as it ſpued out the nations that were before you. 29 For whoſoever ſhall commit any of theſe abominations, even the ſouls that commit them, ſhall be cut off from among their people. 30 Therefore ſhall ye keep mine ordinance, that ye commit not any one of theſe abominable cuſtoms, which were committed before you, and that ye defile not your ſelves therein: I am the Lord your God.

Thou ſhalt not let any of thy Seed paſs through the Fire to Molech] The Rabbins aſſure us, that the Idol Molech was made of Braſs, ſitting upon a Throne of the ſame Metal, having the Head of a Calf, adorned with a royal Crown, and his Arms extended as it were to embrace any Thing: But what the Childrens paſſing through the Fire means, they are not ſo well agreed. Some of them are of Opinion, that Parents in the Worſhip of this Idol, did not actually burn their Children, but only cauſed them to leap through the Fire that was lighted before it, or paſs between two Fires, placed oppoſite to each other, by Way of Luſtration; but the Expreſſions of David are a little too ſtrong to admit of this Interpretation. For, when he tells us, that they ſacrificed their Sons and Daughters unto Devils, and that they ſhed innocent Blood, even the Blood of their Sons and Daughters, whom they ſacrificed to the Idols of Canaan, Pſ. cvi. 37, 38. we cannot but infer, but they did actually murther their Children in this execrable Way. When any Infants were to be ſacrificed, the Idol was to be made hot, by kindling a great Fire in the Inſide of it; and when it was heated to a moſt intenſe Degree, the miſerable Victim was put into its Arms, and ſoon conſumed by the Violence of the Heat: But, that the Cries of the Children might not be heard in their Extremities, the People were wont to make a great Noiſe with Drums, and other Inſtruments, about the Idol.

CHAP. XIX.

A Repetition of ſundry Laws.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 2 Speak unto all the congregation of the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, Ye ſhall be holy: for I the Lord your God am holy. 3 Ye ſhall fear every man his mother and his father, and keep my ſabbaths: I am the Lord your God. 4 Turn ye not unto idols, nor make to yourſelves molten gods: I am the Lord your God. 5 And if ye offer a ſacrifice of peace-offerings unto the Lord; ye ſhall offer it, at your own will. 6 It ſhall be eaten the ſame day ye offer it, and on the morrow; and if ought remain until the third day, it ſhall be burnt in the fire. 7 And if it be eaten at all on the third day, it is abominable; it ſhall not be accepted. 8 Therefore every one that eateth it ſhall bear his iniquity, becauſe he hath profaned the hallowed thing of the Lord: and that ſoul ſhall be cut off from among his people. 9 And when ye reap the harveſt of your land, thou ſhalt not wholly reap the corners of thy field, neither ſhalt thou gather the gleanings of thy harveſt. 10 And thou ſhalt not glean thy vineyard, neither ſhalt thou gather every grape of thy vineyard; thou ſhalt leave them for the poor and ſtranger: I am the Lord your God. 11 Ye ſhall not ſteal, neither deal falſly, neither lie one to another. 12 And ye ſhall not ſwear by my name falſly, neither ſhalt thou profane the name of thy God: I am the Lord. 13 Thou ſhalt not defraud thy neighbour, neither rob him: the wages of him that is hired, ſhall not abide with thee all night until the morning. 14 Thou ſhalt not curſe the deaf, nor put a ſtumbling-block before the blind, but ſhalt fear thy God: I am the Lord. 15 Ye ſhall do no unrighteouſneſs in judgment; thou ſhalt not reſpect the perſon of the poor, nor honour the perſon of the mighty: but in righteouſneſs ſhalt thou judge thy neighbour. 16 Thou ſhalt not go up and down as a tale-bearer among thy people; neither ſhalt thou ſtand againſt the blood of thy neighbour: I am the Lord. 17 Thou ſhalt not hate thy brother in thine heart: thou ſhalt in any wiſe rebuke thy neighbour, and not ſuffer ſin upon him. 18 Thou ſhalt not avenge, nor bear any grudge againſt the children of thy people, but thou ſhalt love thy neighbour as thy ſelf: I am the Lord. 19 Ye ſhall keep my ſtatutes: Thou ſhalt not let thy cattel gender with a diverſe kind: Thou ſhalt not ſow thy field with mingled ſeed: neither ſhall a garment mingled of linen and woollen come upon thee. 20 And whoſoever lieth carnally with a woman that is a bond-maid betrothed to an huſband, and not at all redeemed, nor freedom given her; ſhe ſhall be ſcourged: they ſhall not be put to death, becauſe ſhe was not free. 21 And he ſhall bring his treſpaſs-offering before the Lord, unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, even a ram for a treſpaſs-offering, fering. 22 And the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him with the ram of the treſpaſs-offering, before the Lord, for his ſin which he hath done: and the ſin which he hath done, ſhall be forgiven him. 23 And when ye ſhall come into the land, and ſhall have planted all manner of trees for food; then ye ſhall count the fruit thereof as uncircumciſed: three years ſhall it be as uncircumciſed unto you: it ſhall not be eaten of. 24 But in the fourth year all the fruit thereof ſhall be holy to praiſe the Lord withal. 25 And in the fifth year ſhall ye eat of the fruit thereof, that it may yield unto you the increaſe thereof: I am the Lord your God. 26 Ye ſhall not eat any thing with the blood: neither ſhall ye uſe inchantment, nor obſerve times. 27 Ye ſhall not round the corners of your heads, neither ſhalt thou mar the corners of thy beard. 28 Ye ſhall not make any cuttings in your fleſh for the dead, nor print any marks upon you: I am the Lord. 29 Do not proſtitute thy daughter, to cauſe her to be a whore: leſt the land fall to whoredom, and the land become full of wickedneſs. 30 Ye ſhall keep my ſabbaths, and reverence my ſanctuary: I am the Lord. 31 Regard not them that have familiar ſpirits, neither ſeek after wizards to be defiled by them: I am the Lord your God. 32 Thou ſhalt riſe up before the hoary head, and honour the face of the old man, and fear thy God: I am the Lord. 33 And if a ſtranger ſojourn with thee in your land, ye ſhall not vex him. 34 But the ſtranger that dwelleth with you, ſhall be unto you as one born amongſt you, and thou ſhalt love him as thy ſelf; for ye were ſtrangers in the land of Egypt: I am the Lord your God. 35 Ye ſhall do no unrighteouſneſs in judgment, in mete-yard, in weight, or in meaſure. 36 Juſt balances, juſt weights, a juſt ephah, and a juſt hin ſhall ye have: I am the Lord your God, which brought you out of the land of Egypt. 37 Therefore ſhall ye obſerve all my ſtatutes, and all my judgments, and do them: I am the Lord.

Thou ſhalt not avenge, nor bear any Grudge againſt the Children of thy People, but thou ſhalt love thy Neighbour as thy ſelf] By this it ſhould ſeem, as if the Iſraelites were confined in their Acts of Love and Kindneſs to the People of that Nation only: No, but this injunction was given to direct their Behaviour to the inhabitants of Canaan, who were to be accurſed, and to be deſtroyed without Mercy, Deut. vii. 16. and alſo to ſhew, that private Revenges are the Overthrow of civil Society, which is preſerved by publick Authority and Juſtice, and by private Good-will one towards another.

Thou ſhalt not ſow thy Field with mingled Seed; neither ſhall a Garment mingled of Linen and Woollen come upon thee] As ſowing the Ground with mixed Seeds, in ſome Mens Opinion, is an effectual Way to wear it out, it was therefore a Practice prohibited, in Commiſeration (if I may ſo ſay) to our Mother Earth, as well as to ſet Bounds to the Huſbandman's Covetouſneſs. With reſpect to the wearing of Linſey Woolſey, it was probably a proud fantaſtical Humour of the Hebrews at that Time, which the Hebrews were forbid to imitate.

And whoſoever lieth carnally with a Woman that is a Bond-maid — ſhe ſhall be ſcourged] Or, as it is in the Margin, there ſhall be a Scourging. To violate a free Maid was capital Puniſhment, Deut. xxii. 25. Now the Difference is grounded upon this, that theſe Conjunctions with Bond-maids that were not made free, were not held for true and perfect Marriages; in which the Condition of Freedom is required, as well to contract them, as to participate of the Huſband's Eſtate and Condition, according to God's firſt and fundamental Inſtitution; and they were really like Concubines with ſome ſlight Kind of Tie.

CHAP. XX.

Puniſhments of ſuch as give their Seed to Molech; of Wizards; of Curſers of Parents; Adultery; Inceſt; Sodomy; Beſtiality; Uncleanneſs.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 2 Again, thou ſhalt ſay to the children of Iſrael, Whoſoever he be of the children of Iſrael, or of the ſtrangers that ſojourn in Iſrael, that giveth any of his ſeed unto Molech; he ſhall ſurely be put to death; the people of the land ſhall ſtone him with ſtones. 3 And I will ſet my face againſt that man, and will cut him off from among his people: becauſe he hath given of his ſeed unto Molech, to defile my ſanctuary, and to profane my holy name. 4 And if the people of the land do any ways hide their eyes from the man, when he giveth of his ſeed unto Molech, and kill him not: 5 Then I will ſet my face againſt that man, and againſt his family, and will cut him off, and all that go a whoring after him, to commit whoredom with Molech, from among their people. 6 And the ſoul that turneth after ſuch as have familiar ſpirits, and after wizards, to go a whoring after them, I will even ſet my face againſt that ſoul, and will cut him off from among his people. 7 Sanctify your ſelves therefore, and be ye holy: for I am the Lord your God. 8 And ye ſhall keep my ſtatutes, and do them: I am the Lord which ſanctify you. 9 For every one that curſeth his father or his mother, ſhall be ſurely put to death: he hath curſed his father or his mother; his blood ſhall be upon him. 10 And the man that committeth adultery with another mans wife, even he that committeth adultery with his neighbours wife, the adulterer and the adultereſs ſhall ſurely be put to death. 11 And the man that lieth with his fathers wife, hath uncovered his fathers nakedneſs: both of them ſhall ſurely be put to death; their blood ſhall be upon them. 12 And if a man lie with his daughter-in-law, both of them ſhall ſurely be put to death: they have wrought confuſion; their blood ſhall be upon them. 13 If a man alſo lie with mankind, as he lieth with a woman, both of them have committed an abomination: they ſhall ſurely be put to death; their blood ſhall be upon them. 14 And if a man take a wife and her mother, it is wickedneſs: they ſhall be burnt with fire, both he and they; that there be no wickedneſs among you. 15 And if a man lie with a beaſt, he ſhall ſurely be put to death: and ye ſhall ſlay the beaſt. 16 And if a woman approach unto any beaſt, and lie down thereto, thou ſhalt kill the woman and the beaſt: they ſhall ſurely be put to death: their blood ſhall be upon them. 17 And if a man ſhall take his ſiſter, his fathers daughter, or his mothers daughter, and ſee her nakedneſs, and ſhe ſee his nakedneſs; it is a wicked thing; and they ſhall be cut off in the ſight of their people: he hath uncovered his ſiſters nakedneſs, he ſhall bear his iniquity. 18 And if a man ſhall lie with a woman having her ſickneſs, and ſhall uncover her nakedneſs; he hath hath discovered her fountain, and she hath uncovered the fountain of her blood: and both of them shall be cut off from among their people. 19 And thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of thy mothers sister, nor of thy fathers sister: for he uncovereth his near kin: they shall bear their iniquity. 20 And if a man shall lie with his uncles wife, he hath uncovered his uncles nakedness: they shall bear their sin, they shall die childless. 21 And if a man shall take his brothers wife, it is an unclean thing: he hath uncovered his brothers nakedness, they shall be childless. 22 Ye shall therefore keep all my statutes, and all my judgments, and do them: that the land whither I bring you to dwell therein, spue you not out. 23 And ye shall not walk in the manners of the nation, which I cast out before you: for they committed all these things, and therefore I abhorred them. 24 But I have said unto you, Ye shall inherit their land, and I will give it unto you to possess it, a land that floweth with milk and honey: I am the Lord your God, which have separated you from other people. 25 Ye shall therefore put difference between clean beasts and unclean, and between unclean fowls and clean: and ye shall not make your souls abominable by beast or by fowl, or by any manner of living thing that creepeth on the ground, which I have separated from you as unclean. 26 And ye shall be holy unto me: for I the Lord am holy, and have severed you from other people, that ye should be mine. 27 A man also or woman that hath a familiar spirit, or that is a wizard, shall surely be put to death: they shall stone them with stones: their blood shall be upon them.

And if a Man shall lie with his Uncle's Wife, — they shall die childless] That is, let them be put to Death speedily, that there be no execrable Issue of such damnable Conjunctions; it being unfitting that the Fruit of holy Matrimony should be common to such abominable Mixtures.

From a View of the horrible Crimes forbidden in this Chapter, we may see how wicked the World was (notwithstanding their natural Reason, which some boast of as a sufficient Guide) and would have continued so, had not God restrained them by his Law, and by his Punishments.

CHAP. XXI.

In what Manner the Priests were to mourn; their Holiness; Estimation; Marriages, and Blemishes.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord said unto Moses, Speak unto the priests the sons of Aaron, and say unto them, There shall none be defiled for the dead among his people. 2 But for his kin, that is near unto him, that is for his mother, and for his father, and for his son, and for his daughter, and for his brother. 3 And for his sister a virgin, that is nigh unto him, which hath had no husband: for her may he be defiled. 4 But he shall not defile himself, being a chief man among his people, to profane himself. 5 They shall not make baldness upon their head, neither shall they shave off the corner of their beard, nor make any cuttings in their flesh. 6 They shall be holy unto their God, and not profane the name of their God: for the offerings of the Lord made by fire, and the bread of their God do they offer: therefore they shall be holy. 7 They shall not take a wife that is a whore, or profane; neither shall they take a woman put away from her husband: for he is holy unto his God. 8 Thou shalt sanctify him therefore, for he offereth the bread of thy God: he shall be holy unto thee: for I the Lord which sanctify you, am holy. 9 And the daughter of any priest, if she profane her self by playing the whore, she profaneth her father: she shall be burnt with fire. 10 And he that is the high priest among his brethren, upon whose head the anointing oil was poured, and that is consecrated to put on the garments, shall not uncover his head, nor rent his clothes: 11 Neither shall he go in to any dead body, nor defile himself for his father or for his mother: 12 Neither shall he go out of the sanctuary, nor profane the sanctuary of his God; for the crown of the anointing oil of his God is upon him: I am the Lord. 13 And he shall take a wife in her virginity. 14 A widow, or a divorced woman, or profane, or an harlot, these shall he not take: but he shall take a virgin of his own people to wife. 15 Neither shall he profane his seed among his people: for I the Lord do sanctify him. 16 And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying, 17 Speak unto Aaron, saying, Whosoever he be of thy seed in their generations, that hath any blemish, let him not approach to offer the bread of his God: 18 For whatsoever man he be that hath a blemish, he shall not approach: a blind man, or a lame, or he that hath a flat nose, or any thing superfluous, 19 Or a man that is broken-footed, or broken-handed, 20 Or crook-backt, or a dwarf, or that hath a blemish in his eye, or be scurvy, or scabbed, or hath his stones broken: 21 No man that hath a blemish, of the seed of Aaron the priest, shall come nigh to offer the offerings of the Lord made by fire; he hath a blemish, he shall not come nigh to offer the bread of his God. 22 He shall eat the bread of his God, both of the most holy, and of the holy. 23 Only he shall not go in unto the vail, nor come nigh unto the altar, because he hath a blemish; that he profane not my sanctuaries: for I the Lord do sanctify them. 24 And Moses told it unto Aaron, and to his sons, and unto all the children of Israel.

Thou shalt not sanctify him] This is spoken to Moses in this Sense: Teach and command them to observe all Purity and Holiness; or to the People, in this Sense, Reverence the sacred Office of my Ministers, bear an inviolable Honour to their Persons, who represent my sacred Majesty towards you, in labouring for your Satisfaction by my Word and Sacraments, which they administer unto you.

CHAP. XXII.

Priests in their Uncleanness required to abstain from the holy Things. Laws for Free-will Offerings. No Beast to be offered with its Dam. Sacrifices must be without Blemish. The Age of the Sacrifice. The Law of eating the Sacrifice of Thanksgiving.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord spake unto Moses, saying, 2 Speak unto Aaron, and to his sons, that they separate themselves from the

the holy things of the children of Iſrael, and that they profane not my holy name, in thoſe things which they hallow unto me: I am the Lord. 3 Say unto them, Whoſoever he be of all your ſeed, among your generations, that goeth unto the holy things, which the children of Iſrael hallow unto the Lord, having his uncleanneſs upon him, that ſoul ſhall be cut off from my preſence: I am the Lord. 4 What man ſoever of the ſeed of Aaron is a leper, or hath a running iſſue; he ſhall not eat of the holy things, until he be clean. And whoſo toucheth any thing that is unclean by the dead, or a man whoſe ſeed goeth from him: 5 Or whoſoever toucheth any creeping thing, whereby he may be made unclean, or a man of whom he may take uncleanneſs, whatſoever uncleanneſs he hath: 6 The ſoul which hath touched any ſuch ſhall be unclean until even, and ſhall not eat of the holy things, unleſs he waſh his fleſh with water. 7 And when the ſun is down, he ſhall be clean, and ſhall afterward eat of the holy things, becauſe it is his food. 8 That which dieth of itſelf, or is torn with beaſts, he ſhall not eat to defile himſelf therewith: I am the Lord. 9 They ſhall therefore keep mine ordinance, leſt they bear ſin for it, and die therefore, if they profane it: I the Lord do ſanctify them. 10 There ſhall no ſtranger eat of the holy thing: a ſojourner of the prieſt, or an hired ſervant ſhall not eat of the holy thing. 11 But if the prieſt buy any ſoul with his money, he ſhall eat of it, and he that is born in his houſe: they ſhall eat of his meat. 12 If the prieſts daughter alſo be married unto a ſtranger, ſhe may not eat of an offering of the holy things. 13 But if the prieſts daughter be a widow, or divorced, and have no child, and is returned unto her fathers houſe, as in her youth, ſhe ſhall eat of her fathers meat; but there ſhall no ſtranger eat thereof. 14 And if a man eat of the holy thing unwittingly, then he ſhall put the fifth part thereof unto it, and ſhall give it unto the prieſt, with the holy thing. 15 And they ſhall not profane the holy things of the children of Iſrael which they offer unto the Lord: 16 Or ſuffer them to bear the iniquity of treſpaſs, when they eat their holy things: for I the Lord do ſanctify them. 17 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 18 Speak unto Aaron, and to his ſons, and unto all the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, Whatſoever he be of the houſe of Iſrael, or of the ſtrangers in Iſrael, that will offer his oblation for all his vows, and for all his free-will offerings, which they will offer unto the Lord for a burnt-offering: 19 Ye ſhall offer at your own will a male without blemiſh of the beeves, of the ſheep, or of the goats. 20 But whatſoever hath a blemiſh, that ſhall ye not offer: for it ſhall not be acceptable for you. 21 And whoſoever offereth a ſacrifice of peace-offerings unto the Lord, to accompliſh his vow, or a free will offering in beeves, or ſheep, it ſhall be perfect, to be accepted: there ſhall be no blemiſh therein. 22 Blind, or broken, or maimed, or having a wen, or ſcurvy, or ſcabbed, ye ſhall not offer theſe unto the Lord, nor make an offering by fire of them upon the altar unto the Lord. 23 Either a bullock, or a lamb that hath any thing ſuperfluous or lacking in his parts, that mayeſt thou offer for a free-will offering; but for a vow, it ſhall not be accepted. 24 Ye ſhall not offer unto the Lord that which is bruiſed, or cruſhed, or broken, or cut; neither ſhall you make any offering thereof in your land. 25 Neither from a ſtrangers hand ſhall ye offer the bread of your God of any of theſe; becauſe their corruption is in them, and blemiſhes be in them: they ſhall not be accepted for you. 26 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 27 When a bullock, or a ſheep, or a goat is brought forth, then it ſhall be ſeven days under the dam; and from the eighth day and thenceforth, it ſhall be accepted for an offering made by fire unto the Lord: 28 And whether it be cow or ew, ye ſhall not kill it and her young both in one day. 29 And when ye will offer a ſacrifice of thankſgiving unto the Lord, offer it at your own will. 30 On the ſame day it ſhall be eaten up, ye ſhall leave none of it until the morrow: I am the Lord. 31 Therefore ſhall ye keep my commandments, and do them: I am the Lord. 32 Neither ſhall ye profane my holy name, but I will be hallowed among the children of Iſrael: I am the Lord which hallow you. 33 That brought you out of the land of Egypt, to be your God: I am the Lord.

Speak unto Aaron, and to his Sons, that they ſeparate themſelves from the holy Things] That is, when they ſhall be unclean, by ſome ceremonial Pollution, they ſhall forbear officiating in holy Things, till that Uncleanneſs be remov'd.

I the Lord do ſanctify them] I have choſen, and called them to an Office, the Holineſs of which depends upon myſelf; and therefore the Profanation of it is both againſt my Command, and againſt my Honour, and conſequently deſerves the greater Puniſhment.

Neither ſhall ye profane my holy Name, but I will be hallowed among the Children of Iſrael: I am the Lord which hallow you] Which Words may be thus paraphras'd: Neither ſhall ye profane, that is, contemn my Majeſty, by violating my Commandments. I will be hallowed; that is, I will be made venerable, and cauſe myſelf to be acknowledg'd holy and inviolable in my Majeſty, through my Judgments, Levit. x. 3. Iſa. xxvi. 15. I am the Lord which hallow you, that is, who have given you a Rule in my Law, of all Purity and Innocence, and the Form of inward Holineſs, by my Spirit, and will alſo revenge, as a moſt juſt and holy God, the Tranſgreſſion of the one, and the rejecting of the other.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, Concerning the feaſts of the Lord, which ye ſhall proclaim to be holy convocations, even theſe are my feaſts. 3 Six days ſhall work be done, but the ſeventh day is the ſabbath of reſt, an holy convocation; ye ſhall do no work therein: it is the ſabbath of the Lord in all your dwellings. 4 Theſe are the feaſts of the Lord, even holy convocations, which ye ſhall proclaim in their ſeaſons. 5 In the fourteenth day of the firſt month at even, is the Lords paſſover. 6 And on the fifteenth day of the ſame month, is the feaſt of unleavened bread unto the Lord: ſeven days ye muſt eat unleavened bread. 7 In the firſt day ye ſhall have an holy convocation: ye ſhall do no ſervile work therein. 8 But ye ſhall offer an offering made by fire unto the Lord ſeven days: in the ſeventh day is an holy convocation: ye ſhall do no ſervile work therein. 9 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 10 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, When ye be come into the land which I give unto you, and ſhall reap the harveſt thereof, then ye ſhall bring a ſheaf of the firſt-fruits of your harveſt unto the prieſt: 11 And he ſhall wave the ſheaf before the Lord, to be accepted for you: on the morrow after the ſabbath the prieſt ſhall wave it. 12 And ye ſhall offer that day when ye wave the ſheaf, an he-lamb without blemiſh, of the firſt year, for a burnt-offering unto the Lord. 13 And the meat-offering thereof ſhall be two tenth-deals of fine flour mingled with oil, an offering made by fire unto the Lord for a ſweet ſavour: and the drink-offering thereof ſhall be of wine, the fourth part of an hin. 14 And ye ſhall eat neither bread, nor parched corn, nor green ears, until the ſelf-ſame day that ye have brought an offering unto your God: It ſhall be a ſtatute for ever throughout your generations, in all your dwellings. 15 And ye ſhall count unto you from the morrow after the ſabbath, from the day that ye brought the ſheaf of the wave-offering; ſeven ſabbaths ſhall be compleat: 16 Even unto the morrow after the ſeventh ſabbath, ſhall ye number fifty days, and ye ſhall offer a new meat-offering unto the Lord. 17 Ye ſhall bring out of your habitations two wave-loaves, of two tenth-deals: they ſhall be of fine flour, they ſhall be baken with leaven, they are the firſt-fruits unto the Lord. 18 And ye ſhall offer with the bread ſeven lambs without blemiſh, of the firſt year, and one young bullock and two rams: they ſhall be for a burnt-offering unto the Lord, with their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings, even an offering made by fire of ſweet ſavour unto the Lord. 19 Then ye ſhall ſacrifice one kid of the goats, for a ſin-offering, and two lambs of the firſt year, for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings. 20 And the prieſt ſhall wave them with the bread of the firſt-fruits, for a wave-offering before the Lord, with the two lambs: they ſhall be holy to the Lord for the prieſt. 21 And ye ſhall proclaim on the ſelf-ſame day, that it may be an holy convocation unto you; ye ſhall do no ſervile work therein: It ſhall be a ſtatute for ever in all your dwellings throughout your generations. 22 And when ye reap the harveſt of your land, thou ſhalt not make clean riddance of the corners of thy field when thou reapeſt, neither ſhalt thou gather any gleaning of thy harveſt: thou ſhalt leave them unto the poor, and to the ſtranger: I am the Lord your God. 23 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 24 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, In the ſeventh month, in the firſt day of the month ſhall ye have a ſabbath, a memorial of blowing of trumpets, an holy convocation. 25 Ye ſhall do no ſervile work therein; but ye ſhall offer an offering made by fire unto the Lord. 26 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 27 Alſo on the tenth day of this ſeventh month, there ſhall be a day of atonement, it ſhall be an holy convocation unto you, and ye ſhall afflict your ſouls, and offer an offering made by fire unto the Lord. 28 And ye ſhall do no work in that ſame day: for it is a day of atonement to make an atonement for you before the Lord your God. 29 For whatſoever ſoul it be that ſhall not be afflicted in that ſame day, he ſhall be cut off from among his people. 30 And whatſoever ſoul it be that doth any work in that ſame day, the ſame ſoul will I deſtroy from among his people. 31 Ye ſhall do no manner of work: It ſhall be a ſtatute for ever throughout your generations in all your dwellings. 32 It ſhall be unto you a ſabbath of reſt, and ye ſhall afflict your ſouls in the ninth day of the month at even: from even unto even ſhall ye celebrate your ſabbath. 33 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 34 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, The fifteenth day of this ſeventh month ſhall be the feaſt of tabernacles for ſeven days unto the Lord. 35 On the firſt day ſhall be an holy convocation: ye ſhall do no ſervile work therein. 36 Seven days ye ſhall offer an offering made by fire unto the Lord: on the eighth day ſhall be an holy convocation unto you, and ye ſhall offer an offering made by fire unto the Lord; it is a ſolemn aſſembly, and ye ſhall do no ſervile work therein. 37 Theſe are the feaſts of the Lord, which ye ſhall proclaim to be holy convocations, to offer an offering made by fire unto the Lord, a burnt-offering, and a meat-offering, a ſacrifice, and drink-offerings, every thing upon his day: 38 Beſide the ſabbaths of the Lord, and beſide your gifts, and beſide all your vows, and beſide all your free-will offerings, which ye give unto the Lord. 39 Alſo in the fifteenth day of the ſeventh month, when ye have gathered in the fruit of the land, ye ſhall keep a feaſt unto the Lord ſeven days: on the firſt day ſhall be a ſabbath, and on the eighth day ſhall be a ſabbath. 40 And ye ſhall take you on the firſt day the boughs of goodly trees, branches of palm-trees, and the boughs of thick trees, and willows of the brook; and ye ſhall rejoice before the Lord your God ſeven days. 41 And ye ſhall keep it a feaſt unto the Lord ſeven days in the year: It ſhall be a ſtatute for ever in your generations, ye ſhall celebrate it in the ſeventh month. 42 Ye ſhall dwell in booths ſeven days; all that are Iſraelites born, ſhall dwell in booths: 43 That your generations may know that I have made the children of Iſrael to dwell in booths, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt: I am the Lord your God. 44 And Moſes declared unto the children of Iſrael the feaſts of the Lord.

On the Morrow after the Sabbath the Prieſt ſhall wave it] By the Sabbath here, is to be underſtood the Feaſt of the Paſſover, or Eaſter, as appears from Ver. 5. For by the Name of Sabbath were called all the Feaſts that were made holy.

In the ſeventh Month, in the firſt Day of the Month, ſhall ye have a Sabbath, a Memorial of blowing of Trumpets] In the ſeventh Month (which with us is September) the Feaſt of Trumpets was order'd to be kept; the Blowing, or Sound of which, was to put them in Remembrance of the manifold Feaſts which were in that Month, and to exhort all the People to give Thanks and Praiſes to the Almighty for all his Benefits which they had enjoyed the Year paſt; and to prepare themſelves by acknowledging and confeſſing their Sins, and Sorrow for them, againſt the Day of Expiation, which which was appointed on the tenth of the Month.

The Oil for the Lamps. The Shew-bread. Shelomith's Son blaſphemes. The Law concerning Blaſphemy. Of Murder. The Law of Retaliation. The Blaſphemer ſtoned.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 2 Command the children of Iſrael, that they bring unto thee pure oil-olive, beaten, for the light, to cauſe the lamps to burn continually. 3 Without the vail of the teſtimony, in the tabernacle of the congregation, ſhall Aaron order it from the evening unto the morning, before the Lord continually: It ſhall be a ſtatute for ever in your generations. 4 He ſhall order the lamps upon the pure candleſtick before the Lord continually. 5 And thou ſhalt take fine flour, and bake twelve cakes thereof: two tenth-deals ſhall be in one cake. 6 And thou ſhalt ſet them in two rows, ſix on a row, upon the pure table before the Lord. 7 And thou ſhalt put pure frankincenſe upon each row, that it may be on the bread for a memorial, even an offering made by fire unto the Lord. 8 Every ſabbath he ſhall ſet it in order before the Lord continually, being taken from the children of Iſrael by an everlaſting covenant. 9 And it ſhall be Aarons and his ſons, and they ſhall eat it in the holy place: for it is moſt holy unto him, of the offerings of the Lord made by fire, by a perpetual ſtatute. 10 And the ſon of an Iſraelitiſh woman, whoſe father was an Egyptian, went out among the children of Iſrael; and this ſon of the Iſraelitiſh woman, and a man of Iſrael ſtrove together in the camp; 11 And the Iſraelitiſh womans ſon blaſphemed the Name of the LORD, and curſed: and they brought him unto Moſes (and his mothers name was Shelomith, the daughter of Dibri, of the tribe of Dan) 12 And they put him in ward, that the mind of the Lord might be ſhewed them. 13 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 14 Bring forth him that hath curſed, without the camp, and let all that heard him, lay their hands upon his head, and let all the congregation ſtone him. 15 And thou ſhalt ſpeak unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, Whoſoever curſeth his God, ſhall bear his ſin. 16 And he that blaſphemeth the name of the Lord, he ſhall ſurely be put to death, and all the congregation ſhall certainly ſtone him: as well the ſtranger, as he that is born in the land, when he blaſphemeth the Name of the LORD, ſhall be put to death. 17 And he that killeth any man, ſhall ſurely be put to death. 18 And he that killeth a beaſt, ſhall make it good; beaſt for beaſt. 19 And if a man cauſe a blemiſh in his neighbour; as he hath done, ſo ſhall it be done unto him: 20 Breach for breach, eye for eye, tooth for tooth: as he hath cauſed a blemiſh in a man, ſo ſhall it be done to him again. 21 And he that killeth a beaſt, he ſhall reſtore it: and he that killeth a man, he ſhall be put to death. 22 Ye ſhall have one manner of law, as well for the ſtranger, as for one of your own country: for I am the Lord your God. 23 And Moſes ſpake unto the children of Iſrael, that they ſhould bring forth him that had curſed, out of the camp, and ſtone him with ſtones: and the children of Iſrael did as the Lord commanded Moſes.

And the Son of an Iſraelitiſh Woman, whoſe Father was an Egyptian, went out among the Children of Iſrael; and this Son of the Iſraelitiſh Woman, and a Man of Iſrael ſtrove together in the Camp. And the Iſraelitiſh Woman's Son blaſphemed the Name of the Lord] The Criminal and his Offence, are only thus recorded by Moſes; but the Jews, in explaining theſe Words, have follow'd either that ſuperſtitious Reſpect, which they pay to the Name JEHOVAH, or their wonted Humour of ſupplying the Silence of the ſacred Hiſtory with Circumſtances, no where to be found, but in their own Imaginations. In Purſuance to their Superſtition, they fancy, that the Crime of this Blaſphemer conſiſted ſimply in his pronouncing the Name JEHOVAH, for as much as they ſuppoſe, that there can be no Blaſphemy without ſuch Pronunciation; and, in purſuance to their Humour of ſupplying the Silence of Scripture, they have invented a Genealogy for this Blaſphemer. For they tell us, that he was the Son of one of thoſe Taſk-maſters, who were ſet over the Iſraelites in Egypt, and of that very Taſk-maſter, who, by perſonating her Huſband, violated the Chaſtity of that Jewiſh Matron Shelomith, and was afterwards ſlain by Moſes, for uſing the ſame Huſband with great Barbarity; that the Son, who is here mentioned, quarrelling with a Man of the Tribe of Dan, becauſe he would not let him encamp in the ſame Diſtrict, brought his Cauſe before Moſes; but that, being condemn'd at his Tribunal, he began out of mere Rage and Madneſs, to blaſpheme. Of all this however Moſes ſays nothing, out of a Scruple (as we may well ſuppoſe) to relate the Circumſtances of a Crime, which his very Thoughts deteſted. See Saurin's Diſſert. 58.

Let all they that heard him, lay their Hands upon his Head] This was to intimate, that they thereby confirmed the Evidence they had before given againſt him, and that the Puniſhment due to his Sin might be inflicted on him; but if they accuſed him unjuſtly, that then the ſame Puniſhment might fall on their own Heads.

The Execution was done in the ſame Manner it was afterwards practiſed by the Hebrews; that is, the Witneſſes laid their Hands on his Head, and averred what they teſtified was true; then they gave the Criminal the firſt Stroke on the Loins, and, if he died not thereby, then the reſt of the People threw Stones on him, till he expired.

CHAP. XXV.

Of the Sabbatical Year. The Jubilee. Of Oppreſſion. A Bleſſing on Obedience. The Redemption of Land. Of Houſes. Compaſſion of the Poor. Uſage of Bond-men. Redemption of Servants.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes in mount Sinai, ſaying, 2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, When ye come into the land which I give you, then ſhall the land keep a ſabbath unto the Lord. 3 Six years thou ſhalt ſow thy field, and ſix years thou ſhalt prune thy vineyard, and gather in the fruit thereof. 4 But in the ſeventh year ſhall be a ſabbath of reſt unto the land, a ſabbath for the Lord: thou ſhalt neither ſow thy field, nor prune thy vineyard. 5 That which groweth of its own accord of thy harveſt, thou ſhalt not reap, neither gather the grapes of thy vine undreſſed: for it is a year of reſt unto the land. 6 And the ſabbath of the land ſhall be meat for you; for thee, and for thy ſervant, and for thy maid, and for thy hired-ſervant, and for thy ſtranger that ſojourneth with thee, 7 And for thy cattel, and for the beaſt that are in thy land, ſhall all the

the increaſe thereof be meat. 8 And thou ſhalt number ſeven ſabbaths of years unto thee, ſeven times ſeven years, and the ſpace of the ſeven ſabbaths of years ſhall be unto thee forty and nine years. 9 Then ſhalt thou cauſe the trumpet of the jubile to ſound, on the tenth day of the ſeventh month; in the day of atonement ſhall ye make the trumpet ſound throughout all your land. 10 And ye ſhall hallow the fiftieth year, and proclaim liberty throughout all the land, unto all the inhabitants thereof: it ſhall be a jubile unto you, and ye ſhall return every man unto his poſſeſſion, and ye ſhall return every man to his family. 11 A jubile ſhall that fiftieth year be unto you: ye ſhall not ſow, neither reap that which groweth of it ſelf in it, nor gather the grapes in it of thy vine undreſſed. 12 For it is the jubile, it ſhall be holy unto you: ye ſhall eat the increaſe thereof out of the field. 13 In the year of this jubile ye ſhall return every man unto his poſſeſſion. 14 And if thou ſell ought unto thy neighbour, or buyeſt ought of thy neighbours hand; ye ſhall not oppreſs one another. 15 According to the number of years after the jubile, thou ſhalt buy of thy neighbour, and according to the number of years of the fruits he ſhall ſell unto thee: 16 According to the multitude of years thou ſhalt increaſe the price thereof, and according to the fewneſs of years thou ſhalt diminiſh the price of it: for according to the number of the years of the fruits doth he ſell unto thee. 17 Ye ſhall not therefore oppreſs one another; but thou ſhalt fear thy God: For I am the Lord your God. 18 Wherefore ye ſhall do my ſtatutes, and keep my judgments, and do them; and ye ſhall dwell in the land in ſafety. 19 And the land ſhall yield her fruit, and ye ſhall eat your fill, and dwell therein in ſafety. 20 And if ye ſhall ſay, What ſhall we eat the ſeventh year? behold, we ſhall not ſow, nor gather in our increaſe: 21 Then I will command my bleſſing upon you in the ſixth year, and it ſhall bring forth fruit for three years. 22 And ye ſhall ſow the eighth year, and eat yet of old fruit, until the ninth year; until her fruits come in, ye ſhall eat of the old ſtore. 23 The land ſhall not be ſold for ever: for the land is mine, for ye are ſtrangers and ſojourners with me. 24 And in all the land of your poſſeſſion, ye ſhall grant a redemption for the land. 25 If thy brother be waxen poor, and hath ſold away ſome of his poſſeſſion, and if any of his kin come to redeem it, then ſhall he redeem that which his brother ſold. 26 And if the man have none to redeem it, and himſelf be able to redeem it: 27 Then let him count the years of the ſale thereof, and reſtore the overplus unto the man to whom he ſold it; that he may return unto his poſſeſſion. 28 But if he be not able to reſtore it to him, then that which is ſold, ſhall remain in the hand of him that hath bought it, until the year of jubile; and in the jubile it ſhall go out, and he ſhall return unto his poſſeſſion. 29 And if a man ſell a dwelling-houſe, in a walled city, then he may redeem it within a whole year after it is ſold: within a full year may he redeem it. 30 And if it be not redeemed within the ſpace of a full year; then the houſe that is in the walled city, ſhall be eſtabliſhed for ever to him that bought it, throughout his generations: it ſhall not go out in the jubile. 31 But the houſes of the villages which have no walls round about them, ſhall be counted as the fields of the country: they may be redeemed, and they ſhall go out in the jubile. 32 Notwithſtanding, the cities of the Levites, and the houſes of the cities of their poſſeſſion, may the Levites redeem at any time. 33 And if a man purchaſe of the Levites, then the houſe that was ſold, and the city of his poſſeſſion ſhall go out in the year of jubile: for the houſes of the cities of the Levites are their poſſeſſion among the children of Iſrael. 34 But the field of the ſuburbs of their cities may not be ſold, for it is their perpetual poſſeſſion. 35 And if thy brother be waxen poor, and fallen in decay with thee; then thou ſhalt relieve him: yea, though he be a ſtranger, or a ſojourner; that he may live with thee. 36 Take thou no uſury of him, or increaſe: but fear thy God; that thy brother may live with thee. 37 Thou ſhalt not give him thy money upon uſury, nor ſend him thy victuals for increaſe. 38 I am the Lord your God, which brought you forth out of the land of Egypt, to give you the land of Canaan, and to be your God. 39 And if thy brother that dwelleth by thee be waxen poor, and be ſold unto thee; thou ſhalt not compel him to ſerve as a bond-ſervant: 40 But as an hired ſervant, and as a ſojourner, he ſhall be with thee, and ſhall ſerve thee unto the year of jubile. 41 And then ſhall he depart from thee, both he and his children with him, and ſhall return unto his own family, and unto the poſſeſſion of his fathers ſhall he return. 42 For they are my ſervants, which I brought forth out of the land of Egypt: they ſhall not be ſold as bond-men. 43 Thou ſhalt not rule over him with rigour, but ſhalt fear thy God. 44 Both thy bond-men, and thy bond-maids, which thou ſhalt have, ſhall be of the heathen that are round about you; of them ſhall ye buy bond-men and bond-maids. 45 Moreover, of the children of the ſtrangers that do ſojourn among you, of them ſhall ye buy, and of their families that are with you, which they begat in your land: and they ſhall be your poſſeſſion. 46 And ye ſhall take them as an inheritance for your children after you, to inherit them for a poſſeſſion, they ſhall be your bond-men for ever: but over your brethren the children of Iſrael, ye ſhall not rule one over another with rigour. 47 And if a ſojourner or ſtranger wax rich by thee, and thy brother that dwelleth by him wax poor, and ſell himſelf unto the ſtranger or ſojourner by thee, or to the ſtock of the ſtrangers family: 48 After that he is ſold, he may be redeemed again; one of his brethren may redeem him; 49 Either his uncle, or his uncles ſon may redeem him, or any that is nigh of kin unto him, of his family, may redeem him; or if he be able, he may redeem himſelf. 50 And he ſhall reckon with him that bought him, from the year that he was ſold to him, unto the year of jubile: and the price of his ſale ſhall be according unto the number of years, according to the time of an hired ſervant ſhall it be with him. 51 If there be yet many years behind; according unto them he ſhall give again the price of his redemption, out of the money that he was bought for. 52 And if there remain but few years unto the year of jubile, then he ſhall count with him, and according ing unto his years ſhall he give him again the price of his redemption. 53 And as a yearly hired ſervant ſhall he be with him: and the other ſhall not rule with rigour over him in thy ſight. 54 And if he be not redeemed in theſe years, then he ſhall go out in the year of jubile, both he, and his children with him. 55 For unto me the children of Iſrael are ſervants, they are my ſervants, whom I brought forth out of the land of Egypt: I am the Lord your God.

When ye come into the Land which I give you, then ſhall the Land keep a Sabbath unto the Lord] The firſt ſabbatical Year was held the ſixth Year after the People's coming into the Land of Canaan, and when the Land was divided, as appears from Joſh. xiv. 7, 10. and from the forty-ſixth Year of their leaving Egypt.

The Expreſſion, then ſhall the Land keep a Sabbath unto the Lord, is not to be underſtood in a natural or œcumenical Reſpect, to let the tired Land get Strength, as is commonly practiſed among Huſbandmen; but of a holy and religious Reſt dedicated to the Service of God, for Inſtruction, and more expreſs Remembrance (beſides the Sabbath of Days) of the eternal Reſt from all the Employments of this Life, peculiar to every Believer at his Death; which was figured by this Reſt at every ſeventh Year's End; and then general to all at the happy Reſurrection; at which Time ſhall be the univerſal Releaſement and Infranchiſement of all the Children of God, and their Re-inſtalment in their heavenly Inheritance; which was repreſented by the Jubilee at every fifty Year's End.

Then ſhalt thou cauſe the Trumpet of the Jubilee to ſound, on the tenth Day of the ſeventh Month] The ſeventh Month was the firſt of the Civil Year, Exod. xii. 2. Lev. xxiii. 24. according to whoſe Months they counted the Times of publick Affairs, to the Order of which the Jubilee was for the moſt Part referred; tho' not without ſome Uſe of Inſtruction for divine and eternal Things; and therefore the ſeventh Month is here taken for the Beginning of the Civil Year, Exod. xxiii. 16. and xxxiv. 22.

And ye ſhall hallow the fiftieth Year] That is, ye ſhall diſtinguiſh it from all other common Years, to execute in it all thoſe Commandments which I enjoin you; and it ſhall be a ſacred Sign unto you of the acceptable Year of the Lord, under the Meſſias, Iſa. xli. 2. 1 Cor. vi. 2.

If every ſeventh was a Sabbatical Year, the 49th muſt be one, and the 50th, or Year of Jubilee, immediately ſucceeding, it follows, that there were then two Years of Reſt to the Land; which ſeems improbable. This Objection has been anſwer'd, by obſerving, that it is true, that the Jews always reckoned by the ſeventh Sabbatical Year, that is, the fiftieth incluſively, comprehending the Year of the precedent Jubilee, as is uſually obſerved in ſuch Kind of Accounts; for otherwiſe indeed, from one Jubilee to another, there were but forty nine Years.

The Word Jubilee is by many interpreted to ſignify a Ram's-horn, to ſound with. But it ſeems rather to ſignify a Concert of many ſuch Horns, Trumpets, Cornets, Hautboys, and ſuch like ſounding Inſtruments, called Jubal, Gen. iv. 21. Exod. xix. 13. Joſh. vi. 4.

The Land ſhall not be ſold for ever; for the Land is mine] By For ever, is meant abſolutely, without leaving any Hope to the Seller ever to redeem it. For the Land is mine; or, I reſerve to my ſelf the Right of Propriety in it, and grant you nothing but the bare Uſe of it; therefore I would not have you alienate it at Pleaſure, neither will I ſuffer you to bargain for any Thing abſolutely, but only for the Fruits; for as to the Land itſelf, it muſt always remain to be perpetually improved unto thoſe Perſons and Families to whom I have given it; and not to be ſold, without reſerving a Power in the Seller to redeem it.

But the Field of the Suburbs of their Cities may not be ſold, for it is their perpetual Poſſeſſion] Theſe Fields were certain Parcels of Land, of about a thouſand Cubits in Circumference, in the Suburbs or Places adjoining to their Cities, for the Levites to retire to, and keep and feed their Cattle in, Numb. xxxv. 4. which being all undivided, and lying in common, no particular Perſon had any Right to make any Bargain for it, as he might for his Houſe which was his own. Yet it ſeems, by Jer. xxxii. 7, 8. that this Law was alter'd in enſuing Ages.

Thou ſhalt relieve him, yea, tho' he be a Stranger, or a Sojourner, that he may live with thee. Take thou no Uſury of him] The Stranger was either ſome Iſraelite who had travelled from ſome diſtant Part of the Land; or ſome Stranger, a Proſelite who was converted to Judaiſm: For otherwiſe, God ſuffered them to take Uſe for Money lent to Strangers either of Nation, or Religion, Deut. xxiii. 20.

It has been obſerv'd, that the Sabbath of the ſeventh Year in which all the Land was to reſt, and the Obedience paid to it, is an evident Proof that this Inſtitution was from God: For he alone could command Obedience to ſuch a Law, and his Providence alone could ſupply their Neceſſities at ſuch a Juncture, and ſave them from Famine.

CHAP. XXVI.

Idolatry forbidden. The Sabbaths and publick Worſhip to be piouſly obſerved. Bleſſings promiſed to thoſe who keep the Commandments, and a Curſe threatned to thoſe that break them; great Indulgencies to Penitents.

Ver. 1. YE ſhall make you no idols, nor graven image, neither rear you up a ſtanding image, neither ſhall ye ſet up any image of ſtone in your land, to bow down unto it: for I am the Lord your God. 2 Ye ſhall keep my ſabbaths, and reverence my ſanctuary: I am the Lord. 3 If ye walk in my ſtatutes, and keep my commandments, and do them; 4 Then I will give you rain in due ſeaſon, and the land ſhall yield her increaſe, and the trees of the field ſhall yield their fruit. 5 And your threſhing ſhall reach unto the vintage, and the vintage ſhall reach unto the ſowing-time: and ye ſhall eat your bread to the full, and dwell in your land ſafely. 6 And I will give peace in the land, and ye ſhall lie down, and none ſhall make you afraid: and I will rid evil beaſts out of the land, neither ſhall the ſword go through your land. 7 And ye ſhall chaſe your enemies, and they ſhall fall before you by the ſword. 8 And five of you ſhall chaſe an hundred, and an hundred of you ſhall put ten thouſand to flight: and your enemies ſhall fall before you by the ſword. 9 For I will have reſpect unto you, and make you fruitful, and multiply you, and eſtabliſh my covenant with you. 10 And ye ſhall eat old ſtore, and bring forth the old becauſe of the new. 11 And I will ſet my tabernacle amongſt you: and my ſoul ſhall not abhor you. 12 And I will walk among you, and will be your God, and ye ſhall be my people. 13 I am the Lord your God, which brought you forth out of the land of Egypt, that ye ſhould not be their bond-men, and I have broken the bands of your yoke, and made you go upright. 14 But if ye will not hearken unto me, and will not do all theſe commandments; 15 And if ye ſhall deſpiſe my ſtatutes, or if your ſoul abhor my judgments, ſo that ye will not do all my commandments, but that ye break my covenant: 16 I alſo will do this unto you, I will even appoint over you terror, conſumption, and the burning-ague; that ſhall conſume the eyes, and cauſe ſorrow of heart: and ye ſhall ſow your ſeed in vain, for your enemies ſhall eat it. 17 And I will ſet my face againſt you, and ye ſhall be ſlain before your enemies: they that hate you ſhall reign over you, and ye ſhall flee when none purſueth you. 18 And if ye will not yet for all this hearken unto me, then I will puniſh you ſeven times more for your ſins. 19 And I will break the pride of your power; and I will make your heaven as iron, and your earth as braſs: 20 And your ſtrength ſhall be ſpent in vain: for your land ſhall not yield her increaſe, neither ſhall the trees of the land yield their fruits. 21 And if ye walk contrary unto me, and will not hearken unto me; I will bring ſeven times more plagues upon you, according to your ſins. 22 I will alſo ſend wild beaſts among you, which ſhall rob you of your children, and deſtroy your cattel, and make you few in number, and your high-ways ſhall be deſolate. 23 And if ye will not be reformed by me by theſe things, but will walk contrary unto me: 24 Then will I alſo walk contrary unto you, and will puniſh you yet ſeven times for your ſins. 25 And I will bring a ſword upon you, that ſhall avenge the quarrel of my covenant: and when ye are gathered together within your cities, I will ſend the peſtilence among you; and ye ſhall be delivered into the hand of the enemy. 26 And when I have broken the ſtaff of your bread, ten women ſhall bake your bread in one oven, and they ſhall deliver you your bread again by weight: and ye ſhall eat and not be ſatisfied. 27 And if ye will not for all this hearken unto me, but walk contrary unto me: 28 Then I will walk contrary unto you alſo in fury; and I, even I, will chaſtiſe you ſeven times for your ſins. 29 And ye ſhall eat the fleſh of your ſons, and the fleſh of your daughters, ſhall ye eat. 30 And I will deſtroy your high places, and cut down your images, and caſt your carcaſes upon the carcaſes of your idols, and my ſoul ſhall abhor you. 31 And I will make your cities waſte, and bring your ſanctuaries unto deſolation, and I will not ſmell the ſavour of your ſweet odours. 32 And I will bring the land into deſolation: and your enemies which dwell therein, ſhall be aſtoniſhed at it. 33 And I will ſcatter you among the heathen, and will draw out a ſword after you: and your land ſhall be deſolate, and your cities waſte. 34 Then ſhall the land enjoy her ſabbaths, as long as it lieth deſolate, and ye be in your enemies land; even then ſhall the land reſt, and enjoy her ſabbaths. 35 As long as it lieth deſolate, it ſhall reſt: becauſe it did not reſt in your ſabbaths when ye dwelt upon it. 36 And upon them that are left alive of you, I will ſend a faintneſs into their hearts in the lands of their enemies; and the ſound of a ſhaken leaf ſhall chaſe them; and they ſhall flee; as fleeing from a ſword: and they ſhall fall when none purſueth. 37 And they ſhall fall one upon another, as it were before a ſword, when none purſueth: and ye ſhall have no power to ſtand before your enemies. 38 And ye ſhall periſh among the heathen, and the land of your enemies ſhall eat you up. 39 And they that are left of you, ſhall pine away in their iniquity in your enemies land; and alſo in the iniquities of their fathers ſhall they pine away with them. 40 If they ſhall confeſs their iniquity, and the iniquity of their fathers, with their treſpaſs, which they treſpaſſed againſt me, and that alſo they have walked contrary unto me; 41 And that I alſo have walked contrary unto them, and have brought them into the land of their enemies; if then their uncircumciſed hearts be humbled, and they then accept of the puniſhment of their iniquity: 42 Then will I remember my covenant with Jacob, and alſo my covenant with Iſaac, and alſo my covenant with Abraham will I remember, and I will remember the land. 43 The land alſo ſhall be left of them, and ſhall enjoy her ſabbaths, while ſhe lieth deſolate without them: and they ſhall accept of the puniſhment of their iniquity; becauſe, even becauſe they deſpiſed my judgments, and becauſe their ſoul abhorred my ſtatutes. 44 And yet for all that, when they be in the land of their enemies, I will not caſt them away, neither will I abhor them, to deſtroy them utterly, and to break my covenant with them: for I am the Lord their God. 45 But I will for their ſakes remember the covenant of their anceſtors, whom I brought forth out of the land of Egypt, in the ſight of the heathen, that I might be their God: I am the Lord. 46 Theſe are the ſtatutes, and judgments, and laws, which the Lord made between him and the children of Iſrael, in mount Sinai, by the hand of Moſes.

That the Deſcendants of Jacob might chearfully perſevere in their Duty, and willingly perform their Part of the Covenant, between them and the God of their Fathers, Jehovah ſets before them the mighty Advantages, the glorious Bleſſings, the diſtinguiſhing Rewards, which he would beſtow on them; and that Fear might have an Awe on thoſe on whoſe Hearts Love, Gratitude, or Hope, could not prevail, he denounces the Woes, the Judgments, and fearful Calamities, which their Neglect of his Laws would bring upon them. In this divine Oration, the Sublimity of the Sentiments, the Dignity of the Expreſſions, and the marvellous Energy of the Arguments uſed therein, conſpire to fill the Mind with ſo rational a Reverence, as that it may be very juſtly conſider'd as the very Baſis of the Religion of the Hebrews.

If ye walk in my Statutes, and keep my Commandments and do them, then I will give you Rain in due Seaſon, &c.] The Bleſſings here promiſed are ſuch as were proper to be given to the Iſraelites, a People that deſired nothing ſo much as carnal Enjoyments, and therefore were moſt likely to be encouraged in their Duty by ſuch; which, as they were extenſive in their Nature, ſo alſo were they various in their Kind, exactly ſuited to the Nation to whom they were given, and to the Soil and Climate wherein they were to be beſtowed. Thus, Rains were neceſſary to render Canaan fruitful, which had no ſuch Rivers as the Nile, to enrich it with the Slime coming along with the Torrent; and hence, in another Place, we find, that the former and the latter Rains are promiſed, from whence the Fruitfulneſs of this happy Land was to be derived.

Next to the Happineſs of a plentiful Proviſion, and pleaſant Habitations, nothing could be more deſirable than Peace and Security, without which the former good Gifts could not be truly taſted or enjoyed.

That War, in Caſe they were engaged in it, might not affright them too much, they are aſſured of conſtant and eaſy Victories over their Enemies, whoſe large Armies ſhould fly before the ſmalleſt of their Parties.

They are told, that God would continually look upon them, and make them fruitful, ſo that they ſhould multiply into a very numerous People; and they are promiſed promiſed ſuch a copious Supply of good Things, that they ſhould lay them up in Store-houſes for a long Time, and not to be able to conſume them, before they wanted Room for the New.

Jehovah ſet up his Tabernacle or Tent among them, whither they might continually repair for Counſels and Directions, and receive ſenſible Demonſtration of his Preſence, who delivered them from the Tyranny of the Egyptians, broke the Yoke off from their Shoulders, and made them walk upright and free. That under theſe temporal good Things, ſpiritual Enjoyments were typified, and that the World to come, was to be underſtood by the promiſed Land, without Diminution of the literal Senſe, is highly probable, and is ſo admitted by the moſt learned and candid among the Jewiſh Writers.

As, by extraordinary Promiſes, the Lord drew his People to the Love of their Duty, ſo, by Threatnings as extraordinary, he gave them juſt Cauſe to be afraid of offending. As to the Nature of the Evils threatned, they are ſo clear, that they need no Explanation, except as to the Names of Diſeaſes, which are ſomewhat differently render'd; but it would be miſpending Time to repeat Conjectures. It is evident, that the Maladies, whatſoever they were, would weaken and bring them low, which was the eſſential Part of the Judgment. They were alſo to fly before their Enemies, and to be conquered and ſubdued by thoſe that hated them.

The latter Part of this Chapter undoubtedly relates to the Diſperſion and Recalling of the Jews. This Prophecy of their Diſperſion was written above three thouſand Years ago: They ſubſiſt to this Day, in the Land of their Enemies, and in all Places of the World. This is a convincing Proof of the Inſpiration of ſacred Writ; and affords a ſtrong Argument, that the Prophecies in the New Teſtament, concerning their Call and Converſion, will one Day be fulfilled; which God of his infinite Mercy ſoon grant! Amen.

CHAP. XXVII.

Laws concerning ſingular Vows; Eſtimation of Perſons; of Beaſts; Houſes; Fields or Grounds. What Things were not to be vowed, and being vowed, might, or might not be redeemed. Of the redeeming the Tenths both of Fruits and Cattle.

1 AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael and ſay unto them, When a man ſhall make a ſingular vow, the perſons ſhall be for the Lord, by thy eſtimation. 3 And thy eſtimation ſhall be, of the male from twenty years old, even unto ſixty years old; even thy eſtimation ſhall be fifty ſhekels of ſilver, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary. 4 And if it be a female, then thy eſtimation ſhall be thirty ſhekels. 5 And if it be from five years old, even unto twenty years old; then thy eſtimation ſhall be of the male twenty ſhekels, and for the female ten ſhekels. 6 And if it be from a month old, even unto five years old; then thy eſtimation ſhall be of the male five ſhekels of ſilver, and for the female thy eſtimation ſhall be three ſhekels of ſilver. 7 And if it be from ſixty years old, and above; if it be a male, then thy eſtimation ſhall be fifteen ſhekels, and for the female ten ſhekels. 8 But if he be poorer than thy eſtimation; then he ſhall preſent himſelf before the prieſt, and the prieſt ſhall value him: according to his ability that vowed, ſhall the prieſt value him. 9 And if it be a beaſt whereof men bring an offering unto the Lord; all that any man giveth of ſuch unto the Lord, ſhall be holy. 10 He ſhall not alter it, nor change it, a good for a bad, or a bad for a good: and if he ſhall at all change beaſt for beaſt; then it, and the exchange thereof ſhall be holy. 11 And if it be any unclean beaſt, of which they do not offer a ſacrifice unto the Lord; then he ſhall preſent the beaſt before the prieſt: 12 And the prieſt ſhall value it, whether it be good or bad: as thou valueſt it who art the prieſt, ſo ſhall it be. 13 But if he will at all redeem it, then he ſhall add a fifth part thereof unto thy eſtimation. 14 And when a man ſhall ſanctify his houſe to be holy unto the Lord; then the prieſt ſhall eſtimate it, whether it be good or bad: as the prieſt ſhall eſtimate it, ſo ſhall it ſtand. 15 And if he that ſanctified it, will redeem his houſe, then he ſhall add the fifth part of the money of thy eſtimation unto it, and it ſhall be his. 16 And if a man ſhall ſanctify unto the Lord ſome part of a field of his poſſeſſion; then thy eſtimation ſhall be according to the ſeed thereof: an homer of barley-ſeed ſhall be valued at fifty ſhekels of ſilver. 17 If he ſanctify his field from the year of jubile, according to thy eſtimation it ſhall ſtand. 18 But if he ſanctify his field after the jubile; then the prieſt ſhall reckon unto him the money according to the years that remain, even unto the year of the jubile, and it ſhall be abated from thy eſtimation. 19 And if he that ſanctified the field, will in any wiſe redeem it; then he ſhall add the fifth part of the money of thy eſtimation unto it, and it ſhall be aſſured to him. 20 And if he will not redeem the field, or if he have ſold the field to another man; it ſhall not be redeemed any more. 21 But the field, when it goeth out in the jubile, ſhall be holy unto the Lord, as a field devoted: the poſſeſſion thereof ſhall be the prieſts. 22 And if a man ſanctify unto the Lord a field which he hath bought, which is not of the fields of his poſſeſſion; 23 Then the prieſt ſhall reckon unto him the worth of thy eſtimation, even unto the year of the jubile: and he ſhall give thine eſtimation in that day, as a holy thing unto the Lord. 24 In the year of the jubile, the field ſhall return unto him of whom it was bought, even to him to whom the poſſeſſion of the land did belong. 25 And all thy eſtimations ſhall be according to the ſhekel of the ſanctuary: twenty gerahs ſhall be the ſhekel. 26 Only the firſtling of the beaſts, which ſhould be the Lords firſtling, no man ſhall ſanctify it; whether it be ox, or ſheep: it is the Lords. 27 And if it be of an unclean beaſt, then he ſhall redeem it according to thine eſtimation, and ſhall add a fifth part of it thereto: or if it be not redeemed, then it ſhall be ſold according to thy eſtimation. 28 Notwithſtanding, no devoted thing that a man ſhall devote unto the Lord, of all that he hath, both of man and beaſt, and of the field of his poſſeſſion, ſhall be ſold or redeemed: every devoted thing is moſt holy unto the Lord. 29 None devoted, which ſhall be devoted of men, ſhall be redeemed: but ſhall ſurely be put to death. 30 And all the tithe of the land, whether of the ſeed of the land, or of the fruit of the tree, is the Lords: it is holy unto the Lord. 31 And if a man will at all redeem ought of his tithes, he ſhall add thereto the fifth part thereof. 32 And concerning the tithe of the herd, or of the flock, even of whatſoever paſſeth under the rod; the tenth ſhall be holy unto the Lord. 33 He ſhall not not ſearch whether it be good or bad, neither ſhall he change it: and if he change it at all, then both it and the change thereof ſhall be holy; it ſhall not be redeemed. 34 Theſe are the commandments which the Lord commanded Moſes, for the children of Iſrael, in mount Sinai.

When a Man ſhall make a ſingular Vow] A Singular Vow ſeems to ſignify an expreſs Vow of an eſpecial Conſecration to God, and not a bare Promiſe of ſome general Sanctification or Devotion, which every Believer may and ought to make of himſelf and Family.

And thy Eſtimation ſhall be; of the Male, &c.] The Baſis of all the Precepts reſpecting Vows and Things devoted, was this; That Men would be deſirous of purchaſing a Redemption from Things, which, in the Height of Zeal they might have promiſed. For this Reaſon the High-Prieſt had Power given him to ſet a Value on the Things vowed, and to allot a Sum of Money in lieu thereof. From the Variety of Caſes happening on this Account, theſe Regulations came to be varied, that they might leave nothing doubtful, diſputable, or uncertain.

1. As to Perſons, the Value of Men, Women, Youths, and Children was expreſly ſetled, and the Prieſt was to accept the Sum mentioned in the Law, inſtead of the perſonal Service of ſuch as vowed to devote themſelves or their Children to attend continually about the Tabernacle; and in reſpect to the Poor this ſetled Rate might be leſſened.

2. As to Beaſts devoted to God, if they were clean they were not to be changed; if they were unclean, the Prieſt was to ſet a Value on them, and he who redeemed, was to add a fifth Part, over and above that Price.

3. Houſes might be redeemed in the ſame Manner; but if the Redemption was not made before the Year of Jubilee, the Prieſts were to have them for ever.

4. The People were cautioned not to dedicate or devote the Firſt-born of clean Beaſts, becauſe that they by a former Law, belonged to Jehovah, and conſequently they had no Right over it.

5. A Diſtinction of Things abſolutely devoted to God; for they were neither to be ſold or redeemed, but were to be eſteemed in a high Degree ſacred; and as to the Nations devoted to Deſtruction, they were, without Mercy, to be put to Death.

Laſtly, They were commanded to regard the Tythe of their Lands, as a holy Portion, which if they would redeem, they were to add a fifth Part of its Value, and if they attempted, in numbering their Cattle, to commit any Fraud, by changing the tythed Beaſt, then were they to loſe both it, and that which was put in its Place.

Now, whether the prevailing Piety, which at this Time reigned in the Camp of Iſrael, put the People on vowing, or devoting Things to the Service of Jehovah, cannot be abſolutely aſcertain'd; but it makes for the Probability of this Opinion, that this laſt Chapter of Leviticus is wholly taken up with Regulations on this Subject; eſpecially becauſe they are ſeparated from other Laws, in placed, in a Manner, diſtinct, and by themſelves; tho' various Occaſions might have offer'd Room for them among the Statutes given to the People; and if this be not admitted, there can be no viſible Reaſon found, why they ſhould be recorded here, rather than among the following Precepts, in the remaining Books.

Writers have conſider'd the divine written Law in theſe following Views. 1. With reſpect to the Dignity and Worth of the Law. 2. The Majeſty of the Lawgiver. 3. The Property and Peculiarity of the People receiving it. 4. The Efficacy and Power thereof. 5. The Differences and Agreement of the Old and New Teſtament. 6. The End and Uſe of the Law. 7. The Underſtanding of the Law. 8. The Durance and Continuance thereof.

The Difference between the Moſaic and Chriſtian Inſtitution was this: The Author of the Law was Moſes, mere Man; but the Author of the Goſpel was Jeſus Chriſt, both God and Man. The Law indeed was ordained by the Miniſtry of Angels, in the Hand of a Mediator, who was Moſes, the Mediator between God and the Iſraelites; but Jeſus Chriſt, the Son of God, firſt promulged the Goſpel with his own Mouth.

A N

AN EXPOSITION OF

The Fourth Book of Moſes called NUMBERS.

The ARGUMENT.

This Book continues the Hiſtory of the Children of Iſrael during their forty Years Travels in the Wilderneſs. In the firſt Chapter we have a general Muſter of the People, of ſuch as were fit to bear Arms; namely, from twenty Years old and upwards; but out of this Muſter was excluded the Tribe of Levi, which was to attend the Service of the Tabernacle, and to guard it from the Approaches and Profanations of Strangers. In the next Place is ſet down the new Form of Government eſtabliſhed, by adding ſeventy Elders to aſſiſt Moſes in judging and ruling the People. The Authority of theſe Elders God maintained and confirmed, as he did likewiſe that of Moſes, notwithſtanding the Oppoſition of Aaron and Miriam. Aaron's prieſtly Dignity is likewiſe aſſerted againſt the violent Faction of Korah, Dathan and Abiram. Afterwards is related, that the People being come upon the Confines of Canaan, Moſes ſent out twelve Men to diſcover the Country; Ten of whom, at their Return, terrified the People with the Report they gave of the vaſt Hazards they run in the propoſed Enterprize of attacking the Canaanites; and tho' Caleb and Joſhua endeavoured to convince them of the little Reaſon they had to be afraid, and that God was able to ſubdue all Difficulties and Dangers for them; yet they reſolved to return to Egypt: For which rebellious Inſurrection, both the People and the ten Spies are ſeverely puniſhed, and thoſe of them who came out of Egypt, are ſentenced to die in the Wilderneſs, and for that Purpoſe are order'd to turn back into the Deſart, where they wander'd for the Space of thirty eight Years. At the Expiration of forty Years from their leaving Egypt, they came again to the Borders of Canaan, where God gave them many Victories over the Inhabitants of the Country; however, they are perverted to Idolatry by intermixing with the Moabitiſh Women. The Country which they ſubdued, was divided between Two Tribes and a Half; who, yet, muſt go with their Brethren over Jordan. The People are again numbered, aud none are left alive of thoſe upon the laſt Muſter, but Moſes, Joſhua, and Caleb.

CHAP. I.

Moſes is commanded to number the People. The Number of them according to their reſpective Tribes. The Levites being dedicated to the Service of the Tabernacle, are not numbered with the reſt.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes in the wilderneſs of Sinai, in the tabernacle of the congregation, on the firſt day of the ſecond month, in the ſecond year, after they were come out of the land of Egypt, ſaying, 2 Take ye the ſum of all the congregation of the children of Iſrael, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, with the number of their names, every male by their poll: 3 From twenty years old and upward, all that are able to go forth to war in Iſrael; thou and Aaron ſhall number them by their armies. 4 And with you there ſhall be a man of every tribe; every one is head of the houſe of his fathers. 5 And theſe are the names of the men that ſhall ſtand with you: Of the tribe of Reuben; Elizur the ſon of Shedeur. 6 Of Simeon; Shelumiel the ſon of Zuriſhaddai. 7 Of Judah; Nahiſhon the ſon of Amminadab. 8 Of Iſſachar; Nethaneel the ſon of Zuar. 9 Of Zebulun; Eliab the ſon of Helon. 10 Of the children of Joſeph; of Ephraim, Eliſhama the ſon of Ammihud; of Manaſſeh, Gamaliel, the ſon of Pedahzur. 11 Of Benjamin; Abidan the ſon of Gideoni. 12 Of Dan; Ahiezer the ſon of Ammiſhaddai. 13 Of Aſher; Pagiel the ſon of Ocran. 14 Of Gad; Eliaſaph the ſon of Deuel. 15 Of Naphtali; Ahira the ſon of Enan. 16 Theſe were the renowned of the congregation, princes of the tribes of their fathers, heads of thouſands in Iſrael. 17 And Moſes and Aaron took theſe men, which are expreſſed by their names. 18 And they aſſembled all the congregation together on the firſt day of the ſecond month, and they declared their pedigrees after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, by their poll. 19 As the Lord commanded Moſes, ſo he numbred them in the wilderneſs of Sinai. 20 And the children of Reuben Iſraels eldeſt ſon, by their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, by their poll, every male from twenty old, and upward, all that were able to go forth to war; 21 Thoſe that were numbred of them, even of the tribe of Reuben, were forty and ſix thouſand and five hundred. 22 Of the children of Simeon by their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, thoſe that were numbred of them, according to the number of their names by their polls, every male from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war; 23 Thoſe that were numbred of them, even of the tribe of Simeon, were fifty and nine thouſand and three hundred. 24 Of the children of Gad, by their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war; 25 Thoſe that were numbred of them, even of the tribe of Gad, were forty and five thouſand ſix hundred and fifty. 26 Of the children of Judah, by their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war; 27 Thoſe that were numbred of them, even of the tribe of Judah, were threeſcore and fourteen thouſand and ſix hundred. 28 Of the children of Iſſachar, by their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war; 29 Thoſe that were numbred of them, even of the tribe of Iſſachar, were fifty and four thouſand and four hundred. 30 Of the children of Zebulun, by their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war; 31 Thoſe that were numbred of them, even of the tribe of Zebulun, were fifty and ſeven thouſand and four hundred. 32 Of the children of Joſeph, namely, of the children of Ephraim, by their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war; 33 Thoſe that were numbred of them, even of the tribe of Ephraim, were forty thouſand and five hundred. 34 Of the children of Manaſſeh, by their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war; 35 Thoſe that are numbred of them, even of the tribe of Manaſſeh, were thirty and two thouſand and two hundred. 36 Of the children of Benjamin, by their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war; 37 Thoſe that were numbred of them, even of the tribe of Benjamin, were thirty and five thouſand and four hundred. 38 Of the children of Dan, by their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of their names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war; 39 Thoſe that were numbred of them, even of the tribe of Dan, were threeſcore and two thouſand and ſeven hundred. 40 Of the children of Aſher, by their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war; 41 Thoſe that were numbred of them, even of the tribe of Aſher, were forty and one thouſand and five hundred. 42 Of the children of Naphtali, throughout their generations, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war; 43 Thoſe that were numbred of them, even of the tribe of Naphtali, were fifty and three thouſand and four hundred. 44 Theſe are thoſe that were numbred, which Moſes and Aaron numbred, and the princes of Iſrael being twelve men: each one was for the houſe of his fathers. 45 So were all thoſe that were numbred of the children of Iſrael, by the houſe of their fathers, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war in Iſrael; 46 Even all they that were numbred, were ſix hundred thouſand and three thouſand and five hundred and fifty. 47 But the Levites, after the tribe of their fathers, were not numbered among them. 48 For the Lord had ſpoken unto Moſes, ſaying, 49 Only thou ſhalt not number the tribe of Levi, neither take the ſum of them among the children of Iſrael: 50 But thou ſhalt appoint the Levites over the tabernacle of teſtimony, and over all the veſſels thereof, and over all things that belong to it: they ſhall bear the tabernacle, and all the veſſels thereof, and they ſhall miniſter unto it, and ſhall encamp round about the tabernacle. 51 And when the tabernacle ſetteth forward, the Levites ſhall take it down: and when the tabernacle is to be pitched, the Levites ſhall ſet it up: and the ſtranger that cometh nigh, ſhall be put to death. 52 And the children of Iſrael ſhall pitch their tents every man by his own camp, and every man by his own ſtandard, throughout their hoſts. 53 But the Levites ſhall pitch round about the tabernacle of teſtimony; that there be no wrath upon the congregation of the children of Iſrael: and the Levites ſhall keep the charge of the tabernacle of teſtimony. 54 And the children of Iſrael did according to all that the Lord commanded Moſes, ſo did they.

Take ye the Sum of all the Congregation of the Children of Iſrael] This Muſter was made in the ſecond Year from their leaving Egypt; and notwithſtanding they had been ever ſince in a travelling Condition, had been engaged in Battle with the Amalekites, and had loſt above 3000 Men on Account of their golden Calf; yet, upon comparing the two Muſters, they were conſiderably increaſed. For, when they came out of Egypt, they were computed to be about 600,000 Men, including the Tribe of Levi, Exod. xii. 37. and now they are 603,550 Men, excluſive of the Levites, who being numbered by themſelves, were 22,000 Males of a Month old and upwards, Numb. iii. 39.

But the Levites after the Tribe of their Fathers, were not numbered among them] This was, becauſe God had deſigned them to the peculiar Service of the Tabernacle; not only to take the Charge thereof, and of all the Veſſels belonging to it, but to take it down upon every Remove, and to carry the Whole, till their next Encampment. They were therefore ordered to pitch their Tents round the Tabernacle in ſuch a Manner Manner, as to hinder the People from licentiouſly or profanely coming near, or touching it; whereby they might be grievouſly puniſhed by God for their impious Preſumption.

CHAP. II.

The Order to be obſerved by the Twelve Tribes in their Encampment round the Tabernacle; and the Manner of their Marches.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, and unto Aaron, ſaying, 2 Every man of the children of Iſrael ſhall pitch by his own ſtandard, with the enſign of their fathers houſe: far off about the tabernacle of the congregation ſhall they pitch. 3 And on the eaſt-ſide toward the riſing of the ſun, ſhall they of the ſtandard of the camp of Judah pitch, throughout their armies: and Nahſhon the ſon of Amminadab ſhall be captain of the children of Judah. 4 And his hoſt, and thoſe that were numbred of them, were threeſcore and fourteen thouſand and ſix hundred. 5 And thoſe that do pitch next unto him, ſhall be the tribe of Iſſachar: and Nethaneel the ſon of Zuar ſhall be captain of the children of Iſſachar. 6 And his hoſt, and thoſe that were numbred thereof, were fifty and four thouſand and four hundred. 7 Then the tribe of Zebulun: and Eliab the ſon of Helon, ſhall be captain of the children of Zebulun. 8 And his hoſt, and thoſe that were numbred thereof, were fifty and ſeven thouſand, and four hundred. 9 All that were numbred in the camp of Judah, were an hundred thouſand and fourſcore thouſand and ſix thouſand and four hundred throughout their armies: theſe ſhall firſt ſet forth. 10 On the ſouth ſide ſhall be the ſtandard of the camp of Reuben, according to their armies: and the captain of the children of Reuben, ſhall be Elizur the ſon of Shedeur. 11 And his hoſt, and thoſe that were numbred thereof, were forty and ſix thouſand and five hundred. 12 And thoſe which pitch by him, ſhall be the tribe of Simeon: and the captain of the children of Simeon, ſhall be Shelumiel the ſon of Zuriſhaddai. 13 And his hoſt, and thoſe that were numbred of them, were fifty and nine thouſand and three hundred. 14 Then the tribe of Gad: and the captain of the ſons of Gad, ſhall be Eliaſaph the ſon of Reuel. 15 And his hoſt, and thoſe that were numbred of them, were forty and five thouſand and ſix hundred and fifty. 16 All that were numbred in the camp of Reuben, were an hundred thouſand, and fifty and one thouſand and four hundred and fifty, throughout their armies: and they ſhall ſet forth in the ſecond rank. 17 Then the tabernacle of the congregation ſhall ſet forward with the camp of the Levites, in the midſt of the camp: as they encamp, ſo ſhall they ſet forward, every man in his place by their ſtandards. 18 On the weſtward ſhall be the ſtandard of the camp of Ephraim, according to their armies: and the captain of the ſons of Ephraim, ſhall be Eliſhama the ſon of Ammihud. 19 And his hoſt, and thoſe that were numbred of them, were forty thouſand and five hundred. 20 And by him ſhall be the tribe of Manaſſeh: and the captain of the children of Manaſſeh, ſhall be Gamaliel the ſon of Pedahzur. 21 And his hoſt, and thoſe that were numbred of them, were thirty and two thouſand and two hundred. 22 Then the tribe of Benjamin: and the captain of the ſons of Benjamin, ſhall be Abidan the ſon of Gideoni. 23 And his hoſt, and thoſe that were numbered of them, were thirty and five thouſand and four hundred. 24 All that were numbred of the camp of Ephraim, were an hundred thouſand and eight thouſand and an hundred, throughout their armies: and they ſhall go forward in the third rank. 25 The ſtandard of the camp of Dan ſhall be on the north-ſide by their armies: and the captain of the children of Dan, ſhall be Ahiezer the ſon of Amiſhaddai. 26 And his hoſt, and thoſe that were numbred of them, were threeſcore and two thouſand and ſeven hundred. 27 And thoſe that encamp by him, ſhall be the tribe of Aſher: and the captain of the children of Aſher, ſhall be Pagiel the ſon of Ocran. 28 And his hoſt, and thoſe that were numbred of them, were forty and one thouſand and five hundred. 29 Then the tribe of Naphtali: and the captain of the children of Naphtali, ſhall be Ahira the ſon of Enan. 30 And his hoſt, and thoſe that were numbred of them, were fifty and three thouſand and four hundred. 31 All they that were numbred in the camp of Dan, were an hundred thouſand and fifty and ſeven thouſand and ſix hundred: they ſhall go hindmoſt with their ſtandards. 32 Theſe are thoſe which were numbred of the children of Iſrael by the houſe of their fathers; all thoſe that were numbred of the camps throughout their hoſts, were ſix hundred thouſand and three thouſand and five hundred and fifty. 33 But the Levites were not numbred among the children of Iſrael; as the Lord commanded Moſes. 34 And the children of Iſrael did according to all that the Lord commanded Moſes: ſo they pitched by their ſtandards, and ſo they ſet forward, every one after their families, according to the houſe of their fathers.

Every Man of the Children of Iſrael ſhall pitch by his own Standard] Each Standard is ſuppoſed by ſome to have been of the Colour of the Stone in Aaron's Pectoral, upon which the Name of the Tribe, to which it belonged, was written. But farther; the Figures on the Standards of the four principal Tribes, are theſe: In that of Judah was borne a Lion; in that of Ephraim, an Ox; in that of Reuben, the Head of a Man; and in that of Dan, an Eagle with a Serpent in his Talons, which are indeed the four moſt perfect Animals. The Lion is the moſt noble among wild Beaſts; the Ox among Beaſts of Labour; the Eagle among Birds; and the Man among all Creatures.

The ſame four Creatures are uſed, Ezek. i. 10. to deſcribe the Nature of Angels. Every Cherubim is ſaid to have four Faces; the Face of a Man, to ſhew his Underſtanding; of a Lion, to ſhew his Power; of an Ox, to ſet forth his miniſterial Office; of an Eagle, to declare his Swiftneſs in the Execution of God's Will. See alſo the ſame Deſcription, Rev. iv. 6.

By the ſame Four, in the Opinion of many of the antient Fathers, are ſhadowed the Four Evangeliſts. The Man typifies St. Matthew, becauſe he begins his Goſpel with the Generation of Chriſt, according to his Humanity; the Lion, St. Mark, becauſe he begins his Goſpel with the Voice of a Lion roaring in the Wilderneſs; the Ox, St. Luke, becauſe he begins with Zacharias the Prieſt; and the Eagle, St. John, who, ſoaring aloft, begins with the Divinity of our bleſſed Saviour and Redeemer Jeſus Chriſt.

Divers Regulations with reſpect to the Levites. The Place and Charge of Moſes and Aaron. The Firſt-born of the Children of Iſrael being more numerous than the Levites, the reſt are redeemed, and the Money given to Aaron.

Ver. 1. THeſe alſo are the generations of Aaron and Moſes, in the day that the Lord ſpake with Moſes in mount Sinai. 2 And theſe are the names of the ſons of Aaron; Nadab the firſt-born, and Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar. 3 Theſe are the names of the ſons of Aaron, the prieſts which were anointed, whom he conſecrated to miniſter in the prieſts office. 4 And Nadab and Abihu died before the Lord, when they offered ſtrange fire before the Lord, in the wilderneſs of Sinai, and they had no children: and Eleazar and Ithamar miniſtred in the prieſts office, in the ſight of Aaron their father. 5 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 6 Bring the tribe of Levi near, and preſent them before Aaron the prieſt, that they may miniſter unto him. 7 And they ſhall keep his charge, and the charge of the whole congregation before the tabernacle of the congregation, to do the ſervice of the tabernacle. 8 And they ſhall keep all the inſtruments of the tabernacle of the congregation, and the charge of the children of Iſrael, to do the ſervice of the tabernacle. 9 And thou ſhalt give the Levites unto Aaron and to his ſons: they are wholly given unto him out of the children of Iſrael. 10 And thou ſhalt appoint Aaron and his ſons, and they ſhall wait on their prieſts office: and the ſtranger that cometh nigh, ſhall be put to death. 11 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 12 And I, behold, I have taken the Levites from among the children of Iſrael, in ſtead of all the firſt-born that openeth the matrice among the children of Iſrael: therefore the Levites ſhall be mine, 13 Becauſe all the firſt-born are mine; for on the day that I ſmote all the firſt-born in the land of Egypt, I hallowed unto me all the firſt-born in Iſrael, both man and beaſt, mine they ſhall be: I am the Lord. 14 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes in the wilderneſs of Sinai, ſaying, 15 Number the children of Levi, after the houſe of their fathers, by their families: every male from a month old and upward, ſhalt thou number them. 16 And Moſes numbred them according to the word of the Lord, as he was commanded. 17 And theſe were the ſons of Levi, by their names; Gerſhon, and Kohath, and Merari. 18 And theſe are the names of the ſons of Gerſhon by their families; Libni, and Shimei. 19 And the ſons of Kohath by their families; Amram, and Izeher, Hebron, and Uzziel. 20 And the ſons of Merari by their families: Mahli, and Muſhi: theſe are the families of the Levites, according to the houſe of their fathers. 21 Of Gerſhon was the family of the Libnites, and the family of the Shimites: theſe are the families of the Gerſhonites. 22 Thoſe that were numbered of them, according to the number of all the males, from a month old and upward, even thoſe that were numbred of them, were ſeven thouſand and five hundred. 23 The families of the Gerſhonites ſhall pitch behind the tabernacle weſt-ward. 24 And the chief of the houſe of the father of the Gerſhonites, ſhall be Eliaſaph the ſon of Lael. 25 And the charge of the ſons of Gerſhon, in the tabernacle of the congregation, ſhall be the tabernacle, and the tent, the covering thereof, and the hanging for the door of the tabernacle of the congregation: 26 And the hangings of the court, and the curtain for the door of the court, which is by the tabernacle, and by the altar round about, and the cords of it, for all the ſervice thereof. 27 And of Kohath was the family of the Amramites, and the family of the Izeharites, and the family of the Hebronites, and the family of the Uzzielites: theſe are the families of the Kohathites. 28 In the number of all the males, from a month old and upward, were eight thouſand and ſix hundred, keeping the charge of the ſanctuary. 29 The families of the ſons of Kohath ſhall pitch on the ſides of the tabernacle ſouthward. 30 And the chief of the houſe of the father of the families of the Kohathites, ſhall be Elizaphan the ſon of Uzziel. 31 And their charge ſhall be the ark, and the table, and the candleſtick, and the altar, and the veſſels of the ſanctuary wherewith they miniſter, and the hanging, and all the ſervice thereof. 32 And Eleazar the ſon of Aaron the prieſt, ſhall be chief over the chief of the Levites, and have the overſight of them that keep the charge of the ſanctuary. 33 Of Merari was the family of the Mahlites, and the family of the Muſhites: theſe are the families of Merari. 34 And thoſe that were numbred of them, according to the number of all the males from a month old and upward, were ſix thouſand and two hundred. 35 And the chief of the houſe of the father of the families of Merari, was Zuriel the ſon of Abihail: theſe ſhall pitch on the ſide of the tabernacle north-ward. 36 And under the cuſtody and charge of the ſons of Merari, ſhall be the boards of the tabernacle, and the bars thereof, and the pillars thereof, and the ſockets thereof, and all the veſſels thereof, and all that ſerveth thereto, 37 And the pillars of the court round about, and their ſockets, and their pins, and their cords. 38 But thoſe that encamp before the tabernacle toward the eaſt, even before the tabernacle of the congregation eaſt-ward, ſhall be Moſes and Aaron, and his ſons, keeping the charge of the ſanctuary, for the charge of the children of Iſrael; and the ſtranger that cometh nigh, ſhall be put to death. 39 All that were numbred of the Levites, which Moſes and Aaron numbred at the commandment of the Lord, throughout their families, all the males from a month old and upward, were twenty and two thouſand. 40 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Number all the firſt-born of the males of the children of Iſrael, from a month old and upward, and take the number of their names. 41 And thou ſhalt take the Levites for me (I am the Lord) in ſtead of all the firſt-born of the children of Iſrael; and the cattel of the Levites, in ſtead of all the firſtlings among the cattel of the children of Iſrael. 42 And Moſes numbred, as the Lord commanded him, all the firſt-born among the children of Iſrael. 43 And all the firſt-born males, by the number of names, from a month old and upward, of thoſe that were numbred of them, were twenty and two thouſand two hundred and threeſcore and thirteen. 44 And the Lord

Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 45 Take the Levites in ſtead of all the firſt-born among the children of Iſrael, and the cattel of the Levites in ſtead of their cattel, and the Levites ſhall be mine: I am the Lord. 46 And for thoſe that are to be redeemed of the two hundred and threeſcore and thirteen, of the firſt-born of the children of Iſrael, which are more than the Levites; 47 Thou ſhalt even take five ſhekels apiece by the poll, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary ſhalt thou take them: the ſhekel is twenty gerahs. 48 And thou ſhalt give the money, wherewith the odd number of them is to be redeemed, unto Aaron, and to his ſons. 49 And Moſes took the redemption money of them that were over and above them that were redeemed by the Levites. 50 Of the firſt-born of the children of Iſrael took he the money; a thouſand three hundred and threeſcore and five ſhekels, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary. 51 And Moſes gave the money of them that were redeemed, unto Aaron, and to his ſons, according to the word of the Lord, as the Lord commanded Moſes.

These are the Generations of Aaron and Moſes] It's very probable, that by the Generations of Moſes and Aaron, might be underſtood and meant their Succeſſors in the Office of Prieſthood, which having been jointly executed by Moſes and Aaron, was afterwards exerciſed by the Sons of Aaron only, Pſ. xcix. 6.

And they ſhall keep his Charge] In the Hebrew it is, obſerve his obſerving; that is, they ſhall be as the Hands and Helpers of Aaron, in the inferior Places of God's Houſe; and ſhall repreſent the whole People in the Miniſtry, performed by them in his Name; which before was performed by all the Firſt-born indifferently, Exod. xix. 22. and xxiv. 5. Numb. viii. 16. but now the Levites are inſtalled therein inſtead of them.

And the Stranger that cometh nigh, ſhall be put to Death] Every Perſon who was not of Aaron's Stock and Lineage (which alone was conſecrated by the divine Anointing and Calling) was a Stranger: Whereby is ſignified, that God has in Abomination, all other Satisfaction and Interceſſion beſides Chriſt's, who only hath the Unction of God's Calling to the Prieſthood, and who alone hath from him receiv'd the Fulneſs of Gifts requiſite to his Office.

Number the Children of Levi, after the Houſe of their Fathers, by their Families; every Male from a Month old and upward ſhalt thou number them] The Numbering of the Levites was three-fold. Firſt, from one Month old and upwards; as here mentioned. Secondly, from twenty-five Years old and upwards, when they were admitted as Novices, to adminiſter in the common Service of this Temple, Numb. xxxviii. 24. Thirdly, from thirty Years old and upwards, who were the Principal, not only in the Adminiſtration of the Tabernacle, but likewiſe in the Carriage of it and its Furniture, Numb. iv. 3. When they attained to their fiftieth Year, they were exempted from farther Attendance of this Kind, and only obliged to aſſiſt the reſt with their Authority, Inſpection, Direction and Advice, Numb. viii. 25, 26.

And for thoſe that are to be redeemed of the two hundred threeſcore and thirteen, of the firſt-born of the Children of Iſrael, which are more than the Levites; thou ſhalt even take five Shekels a-piece] Which Sum amounted to 115*l.* 14*s.* of our Money; which, by divine Command, Moſes ordered to be paid into the Hands of Aaron.

CHAP. IV.

The Age and Time of the Levites Service. The Charges of the Prieſts touching the Removal of the Tabernacle.

28

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, and unto Aaron, ſaying, 2 Take the ſum of the ſons of Kohath from among the ſons of Levi, after their families, by the houſe of their fathers; 3 From thirty years old and upward, even until fifty years old, all that enter into the hoſt, to do the work in the tabernacle of the congregation. 4 This ſhall be the ſervice of the ſons of Kohath in the tabernacle of the congregation, about the moſt holy things. 5 And when the camp ſetteth forward, Aaron ſhall come and his ſons, and they ſhall take down the covering vail, and cover the ark of teſtimony with it: 6 And ſhall put thereon the covering of badgers ſkins, and ſhall ſpread over it a cloth wholly of blue, and ſhall put in the ſtaves thereof. 7 And upon the table of ſhew-bread they ſhall ſpread a cloth of blue, and put thereon the diſhes, and the ſpoons, and the bowls, and covers to cover withal: and the continual bread ſhall be thereon. 8 And they ſhall ſpread upon them a cloth of ſcarlet, and cover the ſame with a covering of badgers ſkins, and ſhall put in the ſtaves thereof. 9 And they ſhall take a cloth of blue, and cover the candleſtick of the light, and his lamps, and his tongs and his ſnuff-diſhes, and all the oil-veſſels thereof, wherewith they miniſter unto it. 10 And they ſhall put it and all the veſſels thereof within a covering of badgers ſkins, and ſhall put it upon a bar. 11 And upon the golden altar they ſhall ſpread a cloth of blue, and cover it with a covering of badgers ſkins, and ſhall put to the ſtaves thereof. 12 And they ſhall take all the inſtruments of miniſtry, wherewith they miniſter in the ſanctuary, and put them in a cloth of blue, and cover them with a covering of badgers ſkins, and ſhall put them on a bar. 13 And they ſhall take away the aſhes from the altar, and ſpread a purple cloth thereon: 14 And they ſhall put upon it all the veſſels thereof, wherewith they miniſter about it, even the cenſers, the fleſh-hooks, and the ſhovels, and the baſons, all the veſſels of the altar; and they ſhall ſpread upon it a covering of badgers ſkins, and put to the ſtaves of it. 15 And when Aaron and his ſons have made an end of covering the ſanctuary, and all the veſſels of the ſanctuary, as the camp is to ſet forward; after that, the ſons of Kohath ſhall come to bear it: but they ſhall not touch any holy thing, leſt they die. Theſe things are the burden of the ſons of Kohath, in the tabernacle of the congregation. 16 And to the office of Eleazar the ſon of Aaron the prieſt, pertaineth the oil for the light, and the ſweet incenſe, and the daily meat-offering, and the anointing oil, and the overſight of all the tabernacle, and of all that therein is, in the ſanctuary, and in the veſſels thereof. 17 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, and unto Aaron, ſaying, 18 Cut ye not off the tribe of the families of the Kohathites, from among the Levites. 19 But thus do unto them, that they may live and not die, when they approach unto the moſt holy things; Aaron and his ſons ſhall go in, and appoint them every one to his ſervice, and to his burden. 20 But they ſhall not go in to ſee when the holy things are covered, leſt they die. 21 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 22 Take alſo the ſum of the ſons of Gerſhon, throughout the houſes of their fathers by their families; 23 From thirty years old and upward, until fifty years old ſhalt thou number them; all that enter in to perform the ſervice, to do the work in the tabernacle of the congregation. 24 This is the ſervice of the families of the Gerſhonites, to ſerve, and for burdens. 25 And they ſhall bear the curtains of the tabernacle, and the tabernacle of the congregation, his covering, and the covering of the badgers ſkins that is above upon it, and the hanging for the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, 26 And the hangings of the court, and the hanging for the door of the gate of the court which is by the tabernacle and by the altar round about, and their cords, and all the inſtruments of their ſervice, and all that is made for them: ſo ſhall they ſerve. 27 At the appointment of Aaron and his ſons, ſhall be all the ſervice of the ſons of the Gerſhonites, in all their burdens, and in all their ſervice: and ye ſhall appoint unto them in charge all their burdens. 28 This is the ſervice of the families of the ſons of Gerſhon, in the tabernacle of the congregation: and their charge ſhall be under the hand of Ithamar the ſon of Aaron the prieſt. 29 As for the ſons of Merari, thou ſhalt number them after their families, by the houſe of their fathers; 30 From thirty years old and upward, even unto fifty years old ſhalt thou number them, every one that entreth in to the ſervice, to do the work of the tabernacle of the congregation. 31 And this is the charge of their burden, according to all their ſervice in the tabernacle of the congregation; the boards of the tabernacle, and the bars thereof, and the pillars thereof, and ſockets thereof, 32 And the pillars of the court round about, and their ſockets, and their pins, and their cords, with all their inſtruments, and with all their ſervice: and by name ye ſhall reckon the inſtruments of the charge of their burden. 33 This is the ſervice of the families of the ſons of Merari, according to all their ſervice in the tabernacle of the congregation, under the hand of Ithamar the ſon of Aaron the prieſt. 34 And Moſes and Aaron and the chief of the congregation numbred the ſons of the Kohathites, after their families, and after the houſe of their fathers; 35 From thirty years old, and upward, even unto fifty years old, every one that entreth into the ſervice, for the work in the tabernacle of the congregation: 36 And thoſe that were numbred of them by their families, were two thouſand ſeven hundred and fifty. 37 Theſe were they that were numbred of the families of the Kohathites, all that might do ſervice in the tabernacle of the congregation; which Moſes and Aaron did number, according to the commandment of the Lord by the hand of Moſes. 38 And thoſe that were numbred of the ſons of Gerſhon, throughout their families, and by the houſe of their fathers; 39 From thirty years old and upward, even unto fifty years old, every one that entreth in to the ſervice, for the work in the tabernacle of the congregation: 40 Even thoſe that were numbred of them, throughout their families, by the houſes of their fathers, were two thouſand and ſix hundred and thirty. 41 Theſe are they that were numbred of the families of the ſons of Gerſhon, of all that might do ſervice in the tabernacle, of the congretion, whom Moſes and Aaron did number, according to the commandment of the Lord. 42 And thoſe that were numbred of the families of the ſons of Merari, throughout their families, by the houſe of their fathers; 43 From thirty years old and upward, even unto fifty years old, every one that entreth in to the ſervice for the work in the tabernacle of the congregation: 44 Even thoſe that were numbred of them after their families, were three thouſand and two hundred. 45 Theſe be thoſe that were numbred of the families of the ſons of Merari, whom Moſes and Aaron numbred according to the word of the Lord by the hand of Moſes. 46 All thoſe that were numbred of the Levites, whom Moſes and Aaron and the chief of Iſrael numbred, after their families, and after the houſe of their fathers; 47 From thirty years old and upward, even unto fifty years old, every one that came to do the ſervice of the miniſtry, and the ſervice of the burden in the tabernacle of the congregation; 48 Even thoſe that were numbred of them were eight thouſand and five hundred and fourſcore. 49 According to the commandment of the Lord, they were numbred by the hand of Moſes, every one according to his ſervice, and according to his burden: thus were they numbred of him, as the Lord commanded Moſes.

All that enter in to the Hoſt] That is, all that are not hindered by any natural or bodily Impediments, or Defects, Lev. xii. 17. or, unable for theſe laborious Services. The ſame Rule was alſo obſerved in muſtering the other Tribes, when called out to War, Numb. i. 3. The Words, in to the Hoſt, in the Hebrew ſignify War, or military Profeſſion: For this great Number of miniſtring Officers were diſtributed into ſeveral Troops or Squadrons, to do Service by Turns, in Order, under their particular Heads, as in War.

All unclean Perſons to be removed out of the Camp. Of reſtoring Things purloined or hallowed. The Trial of Jealouſy.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 2 Command the children of Iſrael, that they put out of the camp every leper, and every one that hath an iſſue, and whoſoever is defiled by the dead. 3 Both male and female ſhall ye put out without the camp ſhall ye put them; that they defile not their camps in the midſt whereof I dwell. 4 And the children of Iſrael did ſo, and put them out without the camp: as the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſo did the children of Iſrael. 5 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 6 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, When a man or woman ſhall commit any ſin that men commit, to do a treſpaſs againſt the Lord, and that perſon be guilty; 7 Then they ſhall confeſs the ſin which they have done: and he ſhall recompenſe his treſpaſs with the principal thereof, and add unto it the fifth part thereof, and give it unto him againſt whom he hath treſpaſſed. 8 But if the man have no kinſman to recompenſe the treſpaſs unto, let the treſpaſs be recompenſed unto the Lord, even to the prieſt; beſide the ram of the atonement, whereby an atonement ſhall be made for him. 9 And every offering of all the holy things of the children of Iſrael, which they bring unto the prieſt, ſhall be his. 10 And every mans hallowed things ſhall be his: whatſoever any man giveth the prieſt, it ſhall be his. 11 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 12 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, If any mans wife go aſide, and commit a treſpaſs againſt him. 13 And a man lie with her carnally, and it be hid from the eyes of her huſband, and be kept cloſe, and ſhe be defiled, and there be no witneſs againſt her, neither ſhe be taken with the manner; 14 And the ſpirit of jealouſy come upon him, and he be jealous of his wife, and ſhe be defiled; or if the ſpirit of jealouſy come upon him, and he be jealous of his wife, and ſhe be not defiled: 15 Then ſhall the man bring his wife unto the prieſt, and he ſhall bring her offering for her, the tenth part of an ephah of barly-meal; he ſhall pour no oil upon it, nor put frankincenſe thereon, for it is an offering of jealouſy, an offering of memorial, bringing iniquity to remembrance. 16 And the prieſt ſhall bring her near, and ſet her before the Lord. 17 And the prieſt ſhall take holy water in an earthen veſſel, and of the duſt that is in the floor of the tabernacle the prieſt ſhall take, and put it into the water. 18 And the prieſt ſhall ſet the woman before the Lord, and uncover the womans head, and put the offering of memorial in her hands, which is the jealouſy-offering: and the prieſt ſhall have in his hand the bitter water that cauſeth the curſe. 19 And the prieſt ſhall charge her by an oath, and ſay unto the woman, If no man have lien with thee, and if thou haſt not gone aſide to uncleanneſs with another in ſtead of thy huſband, be thou free from this bitter water that cauſeth the curſe: 20 But if thou haſt gone aſide to another in ſtead of thy huſband, and if thou be defiled, and ſome man hath lien with thee beſide thine huſband: 21 Then the prieſt ſhall charge the woman with an oath of curſing, and the prieſt ſhall ſay unto the woman, The Lord make thee a curſe and an oath among thy people, when the Lord doth make thy thigh to rot, and thy belly to ſwell; 22 And this water that cauſeth the curſe ſhall go into thy bowels, to make thy belly to ſwell, and thy thigh to rot: And the woman ſhall ſay, Amen, Amen. 23 And the prieſt ſhall write theſe curſes in a book, and he ſhall blot them out with the bitter water: 24 And he ſhall cauſe the woman to drink the bitter water that cauſeth the curſe: and the water that cauſeth the curſe ſhall enter into her, and become bitter. 25 Then the prieſt ſhall take the jealouſy-offering out of the womans hand, and ſhall wave the offering before the Lord, and offer it upon the altar. 26 And the prieſt ſhall take an handful of the offering, even the memorial thereof, and burn it upon the altar, and afterward ſhall cauſe the woman to drink the water. 27 And when he hath made her to drink the water, then it ſhall come to paſs, that if ſhe be defiled, and have done treſpaſs againſt her huſband; that the water that cauſeth the curſe ſhall enter into her, and become bitter, and her belly ſhall ſwell, and her thigh ſhall rot: and the woman ſhall be a curſe among her people. 28 And if the woman be not defiled, but be clean; then ſhe ſhall be free and ſhall conceive ſeed. 29 This is the law of jealouſies, when a wife goeth aſide to another in ſtead of her huſband, and is defiled; 30 Or when the ſpirit of jealouſy cometh upon him, and he be jealous over his wife, and ſhall ſet the woman before the Lord, and the prieſt ſhall execute upon her all this law. 31 Then ſhall the man be guiltleſs from iniquity, and this woman ſhall bear her iniquity.

The removing all Uncleanneſs from the Congregation, commanded in the Beginning of this Chapter, exhibits a clear and excellent Type of Goſpel Purity, and Chriſtian Church Diſcipline.

If ſhe be defiled, and have done Treſpaſs againſt her Huſband, the Water that cauſeth the Curſe, ſhall enter into her, and become bitter, and her Belly ſhall ſwell, and her Thigh ſhall rot] The Water did not naturally produce this Operation; but it was effected by the Providence of God, who, according to the Effect of this Water, either executed his juſt Judgment upon the guilty Perſon, or mercifully cleared the ſuſpected Innocence of the Guiltleſs.

Thus the Faith and Peace of Matrimony were preſerved, either by the Manifeſtation of the Woman's Lewdneſs, or by freeing her from the violent Paſſion of her Huſband's Jealouſy, which are two Evils that break the Harmony of conjugal Society.

CHAP. VI.

The Law concerning Nazarites. The Form of bleſſing the People.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, When either man or woman ſhall ſeparate themſelves to vow a vow of a Nazarite, to ſeparate themſelves unto the Lord: 3 He ſhall ſeparate himſelf from wine, and ſtrong drink, and ſhall drink no vinegar of wine, or vinegar of ſtrong drink, neither ſhall he drink any liquor of grapes, nor eat moiſt grapes or dried. 4 All the days of his ſeparation ſhall he eat nothing that is made of the vine-tree, from the kernels even to the huſk. 5 All the days of the vow of his ſeparation, there ſhall no razor come upon his head: until the days be fulfilled in the which he ſeparateth himſelf unto the Lord, he ſhall be holy; and ſhall let the locks of the hair of his head grow. 6 All the days that he ſeparateth himſelf unto the Lord, he ſhall come at no dead body. 7 He ſhall not make himſelf unclean for his father, or for his mother, for his brother, or for his ſiſter, when they die: becauſe the conſecration of his God is upon his head. 8 All the days of his ſeparation he is holy unto the Lord. 9 And if any man die very ſuddenly by him, and he hath defiled the head of his conſecration; then he ſhall ſhave his head in the day of his cleanſing, on the ſeventh day ſhall he ſhave it. 10 And on the eighth day he ſhall bring two turtles, or two young pigeons to the prieſt, to the door of the tabernacle of the congregation. 11 And the prieſt ſhall offer the one for a ſin-offering, and the other for a burnt-offering, and make an atonement for him, for that he ſinned by the dead, and ſhall hallow his head that ſame day. 12 And he ſhall conſecrate unto the Lord the days of his ſeparation, and ſhall bring a lamb of the firſt year for a treſpaſs-offering: but the days that were before ſhall be loſt, becauſe his ſeparation was defiled. 13 And this is the law of the Nazarite: When the days of his ſeparation are fulfilled, he ſhall be brought unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation. 14 And he ſhall offer his offering unto the Lord, one he-lamb of the firſt year without blemiſh, blemiſh, for a burnt-offering, and one ew-lamb of the firſt year without blemiſh, for a ſin-offering, and one ram without blemiſh, for peace-offerings. 15 And a baſket of unleavened bread, cakes of fine flour mingled with oil, and wafers of unleavened bread anointed with oil, and their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings. 16 And the prieſt ſhall bring them before the Lord, and ſhall offer his ſin-offering, and his burnt-offering. 17 And he ſhall offer the ram for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings unto the Lord, with the baſket of unleavened bread: the prieſt ſhall offer alſo his meat-offering, and his drink-offering. 18 And the Nazarite ſhall ſhave the head of his ſeparation, at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation; and ſhall take the hair of the head of his ſeparation, and put it in the fire which is under the ſacrifice of the peace-offerings. 19 And the prieſt ſhall take the ſodden ſhoulder of the ram, and one unleavened cake out of the baſket, and one unleavened wafer; and ſhall put them upon the hands of the Nazarite, after the hair of his ſeparation is ſhaven. 20 And the prieſt ſhall wave them for a wave-offering before the Lord; this is holy for the prieſt, with the wave-breaſt, and heave-ſhoulder: and after that, the Nazarite may drink wine. 21 This is the law of the Nazarite, who hath vowed, and of his offering unto the Lord for his ſeparation, beſides that that his hand ſhall get: according to the vow which he vowed, ſo he muſt do after the law of his ſeparation. 22 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 23 Speak unto Aaron and unto his ſons, ſaying, On this wiſe ye ſhall bleſs the children of Iſrael, ſaying unto them, 24 The Lord bleſs thee, and keep thee: 25 The Lord make his face ſhine upon thee, and be gracious unto thee: 26 The Lord lift up his countenance upon thee, and give thee peace. 27 And they ſhall put my name upon the children of Iſrael, and I will bleſs them.

When either Man or Woman ſhall ſeparate themſelves to vow a Vow of a Nazarite] The Word Nazarite, ſignifies, ſevered, or abſtinent. Now under the Law were divers religious Abſtinencies, either by Vow or otherwiſe; as from the Pleaſures of eating and drinking; from the Company of Women; from common Converſation with other Men; and from many Things indifferent of themſelves, for a Help to Meditation, Prayer, Mortification, and internal Sanctification.

The Abſtinence of Nazarites had a certain Kind of ſolemn publick Profeſſion, and longer Laſtingneſs and ſtricter Rules of noble Purity, than common Votaries were obliged to. The Vows of the Nazarites were of two Sorts, the one was for Life, the other only for a certain Time, the laſt of which is deſcribed in this Chapter.

All the Days of his Separation, he is holy unto the Lord] That is, inviolable, untouched, upon whom no Man ought to lay his Hands, to take any Thing from him; as thoſe Things were which were conſecrated to God, Lev. xxv. 5. A Figure of Chriſt's perfect Holineſs, who was a true Nazarite of the Lord, Matt. ii. 23. and alſo of the Vow of entire Sanctification in the Faithful, in whom there is no Part ſo baſe or feeble which they may not, or muſt not, conſecrate to God's Service. And alſo, as the cutting and ſhaving off the Hair, was a Sign of Mourning and Ignominy, Lev. xxi. 5. Ezra. ix. 3. Job i. 20. Ezek. vii. 18. and contrariwiſe, the nouriſhing of the Locks a Sign of Glory and Joy. So the Holineſs of the Faithful is the Crown of their Joy and Glory, which fills them with Comfort inwardly, and Reſpect outwardly.

When the Days of the Nazarites Separation were fulfilled, he was commanded to offer ſeveral Sorts of Sacrifices; the Burnt-offering was a Kind of expiatory Sacrifice for all the Sins of the whole Perſon, as the Sin-offering was for the Defect of Action. By this was ſignified, that in every Exerciſe, there are always two Defects, the one in the Perſon, the other in the Action, which have need of Chriſt's Interceſſion and Expiation, Exod. xxviii. 38. As for the third Offering of Thankſgiving, the Nazarite thereby made an Acknowledgment to God, for all the Good, Strength, and Grace, in enabling him to keep the Vow he had made to Holineſs. Thus ought every faithful Man to give Thanks to God for his ſpiritual Gifts of Sanctification.

In the four laſt Verſes of the Chapter we have the Form of a ſolemn Benediction which Aaron was to pronounce on the People; an Example worthy Imitation under the Goſpel. For, it would be prophane to imagine, that the Goſpel Miniſtry is not attended with the ſame and greater Power and Bleſſing than was the Moſaic Diſpenſation. Let us therefore highly value, and with Reverence receive the Bleſſing pronounced by the Miniſters of God, who has promiſed that he will bleſs us.

CHAP. VII.

The Offerings of the Princes at the Dedication of the Tabernacle, and of the Altar. God ſpeaks to Moſes from the Mercy-ſeat.

Ver. 1. AND it came to paſs on the day that Moſes had fully ſet up the tabernacle, and had anointed it, and ſanctified it, and all the inſtruments thereof, both the altar and all the veſſels thereof, and had anointed them, and ſanctified them; 2 That the princes of Iſrael, heads of the houſe of their fathers (who were the princes of the tribes, and were over them that were numbred) offered: 3 And they brought their offering before the Lord, ſix covered waggons, and twelve oxen; a waggon for two of the princes, and for each one an ox: and they brought them before the tabernacle. 4 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 5 Take it of them, that they may be to do the ſervice of the tabernacle of the congregation; and thou ſhalt give them unto the Levites, to every man according to his ſervice. 6 And Moſes took the waggons and the oxen, and gave them unto the Levites. 7 Two waggons and four oxen he gave unto the ſons of Gerſhon, according to their ſervice. 8 And four waggons and eight oxen he gave unto the ſons of Merari, according unto their ſervice, under the hand of Ithamar the ſon of Aaron the prieſt. 9 But unto the ſons of Kohath he gave none: becauſe the ſervice of the ſanctuary belonging to them, was that they ſhould bear upon their ſhoulders. 10 And the princes offered for dedicating of the altar, in the day that it was anointed, even the princes offered their offering before the altar. 11 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, They ſhall offer their offering each prince on his day, for the dedicating of the altar. 12 And he that offered his offering the firſt day, was Nahſhon the ſon of Amminadab, of the tribe of Judah. 13 And his offering was one ſilver charger, the weight thereof was an hundred and thirty ſhekels, one ſilver bowl of ſeventy ſhekels after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, both of them the firſt year. This was the offering of Ahiezer the ſon of Amiſhaddai. 72 On the eleventh day Pagiel the ſon of Ocran, prince of the children of Aſher, offered. 73 His offering was one ſilver charger, the weight whereof was an hundred and thirty ſhekels, one ſilver bowl of ſeventy ſhekels after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering: 74 One golden ſpoon of ten ſhekels, full of incenſe: 75 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the firſt year, for a burnt-offering: 76 One kid of the goats for a ſin-offering: 77 And for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the firſt year. This was the offering of Pagiel the ſon of Ocran. 78 On the twelfth day Ahira the ſon of Enan, prince of the children of Naphtali, offered. 79 His offering was one ſilver charger, the weight whereof was an hundred and thirty ſhekels, one ſilver bowl of ſeventy ſhekels after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, both of them full of fine flour mingled with oil, for a meat-offering: 80 One golden ſpoon of ten ſhekels, full of incenſe: 81 One young bullock, one ram, one lamb of the firſt year, for a burnt-offering: 82 One kid of the goats for a ſin-offering: 83 And for a ſacrifice of peace-offerings, two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, five lambs of the firſt year. This was the offering of Ahira the ſon of Enan. 84 This was the dedication of the altar (in the day when it was anointed) by the princes of Iſrael: twelve chargers of ſilver, twelve ſilver bowls, twelve ſpoons of gold; 85 Each charger of ſilver weighing an hundred and thirty ſhekels, each bowl ſeventy: all the ſilver veſſels weighed two thouſand and four hundred ſhekels, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary. 86 The golden ſpoons were twelve, full of incenſe, weighing ten ſhekels apiece, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary: all the gold of the ſpoons was an hundred and twenty ſhekels. 87 All the oxen for the burnt-offering were twelve bullocks, the rams twelve, the lambs of the firſt year twelve, with their meat-offering: and the kids of the goats for ſin-offering, twelve. 88 And all the oxen for the ſacrifice of the peace-offerings, were twenty and four bullocks, the rams ſixty, the he-goats ſixty, the lambs of the firſt year ſixty. This was the dedication of the altar, after that it was anointed. 89 And when Moſes was gone into the tabernacle of the congregation, to ſpeak with him; then he heard the voice of one ſpeaking unto him from off the mercy-ſeat that was upon the ark of teſtimony, from between the two cherubims: and he ſpake unto him.

And the Princes offered for dedicating the Altar] It's evident from what has been before related, that a conſiderable Space of Time was ſpent, after the Tabernacle was erected, in putting all Things in order for the due Celebration of divine Service therein; in order to which the Tabernacle itſelf, and its Utenſils were ſanctified, the Prieſts conſecrated, and many Sacrifices offer'd on that Occaſion; as alſo, of the Reception of the Levites into their Office. Hitherto the Tribes had not offered, as indeed they could not, till theſe Preliminaries were fully ſetled and adjuſted; and then the Princes of Iſrael both preſented to the Lord, and offered Sacrifices of all Kinds; and therefore Moſes calls this the Dedication of the Altar.

And his Offering was one ſilver Charger, &c.] Each Oblation conſiſted of the Particulars and Value following; namely, one Silver Diſh, of the Value of 14*l.* 16*s.* 6*d.* one Silver Baſon, its Value 7*l.* 19*s.* 8*d.* Farthing; each of theſe was filled with fine Flour mingled with Oil for a Meat-offering. A Gold Spoon, of the Value of 18*l.* 5*s.* this Spoon was full of Incenſe. Theſe Preſents ſeem to have been deſigned for the following Purpoſes, namely, the two Firſt, for the Altar of Burnt-offering, and the Latter for the Altar of Incenſe. The Value of the whole Preſent from the twelve Princes in Gold and Silver, amounted to 492*l.* 14*s.* 3*d.* of our Money. Beſides which, each of the Princes brought a young Bullock, a Ram, and a Lamb of the firſt Year, for a Burnt-offering, a He-Goat for a Sin-offering, and two Oxen, five Rams, five He-Goats of the firſt Year, for a Peace-offering.

It is not very clear, whether theſe Princes offer'd for themſelves, or for the Tribes, over which they preſided. The Words of Moſes may be underſtood, literally, of each Prince making his own Oblation; but, if the Value of the Gifts be conſider'd, they ſeem too large for a ſingle Perſon to beſtow; the Certainty of which, as it is difficult to determine, ſo it is not very material to know.

Aaron directed in what Manner to light the Lamps. The Conſecration of the Levites. The Age and Time of their Service.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 2 Speak unto Aaron, and ſay unto him, When thou lighteſt the lamps, the ſeven lamps ſhall give light over againſt the candleſtick. 3 And Aaron did ſo; he lighted the lamps thereof over againſt the candleſtick; as the Lord commanded Moſes. 4 And this work of the candleſtick was of beaten gold, unto the ſhaft thereof, unto the flowers thereof was beaten work: according unto the pattern which the Lord had ſhewed Moſes, ſo he made the candleſtick. 5 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 6 Take the Levites from among the children of Iſrael, and cleanſe them. 7 And thus ſhalt thou do unto them, to cleanſe them: Sprinkle water of purifying upon them, and let them ſhave all their fleſh, and let them waſh their cloths, and ſo make themſelves clean. 8 Then let them take a young bullock with his meat-offering, even fine flour mingled with oil, and another young bullock ſhalt thou take for a ſin-offering. 9 And thou ſhalt bring the Levites before the tabernacle of the congregation; and thou ſhalt gather the whole aſſembly of the children of Iſrael together: 10 And thou ſhalt bring the Levites before the Lord, and the children of Iſrael ſhall put their hands upon the Levites: 11 And Aaron ſhall offer the Levites before the Lord, for an offering of the children of Iſrael; that they may execute the ſervice of the Lord. 12 And the Levites ſhall lay their hands upon the heads of the bullocks: and thou ſhalt offer the one for a ſin-offering, and the other for a burnt-offering unto the Lord, to make an atonement for the Levites. 13 And thou ſhalt ſet the Levites before Aaron, and before his ſons, and offer them for an offering unto the Lord. 14 Thus ſhalt thou ſeparate the Levites from among the children of Iſrael: and the Levites ſhall be mine. 15 And after that, ſhall the Levites go in, to do the ſervice of the tabernacle of the congregation: and thou ſhalt cleanſe them, and offer them for an offering. 16 For they are wholly given unto me from among the children of Iſrael; in ſtead of ſuch as open every womb, even in ſtead of the firſt-born of all the children of Iſrael, have I taken them unto me. 17 For all the firſt-born of the children of Iſrael are mine, both man and beaſt: on the day that I ſmote every firſt-born in the land of Egypt, I ſanctified them for my ſelf. 18 And I have taken the Levites for for all the first-born of the children of Israel. 19 And I have given the Levites as a gift to Aaron, and to his sons from among the children of Israel; to do the service of the children of Israel in the tabernacle of the congregation, and to make an atonement for the children of Israel: that there be no plague among the children of Israel, when the children of Israel come nigh unto the sanctuary. 20 And Moses and Aaron, and all the congregation of the children of Israel did to the Levites according to all that the Lord commanded Moses concerning the Levites, so did the children of Israel unto them. 21 And the Levites were purified, and they washed their clothes: and Aaron offered them as an offering before the Lord; and Aaron made an atonement for them to cleanse them. 22 And after that went the Levites in, to do their service in the tabernacle of the congregation before Aaron and before his sons: as the Lord had commanded Moses concerning the Levites, so did they unto them. 23 And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying, 24 This is it that belongeth unto the Levites: from twenty and five years old, and upward, they shall go in to wait upon the service of the tabernacle of the congregation: 25 And from the age of fifty years they shall cease waiting upon the service thereof, and shall serve no more: 26 But shall minister with their brethren in the tabernacle of the congregation, to keep the charge, and shall do no service. Thus shalt thou do unto the Levites touching their charge.

And thou shalt bring the Levites before the Lord, and the Children of Israel shall put their Hands on the Heads of the Levites] The Words, they shall put, signify, they shall lift up, and stretch forth their Hands towards them; wherein the People imitated that which was done in Sacrifices, where the Person that offered, laid his Hand upon the Offering, as well to dedicate it to God, as to transfer the Punishment of Death upon it, to which the Person himself was subject; so the People consenting to the Consecration of the Levites, and disburden themselves from doing the Service of God, which otherwise every one was bound to yield unto him in their own proper Persons.

The Washings, Cleansings, and Sprinklings of the Levites, serv'd to fill them with a religious Awe of the God of Jacob, and taught them to conceive very high Thoughts of his Purity, since such Lavations were required to render Men fit for his Service.

From twenty five Years old, and upwards, they shall come in to wait upon the Service of the Tabernacle of the Congregation] In Ch. iv. 3, 47. they were to be of the Age of thirty, when they entered upon that Service; and therefore here seems a Contradiction. But this Difference may be thus reconcil'd: First, In that all Parts of Service are spoken of in this Place; but in the other, only the bearing of the Ornaments; and here the Levites only enter into the Service. From the Whole it may be inferred, that for the Space of five Years they should be, as it were, Probationers; and that at the Age of thirty, they were admitted to the Complete Function of their Ministry.

The Passover again commanded. A second Passover allowed to them who were unclean, or absent from the first. The Cloud guides the Removes and Encampments of the Israelites.

V. 1. AND the Lord spake unto Moses in the wilderness of Sinai, in the first month of the second year, after they were come out of the land of Egypt, saying, 2 Let the children of Israel also keep the passover at his appointed season. 3 In the fourteenth day of this month at even, ye shall keep it in his appointed season: according to all the rites of it, and according to all the ceremonies thereof shall ye keep it. 4 And Moses spake unto the children of Israel, that they should keep the passover. 5 And they kept the passover on the fourteenth day of the first month at even, in the wilderness of Sinai: according to all that the Lord commanded Moses, so did the children of Israel. 6 And there were certain men who were defiled by the dead body of a man, that they could not keep the passover on that day: and they came before Moses, and before Aaron that day. 7 And those men said unto him, We are defiled by the dead body of a man: wherefore are we kept back, that we may not offer an offering unto the Lord in his appointed season among the children of Israel? 8 And Moses said unto them, Stand still, and I will hear what the Lord will command concerning you. 9 And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying, 10 Speak unto the children of Israel, saying, If any man of you or of your posterity shall be unclean by reason of a dead body, or be in a journey afar off, yet he shall keep the passover unto the Lord. 11 The fourteenth day of the second month at even they shall keep it, and eat it with unleavened bread and bitter herbs. 12 They shall leave none of it until the morning, nor break any bone of it: according to all the ordinances of the passover, they shall keep it. 13 But the man that is clean, and is not in a journey, and forbeareth to keep the passover; even the same soul shall be cut off from his people, because he brought not the offering of the Lord in his appointed season: that man shall bear his sin. 14 And if a stranger shall sojourn among you, and will keep the passover unto the Lord, according to the ordinance of the passover, and according to the manner thereof, so shall he do: ye shall have one ordinance, both for the stranger, and for him that was born in the land. 15 And on the day that the tabernacle was reared up, the cloud covered the tabernacle, namely, the tent of the testimony: and at even there was upon the tabernacle as it were the appearance of fire, until the morning. 16 So it was alway: the cloud covered it by day, and the appearance of fire by night. 17 And when the cloud was taken up from the tabernacle; then after that the children of Israel journeyed: and in the place where the cloud abode, there the children of Israel pitched their tents. 18 At the commandment of the Lord the children of Israel journeyed, and at the commandment of the Lord they pitched: as long as the cloud abode upon the tabernacle, they rested in the tents. 19 And when the cloud tarried long upon the tabernacle many days, then the children of Israel kept the charge of the Lord, and journeyed not. 20 And so it was when the cloud was a few days upon the tabernacle; according to the commandment of the Lord they abode in their tents, and according to the commandment of the Lord they journeyed. 21 And so it was when the cloud abode from even unto the morning, and that the cloud was taken up in the morning, then they journeyed: whether it was by day or by night that that the cloud was taken up, they journeyed. 22 Or whether it were two days, or a month, or a year that the cloud tarried upon the tabernacle, remaining thereon, the children of Iſrael abode in their tents, and journeyed not: but when it was taken up, they journeyed. 23 At the commandment of the Lord they reſted in their tents, and at the commandment of the Lord they journeyed: they kept the charge of the Lord, at the commandment of the Lord by the hand of Moſes.

And they kept the Paſſover on the fourteenth Day of the firſt Month at Even, in the Wilderneſs of Sinai] During the Sojourning of the Children of Iſrael in the Wilderneſs, they ſeem to have had a divine Diſpenſation from obſerving the Ordinances both of the Circumciſion, and the Paſſover. Circumciſion did not conſiſt with their itinerant Courſe of Life; and for the Celebration of the Paſſover, they had not, in every Encampment, all the Materials that were neceſſary: But, having now reſted in the Confines of the Holy Mount for almoſt the Space of a whole Year, after the Tabernacle was ſet up, the High-Prieſt conſecrated, and his firſt Oblation honour'd with a gracious Acceptance, God thought it not an improper Time to re-ordain the Celebration of the Paſſover, that ſo remarkable a Deliverance, as their Eſcape out of Egypt (which by their repeated Deſires of returning thither, ſeem'd in a great Meaſure to have been forgotten) might not altogether be obliterated. And if it ſhould be aſk'd, whence they could have a Sufficiency of Lambs and Kids for ſo vaſt a Multitude to feaſt on? there is no Reaſon to deny (even ſuppoſing they had not a Supply of their own) but that they might traffick with the Iſhmaelites, and antient Arabs inhabiting theſe Parts, for ſuch a Number of ſmall Cattle, and being not far diſtant from Midian, (Exod. iii. 1.) by the Intereſt of Jethro, might from thence be furniſh'd with ſuch a Quantity of Meal for unleavened Bread, as this one Paſſover (as this was the only one they kept in the Wilderneſs) may be preſum'd to require. See Le Clerc's Com. and Pool's Annot.

Silver Trumpets to be made; when and how to be uſed. The Iſraelites remove from Sinai to Paran; and the Order of their March. Moſes perſuades Hobab to accompany him. The Prayer and Bleſſing of Moſes, on the Removal and ſetting down of the Ark.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 2 Make thee two trumpets of ſilver; of one whole piece ſhalt thou make them: that thou mayeſt uſe them for the calling of the aſſembly, and for the journeying of the camps. 3 And when they ſhall blow with them, all the aſſembly ſhall aſſemble themſelves to thee, at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation. 4 And if they blow but with one trumpet, then the princes, which are heads of the thouſands of Iſrael, ſhall gather themſelves unto thee. 5 When ye blow an alarm, then the camps that lie on the eaſt-part ſhall go forward. 6 When ye blow an alarm the ſecond time, then the camps that lie on the ſouth-ſide, ſhall take their journey: they ſhall blow an alarm for their journeys. 7 But when the congregation is to be gathered together; you ſhall blow, but you ſhall not ſound an alarm. 8 And the ſons of Aaron the prieſts ſhall blow with the trumpets; and they ſhall be to you for an ordinance for ever throughout your generations. 9 And if ye go to war in your land againſt the enemy that oppreſſeth you, then ye ſhall blow an alarm with the trumpets; and ye ſhall be remembred before the Lord your God, and ye ſhall be ſaved from your enemies. 10 Alſo in the day of your gladneſs, and in your ſolemn days, and in the beginnings of your months, ye ſhall blow with the trumpets over your burnt-offerings, and over the ſacrifices of your peace-offerings; that they may be to you for a memorial before your God: I am the Lord your God. 11 And it came to paſs on the twentieth day of the ſecond month, in the ſecond year, that the cloud was taken up from off the tabernacle of the teſtimony. 12 And the children of Iſrael took their journeys out of the wilderneſs of Sinai; and the cloud reſted in the wilderneſs of Paran. 13 And they firſt took their journey, according to the commandment of the Lord by the hand of Moſes. 14 In the firſt place went the ſtandard of the camp of the children of Judah according to their armies: and over his hoſt was Nahſhon the ſon of Amminadab. 15 And over the hoſt of the tribe of the children of Iſſachar, was Nethaneel the ſon of Zuar. 16 And over the hoſt of the tribe of the children of Zebulun, was Eliab the ſon of Helon. 17 And the tabernacle was taken down; and the ſons of Gerſhon and the ſons of Merari ſet forward, bearing the tabernacle. 18 And the ſtandard of the camp of Reuben ſet forward according to their armies: and over his hoſt was Elizur the ſon of Shedeur. 19 And over the hoſt of the tribe of the children of Simeon, was Shelumiel the ſon of Zuriſhaddai. 20 And over the hoſt of the tribe of the children of Gad, was Eliaſaph the ſon of Deuel. 21 And the Kohathites ſet forward, bearing the ſanctuary; and the other did ſet up the tabernacle againſt they came. 22 And the ſtandard of the camp of the children of Ephraim ſet forward according to their armies: and over his hoſt was Eliſhama the ſon of Ammihud. 23 And over the hoſt of the tribe of the children of Manaſſeh, was Gamaliel the ſon of Pedahzur. 24 And over the hoſt of the tribe of the children of Benjamin, was Abidan the ſon of Gideoni. 25 And the ſtandard of the camp of the children of Dan ſet forward, which was the rereward of all the camps thoughout their hoſts: and over his hoſt was Ahiezer the ſon of Amiſhaddai. 26 And over the hoſt of the tribe of the children of Aſher, was Pagiel the ſon of Ocran. 27 And over the hoſt of the tribe of the children of Naphtali, was Ahira the ſon of Enan. 28 Thus were the journeyings of the children of Iſrael, according to their armies, when they ſet forward. 29 And Moſes ſaid unto Hobab, the ſon of Raguel the Midianite, Moſes father-in-law, We are journeying unto the place of which the Lord ſaid, I will give it you: come thou with us, and we will do thee good: for the Lord hath ſpoken good concerning Iſrael. 30 And he ſaid unto him, I will not go; but I will depart to mine own land, and to my kindred. 31 And he ſaid, Leave us not, I pray thee; foraſmuch as thou knoweſt how we are to encamp in the wilderneſs, and thou mayeſt be to us in ſtead of eyes. 32 And it ſhall be, if thou go with us, yea it ſhall be, that what goodneſs the Lord ſhall do unto us, the ſame will we do unto thee. 33 And they departed from the mount of the Lord three days journey: and the ark of the covenant of the Lord

Lord went before them in the three days journey, to ſearch out a reſting-place for them. 34 And the cloud of the Lord was upon them by day, when they went out of the camp. 35 And it came to paſs when the ark ſet forward, that Moſes ſaid, Riſe up, Lord, and let thine enemies be ſcattered; and let them that hate thee, flee before thee. 36 And when it reſted, he ſaid, Return O Lord, unto the many thouſands of Iſrael.

And Moſes ſaid unto Hobab the Son of Raguel the Midianite, Moſes Father-in-law] This ſame Name is found, Judg. iv. 11. and ſome imagine that he was Jethro, who, after he had returned into his own Country, Exod. xviii. 27. might pay another Viſit to Moſes during his Encampment in the Wilderneſs, which was near to the Country of Midian; and farther, that he would alſo ſuffer himſelf to be perſuaded to ſtay with the People, together with his Family; the Progeny of which was afterwards propagated amongſt the People of Iſrael, Judg. i. 16. and iv. 11. 1 Sam. vi. 6. Others believe that this Hobab was the Son of Jethro, and Brother to Zipporah, and that here, and Judg. iv. 11. the Word tranſlated Father-in-law, may alſo be underſtood for Brother-in-law, and that Reuel was a ſecond Name of Jethro.

And thou mayeſt be to us inſtead of Eyes] That is, direct and guide us. For, tho' the Cloud determin'd them to a general Place, yet many Particulars might be uncertain and unknown to Moſes, wherein Hobab, having long lived in thoſe Parts, might be able to adviſe him; as concerning the Conveniency of Water for their Cattle; the Safety or Dangers of the ſeveral Parts, by Reaſon of Serpents, or wild Beaſts, or Enemies, in the Parts adjoining to them, that alſo they might the better guard themſelves againſt them: Or this is to be underſtood, not ſo much of his directing them in the Way, as about great and difficult Matters, wherein the Counſel Moſes had from God did not exclude the Advice of Men. Hobab, however, could not be prevail'd upon to go any farther with them.

CHAP. XI.

The People murmur; for which many are conſumed with Fire; and the Place called Taberah. Moſes's Complaint and Prayer. The People luſt; Fleſh promiſed. God deſcends in a Cloud and inſpires the Elders with the Gift of Prophecy, Eldad and Medad propheſy in the Camp. Quails ſent in Abundance; a Plague enſues.

1 AND when the people complained, it diſpleaſed the Lord: and the Lord heard it; and his anger was kindled; and the fire of the Lord burnt among them, and consumed them that were in the uttermoſt parts of the camp. 2 And the people cried unto Moſes; and when Moſes prayed unto the Lord, the fire was quenched. 3 And he called the name of the place Taberah: becauſe the fire of the Lord burnt among them. 4 And the mixt multitude that was among them fell a luſting: and the children of Iſrael alſo wept again, and ſaid, Who ſhall give us fleſh to eat? 5 We remember the fiſh which we did eat in Egypt freely; the cucumbers, and the melons, and the leeks, and the onions, and the garlick: 6 But now our ſoul is dried away; there is nothing at all, beſides this manna, before our eyes. 7 And the manna was as coriander-ſeed, and the colour thereof as the colour of bdellium. 8 And the people went about, and gathered it, and ground it in mills, or beat it in a mortar, and baked it in pans, and made cakes of it: and the taſte of it was as the taſte of freſh oil. 9 And when the dew fell upon the camp in the night, the manna fell upon it. 10 Then Moſes heard the people weep, throughout their families, every man in the door of his tent: and the anger of the Lord was kindled greatly; Moſes alſo was diſpleaſed. 11 And Moſes ſaid unto the Lord, Wherefore haſt thou afflicted thy ſervant: and wherefore have I not found favour in thy ſight, that thou layeſt the burden of all this people upon me? 12 Have I conceived all this people? have I begotten them, that thou ſhouldeſt ſay unto me, Carry them in thy boſom (as a nurſing-father beareth the ſucking child) unto the land which thou ſwareſt unto their fathers? 13 Whence ſhould I have fleſh to give unto all this people? for they weep unto me, ſaying, Give us fleſh, that we may eat. 14 I am not able to bear all this people alone, becauſe it is too heavy for me. 15 And if thou deal thus with me, kill me, I pray thee, out of hand, if I have found favour in thy ſight; and let me not ſee my wretchedneſs. 16 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Gather unto me ſeventy men of the elders of Iſrael, whom thou knoweſt to be the elders of the people, and officers over them; and bring them unto the tabernacle of the congregation, that they may ſtand there with thee. 17 And I will come down and talk with thee there: and I will take of the ſpirit which is upon thee, and will put it upon them; and they ſhall bear the burden of the people with thee, that thou bear it not thy ſelf alone. 18 And ſay thou unto the people, Sanctify your ſelves againſt to-morrow, and ye ſhall eat fleſh (for you have wept in the ears of the Lord, ſaying, Who ſhall give us fleſh to eat? for it was well with us in Egypt) therefore the Lord will give you fleſh, and ye ſhall eat. 19 Ye ſhall not eat one day, nor two days, nor five days, neither ten days, nor twenty days; 20 But even a whole month, until it come out at your noſtrils, and it be lothſome unto you: becauſe that ye have deſpiſed the Lord which is among you, and have wept before him, ſaying, Why came we forth out of Egypt? 21 And Moſes ſaid, The people amongſt whom I am, are ſix hundred thouſand foot-men; and thou haſt ſaid, I will give them fleſh, that they may eat a whole month. 22 Shall the flocks and the herds be ſlain for them, to ſuffice them? or ſhall all the fiſh of the ſea be gathered together for them, to ſuffice them? 23 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Is the Lords hand waxed ſhort? Thou ſhalt ſee now whether my word ſhall come to paſs unto thee, or not. 24 And Moſes went out, and told the people the words of the Lord, and gathered the ſeventy men of the elders of the people, and ſet them round about the tabernacle. 25 And the Lord came down in a cloud, and ſpake unto him, and took of the ſpirit that was upon him, and gave it unto the ſeventy elders: and it came to paſs that when the ſpirit reſted upon them, they propheſied, and did not ceaſe. 26 But there remained two of the men in the camp, the name of the one was Eldad, and the name of the other Medad: and the ſpirit reſted upon them (and they were of them that were written, but went not out unto the tabernacle) and they propheſied in the camp. 27 And there ran a young man, and told Moſes, and ſaid, Eldad and Medad do propheſy in the camp. 28 And Joshua the son of Nun, the servant of Moses, one of his young men answered and said, My lord Moses, forbid them. 29 And Moses said unto him, Envieſt thou for my sake? would God that all the Lords people were prophets, and that the Lord would put his Spirit upon them. 30 And Moses gat him into the camp, he and the elders of Israel. 31 And there went forth a wind from the Lord, and brought quails from the sea, and let them fall by the camp, as it were a days journey on this side, and as it were a days journey on the other side, round about the camp, and as it were two cubits high, upon the face of the eath. 32 And the people stood up all that day, and all that night, and all the next day, and they gathered the quails: he that gathered leaſt, gathered ten homers: and they spread them all abroad for themselves round about the camp. 33 And while the flesh was yet between their teeth, ere it was chewed; the wrath of the Lord was kindled againſt the people, and the Lord smote the people with a very great plague. 34 And he called the name of that place, Kibroth-hattaavah: becauſe there they buried the people that luſted. 35 And the people journeyed from Kibroth-hataavah, unto Hazeroth: and abode at Hazeroth.

And the Fire of the Lord burnt among them and consumed them that were in the uttermoſt Parts of the Camp] The Fire which God sent upon the Israelites, came either immediately from Heaven, or issued from the Pillar of the Cloud, which went before the Tabernacle, or (according to the Conjecture of a learned Commentor) that, which is here called Fire, might be an hot burning Wind, in these desart Places not unusual, and many Times very pestilential, and, on this Occasion, preternaturally raised in the Rear of the Army, to punish the Straglers, and such, as out of a Pretence of Weariness, lagged behind.

And the mixed Multitude that were among them, fell a luſting] The mixed Multitude consisted of Egyptians and other Strangers, who being affected with God's miraculous Works in Egypt, and thereupon believing the Promise of God to carry the Israelites to a plentiful Land, for their own Advantage joined themselves to them, and finding that yet their Hopes and Expectations were not answered, they discover'd their evil Minds.

And the Lord said unto Moses, Gather unto me seventy Men of the Elders of Israel] It may be suppos'd indeed, that Moses had no Occasion for any more assisting Magistrates, after what had been constituted by the Advice of Jethro, his Father-in-law: But it is highly probable, that those of Jethro's advising were appointed to hear and judge only in smaller Causes, whereas all weighty and difficult Points, as well as last Appeals in smaller Matters, still were left upon Moses; and that it was to ease himself of this Burthen, that he made Choice of the Seventy, as Men of superior Capacity and Understanding, and who were to be assisted by the Spirit of God in their Judgments and Determinations. This Assembly of the seventy Elders, not only the Jews, but even Grotius, and some other Christians, will needs have to be the same with that famous Council, which afterwards obtain'd the Name of SANHEDRIM. The Rabbins have left no Stone unturn'd to prove that the Sanhedrim did constantly subsist ever since its first Institution by Moses, and that the Members of it always assembled themselves before the Tabernacle wherever that was set up either in the Wilderness, or in the promis'd Land, till the erecting of the Temple by Solomon, who, at the same Time, built them a stately Room or Hall to convene in. They add farther, that this supreme Court was continued in Babylon, during their Captivity there, and that, at their Return, it had the same Place rebuilt in the second Temple, and so continued till its total Extinction under the Romans: But as they bring no Authority for these and many other Particulars relating to this Assembly, but merely their own Traditions, they are justly rejected by the major Part of Christians, who can find no Footsteps of any such high Court, either in the Times of Joshua, of the Judges, or of the Kings, nor indeed after the Babyloniſh Captivity, till the Time of the Maccabees. See Calmet's Dissert. and Univ. Hist.

Shall the Flocks and the Herds be slain for them to suffice t'em? or shall all the Fish of the Sea be gather'd together for them to suffice them] That Moses speaks this as doubting and distrusting God's Word, is evident enough; and that he was not remarkably punished for this, as he was afterwards in the same Sin (Numb. xx.) next to God's Pleasure, may be imputed to the different Circumstances of this and that Sin. This was the first great Offence of that Kind, and therefore more easily passed by; That was after Warning and Experience of God's Mercy. This seems to have been spoken seriously in the Breast of Moses, That openly and publickly before the People, and to their Scandal; and therefore it was fit to be openly and severely punished to prevent the Contagion of that Example.

And there went forth a Wind from the Lord, and brought Quails from the Sea, and let them fall by the Camp] This is the second Time of their being fed with the same Food: But wou'd not the Miracle have appear'd more extraordinary, had it been varied to some other Kind of Flesh? Answ. God did not repeat to them the same kind of Food because he was destitute of other Provision, (for all the Beasts of the Forest are his, and so are the Cattle upon a thousand Hills; he knows all the Fowls upon the Mountains, and the wild Beasts of the Field are in his Sight, Ps. l. 10, 11.) but for this very Reason — That how willing soever he might be to supply his People's Necessities, he had no Design to pamper their Appetites with a needless Variety, or to multiply Miracles without Occasion. And therefore as both these Events happened in the Spring, when Quails (which are found in great Quantities upon the Coasts of the Red Sea) are accustom'd to pass from Asia into Europe, God caus'd a Wind to arise, which, in their Flight, drove them towards the Camp of the Israelites, and (as the Eastern Tradition has it) was so very violent, that it broke their Wings, and made them fall at a convenient Distance, and in a proper Condition to be taken up.

That Quails among us, are very excellent Food, cannot be denied; but the same Tradition informs us, that these Birds, in Arabia Felix, do vastly surpass all others, and, as our Author expresses it, have neither Bone, Veins, nor Sinews in them, i. e. are very fat and tender, something like our Fig-peckers, or Ortolans. And therefore, tho' God refus'd to gratify their Palates with a profuse Variety of Dainties, yet there is no Fault to be found with his Provision, since the Food he sent them was delicious in its Kind, and a whole Year had now interven'd between the former and latter Flight of Quails, to whet their Appetites, and prevent any Danger of being cloy'd with the same Dish.

Something however there was in their Behaviour which provok'd God, in this their latter, more than their former Complaint for want of Flesh, to punish them so severely. The Desire of Flesh for Food is, in itself, both natural, and, absolutely speaking, far from being criminal, or provoking to the Author of Nature, who created every Appetite of Man, as well as his Understanding: But when this breaks out into Murmuring, Mutiny and Disorder, the Case is then entirely alter'd. In the former of these Cases, the People were in want of Bread, and really pinched with Hunger; but in the latter, they had Bread from Heaven in Abundance, and therefore may be said to complain, not out of Need, but Wantonness. Their Discontent in the former Case was express'd comparatively, in modest Terms; but here their Tone is, Who shall give us Flesh to eat? We remember the Fish, which we did eat in Egypt freely, the Cucumbers, and the Melons, and the Leeks, and the Onions, and the Garlick; but now our Soul is dried away; there is nothing at all, besides this Manna, before our Eyes, Ver.

Ver. 5, &c. This ſame Contempt of the Manna, which God ſo miraculouſly ſent from Heaven, eſpecially, in Perſons ſo well inſtructed in the divine Will, was ſuch an Inſtance of Baſeneſs and Ingratitude, as juſtly deſerv'd the Puniſhment it met with.

In the former Time of their complaining God wink'd at their Ignorance, and pitied their Diſtreſs. He had not then given them his Laws for the Rule of their Actions and Appetites, and therefore, never looking to reap where he had not ſowed, he was not ſo extream as to mark what they had done amiſs; but, after he had publiſh'd his Precepts from the holy Mount, and many more Inſtructions from the Tabernacle, he then expected their Obedience ſhould keep pace with their Knowledge, and was more provok'd at their Backſlidings than before, becauſe they proceeded not from the Ignorance of their Minds, but the Perverſeneſs of their Wills: For this was the true and the juſt Cauſe of their Condemnation, that even when Light was come into the World, they loved Darkneſs rather than Light, becauſe their Deeds were evil, John iii. 19. CHAP. XII.

Miriam and Aaron murmur againſt Moſes; are rebuked, and Miriam becomes a Leper, but is healed by Moſes's Interceſſion for her, and is ſhut out of the Camp ſeven Days.

Ver. 1. AND Miriam and Aaron ſpake againſt Moſes, becauſe of the Ethiopian woman whom he had married: for he had married an Ethiopian woman. 2 And they ſaid, Hath the Lord indeed ſpoken only by Moſes? hath he not ſpoken alſo by us? And the Lord heard it. 3 (Now the man Moſes, was very meek, above all the men which were upon the face of the earth) 4 And the Lord ſpake ſuddenly unto Moſes, and unto Aaron, and unto Miriam, Come out ye three unto the tabernacle of the congregation. And they three came out. 5 And the Lord came down in the pillar of the cloud, and ſtood in the door of the tabernacle, and called Aaron, and Miriam: and they both came forth. 6 And he ſaid, hear now my words: If there be a prophet among you, I the Lord will make myſelf known unto him in a viſion, and will ſpeak unto him in a dream. 7 My ſervant Moſes is not ſo, who is faithful in all mine houſe. 8 With him will I ſpeak mouth to mouth, even apparently, and not in dark ſpeeches; and the ſimilitude of the Lord ſhall he behold: wherefore then were ye not afraid to ſpeak againſt my ſervant Moſes? 9 And the anger of the Lord was kindled againſt them, and he departed. 10 And the cloud departed from off the tabenacle, and behold, Miriam became leprous, white as ſnow: and Aaron looked upon Miriam, and behold, ſhe was leprous. 11 And Aaron ſaid unto Moſes, alas my lord, I beſeech thee, lay not the ſin upon us, wherein we have done fooliſhly, and wherein we have ſinned. 12 Let her not be as one dead; of whom the fleſh is half conſumed, when he cometh out of his mother's womb. 13 And Moſes cried unto the Lord, ſaying, Heal her now, O God, I beſeech thee. 14 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, If her father had but ſpit in her face, ſhould ſhe not be aſhamed ſeven days? let her be ſhut out from the camp ſeven days, and after that let her be received in again. 15 And Miriam was ſhut out from the camp ſeven days, and the people journeyed not till Miriam was brought in again. 16 And afterward the people removed from Hazeroth, and pitched in the wilderneſs of Paran.

And Miriam and Aaron ſpoke againſt Moſes, becauſe of the Ethiopian Woman, whom he had married] What the Occaſion of the Difference between Moſes and his Brother Aaron, and his Siſter Miriam was, ſays Stackhouſe, is not ſo very evident. The Hiſtory indeed tells us, that they ſpake againſt Moſes, becauſe of the Ethiopian, or rather Arabian Woman, whom he had married. The Generality of Interpreters ſuppoſe this Woman to be Zipporah the Daughter of Jethro, whom he married in Midian; for thoſe who imagine her to have been another, can hardly get over this Difficulty — Why Moſes ſhould ſet ſo bad an Example, as to marry, at two ſeveral Times, a Foreigner, rather than one of the Daughters of his People. The firſt Time indeed that he did ſo, was, when he liv'd in a State of Exile, but was nevertheleſs kindly receiv'd in a Family of the beſt Diſtinction in the Place, which might be Inducement enough to match himſelf with one of the Daughters, ſince no expreſs Precept againſt Matches of this Kind was then in Force. But now, that he was ſet at the Head of a People, who were to be ſeparated from the reſt of Mankind, and was conducting him into the Country, with whoſe Inhabitants they were to have no matrimonial Intercourſe for fear of introducing Idolatry, it wou'd have been highly indecent, and unpopular, an Affront upon his own Country-women, as well as a dangerous Inlet to Impiety, for him to have married into an idolatrous Nation; nor wou'd his Brother and Siſter have been the only Perſons to clamour againſt him, but the whole Congregation wou'd have riſen up in Arms, upon ſo notorious a Provocation. Since therefore we hear of no ſuch Commotion, we may reaſonably conclude, that this Cuſhite, or Arabian Woman was the ſame Zipporah whom he had married ſome forty Years before. But then why they ſhould quarrel with him upon her Account, at this Time, and no ſooner, is the Difficulty.

Now to reſolve this, we muſt obſerve, that when Jethro his Father-in-law, was in the Camp, it was by his Advice, that Moſes inſtituted Judges to determine leſſer Cauſes; and that he found his Son Hobab ſo very ſerviceable to him in the Capacity of a Camp-maſter-general, that he earneſtly entreated him to continue with him, and receiv'd him no Doubt, into great Confidence. It is to be obſerv'd farther, that, in the foregoing Chapter, we have an Account of the Creation of ſeventy Elders to aſſiſt in the Adminiſtration, and that theſe Elders were nominated by Moſes, without ever conſulting either Aaron or Miriam. As therefore this Story of their quarrelling with him is immediately ſubjoin'd, it ſeems very likely that, taking themſelves to be neglected, in ſo great an Alteration made in the Government without their Advice, they were very angry; but, not daring to charge Moſes directly, they fell foul upon his Wife, giving her opprobious Names, and complaining to the People very probably, that ſhe, and her Brother, had too much Power and Influence over Moſes.

Now the Man Moſes was very meek, above all the Men that were upon the Face of the Earth] It has been objected, that Moſes, by commending himſelf, endangers the Authentickneſs of his Writings. But why might not he inſert this, when it was no more than what was due to his Character, and perhaps, at that Time, neceſſary for his own Vindication? St. Paul, to clear himſelf from ſome Aſperſions, which the Malice of his Enemies had caſt upon him, enters upon his own Commendation tho' it be with ſome Reluctancy, and to give it a better Gloſs, tries all the Powers of Eloquence to work it up. Whereinſoever any one is bold, ſays he, I ſpeak fooliſhly, I am bold alſo. Are they Hebrews? ſo am I, &c. 2 Cor. xi. 21, &c. Theſe are the Words of our Apoſtle, ſetting off the faithful Diſcharge of his Miniſtry; and yet none ever ſuſpected the Genuineneſs of this this Epiſtle to the Corinthians on that Account: As little Reaſon have we therefore to call in Queſtion the Authentickneſs of this Book of Moſes, becauſe we find a Paſſage or two that ſpeaks favourably of him.

That all Hiſtorians, both antient and modern, when they come to ſpeak of the Part and Concern they had in ſuch and ſuch Actions as are commonly accuſtom'd to ſpeak in the third Perſon; and that the modeſteſt Man upon Earth may ſometimes ſee Occaſion to magnify his Office, or vindicate himſelf, without deſerving the Imputation of Vanity or Arrogance, cannot be denied. Now conſidering what Share it was, that Moſes himſelf bore in the Facts which he relates, and the Narrations, Laws, and Admonitions which he recorded, were not deſign'd for that Age only, but directed to all ſucceeding Generations in the World; and withal conſidering that the ſeditious and turbulent Behaviour of his Brother and Siſter, at that Time, oblig'd him to juſtify and clear himſelf; there was no imaginable Way more proper for him to expreſs himſelf in, than that which he made uſe of, even had it been a Matter of his own Study and Contrivance: But then, if we ſuppoſe that he wrote by divine Inſpiration, the Commendation that is given of his Lenity and good Nature, muſt be look'd upon, rather as the Holy Ghoſt's Teſtimony concerning Moſes, than Moſes's Teſtimony concerning himſelf.

If there be a Prophet among you, I the Lord will make myſelf known unto him in a Viſion, and will ſpeak unto him in a Dream. My Servant Moſes is not ſo, who is faithful in all my Houſe. With him will I ſpeak Mouth to Mouth] The Jewiſh Commentators, ſays Patrick, make the Difference between Moſes and other Prophets, to conſiſt in theſe Particulars, 1. That God ſpake to others by a Mediator, i. e. (as they explain it) by ſome Angel; but to him by himſelf, without the Intervention of any other. 2. That they never propheſy'd, but their Senſes were all bound up either in Viſions, or in Dreams; whereas he was perfectly awake, as we are, when we diſcourſe one with another. 3. That after the Viſion was over, they were, oftentimes, left ſo weak and feeble, that they cou'd ſcarcely ſtand upon their Feet, (as appears from Dan. viii. 18.) whereas Moſes ſpoke with the Divine Majeſty without any Conſternation, or Alteration. And, 4thly, That no Prophet, but he, cou'd know the Mind of God, when he pleas'd, becauſe he communicated himſelf to them only when he thought proper; whereas Moſes might at any Time have Recourſe to God to enquire of him, and receive an Anſwer.

Miriam became leprous] A Leproſy, as well as other Diſtempers (ſuch as the Scurvy, Ring-worm, Itch, &c.) which bear Reſemblance to it, does proceed originally from a previous ill Diſpoſition both in the Blood and Juices, but the more immediate Cauſe of it is an Infinity of ſmall imperceptible Worms that inſinuate themſelves between the Fleſh and Skin, which firſt prey upon the Scarf-Skin, then upon the inner Skin, and afterwards upon the Extremities of the Nerves and Muſcles, from whence ariſes a Corruption of the whole Maſs of Blood, and all the other Symptoms attending it. But the Leproſy here inflicted upon Miriam was ſudden and inſtantaneous. The Juices of her Body were not corrupted by a gradual Decay, but turn'd at once into theſe corroding Animals. And, as this was a fit Puniſhment for her Pride and Detraction, ſo, by its being inflicted on her, and not on Aaron, it ſeems not improbable, that ſhe was firſt in the Tranſgreſſion, and drew Aaron (who ſeems, in ſome Inſtances, to be a Perſon of too much Facility) over to her Party. Aaron, indeed, by his Office, was appointed to judge of Leproſy, which he cou'd not have done, had himſelf been infected with it; and as he was lately conſecrated his High-Prieſt, God, for the Preſervation of his Authority, might not think it proper to make him ſo ſoon become vile and contemptible in the Eyes of his People, as this Diſtemper was known to make Men. See Calmet's Diſſert. and Patrick's Com.

If her Father had but ſpit in her Face, ſhould ſhe not be aſhamed ſeven Days? Let her be ſhut out from the Camp ſeven Days, and after that let her be received in again] The Senſe of which Words is this: If Miriam had offended againſt an earthly Parent, in as groſs a Manner as ſhe has done againſt the God of Iſrael, ſhe would not have been immediately pardoned, and received to Favour; therefore ſome Marks of Penitence and Humiliation ſhould be ſhewn, and then the Lord would deal mercifully with her. On this Account ſhe was, by the Prophet's Command, put out of the Camp for ſeven Days, the Time preſcribed by God, as an unclean and defiled Perſon, unfit to be converſed with by the Congregation of the Choſen. So, tho' God healed her at Moſes's Requeſt, yet he would have her publickly bear the Blame of her Sin, and be a Warning to others to keep them from the ſame Tranſgreſſion.

CHAP. XIII.

Moſes ſends Spies to ſearch the Land of Canaan; their Inſtructions, Return, and Report. The People murmur, but are encouraged by Caleb, but diſheartened by the other Ten.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 2 Send thou men, that they may ſearch the land of Canaan, which I give unto the children of Iſrael: of every tribe of their fathers ſhall ye ſend a man, every one a ruler among them. 3 And Moſes by the commandment of the Lord, ſent them from the wilderneſs of Paran: all thoſe men were heads of the children of Iſrael. 4 And theſe were their names; Of the tribe of Reuben, Shammua the ſon of Zaccur. 5 Of the tribe of Simeon, Shaphat the ſon of Hori. 6 Of the tribe of Judah, Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh. 7 Of the tribe of Iſſachar, Igal the ſon of Joſeph. 8 Of the tribe of Ephraim, Oſhea the ſon of Nun. 9 Of the tribe of Benjamin, Palti the ſon of Raphu. 10 Of the tribe of Zebulun, Gaddiel the ſon of Sodi. 11 Of the tribe of Joſeph, namely, of the tribe of Manaſſeh, Gaddi the ſon of Suſi. 12 Of the tribe of Dan, Ammiel the ſon of Gemalli. 13 Of the tribe of Aſher, Sethur the ſon of Michael. 14 Of the tribe of Naphtali, Nahbi the ſon of Vothſi. 15 Of the tribe of Gad, Geuel the ſon of Machi. 16 Theſe are the names of the men which Moſes ſent to ſpy out the land. And Moſes called Oſhea the ſon of Nun, Jehoſhua. 17 And Moſes ſent them to ſpy out the land of Canaan, and ſaid unto them, Get you up this way ſouthward, and go up into the mountain: 18 And ſee the land what it is, and the people that dwelleth therein, whether they be ſtrong or weak, few or many; 19 And what the land is that they dwell in, whether it be good or bad; and what cities they be that they dwell in, whether in tents, or in ſtrong holds; 20 And what the land is, whether it be fat or lean, whether there be wood therein or not. And be of good courage, and bring of the fruit of the land (now the time was the time of the firſt-ripe grapes) 21 So they went up and ſearched the land, from the wilderneſs of Zin unto Rehob, as men come to Hamath. 22 And they aſcended by the ſouth, and came unto Hebron; where Ahiman, Sheſhai, and Talmai, the children of Anak, were (now Hebron was built ſeven years before Zoan in Egypt) 23 And they came unto the brook of Eſhcol, and cut down from thence a branch with one cluſter of grapes, and they bare it between two upon a ſtaff; and they brought of the pomegranates, and of

of the figs. 24 The place was called the brook Eſhcol, becauſe of the cluſter of grapes which the children of Iſrael cut down from thence. 25 And they returned from ſearching of the land after forty days. 26 And they went and came to Moſes and to Aaron, and to all the congregation of the children of Iſrael unto the wilderneſs of Paran, to Kadeſh; and brought back word unto them, and unto all the congregation, and ſhewed them the fruit of the land. 27 And they told him, and ſaid, We came unto the land whither thou ſenteſt us, and ſurely it floweth with milk and honey; and this is the fruit of it. 28 Nevertheleſs, the people be ſtrong that dwell in the land, and the cities are walled, and very great: and moreover, we ſaw the children of Anak there. 29 The Amalekites dwell in the land of the ſouth: and the Hittites, and the Jebuſites, and the Amorites dwell in the mountains: and the Canaanites dwell by the ſea, and by the coaſt of Jordan. 30 And Caleb ſtilled the people before Moſes, and ſaid, Let us go up at once, and poſſeſs it; for we are well able to overcome it. 31 But the men that went up with him, ſaid, We be not able to go up againſt the people, for they are ſtronger than we. 32 And they brought up an evil report of the land which they had ſearched, unto the children of Iſrael, ſaying, The land through which we have gone to ſearch it, is a land that eateth up the inhabitants thereof; and all the people that we ſaw in it, are men of a great ſtature. 33 And there we ſaw the giants, the ſons of Anak, which come of the giants: and we were in our own ſight as graſhoppers, and ſo we were in their ſight.

And they came unto the Brook of Eſhcol, and cut down from thence a Branch with one Cluſter of Grapes, and they bare it between two upon a Staff] That there are Vines and Grapes of a prodigious Bigneſs in theſe Eaſtern and Southern Parts of the World, is a Matter recorded by ſeveral Writers. Strabo tells, that in Margiana, and other neighbouring Countries, there were Vines ſo very thick about, that two Men cou'd ſcarce fathom them, and that they produced Bunches of Grapes of two Cubits long. Pliny informs us, that in the Inland Parts of America there are Bunches of Grapes bigger than young Children. Olearius, in his Travels into Perſia acquaints us, that, not far from Aſtracan, he ſaw Vines which a Man cou'd hardly graſp with both his Arms; and the learned Huetius affirms, that in Crete, Chios, and other Islands in the Archipelago, there are Bunches of Grapes, from ten, to forty Pounds in Weight. See Le Clerc's Com.

CHAP. XIV.

The People murmur at the News brought by the Spies. Moſes, Aaron, Caleb and Joſhua, endeavour to appeaſe the People, for which they are threaten'd to be ſtoned. God is highly provoked, and declares that the Murmurers ſhall not inherit the promiſed Land; ſends a Plague among them. The People attempting to invade the Land, without God's Permiſſion, are ſmitten.

1 AND all the congregation lifted up their voice, and cried; and the people wept that night. 2 And all the children of Iſrael murmured againſt Moſes, and againſt Aaron: and the whole congregation ſaid unto them, Would God that we had died in the land of Egypt, or would God we had died in this wilderneſs. 3 And wherefore hath the Lord brought us unto this land, to fall by the ſword, that our wives, and our children ſhould be a prey; were it not better for us to return into Egypt? 4 And they ſaid one to another, Let us make a captain, and let us return into Egypt. 5 Then Moſes and Aaron fell on their faces before all the aſſembly of the congregation of the children of Iſrael. 6 And Joſhua the ſon of Nun, and Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh, which were of them that ſearched the land, rent their clothes. 7 And they ſpake unto all the company of the children of Iſrael, ſaying, The land which we paſſed through to ſearch it, is an exceeding good land. 8 If the Lord delight in us, then he will bring us into this land, and give it us; a land which floweth with milk and honey. 9 Only rebel not ye againſt the Lord, neither fear ye the people of the land: for they are bread for us: their defence is departed from them, and the Lord is with us: fear them not. 10 But all the congregation bade ſtone them with ſtones: and the glory of the Lord appeared in the tabernacle of the congregation, before all the children of Iſrael. 11 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, How long will this people provoke me? and how long will it be ere they believe me, for all the ſigns which I have ſhewed among them? 12 I will ſmite them with the peſtilence, and diſinherit them, and will make of thee a greater nation, and mightier than they. 13 And Moſes ſaid unto the Lord, Then the Egyptians ſhall hear it (for thou broughteſt up this people in thy might from among them) 14 And they will tell it to the inhabitants of this land: for they have heard that thou Lord art among this people, that thou Lord art ſeen face to face, and that thy cloud ſtandeth over them, and that thou goeſt before them, by day-time in a pillar of a cloud, and in a pillar of fire by night. 15 Now if thou ſhalt kill all this people, as one man; then the nations which have heard the fame of thee, will ſpeak, ſaying, 16 Becauſe the Lord was not able to bring this people into the land which he ſware unto them, therefore he hath ſlain them in the wilderneſs. 17 And now I beſeech thee, let the power of my Lord be great, according as thou haſt ſpoken, ſaying, 18 The Lord is long-ſuffering, and of great mercy, forgiving iniquity and tranſgreſſion, and by no means clearing the guilty, viſiting the inquity of the fathers upon the children, unto the third and fourth generation. 19 Pardon, I beſeech thee, the iniquity of this people, according unto the greatneſs of thy mercy, and as thou haſt forgiven this people, from Egypt, even until now. 20 And the Lord ſaid, I have pardoned according to thy word: 21 But as truly as I live, all the earth ſhall be filled with the glory of the Lord. 22 Becauſe all thoſe men which have ſeen my glory, and my miracles which I did in Egypt and in the wilderneſs, and have tempted me now theſe ten times, and have not hearkened to my voice; 23 Surely they ſhall not ſee the land which I ſware unto their fathers, neither ſhall any of them that provoked me, ſee it: 24 But my ſervant Caleb, becauſe he had another ſpirit with him, and hath followed me fully; him will I bring into the land, whereinto he went; and his ſeed ſhall poſſeſs it. 25 (Now the Amalekites, and the Canaanites dwelt in the valley) To morrow turn you, and get you into the wilderneſs, by the way of the Red-ſea. 26 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, and unto Aaron, ſaying, 27 How long ſhall I bear with this evil congregation which murmur againſt me? I have heard the murmurings of the children of Iſrael, which they murmur againſt me. 28 Say unto them, As truly as I live, ſaith the Lord, as ye have ſpoken in mine ears, ſo will I do to you: 29 Your carcaſes ſhall fall in this wilderneſs; and all that were numbred of you, according to your whole number, from twenty years old and upward, which have murmured againſt me. 30 Doubtleſs ye ſhall not come into the land concerning which I ſware to make you dwell therein, ſave Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh, and Joſhua the ſon of Nun. 31 But your little ones, which ye ſaid ſhould be a prey, them will I bring in, and they ſhall know the land which ye have deſpiſed. 32 But as for you, your carcaſes they ſhall fall in this wilderneſs. 33 And your children ſhall wander in the wilderneſs forty years, and bear your whoredoms until your carcaſes be waſted in the wilderneſs. 34 After the number of the days in which ye ſearched the land, even forty days (each-day for a year) ſhall ye bear your iniquities, even forty years, and ye ſhall know my breach of promiſe. 35 I the Lord have ſaid, I will ſurely do it unto all this evil congregation, that are gathered together againſt me: in this wilderneſs they ſhall be conſumed, and there they ſhall die. 36 And the men which Moſes ſent to ſearch the land, who returned, and made all the congregation to murmur againſt him, by bringing up a ſlander upon the land; 37 Even thoſe men that did bring up the evil report upon the land, died by the plague before the Lord. 38 But Joſhua the ſon of Nun, and Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh, which were of the men that went to ſearch the land, lived ſtill. 39 And Moſes told theſe ſayings unto all the children of Iſrael: and the people mourned greatly. 40 And they roſe up early in the morning, and gat them up into the top of the mountain, ſaying, Lo, we be here, and will go up unto the place which the Lord hath promiſed: for we have ſinned. 41 And Moſes ſaid, Wherefore now do you tranſgreſs the commandment of the Lord? but it ſhall not proſper. 42 Go not up, for the Lord is not among you; that ye be not ſmitten before your enemies. 43 For the Amalekites, and the Canaanites are there before you, and ye ſhall fall by the ſword: becauſe ye are turned away from the Lord; therefore the Lord will not be with you. 44 But they preſumed to go up unto the hill-top: nevertheleſs, the ark of the covenant of the Lord, and Moſes departed not out of the camp. 45 Then the Amalekites came down, and the Canaanites which dwelt in that hill, and ſmote them, and diſcomfited them, even unto Hormah.

And they ſaid one to another, let us make a Captain and let us return into Egypt] Tho' they might, ſays Patrick, in their raging Fits, ſpeak of returning into Egypt, yet it is an amazing Thing that they ſhould continue in their Madneſs and deliberate about it, nay, actually appoint them a Leader, as Nehem. ix. 17. ſays they did. For how cou'd they get thither without Food, which they cou'd not expect that God wou'd ſend from Heaven, when they had thus ſhamefully forſaken him? How cou'd they hope to find the Way, when the Cloud, which directed them, was withdrawn from them, or think of coping with ſuch Nations, as wou'd oppoſe their Paſſage, in caſe they ſhou'd hit upon the right Way? And, after all, if they came into Egypt, what Reception cou'd they expect from a People, whoſe King, and Princes, and Firſt-born had lately been deſtroy'd upon their Accounts? Nothing can be ſaid in Anſwer to theſe Queſtions, but that outrageous Diſcontent infatuates Mens Minds, and will not ſuffer them to conſider any Thing, but that which grieves them.

After the Number of Days in which ye ſearched the Land, even forty Days (each Day for a Year) ſhall ye bear your Iniquities, even forty Years] Moſes here makes uſe of a round Number, in Alluſion to the forty Days of the Spies ſearching the Land; tho' it is plain, that the Children did enter into the Land of Canaan in leſs than thirty-nine Years, after this Sentence was pronounc'd againſt their Fathers. The Truth is, Moſes reckons the Time paſt ſince they came firſt into the Wilderneſs, which was a Year and an Half; ſo that the Meaning of the Sentence is, — That they ſhould wander for forty Years in all, before they went out of the Wilderneſs; which however is not to be underſtood ſo preciſely, as to want nothing at all of it: For, ſince they came out of Egypt on the 15th Day of the firſt Month, and arriv'd in Canaan, and pitch'd their Tents in Gilgal on the 10th Day of the firſt Month of the one and fortieth Year after their Departure out of Egypt, Joſh. iv. 19. it is plain that there wanted five Days of full forty Years. See Univ. Hiſt. and Patrick's Com.

CHAP. XV.

Of ſeveral Kinds of Offerings. The Stranger under the ſame Law. Of Sins of Ignorance, and Preſumption. The Violater of the Sabbath ſtoned. The Iſraelites commanded to wear Fringes on their Garments, and for what Uſe.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, When ye be come into the land of your habitations, which I give unto you. 3 And will make an offering by fire unto the Lord, a burnt-offering or a ſacrifice in performing a vow, or in a free-will offering, or in your ſolemn feaſts, to make a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord, of the herd or of the flock: 4 Then ſhall he that offereth his offering unto the Lord, bring a meat-offering of a tenth-deal of flour mingled with the fourth part of an hin of oil. 5 And the fourth part of an hin of wine for a drink-offering ſhalt thou prepare, with the burnt-offering or ſacrifice, for one lamb. 6 Or for a ram, thou ſhalt prepare for a meat offering two tenth-deals of flour mingled with the third part of an hin of oil. 7 And for a drink-offering, thou ſhalt offer the third part of an hin of wine, for a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord. 8 And when thou prepareſt a bullock for a burnt-offering, or for a ſacrifice in performing a vow, or peace-offerings unto the Lord: 9 Then ſhall he bring with a bullock a meat-offering of three tenth-deals of flour mingled with half an hin of oil. 10 And thou ſhalt bring for a drink-offering half an hin of wine, for an offering made by fire of a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord. 11 Thus ſhall it be done for one bullock, or for one ram, or for a lamb, or a kid. 12 According to the number that ye ſhall prepare, ſo ſhall ye do to every one, according to their number. 13 All that are born of the country, ſhall do theſe things after this manner, in offering an offering made by fire of a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord. 14 And

And if a ſtranger ſojourn with you, or whoſoever be among you in your generations, and will offer an offering made by fire of a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord: as ye do, ſo he ſhall do. 15 One ordinance ſhall be both for you of the congregation, and alſo for the ſtranger that ſojourneth with you, an ordinance for ever in your generations: as ye are, ſo ſhall the ſtranger be before the Lord. 16 One law, and one manner ſhall be for you, and for the ſtranger that ſojourneth with you. 17 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 18 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, When ye come into the land whither I bring you. 19 Then it ſhall be, that when ye eat of the bread of the land, ye ſhall offer up an heave-offering unto the Lord. 20 Ye ſhall offer up a cake of the firſt of your dough, for an heave-offering: as ye do the heave-offering of the threſhing-floor, ſo ſhall ye heave it. 21 Of the firſt of your dough ye ſhall give unto the Lord, an heave-offering in your generations. 22 And if ye have erred, and not obſerved all theſe commandments which the Lord hath ſpoken unto Moſes, 23 Even all that the Lord hath commanded you by the hand of Moſes, from the day that the Lord commanded Moſes, and henceforward among your generations: 24 Then it ſhall be, if ought be committed by ignorance without the knowledge of the congregation; that all the congregation ſhall offer one young bullock for a burnt-offering, for a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord, with his meat-offering, and his drink-offering, according to the manner, and one kid of the goats for a ſin-offering. 25 And the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for all the congregation of the children of Iſrael, and it ſhall be forgiven them, for it is ignorance: and they ſhall bring their offering, a ſacrifice made by fire unto the Lord, and their ſin-offering before the Lord, for their ignorance. 26 And it ſhall be forgiven all the congregation of the children of Iſrael, and the ſtranger that ſojourneth among them; ſeeing all the people were in ignorance. 27 And if any ſoul ſin through ignorance, then he ſhall bring a ſhe-goat of the firſt year for a ſin-offering. 28 And the prieſt ſhall make an atonement for the ſoul that ſinneth ignorantly, when he ſinneth by ignorance before the Lord, to make an atonement for him; and it ſhall be forgiven him. 29 You ſhall have one law for him that ſinneth through ignorance, both for him that is born amongſt the children of Iſrael, and for the ſtranger that ſojourneth among them. 30 But the ſoul that doth ought preſumptuouſly (whether he be born in the land, or a ſtranger) the ſame reproacheth the Lord; and that ſoul ſhall be cut off from among his people. 31 Becauſe he hath deſpiſed the word of the Lord, and hath broken his commandments; that ſoul ſhall utterly be cut off: his iniquity ſhall be upon him. 32 And while the children of Iſrael were in the wilderneſs, they found a man that gathered ſticks on the ſabbath-day. 33 And they that found him gathering ſticks, brought him unto Moſes and unto Aaron, and unto all the congregation. 34 And they put him in ward, becauſe it was not declared what ſhould be done to him. 35 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, The man ſhall be ſurely put to death; all the congregation ſhall ſtone him with ſtones without the camp. 36 And all the congregation brought him without the camp, and ſtoned him with ſtones, and he died; as the Lord commanded Moſes. 37 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 38 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and bid them that they make them fringes in the borders of their garments, throughout their generations, and that they put upon the fringe of the borders a ribband of blue. 39 And it ſhall be unto you for a fringe, that ye may look upon it, and remember all the commandments of the Lord, and do them: and that ye ſeek not after your own heart, and your own eyes, after which ye uſe to go a whoring: 40 That ye may remember, and do all my commandments, and be holy unto your God. 41 I am the Lord your God, which brought you out of the land of Egypt, to be your God: I am the Lord your God.

In the 24th Verſe is a Law concerning the Sin of Ignorance, and the Offerings to be made for the ſame; and in Levit. iv. 13, &c. the Ceremonial of the Atonement for the ſame Sin is different. By this Diverſity in the divine Command, it ſeems, that either God had expounded and aggravated his Law, to make the People more circumſpect; or that it is not ſpoken in both Places of the ſame Faults committed by Ignorance. That in Leviticus is ſpoken of Errors, and Faults in common Courſe of Life; and here of thoſe only which are committed in Actions, which belong to God's Service.

Bid them that they make them Fringes in the Borders of their Garments — and that they put upon the Borders a Ribband of Blue] Theſe Fringes were compoſed of a great Number of ſcattered and waving Threads, repreſenting the Changes and Fluctuations of Mens Thoughts and Actions, which ought to be reſtrained under the Obedience of God's heavenly Law, figured by that Sky-coloured Ribbon by which theſe Fringes were bound, Pſ. cxix. 119.

Seek not after your own Heart] That is, Have your Thoughts and Will ſet upon my Commandments, and not ſuffer them to be drawn away by the evil Suggeſtions of the Heart, and Incitements of the Senſes.

And your own Eyes] That is, you ſhall not ſeek after the Devices and Inventions of your own Minds and Hearts, as Nadab and Abihu did when they offered ſtrange Fire, as you juſt now did, when you pretended to pleaſe and ſerve God by going up the Hill, and towards Canaan, without and againſt his Order; nor after the Example and Invention of others which your Eyes ſee, as you did when you were ſet upon worſhipping a Calf after the Manner of Egypt.

After which ye uſe to go a whoring] That is, to depart from me, and to prefer your own Fancies before my Commands, and to live only by preſent Sight or Senſe, and not at all by Faith in my Promiſes.

CHAP. XVI.

The Sedition of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram, and their Puniſhment. The People murmur againſt Moſes and Aaron; the Plague begins, and is ſtopt by Aaron.

Ver. 1. NOW Korah the ſon of Izhar, the ſon of Kohath, the ſon of Levi; and Dathan and Abiram the ſon of Eliab, and On the ſon of Peleth, ſons of Reuben, took men. 2 And they roſe up before Moſes, with certain of the children of Iſrael, two hundred and fifty princes of the aſſembly, famous in the congregation, men of renown. 3 And they gathered themſelves together againſt Moſes, and againſt Aaron, and ſaid unto them, Ye take too much upon you, ſeeing all the congregation are holy ever

every one of them, and the Lord is among them: wherefore then lift you up your ſelves above the congregation of the Lord. 4 And when Moſes heard it, he fell upon his face: 5 And he ſpake unto Korah, and unto all his company, ſaying, Even to-morrow the Lord will ſhew who are his, and who is holy; and will cauſe him to come near unto him: even him whom he hath choſen, will he cauſe to come near unto him. 6 This do; take you cenſers, Korah, and all his company; 7 And put fire therein, and put incenſe in them before the Lord to-morrow: and it ſhall be that the man whom the Lord doth chooſe, he ſhall be holy: ye take too much upon you, ye ſons of Levi. 8 And Moſes ſaid unto Korah, Hear, I pray you, ye ſons of Levi: 9 Seemeth it but a ſmall thing unto you, that the God of Iſrael hath ſeparated you from the congregation of Iſrael, to bring you near to himſelf, to do the ſervice of the tabernacle of the Lord, and to ſtand before the congregation, to miniſter unto them? 10 And he hath brought thee near to him, and all thy brethren the ſons of Levi with thee: and ſeek ye the prieſthood alſo? 11 For which cauſe both thou, and all thy company are gathered together againſt the Lord: and what is Aaron, that ye murmur againſt him? 12 And Moſes ſent to call Dathan and Abiram the ſons of Eliab: which ſaid, We will not come up. 13 Is it a ſmall thing that thou haſt brought us up out of a land that floweth with milk and honey, to kill us in the wilderneſs, except thou make thy ſelf altogether a prince over us? 14 Moreover, thou haſt not brought us into a land that floweth with milk and honey, or given us inheritance of fields and vineyards: wilt thou put out the eyes of theſe men? we will not come up. 15 And Moſes was very wroth, and ſaid unto the Lord, Reſpect not thou their offering: I have not taken one aſs from them, neither have I hurt one of them. 16 And Moſes ſaid unto Korah, Be thou and all thy company before the Lord, thou, and they, and Aaron to-morrow: 17 And take every man his cenſer, and put incenſe in them, and bring ye before the Lord every man his cenſer, two hundred and fifty cenſers; thou alſo and Aaron each of you his cenſer. 18 And they took every man his cenſer, and put fire in them, and laid incenſe thereon, and ſtood in the door of the tabernacle of the congregation with Moſes and Aaron. 19 And Korah gathered all the congregation againſt them, unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation: and the glory of the Lord appeared unto all the congregation. 20 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, and unto Aaron, ſaying, 21 Separate your ſelves from among this congregation, that I may conſume them in a moment. 22 And they fell upon their faces, and ſaid, O God, the God of the ſpirits of all fleſh, ſhall one man ſin, and wilt thou be wroth with all the congregation? 23 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 24 Speak unto the congregation, ſaying, Get you up from about the tabernacle of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram. 25 And Moſes roſe up and went unto Dathan and Abiram; and the elders of Iſrael followed him. 26 And he ſpake unto the congregation, ſaying, Depart, I pray you, from the tents of theſe wicked men, and touch nothing of theirs, leſt ye be conſumed in all their ſins. 27 So they gat up from the tabernacle of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram on every ſide: and Dathan and Abiram came out, and ſtood in the door of their tents, and their wives, and their ſons, and their little children. 28 And Moſes ſaid, Hereby ye ſhall know that the Lord hath ſent me to do all theſe works: for I have not done them of mine own mind. 29 If theſe men die the common death of all men, or if they be viſited after the viſitation of all men; then the Lord hath not ſent me. 30 But if the Lord make a new thing, and the earth open her mouth, and ſwallow them up, with all that appertain unto them, and they go down quick into the pit; then ye ſhall underſtand that theſe men have provoked the Lord. 31 And it came to paſs as he had made an end of ſpeaking all theſe words, that the ground clave aſunder that was under them. 32 And the earth opened her mouth, and ſwallowed them up, and their houſes, and all the men that appertained unto Korah, and all their goods. 33 They, and all that appertained to them, went down alive into the pit, and the earth cloſed upon them: and they periſhed from among the congregation. 34 And all Iſrael that were round about them, fled at the cry of them: for they ſaid, Leſt the earth ſwallow us up alſo. 35 And there came out a fire from the Lord, and conſumed the two hundred and fifty men that offered incenſe. 36 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 37 Speak unto Eleazar the ſon of Aaron the prieſt, that he take up the cenſers out of the burning, and ſcatter thou the fire yonder; for they are hallowed. 38 The cenſers of theſe ſinners againſt their own ſouls, let them make them broad plates for a covering of the altar: for they offered them before the Lord, therefore they are hallowed: and they ſhall be a ſign unto the children of Iſrael. 39 And Eleazar the prieſt took the braſen cenſers, wherewith they that were burnt had offered; and they were made broad plates for a covering of the altar: 40 To be a memorial unto the children of Iſrael, that no ſtranger, which is not of the ſeed of Aaron, come near to offer incenſe before the Lord; that he be not as Korah, and as his company: as the Lord ſaid to him by the hand of Moſes. 41 But on the morrow, all the congregation of the children of Iſrael murmured againſt Moſes and againſt Aaron, ſaying, Ye have killed the people of the Lord. 42 And it came to paſs when the congregation was gathered againſt Moſes and againſt Aaron, that they looked toward the tabernacle of the congregation: and behold, the cloud covered it, and the glory of the Lord appeared. 43 And Moſes and Aaron came before the tabernacle of the congregation. 44 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 45 Get you up from among this congregation, that I may conſume them as in a moment: and they fell upon their faces. 46 And Moſes ſaid unto Aaron, Take a cenſer, and put fire therein from off the altar, and put on incenſe, and go quickly unto the congregation, and make atonement for them: for there is wrath gone out from the Lord; the plague is begun. 47 And Aaron took as Moſes commanded, and ran into the midſt of the congregation; and behold, the plague was begun among the people: and he put on incenſe, and made an atonement for the people.

ple. 48 And he ſtood between the dead and the living, and the plague was ſtayed. 49 Now they that died in the plague, were fourteen thouſand and ſeven hundred, beſide them that died about the matter of Korah. 50 And Aaron returned unto Moſes, unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation: and the plague was ſtayed.

And they gathered themſelves together againſt Moſes and againſt Aaron] At what Time, and in what Encampment, this Rebellion of Korah and his Adherents happened, the ſacred Hiſtory has not inform'd us; but, as the general Opinion is, that the Cauſe of the Mutiny was his Reſentment upon the Advancement of Aaron, and his Family, to the Office of High-Prieſt; ſo we find Joſephus introducing him, as addreſſing himſelf to his Accomplices in Words to this Purpoſe: 'A Scandal it is, and a Thing not to be endur'd, for Moſes to take upon him at this Rate; to carry on his Ambition thus, under the Maſk of Holineſs and Religion, and by that Means to raiſe himſelf a Reputation to the Wrong of other Men. He gave lately the Prieſthood and other Dignities to his Brother Aaron, without any Right or Colour for it. No Conſent of the People was aſk'd, nor any Pretence of Authority produc'd, ſave only his own arbitrary Will and Pleaſure: --- For, what has he to ſay for himſelf for ſo doing? If God has annex'd the Honour to the Tribe of Levi, I myſelf may pretend a Right to the Preference, being of the ſame Stock with Moſes, and his Superior both in Riches and Years: Or, if it be to paſs by Seniority, it belongs to the Tribe of Reuben, viz. to Dathan, Abiram, and Phalu, who are the Seniors of that Tribe, and Men of eminent Credit every Way among them.' See Jewiſh Antiq. L. 4. C. 2.

Wilt thou put out the Eyes of theſe Men] The Hebrew Word, here render'd put out, ſignifies bore out; Wilt thou bore out the Eyes of thoſe who are confederate with us, and of all the People who are of our Mind? Wilt thou make them blind, or perſuade them that they are blind, and that they do not ſee what is viſible to all that have Eyes, that thou haſt deceived them, and broken thy Faith and Promiſe given to them? Or wilt thou lead them about like blind Men whither thou pleaſeſt, one Time towards Canaan, and another Time towards Egypt again?

And Moſes was very wroth, and ſaid unto the Lord, Reſpect not thou their Offering] Moſes was wroth, not for his own Sake, for he had learnt to bear Iniquities, Numb. i. 2. as for God's Sake, who was highly diſhonoured, blaſphemed, and provoked, by theſe Speeches and Behaviours, in which Caſe he ought to be angry, as Chriſt was, Mark iii. 5.

Reſpect not thou their Offering; that is, Accept not their Incenſe which they are now going to offer, but ſhew ſome manifeſt Diſlike of it. He calls it their Offering, tho' it was offered by Korah and his Companions, becauſe it was offered in the Name and by the Conſent of all the Conſpirators, for the Deciſion of the preſent Controverſy between them and Moſes.

And Moſes ſaid unto Korah, Be thou and all thy Company before the Lord] Not in the Tabernacle, which was not capable of containing ſo many Perſons ſeverally offering Incenſe; but at the Door of the Tabernacle, Ver. 18. which Place is often ſaid to be before the Lord, Exod. xxix. 42. Levit. i. 10, &c. where they might now lawfully offer it by Moſes's Direction on this extraordinary Occaſion and Neceſſity, becauſe this Work could not be done in that Place, which alone was allowed for offering up of Incenſe, not only for its Smallneſs, but alſo becauſe none but Prieſts might enter to do this Work. Here alſo the People, who were to be inſtructed by this Trial, might ſee the Proof and Succeſs of it.

And the Elders of Iſrael followed him] Theſe Elders were the ſeventy Rulers, who were appointed to aſſiſt Moſes in the Adminiſtration of the Government; they went with Moſes on this Occaſion for the greater Solemnity of the Action, and for his own better Vindication from the Calumnies with which he had been aſperſed, and to encourage them in their Work, notwithſtanding the obſtinate and untractable Temper of the People they were to govern.

And they go down quick into the Pit] That is, into the Grave which God was now about to open for them. The Hebrew Word Scheol ſometimes ſignifies Hell, and ſometimes the Grave, as Gen. xxxvii. 35. Pſ. iv. 15.

And the Earth opened her Mouth, and ſwallowed them up, and their Houſes, and all the Men that appertained unto Korah] That is, his Company who were his Confederates in the Sedition; as alſo all his Family then preſent, Women, Children, and Servants. His Sons indeed were ſpared, being then abſent upon ſome Service of the Tabernacle, or on ſome other Occaſion, it being ſo ordered by Providence, either becauſe they diſliked their Father's Act, or on the Interceſſion of Moſes for them, or for ſome other Reaſon. Theſe Words may likewiſe intimate, that Korah himſelf was not here, but that he continued with his 250 Men before the Lord, Ver. 18, 19. where they were waiting for God's Deciſion of the Controverſy; nor is it probable that their chief Captain would deſert them, and leave them ſtanding there without an Head, eſpecially, when Aaron, his great Adverſary, abode there ſtill, and did not go with Moſes to Dathan, &c. Ver. 25. And Korah may ſeem to have been conſumed with thoſe 250, Ver. 35. tho' he is not there mentioned, but is eaſily underſtood by comparing that Verſe with Ver. 16, 17, 18. and from the Nature of the Thing itſelf; for no Doubt the Deſtruction which befel the Acceſſaries, did likewiſe involve the Principal. And ſo much is intimated, Ver. 40. that no Stranger come near to offer Incenſe before the Lord, that he be not as Korah and his Company; that is, deſtroyed as they were, by Fire from the Lord. And when the Pſalmiſt relates this Hiſtory, Pſ. cvi. the Earth's ſwallowing them up is confined to Dathan and Abiram, Ver. 17. and for all the reſt of that Conſpiracy, it is added, Ver. 18. And a Fire was kindled in their Company, the Flame burnt up the Wicked.

The Cenſers of theſe Sinners againſt their own Souls, let them make them broad Plates for a Covering of the Altar; for they offered them before the Lord, therefore they are hallowed] The two hundred and fifty Princes, had not, as yet, offer'd any Incenſe, becauſe they were prevented by Death; however it may be preſum'd, that they had lighted their Cenſers at the holy Fire, by which they obtain'd (at leaſt in the Opinion of the People) a Kind of Conſecration: And therefore to keep up among them a Reputation and Eſteem for Things conſecrated, as well as to ſhew the Difference between his own Inſtitution, and Mens Contrivances, God order'd all theſe brazen Cenſers to be wrought into broad Plates, and to cover the Altar with them; that being poliſh'd bright, they might, by their Luſtre, put the People in Mind of the Offence of thoſe, who were Owners of them, and ſo caution others againſt the like Offence. See Howell's Hiſt. of the Bible.

CHAP. XVII.

God confirms his Calling of Aaron to the Prieſthood, by the Budding and Bloſſoming of his Rod, which is order'd to be laid up for a Memorial and Terror to Rebels. The People, terrified thereby, apply to Moſes for Succour and Direction.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 2 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and take of every one of them a rod according to the houſe of their fathers, of all their princes, according to the houſe of their fathers, twelve rods: write thou every mans name upon his rod. 3 And thou ſhalt write Aarons name upon upon the rod of Levi: for one rod ſhall be for the head of the houſe of their fathers. 4 And thou ſhalt lay them up in the tabernacle of the congregation, before the teſtimony, where I will meet with you. 5 And it ſhall come to paſs, that the mans rod whom I ſhall chooſe, ſhall bloſſom: and I will make to ceaſe from me the murmurings of the children of Iſrael, whereby they murmur againſt you. 6 And Moſes ſpake unto the children of Iſrael, and every one of their princes gave him a rod apiece, for each prince one, according to their fathers houſes, even twelve rods: and the rod of Aaron was among their rods. 7 And Moſes laid up the rods before the Lord, in the tabernacle of witneſs. 8 And it came to paſs that on the morrow Moſes went into the tabernacle of witneſs; and behold, the rod of Aaron for the houſe of Levi was budded, and brought forth buds, and bloomed bloſſoms, and yielded almonds. 9 And Moſes brought out all the rods from before the Lord unto all the children of Iſrael: and they looked, and took every man his rod. 10 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Bring Aarons rod again, before the teſtimony, to be kept for a token againſt the rebels; and thou ſhalt quite take away their murmurings from me, that they die not. 11 And Moſes did ſo: as the Lord commanded him, ſo did he. 12 And the children of Iſrael ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, Behold, we die, we periſh, we all periſh. 13 Whoſoever cometh any thing near unto the tabernacle of the Lord ſhall die: Shall we be conſumed with dying?

Every one of their Princes gave him a Rod a-piece, for each Prince one] Theſe Rods, ſays Pool, were either, 1. The ordinary Sticks, which were made uſe of in walking; or, 2. Badges of Diſtinction, or Enſigns of Authority. The latter of theſe ſeems the more probable.

The Rod of Aaron for the Houſe of Levi was budded, and brought forth Buds, and bloomed Bloſſoms, and yielded Almonds] Some will needs have this Rod of Aaron's to be the ſame with that of Moſes, wherewith he wrought ſo many Miracles in Egypt, and at the Red-Sea; but there is this Argument againſt them, that the Miracle of its Bloſſoming had not been a ſufficient Conviction to the Iſraelites, if ſo be that Aaron's Rod had not been of the ſame Kind with the reſt. For, whatever had come to paſs, they might have aſcrib'd it to the ſingular Quality and Virtue of the Rod (eſpecially had it been Moſes's wonder-working Rod) and not to the ſpecial Hand of God interpoſing to eſtabliſh the Authority of Aaron; whereas, on the contrary, we find that the Miracle had its intended Effect, and ſilenc'd forever the Pretences of other People to the Prieſthood. It is preſumed therefore by ſome learned Men, that the Rods, which the ſeveral Princes brought Moſes, were neither their common Walking Staves, nor any ſuch Wands as were a Badge of their Power and Authority in their reſpective Tribes, but rather certain Twigs that were cut off from ſome Almond-tree, and not improbably from one and the ſame Tree, that there might be no Manner of Difference between them. The Difference, however, next Morning appeared in this: --- That on the Twig, which bore Aaron's Name, there was, in ſome Places, an Appearance of Buds coming forth; in others, the Buds were opened, and ſhot forth Bloſſoms; and in others, the Bloſſoms were knotted, and grown into Almonds. See Le Clerc's and Patrick's Com.

Mr. Stackhouſe anſwers an Objection, which ſome have made, that as this Affair of the Rod, was wholly under Moſes's Management, he might, by Slight of Hand, have eaſily ſubſtituted an Almond-branch in the Room of Aaron's Rod, thus: That altho' ſome of the Vulgar and leſs Curious might perhaps, at a curſory View, have been impos'd upon, by a ſham Appearance of theſe Things painted on Aaron's Rod; yet Moſes knew very well that he had the Heads of each Tribe to deal with; Men of Sagacity and Obſervation, and who were too nearly concern'd in the Experiment to let any Pretence to a Miracle go unexamin'd: And therefore we may very well imagine, that when he brought forth all the Rods the next Morning, they ſurveyed every one very carefully, and made diligent Search into the Alteration which had paſſed upon that which belong'd to Aaron; and had they found any Deception in it, would have expos'd the two Brothers to Contempt and Ridicule; or rather have depos'd them from all Rule and Power for the future, as a Couple of vile and impious Impoſtors. But, inſtead of that, we find that this Miracle ſilenced all Cavils for ever after againſt Aaron and his Family; confirmed the Authority of Moſes; and made the People (when he told them, that, by God's Appointmeut, he had laid up Aaron's Rod to be a Witneſs againſt them, that, if they murmured any more, they ſhould moſt certainly be deſtroyed) break out into this doleful Complaint, Ver. 12, 13. Behold we die, we periſh, we all periſh, and ſhall be conſumed with dying: For they began now to believe God's Threatnings, and to fear, that at one Time or other they ſhould experience ſome heavy and ſevere Puniſhment, as, by this new Sign, he had convinced them, that they juſtly deſerved it.

And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Bring Aaron's Rod again before the Teſtimony] It has been made a Matter of ſome Enquiry, ſays Calmet, whether this Rod of Aaron's was put within the Ark of the Covenant, or only by it? God commanded Moſes to put it only in the Tabernacle, Ver. 4. to be preſerv'd there; but St. Paul, in Heb. ix. 4. ſays, that it was placed within the Ark, with the Pot of Manna, and the Table of the Law Others affirm, that it was not put within, but only by the Side of the Ark; and for their Opinion they alledge a Paſſage, in 1 Kings viii. 9. which ſeems to intimate, that there was nothing in the Ark, but the Tables of the Law: But then their Adverſaries contend, that St. Paul, in that Paſſage to the Hebrews, is to be underſtood literally; that there could be no Hindrance for its being put into the Ark, ſince the Ark was five Foot long, and could not but be of Capacity enough to hold it; and therefore, when the Scripture ſays, that there was nothing in the Ark but the Tables of the Law, they conceive that it may be underſtood with this Limitation, --- That nothing elſe was originally in it, becauſe the Ark was primarily intended for that Uſe; but this need not hinder but that, afterwards, other Things might likewiſe be put in it. How long this wonderful Rod continued in this Repoſitory, is no where mentioned in Scripture. When the Ark was brought into Solomon's Temple, 1 Kings viii. 9. there is no Notice taken of it; and yet it ſeems reaſonable to think, that it ſhould have been preſerved for ſome conſiderable Time, and preſerv'd in that very Verdure, wherein it now appeared, with its Buds, Bloſſoms, and Fruit, for the Conviction of Poſterity.

CHAP. XVIII.

God ſhews to Aaron, his Sons, and the Levites, their reſpective Offices; alſo the Maintenance for each of them. The Levites commanded to give Tenths of their Tenths to the High-Prieſt.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſaid unto Aaron, Thou and thy ſons and thy father's houſe with thee ſhall bear the iniquity of the ſanctuary: and thou and thy ſons with thee ſhall bear the iniquity of your prieſthood. 2 And thy brethren alſo of the tribe of Levi, the tribe of thy father, bring thou with thee, that they may be joined unto thee, and miniſter unto thee: but thou and thy ſons with thee, ſhall miniſter before the tabernacle of witneſs. 3 And they ſhall keep thy charge, and the charge of all the tabernacle: only they ſhall not come nigh the veſſels of the ſanctuary and the altar, that neither they, nor you alſo die. 4 And they ſhall be joined unto thee, and keep the charge of the tabernacle of the congregation, for all the ſervice of the tabernacle: and a ſtranger ſhall not come nigh unto you. 5 And ye ſhall keep the charge of the ſanctuary, and the charge of the altar; that there be no wrath any more upon the children of Iſrael. 6 And I, behold, I have taken your brethren the Levites from among the children of Iſrael: to you they are given as a gift for the Lord to do the ſervice of the tabernacle of the congregation. 7 Therefore thou and thy ſons with thee, ſhall keep your prieſts office for every thing of the altar, and within the vail, and ye ſhall ſerve: I have given your prieſts office unto you, as a ſervice of gift: and the ſtranger that cometh nigh, ſhall be put to death. 8 And the Lord ſpake unto Aaron, Behold, I alſo have given thee the charge of mine heave-offerings, of all the hallowed things of the children of Iſrael; unto thee have I given them, by reaſon of the anointing, and to thy ſons by an ordinance for ever. 9 This ſhall be thine of the moſt holy things, reſerved from the fire: every oblation of theirs, every meat-offering of theirs, and every ſin-offering of theirs, and every treſpaſs-offering of theirs, which they ſhall render unto me, ſhall be moſt holy for thee and for thy ſons. 10 In the moſt holy place ſhalt thou eat it; every male ſhall eat it: it ſhall be holy unto thee. 11 And this is thine; the heave-offering of their gift, with all the wave-offerings of the children of Iſrael: I have given them unto thee, and to thy ſons, and to thy daughters with thee, by a ſtatute for ever: every one that is clean in thy houſe, ſhall eat of it. 12 All the beſt of the oil, and all the beſt of the wine, and of the wheat, the firſt-fruits of them which they ſhall offer unto the Lord, them have I given thee. 13 And whatſoever is firſt-ripe in the land, which they ſhall bring unto the Lord, ſhall be thine; every one that is clean in thine houſe, ſhall eat of it. 14 Every thing devoted in Iſrael, ſhall be thine. 15 Every thing that openeth the matrice in all fleſh, which they bring unto the Lord, whether it be of men or beaſts, ſhall be thine: nevertheleſs, the firſt-born of man ſhalt thou ſurely redeem, and the firſt-ling of unclean beaſts ſhalt thou redeem. 16 And thoſe that are to be redeemed, from a month old ſhalt thou redeem according to thine eſtimation, for the money of five ſhekels, after the ſhekel of the ſanctuary, which is twenty gerahs. 17 But the firſtling of a cow, or the firſtling of a ſheep, or the firſtling of a goat thou ſhalt not redeem, they are holy: thou ſhalt ſprinkle their blood upon the altar, and ſhalt burn their fat for an offering made by fire, for a ſweet ſavour unto the Lord. 18 And the fleſh of them ſhall be thine, as the wave-breaſt and as the right-ſhoulder are thine. 19 All the heave-offerings of the holy things, which the children of Iſrael offer unto the Lord, have I given thee, and thy ſons, and thy daughters with thee, by a ſtatute for ever: it is a covenant of ſalt for ever, before the Lord, unto thee and to thy ſeed with thee. 20 And the Lord ſpake unto Aaron, Thou ſhalt have no inheritance in their land, neither ſhalt thou have any part among them: I am thy part, and thine inheritance among the children of Iſrael. 21 And behold, I have given the children of Levi all the tenth in Iſrael, for an inheritance, for their ſervice which they ſerve, even the ſervice of the tabernacle of the congregation. 22 Neither muſt the children of Iſrael henceforth come nigh the tabernacle of the congregation, leſt they bear ſin, and die. 23 But the Levites ſhall do the ſervice of the tabernacle of the congregation, and they ſhall bear their iniquity: It ſhall be a ſtatute for ever throughout your generations, that among the children of Iſrael they have no inheritance. 24 But the tithes of the children of Iſrael, which they offer as an heave offering unto the Lord, I have given to the Levites to inherit: therefore I have ſaid unto them, Among the children of Iſrael they ſhall have no inheritance. 25 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 26 Thus ſpeak unto the Levites, and ſay unto them, When ye take of the children of Iſrael the tithes which I have given you from them for your inheritance, then ye ſhall offer up an heave-offering of it for the Lord, even a tenth part of the tithe. 27 And this your heave-offering ſhall be reckoned unto you, as though it were the corn of the threſhing-floor, and as the fulneſs of the wine-preſs. 28 Thus you alſo ſhall offer an heave-offering unto the Lord, of all your tithes which ye receive of the children of Iſrael: and ye ſhall give thereof the Lords heave-offering to Aaron the prieſt. 29 Out of all your gifts ye ſhall offer every heave-offering of the Lord, of all the beſt thereof, even the hallowed part thereof, out of it. 30 Therefore thou ſhalt ſay unto them, When ye have heaved the beſt thereof from it, then it ſhall be counted unto the Levites, as the increaſe of the threſhing-floor, and as the increaſe of the wine-preſs. 31 And ye ſhall eat it in every place, ye and your houſholds: for it is your reward for your ſervice, in the tabernacle of the congregation. 32 And ye ſhall bear no ſin, by reaſon of it, when ye have heaved from it the beſt of it: neither ſhall ye pollute the holy things of the children of Iſrael, leſt ye die.

And the Lord ſaid unto Aaron, Thou, and thy Sons, and thy Father's Houſe with thee, ſhall bear the Iniquity of the Sanctuary] That is, you ſhall ſuffer the Puniſhment of all the Uſurpations, or Pollutions of the Sanctuary, or the Holy Things by the Levites, or any of the People, becauſe you have Authority and Power from me to keep them all within their Bounds, and I expect you uſe it to that End. Thus the People are in a good Meaſure ſecured againſt their Fears, expreſſed Ch. xvii. 12, 13. Alſo they are informed that Aaron's high Dignity was attended with great Burdens, having not only his own, but the People's Sins to anſwer for; and therefore they had no ſuch Reaſon to envy him as they might think, if the Benefits, Incumbrances, and Dangers were equally conſidered.

In the moſt holy Place ſhalt thou eat it] By the moſt holy Place here, is meant the Court of the Prieſts, where there were Places for this Uſe, Levit. vi. 16, 17, 26. and is called the moſt holy Place, not ſimply and abſolutely, as the Place within the Veil was, but in reſpect of the Thing ſpoken of, becauſe this was the moſt holy Place of all the Places appointed for eating of holy Things, whereof ſome might be eaten in any clean Place in the Camp, Levit. x. 14. or in their own Houſes. And as the moſt holy Place is ſometimes called

ſimply

ſimply holy, ſo it is not ſtrange if any holy Place be called moſt holy, eſpecially this Place, which was ſo near the Altar of Burnt-offerings, which is called moſt holy, and made all that touched it holy, Exod. xxix. 37. And God would have theſe Things eaten by them in an holy Place, as in God's Preſence, that they might be obliged to the greater Caution, and not to abuſe God's good Creatures, eſpecially holy Things, to Intemperance, and that they might eat this as their Food, with Thankfulneſs to God the Giver of it, and with reſpect to his Service and Glory; which was afterwards preſcribed to Chriſtians, 1 Cor. x. 31. 1 Tim. iv. 3.

CHAP. XIX.

The Water of Separation; the Uſe of it. Laws concerning the Deſpiſers of Cleanſing.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, and unto Aaron, ſaying, 2 This is the ordinance of the law which the Lord hath commanded, ſaying, Speak unto the children of Iſrael, that they bring thee a red heifer without ſpot, wherein is no blemiſh, and upon which never came yoke. 3 And ye ſhall give her unto Eleazar the prieſt, that he may bring her forth without the camp, and one ſhall ſlay her before his face. 4 And Eleazar the prieſt ſhall take of her blood with his finger, and ſprinkle of her blood directly before the tabernacle of the congregation ſeven times. 5 And one ſhall burn the heifer in his ſight; her ſkin, and her fleſh, and her blood, with her dung, ſhall he burn. 6 And the prieſt ſhall take cedar-wood, and hyſſop, and ſcarlet, and caſt it into the midſt of the burning of the heifer. 7 Then the prieſt ſhall waſh his clothes, and he ſhall bathe his fleſh in water, and afterward he ſhall come into the camp, and the prieſt ſhall be unclean until the even. 8 And he that burneth her, ſhall waſh his clothes in water, and bathe his fleſh in water, and ſhall be unclean until the even. 9 And a man that is clean ſhall gather up the aſhes of the heifer, and lay them up without the camp in a clean place, and it ſhall be kept for the congregation of the children of Iſrael, for a water of ſeparation: it is a purification for ſin. 10 And he that gathereth the aſhes of the heifer, ſhall waſh his clothes, and be unclean until the even: and it ſhall be unto the children of Iſrael, and unto the ſtranger that ſojourneth among them, for a ſtatute for ever. 11 He that toucheth the dead body of any man, ſhall be unclean ſeven days. 12 He ſhall purify himſelf with it on the third day, and on the ſeventh day he ſhall be clean: but if he purify not himſelf the third day, then the ſeventh day he ſhall not be clean. 13 Whoſoever toucheth the dead body of any man that is dead, and purifieth not himſelf, defileth the tabernacle of the Lord; and that ſoul ſhall be cut off from Iſrael: becauſe the water of ſeparation was not ſprinkled upon him, he ſhall be unclean; his uncleanneſs is yet upon him. 14 This is the law, when a man dieth in a tent; all that come into the tent, and all that is in the tent, ſhall be unclean ſeven days. 15 And every open veſſel which hath no covering bound upon it; is unclean. 16 And whoſoever toucheth one that is ſlain with a ſword in the open fields, or a dead body, or a bone of a man, or a grave, ſhall be unclean ſeven days. 17 And for an unclean perſon they ſhall take of the aſhes of the burnt heifer of purification for ſin, and running water ſhall be put thereto in a veſſel: 18 And a clean perſon ſhall take hyſſop, and dip it in the water, and ſprinkle it upon the tent, and upon all the veſſels, and upon the perſons that were there, and upon him that touched a bone, or one ſlain, or one dead, or a grave: 19 And the clean perſon ſhall ſprinkle upon the unclean on the third day, and on the ſeventh day: and on the ſeventh day he ſhall purify himſelf, and waſh his clothes, and bathe himſelf in water, and ſhall be clean at even. 20 But the man that ſhall be unclean, and ſhall not purify himſelf, that ſoul ſhall be cut off from among the congregation: becauſe he hath defiled the ſanctuary of the Lord, the water of ſeparation hath not been ſprinkled upon him, he is unclean. 21 And it ſhall be a perpetual ſtatute unto them, that he that ſprinkleth the water of ſeparation, ſhall waſh his clothes, and he that toucheth the water of ſeparation, ſhall be unclean until the even. 22 And whatſoever the unclean perſon toucheth, ſhall be unclean: and the ſoul that toucheth it, ſhall be unclean until the even.

The Water of Separation and Cleanſing, treated of in this Chapter, was a Token of the Cleanſing and Purification from Sin, made, or to be made, only by the Blood of the Meſſiah, our Lord and Saviour Jeſus Chriſt, the ſame being ſprinkled upon, that is, imputed and appropriated to the Souls of all true Believers, whereof all this Ceremony was but a Type and Figure. For if the Blood of Bulls, of Goats, and the Aſhes of an Heifer, ſprinkling the Unclean, ſanctifieth to the purifying of the Fleſh; how much more ſhall the Blood of Chriſt, who through the eternal Spirit offered himſelf without Spot to God, purge your Conſciences from dead Works, to ſerve the living God?

CHAP. XX.

The Children of Iſrael come into the Deſart of Zin, where Miriam dies. They murmur for Want of Water. Moſes ſmites the Rock, whoſe Waters iſſued out abundantly, but God is diſpleaſed at his Behaviour. Iſrael denied a Paſſage through Edom. Aaron reſigns his Office to his Son Eleazar, and dies; and the People mourn for him.

Ver. 1. THEN came the children of Iſrael, even the whole congregation, into the deſart of Zin, in the firſt month: and the people abode in Kadeſh; and Miriam died there, and was buried there. 2 And there was no water for the congregation: and they gathered themſelves together againſt Moſes, and againſt Aaron. 3 And the people chode with Moſes, and ſpake, ſaying, Would God that we had died when our brethren died before the Lord. 4 And why have ye brought up the congregation of the Lord, into this wilderneſs, that we and our cattle ſhould die there? 5 And wherefore have ye made us to come up out of Egypt, to bring us in unto this evil place? it is no place of ſeed, or of figs, or vines, or of pomegranates, neither is there any water to drink. 6 And Moſes and Aaron went from the preſence of the aſſembly, unto the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, and they fell upon their faces: and the glory of the Lord appeared unto them. 7 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 8 Take the rod, and gather thou the aſſembly together, thou and Aaron thy brother, and ſpeak ye unto the rock before their eyes, and it ſhall give forth his water, and thou ſhalt bring forth to them water out of the rock: ſo thou ſhalt give the congregation, and their beaſts drink. 9 And Moſes took the rod from before the Lord, as he commanded him. 10 And Moſes and Aaron gathered the congregation together before the rock, and he ſaid unto them, Hear now, ye rebels; muſt we fetch you water out of this rock? 11 And Moſes lift up his hand, and with his rod he ſmote the rock twice: and the water came out abundantly, and the congregation drank, and their beaſts alſo. 12 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes and Aaron, Becauſe ye believed me not, to ſanctify me in the eyes of the children of Iſrael; therefore ye ſhall not bring this congregation into the land which I have given them. 13 This is the water of Meribah, becauſe the children of Iſrael ſtrove with the Lord: and he was ſanctified in them. 14 And Moſes ſent meſſengers from Kadeſh, unto the king of Edom, Thus ſaith thy brother Iſrael, Thou knoweſt all the travel that hath befallen us: 15 How our fathers went down into Egypt, and we have dwelt in Egypt a long time: and the Egyptians vexed us, and our fathers. 16 And when we cried unto the Lord, he heard our voice, and ſent an angel, and hath brought us forth out of Egypt: and behold, we are in Kadeſh, a city in the uttermoſt of thy border. 17 Let us paſs, I pray thee, through thy country: we will not paſs through the fields, or through the vineyards, neither will we drink of the water of the wells: we will go by the kings high-way, we will not turn to the right-hand nor to the left, until we have paſſed thy borders. 18 And Edom ſaid unto him, Thou ſhalt not paſs by me, leſt I come out againſt thee with the ſword. 19 And the children of Iſrael ſaid unto him, We will go by the high way: and if I and my cattle drink of thy water, then I will pay for it: I will only (without doing any thing elſe) go through on my feet. 20 And he ſaid, Thou ſhalt not go through. And Edom came out againſt him with much people; and with a ſtrong hand. 21 Thus Edom refuſed to give Iſrael paſſage through his border: wherefore Iſrael turned away from him. 22 And the children of Iſrael, even the whole congregation, journeyed from Kadeſh, and came unto mount Hor. 23 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes and Aaron in mount Hor, by the coaſt of the land of Edom, ſaying, 24 Aaron ſhall be gathered unto his people: for he ſhall not enter into the land which I have given unto the children of Iſrael, becauſe ye rebelled againſt my word at the water of Meribah. 25 Take Aaron and Eleazar his ſon, and bring them up unto mount Hor: 26 And ſtrip Aaron of his garments, and put them upon Eleazar his ſon: and Aaron ſhall be gathered unto his people, and ſhall die there. 27 And Moſes did as the Lord commanded: and they went up into mount Hor, in the ſight of all the congregation. 28 And Moſes ſtripped Aaron of his garments, and put them upon Eleazar his ſon; and Aaron died there in the top of the mount: and Moſes and Eleazar came down from the mount. 29 And when all the congregation ſaw that Aaron was dead, they mourned for Aaron thirty days, even all the houſe of Iſrael.

Then came the Children of Iſrael, even the whole Congregation, into the Deſart of Zin, in the firſt Month] That is, in the fortieth Year, as is evident; becauſe the next Station to this, was in Mount Hor, where Aaron died, Ver. 22, &c. which happened in the fifth Month of the fortieth Year, Ch. xxxiii. 38. So that here is manifeſtly a Vacancy in the Moſaic Account of 37 Years, during which the Iſraelites moved about from Place to Place, in the Deſart, as we may ſee in Numb. xxxiii. where their Journeys and Encampments are particularly related. Moſes does not give us an exact Journal of all their Occurrences, but only of thoſe which were moſt remarkable, eſpecially of thoſe which happened in the firſt and ſecond, and in the fortieth Year.

And Miriam died there, and was buried there] Miriam, or Mary, was older than either Aaron or Moſes. Moſes was the youngeſt: And, when he was born, ſhe might probably be about twelve Years of Age; becauſe when he was expos'd upon the Banks of the River Nile, ſhe, we find, had Addreſs enough to offer her Service to Pharaoh's Daughter to go and fetch her a Nurſe, which can hardly be ſuppoſed of one younger. Some of the antient Fathers were of Opinion, that ſhe dy'd a Virgin, and was the Lagiſtratrix, or Governeſs of the Jewiſh Women, as Moſes was of the Men; but the more probable Opinion is, that ſhe was married to Hur, a Man of chief Note in the Tribe of Judah, and on ſeveral Occaſions a Perſon of great Confidence with Moſes; but it does not appear that ſhe had any Children by him. She was buried, as Joſephus tells us, with great Solemnity, at the Charge of the Publick, and her Sepulchre (as Euſebius reports) was extant in his Time at Kadeſh, not far diſtant from the City Petra, the Metropolis of Arabia Petræa. See Univer. Hiſt. and Calmet's Dict.

And Moſes took the Rod from before the Lord] Mr. Le Clerc, from the literal Senſe of the Words in the Original, ſuppoſes this to have been the Rod of Aaron, which, after its miraculouſly bringing forth Almonds, was laid up before the Lord in the holy Place. But Biſhop Patrick thinks this was Moſes's Rod, wherewith he did his former Miracles, and that it was to be laid up, as well as Aaron's, before the Lord; but in this, Scripture is ſilent. It is alledged againſt the firſt Supoſition, that the green Rod of Aaron, full of Bloſſoms, Buds, and Almonds, was a very unfit Thing to ſtrike the Rock with. But to this it may be anſwered, that he was not commanded to ſtrike at all. But then it may be aſked, To what Purpoſe was the Rod taken? To this, indeed, it is not eaſy to reply, unleſs the Remembrance of the Wonders, heretofore done thereby, might be ſuppoſed to make ſome Impreſſion on the Minds of the Iſraelites, to diſpoſe them to expect quietly the Gift of Water, from him who had ſo often relieved them.

But, however dubious this Thing may be, yet it ſeems highly probable, that the Prophet uſually carried his Rod in his Hand (as from many Places ſeems likely) and that he had it now, while the Lord was ſpeaking to him; and then the Mandate of God amounted to this, Go, take the Rod, that is, as thou wa'ſt wont to do; and the Phraſe, He took the Rod from before the Lord, will mean no more, than that he went out from the Preſence of Jehovah, with his Rod in his Hand, in order to do what he was directed, which is very agreeable to the Manner of his being commiſſioned to do Miracles in Egypt.

Becauſe ye believed me not, to ſanctify me in the Eyes of the Children of Iſrael, therefore ye ſhall not bring this Congregation in to the Land which I have given them] Several Chriſtian as well as Jewiſh Expoſitors think, that the Tranſgreſſion of Moſes lay in ſmiting the Rock, when his Inſtructions were to ſpeak to it only; and for the Support of this they alledge, that God is an abſolute Sovereign, expecting an abſolute Obedience, and exacting Puniſhment even of his greateſt Favourites, when they pretend to vary from his Commands, or to mix their own Conceptions with his Directions. But tho' there ſeems to be ſomething in this, yet it is not eaſy to conceive, for what Purpoſe God order'd him to take his Rod with him, if he was not to ſmite the Rock with it, as he had done before.

It is certain that the divine Writers, who have touched upon this Hiſtory, have made Mention of two Faults in Moſes, viz. his Impatience and Infidelity. And therefore we may ſuppoſe, that (the Water now ceaſing at the Time when his Siſter Miriam died) he was exceedingly troubled on both theſe Accounts; that being unexpectedly aſſaulted by the People, who ought to have paid him more Reverence, eſpecially in a Time of Mourning, he fell into a greater Commotion of Anger and Indignation, than was uſual in him; and that his Anger gave ſuch a Diſturbance to his Mind, and ſo diſordered his Thoughts, that when God bade him take his Rod, and go, and ſpeak to the Rock, he fell into ſome Doubt, whether the divine Goodneſs would grant the People the ſame Favour he had done before; that therefore he ſtruck the Rock with Diffidence, believing it improbable that ſuch worthleſs and rebellious Wretches ſhould deſerve a Miracle, and that the Water not iſſuing out at the firſt Stroke, his Diffidence increaſed into Unbelief, and a ſetled Perſuaſion, that they ſhould have none at all.

There is one Conjecture more of a very learned Man, viz. that Moſes began to diſtruſt God's Promiſe of entering into the Land of Canaan at the End of forty Years, and to imagine, that, if he brought Water out of the Rock, it muſt follow them, and engage them again in the like Wanderings; and therefore the Comment which he makes upon the Words of Moſes is this: What! ye Rebels, muſt we bring Water out of the Rock, as we did at Horeb? Are all our Hopes and Expectations of getting out of the Wilderneſs come to this? We never fetched Water out of the Rock but once, and that was, becauſe we were to ſtay a long Time in the Wilderneſs; and muſt we begin our Abode here again, when we thought we had attained to the End of our Travels? And, with that, he ſmote the Rock in a Paſſion twice, whereas God had only commanded him to ſpeak to it. Whichſoever of theſe Conjectures we are inclined to think moſt plauſible, there are few Writers, who are not diſpoſed to extenuate the Fault of Moſes, as not deſerving ſo ſevere a Puniſhment, had not God, in paſſing the Sentence of Excluſion upon him, conſidered the Eminence and Dignity of a Perſon, in whom a Tranſgreſſion of any Kind could not but be far more grievous and inexcuſable, than in an ordinary Man.

And they went up into the Mount Hor — and Aaron died there in the Top of the Mount] Mount Hor was on the Coaſt of the Land of Edom towards the Eaſt, in ſome Part of that Tract which was afterwards denoted by the Mount Seir. In Deut. xi. 12. we are told expreſly, that the Horims dwelt in Seir before-time, and, accordingly, we read, Gen. xiv. 6. that Chedorlaomar, King of Edom, with his Confederates, ſmote the Horites in their Mount Seir. Now it ſeems very probable, that, as Places, at firſt, were wont to take their Names from their Inhabitants, both this Place, and the People, might derive their Names from one Hor, whom they deſcended from, and who in the early Ages of the World, inhabited this Country; and that tho', in Proceſs of Time, the Name of Mount Seir came to be uſed to denote the ſame Tract, yet the old Name of Mount Hor was preſerved in that Part of it, where ſtood the Mountain, here ſo called by Moſes, and on which Aaron died. There ſeems to be however, no ſmall Difficulty in reconciling this Paſſage in Numb. xx. 23 — 28. with what we read in Deut. x. 6. That the Children of Iſrael took their Journey from Beeroth, of the Children of Joakan, to Moſera; there Aaron died, and there he was buried: So that Moſes ſeems to have forgot himſelf, when, in one Place, he tells us, that his Brother Aaron was buried on Mount Hor, and in another in Moſera. To reconcile this ſome have ſuppoſed, that Mount Hor was ſo near to Moſera, where the Iſraelites had their Encampment, when Aaron died, that either Place might, with Propriety enough, be called the Place of his Death, and of his Interment. It ſeems however, from the Account which we have of their Encampment in Numb. xxxiii. very plain, that Mount Hor and Moſera were two diſtinct Places; and therefore others have maintained, that the 6th and 7th Verſes in the 10th Chapter of Deuteronomy, in the common Hebrew Text, makes the Account in Deut. x. 6, 7. exactly agree with the Order of the Encampment, mentioned in Numb. xxxiii. 32, 38. and there it is ſaid, that Aaron died, and was buried in Mount Hor.

CHAP. XXI.

The Canaanites fight againſt Iſrael, but are at length overcome, and their Cities deſtroyed. The People murmur, and are plagued with fiery Serpents; they repent and are healed by looking to the brazen Serpent. Their Hymn for Water given at Beer. They requeſt of the Amorites a Paſſage; are denied; fight, and overcome them, and dwell in their Cities. Proverbial Sayings concerning it. Og, his Sons and People, are deſtroyed, and their Land poſſeſſed by the Iſraelites.

Ver. 1. AND when king Arad the Canaanite, which dwelt in the ſouth, heard tell that Iſrael came by the way of the ſpies; then he fought againſt Iſrael, and took ſome of them priſoners. 2 And Iſrael vowed a vow unto the Lord, and ſaid, If thou wilt indeed deliver this people into my hand, then I will utterly deſtroy their cities. 3 And the Lord hearkened to the voice of Iſrael, and delivered up the Canaanites: and they utterly deſtroyed them and their cities: and he called the name of the place Hormah. 4 And they journeyed from mount Hor, by the way of the Red-ſea, to compaſs the land of Edom: and the ſoul of the people was much diſcouraged becauſe of the way. 5 And the people ſpake againſt God, and againſt Moſes, Wherefore have ye brought us up out of Egypt, to die in the wilderneſs? for there is no bread, neither is there any water, and our ſoul lotheth this light bread. 6 And the Lord ſent fiery ſerpents among the people; and they bit the people, and much people of Iſrael died. 7 Therefore the people came to Moſes, and ſaid, We have ſinned, for we have ſpoken againſt the Lord, and againſt thee, pray unto the Lord that he take away the ſerpents from us: and Moſes prayed for the people. 8 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Make thee a fiery ſerpent, and ſet it upon a pole: and it ſhall come to paſs, that every one that is bitten, when he looketh upon it, ſhall live. 9 And Moſes made a ſerpent of braſs, and put it upon a pole, and it came to paſs, that if a ſerpent had bitten any man, when he beheld the ſerpent of braſs, he lived. 10 And the children of Iſrael ſet forward, and pitched in Oboth. 11 And they journeyed from Oboth, and pitched at Ije-abarim, in the wilderneſs which is before Moab, toward the ſun-riſing. 12 From thence they removed, and pitched in the valley of Zared. 13 From thence they removed, and pitched on the other ſide of Arnon, which is in the wilderneſs that cometh out of the coaſts of the Amorites: for Arnon is the border of Moab, between Moab and the Amorites. 14 Wherefore it is ſaid in the the book of the wars of the Lord, What he did in the Red-ſea, and in the brooks of Arnon, 15 And at the ſtream of the brooks that goeth down to the dwelling of Ar, and lieth upon the border of Moab. 16 And from thence they went to Beer: that is the well whereof the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, Gather the people together, and I will give them water. 17 Then Iſrael ſang this ſong, Spring up, O well, ſing ye unto it: 18 The princes digged the well, the nobles of the people digged it, by the direction of the law-giver, with their ſtaves. And from the wilderneſs they went to Mattanah: 19 And from Mattanah to Nahaliel: and from Nahaliel to Bamoth: 20 And from Bamoth in the valley that is in the country of Moab, to the top of Piſgah, which looketh toward Jeſhimon. 21 And Iſrael ſent meſſengers, unto Sihon king of the Amorites, ſaying, 22 Let me paſs through thy land: we will not turn into the fields, or into the vineyards, we will not drink of the waters of the well: but we will go along by the kings high-way, until we be paſt thy borders. 23 And Sihon would not ſuffer Iſrael to paſs through his border: but Sihon gathered all his people together, and went out againſt Iſrael into the wilderneſs: and he came to Jahaz and fought againſt Iſrael. 24 And Iſrael ſmote him with the edge of the ſword, and poſſeſſed his land from Arnon unto Jabbok, even unto the children of Ammon: for the border of the children of Ammon was ſtrong. 25 And Iſrael took all theſe cities: and Iſrael dwelt in all the cities of the Amorites, in Heſhbon, and in all the villages thereof. 26 For Heſhbon was the city of Sihon the king of the Amorites, who had fought againſt the former king of Moab, and taken all his land out of his hand, even unto Arnon. 27 Wherefore they that ſpeak in proverbs, ſay, Come into Heſhbon, let the city of Sihon be built and prepared. 28 For there is a fire gone out of Heſhbon, a flame from the city of Sihon: it hath conſumed Ar of Moab, and the lords of the high places of Arnon. 29 Wo to thee, Moab; thou art undone, O people of Chemoſh: he hath given his ſons that eſcaped, and his daughters, into captivity unto Sihon king of the Amorites. 30 We have ſhot at them; Heſhbon is periſhed even unto Dibon, and we have laid them waſte even unto Nophah, which reacheth unto Medeba. 31 Thus Iſrael dwelt in the land of the Amorites. 32 And Moſes ſent to ſpy out Jaazer, and they took the villages thereof, and drove out the Amorites that were there. 33 And they turned and went up by the way of Baſhan: and Og the king of Baſhan went out againſt them, he, and all his people, to the battel of Edrei. 34 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Fear him not: for I have delivered him into thy hand, and all his people, and his land; and thou ſhalt do to him as thou didſt unto Sihon king of the Amorites, which dwelt at Heſhbon. 35 So they ſmote him and his ſons, and all his people, until there was none left him alive: and they poſſeſſed his land.

And when King Arad the Canaanite] It ſhould rather be, ſays Pool, the Canaanite King of Arad: For, Arad is not the Name of a Man, but of a City or Territory, as ſeems evident from Joſh. xii. 14. Judg. i. 16. if at leaſt this was the ſame Place with that.

Heard tell, that Iſrael came by the Way of the Spies] Not thoſe whom Moſes ſent to ſpy out the Land, Numb. xiii. 17. for that was done 38 Years before this; and they went ſo privately, that the Canaanites took no Notice of them, nor knew which Way they came or went, of the Spies which he himſelf ſent out to obſerve the Marches and Motions of the Iſraelites. But the Words may be otherwiſe rendered, either thus, in the Manner of Spies, and ſo the Senſe is, when he heard that divers of the Iſraelites came into, or towards the Country in the Nature of Spies, to prepare the Way for the reſt: Or thus, by the Way of Atharim, a Place ſo called, as the ſeventy Interpreters here take it; and this ſeems not improbable.

And they utterly deſtroyed them and their Cities; and he called the Name of the Place Hormah] But when were theſe Cities deſtroyed? Either, 1. Some Time after this under Joſhua, who ſubdued, among others, the King of Arad, Joſh. xii. 14. and ſo this is mentioned here by Way of Anticipation, that the Vow being now made and mentioned, the Effect or Performance might be recorded, tho' out of its Place; and ſo this Verſe muſt be ſuppoſed to be added by ſome of the Prophets, and inſerted into Moſes's Hiſtory as ſome other Paſſages ſeem to be. Or, 2. At this Time; and ſo this is not the ſame Arad with that, Joſh. xii. 14. nor this the ſame Hormah with that there mentioned, but another of the ſame Name, which is very frequent both in Perſons and Places in Scripture. And this is the more probable, becauſe that Arad and Hormah, Joſh. xii. 14. are two diſtinct Places, and had divers Kings; whereas the ſame Place here is called both Arad and Hormah; and becauſe that Arad ſeems to be at ſome Diſtance from this, and more within the Country, and more Northward, as may be gathered from the other Places joined with it, Joſh. xii. whereas this Arad was near Edom, Ver. 4. and in the South, Ver. 1.

But neither Moſes, nor the whole Body of the People did this Exploit, but a ſelect Number ſent for this Purpoſe to puniſh that King and People, who were ſo fierce and malicious, that they came out of their own Country to fight with the Iſraelites in the Wilderneſs.

But why did not the whole Body of Iſrael now go into Canaan, ſince by this Victory an Entrance was opened for them? Becauſe God would not permit it, there being yet ſeveral Works to be done. Other People muſt be conquered, the Iſraelites muſt be farther humbled, tried, and purged, Moſes muſt die, and then they ſhall enter, and that in a more glorious Manner, even over Jordan, which ſhall be miraculouſly dried up to give them Paſſage.

And the Lord ſent fiery Servants among the People] Some Authors are of Opinion, ſays Bochart, that theſe Serpents were only little Worms which bred in the Skin, and were of ſo venomous a Nature, that they immediately poiſon'd thoſe who were infected among them. But it is very evident, that not only the original Words Necaſhim Seraphim, ſignify a burning or winged Serpent, but that theſe Creatures are very common both in Egypt and Arabia, inſomuch that there wou'd be no living in thoſe Countries, if theſe Serpents had not by Providence been debarr'd from multiplying, as other Serpents do. For the Arabians tell us, that after they have coupled together, the Female never fails to kill the Male, and that her young ones kill her, as ſoon as they are hatch'd. Herodotus, who had ſeen ſeveral of theſe Serpents, tells us, that they very much reſemble thoſe which the Greeks and Latins call Hydræ; and Bochart quotes a great Number of both antient and modern Authors to prove, that they really are the Hydræ. They are but ſhort, are ſpotted with divers Colours, and have Wings like thoſe of a Bat. The Ibis is their mortal Enemy; and Herodotus tells us, that, at Butos in Egypt, he had ſeen a vaſt Quantity of their Skeletons, whoſe Fleſh theſe Birds had devoured. They love ſweet Smells, frequent ſuch Trees as bear Spices, and the Marſhes, where the aromatick (or Caſſia) grows; and therefore, when the Arabians go to gather Caſſia, they clothe themſelves with Skins, and cover all their Heads over, except their Eyes, becauſe their Biting is very dangerous.

And Moſes made a Serpent of Braſs] This brazen Serpent, ſays Calmet, continued among the Jews above 700 Years, even to the Time of Hezekiah, King of Judah; but, when it came to be made an Object of Idolatry, and the People for ſome Time, had paid their Incenſe and Adoration to it, that pious Prince cauſed it to be broken in Pieces; and, by Way of Contempt, call'd it Nehuſhtan, that is, a brazen Bauble, or Trifle. At Milan however, in the Church of St. Ambroſe, they pretend to ſhew you a Serpent made of Braſs, which they tell you is the ſame with that of Moſes.

And Iſrael ſent Meſſengers unto Sihon King of the Amorites, ſaying, Let me paſs through thy Land] It may be here propos'd as a Difficulty, how Moſes came to offer the Amorites Terms of Peace, conſidering that the Iſraelites were commanded to deſtroy them, and to take Poſſeſſion of the Country. But to this it has been anſwer'd by ſome learned Men, that, notwithſtanding God had expreſly doom'd this People to an Extermination, yet Moſes thought himſelf at liberty to indulge his uſual Meekneſs, and to begin with gentle and amicable Meaſures, tho' he might at the ſame Time be perſuaded, that they wou'd avail nothing, and this probably at the Suggeſtion of God himſelf, to cut off all Occaſions or Pretence of Complaint from the Amorites, as if they had not been honourably and fairly dealt with, and that the Equity and Righteouſneſs of God's Proceeding with a Prince of ſo ſavage and obſtinate Temper might appear in a ſtronger Light, when the Conſequences of his refuſing a free Paſſage to the Iſraelites, and bringing his Army into the Field, againſt them, ſhould happen to be his own Defeat and Deſtruction.

And they turned and went up by the Way of Baſhan] The Land of Baſhan was one of the moſt fertile Cantons of Canaan, which reached on the Eaſt to the River Jordan, on the Weſt to the Mountain of Gilead, on the South to the Brook Jabbock, and on the North to the Land of Geſhur. The whole Kingdom took its Name from the Hill of Baſhan, which is ſituate in it, and has ſince been called Batanæa. It had no leſs than ſixty walled Towns in it, beſides Villages. It afforded an excellent Breed of Cattle and ſtately Oaks, and was in ſhort a plentiful and populous Country.

And Og the King of Baſhan, went out againſt them] The Deſcription of this gigantick King, who was the laſt of the Rephaims, or vaſt, prodigious Men, we have in Deut. iii. 11. and from the Size of his Bed (which was preſerved a long Time in the City of Rabbal, the Capital of the Amorites) we may gueſs at his Stature. It was nine Cubits long, and four Cubits broad, i. e. fifteen Feet four Inches and an half long, and ſix Feet ten Inches broad. But the Jewiſh Doctors, not content with ſuch pigmy Wonders, have improved the Story to their own Liking. For they tell us, that this Bed of nine Cubits could be no more than his Cradle, ſince himſelf was ſixſcore Cubits high when full grown; that he lived before the Flood, and that the Waters of it, when at the higheſt, reached only up to his Knees; that however, that he thought proper to get upon the Roof of the Ark where Noah ſupplied him with Proviſion, not out of any Compaſſion to him, but that the Men who came after the Deluge, might ſee how great the Power of God was, who had deſtroyed ſuch Monſters from the Face of the Earth.

CHAP. XXII.

The Iſraelites encamp in the Plains of Moab. Balak ſends for Balaam to curſe Iſrael. He is forbidden to go, but on a ſecond Meſſage is permitted. The Story of the Angel and the Aſs. Balak meets, receives, and expoſtulates with Balaam, who declares he cannot ſpeak contrary to the Will of God.

Ver. 1. AND the children of Iſrael ſet forward, and pitched in the plains of Moab, on this ſide Jordan by Jericho. 2 And Balak the ſon of Zippor ſaw all that Iſrael had done to the Amorites. 3 And Moab was ſore afraid of the people, becauſe they were many: and Moab was diſtreſſed, becauſe of the children of Iſrael. 4 And Moab ſaid unto the elders of Midian, Now ſhall this company lick up all that are round about us, as the ox licketh up the graſs of the field. And Balak the ſon of Zippor was king of the Moabites at that time. 5 He ſent meſſengers therefore unto Balaam the ſon of Beor, to Pethor, which is by the river of the land of the children of his people, to call him, ſaying, Behold, there is a people come out from Egypt: behold, they cover the face of the earth, and they abide over againſt me. 6 Come now therefore, I pray thee, curſe me this people, for they are too mighty for me: peradventure I ſhall prevail, that we may ſmite them, and that I may drive them out of the land: for I wot that he whom thou bleſſeſt, is bleſſed, and he whom thou curſeſt, is curſed. 7 And the elders of Moab, and the elders of Midian departed, with the rewards of divination in their hand; and they came unto Balaam, and ſpake unto him the words of Balak. 8 And he ſaid unto them, Lodge here this night, and I will bring you word again as the Lord ſhall ſpeak unto me: And the princes of Moab abode with Balaam. 9 And God came unto Balaam, and ſaid, What men are these with thee? 10 And Balaam ſaid unto God, Balak the ſon of Zippor, king of Moab, hath ſent unto me, ſaying, 11 Behold, there is a people come out of Egypt, which covereth the face of the earth: Come now, curſe me them; peradventure I ſhall be able to overcome them, and drive them out. 12 And God ſaid unto Balaam, Thou ſhalt not go with them, thou ſhalt not curſe the people: for they are bleſſed. 13 And Balaam roſe up in the morning, and ſaid unto the princes of Balak, Get you into your land: for the Lord refuſeth to give me leave to go with you. 14 And the princes of Moab roſe up, and they went unto Balak, and ſaid, Balaam refuſeth to come with us. 15 And Balak ſent yet again princes, more, and more honourable than they. 16 And they came to Balaam, and ſaid to him, Thus ſaith Balak the ſon of Zippor, Let nothing, I pray thee, hinder thee from coming unto me: 17 For I will promote thee unto very great honour, and I will do whatſoever thou ſayeſt unto me: Come therefore, I pray thee, curſe me this people. 18 And Balaam anſwered and ſaid unto the ſervants of Balak, If Balak would give me his houſe-full of ſilver and gold, I cannot go beyond the word of the Lord my God, to do leſs or more. 19 Now therefore, I pray you, tarry ye alſo here this night, that I may know what the Lord will ſay unto me more. 20 And God came unto Balaam at night, and ſaid unto him, If the men come to call thee, riſe up, and go with them; but yet the word which I ſhall ſay unto thee, that ſhalt thou do. 21 And Balaam roſe up in the morning, and ſaddled his aſs, and went with the princes of Moab. 22 And Gods anger was kindled, because he went: and the angel of the Lord ſtood in the way for an adverſary againſt him: Now he was riding upon his aſs, and his two ſervants were with him. 23 And the aſs ſaw the angel of the Lord ſtanding in the way, and his ſword drawn in his hand: and the aſs turned aſide out of the way, and went into the field: and Balaam ſmote the aſs to turn her into the way. 24 But the angel of the Lord ſtood in a path of the vineyards, a wall being on this ſide, and a wall on that ſide. 25 And when the aſs ſaw the angel of the Lord, ſhe thruſt her ſelf unto the wall, and cruſht Balaams foot againſt the wall: and he ſmote her again. 26 And the angel of the Lord went further, and ſtood in a narrow place, where was no way to turn, either to the right hand or to the left. 27 And when the aſs ſaw the angel of the Lord, ſhe fell down under Balaam: and Balaams anger was kindled, and he ſmote the aſs with a ſtaff. 28 And the Lord opened the mouth of the aſs, and ſhe ſaid unto Balaam, What have I done unto thee, that thou haſt ſmitten me theſe three times? 29 And Balaam ſaid unto the aſs, Becauſe thou haſt mocked me: I would there were a ſword in mine hand, for now would I kill thee. 30 And the aſs ſaid unto Balaam, Am not I thine aſs, upon which thou haſt ridden ever ſince I was thine, unto this day? was I ever wont to do ſo unto thee? and he ſaid, Nay. 31 Then the Lord opened the eyes of Balaam, and he ſaw the angel of the Lord ſtanding in the way, and his ſword drawn in his hand: and he bowed down his head, and fell flat on his face. 32 And the angel of the Lord ſaid unto him, Wherefore haſt thou ſmitten thine aſs theſe three times? behold, I went out to withſtand thee, becauſe thy way is perverſe before me. 33 And the aſs ſaw me, and turned from me theſe three times: unleſs ſhe had turned from me, ſurely now alſo I had ſlain thee, and ſaved her alive. 34 And Balaam ſaid unto the angel of the Lord, I have ſinned; for I knew not that thou ſtoodeſt in the way againſt me: now therefore if it diſpleaſe thee, I will get me back again. 35 And the angel of the Lord ſaid unto Balaam, Go with the men: but only the word that I ſhall ſpeak unto thee, that thou ſhalt ſpeak: So Balaam went with the princes of Balak. 36 And when Balak heard that Balaam was come, he went out to meet him, unto a city of Moab, which is in the border of Arnon, which is in the utmoſt coaſt. 37 And Balak ſaid unto Balaam, Did I not earneſtly ſend unto thee to call thee? Wherefore cameſt thou not unto me? Am I not able indeed to promote thee to honour? 38 And Balaam ſaid unto Balak, Lo, I am come unto thee: have I now any power at all to ſay any thing? the word that God putteth in my mouth, that ſhall I ſpeak. 39 And Balaam went with Balak, and they came unto Kirjath-huzoth. 40 And Balak offered oxen and ſheep, and ſent to Balaam, and to the princes that were with him. 41 And it came to paſs on the morrow, that Balak took Balaam, and brought him up into the high places of Baal, that thence he might ſee the utmoſt part of the people.

He ſent Meſſengers therefore to Balaam the Son of Beor] In 2 Pet. ii. 15. Balaam is ſaid to be the Son of BOSOR, according to our Verſion; but as the Words, the Son, are not found in the Original, but were inſerted by the Tranſlators, to ſupply the Senſe, as they imagined; the Word Boſor may denote a Place, as well as a Perſon; and accordingly, Grotius underſtands Peter's Words, not as if Boſor was the Father, but the City of Balaam: For what was antiently called Pethor, the Syrians, in after-ages, called Boſor, by an eaſy Change of two Letters, which is a Thing not unuſual.

Come now therefore, I pray thee, curſe me this People] In order to have a right Underſtanding in this Matter, we are to obſerve, that it was a received Opinion in thoſe Days, that the Guardian tutulary Gods of any People, muſt be overcome or drawn over, before the Nation under their Protection could be deſtroyed; and, that there were Methods of effecting ſuch Things, known to certain wiſe and inquiſitive Perſons, who conſequently were eſteemed to have a Power of bleſſing or curſing, and alſo of rendering fortunate or unfortunate; by the Force of their Prayers and Imprecations; of this there are many Proofs in Scripture. This was the Opinion of Eſau, and this made him ſo earneſt with his Father, after he had been circumvented by his Brother Jacob; Bleſs me, even me alſo, O my Father. Rachel, that ſhe might hinder her Father Laban from bringing them back, carried away his Teraphim. Joſhua, exhorting his Nation to go up couragiouſly againſt the Canaanites, tells them, their Shadow was departed from them; that is, they had loſt the divine Protection; and the Amorite Poet, in the Fragment quoted in the laſt Chapter, upbraids the Moabites with the Inability of their God Chemoſh to protect them.

Lodge here this Night, and I will bring you Word again as the Lord ſhall ſpeak unto me] Of the Number of thoſe, who ſerved not God, ſays Stackhouſe, Balaam was certainly one; and yet we have Reaſon to preſume, that he nevertheleſs was a real Prophet. The Jews indeed are generally of Opinion, that he was a buſy and pretending Aſtrologer, who, obſerving when Men were under a bad Aſpect of the Stars, pronounc'd a Curſe upon them; which ſometimes coming to paſs, gain'd him, in ſome neighbouring Nations, a Reputation in his Way. Several of the antient Fathers ſuppoſe him to be no more than a common Soothſayer, who undertook to foretel future Events, and diſcover Secrets, &c. but by no good and juſtifiable Arts. Origen will needs have it, that he was no Prophet, but only one of the Devil's Sorcerers; and that of him he went to enquire, but God was pleaſed to prevent him, and to put what Anſwers he pleaſed into his Mouth. It cannot be denied however, but that the Scripture expreſly calls him a Prophet; and therefore ſome later Writers have imagined, that he had been once a good Man, and a true Prophet, till, loving the Wages of Iniquity, and proſtituting the Honour of his Office to Covetouſneſs, he apoſtatiz'd from God, and, betaking himſelf to idolatrous Practices, fell under the Deluſion of the Devil, of whom he learnt all his magical Enchantments; tho', at this Juncture, when the Preſervation of his People was concerned, it might conſiſt with God's Wiſdom to appear to him, and vouchſafe his Revelations.

Balaam indeed was a Man of no great Probity, and might by Profeſſion be a Diviner; but, by the free Acceſs he had to God, it ſeems to be apparent, that he was no common Sorcerer, or Prophet of the Devil: For did ever any Sorcerer addreſs his Prayers to the ſupreme God, and receive Anſwers and Inſtructions from him? Did ever any Sorcerer preſcribe a Law to himſelf, to ſay nothing, leſs or more, than what the Spirit of God ſhould dictate? The Spirit of God, when did it ever come upon an Enchanter? Or was it ever known that an Oracle, upon a remote Event, and what God alone was capable of revealing, ſhould be declared by a mere Magician?

When God was pleaſed to give Anſwer to his Enquiries, to make his Angel appear to him, and, to put the Word of Prophecy in his Mouth, on all theſe Occaſions, we find him expreſſing no Surprize at all, as if he had been perfectly well acquainted with theſe ſeveral Ways of divine Communication; and therefore, bad as he was, and a Slave to his Paſſions, he muſt nevertheleſs be deemed a true Prophet of God. The only ſuſpicious Paſſage in his Conduct, is, his having Recourſe to Enchantments; for what Concord hath God with Belial? Or what Service could he poſſibly promiſe himſelf by making uſe of theſe? But to this it may be replyed, that, the Arts of Magicians, and their Incantations to procure Oracles, and Prodigies, were, by the greateſt Philoſophers of theſe Times, held in great Veneration, and by them reputed to be true. Tho' therefore this Balaam was really a Prophet, yet, as a Man of Learning, he might not be a Stranger to the Theory of what human Science, and the then reputed natural Knowledge had advanced upon theſe Subjects: And as Saul, tho' he had before put away thoſe that had familiar Spirits, and the Wizards out of the Land, 1 Sam. xxviii. 3, &c. was yet induced, when the Lord anſwered him not, neither by Dreams, nor by Urim, nor by Prophets, to go to a Woman, that had a familiar Spirit, and enquire of her; ſo Balaam, finding nothing but a full Diſappointment in all his Views, in the ſeveral Revelations which God was pleaſed to make to him, and being warmly inclined to purchaſe (if he might with any Colour be able to do it) the Advancement which Balak had offered him, was tempted to try what might be the Event, if he uſed ſome of the Arts, which moſt Nations held in the higheſt Repute, and eſteemed to be of the greateſt Efficacy: He try'd, but found no Enchantment againſt Jacob, nor any Divination againſt Iſrael.

To enter therefore into the Character of this true Prophet and Enchanter both, we muſt obſerve, 1. That before the Giving of the Law, and the Conqueſt of the promiſed Land, there were other true Worſhippers of God, beſides the Deſcendants of Abraham, diſperſed over the Face of the Earth. Thus Job and his Friends dwelt in Arabia; Jethro and his Poſterity, in the Country of Midian; and Abraham's Abode in Meſopotamia (where Balaam lived) might leave behind him ſome Proſelites to the true Religion. 2. That this Worſhip of God was frequently mixed with Superſtition and Idolatry, even among them who profeſſed to adore that one God of Heaven and Earth. The Teraphim of Laban proves this. 3. That this odious Mixture did not hinder God from revealing himſelf to thoſe, who practiſed ſuch a monſtrous and motly Religion. Abimelech, and Nebuchadnezzar, are Inſtances of this, Gen. xxvi. and Dan. ii. 1. 4. That ſupernatural Gifts in general, and thoſe of Prophecy in particular, tho' they enlightened the Minds of the Prophets, yet, many Times, did not ſanctify their Hearts and Affections, Mic. iii. 11. And, 5. That the greateſt Weakneſs or Wickedneſs of Prophets never went ſo far, as to make them pronounce Oracles, contrary to what was dictated to them by the Spirit of God: If Balak would give me his Houſe full of Silver and Gold, I cannot go beyond the Word of the Lord, to do good or bad of my own Mind, but what the Lord ſaith, that muſt I ſpeak, Ch. xxiv. 13.

It is not to be queſtioned therefore, but that Balaam was conſcious of his own Inſpiration, and did knowingly obey the divine Will; but ſtill he could have wiſhed, for Balak's Sake, as well as his own, that he might have been permitted to pronounce different Things, to what he did; even as the Prophets of Iſrael, in future Ages, when ordered to denounce Judgments againſt the People, would have deſired Liberty, no doubt, to propheſy Things of a more grateful Reliſh; but as they could not have that Permiſſion, they obeyed, (tho' with ſome Reluctancy) and, when they came to the Point, did nevertheleſs pronounce boldly.

And God came unto Balaam at Night, and ſaid unto him, If the Men come to call thee, riſe up, and go with them — And God's Anger was kindled becauſe he went] What! angry at what himſelf commanded him to do? Our Tranſlators indeed thus render the Text, but the Hebrew Words are clear of this Abſurdity; for they tell us, that God's Anger was kindled, not ci halak, becauſe he went, but ci halak hua, becauſe he went of himſelf, i. e. without ſtaying for Balak's Meſſengers to come in the Morning to call him. He had told them over Night, that an Houſe full of Silver and Gold could not tempt him to go counter to what God ſhould direct him to do; and by this vaunting Speech they might poſſibly think their Maſter's Offers were neglected, and be tempted to go away the next Morning without him; but ſo full were his Head and Heart of Expectations from the Journey, that he would not run the Hazard of their calling; but roſe up early in the Morning, went himſelf to them, which was acting exactly contrary to God's expreſs Order, for which Reaſon he ſent his Angel to ſtand in his Way for an Adverſary againſt him. By the Mouth of his Angel however, God permitted him to go, as knowing very well that his Journey would turn to his Confuſion, and the Manifeſtation of his People's Glory. For, tho' there was nothing but Malice in the Prophet's Heart, and a fixed Determination to do all the Harm he could to the Iſraelites; yet God, by his over-ruling Providence, directed his Words ſo, as to make them, upon every Eſſay to curſe, pregnant with Bleſſings. Had not God forbidden the Prophet to go upon his firſt Application for Leave, he had not declared his Averſion to Balak's wicked Project: Had he not allowed him to go upon his farther Importunity, he had not expoſed his Folly and Madneſs, as well as the Weakneſs of his magick Arts, ſo effectually. But now, in the wiſe Method he took, he defeated the Deſigns of the Wicked, and made the Wrath of Man to praiſe him; he hath ſhewn him, that no Enchantments, no Machinations can prevail, where he undertakes to protect; and has left us this Leſſon of Inſtruction, 'That when Men are fool-
'iſh and ſelf-willed, and in Purſuit of their corrupt
'Views, will follow their own Ways, notwithſtand-
'ing many kind Hints and Admonitions to the con'trary; God then abandons them to their own Ima-
'ginations, which, in the Event, very frequently prove 'their Ruin.'

And the Lord opened the Mouth of the Aſs, and ſhe ſaid unto Balaam ---] This is ſo wonderful an Incident, that ſeveral of the Jewiſh Doctors, who, upon other Occaſions, are fond enough of Miracles, ſeem as if they would hardly be induced to aſſent to this. Philo, in his Life of Moſes, paſſes it over in Silence; and Maimonides pretends, that it only happened to Balaam in a prophetick Viſion. An inſpired Writer in the New Teſtament aſſures us, that it was real Fact, as Moſes relates it. Moſes ſays, that the Lord opened the Mouth of the Aſs, and ſhe ſaid unto Balaam; and St. Peter tells us, that the Aſs, ſpeaking with Man's Voice, forbad the Madneſs of the Prophet; an human Voice came out of the Mouth of the Aſs, but I do not apprehend that this Voice proceeded from her own Sentiments. Her Tongue was miraculouſly moved, not by any Power of her's, ſo to move it, and it ſpake what it was moved to utter, without any Connection of her Words and Sentiments, and without her underſtanding the very Words ſhe uſed upon this Occaſion. This ſeems to have been the Fact, and the ſevereſt Philoſophy, I hope, cannot deny, that God is as able to make Creatures, deſtitute of Underſtanding, pronounce articulate and rational Words, as it is for a Muſician, by the different Touches he gives any Inſtrument, to make it expreſs a Variety of Notes.

It may ſeem a little ſtrange indeed, that Balaam ſhould be in no Kind of Surprize, when he heard his Aſs ſpeak like an human Creature: But to this ſome reply, That Balaam might probably have imbibed the Doctrine of Tranſmigration of Souls, (which was certainly very common in the Eaſt) and from thence might be leſs aſtoniſhed to hear any Brute ſpeak; whereas others ſuppoſe, that he was in ſuch a Rage and Fury at the ſuppoſed Perverſeneſs of his Beaſt cruſhing his Foot, and falling down under him, that, for the preſent, he could think of nothing elſe; tho' the Conciſeneſs of Moſes's Narration, that muſt be preſum'd to have omitted many Circumſtances, which, if rightly known, would diſpel this, and many more Difficulties that may be imagined in this Tranſaction, does certainly furniſh us with a better and a more ſatisfactory Anſwer. For, tho' we could not aſſign a ſufficient Reaſon, why God thought fit to work this Miracle, yet who ſhall dare to infer that it was never wrought? The Account, which we have here even of the moſt ar-ient Times, is very short; nor can we rightly form a Judgment what the prevailing Sentiments of the World might be, in the Age when Balaam lived. The Counels of God are likewise a great Deep, nor can any Man so far penetrate into them, as to pronounce what s proper or improper for him to do. Upon this Occaion, however, there seems to be some Reason for his giving the Ass the Faculty of Speech, viz. that thereby he might convince the Princes of Moab, (who are supposed to be in Company with Balaam) how easy a Thing it was for him, who had opened the Mouth of his dumb Creature, to stop that of its Owner, or to direct his Words to what Purposes he pleased; and how weak and impotent was the Man, in whom they confided, when, with all his Curses and Imprecations, he could not get the better of a poor Brute, and much ess then of the People so immediately under the divine Protection?

Balak took Balaam, and brought him up into the high Places of Baal] The Word Baal, says Patrick, signifies Lord, and was the Name of several Gods, both Male and Female, as Selden (de Diis Syris) shews. The God of the Moabites was Chemosh, but here very probably is called by the common Name of Baal: And, as all Nations worshipped their Gods upon high Places, so this God of Moab, having more Places of Worship than one, Balak carried Balaam to them all, that from thence he might take the most advantageous Prospect of the Israelites. These high Places were full of Trees, and shady Groves, which made them commodious both for the solemn Thoughts, and Prayers of such as were devout, and for the filthy Inclinations and abominable Practices of such as affected to be wicked.

CHAP. XXIII.

Balak and Balaam sacrifice. God meets Balaam and blesses Israel. Balak is troubled. They go to another Place, but the Event is the same. They sacrifice a third Time.

ver. 1. AND Balaam said unto Balak, Build me here seven altars, and prepare me here seven oxen, and seven rams. 2 And Balak did as Balaam had spoken; and Balak and Balaam offered on every altar a bullock and a ram. 3 And Balaam said unto Balak, Stand by the burnt-offering, and I will go: peradventure the Lord will come to meet me: and whatsoever he sheweth me, I will tell thee. And he went to an high place. 4 And God met Balaam; and he said unto him, I have prepared seven altars, and I have offered upon every altar a bullock and a ram. 5 And the Lord put a word in Balaams mouth, and said, Return unto Balak, and thus thou shalt speak. 6 And he returned unto him, and lo, he stood by his burnt-sacrifice, he, and all the princes of Moab. 7 And he took up his parable, and said, Balak the king of Moab hath brought me from Aram, out of the mountains of the east, saying, Come, curse me Jacob, and come, defy Israel. 8 How shall I curse whom God hath not cursed? or how shall I defy, whom the Lord hath not defied? 9 For from the top of the rocks I see him, and from the hills I behold him: lo, the people shall dwell alone, and shall not be reckoned among the nations. 10 Who can count the dust of Jacob, and the number of the fourth part of Israel? Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like his. 11 And Balak said unto Balaam, What hast thou done unto me? I took thee to curse mine enemies, and behold, thou hast blessed them altogether. 12 And he answered and said, Must I not take heed to speak that which the Lord hath put in my mouth? 13 And Balak said unto him, Come, I pray thee, with me unto another place, from whence thou mayest see them: thou shalt see but the utmost part of them, and shalt not see them all: and curse me them from thence. 14 And he brought him into the field of Zophim, to the top of Pisgah, and built seven altars, and offered a bullock and a ram on every altar. 15 And he said unto Balak, Stand here by thy burnt-offering, while I meet the LORD yonder. 16 And the Lord met Balaam, and put a word in his mouth, and said, Go again unto Balak, and say thus. 17 And when he came to him, behold, he stood by his burnt-offering, and the princes of Moab with him. And Balak said unto him, What hath the Lord spoken. 18 And he took up his parable, and said, Rise up Balak, and hear; hearken unto me thou son of Zippor; 19 God is not a man, that he should lie, neither the son of man, that he should repent: hath he said, and shall he not do it? or hath he spoken, and shall he not make it good? 20 Behold, I have received commandment to bless; and he hath blessed, and I cannot reverse it. 21 He hath not beheld iniquity in Jacob, neither hath he seen perverseness in Israel: the Lord his God is with him, and the shout of a king is among them. 22 God brought them out of Egypt; he hath as it were the strength of an unicorn. 23 Surely there is no enchantment against Jacob, neither is there any divination against Israel: according to this time it shall be said of Jacob, and of Israel, What hath God wrought! 24 Behold, the people shall rise up as a great lion, and lift up himself as a young lion: he shall not lie down until he eat of the prey, and drink the blood of the slain. 25 And Balak said unto Balaam, Neither curse them at all, nor bless them at all. 26 But Balaam answered and said unto Balak, Told not I thee, saying, All that the Lord speaketh that I must do? 27 And Balak said unto Balaam, Come, I pray thee, I will bring thee unto another place; peradventure it will please God, that thou mayest curse me them from thence. 28 And Balak brought Balaam unto the top of Peor, that looketh toward Jeshimon. 29 And Balaam said unto Balak, Build me here seven altars, and prepare me here seven bullocks, and seven rams. 30 And Balak did as Balaam had said, and offered a bullock and a ram on every altar.

And Balaam said unto Balak, Build me here seven Altars] According to the Account which both Festus and Servius give us of antient Times, the Heathens sacrificed to the Celestial Gods only upon Altars: To the Terrestrial, they sacrificed upon the Earth; and to the Infernal, in Holes digged in the Earth. And tho' the Number seven was much observed among the Hebrews, even by God's own Appointment, Levit. iv. 6. yet we do not read of more than one Altar built by the Patriarchs, when they offered their Sacrifices, nor were there any more than one allowed by Moses: And therefore we may well suppose, that there was something of heathen Superstition in this Erection of seven Altars, and that the Moabites, in their Worship of the Sun, (which is here principally meant by Baal) did at the same Time sacrifice to the seven Planets. This was originally a Part of the Egyptian Theology; for as they worshipped at this Time the Lights of Heaven, so they first imagined the seven Days of the Week to be under der the respective Influence of these seven Luminaries. Belus, and his Egyptian Priests, having obtained Leave to settle in Babylon, about half a Century before this Time, might teach the Chaldeans their Astronomy, and so introduced this Egyptian Notion of the Influence of the seven ruling Stars, which Balaam, being no Stranger to the Learning of the Age and Country he lived in, might pretend to Balak to proceed upon in his Divinations and Auguries.

And Balak and Balaam offered on every Altar a Bullock and a Ram] But, tho' it was customary, in those early Days, says Patrick, for Kings to officiate as Priests, yet it is rather to be supposed, that Balak only presented the Sacrifices, and that Balaam performed the Office of sacrificing them; but then it may be made a Question, to whom the Sacrifices were offered? And to this it may be answered, that they Both might have a different Intention; that Balak might supplicate Baal, while Balaam was making his Addresses to the Lord, tho' with such superstitious Ceremonies, as, it is likely, were used by the Worshippers of Baal. Or why may we not suppose, that Balaam, telling Balak, that he could effect nothing without the Lord, the God of Israel, persuaded him to join with him at that Time in his Worship, that they might more powerfully prevail with him to withdraw his Presence from the Israelites? For there is no Reason to imagine, that Balaam would go to enquire of the Lord, immediately after he had sacrificed to other Gods.

And Balaam said unto Balak, Stand by thy Burnt-offering, and I will go] The Custom in those Days was, that the Person offering the Sacrifice presented himself before the Deity to whom he offered it, in hopes of being favoured by that Divinity, and of receiving certain Tokens of Acceptance, by observing the Sacrifices while consuming; Balaam therefore directed Balak and his Nobles to perform the Rite, while he, retiring to a more solitary Place in the Mountain, sought by his Enchantments to procure a happy Issue for their Supplications, tho' he promises to deal with them sincerely, by relating in plain and precise Terms, what Jehovah, to whom these Sacrifices were offered, should reveal.

He hath not beheld Iniquity in Jacob, neither hath he seen Perverseness in Israel] The Word Aven, which we translate Iniquity, and the Word Amal, which we render Perverseness, says Stackhouse, do both very frequently signify in Scripture the highest Kind of Wickedness, i. e. Idolatry; and so the Reason which Balaam assigns, why God had blessed the Israelites, and would not curse them, is, that they had not as yet incurr'd the Sin of Idolatry. Some private Men might perhaps be guilty of it, but it was not yet become National and Epidemical; nor were there any Hopes, that God would ever deliver them into the Power of their Enemies, unless, some Way or other, they should be seduced into that Sin; and therefore Balaam advised the Prince of Moab, by the Allurements of some beautiful Women, to entice them into it, as the likeliest Way to deprive them of the divine Protection.

Others take the Words in a common Sense, to denote Sin, or Wickedness in general; but then, by the Words see, or behold, they understand such an Observation of this Wickedness, as marks it out for Punishment. According to this Observation, they make the Meaning of the Phrase to be, that, 'tho' the Israelites 'were confessedly guilty of many great Crimes, yet, 'since they were not universally so, God would have 'more Regard to his own Promises, than to the Sins 'of some Particulars, because he is a God of perfect 'Veracity, and the Unbelief and Impiety of ill Men, 'shall not have Force enough with him, to recal and 'annul his Promises to the Good.'

There is another Signification of the Word, which we render behold, and that is, to look upon with Pleasure and Approbation: And therefore, as the Particle beth does frequently signify against, as well as in (and so occurs in several Parts of Scripture) the Sense of the Words will naturally run thus, God does not approve of any wicked Designs, or Practices against Jacob; for the Words, which we render Iniquity and Perverseness, do equally signify Outrage or Oppression, Deceit, or Machinations of any Kind, which God declares he would not suffer to be attempted against his People. And therefore Balaam, upon a Review of the many Blessings and Deliverances, which God had vouchsafed them, breaks out into this Reflection, and therewith concludes his prophetick Speech: Behold the People shall rise up as a great Lion, and lift up himself as a young Lion; he shall not lie down, until he eat of the Prey, and drink of the Blood.

CHAP. XXIV.

Balaam's Prophecy concerning Israel.

Ver. 1. AND when Balaam saw that it pleased the Lord to bless Israel, he went not as at other times, to seek for enchantments, but he set his face towards the wilderness. 2 And Balaam lift up his eyes, and he saw Israel abiding in his tents according to their tribes, and the Spirit of God came upon him. 3 And he took up his parable, and said, Balaam the son of Beor hath said, and the man whose eyes are open, hath said: 4 He hath said which heard the words of God, which saw the visions of the Almighty, falling into a trance, but having his eyes open: 5 How goodly are thy tents, O Jacob, and thy tabernacle, O Israel! 6 As the valleys are they spread forth, as gardens by the rivers side, as the trees of lign-aloes which the Lord hath planted, and as cedar-trees beside the waters. 7 He shall pour the water out of his buckets, and his seed shall be in many waters, and his king shall be higher then Agag, and his kingdom shall be exalted. 8 God brought him forth out of Egypt, he hath as it were the strength of an unicorn; he shall eat up the nations his enemies, and shall break their bones, and pierce them through with his arrows. 9 He couched, he lay down as a lion, and as a great lion: who shall stir him up? Blessed is he that blesseth thee, and cursed is he that curseth thee. 10 And Balaks anger was kindled against Balaam, and he smote his hands together: and Balak said unto Balaam, I called thee to curse mine enemies, and behold, thou hast altogether blessed them these three times. 11 Therefore now flee thou to thy place: I thought to promote thee unto great honour, but lo, the Lord hath kept thee back from honour. 12 And Balaam said unto Balak, Spake I not also to thy messengers which thou sentest unto me, saying, 13 If Balak would give me his house full of silver and gold, I cannot go beyond the commandment of the Lord, to do either good or bad of mine own mind; but what the Lord saith, that will I speak? 14 And now behold, I go unto my people: come therefore, and I will advertise thee, what this people shall do to thy people in the latter days. 15 And he took up his parable, and said, Balaam the son of Beor hath said, and the man whose eyes are open, hath said: 16 He hath said, which heard the words of God, and knew the knowledge of the most High, which saw the vision of the Almighty, falling into a trance, but having his eyes open: 17 I shall see him, but not now: I shall behold him, but not nigh: there shall come a star out of Jacob, and a sceptre shall rise out of Israel, and shall smite the corners of Moab, and destroy all the children of Sheth. 18 And Edom shall be be a poſſeſſion, Seir alſo ſhall be a poſſeſſion for his enemies, and Iſrael ſhall do valiantly. 19 Out of Jacob ſhall come he that ſhall have dominion, and ſhall deſtroy him that remaineth of the city. 20 And when he looked on Amalek, he took up his parable, and ſaid, Amalek was the firſt of the nations, but his latter end ſhall be that he periſh for ever. 21 And he looked on the Kenites; and took up his parable, and ſaid, Strong is thy dwelling place, and thou putteſt thy neſt in a rock. 22 Nevertheleſs, the Kenite ſhall be waſted until Aſſhur ſhall carry thee away captive. 23 And he took up his parable, and ſaid, Alas, who ſhall live when God doeth this! 24 And ſhips ſhall come from the coaſt of Chittim, and ſhall afflict Aſſhur, and ſhall afflict Eber, and he alſo ſhall periſh for ever. 25 And Balaam roſe up, and went and returned to his place: and Balak alſo went his way.

I ſhall ſee him, but not now; I ſhall behold him, but not nigh; there ſhall come a Star out of Jacob, and a Sceptre ſhall riſe out of Iſrael, and ſhall ſmite the Corners of Moab, and deſtroy all the Children of Seth] All Opinions, ſays Stackhouſe, agree in this, that Balaam here ſpeaks of a King and Conqueror; and perhaps, in calling him a Star, accommodates himſelf to the long eſtabliſhed Notion, that the Appearance of Comets denoted, either the Exaltation or Deſtruction of Kingdoms: but the great Queſtion is, of what King or Conqueror is it that he ſpeaks.

Le Clerc has applyed the Prophecy entirely to David, the moſt illuſtrious of the Jewiſh Monarchs, who extended his Conqueſts far and wide. Patrick has applyed it entirely to the Meſſiah, ſuppoſing that the Metaphor of a Star comports better with him, and his celeſtial Origin, than with David; and that the main ſtrokes of the Prophecy reſemble an heavenly, more than an earthly Conqueror. The Matter however may be compromiſed, if we will but allow of a learned Man's Obſervation, viz. That the moſt remarkable Prophecies in the Old Teſtament bear uſually a twofold Senſe; one relating to the Times before the Meſſiah, and the other, either fulfilled in the Perſon of the Meſſiah or in the Members of his Body, the Church, which Kind we may juſtly eſteem the preceding Prophecy. For, tho' its primary Aſpect may be towards David, yet whoever conſiders it attentively ſhall perceive, that its Ideas are too full to extend no farther, and muſt therefore, in a ſecundary, and more exalted Senſe, refer us to Chriſt, whoſe Kingdom ruleth over all, and to whom all Things are put in Subjection under his Feet. In this Senſe the Generality of Jews, as well as Chriſtians, have all along underſtood it; and 'tis no improbable Conjecture (whatever ſome may think of it) that by the Strength of this Prophecy, kept upon Record among the Oriental Archives, the Magi of that Country, at our Saviour's Nativity, were directed to Jeruſalem, and enquired, where is the King of the Jews, for we have ſeen his Star in the Eaſt? And, upon a farther Suppoſition, that theſe very Magi were deſcended from Balaam in a direct Line, he might then, with Propriety enough, pronounce of the Meſſiah, I ſhall ſee him, i. e. ſee him in my Poſterity, but not now; I ſhall behold him, but not near.

CHAP. XXV.

The Iſraelites commit Whoredom and Idolatry. Zimri and Cozbi ſlain.

Ver. 1. AND Iſrael abode in Shittim, and the people began to commit whoredom with the daughters of Moab. 2 And they called the people unto the ſacrifices of their gods: and the people did eat, and bowed down to their gods. 3 And Iſrael joyned himſelf unto Baal-peor: and the anger of the Lord was kindled againſt Iſrael. 4 And the Lord ſaid unto Moſes, Take all the heads of the people, and hang them up before the Lord againſt the ſun, that the fierce anger of the Lord may be turned away from Iſrael. 5 And Moſes ſaid unto the judges of Iſrael, Slay ye every one his man, that were joyned unto Baal-peor. 6 And behold, one of the children of Iſrael came and brought unto his brethren a Midianitiſh woman, in the ſight of Moſes, and in the ſight of all the congregation of the children of Iſrael, who were weeping before the door of the tabernacle of the congregation. 7 And when Phinehas the ſon of Eleazar, the ſon of Aaron the prieſt, ſaw it, he roſe up from amongſt the congregation, and took a javelin in his hand; 8 And he went after the man of Iſrael into the tent, and thruſt both of them through, the man of Iſrael, and the woman through her belly: So the plague was ſtayed from the children of Iſrael. 9 And thoſe that died in the plague, were twenty and four thouſand. 10 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 11 Phinehas the ſon of Eleazar, the ſon of Aaron the prieſt, hath turned my wrath away from the children of Iſrael (while he was zealous for my ſake among them) that I conſumed not the children of Iſrael in my jealouſy. 12 Wherefore ſay, Behold, I give unto him my covenant of peace. 13 And he ſhall have it, and his ſeed after him, even the covenant of an everlaſting prieſthood; becauſe he was zealous for his God, and made an atonement for the children of Iſrael. 14 Now the name of the Iſraelite that was ſlain, even that was ſlain with the Midianitiſh woman, was Zimri the ſon of Salu, a prince of a chief houſe among the Simeonites. 15 And the name of the Midianitiſh woman that was ſlain, was Cozbi the daughter of Zur; he was head over a people, and of a chief houſe in Midian. 16 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 17 Vex the Midianites, and ſmite them. 18 For they vex you with their wiles, wherewith they have beguiled you, in the matter of Peor, and in the matter of Cozbi, the daughter of a prince of Midian their ſiſter, which was ſlain in the day of the plague, for Peors ſake.

And Iſrael abode in Shittim, and the People began to commit Whoredom with the Daughters of Moab] The Jewiſh Doctors tell us, that, on a great Feſtival, which the Moabites made in Honour of their God Baal-peor, ſome Iſraelites, who happened to be there, caſting their Eyes upon their young Women, were ſmitten with their Beauty, and courted their Enjoyment; but, that the Women would not yield to their Motion upon any other Condition than that they would worſhip their Gods. Whereupon, pulling a little Image of Peor out of their Boſom, they preſented it to the Iſraelites to kiſs, and then deſired them to eat of the Sacrifices which had been offered to him. But Joſephus tells the Story otherwiſe, viz. That the Women, upon ſome Pretence or other, came into the Iſraelitiſh Camp, and, when they had enamoured the young Hebrews, according to their Inſtructions, they made a Pretence as tho' they muſt be gone; but, upon paſſionate Entreaties, accompanied with Vows and Oaths on the other Side, the ſubtle Enchantreſſes conſented to ſtay with them, and grant them every Thing that they deſired, upon Condition that they would embrace their Religion. See Patrick's Com. and Joſephus.

And Iſrael joined himſelf unto Baal-peor] The Jewiſh

Doctors are generally of Opinion, that this Baal-peor was the same with Priapus, the Idol of Turpitude; and that the Worship of him consisted in such obscene Practices, or Postures at least, as were not fit to be named. Others have asserted, that this God was the same as Saturn, a Deity adored in Arabia; nor is it unlikely, that the Adventure related of Saturn, and his Castration by his own Son, may have introduced the Obscenities that are practised in the Worship of this Idol. But others, with great Assurance, maintain, that Peor was the same with Adonis, whose Feasts were celebrated in the Manner of Funerals, but the People, who observed them at that Time, committed a thousand dissolute Actions, particularly, when they were told, that Adonis, whom they mourned for as dead, was returned to Life again. However this be, it is very probable, that as Peor was the Name of a Mountain in the Country of Moab, the Temple of Baal stood upon it, and thence he was called Baal-Peor. See Calmet, Patrick, and Selden.

Take all the Heads of the People, and hang them up before the Lord against the Sun] This is God's Command to Moses: But unless we can suppose, that the Heads of each Tribe were guilty of this Lewdness and Idolatry, the Sentence here denounced would have been highly unjust: And, what others alledge, that they were guilty of a shameful Neglect in not opposing the growing Mischief, and punishing the Offenders; this might be very probably out of their Power, since even Moses himself, very frequently, found them too headstrong for him. It was somewhat strange therefore, that our Translators should take the Passage in this Sense, when the Samaritan Copy, the Jerusalem Targum, most of the antient Translations, and several later Commentators of great Note, have made the Word Otham, i. e. them, not to refer to the Heads of the People, but to such as had joined themselves to Baal-peor: And so the Meaning of the Command will be, that the Heads of the People should divide themselves into several Courts of Judgment, and examine who had committed Idolatry, and, after Conviction, cause them to be hanged, i. e. hanged after they were stoned; for among the Hebrews none were hanged alive, but in the Cases of Idolatry or Blasphemy, were first stoned, and then hanged up against the Sun; i. e. publickly and openly, that all the People might see, and fear to sin. See Patrick's Com.

And he went after the Man of Israel into the Tent, and thrust both of them through] Upon this Fact the Jews found what they call the Judgment of Zeal, which authorized such as were full of this holy Fervour, to punish any violent Offenders, those, to wit, who blasphemed God, or profaned the Temple, &c. in the Presence of ten Men of Israel, without any formal Process. But this Example of Phineas countenances no such Practice; nor can this Action, done upon an extraordinary Occasion, by a Person in a publick Authority, moved thereto by a strong divine Impulse, and (what is a Circumstance which some People add) in a Common-wealth not perfectly setled, be made a Precedent for private Men, under a different Situation, to invade the Office of the Magistrate, and, with enthusiastick Rage, to persecute even those that are most innocent; as we plainly find it happened among the Jews, when, in the latter Times of their Government, they put this Precedent in Execution; of which Stephen, whom they inhumanly stoned, and St. Paul, whom they vowed to assassinate, without any Form of Justice are notorious Instances. See Patrick's and Le Clerc's Com.

Behold, I give unto him my Covenant of Peace. And he shall have it, and his Seed after him, even the Covenant of an everlasting Priesthood] This, however, is to be understood with a certain Limitation, because it is manifest, that, after some Successions in the Line of Phineas, the Priesthood came, for a while, into the Family of Eli, who was descended from Ithamar, the youngest Son of Aaron. The Reason of this Interruption is not mentioned in Scripture; but some great Sin, 'tis reasonable to suppose, provoked God to set aside the Line of Eleazar for some Years, till Eli's Sons likewise became so wicked, that the Priesthood was taken from them, and restored, in the Days of Solomon, to the Posterity of Phineas, with whom it continued, as long as the Priesthood lasted. And this is enough to verify the Promise of an everlasting Priesthood, since the Words, everlasting, perpetual, and the like, in a general and indefinite Sense, denote no more than a long Duration. But there is another Way of solving this Difficulty: God had, before this Time, limited the Priesthood to Aaron and his Descendants, and to them it was to be an everlasting Priesthood, throughout their Generations, Exod. xl. 15. upon this Account it might probably enough be called, as limited to that Family, the everlasting Priesthood. So that, God does not here promise Phineas, and his Seed after him, an everlasting Grant of the Priesthood, as some Commentators take it; nor a Grant of an everlasting Priesthood, as our English Version renders it, but rather a Grant of the everlasting Priesthood, i. e. of the Priesthood limited to Aaron and his Descendants by that Application. See Selden, de Succes. Pontif. and Shuckford's Com.

CHAP. XXVI.

The People numbered.

Ver. 1. AND it came to pass after the plague, that the Lord spake unto Moses, and unto Eleazar the son of Aaron the priest, saying, 2 Take the sum of all the congregation of the children of Israel, from twenty years old and upward, throughout their fathers house, all that are able to go to war in Israel. 3 And Moses, and Eleazar the priest spake with them in the plains of Moab by Jordan near Jericho, saying, 4 Take the sum of the people, from twenty years old and upward; as the Lord commanded Moses and the children of Israel, which went forth out of the land of Egypt. 5 Reuben the eldest son of Israel: the children of Reuben; Hanoch, of whom cometh the family of the Hanochites: of Pallu, the family of the Palluites: 6 Of Hesron, the family of the Hesronites: of Carmi, the family of the Carmites. 7 These are the families of the Reubenites: and they that were numbred of them, were forty and three thousand and seven hundred and thirty. 8 And the sons of Pallu; Eliab. 9 And the sons of Eliab; Nemuel, and Dathan, and Abiram. This is that Dathan and Abiram which were famous in the congregation, who strove against Moses and against Aaron in the company of Korah, when they strove against the Lord: 10 And the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed them up together with Korah, when that company died, what time the fire devoured two hundred and fifty men: and they became a sign. 11 Notwithstanding the children of Korah died not. 12 The sons of Simeon after their families: of Nemuel, the family of the Nemuelites: of Jamin, the family of the Jaminites: of Jachin, the family of the Jachinites: 13 Of Zerah, the family of the Zarhites: of Shaul, the family of the Shaulites. 14 These are the families of the Simeonites, twenty and two thousand and two hundred. 15 The children of Gad after their families: of Zephon, the family of the Zephonites: of Haggi, the family of the Haggites: of Shuni, the family of the Shunites: 16 Of Ozni, the family of the Oznites: of Eri, the family of the Erites. 17 Of Arod, the family of the Arodites: of Areli, the family of the Arelites. 18 These are the

And there was not a man left of them, save Caleb the son of Jephunneh, and Joshua the son of Nun.

It is proper to be remarked, that the People of Israel were now for the third Time computed since their coming out of Egypt, each Numeration having an apparent Cause, as the bare mentioning the Times when they were made, will sufficiently inform the Reader.

The

The first was, in order to their being assessed for the building of the Tabernacle. The second, on the first Day of the second Month, in the second Year after the Exodus, when their Camp lay before Sinai; and hence we are enabled to form the following Tables, in which the Increase and Decrease of their respective Tribes, and the Number of Families comprized under each Tribe may at one View be seen.

From these Tables it appears, that the Decrease of the Israelites lay in the Camp of Reuben, that Tribe and the Tribe of Simeon suffering severely; tho' it cannot with Certainty be affirmed, from what Cause this Punishment was inflicted. It is most likely, that the divine Wrath, for the Conspiracy of Dathan, Abiram, and their Associates, which occasioned the woeful Opening of the Earth, and the destroying Plague, consequent on their Murmurs, fell very heavily on Reuben's Posterity, who were, as heretofore has been shewn, the Persons principally concerned in that Insurrection. As to Simeon, we know that Zimri was a Prince of that House, who so lately provoked the pious Indignation of Phinehas, by his profligate Debauchery; whence it has been, and we think not without Probability, conjectured, that a very great Number of those dissolute Wretches, who followed the Women of Moab and Midian were of this Tribe also, which therefore felt more severely the Plague wherewith Israel was chastised, for that heinous Offence; but tho' these Observations may be supported by various Arguments, yet they are only proposed here, and left to the Judgment of the Reader; for, where Moses has not expressly informed us, we cannot take upon us to assert.

But, tho' these Uncertainties occur, in endeavouring to assign the Causes of the diminishing certain Tribes, yet shall we find less Difficulty, in accounting for the Increase in the Rest. The Blessing of Jacob upon Judah, to whom the Principality was transferred from Reuben, seems to imply that his Descendants should be remarkably numerous and potent; this we find fully accomplished, as in the two former Reviews, so also in this; for the fighting Men of this Tribe appear, from this last Computation, to have been a Third more than those of the Tribe of Reuben; and as the Blessing on Joseph's Offspring pointed out their growing to a vast and numerous People, so we find that the Increase of Manasseh was double the Increase of any other Tribe, amounting to no less than twenty thousand and five hundred Men. The Levites, as they were separated from their Brethren, and were to have no Portion in the promised Land assigned to their Tribe, so they were not mustered with the rest, but an Account was taken of them separately, whereby it was found, that they were now twenty three thousand Males from a Month old and upwards; so that they were increased a thousand, from the Time of their being last numbered. The Host in general, notwithstanding there were none now mustered but Caleb and Joshua, who were mustered before, falling short but one thousand eight hundred and twenty of its former Amount, and consisting intirely of Men in their Prime, from twenty Years to fifty seven Years old, or thereabouts; a manifest Proof of God's peculiar Care over this People.

CHAP. XXVII.

The Case of the Daughters of Zelophehad, and the Law concerning Inheritances made thereupon. Moses being acquainted with his Death, Joshua is appointed his Successor.

Ver. 1. THen came the daughters of Zelophehad the son of Hepher, the son of Gilead, the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh, of the families of Manasseh the son of Joseph: and these are the names of his daughters; Mahlah, Noah, and Hoglah, and Milcah and Tirzah. 2 And they stood before Moses, and before Eleazar the priest, and before the princes, and all the congregation by the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, saying, 3 Our father died in the wilderness, and he was not in the company of them that gathered themselves together against the Lord in the company of Korah; but died in his own sin, and had no sons. 4 Why should the name of our father be done away from among his family, because he hath no son? Give unto us therefore a possession among the brethren of our father. 5 And Moses brought their cause before the Lord. 6 And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying, 7 The daughters of Zelophehad speak right: thou shalt surely give them a possession of an inheritance among their fathers brethren; and thou shalt cause the inheinheritance of their father to pass unto them. 8 And thou shalt speak unto the children of Israel, saying, If a man die, and have no son, then ye shall cause his inheritance to pass unto his daughter. 9 And if he have no daughter, then ye shall give his inheritance unto his brethren. 10 And if he have no brethren, then ye shall give his inheritance unto his fathers brethren. 11 And if his father have no brethren, then ye shall give his inheritance unto his kinsman that is next to him of his family, and he shall possess it: and it shall be unto the children of Israel a statute of judgment, as the Lord commanded Moses.

And Moses brought their Cause before the Lord] Here, says Campbel, we have a very clear Instance of the Manner of Proceeding in extraordinary Cases, while the People of Israel continued in the Desart; and from hence it appears, how very cautious not only the inferior Judges were, in deciding Points intricate in their Nature, and unreducible to any already given Law, but also, how scrupulous even their highest Court was, nay, and the holy Prophet himself, in such a Case; for, instead of pronouncing such a Sentence, as in their Opinions seemed right in this Matter, Moses carries away the Cause to the dernier Resort of the Hebrews, the Judgment of Jehovah, that the divine Decree might fully settle the present Dispute, whereby the Right of Inheritance, in Case of the Failure of Heirs Male, might, beyond Controversy, be for the future adjusted.

12 And the Lord said unto Moses, Get thee up into this mount Abarim, and see the land which I have given unto the children of Israel. 13 And when thou hast seen it, thou also shalt be gathered unto thy people, as Aaron thy brother was gathered. 14 For ye rebelled against my commandment (in the desart of Zin, in the strife of the congregation) to sanctify me at the water, before their eyes: that is the water of Meribah in Kadesh in the wilderness of Zin. 15 And Moses spake unto the Lord, saying, 16 Let the Lord, the God of the spirits of all flesh, set a man over the congregation, 17 Which may go out before them, and which may go in before them, and which may lead them out, and which may bring them in; that the congregation of the Lord be not as sheep which have no shepherd. 18 And the Lord said unto Moses, Take thee Joshua the son of Nun, a man in whom is the spirit, and lay thine hand upon him. 19 And set him before Eleazar the priest, and before all the congregation: and give him a charge in their sight. 20 And thou shalt put some of thine honour upon him, that all the congregation of the children of Israel may be obedient. 21 And he shall stand before Eleazar the priest, who shall ask counsel for him, after the judgment of Urim before the Lord: at his word shall they go out, and at his word they shall come in, both he, and all the children of Israel with him, even all the congregation. 22 And Moses did as the Lord commanded him: and he took Joshua and set him before Eleazar the priest, and before all the congregation. 23 And he laid his hands upon him, and gave him a charge, as the Lord commanded by the hand of Moses.

And the Lord said unto Moses, Get thee up into this Mount Abarim, and see the Land which I have given unto the Children of Israel] The Time of the Prophet's Death, according to the Sentence pronounced against him by God, for his irreverent Behaviour at the Waters of Meribah, drawing now very near, Jehovah graciously reminded him thereof; and, to alleviate his Afflictions, and lessen his melancholy Regret, the Lord informs him, that tho' he would not reverse the Judgment, or permit him to see the People whom he had conducted out of Egypt, setled in Canaan; yet he should have Leave to go up into the Summit of Nebo, one of the Mountains of Abarim, from which he might behold that rich and fruitful Country, which God had bestowed on the Descendants of Jacob; after which he was to be gathered to his People, as Aaron his Brother had been in his Presence. There is no Question to be made, but that Moses was heavily grieved, even with this gentle Admonition, concerning his approaching Death; for elsewhere he informs us, that he offered the most earnest Prayers and Supplications for obtaining Pardon, and avoiding that Punishment which he had already seen inflicted on his Brother. However, his Anxiety hindered not his Remembrance of the People he had so many Years conducted, or from considering the unhappy Condition to which they would be reduced, in Case of his dying, without appointing a proper Person to succeed him. Wherefore Moses took this Opportunity to beseech the Almighty, who, as he was the Governor of all Things, could at his Pleasure model the Minds and Dispositions of his Creatures, to appoint a Person in his Stead to govern his chosen People Israel, to command them, in Time of War, and to rule over them in Time of Peace, that they might not seem to be cast off at his Decease, or the Congregation of Jehovah be as Sheep without a Shepherd: For tho', as from former Passages it appears, Joshua had been pointed out as the Person whom God had selected, to perform what Moses should leave unfinished, yet this wise and pious Man was desirous, that the Appointment should be solemnly confirmed, to the End that the Israelites might the more readily yield him due Obedience.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Several Sorts of Offerings.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord spake unto Moses, saying, 2 Command the children of Israel, and say unto them, My offering, and my bread for my sacrifices made by fire, for a sweet savour unto me, shall ye observe to offer unto me in their due season. 3 And thou shalt say unto them, This is the offering made by fire, which ye shall offer unto the Lord; two lambs of the first year without spot day by day, for a continual burnt-offering. 4 The one lamb shalt thou offer in the morning, and the other lamb shalt thou offer at even; 5 And a tenth part of an ephah of flour for a meat-offering, mingled with the fourth part of an hin of beaten oil. 6 It is a continual burnt-offering, which was ordained in mount Sinai for a sweet savour, a sacrifice made by fire unto the Lord. 7 And the drink-offering thereof shall be the fourth part of an hin for the one lamb: in the holy place shalt thou cause the strong wine to be poured unto the Lord for a drink-offering. 8 And the other lamb shalt thou offer at even: as the meat-offering of the morning, and as the drink-offering thereof thou shalt offer it, a sacrifice made by fire of a sweet savour unto the Lord. 9 And on the sabbath-day, two lambs of the first year without spot, and two tenth-deals of flour for a meat-offering mingled with oil, and the drink-offering thereof. 10 This is the burnt-offering of every sabbath, beside the continual burnt-offering, and his drink-offering. 11 And in the beginnings of your months ye shall offer a burnt-offering unto the Lord; two young bullocks, and one ram, seven lambs of the first year without spot, 12

Of Vows, particularly thoſe of Maids, Widows, and Women divorced.

Ver. 1. AND Moſes ſpake unto the heads of the tribes, concerning the children of Iſrael, ſaying, This is the thing which the Lord hath commanded. 2 If a man vow a vow unto the Lord, or ſwear an oath to bind his ſoul with a bond; he ſhall not break his word, he ſhall do according to all that proceedeth out of his mouth. 3 If a woman alſo vow a vow unto the Lord, and bind her ſelf by a bond, being in her fathers houſe in her youth; 4 And her father hear her vow, and her bond wherewith ſhe hath bound her ſoul, and her father ſhall hold his peace at her: then all her vows ſhall ſtand, and every bond wherewith ſhe hath bound her ſoul, ſhall ſtand. 5 But if her father diſallow her in the day that he heareth; not any of her vows or of her bonds wherewith ſhe hath bound her ſoul, ſhall ſtand: and the Lord ſhall forgive her, becauſe her father diſallowed her. 6 And if ſhe had at all an huſband when ſhe vowed, or uttered ought out of her lips, wherewith ſhe bound her ſoul; 7 And her huſband heard it, and held his peace at her in the day that he heard it: then her vows ſhall ſtand, and her bonds wherewith ſhe bound her ſoul ſhall ſtand. 8 But if her huſband diſallow her on the day that he heard it; then he ſhall make her vow which ſhe vowed, and that which ſhe uttered with her lips, wherewith ſhe bound her ſoul, of none effect: and the Lord ſhall forgive her. 9 But every vow of a widow, and of her that is divorced, wherewith they have bound their ſouls, ſhall ſtand againſt her. 10 And if ſhe vowed in her huſbands houſe, or bound her ſoul by a bond with an oath; 11 And her huſband heard it, and held his peace at her, and diſallowed her not: then all her vows ſhall ſtand, and every bond wherewith ſhe bound her ſoul, ſhall ſtand. 12 But if her huſband hath utterly made them void on the day he heard them; then whatſoever proceeded out of her lips concerning her vows, or concerning the bond of her ſoul ſhall not ſtand: her huſband hath made them void, and the Lord ſhall forgive her. 13 Every vow, and every binding oath to afflict the ſoul, her huſband may eſtabliſh it, or her huſband may make it void. 14 But if her huſband altogether hold his peace at her, from day to day; then he eſtabliſheth all her vows, or all her bonds which are upon her: he confirmeth them, becauſe he held his peace at her, in the day that he heard them. 15 But if he ſhall any ways make them void after that he hath heard them; then he ſhall bear her iniquity. 16 Theſe are the ſtatutes which the Lord commanded Moſes between a man and his wife, between the father and his daughter, being yet in her youth in her fathers houſe.

This Chapter treats of ſome particular Kinds of Vows: But as this Subject has been already handled in ſeveral Parts of this Work, we need only obſerve here, that whoever reads with Attention will ſee the Reaſonableneſs of the Injunctions here given, in relation both to the keeping and breaking of certain Vows after they have been made, without any farther Explanation of, or Comment upon them.

CHAP. XXXI.

The War with the Midianites; their Deſtruction, and the Death of Balaam; the Spoil divided; and the Officers reproved for ſaving the Women alive.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 2 Avenge the children of Iſrael of the Midianites: afterward ſhalt thou be gathered unto thy people. 3 And Moſes ſpake unto the people, ſaying, Arm ſome of your ſelves unto the war, and let them go againſt the Midianites, and avenge the Lord of Midian. 4 Of every tribe a thouſand, throughout all the tribes of Iſrael, ſhall ye ſend to the war. 5 So there were delivered out of the thouſands of Iſrael, a thouſand of every tribe, twelve thouſand armed for war. 6 And Moſes ſent them to the war, a thouſand of every tribe, them and Phinehas the ſon of Eleazar the prieſt, to the war, with the holy inſtruments, and the trumpets to blow, in his hand. 7 And they warred againſt the Midianites, as the Lord commanded Moſes; and they ſlew all the males. 8 And they ſlew the kings of Midian, beſide the reſt of them that were ſlain; namely, Evi, and Rekem, and Zur, and Hur, and Reba, five kings of Midian: Balaam alſo the ſon of Beor they ſlew with the ſword. 9 And the children of Iſrael took all the women of Midian captives, and their little ones, and took the ſpoil of all their cattel, and all their flocks, and all their goods. 10 And they burnt all their cities wherein they dwelt, and all their goodly caſtles with fire. 11 And they took all the ſpoil, and all the prey, both of men and of beaſts. 12 And they brought the captives, and the prey, and the ſpoil unto Moſes and Eleazar the prieſt, and unto the congregation of the children of Iſrael, unto the camp at the plains of Moab, which are by Jordan near Jericho. 13 And Moſes, and Eleazar the prieſt, and all the princes of the congregation, went forth to meet them without the camp. 14 And Moſes was wroth with the officers of the hoſt, with the captains over thouſands, and captains over hundreds, which came from the battel. 15 And Moſes ſaid unto them, Have ye ſaved all the women alive? Behold, theſe cauſed the children of Iſrael, through the counſel of Balaam, to commit treſpaſs againſt the Lord in the matter of Peor, and there was a plague among the congregation of the Lord. 17 Now therefore kill every male among the little ones, and kill every woman that hath known man by lying with him. 18 But all the women-children that have not known a man by lying with him, keep alive for your ſelves. 19 And do ye abide without the camp ſeven days: whoſoever hath killed any perſon, and whoſoever hath touched any ſlain, purify both your ſelves and your captives, on the third day, and on the ſeventh day. 20 And purify all your raiment, and all that is made of ſkins, and all work of goats hair, and all things made of wood. 21 And Eleazar the prieſt ſaid unto the men of war which went to the battel, This is the ordinance of the law which the Lord commanded Moſes; 22 Only the gold, and the ſilver, the braſs, the iron, the tin, and the lead, 23 Every thing that may abide the fire, ye ſhall make it go through the fire, and it ſhall be clean: nevertheleſs it ſhall be purified with the water of ſeparation: and all that abideth not the fire, ye ſhall make go through the water. 24 And ye ſhall waſh your clothes on the ſeventh day, and ye ſhall be clean, and afterward ye ſhall come into the camp. 25 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 26 Take the ſum of the prey that was taken, both of man and of beaſt, thou, and Eleazar the prieſt, and the chief fathers of the congregation: 27 And divide the prey into two parts; between them that took the war upon them, who went out to battel, and between all the congregation. 28 And levy a tribute unto the Lord of the men of war, which went out to battel: one ſoul of five hundred, both of the perſons, and of the beeves, and of the aſſes, and of the ſheep. 29 Take it of their half, and give it unto Eleazar the prieſt, for an heave-offering of the Lord. 30 And of the children of Iſraels half, thou ſhalt take one portion of fifty, of the perſons, of the beeves, of the aſſes, and of the flocks, of all manner of beaſts, and give them unto the Levites, which keep the charge of the tabernacle of the Lord. 31 And Moſes and Eleazar the prieſt did as the Lord commanded Moſes. 32 And the booty being the reſt of the prey which the men of war had caught, was ſix hundred thouſand and ſeventy thouſand and five thouſand ſheep, 33 And threeſcore and twelve thouſand beeves, 34 And threeſcore and one thouſand aſſes, 35 And thirty and two thouſand perſons in all, of women that had not known man by lying with him. 36 And the half which was the portion of them that went out to war, was in number three hundred thouſand and ſeven and thirty thouſand and five hundred ſheep; 37 And the Lords tribute of the ſheep was ſix hundred and threeſcore and fifteen. 38 And the beeves were thirty and ſix thouſand, of which the Lords tribute was threeſcore and twelve. 39 And the aſſes were thirty thouſand and five hundred, of which the Lords tribute was threeſcore and one. 40 And the perſons were ſixteen thouſand, of which the Lords tribute was thirty and two perſons. 41 And Moſes gave the tribute which was the Lords heave-offering, unto Eleazar the prieſt, as the Lord commanded Moſes. 42 And of the children of Iſraels half, which Moſes divided from the men that warred, 43 (Now the half that pertained unto the congregation, was three hundred thouſand and thirty thouſand and ſeven thouſand and five hundred ſheep, 44 And thirty and ſix thouſand beeves, 45 And thirty thouſand aſſes and five hundred, 46 And ſixteen thouſand perſons) 47 Even of the children of Iſraels half, Moſes took one portion of fifty, both of man and of beaſt, and gave them unto the Levites, which kept the charge of the tabernacle of the Lord; as the Lord commanded Moſes. 48 And the officers which were over thouſands of the hoſt, the captains of thouſands, and captains of hundreds, came near unto Moſes: 49 And they ſaid unto Moſes, Thy ſervants have taken the ſum of the men of war which are under our charge, and there lacketh not one man of us. 50 We have therefore brought an oblation for the Lord, what every man hath gotten, of jewels of gold, chains, and bracelets, rings, ear-rings, and tablets, to make an atonement for our ſouls before the Lord. 51 And Moſes and Eleazar the prieſt took the gold of them, even all wrought jewels. 52 And all the gold of the offering that they offered up to the Lord, of the captains of thouſands, and of the captains of hundreds, was ſixteen thouſand ſeven hundred and fifty ſhekels. 53 (For the men of war had taken ſpoil, every man for himſelf) 54 And Moſes and Eleazar the prieſt took the gold of the captains of thouſands and of hundreds, and brought it into the tabernacle of the congregation, for a memorial for the children of Iſrael before the Lord.

And Moſes ſent them to the War] Calmet obſerves, that the Scripture gives us no Account of the Order of Battle between theſe two Armies; but, in all Probability, they were diſpoſed according to the antient People of Aſia; and therefore we may range the Iſraelites upon one Line, formed of twelve Corps, conſiſting of a thouſand Men each, at the Head of which was the Ark of the Covenant, ſurrounded by the Prieſts and Levites, whoſe Buſineſs it was to ſound the Charge, as well as defend the Ark. The Midianites, we may ſuppoſe, were, in like Manner, ranged in a Phalanx, upon one Line, and, as the Iſraelites were doubtleſs much inferior in Number to their Enemies, they made much larger Intervals between the Corps of a thouſand Men each, in order to penetrate the Enemies Front in different Places. This was the conſtant Practice of the Jews, whenever they were inferior to their Enemies.

A thouſand of every Tribe, them and Phinehas the Son of Eleazar the Prieſt, to the War] What this Phineas was ſent to command the Troops, which were appointed by God to take Vengeance on the Midianites, or whether he went along with the Army, only to perform ſuch ſacred Offices, as ſhould be required by the General, (who, with more probability perhaps, is thought to be Joſhua) are Queſtions ariſing from the Silence of Scripture concerning the chief Commander. Phineas, indeed, was a Man of Courage, and had lately performed a ſingular Piece of Service, which had gained him great Reputation; and from hence ſome have imagined, that he was the fitter Perſon to be ſent with an Army to avenge the Lord of Midian; as it is certain, that, in After-ages, the Maccabees (who were of the Family of the Prieſts) were appointed chief Commanders. But then it muſt be conſidered, that theſe Maccabees were the ſupreme Governors of the People, and, as ſuch, had a Right to the military Command; that, in the War with the Amorites, Moſes had ſent the Forces under Joſhua's Conduct; and that Phineas, in ſhort, had another Province appointed him, which was to take Care of the holy Inſtruments: But what theſe Inſtruments were, is another Queſtion. Several Interpreters are of Opinion, that they were the Urim and Thummim, which Phineas might take along with him, in order to conſult God, in caſe of any Difficulty that might ariſe in the Management of the War; and to countenance this, they ſuppoſe that Eleazar was ſuper-annuated, and his Son ſubſtituted in his Room. But it may be juſtly doubted, whether Phineas, being the only Son of the High Prieſt, and not yet capable of that Office, could be ſubſtituted to perform this great Charge, which belonged to the High-Prieſt alone: Nor do we find any Warrant for conſulting the Lord by Urim and Thummim, but only before the Tabernacle. It ſeems therefore much more likely, that, by the holy Inſtruments, Moſes means the Ark of the Covenant, and what was included in it, which, in the following Ages, was wont to be carried into the Field, when the People went to fight againſt their Enemies. Nay, Joſhua himſelf, not long after this, ordered the Ark to be carried, with Prieſts blowing Trumpets before it, when he ſurrounded Jericho (Joſh. vi. 4, &c.) And therefore, ſince the holy Inſtruments are here joined with the Trumpets, it looks very probable, that they ſhould ſignify the Ark. Nor can we apprehend that Moſes ran any Riſque in venturing the Ark upon this Occaſion, becauſe God had aſſured his People, that they ſhould obtain a complete Victory over the Midianites. It muſt be confeſſed, however, that the Ark is never thus expreſſed in any other Part of Scripture, and therefore perhaps they give as true a Senſe of the Words as any, who make the holy Inſtruments and Trumpets to be one and the ſame Thing, and the latter no more than an Explanation of the former; which Trumpets the Prieſts were commanded to take with them, that they might ſound a Charge, when the Engagement begun, according to their Direction, Numb. x. 8, 9. and as the Practice was in future Ages, 2 Chron. xiii. 12.

Balaam alſo the Son of Beor they ſlew with the Sword] But how could this be, ſince he was returned to his own Place, Ch. xxiv. 25. which was Aram, or Meſopotamia? Thus; either he went Part of the Way thither, but in his Journey made ſome Stay in Midian; or, underſtanding the Succeſs of his wicked Counſel left with Balak in the Sin and Slaughter of the Iſraelites, he returned, partly to enjoy the Reputation and Reward of his Counſel, which he had loſt before, and partly to employ his helliſh Arts againſt Iſrael, now they were, as he thought, forſaken by their God and expoſed to his Malice. Here Balaam dies the Death of the Wicked, and not of the Righteous, as he deſired, Ch. xxiii. 10.

Now therefore kill every Male among the little ones; and kill every Woman that hath known Man by lying with him] Moſes ordered the Male Children to be ſlain, that thereby he might extirpate the whole Nation, as far as lay in his Power, and prevent their avenging the Death of their Parents, in caſe they were ſuffered to live to Man's Eſtate. For it is no hard Matter to conceive, how dangerous ſuch a Number of Slaves, conſcious that they were born free, and had loſt their Liberty with the Maſſacre of their Parents, might have proved to a Common-wealth, every where ſurrounded with Enemies. Why he was ſo ſevere againſt the Women we need not wonder, if we do but conſider, that, either by proſtituting themſelves or their Daughters, they had been the chief Inſtruments of drawing the Iſraelites to Idolatry. See Biblioth. Bibl. and Le Clerc's Com.

But all the Women Children that have not known Man by lying with him, keep alive for yourſelves] The Jews have a Tradition, that, in order to find out who were real Virgins, the young Women were placed at a proper Diſtance with other Women, and all commanded to fix their Eyes upon the High-Prieſt's Mitre; whereupon thoſe who had known Man, turned inſtantly as pale as Aſhes, and thoſe that had not, became as red as Fire. But there ſeems to be no great Occaſion for this Miracle, when either the Appearance of an unqualified Age, or the Examination of ſome ſelect Matrons might determine the Matter as well. See Biblioth. Bibl.

We have therefore brought an Oblation for the Lord] The Jeruſalem Targum ſuppoſes, that, when theſe Officers made their Offerings, they addreſſed themſelves to Moſes in the following Manner: 'For as much as 'the Lord hath delivered the Midianites into our 'Hands, and we have ſubdued the Country, entered 'into their Chambers, and ſeen their fair and charming Daughters, took their Crowns of Gold from off 'their Heads, their Rings from their Ears and Fingers, 'their Bracelets from their Arms, and their Jewels 'from their Necks and Boſoms; therefore far be it 'from us to have turned our Eyes towards them. We 'had no Manner of Concern or Converſation with 'them, leſt we ſhould thereby die the Death of the 'Wicked in Gehenna. And let this be had in Remembrance on our Behalf, in the Day of the great Judgment, to make a Reconciliation for our Souls before 'the Lord.'

CHAP. XXXII.

The Tribes of Reuben and Gad petition for their Inheritance on that Side of Jordan; which Moſes grants on Condition that they ſhould firſt aſſiſt in ſetling their Brethren in Canaan.

Ver. 1. NOW the children of Reuben and the children of Gad had a very great multitude of cattel: and when they ſaw the land of Jazer, and the land of Gilead, that, behold, the place was a place for cattel; 2 The children of Gad, and the children of Reuben came and ſpake unto Moſes, and to Eleazar the prieſt, and unto the princes of the congregation, ſaying, 3 Ataroth, and Dibon, and Jazer, and Nimrah, and Heſhbon, and Elealeh, and Shebam, and Nebo, and Beon; 4 Even the country which the Lord ſmote before the congregation of Iſrael, is a land for cattel, and thy ſervants have cattel. 5 Wherefore, ſay they, if we have found grace in thy ſight, let this land be given unto thy ſervants for a poſſeſſion, and bring us not over Jordan. 6 And Moſes ſaid unto the children of Gad, and to the children of Reuben, Shall your brethren go to war, and ſhall ye ſit here? 7 And wherefore diſcourage ye the heart of the children of Iſrael from going over into the land which the Lord hath given them? 8 Thus did your fathers, when I ſent them from Kadeſhbarnea to ſee the land. 9 For when they went up unto the valley of Eſhcol, and ſaw the land, they diſcouraged the heart of the children of Iſrael, that they ſhould not go into the land which the Lord hath given them. 10 And the Lords anger was kindled at the ſame time, and he ſware, ſaying, 11 Surely none of the men that came up out of Egypt, from twenty years old and upward, ward, ſhall ſee the land which I ſware unto Abraham, unto Iſaac, and unto Jacob; becauſe they have not wholly followed me: 12 Save Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh the Kenezite, and Joſhua the ſun of Nun: for they have wholly followed the Lord. 13 And the Lords anger was kindled againſt Iſrael, and he made them wander in the wilderneſs forty years, until all the generation that had done evil in the ſight of the Lord was conſumed. 14 And behold, ye are riſen up in your fathers ſtead, an increaſe of ſinful men, to augment yet the fierce anger of the Lord toward Iſrael. 15 For if ye turn away from after him, he will yet again leave them in the wilderneſs, and ye ſhall deſtroy all this people. 16 And they came near unto him, and ſaid, We will build ſheep-folds here for our cattel, and cities for our little ones. 17 But we our ſelves will go ready armed before the children of Iſrael, until we have brought them unto their place: and our little ones ſhall dwell in the fenced cities, becauſe of the inhabitants of the land. 18 We will not return unto our houſes, until the children of Iſrael have inherited every man his inheritance: 19 For we will not inherit with them on yonder ſide Jordan, or forward; becauſe our inheritance is fallen to us on this ſide Jordan eaſt-ward. 20 And Moſes ſaid unto them, If ye will do this thing, if ye will go armed before the Lord to war, 21 And will go all of you armed over Jordan before the Lord, until he hath driven out his enemies from before him, 22 And the land be ſubdued before the Lord: then afterward ye ſhall return, and be guiltleſs before the Lord, and before Iſrael; and this land ſhall be your poſſeſſion before the Lord. 23 But if ye will not do ſo, behold, ye have ſinned againſt the Lord: and be ſure your ſin will find you out. 24 Build ye cities for your little ones, and folds for your ſheep, and do that which hath proceeded out of your mouth. 25 And the children of Gad, and the children of Reuben ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, Thy ſervants will do as my lord commandeth. 26 Our little ones, our wives, our flocks and all our cattel, ſhall be there in the cities of Gilead. 27 But thy ſervants will paſs over, every man armed for war before the Lord to battel, as my lord ſaith. 28 So concerning them Moſes commanded Eleazar the prieſt, and Joſhua the ſon of Nun, and the chief fathers of the tribes of the children of Iſrael: 29 And Moſes ſaid unto them, If the children of Gad, and the children of Reuben will paſs with you over Jordan, every man armed to battel before the Lord, and the land ſhall be ſubdued before you; then ye ſhall give them the land of Gilead for a poſſeſſion: 30 But if they will not paſs over with you armed, they ſhall have poſſeſſions among you in the land of Canaan. 31 And the children of Gad, and the children of Reuben anſwered, ſaying, As the Lord hath ſaid unto thy ſervants, ſo will we do. 32 We will paſs over armed before the Lord into the land of Canaan, that the poſſeſſion of our inheritance on this ſide Jordan may be ours. 33 And Moſes gave unto them, even to the children of Gad, and to the children of Reuben, and unto half the tribe of Manaſſeh the ſon of Joſeph, the kingdom of Sihon king of the Amorites, and the kingdom of Og king of Baſhan, the land with the cities thereof, in the coaſts, even the cities of the country round about. 34 And the children of Gad built Dibon, and Ataroth, and Aroer, 35 And Atroth, Shophan, and Jaazer, and Jogbehah, 36 And Beth-nimrah, and Beth-haran, fenced cities: and folds for ſheep. 37 And the children of Reuben built Heſhbon, and Elealeh, and Kirjathaim, 38 And Nebo, and Baal-meon (their names being changed) and Shibmah: and gave other names unto the cities which they builded. 39 And the children of Machir, the ſon of Manaſſeh went to Gilead, and took it, and diſpoſſeſſed the Amorite which was in it. 40 And Moſes gave Gilead unto Machir the ſon of Manaſſeh; and he dwelt therein. 41 And Jair the ſon of Manaſſeh went and took the ſmall towns thereof, and called them Havoth-jair. 42 And Nobah went and took Kenath, and the villages thereof, and called it Nobah, after his own name.

Wells has given us the following Geographical Deſcription of the Country on that Side Jordan, which the Reubenites and Gadites ſo earneſtly deſired for a Poſſeſſion. In the Diviſion of the Country, which the Iſraelites took from Sihon and Og, two vanquiſhed Kings, that lived on the Eaſt Side of Jordan, and whoſe Dominions extended from the River Arnon, even as far as Mount Hermon, Deut. iii. 8. Moſes gave to the Tribe of Reuben the ſouthern, or rather the South-weſt Part of the Country, ſo that they were bounded to the South by the River Arnon; to the Weſt, with Jordan; and to the North and Eaſt, with the Tribe of Gad. In this Tribe ſtood Heſhbon, the capital City of the Kingdom of Sihon, ſituate on the Hills over againſt Jericho, about 20 Miles diſtant from the River Jordan. The Tribe of Gad was bounded with the River Jordan, to the Weſt; with the half Tribe of Manaſſeh, to the North; with the Ammonites to the Eaſt; and with the Tribe of Reuben to the South. In this Tribe ſtood Aſtaroth, the capital City of Og, which very likely obtained its Name from an Idol, which was much worſhipped in thoſe Times and Parts. How the half Tribe of Manaſſeh came to chuſe to ſtay on the Eaſt Side of Jordan, the ſacred Hiſtory makes no Mention; but it is reaſonable to ſuppoſe, that, after they had found that the Tribes of Reuben and Gad had ſucceeded in their Petition, they might likewiſe repreſent to Moſes the great Stock of Cattle which they had; that the Country would be equally commodious for them, and was over-large for two Tribes alone to occupy: Nor is it to be doubted, but that Moſes was inclinable to liſten to their Allegation, becauſe the Sons of Machir, the Son of Manaſſeh, had, by their Valour, ſubdued a great Part of the Country, where they ſetled; which was bounded by the Tribe of Gad, to the South; with the Sea of Cinnereth (afterwards called the Lake of Genneſareth, or the Sea of Galilee) together with the Courſe of the River Jordan, from its Head to the Sea, to the Weſt; with Mount Lebanon, or more peculiarly Mount Hermon, to the North, and North-eaſt; and with the Mountains of Gilead to the Eaſt.

CHAP. XXXIII.

The Marches and Encampments of the Iſraelites from Egypt to Canaan. They are commanded to drive out the Canaanites, deſtroy their Idols, and divide the Land by Lot. The Canaanites, if not diſpoſſeſſed, ſhould trouble and vex them, and uſe them as God thought to uſe their Enemies.

Ver. 1. THeſe are the journeys of the children of Iſrael, which went forth out of the land of Egypt, with their armies, under the hand of Moſes and Aaron. 2 And Moſes wrote their their goings out according to their journeys, by the commandment of the Lord: and these are their journeys according to their goings out. 3 And they departed from Rameses in the first month on the fifteenth day of the first month: on the morrow after the passover, the children of Israel went out with an high hand in the sight of all the Egyptians. 4 (For the Egyptians buried all their first-born, which the Lord had smitten among them: upon their gods also the Lord executed judgments) 5 And the children of Israel removed from Rameses, and pitched in Succoth. 6 And they departed from Succoth, and pitched in Etham, which is in the edge of the wilderness. 7 And they removed from Etham, and turned again unto Pi-hahiroth, which is before Baal-zephon: and they pitched before Migdol. 8 And they departed from before Pi-hahiroth, and passed through the midst of the sea, into the wilderness, and went three days journey in the wilderness of Etham, and pitched in Marah. 9 And they removed from Marah, and came unto Elim: and in Elim were twelve fountains of water, and threescore and ten palm-trees; and they pitched there. 10 And they removed from Elim, and encamped by the Red-sea. 11 And they removed from the Red-sea, and encamped in the wilderness of Sin. 12 And they took their journey out of the wilderness of Sin, and encamped in Dophkah. 13 And they departed from Dophkah, and encamped in Alush. 14 And they removed from Alush, and encamped at Rephidim, where was no water for the people to drink. 15 And they departed from Rephidim, and pitched in the wilderness of Sinai. 16 And they removed from the desart of Sinai, and pitched at Kibroth-hattaavah. 17 And they departed from Kibroth-hattaavah, and encamped at Hazeroth. 18 And they departed from Hazeroth, and pitched in Rithmah. 19 And they departed from Rithmah, and pitched at Rimmon-parez. 20 And they departed from Rimmon-parez, and pitched in Libnah. 21 And they removed from Libnah, and pitched at Rissah. 22 And they journeyed from Rissah, and pitched in Kehelathah. 23 And they went from Kehelathah, and pitched in mount Shapher. 24 And they removed from mount Shapher, and encamped in Haradah. 25 And they removed from Haradah, and pitched in Makheloth. 26 And they removed from Makheloth, and encamped at Tahath. 27 And they departed from Tahath, and pitched at Tarah. 28 And they removed from Tarah, and pitched in Mithcah. 29 And they went from Mithcah, and pitched in Hashmonah. 30 And they departed from Hashmonah, and encamped at Moseroth. 31 And they departed from Moseroth, and pitched in Bene-jaakan. 32 And they removed from Bene-jaakan, and encamped at Hor-hagidgad. 33 And they went from Hor-hagidgad, and pitched in Jotbathah. 34 And they removed from Jotbathah, and encamped at Ebronah. 35 And they departed from Ebronah, and encamped at Ezion-gaber. 36 And they removed from Ezion-gaber, and pitched in the wilderness of Zin, which is Kadesh. 37 And they removed from Kadesh, and pitched in mount Hor, in the edge of the land of Edom. 38 And Aaron the priest went up into mount Hor, at the commandment of the Lord, and died there in the fortieth year, after the children of Israel were come out of the land of Egypt, in the first day of the fifth month. 39 And Aaron was an hundred and twenty and three years old, when he died in mount Hor. 40 And king Arad the Canaanite (which dwelt in the south, in the land of Canaan) heard of the coming of the children of Israel. 41 And they departed from mount Hor, and pitched in Zalmonah. 42 And they departed from Zalmonah, and pitched in Punon. 43 And they departed from Punon, and pitched in Oboth. 44 And they departed from Oboth, and pitched in Ije-abarim, in the border of Moab. 45 And they departed from Iim, and pitched in Dibon-gad. 46 And they removed from Dibon-gad, and encamped in Almon-diblathaim. 47 And they removed from Almon-diblathaim, and pitched in the mountains of Abarim, before Nebo. 48 And they departed from the mountains of Abarim, and pitched in the plains of Moab, by Jordan, near Jericho. 49 And they pitched by Jordan from Beth jesimoth, even unto Abel-shittim, in the plains of Moab.

As this Part of the Chapter contains nothing more than an Account of the various Movements and Restings of the Israelites during their Travels in the Wilderness, the Reader will find the best Explanation of it in the Map, where these Things are particularly described.

50 And the Lord spake unto Moses, in the plains of Moab, by Jordan near Jericho, saying, 51 Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, When ye are passed over Jordan, into the land of Canaan; 52 Then ye shall drive out all the inhabitants of the land from before you, and destroy all their pictures, and destroy all their molten images, and quite pluck down all their high places. 53 And ye shall dispossess the inhabitants of the land, and dwell therein: for I have given you the land to possess it. 54 And ye shall divide the land by lot, for an inheritance among your families, and to the more ye shall give the more inheritance, and to the fewer ye shall give the less inheritance: every mans inheritance shall be in the place where his lot falleth; according to the tribes of your fathers, ye shall inherit. 55 But if ye will not drive out the inhabitants of the land from before you; then it shall come to pass, that those which ye let remain of them, shall be pricks in your eyes, and thorns in your sides, and shall vex you in the land wherein ye dwell. 56 Moreover, it shall come to pass that I shall do unto you, as I thought to do unto them.

And ye shall divide the Land by Lot for an Inheritance] Nothing could be more prudently contrived, than this Partition of the Country by Lot, and making Joshua and the High-Priest Super-intendants of it, (as we find they were in the next Chapter) since it was the only Way that could effectually prevent all Murmurings and Quarrellings among such an obstinate People as the Jews were. However, as the Lots were to bear a Proportion to the Bigness of each Tribe and Family, it is supposed from what followed, that every Tribe first drew its Lot for its own Canton, and that there were proper Persons appointed to measure out a Quantity of Land for each Family, according to their Bigness.

Bigneſs. But whether this laſt was done by this or any other Method; whether the Subdiviſions between the Families were likewiſe carried on by Lot, or otherwiſe, ſure it is, that we read of no Broils or Jealouſies that it ever occaſioned among them. See Univerſ. Hiſt.

CHAP. XXXIV.

The Borders and Boundaries of their promiſed Inheritance deſcribed. Joſhua and Eleazar at the Head, and a Commiſſioner for every Tribe, appointed to divide the Land.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 2 Command the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, When ye come into the land of Canaan (this is the land that ſhall fall unto you for an inheritance, even the land of Canaan with the coaſts thereof) 3 Then your ſouth quarter ſhall be from the wilderneſs of Zin, along by the coaſt of Edom, and your ſouth-border ſhall be the out-moſt coaſt of the ſalt-ſea eaſtward. 4 And your border ſhall turn from the ſouth to the aſcent of Akrabbim, and paſs on to Zin: and the going forth thereof ſhall be from the ſouth to Kadeſh-barnea, and ſhall go on to Hazar-addar, and paſs on to Azmon. 5 And the border ſhall fetch a compaſs from Azmon unto the river of Egypt, and the goings out of it ſhall be at the ſea. 6 And as for the weſtern border, you ſhall even have the great ſea for a border: this ſhall be your weſt-border. 7 And this ſhall be your north-border; from the great ſea, you ſhall point out for you mount Hor. 8 From mount Hor you ſhall point out your border unto the entrance of Hamath: and the goings forth of the border ſhall be to Zedad. 9 And the border ſhall go on to Ziphron, and the goings out of it ſhall be at Hazar-enan: this ſhall be your north-border. 10 And ye ſhall point out your eaſt-border from Hazar-enan to Shepham. 11 And the coaſt ſhall go down from Shepham, to Riblah, on the eaſt ſide of Ain; and the border ſhall deſcend, and ſhall reach unto the ſide of the ſea of Cinnereth eaſtward. 12 And the border ſhall go down to Jordan, and the goings out of it ſhall be at the ſalt-ſea: This ſhall be your land with the coaſts thereof round about. 13 And Moſes commanded the children of Iſrael, ſaying, This is the land which ye ſhall inherit by lot, which the Lord commanded to give unto the nine tribes, and to the half tribe. 14 For the tribe of the children of Reuben, according to the houſe of their fathers, and the tribe of the children of Gad, according to the houſe of their fathers, have received their inheritance, and half the tribe of Manaſſeh have received their inheritance. 15 The two tribes and the half tribe have received their inheritance on this ſide Jordan near Jericho, eaſt-ward, toward the ſun-riſing. 16 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 17 Theſe are the names of the men which ſhall divide the land unto you; Eleazar the prieſt, and Joſhua the ſon of Nun. 18 And ye ſhall take one prince of every tribe, to divide the land by inheritance. 19 And the names of the men are theſe: Of the tribe of Judah, Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh. 20 And of the tribe of the children of Simeon, Shemuel the ſon of Ammihud. 21 Of the tribe of Benjamin, Elidad the ſon of Chiſlon. 22 And the prince of the tribe of the children of Dan, Bukki the ſon of Jogli. 23 The prince of the children of Joſeph, for the tribe of the children of Manaſſeh, Hanniel the ſon of Ephod. 24 And the prince of the tribe of the children of Ephraim, Kemuel the ſon of Shiphtan. 25 And the prince of the tribe of the children of Zebulun, Elizaphan the ſon of Parnach. 26 And the prince of the tribe of the children of Iſſachar, Paltiel the ſon of Azzan. 27 And the prince of the tribe of the children of Aſher, Ahihud the ſon of Shelomi. 28 And the prince of the tribe of the children of Naphtali, Pedahel the ſon of Ammihud. 29 Theſe are they whom the Lord commanded to divide the inheritance unto the children of Iſrael in the land of Canaan.

And this ſhall be your north Border; from the great Sea you ſhall point out for you Mount Hor] This was not the ſame Mount Hor on which Aaron died, for that was Southward, Ch. xxxiii. 37, 38. and therefore it muſt be another Mountain, and, as it is conceived, the Mountain of Libanus, which is elſewhere mentioned as the northern Border of the Land, and which, in regard of divers Parts, or by divers People, is called by divers Names, as Sirion and Shenir, Deut. iii. 9. and Sion, Deut. iv. 48. and Hermon, Joſh. xiii. 5. and here Hor, which ſignifies a Mountain, and this may be called ſo by Way of Eminency. Certain it is, that as Hor here, ſo Hermon, Joſh. xiii. 5. is joined with the Entrance of Hamath, which makes it probable that they are one and the ſame Place.

CHAP. XXXV.

Forty-eight Cities given to the Levites. Six Cities of Refuge aſſigned; the Uſe of them. Two Witneſſes required in capital Puniſhments.

Ver. 1. AND the Lord ſpake unto Moſes in the plains of Moab, by Jordan near Jericho, ſaying, 2 Command the children of Iſrael, that they give unto the Levites of the inheritance of their poſſeſſion, cities to dwell in: and ye ſhall give alſo unto the Levites ſuburbs for the cities round about them. 3 And the cities ſhall they have to dwell in, and the ſuburbs of them ſhall be for their cattel, and for their goods, and for all their beaſts. 4 And the ſuburbs of the cities which ye ſhall give unto the Levites, ſhall reach from the wall of the city and outward, a thouſand cubits round about. 5 And ye ſhall meaſure from without the city on the eaſt-ſide two thouſand cubits, and on the ſouth-ſide two thouſand cubits, and on the weſt-ſide two thouſand cubits, and on the north-ſide two thouſand cubits: and the city ſhall be in the midſt: this ſhall be to them the ſuburbs of the cities. 6 And among the cities which ye ſhall give unto the Levites, there ſhall be ſix cities for refuge, which ye ſhall appoint for the man-ſlayer, that he may flee thither: and to them ye ſhall add forty and two cities. 7 So all the cities which ye ſhall give to the Levites, ſhall be forty and eight cities: them ſhall ye give with their ſuburbs. 8 And the cities which ye ſhall give ſhall be of the poſſeſſion of the children of Iſrael: from them that have many, ye ſhall give many; but from them that have few, ye ſhall give few: every one ſhall give of his cities unto the Levites, according to his inheritance which he inheriteth.

And the Suburbs of the Cities which ye ſhall give unto the Levites, ſhall reach from the Wall of the City and outward, a thouſand Cubits round about] But in the next Verſe it is two thouſand. To reconcile this, the Seventy Interpreters read in both Places two thouſand Cubits; whence ſome ſuppoſe this to be an Error in the Hebrew Text, which, being in a Matter neither concerning Faith nor good Morals, is not prejudicial to the Authority of the holy Scripture.

But farther; the one thouſand Cubits may be in Length from the City, and the two thouſand Cubits in Breadth on each Side of the City, and ſo they well agree; for a Line of a thouſand Cubits being drawn in Length Eaſtward, and another Weſtward, another Northward, and another Southward, a Line, drawn at a thouſand Cubits diſtance from the City, from Eaſt to Weſt, muſt needs contain two thouſand Cubits, and ſo muſt the other Line from North to South, and ſo on every Side of the City there muſt be two thouſand Cubits.

Again; this Verſe and the next do not ſpeak to the ſame Thing. This ſpeaks of the Space or Place from whence the Suburbs ſhall be meaſured, the next Verſe ſpeaks of the Space unto which that Meaſure ſhall be extended; and the Words may be very well read thus, And the Suburbs —ſhall be (ſo it is only an Ellipſis of the Verb Subſtantive, which is moſt frequent, and the Meaning is, ſhall be taken or accounted) from the Wall of the City, and from (that Particle being ſupplied or underſtood from the foregoing Words, which is very uſual) without it, or, from the outward Part of it, (which being a general and indefinite Expreſſion, is limited and explained by the following Words) even from a thouſand Cubits round about. Which are mentioned not as the Thing meaſured, for as yet there is not a Word of meaſuring, but as the Term or Space from which the meaſuring Line ſhould begin. And then it follows, Ver. 5. And ye ſhall meaſure from without the City, (not from the Wall of the City, as was ſaid, Ver. 4. but from without it, that is, from the ſaid outward Part or Space of a thouſand Cubits without the Wall of the City round about) on the Eaſt Side two thouſand Cubits, &c. So that, really, there were three thouſand Cubits from the Wall of the City, whereof one thouſand were probably for Out-houſes, Stalls for Cattle, Gardens, Vineyards, and Olive-yards, and the like, and the other two thouſand for Paſture, which are therefore called the Field of the Suburbs, Levit. xxv. 34. by Way of Diſtinction from the Suburbs themſelves, which conſiſted of the firſt thouſand Cubits from the Wall of the City.

9 And the Lord ſpake unto Moſes, ſaying, 10 Speak unto the children of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, When ye be come over Jordan, into the land of Canaan: 11 Then ye ſhall appoint you cities, to be cities of refuge for you; that the ſlayer may flee thither which killeth any perſon at unawares. 12 And they ſhall be unto you cities for refuge from the avenger; that the man-ſlayer die not, until he ſtand before the congregation in judgment. 13 And of theſe cities which ye ſhall give, ſix cities ſhall ye have for refuge. 14 Ye ſhall give three cities on this ſide Jordan, and three cities ſhall ye give in the land of Canaan, which ſhall be cities of refuge. 15 Theſe ſix cities ſhall be a refuge, both for the children of Iſrael, and for the ſtranger, and for the ſojourner among them: that every one that killeth any perſon unawares, may flee thither. 16 And if he ſmite him with an inſtrument of iron (ſo that he die) he is a murderer: the murderer ſhall ſurely be put to death. 17 And if he ſmite him with throwing a ſtone wherewith he may die) and he die, he is a murderer: the murderer ſhall ſurely be put to death. 18 Or if he ſmite him with an hand-weapon of wood (wherewith he may die) and he die, he is a murderer: the murderer ſhall ſurely be put to death. 19 The revenger of blood himſelf ſhall ſlay the murderer: when he meeteth him, he ſhall ſlay him. 20 But if he thruſt him of hatred, or hurl at him by laying of wait, that he die; 21 Or in enmity ſmite him with his hand, that he die: he that ſmote him ſhall ſurely be put to death; for he is a murderer: the revenger of blood ſhall ſlay the murderer, when he meeteth him. 22 But if he thruſt him ſuddenly without enmity, or have caſt upon him any thing without laying of wait; 23 Or with any ſtone wherewith a man may die, ſeeing him not, and caſt it upon him that he die, and was not his enemy, neither ſought his harm: 24 Then the congregation ſhall judge between the ſlayer, and the revenger of blood, according to theſe judgments. 25 And the congregation ſhall deliver the ſlayer out of the hand of the revenger of blood, and the congregation ſhall reſtore him to the city of his refuge, whither he was fled: and he ſhall abide in it unto the death of the high-prieſt, which was anointed with the holy oil. 26 But if the ſlayer ſhall at any time come without the border of the city of his refuge, whither he was fled; 27 And the revenger of blood find him without the borders of the city of his refuge, and the revenger of blood kill the ſlayer; he ſhall not be guilty of blood: 28 Becauſe he ſhould have remained in the city of his refuge until the death of the high-prieſt: but after the death of the high-prieſt, the ſlayer ſhall return into the land of his poſſeſſion. 29 So theſe things ſhall be for a ſtatute of judgment unto you, throughout your generations in all your dwellings. 30 Whoſo killeth any perſon, the murderer ſhall be put to death by the mouth of witneſſes: but one witneſs ſhall not teſtify againſt any perſon, to cauſe him to die. 31 Moreover, ye ſhall take no ſatisfaction for the life of a murderer, which is guilty of death: but he ſhall be ſurely put to death. 32 And ye ſhall take no ſatisfaction for him that is fled to the city of his refuge, that he ſhould come again to dwell in the land, until the death of the prieſt. 33 So ye ſhall not pollute the land wherein ye are: for blood it defileth the land: and the land cannot be cleanſed of the blood that is ſhed therein, but by the blood of him that ſhed it. 34 Defile not therefore the land which ye ſhall inhabit, wherein I dwell: for I the Lord dwell among the children of Iſrael.

When ye be come over Jordan, into the Land of Canaan; then ye ſhall appoint you Cities, to be Cities of Refuge for you] But had the Children of Iſrael no Sanctuaries, or Places of Refuge, before their Entrance into the Land of Canaan? Anſw. It is with great Aſſurance of Truth ſuppoſed, that the Altar was the only Sanctuary, whither he, who had unfortunately killed a Perſon, might flee for Shelter, which, as it ſtood in the Middle of the Camp, was equally near to any of the Tribes; and ſo it was appointed, that the Cities of Refuge ſhould be ſo ſituated, that he, who was driven to make uſe of them, might not have far to travel, leſt before he reached the City, the Avenger of Blood ſhould overtake him, and put him to Death: For this Reaſon, three were appointed on one Side the River Jordan, and three on the other; for, tho' the River did, by no Means, equally divide the Dominions of Iſrael, the Poſſeſſions of the Tribes of Reuben, Gad, and the Half Tribe of Manaſſeh, were equal in Length to thoſe of the nine Tribes and an Half; and conſe-quently as many Cities were neceſſary.

The Reaſon why theſe Cities were aſſigned among the Levites was, becauſe they might be preſumed to be the moſt proper and impartial Judges between the Man-ſlayers and Wilful Murderers; their Preſence, Counſel, and Authority, we may reaſonably ſuppoſe, might more effectually bridle the Paſſions of the Avenger of Blood, who might purſue him thither; and might alſo ſignify, that it is only in Chriſt (whom the Levitical Prieſts repreſented) that Sinners find Refuge and Safety from the avenging Wrath of God.

CHAP. XXXVI.

The Princes of Manaſſeh diſcovering an Inconvenience from the Decree paſſed in Favour of the Daughters of Zelophehad, that Law is explained, and the Inheritance of Daughters ſetled, and the Daughters of Zelophehad allowed to marry whom they think fit in their own Tribe.

Ver. 1. AND the chief fathers of the families of the children of Gilead, the ſon of Machir, the ſon of Manaſſeh, of the families of the ſons of Joſeph, came near, and ſpake before Moſes and before the princes the chief fathers of the children of Iſrael: 2 And they ſaid, The Lord commanded my lord to give the land for an inheritance by lot to the children of Iſrael: and my lord was commanded by the Lord to give the inheritance of Zelophehad our brother, unto his daughters. 3 And if they be married to any of the ſons of the other tribes of the children of Iſrael; then ſhall their inheritance be taken from the inheritance of our fathers, and ſhall be put to the inheritance of the tribe whereunto they are received; ſo ſhall it be taken from the lot of our inheritance. 4 And when the jubile of the children of Iſrael, ſhall be, then ſhall their inheritance be put unto the inheritance of the tribe whereunto they are received: ſo ſhall their inheritance be taken away from the inheritance of the tribe of our fathers. 5 And Moſes commanded the children of Iſrael, according to the word of the Lord, ſaying, The tribe of the ſons of Joſeph hath ſaid well. 6 This is the thing which the Lord doth command concerning the daughters of Zelophehad, ſaying, Let them marry to whom they think beſt; only to the family of the tribe of their father ſhall they marry: 7 So ſhall not the inheritance of the children of Iſrael remove from tribe to tribe: for every one of the children of Iſrael ſhall keep himſelf to the inheritance of the tribe of his fathers. 8 And every daughter that poſſeſſeth an inheritance in any tribe of the children of Iſrael, ſhall be wife unto one of the family of the tribe of her father, that the children of Iſrael may enjoy every man the inheritance of his fathers. 9 Neither ſhall the inheritance remove from one tribe to another tribe; but every one of the tribes of the children of Iſrael ſhall keep himſelf to his own inheritance. 10 Even as the Lord commanded Moſes, ſo did the daughters of Zelophehad. 11 For Mahlah, Tirzah, and Hoglah, and Milkah, and Noah, the daughters of Zelophehad, were married unto their fathers brothers ſons. 12 And they were married into the families of the ſons of Manaſſeh the ſon of Joſeph, and their inheritance remained in the tribe of the family of their father. 13 Theſe are the commandments and the judgments which the Lord commanded by the hand of Moſes, unto the children of Iſrael in the plains of Moab, by Jordan near Jericho.

The Law lately made in Favour of the Daughters of Zelophehad, we find here, is altered; and yet that Law was given by divine Direction: How are we to conceive of God's giving an imperfect Law? Anſw. God did not take particular Care about every particular Occurrence that happened, or might happen, but left divers Things to be found out by human Prudence, which being his own Gift, it was proper that Opportunities ſhould be left for the Exerciſe of it; and God thought fit to approve and ratify the prudent and profitable Inventions of Men by his own Law or Sanction; as in the Caſe of Jethro, Exod. xviii. of Zelophehad's Daughters, Numb. xxvii. and here of their Brethren. But it is obſervable, that God allowed this only in civil Affairs, but never in the Matters of Worſhip, where he utterly forbids it.

And every Daughter that poſſeſſeth an Inheritance in any Tribe of the Children of Iſrael, ſhall be Wife unto one of the Family of the Tribe of her Father] But was every Woman, by this Law, abſolutely forbidden to marry into any other Tribe than that ſhe belonged to? No; for the contrary may be reaſonably concluded from the Practice of ſo many Patriarchs, Kings, Prieſts, and other holy Men, who have married Women of other Tribes, yea, ſometimes of other Nations, which it is not likely they would have done, if this had been a Tranſgreſſion of God's Law. But by the firſt Clauſe of Ver. 8. here recited, every Daughter that poſſeſſeth an Inheritance, it ſeems reſtrained to Heireſſes, or ſuch as were likely to be ſo. See 1 Chron. xxiii. 22. But if they had Brethren, it's probable they were at Liberty to marry into any Tribe; yet ſo that, if their Brethren died, their Puniſhment was, the Inheritance went from them to the next a kin to their Father's Tribe and Family. And the principal Reaſon why God was ſo ſolicitous to preſerve Tribes and Families unmixed, was, that the Tribe and Family too, out of which the Meſſiah was to come, and by which he ſhould be known, might be evident and unqueſtionable.

AN EXPOSITION OF

The Fourth Book of Moſes called DEUTERONOMY.

The ARGUMENT.

Deuteronomy, in Greek, ſignifies a ſecond Law, or a Repetition of the Law, which Moſes doth in this Book; making uſe of holy Exhortations, and perſuaſive Motives to that Purpoſe; ſo that it may be called an Abridgment of the Law. He wrote this Book during the two laſt Months of the 40*th Year of the* Iſraelites going out of Egypt, in the Plain of Moab, on the Frontiers of Canaan, and after that all the Rebellious were conſumed in the Deſart.

This faithful Servant of the Lord ſpent the reſt of his Life in repreſenting to them the Paſſages that happened to them in the Deſart, thereby to inſtruct them in their Duty. Firſt, he repreſents to them the great and manifold Benefits God had beſtowed on them in their forty Years Travels, with the juſt Puniſhments the rebellious Murmurers had drawn upon them, thereby to bring them to a careful Obſervance of God's Laws. Then he re-iterates and explains to them, not only the Moral, but alſo the Ceremonial Laws, reſpecting their Religion, and the outward Service of God required of them, and the Judiciary or Civil Laws, with ſeveral Military Ordinances, with the Duties of Magiſtrates and Judges; inſerting here and there ſome new Laws, with a very remarkable Prophecy of the chief Prophet, namely, Jeſus Chriſt. Then confirming all theſe with excellent Promiſes of wonderful Bleſſings if they obey; and with terrible Menaces and Curſes, if they ſhould break the Covenant he had made with them, as far as Ch. xxxi. And laſt of all, he appoints Joſhua to ſucceed him, and ſolemnly delivers the Book of the Law to the Prieſts and Levites, ordering it to be laid up, and kept in the Sanctuary, and to be read at certain Times to the People. He alſo compoſed and taught the Iſraelites an excellent prophetical Hymn, wherein he foretels what ſhould happen to them till the Coming of Chriſt, and the Calling of the Gentiles. He bleſſes the Twelve Tribes, and having taken a View of the Holy Land from the Top of Mount Nebo, he dies, and is buried there by the Lord. The Iſraelites mourn for him, and Joſhua (by God's Order) ſucceeds him.

CHAP. I.

A Rehearſal of what had befallen the Iſraelites during their forty Years Travel in the Wilderneſs.

Ver. 1. THeſe be the words which Moſes ſpake unto all Iſrael, on this ſide Jordan in the wilderneſs, in the plain over againſt the Red-ſea, between Paran, and Tophel, and Laban, and Hazeroth, and Dizahab. 2 (There are eleven days journey from Horeb by the way of mount Seir, unto Kadeſh-barnea) 3 And it came to paſs in the fortieth year, in the eleventh month, on the firſt day of the month, that Moſes ſpake unto the children of Iſrael, according unto all that the Lord had given him in commandment unto them; 4 After he had ſlain Sihon the king of the Amorites, which dwelt in Heſhbon, and Og the king of Baſhan, which dwelt at Aſtaroth in Edrei. 5 On this ſide Jordan, in the land of Moab, began Moſes to declare this law, ſaying, 6 The Lord our God ſpake unto us in Horeb, ſaying, Ye have dwelt long enough in this mount: 7 Turn you, and take your journey, and go to the mount of the Amorites, and unto all the places nigh thereunto, in the plain, in the hills, and in the vale, and in the ſouth, and by the ſea-ſide, to the land of the Canaanites, and unto Lebanon, unto the great river the river Euphrates. 8 Behold, I have ſet the land before you: go in and poſſeſs the land which the Lord ſware unto your fathers, Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, to give unto them, and to their ſeed after them. 9 And I ſpake unto you at that time, ſaying, I am not able to bear you my ſelf alone: 10 The Lord your God hath multiplyed you, and behold, you are this day as the ſtars of heaven for multitude. 11 (The Lord God of your fathers make you a thouſand times ſo many more as ye are, and bleſs you as he hath promiſed you) 12 How can I my ſelf alone bear your cumbrance, and your burden, and your ſtrife? 13 Take ye wiſe men and underſtanding, and known among your tribes, and I will make them rulers over you. 14 And ye anſwered me, and ſaid, The thing which thou haſt ſpoken, is good for us to do. 15 So I took the chief of your tribes,

wiſe men, and known, and made them heads over you, captains over thouſands, and captains over hundreds, and captains over fifties, and captains over tens, and officers among your tribes. 16 And I charged your judges at that time, ſaying, Hear the cauſes between your brethren, and judge righteouſly between every man and his brother, and the ſtranger that is with him. 17 Ye ſhall not reſpect perſons in judgment, but you ſhall hear the ſmall as well as the great; you ſhall not be afraid of the face of man, for the judgment is Gods: and the cauſe that is too hard for you, bring it unto me, and I will hear it. 18 And I commanded you at that time all the things which ye ſhould do. 19 And when we departed from Horeb, we went through all that great and terrible wilderneſs, which you ſaw by the way of the mountain of the Amorites, as the Lord our God commanded us; and we came to Kadeſh-barnea. 20 And I ſaid unto you, Ye are come unto the mountain of the Amorites, which the Lord our God doth give unto us. 21 Behold, the Lord thy God hath ſet the land before thee: go up and poſſeſs it, as the Lord God of thy fathers hath ſaid unto thee; fear not, neither be diſcouraged. 22 And ye came near unto me every one of you, and ſaid, We will ſend men before us, and they ſhall ſearch us out the land, and bring us word again by what way we muſt go up, and into what cities we ſhall come. 23 And the ſaying pleaſed me well: And I took twelve men of you, one of a tribe. 24 And they turned and went up into the mountain, and came unto the valley of Eſhcol, and ſearched it out. 25 And they took of the fruit of the land in their hands, and brought it down unto us, and brought us word again, and ſaid, It is a good land, which the Lord our God doth give us. 26 Notwithſtanding, ye would not go up, but rebelled againſt the commandment of the Lord your God. 27 And ye murmured in your tents, and ſaid, Becauſe the Lord hated us, he hath brought us forth out of the land of Egypt, to deliver us into the hand of the Amorites, to deſtroy us. 28 Whither ſhall we go up? our brethren have diſcouraged our heart, ſaying, The people is greater and taller than we, the cities are great and walled up to heaven, and moreover we have ſeen the ſons of the Anakims there. 29 Then I ſaid unto you, Dread not, neither be afraid of them. 30 The Lord your God which goeth before you, he ſhall fight for you, according to all that he did for you in Egypt before your eyes: 31 And in the wilderneſs, where thou haſt ſeen how that the Lord thy God bare thee as a man doth bear his ſon, in all the way that ye went, until ye came unto this place. 32 Yet in this thing ye did not believe the Lord your God, 33 Who went in the way before you to ſearch you out a place to pitch your tents in, in fire by night to ſhew you by what way ye ſhould go, and in a cloud by day. 34 And the Lord heard the voice of your words, and was wroth, and ſware, ſaying, 35 Surely there ſhall not one of theſe men of this evil generation ſee that good land, which I ſware to give unto your fathers; 36 Save Caleb the ſon of Jephunneh, he ſhall ſee it, and to him will I give the land that he hath troden upon, and to his children, becauſe he hath wholly followed the Lord. 37 Alſo the Lord was angry with me for your ſakes, ſaying, Thou alſo ſhalt not go in thither. 38 But Joſhua the ſon of Nun, which ſtandeth before thee, he ſhall go in thither. Encourage him: for he ſhall cauſe Iſrael to inherit it. 39 Moreover, your little ones, which ye ſaid ſhould be a prey, and your children which in that day had no knowledge between good and evil, they ſhall go in thither, and unto them will I give it, and they ſhall poſſeſs it. 40 But as for you, turn ye, and take your journey into the wilderneſs, by the way of the Red-ſea. 41 Then ye anſwered and ſaid unto me, We have ſinned againſt the Lord, we will go up and fight, according to all that the Lord our God commanded us. And when ye had girded on every man his weapons of war, ye were ready to go up into the hill. 42 And the Lord ſaid unto me, Say unto them, Go not up, neither fight, for I am not among you; leſt ye be ſmitten before your enemies. 43 So I ſpake unto you, and ye would not hear, but rebelled againſt the commandment of the Lord, and went preſumptuouſly up into the hill. 44 And the Amorites which dwelt in that mountain, came out againſt you, and chaſed you as bees do, and deſtroyed you in Seir, even unto Hormah. 45 And ye returned and wept before the Lord; but the Lord would not hearken to your voice, nor give ear unto you. 46 So ye abode in Kadeſh many days, according unto the days that ye abode there.

Theſe are the Words which Moſes ſpake unto all Iſrael on this Side Jordan] The Reaſons which induced Moſes to recapitulate the Tranſactions of the Iſraelites in the Wilderneſs, ſeem to be theſe. The whole Army of Iſrael, which now lay encamped in the Plains, on the Eaſt-Side of the River Jordan, conſiſted wholly of Perſons who (except the Levites) were not twenty Years old at the Time of the Sedition, which happened at Kadeſh-barnea; and, of Conſequence, were many of them ignorant of the Laws given to their Fathers. Hence they ſtood in great need of having thoſe Laws recapitulated to them, that they might know perfectly how to conduct themſelves, on their coming into the Land of Canaan; and eſpecially how to avoid falling into thoſe Errors which had ſubjected their Anceſtors to ſo ſevere a Judgment, and had even involved themſelves in many Years Fatigue and Dangers; it was therefore a Thing highly reaſonable and commendable, for Moſes to repeat to the People what he had before given, as Inſtructions to their Parents: and it was the more neceſſary, becauſe that, after his Death, the Laws promulgated by him were to remain unalterable, as a ſacred Code, which ſucceeding Judges might neither add to nor diminiſh.

It muſt be alſo obſerved, that the Prophet thro' the whole Courſe of his Adminiſtration, truſted neither to ſpeaking nor writing alone. The ſetling the Conſtitution, given by Jehovah, to his choſen People, was a Point of ſuch Importance, that he choſe to promulgate his Laws, firſt in a general Aſſembly, that all might know them; and be acquainted with their Tenor; and next, to reduce them into Writing, and put them into that Volume which was to be delivered to his Succeſſor; and to remain the Rule and Standard, as well of his Actions, as of the Behaviour of the Nation in general. Thus, were the Inconveniencies, conſequent from an oral or unwritten Law, perfectly guarded againſt and prevented, and, at the ſame Time, all Pretences were taken away from this mutinous People, of complaining, that they neither heard nor conſented to thoſe Laws by which they were governed: an Excuſe, it is highly probable, they would have pleaded, had not this excellent Method been all along purſued, whereby it was put out of their Power.

We are not particularly informed indeed, as to the Manner in which he delivered himſelf, in this his laſt Exhortation; but the Jews are of Opinion, and the Opinion is probable enough, that, from Day to Day, as other neceſſary Duties of his Office gave him Time and Opportunity, he returned to the Aſſembly, and continued his Recital.

As to the Oration itſelf, it is recorded with all the Simplicity natural to the moſt antient Writers, eſpecially the Orientals; its Contents, inaſmuch as they are of a mixed Nature, partly Narrative, partly Exhortative, are ſet down in the Manner they were declared to the People; and yet, notwithſtanding this Want of Method, they fail not at this Day, to ſtrike the Mind moſt affectingly; wherefore we need make no Queſtion, that the Iſraelites were very ſtrongly moved at the Time, when the Prophet pronounced this full and final Confirmation of the Statutes and Judgments, revealed to him for their Government, by their King and God, Jehovah.

CHAP. II.

The Recital is continued touching the Edomites, Moabites, and Ammonites, and Sihon the Amorite.

Ver. 1. THen we turned, and took our journey into the wilderneſs, by the way of the Red-ſea, as the Lord ſpake unto me: and we compaſſed mount Seir many days. 2 And the Lord ſpake unto me, ſaying, 3 Ye have compaſſed this mountain long enough: turn you northward. 4 And command thou the people, ſaying, Ye are to paſs through the coaſt of your brethren the children of Eſau, which dwell in Seir, and they ſhall be afraid of you: take ye good heed unto your ſelves therefore. 5 Meddle not with them; for I will not give you of their land, no not ſo much as a foot-breadth, becauſe I have given mount Seir unto Eſau for a poſſeſſion. 6 Ye ſhall buy meat of them for money, that ye may eat; and ye ſhall alſo buy water of them for money, that ye may drink. 7 For the Lord thy God hath bleſſed thee in all the works of thy hand: he knoweth thy walking through this great wilderneſs: theſe forty years the Lord thy God hath been with thee, thou haſt lacked nothing. 8 And when we paſſed by from our brethren the children of Eſau, which dwelt in Seir, through the way of the plain from Elath, and from Ezion-gaber, we turned and paſſed by the way of the wilderneſs of Moab. 9 And the Lord ſaid unto me, Diſtreſs not the Moabites, neither contend with them in battel: for I will not give thee of their land for a poſſeſſion, becauſe I have given Ar unto the children of Lot for a poſſeſſion. 10 The Emims dwelt therein in times paſt, a people great and many, and tall as the Anakims; 11 Which alſo were accounted giants, as the Anakims, but the Moabites call them Emims. 12 The Horims alſo dwelt in Seir before-time, but the children of Eſau ſucceeded them when they had deſtroyed them from before them, and dwelt in their ſtead, as Iſrael did unto the land of his poſſeſſion, which the Lord gave unto them. 13 Now riſe up, ſaid I, and get you over the brook Zered: and we went over the brook Zered: 14 And the ſpace in which we came from Kadeſh-barnea, until we were come over the brook Zered, was thirty and eight years; until all the generation of the men of war were waſted out from among the hoſt, as the Lord ſware unto them. 15 For indeed the hand of the Lord was againſt them, to deſtroy them from among the hoſt, until they were conſumed. 16 So it came to paſs, when all the men of war were conſumed and dead from among the people. 17 That the Lord ſpake unto me, ſaying, 18 Thou art to paſs over through Ar, the coaſt of Moab, this day. 19 And when thou comeſt nigh over againſt the children of Ammon, diſtreſs them not, nor meddle with them: for I will not give thee of the land of the children of Ammon any poſſeſſion, becauſe I have given it unto the children of Lot for a poſſeſſion. 20 (That alſo was accounted a land of giants, giants dwelt therein in old time, and the Ammonites call them Zamzummims, 21 A people great, and many, and tall as the Anakims; but the Lord deſtroyed them before them, and they ſucceeded them, and dwelt in their ſtead: 22 As he did to the children of Eſau which dwelt in Seir, when he deſtroyed the Horims from before them, and they ſucceeded them, and dwelt in their ſtead even unto this day: 23 And the Avims which dwelt in Hazerim, even unto Azzah, the Caphtorims which came forth out of Caphtor, deſtroyed them and dwelt in their ſtead) 24 Riſe ye up, take your journey, and paſs over the river Arnon: behold, I have given into thy hand Sihon the Amorite king of Heſhbon, and his land: begin to poſſeſs it, and contend with him in battel. 25 This day will I begin to put the dread of thee and the fear of thee upon the nations that are under the whole heaven, who ſhall hear report of thee, and ſhall tremble, and be in anguiſh becauſe of thee. 26 And I ſent meſſengers out of the wilderneſs of Kedemoth, unto Sihon king of Heſhbon, with words of peace, ſaying, 27 Let me paſs through thy land: I will go along by the high-way, I will neither turn unto the right-hand nor to the left. 28 Thou ſhalt ſell me meat for money, that I may eat; and give me water for money, that I may drink: only I will paſs through on my feet: 29 (As the children of Eſau which dwell in Seir, and the Moabites which dwell in Ar, did unto me) until I ſhall paſs over Jordan, into the land which the Lord our God giveth us. 30 But Sihon king of Heſhbon, would not let us paſs by him: for the Lord thy God hardened his ſpirit, and made his heart obſtinate, that he might deliver him into thy hand, as appeareth this day. 31 And the Lord ſaid unto me, Behold, I have begun to give Sihon and his land before thee: begin to poſſeſs, that thou mayeſt inherit his land. 32 Then Sihon came out againſt us, he and all his people, to fight at Jahaz. 33 And the Lord our God delivered him before us, and we ſmote him, and his ſons, and all his people. 34 And we took all his cities at that time, and utterly deſtroyed the men, and the women, and the little ones of every city, we left none to remain: 35 Only the cattel we took for a prey unto our ſelves, and the ſpoil of the cities which we took. 36 From Aroer, which is by the brink of the river of Arnon, and from the city that is by the river, even unto Gilead, there was not one city too ſtrong for us: the Lord our God delivered all unto us. 37 Only unto the land of the children of Ammon thou cameſt not, nor unto any place of the river Jabbok, nor unto the cities in the mountains, nor unto whatſoever the Lord our God forbad us.

Ye ſhall buy Meat of them for Money, that ye may eat; and ye ſhall alſo buy Water of them for Money, that ye may drink] But why ſo, ſince they had a daily Supply of Manna from Heaven? Altho' Manna did yet rain upon them, they are not forbidden to buy other Meats when Opportunity offered, but were forbidden to hunger greedily after them, when there was no human Poſſibility of obtaining them. As to Water, it was very ſcarce in thoſe Parts, and therefore private Perſons dug Wells for their own Uſe.

And dwelt in their Stead, as Iſrael did unto the Land of his Poſſeſſion, which the Lord gave unto them] This ſpeaks of Iſrael as if already in the Land of their Poſſeſſion; which could not literally be true. But the paſt Tenſe is here put for the future. Again; Things are often ſaid to be done, when they are only reſolved, or agreed, or attempted to be done; in which Senſe Reuben is ſaid to deliver Joſeph, Gen. xxxvii. 21. Balak to fight againſt Iſrael, Joſh. xxiv. 9. Abraham to have offered his Son, Heb. xi. 17. But farther, God may well be ſaid to have given it, not only becauſe he had purpoſed and promiſed to give it, but had already given them ſome Part of it, and that as an Earneſt of the Whole. And laſtly, This may be particularly underſtood of that Part of Iſrael's Poſſeſſion which was beyond Jordan, which God had actually given to them, that is to ſome of them; for, even the Land of Canaan, on this Side Jordan, was not given to all of them, but only to ſome of the Tribes.

As the Children of Eſau which dwell in Seir — did unto me] Here it is intimated, that the Edomites, or the Children of Eſau did grant the Iſraelites a Paſſage through their Country; and yet it is ſaid, Numb. xx. that they abſolutely refuſed them this Favour. But, tho' they did not permit them to paſs through the Heart of their Couutry, yet they ſuffered them to paſs quietly by their Borders; and, in their Paſſage, the People ſold them Meat and Drink, being, it ſeems, more kind to them than their King would have had them; and therefore they here aſcribe this Favour, not to the King, but to the People, the Children of Eſau.

CHAP. III.

Og and his People routed, and his Land diſtributed between the Two Tribes and a Half, on Condition that they aſſiſt their Brethren in conquering the promiſed Land. Moſes encourages Joſhua; entreats to go into the Land of Canaan, but is refuſed, yet is allowed a Proſpect of it.

Ver. 1. THen we turned and went up the way to Baſhan: and Og the king of Baſhan came out againſt us, he and all his people, to battel at Edrei. 2 And the Lord ſaid unto me, Fear him not: for I will deliver him, and all his people, and his land into thy hand, and thou ſhalt do unto him as thou didſt unto Sihon king of the Amorites, which dwelt at Heſhbon. 3 So the Lord our God delivered into our hands Og alſo the king of Baſhan, and all his people: and we ſmote him until none was left to him remaining. 4 And we took all his cities at that time, there was not a city which we took not from them, threeſcore cities, all the region of Argob, the kingdom of Og in Baſhan. 5 All theſe cities were fenced with high walls, gates and bars, beſide unwalled towns a great many. 6 And we utterly deſtroyed them, as we did unto Sihon king of Heſhbon, utterly deſtroying the men, women, and children of every city. 7 But all the cattel, and the ſpoil of the cities, we took for a prey to our ſelves. 8 And we took at that time out of the hand of the two kings of the Amorites, the land that was on this ſide Jordan, from the river of Arnon unto mount Hermon: 9 (Which Hermon the Sidonians call Sirion: and the Amorites call it Shenir) 10 All the cities of the plain, and all Gilead, and all Baſhan, unto Salchah and Edrei, cities of the kingdom of Og in Baſhan: 11 For only Og king of Baſhan remained of the remnant of giants; behold, his bed-ſtead was a bed-ſtead of iron: is it not in Rabbath of the children of Ammon? nine cubits was the length thereof, and four cubits the breadth of it, after the cubit of a man. 12 And this land which we poſſeſſed at that time, from Aroer, which is by the river Arnon, and half mount Gilead, and the cities thereof, gave I unto the Reubenites, and to the Gadites. 13 And the reſt of Gilead, and all Baſhan, being the kingdom of Og, gave I unto the half-tribe of Manaſſeh; all the region of Argob, with all Baſhan, which was called the land of giants. 14 Jair the ſon of Manaſſeh, took all the country of Argob, unto the coaſts of Geſhuri, and Maachathi; and called them after his own name, Baſhan-havoth-jair, unto this day. 15 And I gave Gilead unto Machir. 16 And unto the Reubenites, and unto the Gadites, I gave from Gilead even unto the river Arnon, half the valley, and the border, even unto the river Jabbok, which is the border of the children of Ammon: 17 The plain alſo, and Jordan, and the coaſt thereof from Cinnereth even unto the ſea of the plain, even the ſalt-ſea, under Aſhdoth-piſgah eaſt-ward. 18 And I commanded you at that time, ſaying, The Lord your God hath given you this land to poſſeſs it: ye ſhall paſs over armed before your brethren the children of Iſrael, all that are meet for the war. 19 But your wives, and your little ones, and your cattel (for I know that ye have much cattel) ſhall abide in your cities which I have given you; 20 Until the Lord have given reſt unto your brethren, as well as unto you, and until they alſo poſſeſs the land which the Lord your God hath given them beyond Jordan: and then ſhall ye return every man unto his poſſeſſion which I have given you. 21 And I commanded Joſhua at that time, ſaying, Thine eyes have ſeen all that the Lord your God hath done unto theſe two kings: ſo ſhall the Lord do unto all the kingdoms whither thou paſſeſt. 22 Ye ſhall not fear them: for the Lord your God he ſhall fight for you. 23 And I beſought the Lord at that time, ſaying, 24 O Lord God, thou haſt begun to ſhew thy ſervant thy greatneſs, and thy mighty hand: for what God is there in heaven or in earth, that can do according to thy works, and according to thy might? 25 I pray thee let me go over, and ſee the good land that is beyond Jordan, that goodly mountain, and Lebanon. 26 But the Lord was wroth with me for your ſakes, and would not hear me: and the Lord ſaid unto me, Let it ſuffice thee, ſpeak no more unto me of this matter. 27 Get thee up in to the top of Piſgah, and lift up thine eyes weſt-ward, and north-ward, and ſouth-ward, and eaſt-ward, and behold it with thine eyes: for thou ſhalt not go over this Jordan. 28 But charge Joſhua, and encourage him, and ſtrengthen him: for he ſhall go over before this people, and he ſhall cauſe him to inherit the land which thou ſhalt ſee. 29 So we abode in the valley over againſt Beth-peor.

I gave from Gilead, even unto the River Arnon, half the Valley] The Words, half the Valley, ſhould be read, to the Middle of the River; for the Word Half ſignifies commonly Middle; and the ſame Hebrew Word ſignifying both a Valley, and a Brook or River, it ſeems more reaſonable to underſtand it of a River, as the ſame Word is rendered in the next foregoing Clauſe of this Verſe, than of a Valley, which was not mentioned before; eſpecially ſeeing here is an Article added, which ſeems to be emphatical, and to note that River, namely, juſt mentioned. Add to this, that there was no ſuch Valley, much leſs any half Valley, belonging both to the Reubenites and Gadites. But according to the other Tranſlation, the Senſe is plain and agreeable to Truth, that their Land extended from Gilead unto Arnon, and, to ſpeak exactly, the Middle of that River; for as that River was the Border between them and others, ſo one Half of it belonged to them, as the other Half did to the others. And that this is the very Truth of the Matter, and the real Meaning of the Place, will appear by comparing this Text with two others. The firſt is that of Joſh. xii. 2. where the ſame Thing is expreſſed in the ſame Words in the Hebrew which are here, tho' our Tranſlators render the ſelf-ſame Words there, from the Middle of the River, which they here render Half of the Valley; and there the Bounds of Sihon's Kingdom, which was the ſame Portion here mentioned, as given to Reuben and Gad, are thus deſcribed; from Aroer, which is upon the Bank of the River Arnon, and from the Middle of the River, and from Half Gilead, even unto the River Jabbok, which is the Border of the Children of Canaan. The other Text referred to is, Deut. ii. 36. From Aroer, which is by the Brink of the River Arnon, and from the City which is by the River, or rather, as the Hebrew has it, in the River, that is, from Ar, which was the chief City of the Moabites, and therefore denied to the Iſraelites, as is here implied, and more fully expreſſed, Deut. ii. 9. which City was ſeated in an Iland in the Middle of the River. So that here we have a juſt and full Reaſon, why the Border of this Land given to Reuben and Gad, is ſo exactly and critically deſcribed here, even to the Middle of a River, which altho' in Truth and Strictneſs it be the Bound of thoſe Lands which are divided by a River, yet is not uſually expreſſed in the Deſcription of Borders, either in Scriptures or other Authors, becauſe here was an eminent City of the Moabites, in the Middle of this River, which by this curious and exact Deſcription, is excepted from their Poſſeſſion, as God would have it to be.

I pray thee let me go over and ſee that good Land, that is beyond Jordan, that goodly Mountain, and Lebanon] That goodly Mountain may, by an Analogy of the Number, be put for thoſe goodly Mountains in Canaan, which were many. Thus Moſes proceeds gradually, in this Deſire and Deſcription, and prays that he may ſee in general that good Land that is beyond Jordan, and then particularly the goodly Mountains of it, and eſpecially that famous Mount of Lebanon, which was ſo celebrated for its tall large Cedars, and other Trees and excellent Plants. See Pſ. xxix. 5. Iſa. ii. 13. and xiv. 8.

CHAP. IV.

An Exhortation to Obedience. Moſes appoints the Cities of Refuge on that Side Jordan.

Ver. 1. NOW therefore hearken, O Iſrael, unto the ſtatutes, and unto the judgments which I teach you, for to do them, that ye may live, and go in and poſſeſs the land which the Lord God of your fathers giveth you. 2 Ye ſhall not add unto the word which I command you, neither ſhall you diminiſh ought from it, that ye may keep the commandment of the Lord your God which I command you. 3 Your eyes have ſeen what the Lord did becauſe of Baal-peor: for all the men that followed Baal-peor, the Lord thy God hath deſtroyed them from among you. 4 But ye that did cleave unto the Lord your God, are alive every one of you this day. 5 Behold, I have taught you ſtatutes and judgments, even as the Lord my God commanded me, that ye ſhould do ſo in the land whither ye go to poſſeſs it. 6 Keep therefore and do them, for this is your wiſdom and your underſtanding in the ſight of the nations, which ſhall hear all theſe ſtatutes, and ſay, Surely this great nation is a wiſe and underſtanding people. 7 For what nation is there ſo great, who hath God ſo nigh unto them, as the Lord our God is in all things that we call upon him for? 8 And what nation is there ſo great, that hath ſtatutes and judgments ſo righteous, as all this law which I ſet before you this day? 9 Only take heed to thy ſelf, and keep thy ſoul diligently, leſt thou forget the things which thine eyes have ſeen, and leſt they depart from thy heart all the days of thy life: but teach them thy ſons, and thy ſons ſons: 10 Specially the day that thou ſtoodſt before the Lord thy God in Horeb, when the Lord ſaid unto me, Gather me the people together, and I will make them hear my words, that they may learn to fear me all the days that they ſhall live upon the earth, and that they may teach their children. 11 And they came near and ſtood under the mountain, and the mountain burnt with fire unto the midſt of heaven, with darkneſs, clouds, and thick darkneſs. 12 And the Lord ſpake unto you out of the midſt of the fire: ye heard the voice of the words, but ſaw no ſimilitude, only ye heard a voice. 13 And he declared unto you his covenant, which he commanded you to perform, even ten commandments, and he wrote them upon two tables of ſtone. 14 And the Lord commanded me at that time, to teach you ſtatutes and judgments, that ye might do them in the land whither ye go over to poſſeſs it. 15 Take ye therefore good heed unto your ſelves (for ye ſaw no manner of ſimilitude on the day that the Lord ſpake unto you in Horeb, out of the midſt of the fire) 16 Leſt ye corrupt your ſelves, and make you a graven image, the ſimilitude of any figure, the likeneſs of male or female, 17 The likeneſs of any beaſt that is on the earth, the likeneſs of any winged fowl that flieth in the air, 18 The likeneſs of any thing that creepeth on the ground, the likeneſs of any fiſh that is in the waters beneath the earth: 19 And leſt thou lift up thine eyes unto heaven, and when thou ſeeſt the ſun, and the moon, and the ſtars, even all the hoſt of heaven, ſhouldeſt be driven to worſhip them, and ſerve them, which the Lord thy God hath divided unto all nations under the whole heaven. 20 But the Lord hath taken you, and brought you forth out of the iron furnace, even out of Egypt, to be unto him a people of inheritance, as ye are this day. 21 Furthermore, the Lord was angry with me for your ſakes, and ſware that I ſhould not go over Jordan, and that I ſhould not go in unto that good land which the Lord thy God giveth thee for an inheritance. 22 But I must die in this land, I must not go over Jordan: but ye shall go over and possess that good land. 23 Take heed unto your selves, lest ye forget the covenant of the Lord your God, which he made with you, and make you a graven image, or the likeness of any thing which the Lord thy God hath forbidden thee. 24 For the Lord thy God is a consuming fire, even a jealous God. 25 When thou shalt beget children, and childrens children, and shalt have remained long in the land, and shall corrupt your selves, and make a graven image, or the likeness of any thing, and shall do evil in the sight of the Lord thy God to provoke him to anger: 26 I call heaven and earth to witness against you this day, that ye shall soon utterly perish from off the land whereunto ye go over Jordan to possess it: ye shall not prolong your days upon it, but shall utterly be destroyed. 27 And the Lord shall scatter you among the nations, and ye shall be left few in number among the heathen, whither the Lord shall lead you. 28 And there ye shall serve gods, the work of mens hands, wood and stone, which neither see, nor hear, nor eat, nor smell. 29 But if from thence thou shalt seek the Lord thy God, thou shalt find him, if thou seek him with all thy heart and with all thy soul. 30 When thou art in tribulation, and all these things come upon thee, even in the latter days, if thou turn to the Lord thy God, and shalt be obedient unto his voice: 31 (For the Lord thy God is a merciful God) he will not forsake thee, neither destroy thee, nor forget the covenant of thy fathers which he sware unto them. 32 For ask now of the days that are past, which were before thee, since the day that God created man upon the earth, and ask from the one side of heaven unto the other, whether there hath been any such thing as this great thing is, or hath been heard like it? 33 Did ever people hear the voice of God speaking out of the midst of the fire, as thou hast heard, and live? 34 Or hath God assayed to go and take him a nation from the midst of another nation, by temptations, by signs, and by wonders, and by war, and by a mighty hand, and by a stretched out arm, and by great terrors, according to all that the Lord your God did for you in Egypt before your eyes? 35 Unto thee it was shewed, that thou mightiest know that the Lord he is God; there is none else beside him. 36 Out of heaven he made thee to hear his voice, that he might instruct thee: and upon earth he shewed thee his great fire, and thou heardest his words out of the midst of the fire. 37 And because he loved thy fathers, therefore he chose their seed after them, and brought thee out in his sight with his mighty power out of Egypt: 38 To drive out nations from before thee, greater and mightier than thou art, to bring thee in to give thee their land for an inheritance, as it is this day. 39 Know therefore this day, and consider it in thine heart, that the Lord he is God in heaven above, and upon the earth beneath: there is none else. 40 Thou shalt keep therefore his statutes, and his commandments which I command thee this day, that it may go well with thee, and with thy children after thee, and that thou mayest prolong thy days upon the earth, which the Lord thy God giveth thee, for ever. 41 Then Moses severed three cities on this side Jordan, toward the sun-rising: 42 That the slayer might flee thither, which should kill his neighbour unawares, and hated him not in times past; and that fleeing unto one of these cities, he might live: 43 Namely, Bezer in the wilderness, in the plain-country, of the Reubenites; and Ramoth in Gilead, of the Gadites; and Golan in Bashan, of the Manassites. 44 And this is the law which Moses set before the children of Israel: 45 These are the testimonies, and the statutes, and the judgments, which Moses spake unto the children of Israel, after they came forth out of Egypt? 46 On this side Jordan in the valley over against Beth-peor, in the land of Sihon king of the Amorites, who dwelt at Heshbon, whom Moses and the children of Israel smote after they were come forth out of Egypt: 47 And they possessed his land, and the land of Og king of Bashan, two kings of the Amorites, which were on this side Jordan, toward the sun-rising? 48 From Aroer, which is by the bank of the river Arnon, even unto mount Sion, which is Hermon, 49 And all the plain on this side Jordan east-ward, even unto the sea of the plain, under the springs of Pisgah.

This preliminary Discourse of what had fallen out to the Israelitish Nation, from their removing before Horeb to that Time, the Record of which takes up the three first Chapters of Deuteronomy, being ended; Moses, in this Chapter, applies what he had hitherto been saying; and from the various Instances he had mentioned, of the Kindness and peculiar Providence of Jehovah, he takes Occasion to press the Obligation the Descendants of Jacob were under, from Gratitude as well as Duty, to yield a strict Obedience to the Commands which it pleased God to give them; and as the Basis of this strict Obedience, he tells them, that they should not presume to add or diminish from that Law, which in the Name, and by Revelation from the supreme Power, he himself delivered them, but these, and these only, they were to regard, as the sacred Statutes of Jehovah; and, as such, were to pay them implicit Submission.

In the next Place he proceeds to shew them, how wise and just a Thing it was for them, to act in this Manner, and that their steady Adherence to such a Conduct would procure Reverence and Respect, even from the neighbouring Nations, who would be constrained to acknowledge the mighty Power of the God of Israel. For, tho' the Generality of Heathen People, in the latter and degenerate Ages of the World, did, through inveterate Prejudice, and for their own Lusts and Interests, condemn the Laws of the Hebrews, as foolish and absurd, yet it is most certain, that many of the wisest Heathens did highly approve of them, so far, that they made use of divers of them, and translated them into their own Laws and Constitutions; and Moses, the Giver of those Laws, hath been mentioned with great Honour, for his Wisdom and Learning, by many of them; particularly, the old Athenian Oracle expressly said, that the Chaldeans, or Hebrews, alone worshipped the uncreated God, were the only wise Men.

CHAP. V.

The Covenant in Horeb. The Ten Commandments. At the People's Request Moses receives the Law from God.

Ver. 1. AND Moses called all Israel, and said unto them, Hear, O Israel, the statutes and judgments which I speak in your ears this day, that ye may learn them, and keep and do do them. 2 The Lord our God made a covenant with us in Horeb. 3 The Lord made not this covenant with our fathers, but with us, even us, who are all of us here alive this day. 4 The Lord talked with you face to face in the mount, out of the midſt of the fire. 5 (I ſtood between the Lord and you at that time, to ſhew you the word of the Lord: for ye were afraid by reaſon of the fire, and went not up into the mount) ſaying, 6 I am the Lord thy God, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt, from the houſe of bondage. 7 Thou ſhalt have none other gods before me. 8 Thou ſhalt not make thee any graven image, or any likeneſs of any thing, that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the waters beneath the earth. 9 Thou ſhalt not bow down thy ſelf unto them, nor ſerve them: for I the Lord thy God am a jealous God, viſiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children, unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me. 10 And ſhewing mercy unto thouſands, of them that love me and keep my commandments. 11 Thou ſhalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain: for the Lord will not hold him guiltleſs that taketh his name in vain. 12 Keep the ſabbath-day to ſanctify it, as the Lord thy God hath commanded thee. 13 Six days thou ſhalt labour, and do all thy work: 14 But the ſeventh day is the ſabbath of the Lord thy God: in it thou ſhalt not do any work: thou, nor thy ſon, nor thy daughter, nor thy man-ſervant, nor thy maid-ſervant, nor thine ox, nor thine aſs, nor any of thy cattle, nor thy ſtranger that is within thy gates; that thy man-ſervant and thy maid-ſervant may reſt as well as thou. 15 And remember that thou waſt a ſervant in the land of Egypt, and that the Lord thy God brought thee out thence, through a mighty hand and a ſtretched out arm: therefore the Lord thy God commanded thee to keep the ſabbath-day. 16 Honour thy father and thy mother, as the Lord thy God hath commanded thee; that thy days may be prolonged, and that it may go well with thee, in the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee. 17 Thou ſhalt not kill. 18 Neither ſhalt thou commit adultery. 19 Neither ſhalt thou ſteal. 20 Neither ſhalt thou bear falſe witneſs againſt thy neighbour. 21 Neither ſhalt thou deſire thy neighbours wife, neither ſhalt thou covet thy neighbours houſe, his field, or his man-ſervant, or his maid ſervant, his ox, or his aſs, or any thing that is thy neighbours. 22 Theſe words the Lord ſpake unto all your aſſembly in the mount out of the midſt of the fire, of the cloud, and of the thick darkneſs, with a great voice, and he added no more; and he wrote them in two tables of ſtone, and delivered them unto me. 23 And it came to paſs when ye heard the voice out of the midſt of the darkneſs (for the mountain did burn with fire) that ye came near unto me, even all the heads of your tribes, and your elders. 24 And ye ſaid, Behold, the Lord our God hath ſhewed us his glory, and his greatneſs, and we have heard his voice out of the midſt of the fire: we have ſeen this day that God doth talk with man, and he liveth. 25 Now therefore why ſhould we die? for this great fire will conſume us. If we hear the voice of the Lord our God any more, then we ſhall die.

26 For who is there of all fleſh that hath heard the voice of the living God, ſpeaking out of the midſt of the fire (as we have) and lived? 27 Go thou near, and hear all that the Lord our God ſhall ſay; and ſpeak thou unto us all that the Lord our God ſhall ſpeak unto thee, and we will hear it, and do it. 28 And the Lord heard the voice of your words, when ye ſpake unto me; and the Lord ſaid unto me, I have heard the voice of the words of this people, which they have ſpoken unto thee: they have well ſaid all that they have ſpoken. 29 O that there were ſuch an heart in them, that they would fear me, and keep all my commandments always, that it might be well with them, and with their children for ever. 30 Go ſay to them, Get you into your tents again. 31 But as for thee, ſtand thou here by me, and I will ſpeak unto thee all the commandments, and the ſtatutes, and the judgments which thou ſhalt teach them, that they may do them in the land which I give them to poſſeſs it. 32 Ye ſhall obſerve to do therefore as the Lord your God hath commanded you: you ſhall not turn aſide to the right-hand or to the left. 33 You ſhall walk in all the ways which the Lord your God hath commanded you, that ye may live, and that it may be well with you, and that ye may prolong your days in the land which ye ſhall poſſeſs.

It is to be obſerved, that the Almighty God of Iſrael delivered the Decalogue, or Ten Commandments, himſelf, but the reſt of the Laws were communicated to the People by his Servant Moſes. This God did to ſhew the Pre-eminence of that Law above the reſt, and its everlaſting Obligation.

The Lord made not this Covenant with our Fathers, but with us] Either, firſt, not only with them, the Word only being here underſtood, as it is, Gen. xxxiii. 28. and xxxv. 10. 1 Sam. viii. 7. Or, ſecondly, Not at all with them: But then the Word Covenant is not here to be taken for the Covenant of Grace in general, for ſo it was made with their Fathers, Exod. ii. 24. but for this particular and mixed Diſpenſation of the Covenant of Sinai, as appears both from the foregoing and following Words.

CHAP. VI.

The End of the Law is Obedience; an Exhortation thereto.

Ver. 1. NOW theſe are the commandments, the ſtatutes, and the judgments which the Lord your God commanded to teach you, that ye might do them in the land whither ye go to poſſeſs it: 2 That thou mightieſt fear the Lord thy God, to keep all his ſtatutes, and his commandments which I command thee; thou, and thy ſon, and thy ſons ſon, all the days of thy life, and that thy days may be prolonged. 3 Hear therefore, O Iſrael, and obſerve to do it, that it may be well with thee, and that ye may increaſe mightily, as the Lord God of thy fathers hath promiſed thee, in the land that floweth with milk and honey. 4 Hear, O Iſrael, The Lord our God is one Lord. 5 And thou ſhalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy ſoul, and with all thy might. 6 And theſe words which I command thee this day, ſhall be in thine heart. 7 And thou ſhalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and ſhalt talk of them when thou ſitteſt in thine houſe,
